President John F. Kennedy and Jackie Kennedy, 1962 ##2*

Here we have the President leaving the Jesuit Order's St. Francis Xavier Church at Hyannis after attending Mass. The Chief Executive was spending the weekend at the family summer home in nearby Hyannis Port. On the far right is Secret Service Agent Roy Kellerman who would be chosen to be the coordinator of the Secret Service's Assassination Team while it carried out its "Executive Action" in Dallas on November 22, 1963. The President, a Knight of Columbus and son of one of Francis Cardinal Spellman's most powerful Knights of Malta—Joseph P. Kennedy—was educated at Harvard University, with its strong Jesuit presence, while Jackie gave birth to JFK, Jr., at Georgetown University Hospital. Aided by the Mafia, the Order had installed its first Irish Roman Catholic into the high office of the American Presidency.

But John F. Kennedy turned on the Temporal Power of Rome's Papal Caesar by refusing to enforce the Pope's claim to rule all the governments of the world. Kennedy sought to break the power of the Black Pope's continuation of the Order's Nazi SS—the Central Intelligence Agency; attacked the Order's Federal Reserve Bank by printing "United States Notes" in lieu of "Federal Reserve Notes;" sought to end Cardinal Spellman's War in Vietnam; sought to return Cuba to the exiled Cuban people of Miami via a full fledged military invasion of the island on December 1, 1963; and attempted to end Rome's Cold War by which the Order was creating fascism in the US. For these reasons and more, the Jesuit Order coldly carried out its regicidal "crime of the century."

Knight of Malta (SMOM), Alexander M. Haig, Jr., 1981 ##3*

According to the 1989 Arts and Entertainment video, The Men Who Killed Kennedy: The Coverup, Lt. Colonel Alexander M. Haig (1963) contributed to the cover-up—the Great Jesuit Cover-up—of the Kennedy Assassination. For his obedience he was later promoted to the rank of General and subsequently named as the Commander of NATO in Europe. As a result of his continued obedience to the Black Pope, the Papal Caesar and the Archbishop of New York, Haig was appointed to the high office of Secretary of State under honorary Shriner and Knight of Malta President Ronald Reagan in 1981. With the endorsement of former Kentucky Senator John Sherman Cooper who had been a member of the Jesuit-educated, high-level Freemason and President Lyndon Johnson's Warren Commission overseen by 33rd Degree Freemason Chief Justice Earl Warren, we see Council on Foreign Relations member and Knight of Malta Alexander Haig answering questions during his confirmation hearings. To his right sits SMOM/CFR member Joseph A. Califano, Jr.; to his left sits his wife, Dame of Malta Pat Haig; and immediately behind him sits his younger brother in clerical collar, Knight of Malta Francis R. Haig, S.J.—the Jesuit behind the Watergate Scandal and the removal of President Richard M. Nixon!

Absolutist Papal Maxims of the Jesuits

1. There is but one Supreme Authority in the World, and that is the Pope.
2. God hath delivered over unto the Pope the Power and Rule of Heaven and Earth, therefore we must be obedient unto him upon pain of damnation.
3. All Right and Power are lodged in his Breast.
4. No Law can be made to bind Christians, but by the Pope's Authority, as of old the Israelites received none but by Moses.
5. The Gospel would not be the Gospel, if the Pope had not approved of it.
6. The Pope can take away any man's Right, and give it to another.
7. The Pope can do anything, above all Right, against all Right and without all Right.
8. If Christ commands one thing, and the Pope another thing, the Pope is rather to be obeyed than Jesus Christ.
9. The Pope's Decretory Letters are to be received and esteemed as Authentic as the Word of God or the Holy Scriptures.
10. It is Sacrilege to question the Pope's Actions, and he is cursed of God who violates the Pope's censures.
11. If the Pope affirms that to be black, which our Eyes judge to be white, we ought also then to declare, that it's black, upon pain of our souls.
12. The Pope hath the sole Rule and Power of the whole World in Temporals as well as in Spirituals, and therefore can depose Emperors and Kings, and may dispose of their Dominions as he shall think convenient.
13. If the Pope shall depose a King and give his Kingdom to another, and the people will not receive him, the Pope may bring him in by force of Arms, because he is Judge of all and in [the] stead of God on Earth.
14. Not to believe that the Pope can depose Kings is [to be], and that deservedly, damned for Heresy.
15. Christ had not done wisely if he had not left the Pope power to depose Kings.
16. If a King be a Heretic or favorer of Heresy he may be deposed.
17. If the Pope shall declare a King to be a Heretic, he hath no right to his Kingdom, and the Pope may depose him.
18. The Pope can give the people liberty either to choose or take new Masters; by this means they keep all Kings and Princes in their Obedience and Submission to the Pope.
19. All Protestants are Heretics, and therefore they ought to be killed.
20. It is better and safer to make alliance and amity with [Moslem] Turks, [Communist] Infidels, or [Talmudic and anti-Torah, Zionist] Jews, than with [Reformation Bible-believing] Heretic Protestants [and Baptists], because they may draw us into the errors of their novelties. {1}

Before commencing, for this work is primarily an attack against the maxims and resultant nefarious deeds of the Society of Jesus including the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, it was deemed imperative to address a particular passage of Scripture so delightedly twisted by the hosts of hell. It is the infamous:

> "But I say unto you, That ye resist not evil: but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also."
> – Matthew 5:39

Without question, this verse is Satan's favorite! For the Devil has taken these blessed words of the infallible and sinless Lord Jesus Christ OUT OF CONTEXT and used them as a PRETEXT to neutralize the Body of Christ in its mandated resistance to the Papacy's evil Temporal Power for the last two hundred years. Yes, God's men have become doormats for the Devil, our manhood violently castrated by the Evil One who twists Holy Writ for his own purposes. We are no longer valiant stallions, but sedated geldings, unable to breed "after our kind," no longer spreading "the seed" of the Word of God—the Reformation Bible for English-speaking peoples, The King James Authorized Version of the Bible of 1611 with its underlying and infallible Hebrew and Greek texts! We are degenerate sons of noble sires!

Imbibed with "the sovereign drug of Arminianism," we have stooped to call Rome a "Christian Church." Upon being attacked by "the Mother of Harlots and Abominations of the Earth," we have turned the other cheek time after time, blow after blow—furthering the Jesuit empirical quest—"ad majorem Dei gloriam," for the greater glory of God! By seducing the believer into non-resistance towards governmentally induced injustice and murder, the White Protestant and Baptist "silent majority" was born—especially here in North America. The Black Pope's bloody and unceasing Counter-Reformation war-cry crusading for the overthrow of our Reformation Bible-based, historic reformed faith throughout Protestant Western nations has removed the very foundation of Constitutional, limited government born out of that very Protestant Reformation. Seduced away from the proven Doctrines of Grace having served as the foundation for opposition to absolutist Jesuit tyranny, the once "fighting Calvinists" are now extinct. Rome rules the day with her apostate Protestant and Baptist Arminian daughters without and within the World Council of Churches and National Council of Churches. As of this moment in history, "the great men of the earth" (ruled by Rome's Jesuit-usurped Papacy) have but only to mop up the remaining hot spots of obedient Biblical resistance to complete Papal domination of all nations. This mopping-up military maneuver will commence after the Black Pope's present American-led Crusade into the Middle East—purposed to incite a united Moslem world against "the Great Satan." Indeed, Rome has considered the Protestant West "the Great Satan" for centuries, against which she has now unsheathed her Moslem "Sword of the Church."

Of the New Testament Church's non-negotiable injunction to resist evil in every arena of life, we read:

"Submit yourselves therefore to God.
Resist the devil and he will flee from you."

James 4:7

Further, rather than turning the cheek when smitten through words or deeds of evil men, the New Testament believer is given this parameter under grace:

"If it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men."

Romans 12:18

Our final guiding passage is the exhortation:
"Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong."

I Corinthians 16:13

Therefore, we New Testament believers on the risen Son of God are not under His command to turn our cheek to anybody who would attack our person, our family, our community or our nation, either by word or by deed. Rather we are in word and deed: to resist all manifestations of evil, they always directly proceeding from the devil, directly or indirectly; to live peaceably with all men as much as possible; and, with manly firmness, to be strong in the presence of calamity, standing fast in the faith poised with a military bearing. Never, never, never, are we commanded to turn the other cheek to evil during this "dispensation of the grace of God" (Eph.3:2).

Realizing there are different dispensations of God evidenced by different commands to men living during several specific time periods called "ages," we can understand the apparent contradiction between His command to turn the cheek and, as much as possible, be at peace with all men. When Christ came to "confirm the promises made unto the fathers" (Rom.15:8), he preached "the gospel of the kingdom" to the nation of Israel. Messiah called for national repentance after which He would install the Davidic Kingdom on earth as promised to David (II Sam. 7:16), a world government seated in Jerusalem (Isa. 2:2-4), Jesus Christ then to be given "the throne of his father David," after which He would "reign over the house of Jacob for ever; and of his kingdom there shall be no end" (Luke 1:32-33). Prior to Israel's national repentance, as Christ was first preaching to the Hebrew nation and NOT TO THE CHURCH (its creation yet three years in the future), the command was to turn the other cheek. The Davidic kingdom was indeed "at hand" and Messiah Jesus was about to punish all lawlessness and crime upon the anticipated repentance of His beloved Israel. The offer of the Kingdom was bona fide; Messiah was about to rule the earth from Mt. Zion, "the city of the great King" (Ps. 48:2).

But it came to pass that Israel would not repent. The offer was genuine, validated by the many spectacular miracles of the Messiah, yet He is despised and rejected of men. Upon the King's entrance into Jerusalem on the colt of a donkey as foretold by the Prophet (Zech. 9:9), Christ was deeply grieved. Bitterly weeping, He spoke of the many times He would have gathered the outcasts of Israel into the promised Davidic Kingdom, "and ye would not" (Matt. 23:37). His judgment upon that generation is clear: "Behold, your house is left to you desolate" (Matt. 23:38).

And from then on, His message is one of rejection of the nation and the destruction of Jerusalem with its Second Temple. Upon the change of His message came a change of command to His disciples. No longer were they to turn the other cheek; the Kingdom was now taken from His generation and would be given to another generation of Jews living in a future inhabited Jerusalem (Zech. 12:10; 14:4-9).

In the meantime, an age would be inaugurated never spoken of by Moses and the Prophets. It would be called, ironically, "the present evil world [age]" (Galatians 1:4). The "gospel of the kingdom of heaven" would cease being preached until a future period of national judgment called "the time of Jacob's trouble" (Jer. 30:7); "the gospel of the grace of God" (Acts 20:24) offering salvation to both Jew and Gentile alike was to now be preached worldwide (Rom. 1:14).

Anticipating this climatic change for the economy of Israel and thus all Gentile nations, Christ Jesus made the following momentous statement to His Jewish disciples. His commands during His preaching of the offer of the Davidic Kingdom to Israel are in opposition to His new commands during the preaching of the gospel of the grace of God now being preached to all nations (Matt. 28:19-20):

> "And then he said unto them, When I sent you without purse, and scrip, and shoes, lacked ye any thing?
> And they said Nothing.
> Then said he unto them, But now he that hath a purse, let him take it, and likewise his scrip; and he that hath no sword, let him sell his garment, and buy one.
> For I say unto you, that this that is written must yet be accomplished in me, And he was reckoned among the transgressors: for the things concerning me have an end.
> And they said, Lord, behold, here are two swords.
> And he said unto them, It is enough.

(Later on, Christ allowed Peter to take one of these swords to Gethsemane indicating a personal sword would be needed for self-defense against criminal evildoers after the Lord's death, burial and resurrection. Peter uses that sword unlawfully against Israel's governmental powers that be, cutting off the right ear of the High Priest's servant. But Peter is rebuked by Christ in the Gospel of Matthew alone, given the warning that if he takes the sword unlawfully against governmental powers ordained by God to put Christ to death as prophesied in the Scriptures, he will perish by the sword of that ordained power (Matt. 26:52). Yet nowhere does the sane and stable Son of God condemn the lawful use of the personal sword against evil in this present evil age—during the preaching of the gospel of the grace of God in Christ.)

The question now arises, How does the Man of God exercise his lawful use of the sword against wicked and murderous, anti-Christ governmental powers without incurring the judgment of God upon biblically principled resistance to evil? It is this very question the Calvinists successfully answered evidenced by their many military victories wielding the "Sword of Just Defense." Knowing that God instituted Human Government for the purpose of punishing evil and rewarding good (Genesis 9:6; Romans 13:3-5), when a government ceases to perform its ordained function and recedes into institutional evil, it may then be resisted as the Man of God would resist any other evil entity. That resistance must be inaugurated and pursued by means of another lawfully constituted government in opposition to the tyranny he opposes. Resistance must be waged by a body of people, comprising other Biblebelieving Men of God, fighting Romish tyranny for one reason alone—religious liberty! It is for this reason the Dutch William I of Orange withdrew his allegiance from the Jesuit tyranny of the Spain's King Philip II, fought a bloody war and ultimately became the father of the Dutch Republic—and religious liberty! It is for this reason Cromwell's English Parliament withdrew its allegiance from King Charles I, fought another war and thus established the British Commonwealth. It is for this reason George Washington's American Colonies withdrew their allegiance from King George III, fought another Providentially-blessed revolution and founded the Federal Republic of these United States of America. The risen Son of God intervened during all three righteous revolutions ordered in obedience to the maxims of the Word of God—including the divine institution of Human Government.

Lamentably, this truth has been all but lost over the last two centuries. We Calvinists have been Masonically hoodwinked into believing that waging righteous, Biblically-lawful revolutions against Papal political tyranny enforcing the Temporal Power of that Antichrist in Rome is sin to be repented of; that our only redress is with pencil and paper; and that we must ultimately "turn the other cheek." Therefore we Americans never drew our Swords of Just Defense when Rome took our country by 1900; when we were saddled with the ten planks of the Black Pope's Communist Manifesto; when we were used to destroy the Protestant Prussian Second Reich via World War I; when we watched Presidents Woodrow Wilson and Warren Harding give over $150 million to Rome's Bolsheviks; when we financed the Pope's Third Reich and then destroyed a generation of German People; when we watched our State Department save fugitive Nazis via the Pope's Vatican Ratlines; and when we watched our navy give China to the Pope's Communist Inquisition. Indeed, the day has arrived to no longer turn the cheek but to take up our Swords of Just Defense!

They must be drawn lawfully, corporately and in obedience to the Word of God!

A Private Letter to the Reader

Dear truth-seeker,

Upon being exhorted by my constructively critical friends to give the reasons why I wrote Vatican Assassins: "Wounded In The House Of My Friends," the following has been written for you my American countrymen and foreign friends.

I embarked upon this project, the culmination of nearly twenty five years of research and writing, having been emotionally damaged by three great injustices. The first was the deliberate and deceptive attack upon The King James Authorized Version of the English Bible, especially its underlying Greek Text, being the foundation of the Protestant Reformation, the Modern Era and Western Civilization, including the rights of freedom of conscience, freedom of speech and freedom of the press. The second was the assassination of a man I was always taught to love and respect as the savior of our Union of States, President Abraham Lincoln. The third transpired when I was in the Public School's fourth grade. With vivid memories I remember the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, my weeping teacher, Miss Beals whom I loved, and my heart-broken guitar teacher, Dan Boyd, who, upon hearing from me of the death of Jack Bath in Vietnam, dismissed me early from my lesson and wept bitterly. Jack was not only a fellow student but was also my swim teacher at the local YMCA. With guitar in hand, I remember standing outside in the cold, San Francisco Bay Area wind that day waiting for my mother to pick me up in her car while thinking to myself, "I will find the truth someday, for Lyndon Johnson looks like a liar." The following pages describe what I discovered over the years.

This Third Edition is a little more complete and much more accurate. No conclusions however, have been changed. A host of critics, both friendly and hostile, have contributed to the making of its supremacy over the First and Second, for which I humbly thank them all. As my Heavenly Father sent a brilliant ex-Muslim to help me develop certain key points in the First Edition, even so He sent several unique individuals to further aid me in this Third Edition, it now linking the ghastly implosion of the World Trade Center to President Kennedy's murderers.

May the risen and all-powerful Son of God bless you in reading this book, which, in attempting to live out its conclusions, has cost me the living of a normal life, including the rearing of my two sons and the respect of my father, ever loyal to this popish, CFR-controlled government of the United States. Its message is humbly given with the hope that you will do your duty where God has placed you, and to "earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints."

Sincerely in the One True Faith,

Brother Eric Jon Phelps

Dust Cover and Quotes

How would Satan's Jesuit General make the Pope the Theocratic Universal Monarch of the World as foretold in the Scripture of Truth? He must erect an absolute military dictator loyal to Rome in every nation. But how could this be accomplished without powerful resistance from "heretic and pagan" Protestant, Orthodox and Islamic nations, as well as resistance from "liberal" Roman Catholic nations? He would first gain control of the world's most powerful Protestant governments and banking houses through the Jesuit-revived and Baal-worshipping, Order of the Knights Templars, known today as Scottish Rite, 33rd Degree, Shriner Freemasonry. This happened in England by 1800 and in America by 1900.

With the Jesuits having been expelled from nearly every country in Europe during the Nineteenth Century, the General's banking agents would finance both sides of his Second Thirty Years' War (1914-1945). Three important benefits for the Order would be: the installation of Russia's Roman Catholic Grand Inquisitor, Josef Stalin; the restoration of the Pope's Temporal Power through Roman Catholic Benito Mussolini; and the breakup of the Turkish Ottoman Empire, the Muftis of the resultant Islamic nations also being secretly controlled through Islamic/Shriner Freemasonry. Having mass-murdered the Jews of Europe and the Protestant Lutherans of Germany with Bormann-advised Roman Catholic Adolf Hitler, the Jesuits would promote the Airborne Nuclear War Hoax creating a false enemy for the American people, as FDR would secretly give Stalin the nuclear device in 1943.

The Nuclear War Hoax would give birth to the Cold War Hoax (1945-1989), cunningly justifying Washington's foreign policy—dictated by the Jesuits in control of the Council on Foreign Relations—of non-resistance to Chinese and Soviet aggression. This great deception would enable the Jesuit General to install dictators around the world who would be secretly or openly loyal to the Pope. He would accomplish this using his International Intelligence Community, the KGB in the East and the CIA in the West, controlling its Global Terrorist Network to further justify fascist martial rule. The General would finance it all with the credit of his Federal Reserve Bank and then saddle the "heretic and liberal" American people with the debt. For forty-five years no nation would seriously interfere with the Pope's Cold War. By the time of its supposed termination in 1989 (thereby enabling the Vatican's American Military Industrial Complex to give high technology to Red China), the Jesuit General would achieve his goals including the revival of the Pope's "Holy Roman Empire" centered in a reunited Germany, Rome's Empire having been broken up by the Lord's Grand and Glorious Protestant Reformation.

One of the major victories for the General would be the taking of Jerusalem by his Torah-despising Masonic Jewish Labor Zionists in 1967, paving the way for the rebuilding of Solomon's Temple—for the Devil's "infallible" Papal Caesar!

With every nation now subordinated to the Temporal Power of the Pope, the "Holy Roman American Empire" must now be destroyed; for, it is the world's haven for "heretics and liberals" condemned by the Jesuits and their evil Council of Trent. As the Pope sought to overthrow the Protestants of England with the Spanish Armada, so the Jesuits are seeking to destroy the peoples of North America with a triple Sino-Soviet-Moslem invasion. By that time many of the nation's Jews will have been destroyed by an American fascist dictator, the concentration camps being already in place. Jewish survivors will have been driven back to Labor Zionist Israel to face their final attempted annihilation by the risen Jesuit Pontiff—the Antichrist.

So why was President Kennedy killed? In following the lead of Pope John XXIII and the Second Vatican Council, he sought to end the Cold War, including the War in Vietnam. He also attempted to end the reign of the CIA. But as Pope John XXIII "died" and was replaced by a secret Cold Warrior, Pope Paul VI, even so President Kennedy "died" and was replaced with another Cold Warrior, President Lyndon Johnson. Through these acts of defying the Pope's Temporal Power, the President became "a usurper and a tyrant" according to the Vatican's Canon Law.

Since it is "no murder to kill a tyrant," John F. Kennedy was assassinated by the Jesuit General's International Intelligence Community domestically overseen by "the American Pope," Francis Cardinal Spellman. He then, along with Cardinals Cooke and O'Connor covered it up. The present Archbishop, Edward Cardinal Egan, will continue this Great Jesuit Cover-up, he having ignited America's present Papal Crusade against the Islamic peoples of the Middle East and Central Asia through the attack and demolition of the World Trade Center and the Pentagon carried out by his loyal soldiers within the Central Intelligence Agency, including its Roman Catholic, Jesuit-trained, CFR/CIA Director and Knight of Malta, George J. This, yet another act of bold High Treason, will apparently result in the mass-murder of millions of Moslems, the destruction of Mecca, Medina and the Jerusalem mosques, including the Dome of the Rock, and the Al Aqsa Mosque. This will successfully incite both foreign (Wahhabic) and domestic (NOI) Neo-Islamic fanatics to invade and destroy the apostate White Protestant and Baptist "heretic and liberal" peoples of post-Reformation America (as well as the Jews)—to the delight of the Black Pope!

Vatican Assassins: "Wounded In The House Of My Friends"

This work reveals the Great Jesuit World Conspiracy; lays bare the true murderers of President Kennedy; exposes the subsequent Great Jesuit Cover-up; warns of the peril and impending invasion this nation faces; and informs the American people of what action to take—if we dare! Though the publisher of the first edition was a promoter of New Age doctrines, the author duly acknowledges its The Spectrum newspaper for having the courage to break this story in 1999 when no one else would do so.

"The Mystery of Iniquity"

"Let no man deceive you by any means:
for that day [of Christ] shall not come, except there come a falling away first,
and that man of sin be revealed, the son of perdition;

Who opposeth and exalteth himself above all that is called God, or that is worshipped;
so that he as God sitteth in the temple of God,
shewing himself that he is God . . .

For the mystery of iniquity doth already work:
only he who now letteth will let,
until he be taken out of the way.

And then shall that Wicked be revealed, whom the Lord shall consume with the spirit of his mouth, and shall destroy with the brightness of his coming:

Even him, whose coming is after the working of Satan with all power and signs and lying wonders,

And with all deceivableness of unrighteousness in them that perish; because they received not the love of the truth, that they might be saved."
– II Thessalonians 2:3-10

And I heard, but I understood not: then said I,
O my Lord, what shall be the end of these things?

And he said, Go thy way, Daniel:
for the words are closed up and sealed till the time of the end.

Many shall be purified, and made white, and tried;
but the wicked shall do wickedly: and none of the wicked shall understand; but the wise shall understand.

– Daniel 12:8-10

"This description of Babylon the Great Harlot, Seated on the Seven-Headed Ten-Horned Beast [Revelation 17], while it may have ultimate reference to a situation yet to appear, exactly fits Papal Rome. Nothing else in World History does fit. The desire for Worldly Power began to manifest itself in the Church, on a broad scale, in the 4th century, when the Roman Empire ceased its Persecutions, and made Christianity its State Religion. The spirit of Imperial Rome passed into the Church. The Church gradually developed itself into the pattern of the Empire it had conquered. Rome fell. But Rome came to life again, as a World-Power, in the Name of the Church.

The Popes of Rome were the heirs and successors of the Caesars of Rome. The Vatican is where the Palace of the Caesars was. The Popes have claimed all the authority the Caesars claimed, and more. The Papal [Caesar's] Palace, throughout the centuries, has been among the most luxurious in all the world. Popes have lived in Pomp and Splendor unsurpassed by earthly kings. In no place on earth is there more ostentatious pageantry and show of magnificence than at the coronation of a Pope. . . . The Horrors of the Inquisition, ordered and maintained by the Popes, over a period of 500 years, in which unnumbered millions were Tortured and Burned, constitute the MOST BRUTAL, BEASTLY and DEVILISH PICTURE in all history . . . The City of Rome, first Pagan, then Papal, has been the Dominating Power of the World for Two Thousand Years, 200 B.C. to A.D. 1800. . . . Rome's answer to the Lutheran Secession: the INQUISITION under the leadership of the JESUITS, an order founded by Ignatius Loyola, a Spaniard, on the principle of Absolute and Unconditional OBEDIENCE to the Pope, having for its object the Recovery of territory lost to Protestants and Mohammedans, and the Conquest of the entire Heathen World for the Roman Catholic Church. Their supreme aim, the Destruction of Heresy, that is, thinking anything different from what the Pope said think [or thought]; for the accomplishment of which Anything was Justifiable; Deception, Immorality, Vice, even Murder. Their motto, 'For the Greater Glory of God.' . . . In France they were responsible for St. Bartholomew's Massacre, Persecution of the Huguenots, Revocation of the Toleration Edict of Nantes, and the French Revolution. . . . they led in the Massacre of Untold Multitudes. By these methods they stopped the Reformation in southern Europe, and virtually saved the Papacy from ruin. . . . It is not pleasant to write these things. It is inconceivable that any Ecclesiastical Organization, in its mania for Power, could have distorted and desecrated and corrupted, for its own exaltation, the beautiful and holy religion of Jesus." {2} [Emphasis added]

"It is evident that the popes can neither be bound nor unbound by any earthly power, nor even by that of the apostle [Peter], if he should return upon the earth; since Constantine the Great has recognized that the pontiffs held the place of God upon earth, the divinity not being able to be judged by any living man. We are, then, infallible and whatever may be our acts, we are not accountable for them but to ourselves . . .

We [popes] alone have the power to bind and to loose, to absolve Nero and to condemn him, and Christians cannot, under penalty of excommunication, execute other judgment than ours, which alone is infallible . . .

A king need not fear to command massacres, when these will retain his subjects in obedience, or cause them to submit to the faith of Christ; and God will reward him in this world, and in eternal life, for these murders . . . We order you, in the name of religion, to invade his states, burn his cities, and massacre his people." {3} [Emphasis added]

If then, ye judge spiritual things, what must not be believed of your power over worldly things? And if ye judge the angels who rule over all proud princes, what can ye not do to their slaves?" {4} [Emphasis added]

"Nearly eighteen centuries have passed away since the Holy Spirit prophesied, by the mouth of St. John, that this mystery would be revealed in that city which was then the Queen of the Earth, the City on Seven Hills—the City of Rome.

The Mystery was then dark, dark as midnight. Man's eye could not pierce the gloom. The fulfillment of the prophecy seemed improbable—almost impossible. Age after age rolled away. By degrees the mists, which hung over it, became less thick. The clouds began to break. Some features of the dark Mystery began to appear, dimly at first, then more clearly, like Mountains at daybreak. Then the form of the Mystery became more and more distinct. The Seven Hills, and the Woman sitting upon them, became more and more visible. Her voice was heard. Strange sounds of blasphemy were muttered by her. Then they became louder and louder. And the golden chalice in her hand, her scarlet attire, her pearls and jewels were seen glittering in the sun. Kings and Nations were displayed prostrate at her feet, and drinking her cup. Saints were slain by her sword, and she exulted over them. And now the prophecy became clear, clear as noon-day; and we tremble at the sight, while we read the inscription, emblazoned in large letters, 'MYSTERY BABYLON, THE GREAT,' written by the hand of St. John, guided by the Holy Spirit of God, on the forehead of the CHURCH OF ROME." {6} [Emphasis added]

"The ordinary opinion of Roman theologians may be seen stated in full in the pages of [Lucius] Ferraris:

> 'The common opinion teaches that the Pope holds the power of both swords, the spiritual and the temporal, which jurisdiction Christ Himself committed to Peter and his successors. . . . The contrary opinion is held to savour of the heretical belief and condemned by Boniface VIII in the constitution [Bull] Unam Sanctam. Accordingly, unbelieving kings and princes can be deprived by the sentence of the Pope, in certain cases, of the dominion which they have over [Roman Catholic] believers; for instance, if they have forcibly seized upon Christian [Roman Catholic] countries, or are endeavouring to turn their believing subjects from the faith, and the like.'

[Domingos] Barbosa and other Canonists hold that:

> 'A King who has become a heretic can be removed from his Kingdom by the Pope, to whom the right of electing a successor passes, if his sons and kindred are also heretics. There is nothing strange in attributing to the Roman Pontiff, as the Vicar of Him Whose is the earth and the fullness thereof [including all petroleum, natural gas, gold and silver], the world [land] and all that dwell therein [human labor], the fullest authority and power to lay bare, a just cause moving him, not only the spiritual but also the material sword, and so to transfer sovereignties, break scepters, and remove crowns [as in the Kennedy Assassination].'

The Canonists produce numerous instances where this has been actually done, as when [Pope] Gregory II deposed the Emperor Henry IV; [Pope] Innocent IV, in the Council of Lyons, deposed Emperor Frederick II, etc. [this papal power of "executive action" having been enforced by the Jesuits from the Sixteenth to the Twenty-first Century].

The celebrated Constitution [Bull] Unam Sanctam (1302) teaches that:

> 'Both swords, the spiritual and the material, are in the power of the Church, but the latter is to be wielded for the Church, the former by the Church; one by the hand of the priest, the other by the hand of Kings and magistrates, but at the pleasure and sufferance of the priest. One sword must be under the other, and the temporal authority must be subject to the spiritual power [as in the case of America's Protestant Papal Crusader leading the "War on Terrorism" for yet another "four more years," President George W. Bush].' " {9} [Emphasis added]

"Every citizen, and every sojourner in this country, who is loyal to the Roman Catholic Church, is an enemy to our government, of necessity, for he yields his highest allegiance to the Pope of Rome*, a foreign potentate, who has time and again anathematized every fundamental principle of our government. He has denounced liberty of conscience, freedom of speech and of press, freedom of worship and of teaching, as pestilent and damnable heresies; destructive to order, and to the peace and welfare of society. The highest dignitaries of this so called church have declared their purpose to make this a Roman Catholic country; but to do this it must be brought to the acceptance of the* Pope of Rome as Christ's vice-regent, or representative on earth, invested with all temporal and spiritual authority; above all kings, emperors, and civil rulers; the supreme judge and lawgiver, whose decisions are infallible and final. This would make him lord of the conscience and master of the actions of all men throughout his dominion, which is nothing less than the earth. These are his monstrous claims; and his priests, of all grades, including the wily Jesuits*, are laboring night and day to make them good in this land of ours. . . .*

Is there no danger when the Roman Hierarchy quarters its wily agents in the capital of our nation to exert their influence in shaping our laws, and in controlling Presidential appointments to the highest and most important offices? Is there not danger when all our politicians who aspire to national fame feel that in order to succeed they must truckle to Rome, and be submissive? Is there not danger when the capital of our nation has been captured by the wily Jesuit, and Washington is literally 'in the lap of Rome?'

Go into any and all of the departments of our government and find seven elevenths of the government employees in several of them, abject slaves of the Pope, and tell me is there no danger? Go into all of our cities and larger towns and find our municipal governments in the hands of the faithful servants of this foreign despot, the Pope, and who are corruptly administering their affairs to enrich the church at the expense of the people, and tell me, is there no danger? Contemplate this alien and dangerous power in complete control of three-fourths of our newspapers and periodicals, and tell me, is there no danger? . . . It is clear that Rome is rapidly getting control of all the sources of power in the United States, both in civil and military affairs; that she is doing so in pursuance of a well considered and wisely laid plan, and for the very purpose of subverting our government" {10} [Emphasis added]

"The fact is that very few Protestants have realized how entirely Rome is a political church, and that she always makes her political advancement her first object; nor do they realize that it is not only permitted but approved, that solemn oaths should be taken which are never intended to be kept [the Jesuit doctrine of mental reservation as applied to taking a civil oath to uphold America's Protestant Constitution]. . . . Now Rome is perfectly consistent in her demand for the control of civil government. If her teaching were true, that there is no salvation outside the Church, she is bound to compel all to belong to the Church, even if she has to call in the civil power to help her to enforce submission. This power she has ever invoked and utilized. . . . Rome, claiming as she does the right of ruling all the world in temporal affairs, will not rest content with Ireland." {11} [Emphasis added]

"Now, at the period of the Reformation we find the old notion of a universal paparchy incorporated in the order of the Jesuits—'who claimed for the Church an unlimited supremacy over the State, and made the existence of a government, and the allegiance paid to it, to depend on the application of its power to the interest of the Catholic Church.'

Jesuitism is the despotism of intolerance. The Reformation had assailed the Catholic unity; Jesuitism would resist the Reformation by intensifying that unity through the subordination of all persons, parties and interests to the head of the Church. Protestantism in Germany had contended for spiritual freedom; Jesuitism had insisted upon the annihilation of self-will, and its absorption in the will of a superior, who should be reverenced, not on the ground of his wisdom or his goodness, but as the official representative of God. Protestantism had revived reason as a judge in matters of faith; Jesuitism made diversity of belief a sin, and would enforce dogma by authority. Protestantism made much of conscience as a criterion of duty; Jesuitism made of religion a [political] power, the triumph of which was the end to be had always in view, and which must be secured by any and every means [necessary], even by the sacrifice of conscience itself." {12} [Emphasis added]

"Their father-general resides in Rome, all the others yield him absolute submission. He has selected some fathers who are called assistants because they continually aid him. There is at least one of these for each nation, by whose name he is called, one being styled the Assistant of France, another of Spain, a third of Italy, a fourth of England, a fifth of Austria, and so on for all the other provinces and kingdoms. Each of them has for office to acquaint the father-general as to all events of state which take place in the province or kingdom, for which he is assistant; and this he does by means of his correspondents who reside in the provincial towns of the said kingdom. Now these correspondents inform themselves with scrupulous care as to the character, inclinations, and intentions of the sovereigns, and by each courier they acquaint the assistant with whatever facts have recently occurred or been brought to light. These are immediately communicated by the assistant to the father-general, who thereupon assembling his council, they proceed together to perform an anatomy of the world, and scrutinize the interests or the projects of all Christian princes.

After having weighed all the documents, they agree among themselves to favour the interests of one prince and thwart those of another making everything turn to their own advantage. Now as the lookers-on more easily detect the sleights-of-hand committed than those who are playing the game, so these fathers having under their eyes the interests of all princes, can very accurately appreciate the exigencies of times and places, and put in operation the most decisive means in order to favour a prince whom they are sure they can make use of for the realization of their own interested views [like Roman Catholic Freemasons Napoleon I and Hitler]. . . .

Secrecy is necessary in state affairs: a state is undone when its secrets are divulged. But the Jesuit fathers, that is to say the father-general and his assistants, . . . are exactly and minutely informed of all the decisions come to in the most private councils; and they know the forces, revenues, and expenditure of sovereigns, better in a manner than the sovereigns themselves. . . . Being thus profoundly acquainted with the interests of all sovereigns, is it not in their power to weaken the credit of any one of them with the rest, to ruin any sovereign they please in the estimation of his people, to make the latter his enemies, and to instill the leaven of revolt into the state—and all this the more easily, since by means of confessions and consultations they penetrate into the most secret thoughts of the subjects?" They have . . . various classes of Jesuits, laymen and priests, and their auxiliaries in sundry occult functions . . . in every kingdom, province and court." {15} [Emphasis added]

In his eyes, they could not be humble and submissive enough. The Jesuit ought to value himself, individually, as nothing—the Society as everything. . . .

And so absolutely is this rule of submissive obedience enforced, that the Jesuit, in order to obey his General, must not scruple to disobey God. In a country ruled by a despot who was friendly to them [the Jesuits], they maintained 'the right Divine of Kings to govern wrong.' In another, the Sovereign of which was opposed to them, they would encourage the people in lifting up against him the standard of revolt, and even asserted that if the assassin should sheathe his knife in his bosom, he would not expose himself to any punishment when standing before the judgment-seat of Christ. . . . In fact they are chargeable with the great guilt of publishing a system of morality perfectly compatible with the indulgence of the worst passions of our nature. The analysis of their opinions cannot fail to justify the condemnation passed upon them by the Parliament in Paris in 1762:

'These doctrines tend to destroy the natural law, that rule of manners which God Himself has imprinted on the hearts of men, and in consequence to sever all the bonds of civil society by the authorization of falsehood, perjury, the most culpable impurity, and in a word each passion and each crime of human weakness; to obliterate all sentiments of humanity by favouring homicide and parricide; and to annihilate the authority of Sovereigns in the State.' " {17} [Emphasis added]

"Is there any reasonable man, acquainted with the Constitutions of the Jesuits, their institutions for the young, and the doctrines of the Society, which I have laid before you, who does not feel alarmed at the facilities, which a General of Jesuits possesses to intrigue and cabal, and, let us say freely, to conspire? A man who has twenty thousand subjects devoted to his orders by profession and by religious principle, who ought, according to their constitutions and their vows, to be ready to shed their blood for the Society; whose consciences, whose genius, whose characters, and whose tempers are intimately known to him from their childhood: who are accustomed to the yoke of absolute obedience, and to regard their General as they regard God, or as Jesus Christ; men of whose secrecy is certain; men, who judge themselves by the direction of other men, their interests and their passions; a despot whose slightest sign is law to them; whose written wish is a decree, an ordinance; who holds in his hands all the treasures of the commerce of the Society and who is informed 177 times a year of the condition of all kingdoms,—what enterprise will such a man not undertake? . . . The kind of despotism that he exercises is to be ascertained by the nature of the obedience which is required. The Constitutions throughout put the General in the place of God and of Jesus Christ. This assumption is so marked in this respect that I think there are in the Constitutions more than 500 places, which expressions are used similar to the following:—

'We must always see Jesus Christ in the General; be obedient to him in all his behests, as if they came directly from God himself. That obedience must be complete in action, in the will, in the understanding; you must feel convinced, that everything which the superior commands, is the precept and the will of God; you must always see God himself and Jesus Christ in the superior, whoever he may be.' . . .

He must not only be obeyed immediately, quickly, without answer or remonstrance, but his subject is required to believe inwardly, and to believe firmly, that this superior, who may be fanciful or capricious or unjust, is ntirely right, and that it is Almighty God, who speaks by his mouth; that what he orders is a precept of the Almighty, and his holy will. All the members of the Society are bound to execute everything that the General shall prescribe, with the same full consent and submission, as the dogmas of the Catholic faith. When he orders anything, it is not allowable to consider whether the act prescribed is sinful or not." {20} [Emphasis added]

Report on the Constitutions of the Jesuits

"The first triumphs of the Reformation past, Rome summoned new forces, hoping to accomplish its destruction. At this time the Order of the Jesuits was created, the most cruel, unscrupulous, and powerful of all the champions of popery. Cut off from earthly ties and human interests, dead to the claims of natural affection, reason and conscience wholly silenced, they knew no rule, no tie, but that of their order, and no duty but to extend its power . . . There was no crime too great for them to commit, no deception too base for them to practice, no disguise too difficult for them to assume. Vowed to perpetual poverty and humility, it was their studied aim to secure wealth and power, to be devoted to the overthrow of Protestantism, and the re-establishment of the papal supremacy. When appearing as members of their order, they wore a garb of sanctity . . . But under this blameless exterior the most criminal and deadly purposes were often concealed. It was a fundamental principle of the order that the end justifies the means. By this code, lying, theft, perjury, assassination, were not only pardonable but commendable, when they served the interests of the church. Under various disguises the Jesuits worked their way into offices of state, climbing up to be the counselors of kings, and [subtly] shaping the policy of nations. They became servants to act as spies upon their masters. . . . The Jesuits rapidly spread themselves over Europe, and wherever they went, there followed a revival of popery. To give them greater power, a bull was issued re-establishing the inquisition . . . and atrocities too terrible to bear the light of day were repeated in its secret dungeons. Such were the means which Rome had invoked to quench the light of the Reformation, to withdraw from men the Bible, and to restore the ignorance and superstition of the Dark Ages." {21} [Emphasis added]

"Yes, Gentlemen, the Society of Jesus had for [its] mission to draw back the modern world from its tendency towards free thought! First, they hope to bring back, repentant, to the Pope and the Church, their beloved, rich, and powerful daughter, France, who has separated herself from them. This Society has for [its] mission, to put their hands upon our society in the name of the Church; . . . in such a manner that those Kings and Republics shall give back of themselves to Catholicism, to the Church, her lost power and authority [returning France to the Dark Ages]. . . . As you see in our country, the Catholic Church fights against the civil power, with the Society of Jesus at her head; . . . You know the formula of the Company of Jesus' Order: 'Thou shalt be in the hand of thy director like a corpse.' . . .

Gentlemen, you should think deeply over the nature of the fight which is started against lay governments by the Society of Jesus, marching in front of and commanding the Catholic Church. It is not a political disturbance; it is a social war! . . . And then, with the help of a thousand diverse causes, with the secret complicity of governments, (which greatly mistake in these matters in believing they can make use of the Jesuits; while, on the contrary, the Jesuits are making use of and laughing at them, and are at the same time taking advantage of the complicity of governments), . . . and the support of the clergy all gathered around them, which brought to them the help of its power, its authority, and even of the income from worship and of the inexhaustible resources which they know so well [how] to secure among the faithful; taking advantage of all these means and all these circumstances, they have constituted the clerical party. . . .

This party is in the administration, the magistracy, the army, civil society, and in all branches of human activity, and at every degree of the social hierarchy. This party constitutes a body, which is, at the same time, spread all over the world regarding its members, but as regards its interests, powerfully concentrated. Why? Because its numerous members hold together, help each other, depend upon one another, protect and push forward one another; . . . And so the Jesuits hoped that the French nation was finally in their hands, and that with her they had secured the power. . . . For, if they ever could take hold of the public power, national liberty would soon be suppressed, and it would be all over with what is dearest to us! . . .

Now, Gentlemen, it is sufficient for us to have unmasked beforehand those intrigues, to have pointed them out to the . . . French people. . . . never in this France, . . . no, never, will the Jesuits reign." {23} [Emphasis added]

The Doctrine of the Jesuits

"After all, we need not wonder at the difficulties of Lord Baltimore with the 'good men.' It was a very old fight which was being renewed on Maryland soil. Should the Church be independent of all civil authority, rendering it no allegiance, and discharging no duties towards it? The Jesuits boldly claim that it should. And for a time they triumphed. But their victory meant utter ruin for Baltimore. There can be only one supreme power in any land [the Jesuits, in control of the New York Council on Foreign Relations, being the supreme power in America today].

Lord Baltimore was exceedingly unfortunate in having to fight this question out so far from the base of operations [England], but he was more unfortunate still in having the Jesuit Society as his opponent. For that Society has always been a thorn in the side even of the strongest and best settled governments. It has a well-deserved reputation of shrinking from nothing that will advance either its own interests or the interests of the Church. Indeed, its never-ceasing efforts since its inception in 1534 until now to control for its own purposes the governments of the world, has again and again caused even Roman Catholic countries to prohibit its existence within their borders, so exceedingly mischievous and harmful has its influence always been, wherever it principles have had time to bring forth their fruit. That these governments were justified in their action we have evidence of a very remarkable character. By one of the infallible Pontiffs, Clement XIV, in the celebrated bull, 'Dominus ac Redemptor Noster,' the Society was suppressed in all the states of Christendom [Roman Catholicism] 'for the peace of the Church.'

It was therefore with a strange want of foresight, and an utterly unaccountable lack of appreciation of the gravity of the step he was taking that Lord Baltimore ever permitted the Jesuits to get a foothold in his province. For once removed from the restraints imposed upon them in England, their conduct had soon alienated the best men in his province, spread sectarian bitterness, stirred up religious strife, arrayed men in two parties and speedily, as the result of it all, brought their patron into conflict with the authorities in England, creating an impression there, never wholly removed, that the Roman Church had an undue and dangerous influence in Maryland. . . .

Thus, as so often elsewhere, the Jesuits had proved to be troublers of the peace of the community which had given them shelter. Rule or ruin seems ever to be the only alternative of their presence." {24} [Emphasis added]

Religion Under the Barons of Baltimore

"My intention is not to write what I have heard from others respecting those devoted children of the zealous Ignazius [Ignatius] Loyola, but what I have seen nd observed by my frequent intercourse with them. Having been a pupil in the college of the Jesuits, I must confess, that from what I know and have seen of them, they are worthy sons of such a father.

The name of Jesuit is one of reproach among Protestants; in Rome it commands respect mingled with fear. In Protestant countries they (though numerous) are never apparently seen; but in Rome they are everywhere present. Protestants abhor Jesuitism, (and well they might) for the name Jesuit is associated with regicide and the gunpowder plot, with the bloody night of St. Bartholomew and the desolation of Europe; in Rome they are not only the chief counselors of every project, but the executors of every plan framed by the secret council of the Vatican. . . .

A Jesuit is an amphibious being; he is (according to his Constitution) neither a monk nor a secular priest; still he is both when required. The spirit of domination is the foundation of his order, and at the same time you see him creeping like a worm in the dust to be (apparently) crushed by every foot that passes by. He is a monarchist in Austria, a revolutionist in France, an autocrat in Italy and a republican in the United States. In one word he is every-thing, in order to obtain his aim, for the end sanctifies the means. A Jesuit is like a bat; when the cat comes, it says: 'I am a bird,' extending its wings and flies; if the hawk appears, it creeps in the darkest holes and exclaims: 'I am a mouse.' Such is the character of Jesuitism. To become a Jesuit and to be welcomed at their doors, a person must have one of the three requisites, talent, nobility, or money. Talent is the chief object; nobility is preferred before money. . . . It would be ridiculous if I were to make any distinction between ancient and modern Jesuitism, for that sect never changes. The leopard may change its spots and the Ethiopian his color, but Jesuits will remain always the same. They are as in time of old, cunning and sagacious in gaining the favor of the great and the heart of youth. Jesuitism is all activity as in the day of its origin; having determined to go, they advance, they resolve to accomplish an object and succeed. To realize a project they evade all laws; they clear them by a leap or trample them under foot as they did before their suppression. If they aim at an object, they exert all these influences, resort to stratagems, equivocations and intrigues to obtain it, for conscientious scruples are trifles. The evil has risen to a point where concealment is criminal." {25} [Emphasis added]

Papal Rome As It Is, By A Roman

"The Jesuit monarchy covers the globe. At its head, as we have said, is a sovereign, who rules over all, but is himself ruled over by no one. . . . From his chamber in Rome the eye of the General surveys the world of Jesuitism to its farthest bounds; there is nothing done in it which he does not see; there is nothing spoken in it which he does not hear. It becomes us to note the means by which this almost superhuman intelligence is acquired. Every year a list of the houses and members of the Society, with the name, talents, virtues, and failings of each, is laid before the General. In addition to the annual report, every one of the thirty-seven [now, eighty-five] provincials must send him a report monthly of the state of his province; he must inform him minutely of its political and ecclesiastical condition. Every superior of a college must report once every three months. The heads of houses of residence, and houses of novitiates, must do the same. In short, from every quarter of his vast dominions come a monthly and a tri-monthly report. If the matter reported on has reference to persons outside the Society, the Constitutions direct that the provincials and superiors shall write to the General in cipher [now, encrypted code via the CIA]. . . .

Thus to the General of the Jesuits the world lies 'naked and open.' He sees by a thousand eyes, he hears by a thousand ears; and when he has a behest to execute, he can select the fittest agent from an innumerable host, all of whom are ready to do his bidding. The past history, the good and evil qualities of every member of the Society, his talents, his dispositions, his inclinations, his tastes, his secret thoughts, have all been strictly examined, minutely chronicled, and laid before the eye of the General. It is the same as if he were present in person, and had seen and conversed with each. . . . All ranks, from the nobleman to the day-laborer; all trades, from the opulent banker to the shoemaker and porter; all professions, from the stoled dignitary and the learned professor to the cowled mendicant; all grades of literary men, from the philosopher, the mathematician, and the historian, to the schoolmaster and the reporter on the provincial newspaper, are enrolled in the Society. Marshaled, and in continual attendance, before their chief, stand this host, so large in numbers, and so various in gifts. At his word they go, and at his word they come, speeding over seas and mountains, across frozen steppes, of burning plains, on his errand. . . . There is no disguise the Jesuit will not wear, no art he will not employ, no motive he will not feign, no creed he will not profess, provided only he can acquit himself a true soldier in the Jesuit army, and accomplish the work on which he has been sent forth." {26} [Emphasis added]

The History of Protestantism: The Jesuits

"As I am treating of religious institutions, I must not pass over in silence that celebrated Order, which, from the first years of its existence, assumed the stature of a colossus, and employed all a giant's strength; that order which perished without having felt decay: which did not follow the common course of others, either in its foundation, in its development, or even in its fall; that order of which it is truly and correctly said, that it had neither infancy nor old age. It is clear that I speak of the Society of Jesus, the Jesuits. . . . it is impossible to call to mind the religious institutions, the religious, political, and literary history of Europe, during the last three centuries without meeting the Jesuits at every step: we cannot travel in the most distant countries, traverse unknown seas, visit the most remote lands, or penetrate the most frightful deserts, without finding everywhere under our feet some memorials of the Jesuits. . . . When we study the history of the Jesuits, this very extraordinary circumstance is apparent . . . there is no religious order which has been the object of such keen animosity . . . Since their reappearance [in 1814], men have constantly fixed their eyes upon them; they tremble lest they should resume their ancient power [their universal power wielded prior to their Papal Suppression and Extinction in 1773]; Men do not despise the Jesuits, but fear them . . . It is immediately seen that he who attacks does not believe himself opposed to insignificant adversaries. . . . it is clear that he takes the affair to heart, and does not look upon it as a mere joke. . . . we hear him say to himself, 'Everything affecting the Jesuits is extremely grave; there is no playing with these men—no regard, no indulgence, no moderation of any kind; it is necessary always to treat them with rigor, harshness, and detestation; with them, the least negligence may become fatal.' "Though the Order of the Jesuits, like all the Orders of the Romish Church, was at first nominally subject to the authority of the Pope, they secured, by a brief dated October 1836, that the Pope [Gregory XVI] virtually resigned himself and the church to their control; consequently, it being easier for them to manage one man than a multitude of independent bishops, it was their policy to have infallibility lodged in one man, that man being the Pope." {28} [Emphasis added]

Romanism Analyzed

"We have now seen the nature of the organization called into existence to arrest the progress of the Reformation. We observe that in the early stages of their existence as an Order, the Jesuits gained brilliant victories over their foes. . . . This terrible machine of war, . . . has been worked during a long period with deadly effect against the powerful battalions of its foes. Sometimes allied with Kings against people, sometimes with people against Kings, the Jesuits have never known but one object: to maintain that the Supreme Pontiff has the first claim on the allegiance of the people and their rulers. Every nation may lawfully remove by murder every Sovereign who refuses obedience to him [as in the case of President John F. Kennedy]. The despotic power with which they have armed the Pope must, however, be wielded by themselves. . . . We shall find that, propagated among the people by themselves as the Pope's representatives, it led Jaques Clement and Ravaillac to sheathe their daggers in the bosom of Henry III and Henry IV of France. We shall see that they promoted the League of the Guises, which had for its object a change in the French dynasty; that they were concerned in the bloody massacre of St. Bartholomew; that they procured the revocation of the Edict of Nantes; and that they organized the bloody and terrible Thirty Years' War. Supported by the legions of their fellow-soldiers, they have made themselves obnoxious by their intrigues in every country where they have been established. . . .

The Jesuits have come in the nineteenth century everywhere to be considered as the factious enemies of all Governments which seek to restrain them in working out theories aiming a deadly blow at institutions beneath whose protecting shade a land has long enjoyed the blessings of [Protestant] liberty and independence. We can now see that every effort is exerted by the Jesuits to place the Pope, through the Vatican decrees as to Papal Infallibility, in a position of ascendancy, not only in Italy, but throughout Europe. . . . The politics pf the Syllabus are now forming the clergy of the future. . . . The Jesuits are transmitting and increasing the worst traditions of the Curia—that power behind the Papal throne by which the Roman Catholic Church is governed. . . . When the preparations are completed, the hope is that a generation will have been trained in the course of years in obedience to the call of him who holds among Romanists the place of God, to cry 'God wills it,' and to march forward until every enemy has been cast down, and the Church alone shall stand, the one perfect society, embracing the whole human race." {29} [Emphasis added]

These are startling facts. Though we have long known them—we are shocked at the contemplation of those approaching evils, which this new proof brings so clearly before our minds. Yes, we repeat it; the nation cannot avoid the most dreadful calamities [including Presidential assassinations]—from this fatal and corrupt society, unless prompt and vigorous measures can be taken to deliver it from the impending curse. The Society of Jesus is the enemy of man. The whole human race should unite for its overthrow. Their feeble vision could not bear the full blaze of the mighty reality which is hidden under so many folds of the religious veil. The moment they discovered the political element their arms would sink powerless, their eager zeal would vanish, and these athletic combatants, so prompt to serve us, would suddenly turn their weapons against us." {31} [Emphasis added]

The Jesuits:
Their Foundation and History

"The order of the Jesuits, we have seen, was restored to their former glory, and devilish capacity for mischief, in 1814. There were two reasons for their revival; the sinking cause of civil despotism: the decline of popery, and spiritual tyranny. These tools of the pope, and the legitimates, are now in full operation in Europe. But their zeal and imprudence, every one sees, are causing the tide of public opinion, and the genius of liberty, to set in against them. They blame, and not without reason, our republic, as the prime cause of all this excitement in Europe against them. And, as long as this great and free nation is in the full tide of the most successful experiment of SELF-GOVERNMENT, they know that the people of Europe will not bear much longer with the thrones of tyrants, and the systems of misrule, devised by the priest-ridden and warlike men, in the Dark Ages. . . . Hence all the tyrants of Europe hate us; and seek our downfall with immovable perseverance.

And well do the Metterniches, and Schlegels know that popery is just that fatal weapon,—and that the Jesuits are just the cold-blooded conspirators that will work out their salvation for them, in our downfall, if heaven permit human means to achieve it." {33} [Emphasis added]

"This Society is, besides, a political engine. . . . Are the Jesuits, then, friends to freedom? . . . In the eyes of the people they exist whenever despotism exists, and disappear whenever liberty appears. Devoted to the past, they are the enemies of the future; so much so, that were it possible, they would even prevent time from advancing. To a superior they sacrifice life and conscience. To their Order they sacrifice individuality. They are neither Frenchmen, Italians, Germans, nor Spaniards. They are not citizens of any country. They are Jesuits only. They have but one family, one fortune, and one end; and all these are included in the word Community [i.e., "communism of celibates"]. . . . to labour, in short, for one only object, which is not the triumph of religion, but the triumph of the Company of Jesus, and the establishment of its mastery over the world." {34} [Emphasis added]

"In reminding those into whose hands this volume may chance to fall, of their obligations of citizenship under our popular form of government, I have found it absolutely necessary to portray the character of the Jesuits, but for whom, in my opinion, there would be but little to disturb us. This society has nothing in common with American ideas or principles. It represents monarchism in its most despotic and obnoxious form, by requiring each of its members to impersonate the most abject servility, . . .

It has had a history unlike that of any other society in the world. . . . Their society is so united and compact that its ranks can not be broken.

They are everywhere the same, moved by a common impulse, under the dictation of their general in Rome. They are the deadly enemies of civil and religious liberty. Nothing that stands in their way can become so sacred as to escape their vengeance. Protestantism has borne no fruits to which they have ever been reconciled. They consider the Reformation which gave birth to it to have been criminal resistance to the only rightful authority upon earth—that which proceeds from Church and State combined. They believe that the conditions of mankind during the Middle Ages [the Pope's Dark Ages], staggering under the weight of feudal oppression, were preferable to modern progress and enlightenment; that human happiness would be promoted by the return to that period; . . .

The members of this society are numerous and powerful in the United States. They are constantly increasing, mainly by accessions from their drilled and disciplined companions in Europe, . . . They have neither country, nor homes, nor families, nor friendships beyond the limits of their order—none of the affections of the heart which give charm and life to social intercourse—being required to abandon all these and fit themselves for uninquiring obedience to their general, whose commands, whether right or wrong, good or bad, they have solemnly vowed to execute, without the least regard for consequences. . . . Because of this, a sense of both duty and security demands that the history and character of this skilled and powerful adversary—alien in birth, growth, and sentiment—should be understood; as also the causes which have led to the expulsion of the Jesuits from every country in Europe, the public odium which has rested upon them for many years, their long continued disturbance of the peace of nations, and the final suppression and abolition of their society by one of the best and most enlightened of the popes." {38} [Emphasis added]

"LETTER TO POPE PIUS X, No. 1.

Subject: Papal Intrigue, Usurpation, and Episcopal Vandalism, illustrated by the case of 'The most Reverend' John Baptist Purcell, Archbishop of Cincinnati, Ohio, U. S. A.

'Your Holiness:'

'I feel free to address myself directly to you, not indeed because I acknowledge subjection in the smallest measure to your authority, either in spirituals or temporals, but because I charge you—CHIEF OF WHITE SLAVERS, HIGH PRIEST OF INTRIGUE—with being the fountainhead of evils world-wide, the arch-disturber of humanity's peace, religious and social; the relentless foe of the three basic principles of American National life and liberty—freedom of conscience, freedom of speech, freedom of the press. From America you draw a large part of the revenues used by your System [obtained from the Federal Reserve Bank and the New York Stock Exchange] to enslave mankind.'

Americans who bow not before the idols of popery may well ask—Are our Presidents and Vice-Presidents, our Cabinet officers and the Judges of the Supreme Court, our Senators and Representatives placed in office to play the part so subservient and so dastardly servile to Rome's foulest purposes?

[This has been the settled American state of affairs from the assassination of President McKinley (1901) to the fascist Presidency of George W. Bush (2001)]. . . The Jesuits: What Are They? Who Are They? What Have They Done? What Are They Doing?

"My confessor was a Frenchman, and was also the secretary of the Father-Assistant of France. . . . and looking on me as one to be confided in, he often made use of me to copy letters. . . . However, all of this would not have made me know Jesuitism, which is an impenetrable mystery to ninety-nine out of a hundred of the Jesuits themselves. . . .

The fundamental maxim of Jesuitism is exposed in the exercises of St. Ignatius—"all means are good, provided they lead to the end." . . . you may choose deceit, which is no longer called deceit, but holy art; . . . Put into application these principles, which present themselves under the aspect of piety and deceive the simple, and you will see that they justify regicide, lies, calumnies, and conspiracies. . . .

As for the Jesuits the world is their kingdom, and the different nations are only provinces of that kingdom of the Father-General. . . . This is why the Jesuits are protected by sovereigns and governors. A sovereign who is not their friend will sooner or later experience their vengeance. . . . they create embarrassment [Bay of Pigs fiasco] and vexation [Cuban Missile Crisis] to the one who is governing [President Kennedy], overturn the ministers against their will [Nixon], introduce their adherents into Parliament [Ted Kennedy and Arlen Specter], paralyse liberty [Emergency War Powers Act of 1950 and the Gun Control Act of 1968], and arrest progress [The Food and Drug Administration]. Not content with this, they excite reaction in all possible ways [the Civil Rights Movement], in order that the country may come under, according to them, blessed despotism ["New Right-wing" Republican fascism implemented by one of the sons of the Nazi-fascist Bush Dynasty who is presently ruling Fourteenth Amendment America under the Argus, All-Seeing Eye of Pope John Paul II (which Egyptian All-Seeing Eye of the Pope can be seen in the stained-glass window above the entrance of St. Peter the Apostle Roman Catholic Church located on 94 Somerset Street in New Brunswick, New Jersey)—President George W. Bush].

Thus they act pretty much everywhere; dominion is the end at which they aim; the means for arriving at it are different; hence, in a country where there are Jesuits, they must either rule or the country must go to ruin [Europe from 1914-1945]. . . . and in this way, either under one name or another, it is they who rule the world. . . . if you examine the facts, you will find that they aim at universal dominion alone." {41} [Emphasis added]

Popery, Puseyism, and Jesuitism

"These missionary doings, however pernicious in themselves, were far from being the greatest evils brought upon France by the Jesuits. It was the Congregation by which the Jesuits became a real plague to the land, and at the same time objects of popular hatred and persecution. We look upon the Congregation, that remarkable system of association in its most flourishing and extensive development, in which the Jesuits have always been great masters—ay, much greater even than in their system of education—as the true organ, THE GRAND SECRET of the immense influence which they have for centuries exercised upon European [and now American] society. By means of that particular system, the Order of Loyola joined to the standing army of its spiritual or real members, who were bound to live according to the rules of their order, also an army of secular volunteers, Jesuits in short coats or skirts (à robe courte), who were not in the least disturbed in their ordinary calling and trade, and of whom nothing was required but that they should wear certain sacred appendages as a sign of recognition, say daily a short prayer, now and then participate in the more heavy exercises of the Church, and engage themselves by a simple vow for a certain time (in France, for instance, for the term of five years), to render all possible services to the Order, and obey its instructions.

In return, they were promised a ready promotion of their worldly views and interests, and absolution and indulgence of all sins and transgressions.

Neither were these promises empty words incapable of realization. The mighty and widely ramified Order of St. Ignatius was powerful enough to procure by its interest far greater advantages to individuals, than could any other Corporation, [subordinate Masonic] Fraternity, or even secular power. Hence the great facility with which they acted upon all classes of society, by holding out the seductive prospects of ambition or pecuniary gain, according to the views and the position of the individuals whom they wished to enlist in their service [CFR members in America and RIIA members in Britain ruling the Press, Banking, the Financial Markets, Academia, Protestant sects, the Arts, Sports and Sciences].

In recent times, in particular, the success of the Order rested chiefly on the co-operation with its standing army (the real tonsured members) of the innumerable hosts of volunteers, the Jesuits in short coats, who had been enlisted from all classes of the population. This was not only the case in France alone, but also in all countries where the disciples of Ignatius have been permitted to settle and acquire power and wealth." {42} [Emphasis added]

Modern Jesuitism

"Here, however, we discover who are the men and women in every rank of life who are doing work for the Jesuits, while they discreetly keep in the background as much as possible. . . . This Holy League, or 'Apostleship of Prayer,' is not confined to congregations under the direct spiritual supervision of Jesuit priests. No fewer than 22 Orders and Religious Institutions have given to its members a 'participation in all their merits, prayers, and good works.' It seeks to push itself into all 'Religious Communities' and Ecclesiastical Seminaries for the education of priests, and into ordinary secular Colleges and Schools [the Rockefeller-financed University of Chicago]. In this last connection the English Handbook mentions the existence of a mysterious organization called 'The Militia of the Pope in Colleges and Schools' [Yale University's Order of Skull and Bones], as to which it would be desirable for the Protestant public to have further information than they at present possess. It seems that even persons outside the Church of Rome may be members of the League [as are American Presidents Bill Clinton and George W. Bush], . . .

If this 'Holy League' were but a small affair it would scarcely be worthy of notice; but it is not small. It is in reality the largest organization ever formed within the fold of any professedly Christian Church. It is stated in its Irish Handbook that, in 1897, it numbered nearly 25,000,000 of Associates, scattered throughout the whole world. How many of them live in Great Britain is more than I can tell. The figures are simply amazing!

Just think of it for a moment. Twenty-five millions of men and women under the direct influence of the Jesuit Order, the greatest enemy of our Protestant liberties to be found in the whole world! . . . Whenever the Jesuit Order may need to stir up civil commotions and dissensions in the interests of the Papacy, and to the injury of Protestant Sovereigns and Governments, from the ranks of this 'Holy League' [the American Council on Foreign Relations and the British Royal Institute of International Affairs] it can at any time select suitable instruments. By the means of this League they easily know who their instruments are, and where to find them when wanted. . . . In this new 'Holy League' may eventually be found the army the Jesuits will some day require to restore the Temporal Power of the Pope [via Mussolini in 1929], which is one of the dearest objects they have at heart in the present time. 'I have,' wrote the Rev. E. J. O'Reilly, S.J., Professor of Theology in Maynooth, . . . 'no hesitation in saying that a war directed to the re-establishment of the Pontiff's temporal sovereignty, would be just, so far as the cause is concerned.' " {43} [Emphasis added]

The Jesuits in Great Britain

Dust Cover and Quotes

"For the purpose of attempting to create a breach between the Czarist regime and the [Jewish-owned] Royal Dutch Co., there was effected the publication in Russian, and widespread distribution, under the name of a Captain Linus, a notorious forged document labeled Protocols of Zion [select Jesuits under Extreme Oath being the true "Elders of Zion"]. The document was a falsified translation from the German teachings of the Jesuit, Adam Weishaupt, written by him as instructions for the trusted members of his Communist organization, the Order of Illuminati. . . . Few of the plotters who have conspired to enslave and rule mankind plotted more studied use of the control of money and wealth than did the founders of modern-day Communism: Jesuit Adam Weishaupt, alias Spartacus, and his disciple, Moses Mordecai Marx Levy, alias (Heinrich) Karl Marx. . . . Weishaupt's success in forcing the Vatican to reestablish the abolished Jesuit Order, through revival of the Church's original Nazarene Communism in the form of present-day Communism, led to the conspiracy's control by the Society of Jesus. This undoubtedly is the significance of the admonition to the Jesuit Order by Pope Paul VI at the time of their assembly in May, 1965, to elect their new General, Fr. Pedro Arrupe [the mastermind behind the atomic detonations in Japan].

The situation explains why wherever a totalitarian movement erupts, whether Communist or Nazi, a Jesuit can be found in the role of "advisor," or leader; in Cuba, Castro's Fr. Armando Llorente and in Argentina the neo-Nazis [whose Nazi fathers escaped Europe through Pope Pius XII's Vatican Ratlines] are led by Fr. Menvieille." {44} [Emphasis added]

The Time of Jacob's Trouble:
An Answer to the Question of A Little Jewish Girl:
"What Makes Folks Hate Us So?"

"In some respects, the meeting that convened in the middle of spring 1981bore the marks of thousands of board meetings going on at the same moment in every daylight country of the world. Beyond glass-paneled double doors, a conference between seven men was in progress. A folder bulging with reports lay in front of each man. . . . The conference room was on the third floor of the Palace of the Popes on Vatican Hill. . . .

Seated at the conference table were the Pontiff of the Holy Roman Catholic Church and six of his most powerful cardinals, the movers and shakers of the Vatican, a cameo of its most formidable strength. And the subject of discussion between them was the life or death of the Society of Jesus: whether, in other words, the Order headed by Father General Pedro Arrupe should be allowed to go on as it was, or be reorganized and reset according to the often-repeated wishes of the Popes, or be officially done to death by the power and under the authority of Pope John Paul II. . . . By this early spring of 1981, for example, John Paul had already felt the effect firsthand of the enormous power that had accrued over centuries to the Father General of the Society of Jesus. So great is that power in Rome and in the world at large, and so widely is it recognized, that whoever holds the office of Jesuit General also holds the unofficial title of 'the *Black Pope.'

Black in this case is not meant to indicate a menace of any sort. It is simple recognition of the fact that, like any other Jesuit, the hugely powerful General of the Society always dresses in black clericals, in contrast to the traditional white robes of the hugely powerful Holy Father. . . .

In the chair immediately to the Pope's right sat 'Dottrina'—the cardinal [Joseph Ratzinger, now Pope Benedict XVI] charged with overseeing the purity of Roman Catholic doctrine throughout the vast and varied world of the Church. A smooth-faced Bavarian [ordained to the priesthood in 1951 by the Archbishop of Munich, Michael Cardinal von Faulhaber—the secret power behind Roman Catholics Adolf Hitler, Heinrich Himmler, Heinrich Mueller, Josef Mengele, and thus the Bavarian Nazi Party], wise and by no means simple, Dottrina was a professional theologian with all the confidence of the intellectual cleric. At fifty-five, he was totally white-haired, and was the youngest man present. John Paul knew that Dottrina would always give total support to the papal will. . . .

And so it was that even as the White Pope opened the meeting with a ten minute statement of 'clarification,' the *Black Pope, Pedro Arrupe, seemed an effective presence, an invisible eighth man at the table. That slightly built, hook-nosed, seventy-three-year-old Basque was known personally to each of these seven men. He was loved by none of them. He was valued by some as a most useful ally, and detested by others as a most dangerous enemy. His Holiness had learned to fear him. . . .

The Jesuits had been established by the Roman Pontiff. To him they owed their existence and their allegiance. They were now in a state of revolt, according to His Holiness. As a Pope had created them, so a Pope could regulate them, or, if need be, terminate them. And that regulation or termination of the Jesuits was the proper subject of this meeting. . . .

Of one thing all were certain, however. Very soon, Father General Pedro Arrupe would have a blow-by-blow account of the meeting. He would know all that had been said. He would know that this Holy Father was neither a Paul VI whose weakness made him pliable, nor a John XXIII whose visionary hopes blinded him to the machinations of subordinates. He would know that, for the moment, a head-on attack on the Society of Jesus had been temporarily blunted, not out of love for Arrupe or esteem for the Society, but because it suited the policies of the present Secretary of State [Agostino Casaroli (1979-1990)] and the personal ambitions of Religiosi and Vescovi [surnames for two of the six attending cardinals].

Head-on attack or no, however, Arrupe, the *Black Pope, was as much a realist as Wojtyla, the White Pope. It would only be a matter of time before the Holy Father would move in on the Society of Jesus, to reform it from top to bottom, or to terminate its existence, possibly forever. In either case, this time Arrupe, who clung doggedly to his persuasion that he and his Jesuits knew better than the Vicar he served what was good for God's Church, would have to go. . . .

On May 13, 1981, within three weeks of that private papal conference, John Paul II was struck by two bullets from the Browning semiautomatic pistol of paid hitman Mehmet Ali Agca [who now claims from a Turkish prison that he was aided by Vatican cardinals]. By mistake, as the latter explained, the Pontiff was rushed to the Roman hospital of Gemelli rather than to the special hospital unit organized solely for papal use. He was given blood from the public blood bank; the private supply kept in readiness was never used. . . . In rapid succession, Pope John Paul II underwent two major operations and suffered the consequences of the transfusion of impure blood; he contracted a severe case of hepatitis. At the height of the Pontiff's crisis, on May 28, Cardinal Wyszynski of Warsaw died. Wyszynski was John Paul's closest friend, and had made his career." {46} [Emphasis added]

"The appointment of the pope's nuncio (ambassador) to Washington [as a result of the high treason of Knight of Malta President Ronald Reagan in formally recognizing the Sovereign State of Vatican City in 1984, fifty years after Great Britain had done the same in 1934, with Knight of Malta William Wilson being the first legal ambassador to the Vatican since America severed all relations in 1867 as a result of the Jesuit "black hand" in the Lincoln Assassination] could be compared to the installation of a foreign general, obeying orders of the head of an aggressive alien state.

Upon his good will or hostility depends the tranquility, cooperation and general good behavior of at least one third [now above forty percent] of the American population. Thus, a word from the nuncio can alter the disposition, attitude and even political opinion of millions of Catholics.

The nuncio will also become the arbitrator between the two major political parties of America [Jesuit-controlled since 1900]. Both Republican and Democratic parties from now on must be extremely attentive to the reaction of the papal nuncio. Political wooing will be done at the papal nunciature in Washington, the political center of the Catholic Church in the U.S. Politically, she is looming ever larger at the White House. She is a power in the Senate, a force at the Pentagon, an invisible secret agent at the F.B.I., and the most subtly intangible prime mover of the U.S. wheel-within-awheel: the Central Intelligence Agency." {48} [Emphasis added]

"The Vatican's constituency of 980 million followers is at least three times the number of citizens in any Western democracy and is exceeded only by the population of China. Even more important, these 980 million people are scattered throughout the world, many of them holding high political, military, and commercial positions in non-Catholic countries. Moreover, the pope has thousands of secret agents worldwide. They include Jesuits, the Knights of Columbus, Knights of Malta, Opus Dei [founded in 1928 by a Jesuit-controlled Italian priest recently canonized by Pope John Paul II, Josemaria Escriva, its American membership including Supreme Court Justices Clarence Thomas and Antonin Scalia (whose son Paul Scalia is a Catholic priest), ex-FBI Director Louis J. Freeh (whose English counterpart was Stella Rimington, the Director-General of MI5) who in 1999 publicly admitted that many low-level nuclear bombs had been deployed for detonation throughout the US, and his subordinate, Robert Philip Hanssen {49} (the James Jesus Angleton of the Black Pope's FBI), who, speaking fluent Russian, was America's greatest spy, being convicted of treason by giving intelligence secrets to the Black Pope's KGB in preparing the Soviets for our coming North American invasion], and others.

"Popery a Government"
"Viewing this corporation [the Pope's Theocratic Vatican Empire] as a government, the aspect of things is no less impressive. The head of the corporation is both a spiritual and a temporal ruler. He claims to be monarch of all monarchs. His senate of cardinals and electors are princes.

His bishops also are lords each in his diocese, but are still his vassals, bound to him by a feudal oath. To him also are bound the rulers of the Jesuits and of the various orders of monks and nuns, who are an all pervading soldiery, sworn to do his will. To the bishops also are subjected the secular priests, and to them are subjected the people. Thus the whole system is one compact and all-pervading government, the rule of which is absolute obedience to the central power and its agents in regular subordination. It is an immense army under military discipline. . . . The pope, the cardinals, the patriarchs, the metropolitans, the bishops, the priests, the deacons are all organized in a vast system, extending itself over the globe, and aiming at universal conquest. In it are the various orders of monks, nuns, Jesuits, bound to it by oaths and sworn to extend its sway [to the ends of the earth]. . . . He [the Pope] is the acting god of this world. His word is law: the Bible is nothing. The system is in theory and practice an annihilation of God and the Bible [thus being identical to the anti-Bible, anti-Reformation, anti-Hebrew, man-worshipping, inquisitional, political religions of both National Socialist Fascism and International Socialist Communism], and an enthronement of the pope or the Papal corporation in place of God . . . to reign as the only god on earth." {52} [Emphasis added]

PURPOSE

The purpose of the expose' of the Twentieth Century is to prove the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, ordered by Jesuit Superior General Jean-Baptiste Janssens and executed by Pope Paul VI, was carried out by "the American Pope," Francis Cardinal Spellman. Spellman, being the Archbishop of New York, was "the American Military Vicar" and therefore used his most obedient soldiers—certain Knights of Malta, 33rd Degree Shriner Freemasons, Knights of Columbus and Mafia Dons—in carrying out his orders from Rome.

The single reason for the President's assassination was his interference with the purpose of the Jesuits' Fourteenth Amendment American Empire created in 1868. That purpose was to restore and maintain the worldwide Temporal (political) Power of that Jesuit Creation of 1870—the "infallible" Pope. In resisting the Pope's Temporal Power, he threatened the monopoly of the Jesuits' Federal Reserve Bank by injecting into the economy nearly 4.3 billion dollars in interest-free United States Notes, only to be recalled the day after his burial. Marina Oswald clearly understood the complicity of the Fed behind JFK's assassination!

The President also attempted to break the foremost international intelligence arm of the Vatican's Jesuits—the evil Central Intelligence Agency—"into a thousand pieces." In 1963 the CIA was manned by many of Hitler's old warriors— the Jesuit-controlled Nazi SS—turned "cold warriors." According to the great Frenchman, Edmond Paris in his The Secret History of the Jesuits, it was a Jesuit controlled priest Bernhardt Stempfle who wrote Hitler's Mein Kampf. This fact is further confirmed by one of the founders of the Nazi Party, Roman Catholic Otto Strasser, in his revealing book, Hitler and I. It was Roman Catholic Hitler who said of the Roman Catholic Himmler, having modeled the SS after the Jesuit Order, "I can see Himmler as our Ignatius of Loyola." And lastly, the feared SD—the Central Security Service of the SS (after which the American CIA would be modeled with the help of the repatriated Nazi General, Reinhard Gehlen)—was also overseen by Himmler. Himmler's father, Gebhardt Himmler, being a Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor and schoolmaster for the Roman Catholic Wittelsbach royal family of Bavaria, was the culprit behind his methodical son becoming the bloodiest Inquisitor in the history of the Society of Jesus. Himmler also conspired with Martin Bormann. For the Order sponsored Bormann's rise to power through Xavier Schwarz, its SS Reich Party Treasurer and also a brother Knight of Malta to Franz von Papen! (Ex-Lutheran Martin Bormann (whose eldest son, Adolf Martin Bormann, became a Jesuit priest to the Congo) later escaped from Hitler's bunker to South America (in the disguise of a Jesuit according to Nino Lo Bello's The Vatican Papers) via the Pope's Vatican Ratlines and became a lay brother of the Jesuits' Redemptorist Order—created as a result of the Order's suppression in 1773—under the name of Brother Augustin von Lange.)

Secreted out of Europe through the Vatican's Ratlines, these murderers escaped their rightful punishment as war criminals who, during the Jesuit Crusade in Europe and Russia, killed millions of Russian Orthodox People and Jewish People pursuant to the Jesuits' evil Council of Trent, which, after condemning freedom of conscience and freedom of the press, concluded with these words:

"Accursed be all heretics. ACCURSED!! ACCURSED!!"

Lastly, President Kennedy began to end the Vatican's hoax known as "the Cold War," the American CIA and Russian KGB having secretly worked together since World War II. He also began to end that Jesuit Inquisition in Vietnam, as its future highpoint would be "Operation Phoenix," the CIA mass-murder of 60,000 Vietnamese, "in cold blood" according to its Opus Dei Director, William E. Colby.

The President interfering with Rome's Holy Office of the Inquisition could not be tolerated! Millions of "infidel" Buddhists were to be exterminated, the Pope's International Drug Trade would explode, American patriotism and liberty would further be destroyed and Vietnam would be reunited under Ho Chi Minh—another communist military dictator loyal to the Pope—like Stalin, like Chairman Mao, like Castro, like George H. W. Bush and son. Waged under the guise of opposing the communist empire's "domino effect," Cardinal Spellman championed America's most disastrous conflict known as "Spelly's War" overseen by Spelly's General, the Roman Catholic and CFR member, William C. Westmoreland. (Remember, according to Col. L. Fletcher Prouty in his JFK, the forced movement of over 660,000 Roman Catholics on U.S. Navy transport vessels from North Vietnam into South Vietnam was "one of the root causes of the Vietnam War." The arch-Catholic Secretary of the Navy responsible for implementing that Jesuit-agitation was the Supreme Knight of the Knights of Columbus, Francis P. Matthews. Knight Matthew's Master was America's "Military Vicar," Francis Cardinal Spellman.

Later, Spellman made several visits to the war-front calling the American troops "the soldiers of Christ," fighting the Pope's Crusade against "godless Jew Communism!") The outcome was 58,000 dead, 130,000 post-war suicides and a 500 billion-dollar debt to the Jesuits' Federal Reserve Bank. All these acts of President Kennedy were proper assertions of national sovereignty and therefore infringed on the Pope's Temporal Power. As the "infallible" Vicar of Christ and thus, "the Theocratic Universal Monarch of the World," the Pope, through the religious, political and financial power of the Jesuit Order, fully intended, then and now, to ultimately rule all nations through his loyal kings and dictators from Solomon's rebuilt Temple in Jerusalem. For when the Pope is crowned during his coronation these words among others (having never been taught to us in the Public Schools) are spoken:

"Take thou the tiara adorned with the triple crown, and know that thou art the father of princes and kings, and art the governor of the world." {53}

"Saint" Thomas Aquinas, Rome's so-called "Angelic Doctor" and favorite "theologian" of the Jesuit Order, wrote in his Summa Theologica in 1272:

"The Pope, by Divine Right, hath Spiritual and Temporal Power, as Supreme King of the World . . ." {54}

Lucius Ferraris wrote in his Bibliotheca Prompta (1763), which has been adopted as a standard of Roman Catholic law, as follows:

"On account of the excellence of his supreme dignity, he is called Bishop of Bishops, Ordinary of Ordinaries, universal Bishop of the Church, Bishop or Diocesan of the world, divine Monarch, supreme Emperor and King of Kings." {55}

The fanatical and bombastic Roman Catholic Priest and editor, David S. Phelan, paraphrased those words when he wrote in the Western Watchman, June 27, 1913, the same year the Order shackled America with the wicked Sixteenth and Seventeenth Amendments along with its thieving Federal Reserve Bank:

"Why, if the government of the United States were at war with the Church, we would say tomorrow, To Hell with the government of the United States; and if the church and all the governments of the world were at war, we would say:—To Hell with all the governments of the world. . . . Why is it the Pope has such tremendous power? Why the Pope is the ruler of the World. All the emperors, all the kings, all the princes, all the presidents of the world are as these altar boys of mine." {56}

Therefore, for challenging the Pope's Temporal Power, in attempting to thwart Rome's grand design against the peoples of the world, John F. Kennedy, America's first Roman Catholic President, was brutally murdered in Dallas, Texas on November 22, 1963, by the soldiers of Francis Cardinal Spellman within the FBI, the CIA (and Mossad), the Secret Service, Military Intelligence and the Mafia.

On September 11, 2001, this same Intelligence Network, overseen by New York Archbishop Edward Cardinal Egan being under the supervision of Jesuit General Peter-Hans Kolvenbach, attacked and destroyed the Twin Towers of New York's World Trade Center and partially destroyed the Pentagon in Washington, D.C. These acts of High Treason against the American People have now justified our present Crusade against Islam, surnamed "the War Against Terrorism," and heartily endorsed by the Pope's Masonic Jewish Zionists to the detriment of the beloved, racially Jewish People in Israel. This "war on terrorism" is to the exclusion of notorious Jesuit-trained terrorists and mass-murderers such as Fidel Castro of communist Cuba and Gerry Adams of Ireland's Irish Republican Army. Why?

Vatican Assassins—Egan

The power of the Archbishop of New York has not diminished but rather grown. Today, the man who wields the power of Cardinal Spellman from "the Powerhouse" in New York—St. Patrick's Cathedral (across the street from Rockefeller Center)—and continues to suppress the truth about the assassination of President Kennedy by virtue of his Oath as a Cardinal, is the arch-conspirator, traitor to his American countrymen and master of the infamous, Jesuit-trained Coadjutor, high-level Freemason and CFR member, former President Bill Clinton, and now Masonic Skull and Bones member who, at his initiation as a Bonesmen, "kissed the slippered toe of the Pope," President George W. Bush (whose father, George H. W. Bush, is also a Bonesman, a Shriner, an Honorary member of the Sovereign Military Order of Malta, a former Director of both the CFR and CIA, as well as a participant in the Kennedy Assassination),

Jesuit Avery Cardinal Dulles, 1918 – Present ##9*

Born into a noble family in 1918, Knight of Malta Avery Dulles is now one of America's most powerful and prestigious Jesuits. His father, John Foster Dulles (a former director of the Black Pope's Rockefeller Foundation), was a Masonic apostate Presbyterian along with Avery's wicked uncle, CFR member, Nazi collaborator, and Director of the CIA during the Kennedy Assassination, Knight of Malta Allen W. Dulles. In 1946 Avery entered the Jesuit Novitiate in Poughkeepsie, New York; he was ordained into the priesthood in 1956 by the darling of the Order and overseer of Pius XII's "Vatican Ratlines" into North America, Francis Cardinal Spellman.

Holding over 30 earned degrees and 28 honorary doctorates, Dulles, professed of the Fourth Vow and under Extreme Oath, is in intimate contact with the American Empire's ten Provincials as well as Fordham University's former president (1984-2003) and CFR Presider, Joseph A. O'Hare.

Created a Cardinal by Pope John Paul II on February 21, 2001, seven months would elapse before the Order's 911 demolition of the World Trade Center—including the unmanned air strike on the Pentagon and the destruction of WTC Building number 7. Dulles brother Knight of Malta and CIA Director, George J. Tenet, was made solely responsible for the socalled "failure of intelligence," which ignited the war against Islam, Knight of Malta and CIA/KGB kingpin James Jesus Angelton having called for said "Crusade" since the early 1970s. Leading the Jesuit brain trust at Fordham University, Dulles is a member of the fascist "New Right" Council for National Policy; is the shrewd intellect behind New York Archbishop Edward Cardinal Egan's rule of Pope Benedict XVI's CFR, it managing and directing the Order's unfolding Anglo-American-led World War against the "infidel" Islamic peoples.

This photo, taken from the October 14, 2000 edition of the Reading Eagle, is of the Jesuit General, Peter-Hans Kolvenbach, speaking at the former Jesuit Novitiate on a beautiful estate, now called "the Jesuit Center," in Wernersville, Pennsylvania.

Remembering that he is the master of Pope John Paul II, Archbishop Edward Cardinal Egan of New York, and President "elect" George W. Bush (of the Bush pro-Nazi crime family descending from England's House of Stuart), as well as the petty military dictators of Communist Russia and China, we would do well to meditate on the words of Napoleon recorded in his Memoirs—the Emperor having been betrayed into the hands of his captors by his Jesuit masters—while imprisoned on the island of St. Helena in the middle of the South Atlantic Ocean:

"The Jesuits are a military organization, not a religious order. Their chief is a general of an army, not the mere father abbot of a monastery. And the aim of this organization is POWER. Power in its most despotic exercise. Absolute power, universal power, power to control the world by the volition of a single man . . .

The General of the Jesuits insists on being master, sovereign, over the sovereign. Wherever the Jesuits are admitted they will be masters, cost what it may . . . Every act, every crime, however atrocious, is a meritorious work, if committed for the interest of the Society of the Jesuits, or by the order of the general." {57}

Cardinal Egan, a staunch supporter of the "infallible" Pope's Temporal Power and the Jesuit General's evil Council of Trent, will continue the Great Jesuit Cover-up, even as did his predecessors, Cardinals Spellman, Cooke and O'Connor. This power is exercised through New York's Council on Foreign Relations, as both former Democratic Presidential candidates, Albert Gore and John Kerry as well as incumbent President George W. Bush, are under its control.

Both candidates of the 2000 Presidential "race" were also present (along with former President Bill Clinton and his wife Hillary, now a N.Y. Senator) during Cardinal O'Connor's funeral overseen by the Knights of Malta at St. Patrick's Cathedral.

George W. Bush, Bill and Hillary Clinton, Al Gore, 1999 ##1-1

President and Mrs. Clinton were flanked by presidential candidates George W. Bush (left) and Al Gore—none of whom were Roman Catholics—at the funeral Mass for their obvious political boss, John Cardinal O'Connor.

Of this Jesuit power over statesmen through the Pope and his Hierarchy, M. F. Cusack wrote in her 1896 masterpiece, The Black Pope, on page 106:

"It is here that the tremendous power of the Church makes itself felt. It is through this [Jesuit] 'direction' that statesmen are compelled to act, not for the benefit of the country to which they belong, but for the benefit of the Church, which controls them. It is here that matters of the most secret nature are discussed and decided [like the present Crusade against Islam, the attack into Afghanistan commencing on the anniversary of the naval Battle of Lepanto when the Armada of the Pope's Knights of Malta destroyed the Armada of the Islamic Ottoman Turks on October 7, 1571]. It is here that alliances . . . are arranged, and political treaties are agreed on." {58}

Hopefully, the Jesuit Order, in control of the Archbishop with his Network of Vatican Assassins, will be brought to justice for the cold-blooded murder of President Kennedy and for continuing the Great Jesuit Cover-up of his death. This includes the most recent murder of John F. Kennedy, Jr. along with his beautiful wife, Carolyn Bessette and her sister, Lauren. Justice will only be done when the Jesuit presence has been purged from the Justice Department in control of the FBI —Rome's political Holy Office of the Inquisition within the American Empire.

And why was John F. Kennedy, Jr., along with his innocent passengers, murdered? According to the late Tom Kuncl in the August 31, 1999 issue of the National Examiner, JFK, Jr. (having promised in his George magazine (October, 1998, Volume 3, Issue 10, page 136) that if elected President he would abolish the Federal Reserve System and warned that America's most pressing foreign issue was a "dangerous, nuclear armed Russia that is economically unstable") had ". . . recently launched an all-out investigation, to find his father's real killer . . .

[For John had said in his own words:]

'I want to know who killed my father. I want there to be absolutely no doubt.' " {59}

G. B. Nicolini, in his History of the Jesuits published in 1889, gives us further light, declaring on page 269:

"We insist upon that point [that the Jesuits vindictively persecuted the Roman Catholic Jansenists for exposing the Society in using Jacques Clement to murder King Henry III of France] one of the most prominent characteristics of Jesuitism, [is] never to forgive an injury, and to persecute the remotest descendants for the offences they may have received from their ancestors." {60}

Therefore, the following chart contained in Vatican Assassins: "Wounded In The House Of My Friends" is humbly given on behalf of the Kennedy and Bessette families. They must know the same savage Jesuit power that killed President Kennedy, mercilessly murdered their three darlings in the prime of their young lives.

The same has been done to Princess Diana; for the Jesuits would never permit the Moslem offspring of her union with an Arab prince to be an heir to the British throne. That throne may only be occupied by a monarch loyal to the Jesuits' "infallible" Pope of Rome—a loyalty that has been unbroken from the wicked and tyrannical King George III, whose Prime Minister was the Jesuit Lord Shelburne, to the present Queen Elizabeth II. For uniting with Dodi Fayed, the "Moslem dog" or "Moslem wog" as the English nobles would call him, Princess Diana was buried out of public view at Althrop Park in Northamptonshire, on a small island in the middle of a pond, where only pet dogs had previously been buried!

As you examine the chart dear reader, picture in your mind's eye the faces of President Kennedy, Princess Diana, John F. Kennedy, Jr., Carolyn and Lauren Bessette. Then may your heart be strengthened to do your duty in exposing the criminal Papal Knights manning that great Sword of the Jesuit General—the Vatican's International Intelligence Community, ". . . whose points are everywhere and whose hilt is in Rome." {61}

Dear fellow soldier in the Lord Jesus Christ, having been born-again by the will of God, remember the Words of God spoken by the Spirit of God through the great Hebrew Kings of Israel, David and Solomon:

"The LORD is my light and my salvation;
whom shall I fear?
The LORD is the strength of my life;
of whom shall I be afraid?"

– Psalm 27:1

"The wicked flee when no man pursueth:
but the righteous are bold as a lion."

– Proverbs 28:1

"The fear of man bringeth a snare:
but whoso putteth his trust in the LORD shall be safe."

– Proverbs 29:25

The Black Pope
Jesuit Superior General Jean-Baptiste Janssens, 1959 ##1-4

This photo, taken from The Saturday Evening Post, January 17, 1959, is of "The *Black Pope," who, in 1963, reigned over his Jesuit Order—the world's most powerful Secret Society—and gave the command to assassinate Knight of Columbus President John F. Kennedy.

The Twenty-Seventh Superior General of The Society of Jesus from 1946 to 1964;

THE POWER having ruled over Popes Pius XII (Hitler's Pope), John XXIII (Khrushchev's Pope), and Paul VI (Johnson's Pope), including their hierarchies; in command of the Masters of international Secret Societies including:

- The Sovereign Military Order of Malta,
- 33rd Degree Scottish-Rite and Islamic Shriner Freemasonry,
- The Masonic Order of the Illuminati, Masonic Skull and Bones
- The Jesuit-led Knights of Columbus, The Masonic Pilgrims
- The Masonic Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, Masonic B'nai B'rith,
- The Club of Rome, The Masonic American Nation of Islam and its private army called "The Fruit of Islam,"
- The Masonic Sicilian Mafia Commission, and Jesuit-led Opus Dei along with a host of lesser Brotherhoods.

The Murderers and Traitors in the Assassination and Cover-up of President John F. Kennedy ##1-5

This photo, taken from Swanberg's Luce and His Empire, 1972, displays five of the most important and powerful assassins. On center stage at the Waldorf ballroom during Time's fortieth anniversary party in 1963, only months before "the crime of the century," we see from left to right:

Henry R. Luce—Knight of Malta; Member, Council on Foreign Relations; Editor, Time/Life, whose office was in Rockefeller Center across the street from Cardinal Spellman's St. Patrick's Cathedral; purchased the famous "Zapruder Film" taken by a Jewish contract agent for the CIA and 32nd degree Freemason, Abraham Zapruder, for 150,000 Federal Reserve Notes two days after the assassination, and published the forgery of Oswald holding a rifle on the cover of Life magazine (Feb.21, 1964).

Dean Rusk—President Kennedy's Secretary of State and "Brutus" to his "Caesar;" Member, Council on Foreign Relations; Advisor, National Security Council.

J. Peter Grace, Jr.—(incorrectly identified by Swanberg as Secretary of Treasury C. Douglas Dillon) Head, American Branch of the Knights of Malta; Member, Council on Foreign Relations; in charge of at least ten Knights of Malta involved in the assassination and cover-up including Frank Shakespeare of CBS (using CFR member Walter Cronkite), Francis X. Stankard of the CFR's Chase Manhattan Bank (using another brother CFR member pro-Nazi John J. McCloy on the Warren Commission), Lee Iacocca of Ford Motor Company (using Carl Renas, head of security for the Dearborn Division to drive the bullet-ridden Presidential limousine from Washington, D.C. to a Ford dealership in Cincinnati for the purpose of removing all evidence of multiple gunshot primary strikes) and John A. McCone, Director of the Central Intelligence Agency who personally delivered National Security Memorandum 273 for President Johnson's signature, thereby reversing President Kennedy's decision to de-escalate "Spelly's War" in Vietnam.

Clare Boothe Luce—Dame of Malta; Member, Council on Foreign Relations; former ambassador to Italy under President Eisenhower (Allied Commander who led Rome's Crusade in Europe during the Jesuits' Second Thirty Years' War (1914- 1945), which included the betrayal and murder of the heroes American General Patton and the Russian General Vlasov, as both sought to overthrow the Jesuits' Grand Inquisitor, Josef Stalin); aided Thomas "Tip" O'Neill, Papal Knight and Speaker of the House of Representatives, along with G. Robert Blakey in hindering the Assassinations Committee of 1976. Blakey, for a job well done, went on to be employed as a law professor at Rome's Notre Dame University in Indiana. The University President who employed Blakey was another darling of the Jesuits, CFR member and Civil Rights agitator who further centralized power in Washington, D.C. with his 1964 Civil Rights Act, priest Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C.; formerly the Director of Chase Manhattan Bank and Chairman of the Rockefeller Foundation.

Francis Cardinal Spellman—Jesuit-trained at Fordham University in New York and the American College in Rome; Archbishop of Rome's wealthiest and most powerful Diocese; "Military Vicar" of the American Empire controlling the Knights of Malta, Shriner Freemasonry, the Knights of Columbus and the Mafia's Commission; the acting King of the Pope's Fourteenth Amendment "Holy Roman" American Empire (ruling from his Palace in the city of "the Empire State," along with his Papal "Maltese Knights of the Roundtable") overseen by the Professed Jesuits (Jesuits under Extreme Oath of the Fourth Vow) at Fordham University including now "Cardinal" Avery Dulles, the nephew of Allen Dulles, past Secretary, Vice President, and President of the Cardinal's Council on Foreign Relations (1933-1950), past CFR/CIA Director until fired by President Kennedy and member of the deceptive Warren Commission. Again, the Jesuit's notorious uncle was none other than The Gentleman Spy, Rome's prostitute Protestant Presbyterian and Shriner Freemason, Allen Dulles. Spellman therefore controlled the Council on Foreign Relations, the FBI, the CIA, Military Intelligence (including the Office of Naval Intelligence–ONI–) and the Secret Service; the Power and Mastermind behind the assassination of President Kennedy and subsequent Coverup, continued by Cardinals Cooke and O'Connor. The present Archbishop, Cardinal Egan, will continue the Great Jesuit Cover-up, as, evidenced by his Oath as a Cardinal, his first and foremost loyalty is not to the People of the Constitutional Republic of these United States, but to his master in the Vatican, his "King of kings and Lord of lords," Jesuit General Kolvenbach's "infallible" god who sits in St. Peter's Chair, Pope John Paul II! For he holds the Devil's Papal Office of the Jew-hating and blasphemous Seventh Roman Caesar who has not yet come and, when indwelt by Satan upon rising from the dead, will be the Eighth Roman Caesar with a new name—the beast (Revelation 17:10, 11).

This photo, taken from the November 13th, 2000 edition of Pittsburgh's Tribune Review, depicts the late Leah Rabin in 1995, following her "private audience" at the Vatican, with the greatest accomplice to her husband's cold-blooded murder, the "Infallible" Pope John Paul II. The Mossad, an arm of the Jesuit General's International Intelligence Community, carried out the assassination, as the disobedient Freemason, Prime Minister Yitzak Rabin, opposed Rome's policy for Labor Zionist Israel. For the Jesuits fully intend to make the Old City of Jerusalem the international capital city of their one world government thus robbing Israel of her capital right. Yes, "the arm of the Church is long."

In ending, Vatican Assassins: "Wounded In The House Of My Friends", calls for national repentance to all Americans, a return to the Protestant Bible and maxims of the true faith in the Christ of the English Reformation and the expulsion of the Jesuit Order from American Soil.

We American Protestants and Baptists, having inherited the greatest Protestant form of government in the history of the world—our blessed Presbyterian Constitution and Baptist Bill of Rights—will be used no more to enthrone fascist-communist military dictators around the world in restoring and maintaining the Temporal Power of the Jesuits' "infallible" Papal Caesar.

If we, the American people, do not bring the real assassins of President Kennedy and his son to justice, if we do not take back our sovereign federal powers usurped by the Jesuit General on behalf of the "infallible" Pope, if we do not dissolve the Council on Foreign Relations through which the Jesuit General rules New York, Washington, D.C., the American Empire and thus the whole World (while deceptively employing certain notorious Masonic Jews and Gentiles as front men), if we do not expel the Army of the Pope—those odious Sons of Loyola— then our nation is truly lost. For then the Jesuits will use the very peoples our government oppressed (having armed and financed merciless tyrants in submitting them to the "infallible" Pope's Temporal Power), to invade our land, destroy our people and we will deserve it! The peoples we speak of are the Russians who suffered under Stalin; the Romanians who suffered under Nicolae Ceaucescu; the Bulgarians who suffered under Todor Zhivkov; the Hungarians who suffered under Janos Kadar; the Japanese who suffered under Tojo; the Chinese who suffered under Mao Zedong; the Vietnamese who suffered under Ngo Dinh Diem, the Cambodians who suffered under Pol Pot; the Germans who suffered under Hitler and then Stalin; the East Germans who suffered under Erich Honecker; the Spanish who suffered under Francisco Franco; the Italians who suffered under Benito Mussolini; the Yugoslavians—particularly the Serbs—who suffered under Josef Tito (and under American bombers); the Argentineans who suffered under Juan Peron; the Portuguese who suffered under Antonio Salazar; the Mexicans who suffered under Miguel De la Madrid; the Chileans who suffered under Augusto Pinochet; the Haitians who suffered under Salesian priest Jean-Bertrand Aristide; the Panamanians who suffered under Manuel Noriega; the South Africans who suffered under Nelson Mandela; the Rhodesians (Zimbabweians) who now suffer under Robert Mugabe; the Iraqis who suffered under Saddam Hussein; and the Cubans who continue to suffer under the Jesuit Fidel Castro; just to name a few.

For the Jesuits, in restoring and maintaining the Temporal Power of the *"infallible" Papal Caesar, have shed the blood and spent the treasure of this once great Protestant Nation for the entire Twentieth Century, now to continue into the Twentieth-first Century. And in so doing, Rome, in which is The Sovereign State of Vatican City, has fulfilled these words concerning herself:

> ". . . the great whore that sitteth upon many waters . . .
> arrayed in purple and scarlet . . . is that great city, > which reigneth over the kings of the earth . . .
> and in her was found the blood of prophets, > and of saints, and of all that were slain upon the earth."
> – Revelation 17:1, 4, 18; 18:24

We, the betrayed American people, can expect a created national crisis resulting in widespread lawlessness, similar to the Negro/Black rioting of 1968 following the King Assassination. (Possibly the Masonic, Black Muslim leadership, subject to the Archbishops of New York and Chicago, will ignite urban riots across the nation with their private army, "the Fruit of Islam." Their greatest target will be the capital, Washington, D.C., eighty percent of its population being easily agitated Blacks, the majority having been taught from their youth to hate all White people and especially the Jews. (Remember, the Black "Reverend" CFR member Jesse Jackson, the Jesuits' professional agitator functioning as a Masonic "Yasser Arafat of America" having never pastored a Church, years ago as a waiter used to spit on the food of White people he would serve!) This violent city, which has insanely banned all handguns, holds the "honor" of being "the murder capital of the world." More importantly, it hosts the Empire's most powerful Jesuit presence—the military fortress of Georgetown University. (We know Washington is their target as the Jesuits' major European and Asian revolutions began in capital cities, a few of them being Paris (1789, 1848), Moscow (1917), Berlin (1933) and Peking (1912, 1949).)

The ensuing anarchy will result in a Jesuit-controlled, right-wing, fascist military dictator (like George W. Bush, whose President father, George H. W. Bush, is a Knight of Malta (according to the late William Cooper), a drug lord and was a player in the Kennedy Assassination, and whose uncle, Prescott S. Bush, Jr., is a Knight of Malta and whose grandfather Prescott S. Bush, Sr., was one of the original founding members of the Jesuit General's Council on Foreign Relations. President Bush is also endorsed by CBN's darling of the Knights of Malta, Evangelical Pat Robertson, who was a friend of the late J. Peter Grace, Jr., and whose consultant and personal friend is another Knight of Malta and former Alabama Senator, Jeremiah Denton, who wrote When Hell Was In Session). There will be mass-roundups, torture and murder of American Jews in concentration camps (just like in the Jesuits' Nazi Germany). (Codenamed "Rex 84," the camps were established by Ronald Reagan and his Director of the CIA, Knight of Malta, William J. Casey.) There will be foreign war (like "Spelly's War" in Southeast Asia), invasion, occupation and persecution of the American Protestants and Baptists by foreign armies under the command of Jesuit-controlled dictators (like the Grand Inquisitor—Josef Stalin). The army presently being prepared to spearhead this massive invasion of the American Empire is that of the Red Chinese in particular!

This will be the final blow, to individual liberty, national sovereignty and the Protestant Reformation. It will be the greatest victory for the Jesuit General's Counter-Reformation, restoring the Pope's "Holy Roman Empire"—founded on a reunited and rebuilt Germany—and returning the world to the Dark Ages. For then it shall come to pass, with Satan's last attempt to destroy the Lord Jesus Christ's beloved racially Jewish People, having used Rothschild's Masonic Zionists— controlled by Rome's Mossad—to resettle them in Israel for the purpose of rebuilding Solomon's Temple, that the Jesuit General's "infallible" Papal Caesar,

Vatican Assassins: "Wounded In The House Of My Friends" Veritech is a Bible-believing, Baptist-Calvinist research trust dedicated to the propagation of the truth in every science and service of man. It is supported by the prayers, gifts and loans of those who believe the English Bible of the Grand and Glorious Protestant Reformation —The Authorized King James Version of 1611— having been faithfully translated by the forty-seven learned and godly men from The Hebrew Masoretic Text and the Greek Textus Receptus, to be the final authority of faith and practice and believe America should be governed by Americans loyal to the Constitution and the Bill of Rights as originally intended by our White, Calvinistic, Protestant and Baptist framers. FOREWORD

When the 33rd Degree Freemason President Harry Truman, signed into law the nefarious Emergency War Powers Act of 1950, he created the National Security apparatus with which the Jesuits conducted the Cold War, enthroning fascistcommunist military dictators around the world, they being loyal to the Pope and submitting to his Temporal Power. These dictators then implemented secret police agencies and vast prison systems, torturing and killing millions of "heretics" and "liberals" within their borders pursuant to the Jesuit Oath and Council of Trent.

In the near future, Washington's National Security apparatus will be used by the coming Jesuit-trained military dictator to crush the people of the American Empire, Rome having used our sons and service for over one hundred years. This final victory over the LORD's Grand and Glorious Protestant Reformation, will be the climax of the Jesuits' quest to submit all nations to the Temporal Power of the White Pope in a worldwide fascist, military police state, maintained by the Jesuits' International Intelligence Community—the Holy Office of the Inquisition— grinding the "liberals" and "heretics" of all nations to dust.

To justify the building of all the prisons necessary to operate the American Inquisition on a massive scale, Rome's entertainment industry in Hollywood, the present day "Jesuit Theater" originally founded by the Jesuit Athanasius Kircher (1602-1680) performing subversive Jesuit Dramas, and operated by the Knights of Malta along with the Pope's Masonic Jewish Zionists, is promoting violence and immorality. (It is most interesting to note that according to author John D.

McCallum in his The Story of Dan Lyons, S.J., Hollywood mogul James Warner Bellah was educated by the Jesuits of Georgetown University; and, for having written nineteen novels, over one hundred motion pictures and whose short stories appeared in over one hundred issues of the old Saturday Evening Post, received the Georgetown Medal of Honor in the early 1970s. Further, Paul Blatty, the author and promoter of the wicked and Satanic movie titled "The Exorcist," was also a graduate of Georgetown. The Jesuits also educated the English Alfred Hitchcock, another Hollywood master of terror having released Psycho and The Birds among other gruesome thrillers. It is indeed most telling that Hollywood's movie projectors have a specially named sprocket that feeds the film into the unit. The name of that sprocket is called "the Knights of Malta sprocket.") This agenda will create more lawlessness, more crime justifying more laws, more police, more gun laws leading to gun confiscation and, since the Bible-rejecting Pope of Rome—the Papal Caesar—opposes capital punishment, more prisons, presently serving as gladiator schools.

Indeed, it is a brilliant plan, carried out by "bold, bad men," and they are,

The Company of Jesus—The Jesuits.

DEDICATION

The following pages are dedicated to all those who have suffered, directly or indirectly, from the designs of the Society of Jesus, popularly surnamed by the great John Calvin as, The Jesuits. Therefore, the dedication extends to the entire population of the world, the White, Celtic-Anglo-Saxon, Protestants and Baptists of the Calvinist persuasion in particular. For it was the Calvinists who successfully resisted the conspiracies of the Jesuit Order—that military army of the Pope known as "The Company"—and gave to the world religious and political liberty. For these men wielded both "the Sword of the Spirit"—the Word of God—and "the Sword of Just Defense"—the gun.

And it was these Baptist-Calvinist Puritans who secured for the American people the right to use "the Sword of the Spirit" with the First Amendment, and the right to use "the Sword of Just Defense" with the Second Amendment. May we never forget their great faith, purity and courage. This dedication is also extended to the Roman Catholic Pope Clement XIV, the Roman Catholic sovereigns, and the Roman Catholic peoples of Europe who fearlessly suppressed and expelled the Jesuit Order from their borders throughout the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Centuries. Further, the author, as a White (Non-Hater of People of Color) American Freeman and Dispensational, Fifth Monarchy, Seventh-Day Baptist-Calvinist Puritan, dedicates the following pages to the four greatest ex-Roman Catholic priests ever to grace the shores of his native land in addition to Leo H. Lehmann and Joseph McCabe.

I. The first is Charles Chiniquy, a French Canadian and "the Martin Luther of America," who, although having been deceived into joining the Masonic Lodge after his conversion to Christ (believing Satan's Masonic Craft was the enemy of Satan's Jesuit Order), boldly exposed the Jesuits as the assassins of President Lincoln during the 1880s. He also warned, that if unchecked, the Jesuits would rule this country from the White House (Bill Clinton / George W. Bush) to every Governor's mansion (Tom Ridge of Pennsylvania, now the Order's Gestapo Chief of the National Homeland Security Agency including FEMA) in the Union—as they do this day!

II. The second is Jeremiah J. Crowley, an Irishman, who, at the turn of the Twentieth Century warned of the Jesuits' conspiracy to destroy the bulwark of America's popular liberties—the Public School System—furthering the quest of "making America dominantly Catholic"—as she now is today in 2007. Authoring The Pope—Chief of White Slavers, High Priest of Intrigue, Crowley also warned of the Jesuits' power in Washington, D.C. and their plan to use American political and military might to restore the Pope's Temporal Power in Rome and extend its influence around the world. This was accomplished during the Second Thirty Years' War (World War I and World War II—1914-1945) and the public schools were destroyed by Supreme Court decisions handed down by a Chief Justice who was an arch-conspirator in the Kennedy Assassination, Earl Warren.

III. The third is Emmett McLoughlin, another Irishman, who eloquently exposed the wicked Roman hierarchy as responsible for the excessive crime among Roman Catholic peoples; in forbidding the public school system to teach about the Inquisition; and for carrying out the assassination of Abraham Lincoln.

IV. The fourth is Alberto Rivera, an ex-Jesuit and Spaniard having left the Order after 27 years, who, although accused of questionable financial practices, exposed the Jesuits as the assassins of President Kennedy and warned in 1982 of Rome's plan to bring America into a treaty agreement with "the Sovereign State of Vatican City," called a Concordat. {62} (Hitler's Germany, Mussolini's Italy and Franco's Spain all had Concordats with the Pope, while those fascist dictators were anti-Protestant, anti-Jew and pro-Moslem!) The idea of Protestant America entering into a Concordat with Rome and thus also becoming anti-Jew and pro-Moslem, further enslaving us to the Papal Caesar, would be legally impossible had not President Ronald Reagan, America's greatest Masonic traitor and "conservative" pawn of New York Archbishop John Cardinal O'Connor, formally recognized the Sovereign State of Vatican City as a sovereign nation in 1984, fifty years after Great Britain had done the same in 1934. George Orwell, here we come!

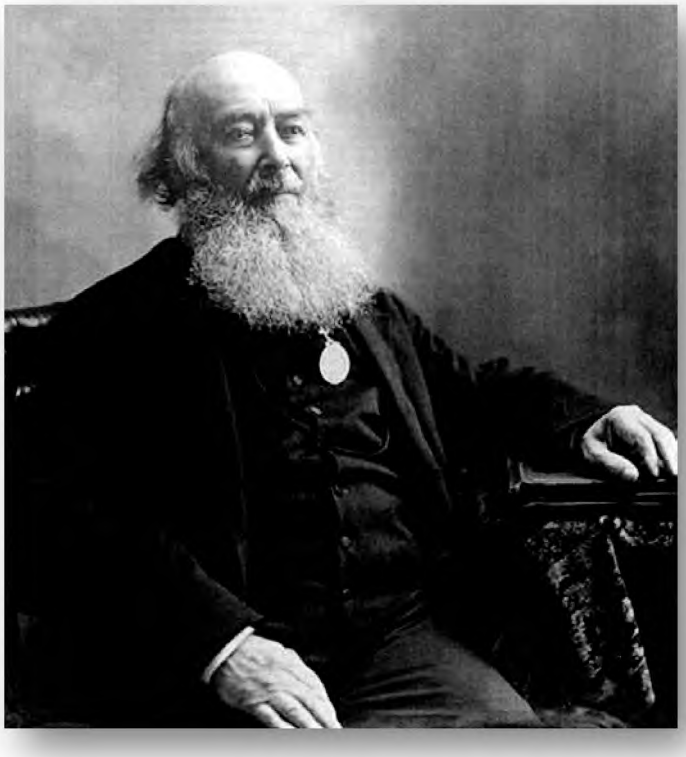
In sharp contrast to these brave Catholic priests who left the system in disgust, the apostate Protestant, Orthodox, and Baptist Churches are fast asleep enjoying the privileges of "being" and "doing" granted by their corporate charters. The Jews are also fast asleep, as the Jesuits have always been their great persecutors from the revival of the Roman Inquisition in 1542 to the end of the Third Reich in 1945. As a result of cowardice, complacency and compromise, the Protestants, Orthodox, Baptists and Jews face annihilation from a coming right-wing Fascist-Military Dictatorship, secretly using violent, heavily armed and racist hate groups such as the Ku Klux Klan (White supremacists) and the Nation of Islam (Black supremacists to justify the implementation of executive orders and martial law. With the Jesuit General in control of Islamic Shriner Freemasonry, the Knights of Malta, the Opus Dei (presently advocating the Pope's European Union and declared to be a dangerous religious sect by a Belgian parliamentary commission in 1997), the Club of *Rome (presently headed by the Masonic/Islamic Prince El Hassan bin Talal of Jordan, appointed to the position in 2000 with the blessing of Knight of Malta King Juan Carlos of Spain), the Knights of Columbus, Rothschild's Illuminati and the Mafia, he has but to give the order and his Militia will inaugurate agitation, assassination, anarchy and fascist absolutism, leaving America drenched in blood and occupied by foreign armies whose commanders will be under Jesuit control.

We ignorant and betrayed Americans would not be in this peril today facing the ramifications of Rome's created national crises, had the Protestant and Baptist preachers responded to the warning cries of our four heroes—Charles Chiniquy, Jeremiah J. Crowley, Emmett McLoughlin and Alberto Rivera—and President Kennedy would never have been assassinated on November 22, 1963.



Saved Ex-Priest Charles Chiniquy, 1886 ##1-7

Having joined the supposedly anti-Jesuit Masonic lodge after his conversion to Christ and leaving the priesthood, Chiniquy wrote: "TO THE BISHOPS, PRIESTS, AND PEOPLE OF ROME this book is also dedicated. In the name of your immortal souls, I ask you, Roman Catholics, to read this book. By the mercy of God, you will find, in its pages, how you are cruelly deceived by your vain and lying traditions. You will see that it is not through your ceremonies, masses, confessions, purgatory, indulgences, fastings, etc., you are saved. You have nothing to do but to believe, repent, and love. Salvation is a gift! Eternal life is a gift! Forgiveness of sin is a gift! Christ is a gift! Read this book, presented by the most devoted of your friends, and, by the mercy of God, you will see the errors of your ways—you will look to the GIFT—you will accept it—and in its possession you will feel rich and happy for time and eternity." www.Chiniquy.ca.

Fifty Years In the Church of Rome, Charles Chiniquy, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: Baker Book House, 1968; originally published in 1886) p. viii.

Saved Ex-Priest Jeremiah J. Crowley, 1912 ##1-8

After his conversion to Christ, Crowley wrote: "The Vatican method—'the conspiracy of silence'—should not be permitted to shield any one affected by the charges made in this book. Silence may sometimes be golden, but in this instance it indicates guilt. I want my readers to understand that I am not assailing the plain Roman Catholic people. They are the victims of a religious system, foisted upon them by the accident of birth. They are living up to the light they have. God grant that the sunlight of truth may soon flood their pathway! I sympathize with them, I admire them, and I love them. . . . I am no longer a Roman Catholic. . . . I have been led by Providence from Romanism to Christianity, from the prayer-book to the Bible, from the pope to Christ."

Joining the supposedly anti-Jesuit Masonic lodge after leaving the priesthood, Shriner McLoughlin wrote: "Looking back, I see my years in the priesthood and in the seminary as time spent in a dungeon, a prison whose floor was the burning fire of hell, whose walls and roof were made of unyielding stones, whose air was not light and free but musty with medievalism. My past five years have been those of a freeman, a man restored to his birthright of American liberties, liberties which in his first forty-one years of life under the American flag he had not been permitted to enjoy. . . . I am an American again, not a foreign subject on American soil. I can love America, and without asking a bishop or a Superior I can enjoy her mountains and streams, her noisy cities and quite prairies, and especially the sea, nature's own symbol of freedom. I can love God and continue with freedom in the service to my fellow man. For that freedom is now my heritage also. It is the freedom of America, the freedom that I, too, with all free men must guard. Like Thomas Jefferson, I 'have sworn upon the altar of God eternal hostility against every form of tyranny over the mind of man.' "

Saved Ex-Jesuit Priest Alberto Romero Rivera, 1985 ##2-0

"If we act according to the will of God in these prophetical days against the tricks, programs, and actions of the harlot in the United States, we will not be able to destroy her. We will not be able to stop her. But we will be able to do two things: first, to carry the message of the gospel to the lost Roman Catholic people. Secondly, we will have time enough for the Christian church to realize that her mission is here and now—not tomorrow. And God is just waiting for the church to act in order to restrain the forces of evil, the powers of darkness, the pope, the Jesuits and the Catholic institution from committing the crimes she is about to put into action the minute she completely takes over the United States. This information I received in the Vatican under the teachings of [Jesuit priest] Augustin Cardinal Bea and Jesuit Generals Janssens and Arrupe."

This most powerful Jesuit having left the Order, after many bold attempts (enumerated by Jack Chick in his Alberto un-comic book series), finally died of "cancer," poisoned according to his wife, Nury Rivera. Further, the Alberto Series is forbidden to be publicly sold in both Canada and the Philippines.

Many have attacked Alberto Rivera as having never been a Jesuit, including Masonic Billy Graham's Christianity Today. Two reliable sources have said there are inconstancies in Alberto's testimony relating to his education by Jesuits as a young boy in Spain. But one of those sources, a converted French Roman Catholic and former Bishop of Guatemala, high Freemason and Knight of Columbus now residing in Quebec, assured the author that he knew the ex-Jesuit personally. Avro Manhattan's help given to Alberto in England and Jonas Shepherd's investigation confirm that Rivera was indeed, an ex-Jesuit.

AV1611 Bible-believing Independent Baptist-Calvinist, American Latino

This dear brother has greatly enabled the author to make key present day connections between the Jesuit Order, its Sovereign Military Order of Malta and high-level Freemasonry now governing the Pope's Fourteenth Amendment American Empire through the Council on Foreign Relations and Trilateral Commission. Nicholas is a master researcher and his regular email updates are without parallel. His work is founded upon the truth of the Word of God, he being a vibrant servant of our God and Father while evidencing a humble and teachable spirit as he earnestly contends for the faith once delivered to the saints. In 1998 he understood the gospel of the grace of God and believed on the Lord Jesus Christ by faith. He became informed of the perfidious Jesuit Order as a child having read Alberto I and Alberto II (Double-Cross), but long forgot about its intrigues and diabolical agenda until after that watershed event of September 11, 2001. He found www.vaticanassassins.org and became convinced that that act of mass-murder was Papal high-treason carried out by the Order through the Jesuit-trained Archbishop of New York Edward Cardinal Egan and his Georgetown Jesuit-trained Knight of Malta, Council on Foreign Relations member and Central Intelligence Director, George J. Tenet. Nicholas informed the author that Knight of Malta and CFR member John J. DeGioia became the first non-Jesuit president of Jesuit Georgetown University in Washington, D.C., which fact is reflected in the present work. The author is pleased to be able to work with Nicholas Rivera who can be reached at rivera.nick@gmail.com.

Brother Bobby G. Limeta, 2006 ##2-2

AV1611 Bible-believing Independent Baptist Filipino Historian and earthquake engineer, Brother Bobby—who appears to be a mere youth—has worked in various countries around the world.

This singular man is considered by the author to be the greatest authority on the secret power and history of the Jesuits now ruling his beloved Philippines. He considers the White Anglo-Saxon-Celtic Protestant/Baptist peoples comprising the historic Reformed nations of Western Civilization to be the last bastions against Jesuit world domination.

Holding the Bible of the Protestant Reformation as translated into his native language to be the final authority for faith and practice—against the Order's decrees in its wicked Council of Trent—, his emails have instructed the author on a host of topics relating to the Company's movements in the Far East during World War II and the Jesuit/ Freemasonic power behind past and present leaders of the Philippines.

He taught the author about José Rizal, the national hero of the Philippines, and his murder by the Jesuits in 1896. He tells of the Black Pope's power over the gold of the Far East horded and then buried by the Japanese Army in caves throughout the islands, which treasure, that became known as General Yamashita's gold, was then transferred to Vatican coffers through the CIA's Nugan Hand Bank in Australia via Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Ferdinand M. Marcos.

He relates how the current Filipino President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo, whose advisor is Jesuit Fr. Romeo "Archie" Integan, was a classmate of President Bill Clinton at Jesuit Georgetown University. He ably proves the Company's Ateno de Manila University teaches "Liberation Theology," imbibing socialist-communist doctrines into the young minds of its students. This dear brother and warrior for the truth in the Lord Jesus Christ against all Jesuit Vatican duplicity can be contacted at bglimeta@ispx.com.ph.

PERSONAL DEDICATION

Further, this volume is dedicated to certain Baptist, Mennonite and Amish friends, Arminians in doctrine, who gave me the financial help as well as the love and affection in providing my food, preparing my meals, washing my clothes, pressing my shirts, cleaning my home, and thereby becoming my extended family while, for three years, during the late midnight hours of literary solitude, the risen Son of God was breaking my heart in bringing to mind what He had taught me over the last twenty years. Thank you my friends for encouraging me when I nearly burned all my books in the farmer's field and wanted to quit in anger and disgust due to the apathy and cowardice of my own Baptist and Calvinist brethren. For,

> "I had fainted, unless I had believed to see the goodness of the LORD in the land of the living."

Finally, I, Eric Jon Phelps, affectionately dedicate my life's work contained herein to the most tenderhearted woman ever to grace my life, Danita Dee Layser, who is now my wife. She has been a keen editor, adding credibility to my position as championed by the great Reformed and Baptist-Calvinist Bible-believers for the last four hundred years. Additionally, knowing full well her peril of openly supporting me, she, with humble courage, entreated me to include her in my dedication. Against my better judgment I do so now, knowing that her Messiah will honor her act of faith even as He honored Queen Esther's act of faith when she saved the Semitic Jewish Race—from a conspiratorial annihilation—by the hand of Artaxerxes, her husband and King of the Medo-Persian Empire. As the risen Savior most assuredly is able to protect her, she will most definitely need it. Danita, I love and respect you. Your assistance was greatly appreciated, without which this book would not exist.

And when, in the providence of the risen Son of God, that great day arises when, in the LORD's will, we Calvinists, Northern and Southern, shall once again, as Puritan Freemen, take up our Swords of Just Defense in attempting by faith to preserve what is left of America's Protestant civilization, I humbly ask you Mennonite and Amish Bible-believers to please help us in your nurturing way as you helped me during the writing of this work. For the same men who plundered and murdered your Russian Mennonite people during the Bolshevik Revolution and brutal Civil War, lasting five long years, are the same killers who now rule the American Empire and are ready to EXTERMINATE and EXTIRPATE you "from the face of the whole earth." These ruthless men are commonly called the Jesuits, officially known as the Society of Jesus or the Company of Jesus, the present day

Vatican Assassins.

REFLECTIONS

"For the Pope holdeth place on earth, not simply of a man but of the one true God." {63}

Pope Innocent III, 1215
Antichrist of the Dark Ages
Fourth Lateran Council

"Either sword is in the power of the church, that is to say, the spiritual and the material. The former is to be used by the church. The one in the hand of the priest, the other in the hand of the kings and soldiers, but at the will and pleasure of the priest. It is right that the temporal sword and authority be subject to the spiritual power. The Roman Pontiff [the Pope] judges all men, but is judged by no one. We declare, assert, define and pronounce to be subject to the Roman Pontiff is to every human creature altogether necessary for salvation . . . That which was spoken of Christ . . . 'Thou has subdued all things under his feet', may well seem verified in me. I have the authority of the King of kings. I am all in all and above all, so that God Himself and I, the Vicar of God, have but one consistory, and I am able to do almost all that God can do. What therefore can you make of me but God?" {64} [Emphasis added]

Consider how these dangerous conspiracies have been formed or failed. You will not find one, the chief of which, after years of care, has been able to organize his forces

Oliver Stone's JFK, Director's Cut employs the music of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart. Why not Protestants Bach or Mendelssohn? Because Mozart, whose father was the Archbishop of Salzburg's director of music, was a Roman Catholic Freemason, having composed The Magic Flute for "the Craft." He also composed an opera in Latin as an interlude for the tragedy, Clementia Croesi, performed at the Jesuit College at Salzburg, Austria. Dear truth-seeker, Mozart was a most faithful tool of the Jesuits and thus the most fitting composer for the Jesuit Coadjutor Oliver Stone's JFK, Director's Cut.

"The America that we all knew and loved has been taken over by an alien force. . . . This alien force is called the Society of Jesuits [Society of Jesus] —the Gestapo of the Vatican. Banned from every Catholic country in Europe including Japan and China, they were even outlawed by the Pope himself [Clement XIV] in 1773. Taking advantage of our freedom of religion, they flocked to the U.S. and have taken over the Pentagon. The U.S. has faced no military threat since the Civil War. The militia of the U.S. is the armed citizen—the watchman on the wall of freedom—not the standing army run by Jesuit priests. . . . 'America . . . The English Bible of the Protestant Reformation

The Authorized King James Version of 1611

The Blessed and Enduring Word of God for English-speaking Peoples

INTRODUCTION

During the Dark Ages, 476 to 1648 (from the fall of the Roman Empire to the Calvinists winning the Thirty Years' War), the Pope was the world's greatest despot. With his two usurped powers, Spiritual and Temporal, he ruled the civilized world with "an iron hand in a velvet glove." Both the masses and their kings worshipped this man who claimed to be "the Vicar of Christ," in command of an international system of theft, torture and murder called "the Holy Office of the Inquisition."

This "Vicar of Christ" organized great "holy wars" called "Crusades." The foremost purpose of these wicked and murderous "Crusades" was to take Jerusalem from the Moslems thereby enabling the builders of Rome's pagan cathedrals to rebuild King Solomon's Temple. This has been Rome's secret aim for centuries, as the Popes have desired universal worship while ruling the world from Jerusalem. But the Crusades failed to secure Jerusalem for the Pope. They did succeed in murdering hundreds of thousands of "heretics" known as Jews, Moslems and non-

Roman Catholic, Orthodox Christians. The sacking of Constantinople and the butchery inside the Dome of the Rock are but two examples of Papal blood-lust.

God the Father, however, had decreed an end to this age of religious fanaticism, woe and poverty. In 1517, on October 31 (corrupted into Halloween Day), a brave German monk—Martin Luther—began the Grand and Glorious Protestant Reformation. He ultimately put the Bible into the hands of the German people in their own language! The people could read God's Word for themselves, no longer needing the priests "to interpret." William Tyndale, the father of our beloved English Authorized Version did the same, enabled by that great invention—the Printing Press. Together they shook the world; the Word of God was now in print!

Rome's absolutist political system called "the Holy Roman Empire" was crumbling. All the northern nations of Europe left the Empire and assumed national sovereignty, refusing to pay the penny-tax to Rome called "Peter's Pence."

With religious liberty came also political liberty called "liberalism." The common man began to enjoy the rights of private property and the freedom to make a profit to the detriment of Rome's monopolies. The free-enterprise system was born, a direct result being the creation of the Protestant Middle Class and private wealth.

The White Middle Class peoples, enjoying freedom of the press, freedom of speech and freedom of conscience, excelled in all the arts and sciences creating invention after invention. The English and the Dutch became worldwide shippers while the Swiss became the great watchmakers. The White Protestants and Baptists of the New World were known as "the inventive Americans." The benefits of the Protestant Reformation were many, and any good man would seek to preserve that Reformation along with its accompanying freedoms and liberties. For it was the Reformation and the Protestant victory ending the Jesuits' Thirty Years' War in Europe (having raged from 1618 to 1648 during which one out three Germans miserably perished) that brought the world out of Rome's Dark Ages and into the Protestant Modern Era.

May we be reminded,
". . . where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty."
– II Corinthians 3:17

The Devil would not allow the Protestant Reformation to go unresisted. Therefore, he raised up Ignatius Loyola who founded the Society of Jesus, commonly called "the Company," or "the Jesuit Order." The Order's purpose was to destroy the Reformation, with its popular liberties (freedom of speech, freedom of conscience, freedom of the press, gun ownership, etc.) and return the world to the Dark Ages (during which it was illegal to own a crossbow), reestablishing the supremacy of the "Holy Roman Empire." The Pope was to receive universal worship, ruling from Solomon's rebuilt Temple in Jerusalem. This means that when their plan is permitted to succeed there will be a future "infallible" Pope who will be "that man of sin" (II Thessalonians 2:3-12), "antichrist" (I John 2:18), "the beast" (Revelation 13:4-18), "king of fierce countenance" (Daniel 8:23); also called by the Lord Jesus Christ "the abomination of desolation" (Matthew 24:15 in referring to Daniel 9:27; 12:11), ruling the world from Jerusalem.

It is in this light that we shall see light and understand the flow of history for the last five centuries. The dialectic of the Calvinists and the Reformation versus the Jesuits and their Counter-Reformation enables us to understand the remarkable phenomenon called "the Kennedy Assassination."

Remembering "the truth is in the details," few men, having examined the events surrounding this "executive action" (as the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) called it), have failed to remark at the great power, which evidently is involved in maintaining the cover-up. Presently, all legal processes have been blocked and the cowards in Congress fear to raise the issue. It requires a powerful intelligence apparatus, deeply entrenched in government, to undertake an assassination with its many necessary international connections and then execute and maintain the coverup having taken place here. In the light of history, there is really only one candidate for an organization capable of controlling the groups and forces involved in the Kennedy Assassination. As viewed from the facts and associations of its power, both historically and of the present day, it can only be the Militia of the Pope, the Company of Ignatius Loyola, the Great Secret Society of the Perfect,

The Society of Jesus.

In making a cumulative case please read each Chapter in order. Do not "skip to the good part" as the conclusion will seem incredible without the proper foreground. Be patient and you will understand the flow of history reaching Dallas, Texas on November 22, 1963. If you are not an American you will understand why your country is on its present course, as it too is controlled by the Jesuit General through his select Jesuits, Knights of Malta, Shriner Freemasons, the Knights of Columbus, and the Illuminati's Masonic, Cabalistic, Labor Zionist, Sabbatian Frankist (named after the Black Pope's baptized Jacob Frank), Jewish House of Rothschild. For the Order controlled the infamous House of Rothschild since no later than the French Revolution and Napoleonic Wars, after which Jesuit-led Crusade the Rothschild family was surnamed the "Guardians of the Vatican Treasury."

My purpose, dear truth-seeker, is to give you a simple understanding of a vast system of deception, slavery and murder. That system, religious and political Romanism, falsely called "Christianity," caused even the Apostle John to wonder "... with great admiration." – Revelation 17:6

If, after reading this volume, you choose to resist the spiritual wickedness that controls the men ruling the Devil's world system, you will need THE POWER of God. That POWER is a Person of the Godhead known as the Holy Spirit. He will come and live within you when, upon hearing and believing the gospel, you are born again by the sovereign will of God, or as you read believe the gospel in His Word, The Authorized King James Version of 1611. Jesus the Christ said,

"Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born again."
– John 3:7

Why?

"As it is written, There is none righteous, no, not one . . .
there is none that doeth good, no, not one . . . For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God . . . For the wages of sin is death;"
– Romans 3:10, 12, 23; 6:23

What shall we do?

"Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved . . .
Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved."
– Acts 16:31; 4:12

Believe what? Israel's Messiah, the Lord Jesus Christ,

". . . died for our sins according to the scriptures;
And that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures:"
– I Corinthians 15:3, 4

And why?

Because,

"God . . . now commandeth all men everywhere to repent:
Because he hath appointed a day, in the which he will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom he hath ordained;
whereof he hath given assurance unto all men, in that he hath raised him from the dead."

– Acts 17:30, 31

By believing this great news you receive Him:

"But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name:"

– John 1:12

As a son of God, you now have THE POWER and, having been cleansed from your sins forever, with the inalienable right to approach God the Father, His Holy Word declares to us who have believed:

"Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need."

– Hebrews 4:16

In this late hour and time of great personal and national need we sons of God must first submit ourselves to God. Then, and only then, we are able to resist the Devil:

"Submit yourselves therefore to God.
Resist the devil, and he will flee from you."

– James 4:7

We are encouraged to resist

". . . unto blood, striving against sin."

– Hebrews 12:4

In so doing Jesus the Messiah, our great Heavenly High Priest and risen Son of God, gives us the confidence that

". . . whatsoever ye shall ask in my name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son.
If ye shall ask any thing in my name, I will do it."

– John 14:13, 14

Dear son of God and brother in Christ, ask our Father in Jesus' name to help you ". . . have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them . . .

But all things that are reproved are made manifest by the light:
for whatsoever doth make manifest is light.
Wherefore be ye not unwise, but understanding what the will of the Lord is."

– Ephesians 5:11, 13, 17

And in so doing you will be resisting the power of the Devil and his Jesuit General known as the Black Pope who controls the Society of Jesus, the Papacy and its Vatican Hierarchy, the Sovereign Military Order of Malta, 33rd Degree Scottish Rite and Islamic Shriner Freemasonry, Opus Dei, the Knights of Columbus, Rothschild's Illuminati, the Papal Caesar's International Intelligence Community and the "Holy Father's" International Mafia Syndicate. The Devil's world system is so extensive that if we sons of God are not controlled by the Spirit of God, it will seem overwhelming and thus futile to oppose. But our forefathers boldly contended for the faith in resisting Satan's Jesuit New World Order, and so must we. As a servant of the Lord Jesus, boldly ask our Father what you can do to resist where you are. He will most assuredly show you. May the risen Son of God be with you, dear brethren, and we shall meet in Eternity at the Judgment Seat of Christ.

This photo illustrates the fact that FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover heavily recruited his agents from the Jesuit Universities of Georgetown, Marquette and Fordham as well as Mormon Universities controlled by high-level Freemasonry. G. Gordon Liddy, an Irish-Italian Roman Catholic whose uncle, Ray Abbaticchio, was one of Hoover's most notorious FBI agents, received his education from the Jesuits at Fordham of whom he said in his book, Will: The Autobiography of G. Gordon Liddy:

"As much as I had admired the German Benedictines, I admired the Jesuits more . . . the Society of Jesus was something special; the shock troop of the Catholic church. So effective an organization was it that . . . Heinrich Himmler used it as the model for his own corps of Ubermenschen [Supermen], the Schutzstaffel [the SS, known as "the Order of the Death's Head" (the "Skull and Bones" emblem being an attending symbol when the Order's Extreme Oath of Induction is given to an initiate) considered by Catholic Archbishop Grober of Freiburg to be the most respectable of the Nazi Party organizations], whose hand-picked members swore a special oath of loyalty to the Fuhrer as the highest rank of Jesuits [Professed of the Fourth Vow] did to the Pope. . . . These men [Professed Jesuits at the Fordham University Club] ran the world, and it was obvious that they enjoyed it." {83} [Emphasis added]

Familiar with certain conspirators involved in the death of President Kennedy, they being Papal Knights Cartha DeLoach of the FBI and E. Howard Hunt of the CIA, Liddy was a highly trained and mentally disciplined assassin having formally boasted, "I could kill as I could run—like a machine." This man was used by the Order's Council on Foreign Relations to carry out the botched Watergate burglary.

All of the parties involved were caught and made a deal to provide evidence for the embarrassment of President Nixon—all except the Cubans and G. Gordon Liddy (who, according to Frank Sturgis, shot Officer Tippet in Dallas). For the Jesuits intended to remove from office the Commander-in-Chief of their Fourteenth Amendment American Empire as a result of his disobedience to their Council on Foreign Relations. It began with Watergate, and upon moving to his betrayal by Secretary of State and Knight of Malta, "Deep Throat" Alexander Haig (whose younger brother, Francis R. Haig, is a Jesuit {84}), finally culminated in the House Resolution for his impeachment introduced by a Jesuit and current Georgetown University law professor—the socialist-communist and anti-capital punishment gun grabber, Congressman Robert F. Drinan—America's evil "Rodin the Jesuit" of Eugene Sue's Nineteenth Century masterpiece, The Wandering Jew!

Valuing loyalty to the President over life, Liddy resolutely remained silent.

For this disobedience in refusing to betray Nixon, the Order's criminal, most reversed federal judge, "Maximum" John Sirica, sentenced our friend to twenty years in prison, later commuted to eight by the Society's Trilateralist and servant of Masonic David Rockefeller, "the wimpy and gimpy" Bible-rejecter, Jimmy Carter.

Anticipating the command to kill E. Howard Hunt in prison, Liddy made ready his plan to poison him. But the order never came down! Hunt had been a key player in the Kennedy assassination and was not to be touched. But in the providence of the risen Son of God, Hunt would live, only to suffer the shame and disgrace of being present while Mark Lane, the Jewish defense lawyer, hated by both Hunt and his master, William F. Buckley, Jr. (whom Lane had defeated in a previous civil case), established before a jury in open court that Hunt, acting as an agent for the Central Intelligence Agency, had in fact been in Dallas on the day Kennedy was murdered. (Additionally, the Israeli Mossad's Masonic Yitzak Rabin had also been in Dallas that day according to his late wife, Leah Rabin.) Like Pope Pius VII and Pius IX, the Company of Jesus punished and yet spared the life of G. Gordon Liddy for daring to resist the POWER of its General, Pedro Arrupe, the Black Pope.

"Were God to order me through the voices of my superiors to put to death, father, mother, children, brothers and sisters, I would do it with an eye as tearless, and a heart as calm, as if I were seated at the banquet of the Paschal Lamb.

Affirmation of a Jesuit" {85}

"IHS"
The Seal of the Society of Jesus ##2-4

Created by the first Jesuit General, Ignatius Loyola, wherever this Seal is openly displayed the Jesuit Order is in Control, including every Protestant Church affiliated with the evil National Council and World Council of Churches which are under the occult influence of the Black Pope's High-Level, 33rd Degree and Shriner Freemasonry. These initials are abbreviations for the names of the gods of the pagan Egyptian trinity, they being Isis (the Mother goddess and "Queen of Heaven"), Horus (the deified Child) and Seb (the Father of the gods). The book cover of Vatican Assassins: "Wounded In The House Of My Friends" includes thirty-six (36) tip points which, when added arithmetically, total 666! Could this Luciferian seal be "the mark . . . of the beast" as foretold in Revelation 13:16-17?

Founder and "Father General" of the Society of Jesus, 1540 – 1556

This most sinister White Gentile, Ignatius of the Basque House of Loyola was born into great wealth and power of a noble Spanish dynasty. The youngest son of one of the highest Spanish grandees, he became a trusted page in the royal court of King Ferdinand II of Aragon (1479-1516) and Queen Isabella, they having formally expelled the Jewish Race from Spain in 1492. As Satan's great servant in beginning the Counter-Reformation, Loyola, a member of the occult and Luciferian Spanish "Alumbrados," purposed to also restore the Dark Ages in making the "infallible" Pope of his creation, herein called "the Papal Caesar," being continually overseen and sustained by his diabolical Order, the Universal Monarch of the World ruling all Nations from within Solomon's rebuilt Hebrew Temple on Mount Moriah in Jerusalem. Thus, Loyola was the first Luciferian Zionist, his Order being the secret power behind anti-Jew Labor Zionism.

Pope Paul III (1534 – 1549), 1540 ##2-6

Little did this Pope know that by merging the Society of Jesus with the Papacy in 1540 he nurtured a viper that would one day not only destroy the "accursed Counter-Reformation" but the very Vatican Empire the Order was charted to save. The Company of Jesus would also go on to secure Jerusalem for the Pope as Loyola first sought to do, breaking the political power of Islam over the city and its Temple Mount. In the end, the Order's risen Jesuit Pontiff indwelt by Satan thus becoming the Antichrist, will destroy Rome and its Vatican Empire.

Aided by high Luciferian Jesuits, he will then establish his world government from Jerusalem until "the times of the Gentles be fulfilled" (Luke 21:24-27).

"The very word secrecy is repugnant in a free and open society. And we are, as a people, inherently and historically opposed to secret societies, to secret oaths and to secret proceedings. We decided long ago that the dangers of excessive and unwarranted concealment of pertinent facts far outweighed the dangers which are cited to justify it.

Even today there is little value in opposing the threat of a closed society by imitating its arbitrary restrictions. Even today there is little value in ensuring the survival of our nation if our traditions do not survive with it. And there is very grave danger that an announced need for increased security will be seized upon by those anxious to expand its meaning to the very limits of official censorship and concealment. That, I do not intend to permit to the extent that it's in my control. . . .

Our way of life is under attack. Those who make themselves our enemy are advancing around the globe. The survival of our friends is in danger. And yet no war has been declared; no borders have been crossed by marching troops; no missiles have been fired. . . .

If you are awaiting a finding of "clear and present danger," then I can only say that the danger has never been more clear and its presence has never been more imminent. . . . For we are opposed around the world by a monolithic and ruthless conspiracy that relies primarily on covert means for expanding its sphere of influence; on infiltration instead of invasion; on subversion instead of elections; on intimidation instead of free choice; on guerillas by night instead of armies by day. It is a system which has conscripted vast human and material resources into the building of a tightly knit, highly efficient machine that combines military, diplomatic, intelligence, economic, scientific and political operations. Its preparations are concealed, not published. Its mistakes are buried, not headlined. Its dissenters are silenced, not praised. No expenditure is questioned; no rumor is printed; no secret is revealed. It conducts the Cold War, in short, with a wartime discipline no democracy would ever hope or wish to match. . . . this is a time of peace and peril which knows no precedent in history." {86} [Emphasis added]

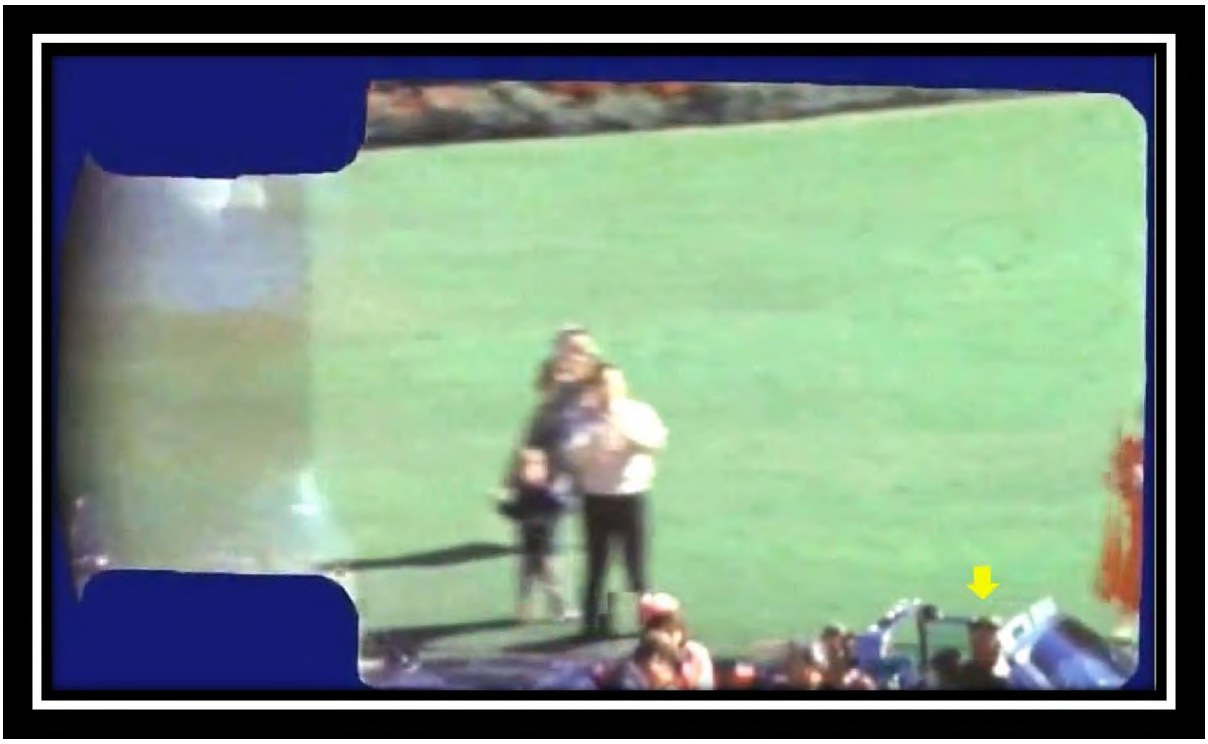
The Kennedy Assassination

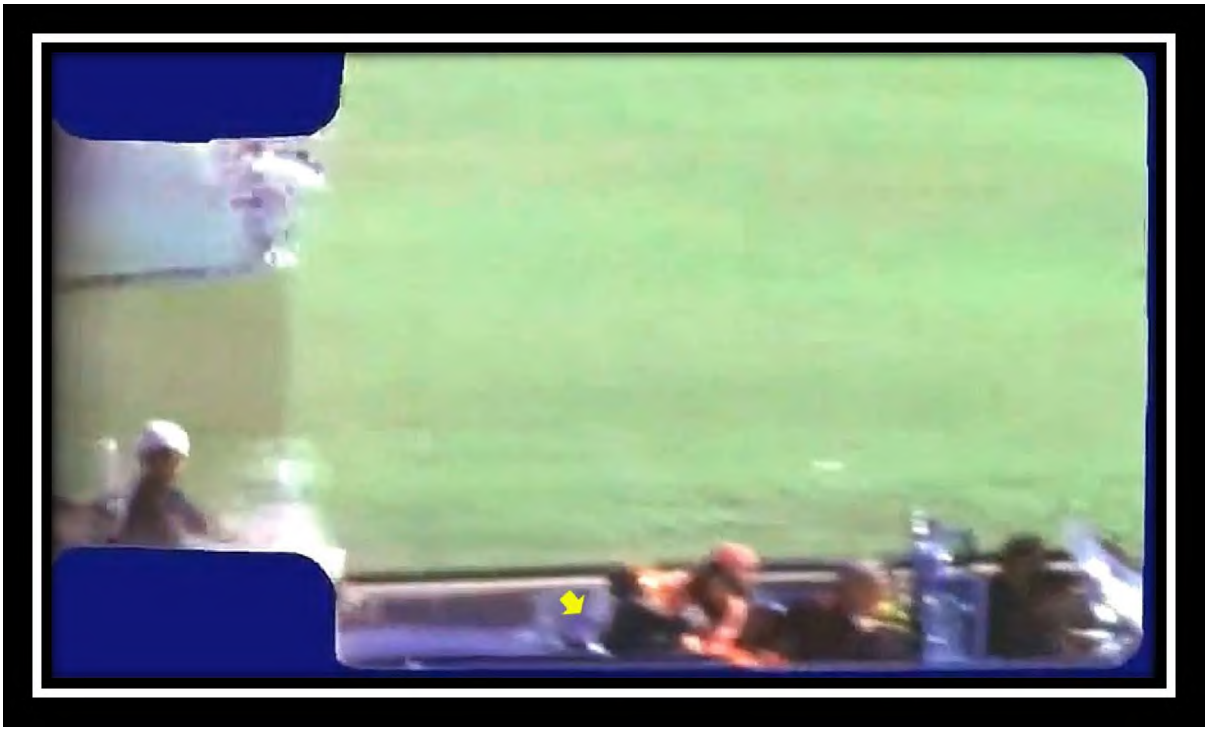
Kennedy received the first bullet hitting his throat…



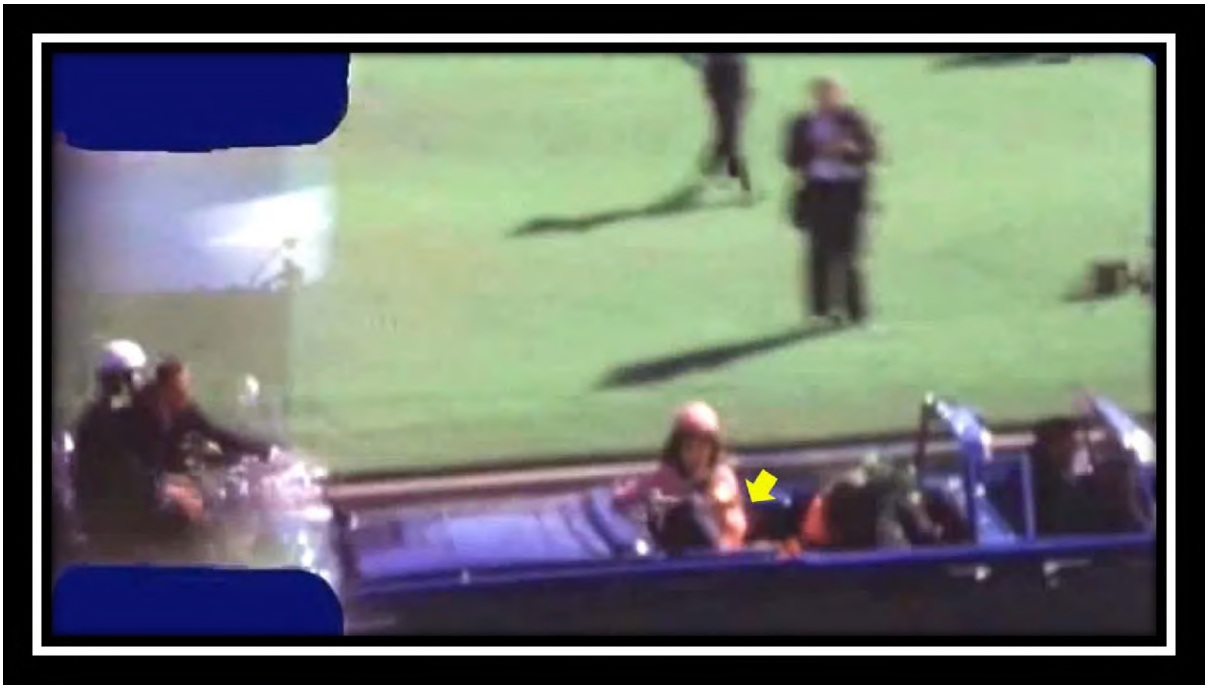
The limousine driver, William Greer, looked back to “check what’s going on”…

Jackie tried to help John not knowing that the driver was already drawing his gun to finish the job… It was at this point when witnesses said that the limousine almost came to a halt.

The driver pulled the trigger blowing off the good man's head…



John's body is thrown towards the back as the car speeded up. The man riding the motorcycle didn't do anything all this time…



John's head fell into Jackie's lap…

Jackie, thinking she could be the next victim, tried to escape but one SS agent prevented her from doing so.

Prior to this, the close-in bodyguards were ordered to stand down…

One agent hand gestured, “Why?”

The same agent raised his hands 2 more times in dismay…

…as he watched the limo rode on to its sad fate that day.

Authored the Twenty-Five Sessions of the Council of Trent (1545-1563), and Established Themselves as the Confessors and Advisors of the Monarchs of Europe, Promoting Absolute Monarchial Despotisms through which they Ignited Monstrous Wars, Characterized by Pitiless Massacres of Protestants and Innocents, such as:

- The Dutch Revolution 1568 - 1648,
- The Thirty Years' War 1618 - 1648,
- The Puritan Revolution 1644 - 1653,
- The Seven Years' (French Indian) War 1754 - 1763,

"The Roman Catholics have not only the right, but it is their duty to kill heretics [evidenced] that the following law was among those promulgated [expounded] by St. Thomas [Aquinas in his Summa Theologica, II-II, Q. 11, A. 3, 4] as one of the present and unchangeable laws of the Church of Rome:

'. . . they [heretics] deserve not only to be separated from the Church by excommunication, but also to be severed from the world by death. . . . much more reason is there for heretics, as soon as they are convicted of heresy, to be not only excommunicated but even put to death. . . . after the first and second admonition, . . . if he [the heretic] is yet stubborn . . . [the Church] . . . by excommunicating him and separating him from the Church, delivers him to the secular tribunal to be exterminated thereby from the world by death.'

Every heretic and Protestant is condemned to death, and every oath of allegiance to a government which is Protestant or heretic is abrogated by the [Fourth] Council of Lateran, held in 1215 [by the demon-Pope Innocent III]." {1}

The Jesuits — 1534 – 1540

"The nobility and populace must, by all methods, be persuaded into a belief that the Society was instituted by the particular direction of divine providence, according to the prophecies of the abbot Jachim, that by this means the church, though depressed by the attempts of heretics, may be raised again to its primitive luster." {1}

Ignatius Loyola, 1540
Founder, 1st Jesuit General, 1540-1556
Secret Instructions of the Jesuits

"[The] brotherhood of Loyola. . . . for liberal institutions and civil and religious freedom have no greater enemies than that cunning fraternity; while it is equally true, that although the Jesuits are dreaded and detested knaves, there are few who are thoroughly acquainted with their eventful history, and with all those arts by which the fathers have earned for themselves a disgraceful celebrity. . . .

Their country is Rome; their sovereign the Pope; their laws the commands of their General . . . England they consider an accursed land; Englishmen heretics whom they are under an obligation to combat. I cannot too much impress on the minds of my readers that the Jesuits, by their very calling, by the very essence of their institution, are bound to seek, by every means, right or wrong, the destruction of Protestantism. This is the condition of their existence, the duty they must fulfill, or cease to be Jesuits." {2}

G. B. Nicolini of Rome, 1889
Protestant Italian Patriot
Exiled to England
History of the Jesuits

"I swear to erect the throne and the altar upon the bones of the infamous Liberals, and to exterminate them one by one, without being moved by the clamors of children, old men and women!" {3}

Gian Cardinal Albani, 1590
Jesuit Coadjutor

"Martin Luther . . . was a lost apostate, a thief, a robber, a filthy sow, and a senseless beast, the Devil's boon companion." {4} [Emphasis added]

Conrad Better, 1610
German Jesuit

"The term 'Jesuit' has become synonymous with terms like deceit, chicanery, infiltration, intrigue, subversion . . . many organized Jesuits have been justly described as treacherous, traitorous workers, seducing many in the service of the Roman Pontiff away from national allegiance . . . 'The profligate, the cunning, the daring, and all similar members of this motley sect, with their general and the host of his spies crawling like frogs, and flying like the locusts of Egypt all over the land, were fully initiated into the secrets of their 'instructions', and they acted on them every day, hence the horrid works of their footsteps of pollution and blood.' " {5}

Jonas E. C. Shepherd, 1987
General Secretary,
Canadian Protestant League,
The Babington Plot

[Shepherd investigated and confirmed that Alberto Rivera was indeed an ex-Jesuit. Rivera, during his nearly twenty-year ministry before his death, was neither sued by the Papacy for claiming to be an ex-Jesuit formerly under Extreme Oath, nor was he prosecuted by the government of the United States for publicly claiming to have participated in the 1963 assassination of President John F. Kennedy. Why not?

Further, in November of 1989, Rivera challenged Calgary Bishop Paul O' Byrne to a debate as a result of the Bishop's attack against Rivera and his AIC ministry. The Bishop, seeking to ban all of Rivera's materials (Chick Publications) from Canada, refused the challenge. At the time, Canada was under the control of the Order, the late Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Pierre Trudeau being the Prime Minister.]

"The General is the true Pope of the Company of Jesus, and the plan of this institute is to destroy all authority, and all government, having concentrated all in its society. This ambitious Company is a nation, a power apart germinating in the loins of all others, changing their substance and surmounting their ruins." {6}

Member, French Parliament

"In Roman Catholic circles it is well known that the Black Pope is the term used for the General of the Jesuits. As the Pope is always robed in white, and the General in black, the contrast is obvious. But those Romanists who do not greatly love the Jesuits, and their number is not limited, use the term as indicating that the Black

Pope rules the White Pope . . . even while the former is obligated to make, at least, a show of submission to the latter." {7} [Emphasis added]

M. F. Cusack, 1896
Converted Nun of Kenmare Convent
*The Black Pope

" 'The power of the General shall be so unlimited that should he deem it necessary for the honour of God, he shall even be able to send back, or in other directions, those who have come direct from the Popes.' " {8}

Ignatius Loyola, 1540
Founder, 1st Jesuit General, 1540-1556
Constitutions

"But not only is all friendly communication forbidden to the Jesuit but he is also placed under constant espionage. He is never permitted to walk about alone, but, whether in the house or out of doors, is always accompanied by two of his brethren—'Except the General order otherwise for the greater glory of God [the Pope], and the benefit of the Society.' . . .

Thus, no one but the General can exercise the right of uttering a single original thought or opinion. It is almost impossible to conceive the power, especially in former times, of a General having at his absolute disposal such an amount of intelligences, wills, and energies." {9}

Further, ". . . the merit of framing the Constitution which was to govern it belongs solely to Ignatius himself. He alone among them all was capable of such a conception. He alone could have devised a scheme by which one free rational being is converted into a mere automaton—acting, speaking, even thinking, according to the expressed will of another. There is no record in history, of any man, be he king, emperor, or pope, exercising such absolute and irresponsible power over his fellow-men as does the General of the Jesuits over his disciples . . . Thus, the General knowing the past and present life, the thoughts, the desires of every one belonging to the Society, it is easy to understand how he is enabled always to select the fittest person for every special service [including assassination and martyrdom]." {10}

G. B. Nicolini of Rome, 1889

Exiled to England
History of the Jesuits

"The Pope's will: God's will." {11}

Alfonso Maria de Liguori, 1780
Crypto-Jesuit; Founder of Redemptorists
During the Order's Suppression

"The Jesuit government is eminently monarchial, one is their chief, who is called the General; he can do what he likes; he is chosen for life, and need not give a reason to any one, so long as he acts according to the spirit of the institution, that is, to direct all the orders for the greater glory of God.

Should he depart from this aim, he may be deposed by the assistants, who convoke a general Congregation to elect another. But this case never happens. See [observe] how the Father-General has in his hand the governance of the whole Roman Catholic [and now the whole] world.

Every Jesuit is obliged to yield blind obedience to his Superior, so that, according to the expressions of their rule, a Jesuit ought to be in the hands of his Superior, that which the dead body is in the hands of the surgeon who dissects it. The Jesuit when he acts from obedience is never responsible for his actions; the Jesuit has no longer a conscience, he has given it over to his Superior for the greater glory of God ["ad majorem Dei gloriam"]; he must blindly obey and look upon the Superior as if he were Jesus Christ Himself, as if the voice of the Superior were the voice of God. It is said in their rules, that if the Superior commands a thing that is manifestly sinful, he ought not to be obeyed, but such exception is illusory. First, because admitting that the voice of the Superior is the voice of God, it is impossible that God should command a sin; secondly, because in the doctrine of the Jesuits, it is difficult to find a sin. As for the Jesuits, the world is their kingdom, and the different nations are only provinces of that kingdom of the Father-General. For example, England, Ireland and Scotland are simply a Jesuit province [there is the province of Ireland today which includes Australia]; all Italy is only a province, France is another province, the whole of Switzerland proper has not even the honour of being considered a province, but French Switzerland is united to the province of France, and German Switzerland is to the province of Germany; and so of other kingdoms. Every one of the provinces maintains in Rome near to the General a representative with the title of Father-Assistant, and such Father-Assistants assist and counsel the Father-General, simply giving their opinion, only as in consultation, when it is asked by him.

Every individual belonging to the Society must every day relate what he has seen, thought, or felt, whether of his companions or of strangers, and this relation must be made either to a Jesuit appointed for that purpose, who is called the Spiritual Father, or directly to the Superior [thereby maintaining an international system of spying and espionage]. The Superiors must make extracts from all the relations, collecting what in them may be of interest, and sending their report every week to the Provincial Father. The Provincials in their turn make their report every week, sending it to the Father-General, who in his turn gives the summary every Thursday in the private audience, which he has with the Pope, referring to and consulting with His Holiness.

All these things cause the Father-General to be feared by the Pope and the sovereigns; because he only, through the consciences of all his subjects, which he alone has in his power, knows all the ramifications of Roman Catholic society as a whole. The Father-Assistants are the most sagacious men of their province, men sent to Rome in order that they may better inform and advise the Father-General, who concerts with his Assistants according to the notices he receives from the Provincials, or from the Associated Society of St. Vincent [de Paul] (called the Paolotti); if it is seen, for example, that it would be for the greater glory of God to organize a revolution in a kingdom, the Father-General concerts with the Father-Assistant of that country, who, by his knowledge of the places, of the persons, of the national character, can suggest good advice; then he gives orders to the Provincial of that kingdom, and this latter sends the word of command to his subjects and associates [American Roman Hierarchy, CFR, CIA, FBI, NSA, Military Intelligence, Mafia, Opus Dei, Knights of Columbus, select 33rd Degree Freemasons, State Governors controlling State and Local Police Agencies, Nation of Islam, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, etc.], who, obedient as dead bodies, act for the most part without knowing the aim [as stated by Eugene Sue in his The Wandering Jew]; they work in the pulpits [now talk radio and all the major media outlets], in the confessionals, in the schools, as the wheels of a machine skillfully impelled, which moves without knowing what will be the result [as in the Kennedy Assassination]. In this manner the Father-General who is in Rome can, if he believe it be to the greater glory of God, predict, or cause to be predicted an event [like the death of a Pope], months, and even years, before it occurs, without fear of being belied. This is why the Jesuits are protected by sovereigns and governors. A sovereign who is not their friend will sooner or later experience their vengeance. . . . The Jesuits, my dear friend, are not always dressed in the habit of Don Basilio (Don Quixote, Second Part, Chapter xxi), nor do they always live in convents; in those countries where they cannot legally live, they exist in other ways; indeed, I can tell you that in those countries the influence of the Father-General is greater. The Jesuits exist in all Protestant countries under the name of missionaries, with the habit of priest, and also with the habit of layman, they exist there under other names." {12} [Emphasis added]

The purpose of the Society of Jesus, founded by Ignatius Loyola in 1534 and formally established by Pope Paul III on September 27, 1540 with a Papal Bull titled Regimini militantis Ecclesiae (R[O]ME), is to destroy every vestige of the Lord's Grand and Glorious Protestant Reformation begun by Martin Luther in 1517. The Jesuits call this "the Counter-Reformation."

In seeking to destroy the Protestant Reformation, the Professed Jesuits, after a fifteen-year education and thirty-one years in the Order (unless the General relaxes those requirements), have obligated themselves with an Oath known as the Fourth Vow. Many Jesuits, however, are not Professed and therefore have never been fully initiated into the evils of "the Company." The honest Juan de Palafox, Bishop of Los Angeles, Mexico, in a letter to Pope Innocent X written in 1647, writes:

" 'But the Jesuits alone, shroud themselves intentionally in a darkness, which the laity are completely forbidden to penetrate, and the veil is not even uplifted to many of the members. There are among them a large number who have taken merely three vows, but not the fourth, and who are in consequence, not at all, or at any rate, not properly instructed regarding the true principles, institutions and liberties of the order; this secret, on the other hand, is entrusted, as is known to His Holiness, to only a small number, and whatever is especially important is known only to the Superiors and the General.' " {16} [Emphasis added]

But of the Fourth Vow, taken by no more than two-percent of the Jesuits, we read the words from M. F. Cusack's masterpiece, The Black Pope, written in 1896:

"The Jesuit is not permitted to take his full and final vows [Extreme Oath of the Fourth Vow] until he has attained the age of forty-five. As a consequence there are few fully professed members of the Order . . . Thirty-one years shall have been passed in the Order before the final vows are taken, so that a Jesuit who had not entered the novitiate at a very early age, might be far older than the years specified before he could take the final vows. In the meantime he is simply the bond slave of the General, who may dismiss him at will, or retain him at pleasure. He must become a corpse in the hands of his superior . . ." {17}

A portion of the Oath published in 1845 reads:

"I, _____, now in the presence of Almighty God . . . and to you my ghostly father do declare from my heart, without mental reservation, that Pope Gregory [XVI] is Christ's Vicar General, and is the true and only head of the universal church throughout the earth . . . he hath power to depose heretical kings, princes, states, commonwealths, and governments, all being illegal, without his sacred confirmation, and that they may safely be destroyed;

I do renounce and disown any allegiance as due to any heretical king, prince, or state, named Protestant, or obedience to any of their inferior magistrates or officers. I do further declare the doctrine of the Church of England, of the Calvinists, Huguenots, and other Protestants, to be damnable, and those to be damned who will not forsake the same. I do further declare, that I will help, assist, and advise all or any of His Holiness's agents in any place wherever I shall be; and do my utmost to extirpate the heretical protestants' doctrine, and to destroy all their pretended power, legal or otherwise. I do further promise and declare, that notwithstanding I am dispensed with to assume any religion heretical, for the propagation of the mother church's interest, to keep secret and private all her agents' counsels, as they entrust me, and not to divulge, directly or indirectly, by word, writing or circumstance whatsoever, but to execute all which shall be proposed, given in charge, or discovered unto me, by you my ghostly father, or by any one of this convent. All which I,_____, do swear by the blessed Trinity, and blessed sacrament, which I am now to receive, to perform on my part to keep inviolably; and do call all the heavenly and glorious host of heaven, to witness my real intentions to keep this my Oath. In testimony hereof . . ." {18}

The complete Oath published in 1883 reads:
CEREMONY OF INDUCTION AND EXTREME OATH OF THE JESUITS

"[When a Jesuit of the minor rank is to be elevated to command, he is conducted into the Chapel of the Convent of the Order, where there are only three others present, the principal or Superior standing in front of the altar. On either side stands a monk, one of whom holds a banner of yellow and white, which are the Papal colors, and the other a black banner with a dagger and red cross above a skull and crossbones [the symbol of Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Heinrich Himmler's Nazi SS], with the word INRI, and below them the words IUSTUM NECARE REGES IMPIOS. The meaning of which is: It is just to exterminate or annihilate impious or heretical Kings, Governments or Rulers. Upon the floor is a red cross upon which the postulant or candidate kneels. The Superior hands him a small black crucifix, which he takes in his left hand and presses to his heart, and the Superior at the same time presents to him a dagger, which he grasps by the blade and holds the point against his heart, the Superior still holding it by the hilt, and thus addresses the postulant.]

SUPERIOR.

My son, heretofore you have been taught to act the dissembler: among Roman Catholics to be a Roman Catholic, and to be a spy even among your own brethren; to believe no man, to trust no man. Among the Reformers, to be a Reformer; among the Huguenots, to be a Huguenot; among the Calvinists, to be a Calvinist; among the Protestants, generally to be a Protestant; and obtaining their confidence to seek even to preach from their pulpits, and to denounce with all the vehemence in your nature our Holy Religion and the Pope; and even to descend so low as to become a Jew among the Jews [further evidencing that the Black Pope controls the Masonic Jewish, anti-Torah Zionists now governing the Pope's "Kingdom of Jerusalem," known to the world as the "Nation of Israel"], that you might be enabled to gather together all information for the benefit of your Order as a faithful soldier of the Pope.

You have been taught to insidiously plant the seeds of jealousy and hatred between communities, provinces and states that were at peace, and incite them to deeds of blood, involving them in war with each other, and to create revolutions and civil wars in countries that were independent and prosperous, cultivating the arts and the sciences and enjoying the blessings of peace. To take sides with the combatants and to act secretly in concert with your brother Jesuit, who might be engaged on the other side, but openly opposed to that with which you might be connected; only that the Church might be the gainer in the end, in the conditions fixed in the treaties for peace and that the end justifies the means [this key enabling us to understand the diplomatic and military "blunders" of both the American Civil War, or, more properly titled, the War Between the States, and World Wars I and II, the Black Pope's Second Thirty Years' War].

You have been taught your duty as a spy, to gather all statistics, facts and information in your power from every source [explaining the Back Pope's invisible control of his International Intelligence Community including the American FBI, NSA and CIA, the Russian/Soviet KGB and GRU, the British MI5 and MI6, the German BND (being a continuation of the Nazi SS), the PLO, the Pakistani ISI, the Chinese CSIS and the Israeli Mossad]; to ingratiate yourself into the confidence of the family circle of Protestants and heretics of every class and character, as well as that of the merchant, the banker, the lawyer, among the schools and universities, in parliaments and legislatures, and in the judiciaries and councils of state [the American National Security Council], and to "be all things to all men," for the Pope's sake, whose servants we are unto death [explaining the Order's control of the Protestant British government through its London-based Royal Institute of International Affairs, established in 1919, and the Order's control of the American government through its New York-based Council on Foreign Relations, established in 1921].

You have received all your instructions heretofore as a novice, a neophyte, and have served as a coadjutor, confessor and priest, but you have not yet been invested with all that is necessary to command in the Army of Loyola in the service of the Pope. You must serve the proper time as the instrument and executioner as directed by your superiors [such as the murder of Cornelius Jansen (1585-1638), Bishop of Ypres, Holland, and father of Jansenism who was a most determined Roman Catholic enemy of the Jesuits and died of a sudden illness – the poison cup – on the 6th of May, 1638 at the young age of fifty-three] for none can command here who has not consecrated his labors with the blood of the heretic; for 'without the shedding of blood no man can be saved.' Therefore, to fit yourself for your work and make your own salvation sure [evidencing the unbiblical doctrine of salvation by works], you will, in addition to your former oath of obedience to your Order and allegiance to the Pope, repeat after me:

THE EXTREME OATH OF THE JESUITS.

I, M____ N_____, Now, in the presence of Almighty God, the Blessed Virgin Mary, the blessed Michael the Archangel, the blessed St. John the Baptist, the holy Apostles St. Peter and St. Paul and all the saints and sacred hosts of heaven, and to you, my ghostly father, the Superior General of the Society of Jesus, founded by St. Ignatius Loyola, in the Pontificate of Paul the Third [Paul III], and continued to the present, do by the womb of the Virgin, the matrix of God, and the rod of Jesus Christ, declare and swear, that His holiness the Pope is Christ's Vice-regent and is the true and only Head of the Catholic or Universal Church throughout the earth; and that by virtue of the keys of binding and loosing, given to His Holiness by my Saviour, Jesus Christ, he hath power to depose heretical kings, princes, states, commonwealths and governments, all being illegal without his sacred confirmation and that they may safely be destroyed. Therefore, to the utmost of my power, I shall and will defend this doctrine and His Holiness' right and custom against all usurpers of the heretical or Protestant authority whatever, especially the Lutheran Church of Germany, Holland, Denmark, Sweden and Norway, and the now pretended authority and churches of England and Scotland, and branches of the same now established in Ireland and on the Continent of America and elsewhere; and all adherents in regard that they be usurped and heretical, opposing the sacred Mother Church of Rome. I do now renounce and disown any allegiance as due to any heretical king, prince or state named Protestants or Liberals or obedience to any of their laws, magistrates or officers [the CIA being above the law indicating its Jesuit control].

I do further declare that the doctrines of the churches of England [the Thirty-Nine Articles of Faith] and Scotland [The Westminster Confession of Faith of 1658], of the Calvinists [John Calvin's The Institutes of the Christian Religion], Huguenots [French Calvinists] and others of the name Protestants or Liberals to be damnable, and they themselves damned and to be damned [in accordance with the over-one-hundred curses enumerated in the Black Pope's evil Council of Trent] who will not forsake the same.

I do further declare, that I will help, assist and advise all or any of His Holiness' agents in any place wherever I shall be, in Switzerland, Germany, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, England, Ireland, or America, or in any other kingdom or territory I shall come to, and do my uttermost to extirpate the heretical Protestants or Liberals' doctrines and to destroy all their pretended powers, regal or otherwise.

I do further promise and declare, that notwithstanding I am dispensed with, to assume any religion heretical, for the propagating of the Mother Church's interest, to keep secret and private all her agents' counsels from time to time, as they may entrust me, and not to divulge, directly or indirectly, by word, writing or circumstance whatever; but to execute all that shall be proposed, given in charge or discovered unto me, by you, my ghostly father, or any of this sacred convent.

I do further promise and declare, that I will have no opinion or will of my own, or any mental reservation whatever, even as a corpse or cadaver, (perinde ac cadaver), but will unhesitatingly obey each and every command that I may receive from my superiors in the Militia of the Pope and of Jesus Christ.

That I will go to any part of the world whithersoever I may be sent, to the frozen regions of the North, the burning sands of the desert of Africa, or the jungles of India, to the centres of civilization of Europe, or to the wild haunts of the barbarous savages [native American Indians] of America [North and South America], without murmuring or repining, and will be submissive in all things whatsoever communicated to me.

I furthermore promise and declare that I will, when opportunity presents, make and wage relentless war, secretly or openly, against all heretics, Protestants and Liberals, as I am directed to do, to extirpate and exterminate them from the face of the whole earth; and that I will spare neither age, sex or condition; and that I will hang, burn, waste, boil, flay, strangle and bury alive these infamous heretics, rip up the stomachs and wombs of their women and crush their infants' heads against the walls, in order to annihilate forever their execrable race.

That when the same cannot be done openly, I will secretly use the poisoned cup, the strangulating cord, the steel of the poniard or the leaden bullet, regardless of the honor, rank, dignity, or authority of the person or persons, whatever may be their condition in life, either public or private, as I at any time may be directed so to do by any agent of the Pope or Superior of the Brotherhood of the Holy Faith, of the Society of Jesus.

In confirmation of which, I hereby dedicate my life, my soul and all my corporeal powers, and with this dagger which I now receive, I will subscribe my name written in my own blood, in testimony thereof; and should I prove false or weaken in my determination, may my brethren and fellow soldiers of the Militia of the Pope cut off my hands and my feet, and my throat from ear to ear, my belly opened and sulphur burned therein, with all the punishment that can be inflicted upon me on earth and my soul be tortured by demons in an eternal hell forever!

[Dear truth-seeker, this is the secret source for all of the Masonic death oaths, the Invisible Empire being the "foot-cavalry" of the Order!]

All of which I, M_____ N_____, do swear by the blessed [Egyptian] Trinity and blessed Sacrament, which I am now to receive, to perform and on my part to keep inviolably; and do call all the heavenly and glorious host of heaven to witness these my real intentions to keep this my oath. In testimony hereof I take this most holy and blessed Sacrament of the Eucharist, and witness the same further, with my name written with the point of this dagger dipped in my own blood and sealed in the face of this holy convent.

SUPERIOR.

You will now rise to your feet and I will instruct you in the Catechism necessary to make yourself known to any member of the Society of Jesus belonging to this rank [Extreme Oath of the Fourth Vow].

In the first place, you, as a Brother Jesuit, will with another mutually make the ordinary sign of the cross as any ordinary Roman Catholic would; then one crosses his wrists, the palms of his hands open, the other in answer crosses his feet, one above the other; the first points with the forefinger of the right hand to the center of the palm of the left, the other with the forefinger of the left hand points to the center of the palm of the right; the first then with his right hand makes a circle around his head, touching it; the other then with the forefinger of his left hand touches the left side of his body just below his heart; the first then with his right hand draws it across the throat of the other, and the latter then with his right hand makes the motion of cutting with a dagger down the stomach and abdomen of the first.

The first then says Iustum; and the other answers Necare; the first then says Reges. The other answers Impios. (The meaning of which has already been explained.) The first will then present a small piece of paper folded in a peculiar manner, four times, which the other will cut longitudinally and on opening the name JESU will be found written upon the head and arms of a cross three times. You will then give and receive with him the following questions and answers.

Ques. From whither do you come?
Ans. From the bends of the Jordan, from Calvary, from the Holy Sepulchre, and lastly from Rome.
Ques. What do you keep and for what do you fight?
Ans. The Holy faith.
Ques. Whom do you serve?
Ans. The Holy Father at Rome, the Pope, and the Roman Catholic Church Universal throughout the world.
Ques. Who commands you?
Ans. The Successor of St. Ignatius Loyola, the founder of the Society of Jesus or the Soldiers of Jesus Christ.
Ques. Who received you?

Ans. A venerable man in white hair.
Ques. How?
Ans. With a naked dagger, I kneeling upon the cross beneath the banners of the Pope and of our sacred Order.
Ques. Did you take an oath?
Ans. I did, to destroy heretics and their governments and rulers, and to spare neither age, sex nor condition. To be as a corpse without any opinion or will of my own, but to implicitly obey my superiors in all things without hesitation or murmuring.
Ques. Will you do that?
Ans. I will.
Ques. How do you travel?
Ans. In the bark of Peter the fisherman.
Ques. Whither do you travel?
Ans. To the four quarters of the globe.
Ques. For what purpose?
Ans. To obey the orders of my General and Superiors and execute the will of the Pope and faithfully fulfill the conditions of my oath.
Ques. Go ye, then, into all the world and take possession of all lands in the name of the Pope [including the United States of America]. He who will not accept him as the Vicar of Jesus and his Vice-regent on earth [which no Protestant or Baptist Bible-believer would ever think to do], let him be accursed and exterminated." {19} [Emphasis added]

(This same identical Oath can be found in Subterranean Rome by Carlos Didier, translated from the French and published in New York in 1843. The Oath can also be found in The Devil In Robes; Or, The Sin of Priests, edited by J. Scott Carr, (St. Louis: Continental Bible House, 1900), pages 19-23, from which we read:

THE JESUITICAL OATH

"I, _____, now in the presence of Almighty God, the blessed Virgin Mary, the blessed St. John the Baptist, the holy apostles, St. Peter and Paul, and all the saints, sacred hosts of Heaven, and to you my Ghostly Father, the Superior General [the Black Pope] of the Society of Jesus, founded by St. Ignatius Loyola, in the pontification of Paul the Third, and continued to the present, do, by the womb of the Virgin, the matrix of God [from which unbiblical and wicked concept the Order based its Hollywood movies, The Matrix and The Matrix Reloaded], and the rod [Penis] of Jesus Christ, declare and swear that His holiness, the Pope, is Christ's vicegerent, and is the true and only head of the Catholic or universal church throughout the earth; and that by virtue of the keys of binding and loosing given to His holiness by my Savior, Jesus Christ [which keys, according to the New Testament of the Protestant Reformation, were never actually given to the racially Jewish apostle Peter, as recorded in the first three gospels; but, those keys "will" be given to the resurrected apostle during the future millennial reign of Messiah on earth], he hath power to depose heretical kings, princes, states, commonwealths and governments, all being illegal without his sacred confirmation, and they may be safely destroyed [the Pope's bloody Temporal Power, based upon no more than a perversion of the Word of God, thus being a heretical, political usurpation by that succession of Antichrists in the Vatican!]. Therefore, to the utmost of my power, I will defend this doctrine and His Holiness' Right and custom against all usurpers of the heretical or Protestant authority whatsoever, especially the Lutheran Church of Germany, Holland, Denmark, Sweden and Norway, and the now pretended authority and [of the] Churches of England and Scotland, and the branches of the same now established by Ireland, and on the continent of America and elsewhere, and all adherents in regard that they be usurped and heretical opposing the sacred mother church of Rome.

I do now denounce and disown any allegiance as due to any heretical king, prince or state, named protestant or liberals, or obedience to any of their laws, magistrates or officers.

I do further declare that the doctrine of the Churches of England and Scotland of the Calvinists, Huguenots and others of the name of protestants or liberals, to be damnable, and they themselves to be damned who will not forsake the same [i.e., no salvation outside of the Roman Catholic Church].

I do further declare that I will help, assist and advise all or any of His Holiness' agents, in any place where I shall be, in Switzerland, Germany, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, England, Ireland or America, or in any other kingdom or territory I shall come to, and do my utmost to extirpate the heretical Protestant or liberal doctrines, and to destroy all their pretended powers, legal or otherwise [including The Constitution of the United States of America as ratified by the several States in 1787].

I do further promise and declare that, notwithstanding I am dispensed with to assume any religion heretical [including Judaism and Islam] for the propagation of the mother church's interest, to keep secret and private all her agent's councils from time to time, as they entrust me, and not to divulge, directly or indirectly, by word, writing or circumstances whatever, but to execute all that shall be proposed, given in charge, or discovered unto me, by you my Ghostly Father, or any of his sacred convent.

I do further promise and declare that I will have no opinion or will of my own ["like as stick in the hand of an old man"] or any mental reservation whatsoever, even as a corpse or cadaver (perinde ac cadaver), but will unhesitatingly obey each and every command that I may receive from my superiors in the militia of the Pope and of Jesus Christ.

That I will go to any part of the world whithersoever I may be sent, to the frozen regions of the North, to the burning sands of the desert of Africa, or the jungles of India, to the centers of civilization of Europe, or to the wild haunts of the barbarous savages of America, without murmuring or repining, and will be submissive in all things whatsoever communicated to me [no matter how evil, murderous or treasonable].

I do furthermore promise and declare that I will, when opportunity presents, make and wage relentless war, secretly or openly, against all heretics, Protestants and Liberals, as I am directed to do to extirpate them from the face of the whole earth; and that I will spare neither age, sex or condition, and that I will hang, burn, waste, boil, flay, strangle, and bury alive these infamous heretics; rip up the stomachs and wombs of their women, and crush their infants' heads against the walls, in order to annihilate their execrable race. In confirmation of which I hereby dedicate my life, my soul, and all corporeal powers, and with dagger which I now receive I will subscribe my name, written in my blood, in testimony thereof; and should I prove false or weaken in my determination, may my brethren and fellow-soldiers of the militia of the Pope cut off my hands and feet and my throat from ear to ear, my belly opened and sulphur burned therein with all the punishment that can be inflicted upon me on earth and my soul be tortured by demons in an eternal hell forever.

All of which I, _____, do swear by the Blessed Trinity and Blessed Sacrament which I am now to receive, to perform, and on my part to keep this my oath.

In testimony hereof, I take this most holy and Blessed Sacrament of the Eucharist, and witness the same further, with my name written with the point of this dagger, dipped in my own blood and sealed in the face of this holy sacrament.

[He receives the wafer from the Superior and writes his name with the point of his dagger, dipped in his own blood, taken from over the breast.]" {20} [Emphasis added]

A portion of the Oath published in 1894 reads:

> "I do now renounce and disown my allegiance as due to any heretical King, Prince or State, named Protestant, or liberals, or obedience to any of their laws or magistrates or officers.

I do further declare that the doctrine of the churches of England and Scotland, of the Calvinists, Huguenots and others of the name Protestant or Liberals, to be damnable, and they themselves to be damned who will not forsake the same.

I do further declare that I will help, assist and advise all or any of His Holiness' agents, in any place where I shall be, in Switzerland, Germany, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, England, Ireland or America, or in any other kingdom or territory I shall come to, and do my utmost to extirpate the heretical Protestant or liberal doctrines, and to destroy all their pretended powers, legal or otherwise." {21}

The Oath as taken by the members of the Fourth Degree of the Knights of Columbus, entered into the Congressional Record, 62nd Congress, 3rd Session; House Bill 1523, Library of Congress, Catalog Card Number, 66-43354, Volume 49, part 4, pages 3215-16; Contested election case of Eugene C. Bonniwell against Thomas S. Butler, published on Feb. 15, 1913, reads:

"I,_____, now in the presence of Almighty God, the blessed Virgin Mary, the blessed St. John the Baptist, the holy apostles, St. Peter and St. Paul, and all the saints, sacred hosts of heaven, and to you my Ghostly Father, the Superior General of the Society of Jesus, founded by St. Ignatius, in the pontification of Paul the III, and continued to the present, do by the womb of the Virgin, the matrix of God, and the rod of Jesus Christ [the Church and the Pope likened to a sexual union, the Church being "the matrix of God," the Pope possessing "the rod of Jesus Christ"], declare and swear that his Holiness , the Pope is Christ's vice-general and is the true and only head of the Catholic or universal church throughout the earth, and that by virtue of the keys of binding and loosing given His Holiness by my Saviour, Jesus Christ, he hath power to dispose heretical kings, princes [and presidents], states, commonwealths, and governments that they may be safely destroyed.

Therefore, to the utmost of my power, I will defend the doctrine and his Holiness' right and custom against all usurpers of the heretical or Protestant authority whatever, especially the Lutheran church of Germany, Holland, Denmark, Norway and Sweden and the now pretended authority of the Churches of England and Scotland, and the branches of some now established in Ireland, and on the continent of America and elsewhere, and all adherents in regard that they may be usurped and heretical, opposing the sacred mother Church f Rome.

I now denounce and disown any allegiance as due to any heretical king, prince or state, named Protestant or liberal, or obedience to any of their laws, magistrates or officials.

I do further declare that I will help, assist and advise all or any of his holiness' agents, in any place where I should be in Switzerland, Germany, Holland or America, or in any other territory I shall come to, and do my utmost to extirpate the heretical Protestant or Masonic doctrines, and destroy all their pretended powers, legal or otherwise [the Order cleverly using this oath of the Knights of Columbus to drive Protestants and Baptists into the arms of the Black Pope's "Invisible Empire" of Scottish Rite Freemasonry, further destroying the LORD's Grand and Glorious Protestant Reformation].

I do further promise and declare that, notwithstanding I am dispensed with to assume any religion heretical for the propagation of the mother church's interest, to keep secret and private all her agents' counsels from time to time as they entrust me, and not divulge, directly or indirectly, by word, writing or circumstances whatever, but to execute all that should be proposed given in charge, or discovered unto me but by my Ghostly Father, or any of the sacred order.

I do further promise and declare that I will have no opinion or will of my own or any mental reservation whatsoever, even as a corpse or cadaver (Perinde ac cadaver) but will unhesitatingly obey each and every command that I may receive from my superiors in the militia of the Pope and Jesus Christ.

That I will go to any part of the world whithersoever I may be sent; to the frozen regions of the north; or the burning sands of the desert of Africa or the jungles of India; to the center of civilization of Europe or to the wild haunts of the barbarous savages of America without murmuring or repining and will be submissive in all things whatsoever is communicated to me.

I do further promise and declare, that I will, when opportunity presents, make and wage relentless war, secretly or openly, against all heretics, Protestants and Masons, as I am directed to do, to extirpate and exterminate them from the face of the whole earth, and that I will spare neither age, sex, nor condition, and that I will burn, hang, waste, boil, flay, strangle, bury alive, these infamous heretics, open up the stomachs and wombs of their women and crush their infants' heads against the walls in order to annihilate their execrable race [again, cunningly driving Protestants and Baptists into the death-embrace of Freemasonry, further destroying individual sanctification and the power of the LORD's true, Reformation Bible-believing Church in the earth].

That when the same cannot be done openly, I will secretly use the poison cup, the strangulation cord, the steel of the poniard, or the leaden bullet, regardless of the honor, rank, dignity or authority of the persons whatever be their condition in life, either public or private, as I at any time may be directed to so do, by any agent of the Pope, or superior of the Brotherhood of the Holy Faith of the Society of Jesus.

[Dear truth-seeker, it is apparent from above that the high-level, Fourth-degree men of the Knights of Columbus are nothing more than "Junior Jesuits," waiting at the ready to commit an act of violence, carry out an assassination, cause a riot or ignite a revolution.]

In confirmation of which I hereby dedicate my life, soul and all corporeal powers, and with the dagger which I now receive, I will subscribe my name, written in my blood in testimony thereof; and should I prove false or shaken in my determination, may my brethren and fellow soldiers of the militia of the Pope cut off my head and my feet and my throat from ear to ear, my belly opened and sulphur burned therein with all the punishment that can be inflicted upon me by demons in eternal hell forever. [Does not this sound like a bloody Masonic Oath?].

That I will in voting always vote for a Knight of Columbus in preference to a Protestant, especially a Mason, and that I will lead my party so to do, that if Catholics are on the ticket I will satisfy myself which is the better supporter of the mother Church and vote accordingly [Rome's College of Cardinals having bestowed upon George W. Bush a second term (the Papacy controlling our elections since the days of FDR) due to his promotion of the Black Pope's War in Iraq, and the President's promise that he would implement the policies of Pope John Paul II!]

That I will not deal with or employ a Protestant if in my power to deal with or employ a Catholic [so much for a competitive free market]. That I will place Catholic girls in Protestant homes of heretics.

That I will provide myself with arms and ammunition that I may be in readiness when the word is passed, or am commanded to defend the church either as an individual or with the militia of the Pope.

All of which I, _____, do swear by the blood of the trinity and the blessed Eucharist and witness the same further with my name written with the point of this dagger, dipped in my own blood, and seal, in the face of this holy sacrament." [Does this not sound like the oath of the Mafia called 'Omerta'?]

[The former Governor of the State of California was Gray Davis, a Fourth Degree Knight of Columbus, who continued to further disarm the citizens of that State in preparation for the American Empire's coming massive Chinese invasion of the West Coast after the Company's new "Sword of the Church" first conquers Taiwan, Japan, South Korea, the entire Pacific Rim and then Hawaii. This Chinese and Japanese naval campaign will apparently be fueled by Unocal's oil from the Caspian Basin because of which the Jesuit Order's war in Afghanistan is presently being fought.

California's present Governor, Arnold Schwarzenegger, Mr. Olympia and an actor, is also a Papal Knight and foreign-born, Austrian Roman Catholic having married into the Roman Catholic Kennedy family.*] {22} [Emphasis added]

(Dear truth-seeker, the Jesuits not only authored the above Oath of the Knights of Columbus but also, as we shall later see, they wrote the Oaths of Scottish Rite Freemasonry over one hundred years prior to the creation of their new Order of the Knights of Columbus. In 1879 Edmond Ronayne, another Bible-believing hero, converted Romanist and Past Master of the Keystone Lodge in Chicago, gives some of the guidelines from his Masonic Handbook—Hand Book of Freemasonry— evidencing nearly identical Oaths with Freemasonry's supposed enemies and junior Jesuits, "the Knights of Columbus:"

"When a brother reveals any of our great secrets; whenever, for instance, he tells anything about Boaz, or Tubalcain, or Jachin, or that awful Mahhah-bone ('the name of the great Masonic god'), or even, whenever a minister prays in the name of Christ in any of our assemblies, you must always hold yourself in readiness, if called upon, to cut his throat from ear to ear, pull out his tongue by the roots, and bury his body at the bottom of some lake or pond. Of course, all this must be done in secret, as it was in the case of that notorious man [Captain William] Morgan [who was murdered by the Brotherhood for publishing Illustrations of Masonry, otherwise known as Exposition of Freemasonry, in 1827, revealing the first three degrees of Masonry including all the signs and grips while functioning in the lodge room, which room is patterned after Solomon's Temple], for both law and civilization are opposed to such barbarous crimes, but then, you know you must live up to your obligation, and so long as you have sworn to do it, by being very strict and obedient in the matter, you'll be free from sin." {23} [Emphasis added])

A portion of the Oath published in 1981 by the courageous Alberto Rivera, a former Professed Jesuit under this Extreme Oath, reads:

> CEREMONY OF INDUCTION AND > EXTREME OATH OF THE JESUITS
> (Given to a Jesuit of minor rank when he is to be elevated to a position of command.)
> Superior Speaks:
> "My son, heretofore you have been taught to act the dissembler among the Roman Catholics to be a Roman Catholic, and to be a spy even among your own brethren: to believe no man, to trust no man. Among the reformers, to be a reformer; among the Huguenots (French Protestants) to be a Huguenot: among the Calvinists, to be a Calvinist: among the Protestants (those who protest and disagree with the Roman Catholic institution), generally to be a Protestant: and obtaining their confidence to seek even to preach from their pulpits, and to denounce with all the vehemence (violent emotion) in your nature our Holy Religion and the Pope; and even to descend so low as to become a Jew among the Jews, that you might be enabled to gather together all information for the benefit of your order as a faithful soldier of the Pope.

You have been taught to insidiously plant the seeds of jealousy and hatred between states that were at peace, and incite them to deeds of blood, involving them in war with each other, and to create revolutions and civil wars in communities, provinces and countries that were independent and prosperous, cultivating the arts and the sciences and enjoying the blessings of peace;

To take sides with the combatants and to act secretly in concert with your brother Jesuit who might be engaged on the other side [as in the American War Between the States (1861 to 1865), many Jesuit Temporal Coadjutors also being initiated Freemasons as was the Illuminatus Adam Weishaupt], but openly opposed to that with which you might be connected;

Only that the church might be the gainer in the end in the conditions fixed in the treaties for peace, and that the ends justify the means. You have been taught your duty as a spy, to gather all statistics, facts and information in your power from every source: to ingratiate yourself into the confidence of the family circle of Protestants and heretics of every class and character, as well as that of the merchant, the banker, the lawyer, among the schools and universities, in parliaments and legislatures, and in the judiciaries and councils of State, and to "be all things to all men," for the Pope's sake, whose servants we are unto death.

You have received all your instructions heretofore as a novice (one who has no training), a neophyte (a newly ordained priest), and have served as a coadjutor (worked as a helper), confessor and priest, but you have not yet been invested with all that is necessary to command in the army of Loyola and in the service of the Pope.

You must serve the proper time as the instrument and executioner as directed by your superiors; for none can command here who has not consecrated (made secret or holy) his labors with the blood of the heretic; for 'without the shedding of blood no man can be saved.'

Therefore, to fit yourself for your work and make your own salvation sure, you will in addition to your former Oath of obedience to your order and allegiance to the Pope, repeat after me:

'I, _____, now, in the presence of Almighty God, the blessed Virgin Mary, the blessed Michael the Archangel, the blessed St. John the Baptist, the Holy Apostles, St. Peter and St. Paul and all the saints and sacred hosts of heaven . . .

I furthermore promise and declare that I will, when opportunity presents, make and wage relentless war, secretly and openly, against all heretics, Protestants and Liberals, as I am directed to do. That when the same cannot be done openly, I will secretly use the poisoned cup, the strangulation cord, the steel of the poniard (a dagger) or the leaden bullet, regardless of the honor, rank, dignity, or authority of the person or persons, whatever may be their condition in life, either public or private, as I at any time may be directed so to do by any agent of the Pope or superior of the brotherhood of the holy faith, of the Society of Jesus.' " {24} [Emphasis added]

Notice the Jesuits have taken this Oath to destroy "Protestant or Liberal doctrines" as they wage "relentless war" against "Protestants and Liberals."

The term "Protestant," as the Jesuits understand it, includes all believers in the Lord Jesus Christ who reject both the Spiritual Power and the Temporal Power of the Pope of Rome, while believing and teaching the Biblical doctrines proclaimed during the Protestant Reformation, championed by Martin Luther, John Calvin and John Knox ("Knox with the Sword of Just Defense") in particular. Protestants are "heretics" and must be "exterminated from the face of the whole earth."

The term "Liberal," as the Jesuits understand it, includes all Catholics who concur with the Protestants in rejecting the Temporal Power of the Pope of Rome. Liberals both believe and teach that governments are best when they serve the people, and when their powers are expressly limited by written Constitutions. Liberals, like both the Protestant and Baptist Calvinists, further believe that if governments become absolute tyrannies, they have the right and duty to formally withdraw their allegiance and resist those tyrannies with armed force, called by John Knox "the Sword of Just Defense." It is for this reason the Black Pope's fascist-communist military dictatorships forbid gun ownership by the peoples they rule. It is for this reason "The Jesuit Conference" within the United States seeks to abolish gun ownership through their agents within their Council on Foreign Relations, thereby destroying the Second Amendment to the United States Constitution—that "heretic" document created by condemned "Protestants and Liberals."

In addition to the Oath, the Jesuits have a guidebook entitled Secreta Monita. It has only been disclosed to the world a few times, beginning in the early 1600s (openly published in Cracow, Poland in 1612) and extending through the late 1800s:

". . . but it has been made to disappear as has the most of all other books against the Jesuits." {25}

Because of the magnitude of its contents as it relates to our subject, Secreta Monita or Secret Instructions of the Jesuits {26} has been incorporated in its entirety, in the form of an attached CD within this volume's cover, as it was republished in 1857. The Secret Instructions are no forgery, as we again recall a portion of the famous letter from Juan de Palafox, Bishop of Los Angeles, Mexico (for which letter and continued resistance he was relentlessly persecuted by the Order until he was forced to flee to Europe for his life), to Pope Innocent X dated January 8, 1647:

". . . what other Religion has a secret constitution, hidden privileges, and concealed laws of its own? And what other order has all those things which relate to its government involved in so much mystery? There is suspicion in mystery. The rules of all other orders are open to all; . . . BUT THE SUPERIORS OF THE JESUITS DO NOT GOVERN THEM BY THE RULES OF THE CHURCH, WHICH ARE KNOWN TO ALL, BUT BY CERTAIN SECRET RULES WHICH ARE ONLY KNOWN TO THOSE SUPERIORS." {27} [Emphasis added]

Edwin A. Sherman encourages us:

"Read them all, omitting nothing, and say afterward if these precepts are a dead letter. Having ceased to care for the widow, to capture the inheritances, to rob the children from their families, of intriguing near the great, of influencing in the politics of the nations, of working to the last with but one object, that is . . . the engrandisement of the 'Company of Jesus' and the establishment of its dominion in the earth." {28} [Emphasis added]

G. B. Nicolini adds:

"Now, examine well these instructions, and you will find that the true Jesuit must be crafty, insinuating, deceitful, and you will at once perceive the extent of the Jesuit immorality, and the artful way in which, in the name of the most sacred of all things—religion, they accomplish the most heinous offences." {29}

Dear truth-seeker, after reviewing your CD containing the Secret Instructions of the Jesuits, notice the last page where the Jesuit is permitted to commit high treason—the greatest of crimes worthy only of public execution—against a non-Roman Catholic government he has sworn to destroy. This high treason has been committed against the Constitution and people of the United States for the last two centuries. "And why doth treason prosper? Ah, for none dare call it treason!"

The Jesuits, in resisting the Biblical teachings of the Reformers, guided the Council of Trent from 1545 to 1563. The twenty-five sessions of that Council condemned all the "doctrines of grace" held by the Reformers, accursing all peoples who maintained those beliefs. The Fourth Session condemned freedom of conscience, freedom of speech and freedom of the press. We read and marvel:
"The Fourth Session . . . was one of the most important sessions of the council. In this session, a decree was passed which placed tradition upon an equality with the Scriptures—declared the books of the Apocrypha to be a part of the word of God—elevated the Latin translation of the Scriptures called the Vulgate, to an authority superior to that of the inspired Hebrew and Greek originals, and exacted severe penal laws against the liberty of the press . . . The right of private judgment in reading the Scriptures was prohibited, its exercise punished and the liberty of the press was authoritatively forbidden." {30}

The Fourth Rule of the Congregation of the Index of Prohibited Books enacted by the Fourth Session of the Council of Trent and approved by Pope Pius IV in a Bull, issued on the 24th of March, 1564 regarding the Bible reads:

> "Inasmuch as it is manifest from experience, that if the Holy Bible, translated into the vulgar tongue, be indiscriminately allowed to every one, the temerity of men will cause more evil than good to arise from it . . . But if any one shall have the presumption to read or possess it without such written permission, he shall not receive absolution until he has first delivered up such Bible to the Ordinary . . . But Regulars shall neither read nor purchase such Bibles without a special license from their superiors [evidencing the Papacy's fear of the Bible]." {31} [Emphasis added]

The Council concluded with the cry,

> "Accursed be all heretics! Accursed!! Accursed!!" {32}

This wicked and evil Council of Trent—the backbone of the Counter-Reformation—would embody the religious and political maxims the Jesuit Order and its "infallible" Pope would follow for the rest of the millennium. Trent would become the foreign policy of nations under Jesuit control, further extending the Temporal Power of the Pope. The nation whose foreign policy has been the Council of Trent for the last one hundred years is Fourteenth Amendment America, as she financed the Second Thirty Years' War including the Bolshevik Revolution, which introduced the bloodbath of Communism into the Twentieth Century. Under the absolutism of Communism the Bible is a forbidden book—pursuant to the Council of Trent! President William Jefferson Clinton, that Jesuit-trained tool of the Pope, while displaying the morality of King Charles II, continued the policies of Trent with the mass-bombing of Rome's old enemy, Orthodox Serbia, during the late 1990s.

The Jesuit General is an "absolutist." Today we would call him a "fascist military dictator." His absolute, unlimited power is supreme—even over the Pope no later than 1836! We read:

> "The general has usually stood towards the Pope much as a powerful grand feudatory of the Middle [Dark] Ages did towards a weak titular lord paramount. . . and the shrewd Roman populace have long shown their recognition of this fact by styling these two great personages severally the 'White Pope' and the 'Black Pope'. In truth the society has never, from the first, obeyed the Pope [as proven by its Napoleonic Wars], whenever its will and his has happened to run counter to each other." {33} [Emphasis added]

The General of the Jesuits, intending to set up a Universal Paparchy controlling the people and princes through "education [indoctrination] and diplomacy," is without question the most powerful man in the world. He is the Sovereign over the Society of Jesus and his Provincials are the masters of the Pope's Cardinals, who are in turn the visible or invisible political masters over every government of every nation. The Cardinals always promote or enforce some form of absolutism be it Monarchialism, Socialism, Nazism, Communism, Fascism or Labor Sabbatian Zionism. Of the General's power over the Society of Jesus, also called "the Company," we read from the pen of an ex-Jesuit, Andrew Steinmetz, in 1848:

> "The General possesses the secrets of every member—a terrible fulcrum for the lever of influence. He knows the character, the inclinations of every member; he knows these facts, or may know them, for he has them in writing. He is made acquainted with the consciences of all who must obey him, particularly of the provincials and others [his Assistants], to whom he has entrusted functions of great importance. He must have, like each Superior, a complete knowledge of his subjects; their propensities, their sentiments, the defects, the sins to which they have been or are more inclined or impelled . . .
> Every year, a list of the houses and members of the Society, the names, talents, virtues, failings of all are there recorded. It was such a list, doubtless, that suggested to a General of the Society that proud exclamation, when, having exultingly alluded to his philosophers, mathematicians, orators, etc., he cried . . . 'and we have men for martyrdom, if they be required.'
> In effect, from this minute list of mental and bodily qualities, he can compute his power and direct his plans, adapt his commands and ensure success to his delegated functions . . .

> The simple Jesuit is to possess for himself neither power, nor office, nor credit, nor riches, nor will, nor sentiments: the concentrated authority belongs to the general. His commands, his desires, are the law: his power flows from his hands as from its source, on the heads whom he chooses: it extends as far as he pleases; it stops when he wills . . .
> His qualifications, according to the Constitutions, must be great piety, and the spirit of prayer: he must be exemplary in all the virtues; calm in his demeanor, circumspect in words. Magnanimity and fortitude are most essential attributes. He must have extraordinary intellect and judgment; prudence, rather than learning; vigilance, solicitude in his duties: his health and external appearance must be satisfactory. He must be middle-aged; and a due regard is to be had to recommendations of nobility, or the wealth and honors he may have enjoyed in the world." {34} [Emphasis added]

It is this polished gem of a gentleman, thee masterpiece of Satan, this proven warrior cool under fire, who, with the adroit advice of his assistants, wields THE POWER in the earth. Of the General overseeing the Novices we observe:

> "The Jesuit novice . . . may some day have kings and princes kneeling at his feet, and have the power to direct the destinies of nations. He may regulate the policy and frame the laws even for nations which are not of his own faith, through the members of his Church who now take places in the councils of Protestant nations. If the process of the "making of a Jesuit" is hard to flesh and blood, he is reminded that he aspires to belong to the only body of men in the world who can boast of almost universal domination, who wield a sword with the hilt in the hand of their general in Rome and the point everywhere . . . Obedience is the one end of all this training— unmasking, unthinking, unreasoning obedience." {35} [Emphasis added]

Of the General's authority over the Jesuits we read:

> "It is true that the Jesuit has his General to whom he gives the obedience of a slave, but the Jesuit believes his General to be as God, so that if the dead voice of God, so to say, in Scripture, seems to conflict with the living voice of God which comes through the General, the authority of the living voicemust prevail." {36} [Emphasis added]

For the Jesuits are:

> ". . . a phalanx . . . bound to their General-in-chief by the chain of entire submission—obedience prompt, enthusiastic, blind—and scattered, without division, on the face of the earth. . . . In this mighty family all subscribed to the same articles of faith, whatever might be the tendency of their particular inculcations. That was their uniformity:—whilst theory is respected, practice will be allowed for: if you leave the former untouched, the latter, to a vast extent, may riot unmolested. The Roman and the Greek, the Portuguese, the Brazilian; the Irishman, the Russian; the Spaniard and the Frenchman; the Belgian and Englishman—all worked as one man, the individual tastes and inclinations were merged in the general object of appetence: they were a multitude in action, but in will a single, naked soul [a uniform, disciplined, Satanic secret society without equal in all the earth]." {37} [Emphasis added]

Dear truth-seeker, the great French playwright, Alexandre Dumas—the mulatto son of one of Napoleon's greatest generals and the friend of anti-Jesuit Eugene Sue, King Louis Philippe (1830-1848) and Italy's great anti-Jesuit and low-level Freemason, Giuseppe Garibaldi—accurately portrayed the Jesuit General in The Count of Monte Cristo. Of the Count, rich, well-born, cultured and taking vengeance on his enemies via an extensive intelligence network, he writes in 1845:

" 'This devil of a fellow . . . I said at the time he would create a sensation here, and I measure his effect by an infallible thermometer. My mother has noticed him, and he must therefore, perforce, be remarkable.' " {38}

Indeed he is! In command of this family of traitors swearing allegiance to only the Pope of Rome, the General is an absolute Monarch over the Order. And when the Order has conquered a nation, the government installed is always in fact absolutist. That is, the powers of the chief executive have no absolute limitations. In a letter to the king of Naples from a Jesuit Provincial written in 1854 we read:

"SACRED ROYAL MAJESTY —

[We] . . . have always inculcated respect . . . for . . . absolute monarchy. This we have done, not only from conviction, but also because the doctors of the company, who are Francisco Suarez, the Cardinal [Robert] Bellarmine [the creator of Ultramontanism, the foundation for Jesuit Nazifascism], and many other theologians and publicists of the same, have publicly taught absolute monarchy to be the best form of government.

This we have done, because the internal economy of the company is monarchial, and therefore we are by maxim and by education devoted to absolute monarchy . . . Majesty . . . absolute monarchy is the best of governments . . . In so much, we who sign this are a full guarantee for their devotion by all proof to the absolute monarchy. [Emphasis added]

GIUSEPPE MARIA PALADINI
Provincial of the Company of Jesus

November 21, 1854." {39}

Dear truth-seeker, do you value freedom of conscience, freedom to say what you honestly believe and the freedom to print the Bible in your own language? These are liberties championed by the LORD's Protestant Reformation, secured by the Baptist-Calvinist Bill of Rights to the Protestant United States Constitution, condemned by the Jesuits' Council of Trent and destroyed by absolutist forms of government maintained by the far-reaching power of the Jesuit General.

REGICIDE

To the abhorrent Jesuit doctrine of Regicide (the killing of Kings), we must now direct our attention that we may understand an established policy calculated to obtain or maintain the mastery of all nations following well-planned assassinations.

In the past, the Order's assassins were either Jesuits, like Jacques Clement, or killers easily connected to the influence of the Company, men like John Wilkes Booth.

Today these professional "terminators" are cleverly distanced from their Masonic master, the Black Pope, and given deceptive titles by the Pope's internationally controlled Press corps, jurists and historians; such titles as "anarchists," "nihilists," "rogue agents" within intelligence agencies, or just "lone nut assassins." Sometimes these individuals, in fact, do the killing, consciously and unconsciously (as do the programmed "Manchurian candidates"): they sacrifice themselves, die in the act or are punished for their crimes. But for the last fifty years a "patsy" is usually groomed to be "the fall guy," the biblical "scapegoat," men like Lee Harvey Oswald (John F. Kennedy's supposed assassin), James Earl Ray (Martin Luther King's supposed assassin), Sirhan Sirhan (Robert F. Kennedy's supposed assassin), and Yigal Amir (Yitzhak Rabin's supposed assassin). If the Order is seeking to ignite anti-Jewish fury within a nation, its press will blame an innocent Hebrew as being responsible for, or a co-conspirator in, the committed murder or high treason; Jews like Alfred Dreyfus, Emma Goldman, and Julius and Ethel Rosenburg. Meanwhile, a condemned, "liberal" statesman has been secretly eliminated, or a "heretic" government has been usurped by the Order through Jesuit-controlled "technicians." Dear truth-seeker, we are examining "a most dangerous game;" a game in which the ubiquitous Great Secret Society is the worldwide, undisputed master. For in order to annihilate whole "heretic and liberal" populations of nations, as was done during the Pope's Second Thirty Years' War (1914-1945), their leaders must be "kissing the slippered toe of the Pope," by appointing secret or open ambassadors to the Vatican (as did FDR), the Black Pope ensuring a unity of action on both sides of his agitation, revolution or world war. This rule being a maxim of Jesuit policy and invisible power in furthering the Temporal Power of the Infallible Pope, we therefore shall cite the Order's weightiest "Moral Theologians" from whose approved texts there is no appeal:

> "[Jesuit Alphonse] Salmeron writes:—'A king, on receiving Baptism, and in renouncing Satan and all his works [as did Michael Coroleone in the Order's Hollywood movie The Godfather, evidencing the submission of his Mafia power to the Jesuit General], promises tacitly never to abuse his royal power by acting against the Church; he is understood to consent to be deprived of his kingdom, if he acts otherwise; and in fact does not a king render himself unworthy of Baptism and the Holy Eucharist [of which "sacrament" the "evangelical" President George W. Bush partook in a Roman Catholic Cathedral in Florida on November 2, 2004, the Sunday prior to his "reelection" on the ensuing Tuesday], if he refuses to use his power for the good of the Church and the destruction of heretics? . . .
> At the present time the Bishop of Rome, the successor of Saint Peter, may, for the good of his flock, when he cannot use any other remedy, by a word take away corporeal life, provided, that he does it by word of mouth, and not by the outward action of his hand. He may even make war on heretics and on schismatics, and cause their death by the means of Catholic princes:
>
> for Jesus Christ in commanding him to feed his sheep, gave him power to drive away the wolves and to kill them, if they hurt his flock; . . .
>
> In temporal things God has only given to St. Peter and his successors an indirect dominion over temporal kingdoms and over all the empires in the world. In virtue of that dominion he might (if the glory of Jesus Christ and the advantage of the Church demanded it) change them, transfer them, and make them pass into other hands.'
>
> [Jesuit Robert Cardinal] Bellarmine says:—'We maintain that the Pope for the sake of spiritual good, has a sovereign power to dispose of temporal good to all Christians. . . . The Pope may then change empires, take the crown from one to give it to another, as being the sovereign spiritual prince, if he judges that necessary for the salvation of souls [driving non-Roman Catholics into the spiritual and temporal jurisdiction of the Pope].
> [In the words of the Pope], 'When the temporal obedience, which you pay to a king, endangers your eternal salvation, then I am completely superior to your king, even in temporal things; you are the sheep of my flock, and your kings are its leaders; and as your kings remain sheep I permit them to govern you and lead you; but if they become wolves instead of sheep, am I to allow my Master's flock to be ruled by wolves? You must not acknowledge as kings, those who lead you away from the path of life, either by menaces or caresses, or any other means—those, whom I have condemned to be banished from the company of just men [the Company of Jesus], and to be deprived of their sovereignty; . . . '

[Jesuit Louis] Molina writes:—'The spiritual power of the Pope for supernatural purposes, comprehends, dependent on those causes, the most ample and extensive powers of temporal jurisdiction over all princes, and over all the faithful in the church, precisely as often as this requisite for the supernatural purposes, for which the spiritual power is established; for this reason, if the supernatural object requires it, the Pope may depose kings and deprive them of their kingdoms [as in the case of Louis Philippe, France's Citizen-King]. . . . And it is not only by censures, that he may oblige compliance with his commands; but by pains and penalties, and by force of arms, like secular princes; though in general it is found more suitable, that the Pope should not make war himself; but that he should use outward force by means of secular princes [as the Order secretly used the economic and political might of the historic Protestant British and American Empires to overthrow the "accursed," anti-Pope, Orthodox Christian, Tzarist Russian Empire (the Romanovs having battled with the Papacy for the entire Nineteenth Century including the "Crusades" of the Crimean War (fought over the control of Jerusalem's holy sites) and the Russo-Japanese War), via the Black Pope's socialist-communist Bolshevik Revolution].

For these reasons the Pope, is recognized as the possessor of two swords—one spiritual, and the other temporal. Most certainly Jesus Christ would not have sufficiently provided for the maintenance of His church, if He had not made all Christian secular princes subject to the Pope, and given the Sovereign Pontiff ample power to oblige and constrain them to do whatever, he deemed necessary, for supernatural objects [even as the Jesuit-controlled, pro-Pope, "Christian princes," President George W. Bush and Prime Minister Tony Blair, have obliged their master, Pope John Paul II, in waging a Crusade against Islam for the "supernatural object" of destroying the most sacred Islamic mosques in the Middle East, including those in Baghdad, Mecca, Medina and Jerusalem]. The Pope may depose kings if the preservation of the faith of the Church, or the spiritual good of the public requires it,' etc. 'If a prince should become a heretic or a schismatic, 'the Pope may use the temporal sword against him;' and furthermore, 'he may depose him, and drive him from his kingdom;' '. . .

[Jesuit Francisco] Suarez says:—'The Pope has a power coactive and coercive over kings, even to the extent of depriving them of their thrones,' if there is cause for it. We have shown in the third book, Chap. 23rd, No. 10, that the power of the Pope may extend itself to coerce kings, even by temporal penalties and the privation of their kingdoms, 'if it is necessary.'

'This power is more essentially necessary in the Church with respect to kings, in order to govern them, than in respect to subjects.'

A shepherd has not only the power to punish his erring flock, to recall them to the fold; but to drive away the wolves, and defend his fold lest his sheep should be forced out of it and killed.

Then the Pope, as sovereign shepherd, may deprive any prince of his dominions, and banish him for fear that he should injure his subjects. He may release their subjects from their oath of fidelity, or declare that they need not take such oath; for this condition is always supposed in such oaths. For that purpose he may make use of the swords of other princes [even as Pope John Paul II used the "sword" of the American military commanded by Jesuit-trained "Prince" Bill Clinton, to make war on "heretic" Orthodox Serbia for attempting to drive the Islamic Albanians out of Bosnia]; thus the secular sword [of President George W. Bush] is subjected to the spiritual sword [of Edward Cardinal Egan], that they may assist each other to protect and defend the Church [throughout the world].

It is permitted to an individual to kill a tyrant in virtue of the right of selfdefence; for though the community does not command it, it is always to be understood, that it wishes to be defended by every one of its citizens individually, and even by a stranger. Then if no defence can be found excepting the death of the [disobedient, anti-Papal, "heretic and liberal"] tyrant, it is permitted to every man to kill him. Whenever a king has been legitimately deposed, he ceases to be a king or a legitimate prince, and that can no longer be affirmed of him, which may be said for a legitimate king: he thenceforth should be called a tyrant. Thus, after he has been declared to be deprived of his kingdom, it becomes legal to treat him as a real tyrant; and consequently any man has a right to kill him.' [We now know the source, the inspiration, of Lincoln's assassin when John Wilkes Booth cried "Sic semper tyrannis"—"In such manner, always, to tyrants."]

[Jesuit Juan] Mariana writes:—'He (Jacques Clement) suffered joyfully blows and mortal wounds [his public execution], because by the loss of life he gave liberty to his country [France] and the nation [by murdering the pro-Protestant King Henry III]. Murder was expiated by murder, and the manes of the Duc de Guise, unjustly killed, were avenged by the effusion of royal blood. He (Jacques Clement) did a really noble, admirable, memorable action. . . . by which he taught earthly princes that their impious enterprises [resisting the Papacy's quest for universal Temporal power] never remain unpunished [as in the public assassination of President John F. Kennedy]. Every individual has the same power' (i.e., that of declaring the sovereign a public enemy, and consequently of killing him by the sword), 'if he has the courage,' (i.e., to undertake to assist the republic at the risk of his own life without hope of escaping from capital punishment.)

'It would be very advantageous' (for men) 'if many men would be found, who by the sacrifice of their own lives, would undertake so courageous an action for the liberty of their country; but most men are deterred by a disordered care for their own preservation, which renders him incapable of great enterprises; thence it is so few of the [anti-Pope] tyrants we read of in former ages, have suffered violent deaths by the hands of their subjects.

Nevertheless, it is well that princes should know, that, if they oppress their people [by permitting and promoting Biblical, Protestant preaching and politics among the populace to the detriment of Romanism], and render themselves unsupportable by their vices and misdoings [which behavior is completely tolerated in pro-Jesuit rulers such as King Louis XIV, Prince Metternich, Mao Zedong, Josef Stalin, Ronald Reagan and Bill Clinton], they live on the condition, that not only they may be killed righteously and justly, but that it is a 'praiseworthy and glorious action to kill them.'

No one doubts that a 'tyrant may be killed overtly by force of arms,' either by attacking him in his palace [as in the case of William I of Orange], in giving battle to him [as in the case of King Gustavus Adolphus], or even by deceit [as in the case of the poisonings of Oliver Cromwell and George Washington] and ambush [as in the cases of Thomas "Stonewall" Jackson, Abraham Lincoln, James A. Garfield, and John F. Kennedy].

It is true, it is more magnanimous and generous to declare your hatred, and to assail the enemy of the state openly; but it is no less laudable to seize some favourable occasion, and to use deceit and ambuscades in order to perform the act without occasioning much agitation [via the poison cup], and with less peril, both to the public and to individuals [as in the murders of Masonic Presidents Warren G. Harding and Franklin D. Roosevelt; of Generals George S. Patton and the German Erwin Rommel].' . . .

[The writer now proves that according to the Constitutions of the Jesuits, the power of assassination of kings and princes as claimed by the Pope, as well as all papal power over the Roman Hierarchy and over all the other Orders within the Papacy, resides entirely in the hands of the Jesuit General, which power no nation can tolerate.]

I have said that the constitutions of the Jesuits are founded on two principles; the absolute power of the Pope, and his communication of an absolute power to the Society. You will see, that the system of the Society and its government, both interior and exterior, and the particular regulations of the constitutions, flow naturally from those two principles, i.e., that the [Infallible] Pope has absolute [spiritual as well as temporal or political] power, and that he has communicated it to the Society [meaning that the Black Pope's militia is the power behind ALL Papal designs]. . . .

The second fundamental principle of the Constitution of the Jesuits is, that the Pope, as the rightful sovereign over all things, both spiritual and temporal, has communicated his absolute power to the Society of Jesuits in the person of their General, for the preservation and propagation of the spiritual and temporal good of the Society [the ex-Jesuit Pope Gregory XVI having put forth a Brief in 1836 by which he surrendered the office of the Pope and the entire Vatican Empire to the control of the Jesuits]. . . . I have proved that regicide is the ancient and received doctrine of the Society, and how dangerous it is to states to leave sovereign and independent power in the hands of any single man." {40} [Emphasis added]

REVOLUTION AND COUNTER-REFORMATION

The Great Secret Society had now been founded by the Devil to not only restore all lands lost to the risen Son of God's Bible-based, Protestant Reformation through the Order's education of the nobles, preaching, propaganda, intrigue, agitations, assassinations, revolutions and its Inquisition, but the long-range goal was to be an all-encompassing universal monarchy under the abject tyranny of the supposed successor of "St. Peter," "the Vicar of Christ,"—the Pope of Rome. Of this greatest of keys to the understanding of the last five centuries of history, we read:

"We have now seen the nature of the organization called into existence to arrest the progress of the Reformation. We observe that in the early stages of their existence as an Order, the Jesuits gained brilliant victories over their foes. . . . They have . . . shown a spirit of devoted obedience to the Pope, being ready when he commanded them to go through difficulties and dangers to the limits of the world. The Inquisition aided them in their work; the Jesuits rallied the scattered forces of the Church, disheartened by the rapid victories of the Reformers; they disciplined them by precept and example; they inspired them with a superhuman courage; they animated them to go forward in their victorious career until they wrestled from the Reformers many of the territories which they had conquered, compelling the inhabitants, often by persecution and fire and sword, to cast in their lot with the obedient vassals of the Papacy. . . . We are thus led to contemplate the tremendous war, which the regenerated Papacy waged with new weapons for the recovery of her lost ascendancy over the nations. . . . Every passion, which stirs the human frame, was pressed into that warfare.

Profound politicians, great captains, fierce demagogues, and desperate assassins were enlisted in it. We believe that the pontificate of Sixtus V is the period of the great crisis in the history of the Papacy, the turning point in the endangered fortunes of the Roman Catholic system. Sixtus V had, indeed, other objects for the promotion of which he had collected his treasure. He hoped to combine all

> Northeastern and South-western Europe for the annihilation of the Turkish Empire [brought to pass via the Britsduring World War I]. He hoped also to effect the conquest of Egypt [accomplished with the Order's Napoleonic Wars]. . . . the union of the Mediterranean and the Red Sea by means of a canal [using Napoleon III to build the Suez Canal], and a new Crusade for the recovery of the Holy Land [again, brought to pass via the Brits during World War I]. . . . But the grand vision, which presented itself to him, was Rome as the religious capital of the world. After a certain number of years, all the nations were to come, even from America, to Rome [the Jesuit Pontiff ruling all nations from Rome and ultimately, from Jerusalem]." {41} [Emphasis added]

Miss Cusack, the brilliant and renowned converted Catholic nun of the late Nineteenth Century having warned the English of the Jesuits' plot (already successful by 1800) to take over the British Empire, properly concludes:

> ". . . thus was established an Institution, which as we shall see from undisputable evidence, has done more than any other so-called religious order to ruin the peace of families, to check the growth of human progress, and to enslave the souls of men, and yet all this was done in the name of religion." {42} [Emphasis added]

Finally, and most relevant for today, is the fact that Loyola was the father of what became the Nineteenth Century's British-based, Freemasonic, Fabian Socialist, political movement known today as "Zionism." Governing the banking and politics of London via The Roundtable Group, the Order would use its pro-Irish Catholic British Labor Party to promote its Rothschild-financed "Labor Zionism." Its secret quest, using expendable ethnic Jews having survived Pope Pius XII's Eurasian Jewish Holocaust, was to take Jerusalem from the Moslems and make the city the Order's political and religious capital of the world. Of Loyola's trip to Jerusalem eleven years prior to his creation of the Society of Jesus, we read from the pen of one of the Reformation's greatest Protestant historians, James A. Wylie:

> "AMONG the wonderful things shown to Ignatius Loyola by special revelation was a vision of two great camps. The centre of the one was placed at Babylon; and over it there floated the gloomy ensign of the prince of darkness. The Heavenly King had erected his standard on Mount Zion, and made Jerusalem is head-quarters. In the war of which these two camps were the symbols, and the issues of which were to be grand beyond all former precedent, Loyola was chosen, he believed, to be one of the chief captains. He longed to place himself at the centre of action. The way thither was long. Wide oceans and gloomy deserts had to be traversed, and hostile tribes passed through. But he had an iron will, a boundless enthusiasm, and what was more, a Divine call—for such it seemed to him in his delusion. He set out penniless (1523), and begging his bread by the way, he arrived at Barcelona. There he embarked in a ship which landed him on the shore of Italy. Thence, traveling on foot, after long months, and innumerable hardships, he entered in safety the gates of Jerusalem. But the reception that awaited him in the 'Holy City' was not such as he had fondly anticipated. His rags, his uncombed locks, which almost hid his emaciated features, but ill accorded with the magnificence of the errand which had brought him to that shore. Loyola thought of doing in his single person what the armies of the Crusaders had failed to do by their combined strength. The head of the Romanists in Jerusalem saw in him rather the mendicant than the warrior, and fearing doubtless that should he offer battle to the Crescent, he was more likely to provoke a tempest of Turkish fanaticism than drive back the hordes of the infidel, he commanded him to desist under the threat of excommunication. Thus withstood, Loyola returned to Barcelona, which he reached in 1524.

Derision and insults awaited his arrival in his native Spain. His countrymen failed to see the grand aims cherished beneath his rags; nor could they divine the splendid career, and the immortality of fame, which were to emerge from this present squalor and debasement. But not for one moment did Loyola's own faith falter in his great destiny. . . .

On the 15th of August, 1534, Loyola, followed by his nine companions, entered the subterranean chapel of the Church of Montmartre, at Paris, and mass being said by [Jesuit Peter] Fabre, who had received priests orders, the Company, after the usual vow of chastity and poverty, took a solemn oath to dedicate their lives to the conversion of the Saracens, or, should circumstances make that attempt impossible, to lay themselves and their services unreservedly at the feet of the Pope. . . . In sublimity of aim, and strength of faith—using the term in its mundane sense—it wielded a power before which nothing on earth—one principle excepted [the true gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ as given in the Protestant Reformation's New Testament]—should be able to stand. . . .

The war in which Loyola and his nine companions enrolled themselves when on the 15th of August, 1534, they made their vow in the Church of Montmartre, was to be waged against the Saracens of the East. They acted so far on their original design as to proceed to Venice, where they learned that their project was meanwhile impracticable. The war which had just broken out between the Republic and the Porte had closed the gates of Asia. They took this as an intimation that the field of their operations was to be in the Western world [against the Reformation]. Returning on their path they now directed their steps towards Rome." {43} [Emphasis added]

Dear truth-seeker, could it be that Ignatius Loyola, in obedience to his master the Devil, sought to move the Holy Roman Empire's religious and political capital of Rome, surnamed "Babylon," to Jerusalem? Is not "Babylon" of Revelation 17 situated on seven "mountains" or seven "hills" (both words having been translated from the same New Testament Greek word, oros) in fact Rome? But before the move could be effected, must not he first rebuild the Jerusalem Temple, the identical quest of the crusading Knights Templars and dream of today's high Freemasons? And if that Temple is to be rebuilt, must not both Jerusalem mosques be removed from the Temple Mount? Further, if both mosques are to be destroyed, must not the Order foment a world war to bring them to ruins? Must not millions of Moslems be killed so as to prevent a wild mass-murder of Israeli Jews secretly deceived by the Company into merely serving as a human buffer for the Order's rebuilding of the Temple—in the "last days" to be a Temple of SET via "the abomination of desolation?" Further, must not there be a nation of Israel in which Jews may dwell, Jerusalem no longer being exclusively in Jordanian hands? If Israel must be, was not the end of the Ottoman Empire a necessity? If Jews are to be driven out of Eurasia into Israel, must not "Palestine" first be secured by British mandate? Finally, if Zionism was to be the cry for a return to the land of Israel, was not the subsequent "Jewish State" created by Jesuit duplicity and intrigue through the notorious Drefyus Affair? Indeed, Jesuit Labor Zionism will bring all these events to pass: Loyola was its first inspiration!

Having examined the true purpose, oaths, constitutions and devilish doctrines of the Society of Jesus, we pause to reflect on the dying words of Ignatius Loyola, the Order's founder and thus the father of the Counter-Reformation:

> " 'I have done much good to the Church of Rome—I have seen many provinces of our men, many colleges, houses, residences, and wealth belonging to our Society; but all these things desert me now, and I know not whither to turn!' At length he expired in a fit of trembling, and his face turned black, according to an eye-witness, the Jesuit Turrianus." {44}

In contrast, the dying words of Martin Luther, the father of the Reformation bringing freedom of conscience, freedom of speech and freedom of the press with the German Bible and his noble defender, Frederick III, Elector of Saxony, were:

> "O my Father, God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of all consolation, I thank Thee for having revealed to me Thy well beloved Son, in whom I believe, whom I have preached and acknowledged, loved and celebrated, and whom the Pope and the impious persecute. I commend to Thee my soul. Jesus Christ my Lord, I am quitting this earthly body, I am leaving this life, but I know that I shall abide eternally with Thee." {45}

Dear truth-seeker, whose dying words will you repeat in your final moments of ebbing strength as you begin your journey to Heaven or to Hell?

Where the Crusades had failed, Loyola would succeed. His Order would: revive the suppressed Knights Templars as "Freemasons;" use Napoleon's invasion of Egypt to ultimately destroy the Mamelukes; reorder the Pope's defeated Knights of Malta; destroy the Ottoman Empire; take the Temple Mount from Jordan; internationalize the Holy City and place a Pope of his making in a new Hebrew Temple as the Universal Monarch of the World to be Satan's "wild beast."

The Jesuit General's Council of Trent, 1545 – 1563 #3-1

Being the backbone of the Counter-Reformation, the Council of Trent was dominated by Diego Laynez, a Jew by race and destined to be the Second Jesuit General (1558-1565), during which the Biblical Doctrines of the Reformers having spread across Europe were absolutely condemned, including Freedom of Conscience, Freedom of Speech and Freedom of the Press. The Protestant and Calvinist Bible-believers of the risen Son of God's Grand and Glorious Protestant Reformation were declared to be "accursed" for their beliefs one hundred and twenty-five times and therefore have been persecuted and mass-murdered by the millions! In the centuries to come this evil Council of Trent would ultimately be the foreign policy of every nation and empire to fall under the domination of Satan's Company of Jesus, better known as the Society of Jesus. Some of those empires would be the Spanish Empire under Philip II; the British Empire under King George III to the present; the Vatican Empire under Pope Pius VII to the present; the French Empire under Napoleon III; the "Holy Roman" Fourteenth Amendment American Empire under President Theodore "Rex" Roosevelt to the present; the Russian Empire under Lenin to the present; the Nazi Third Reich under Adolf Hitler, later transplanted into the Pentagon and Military Industrial Complex of the United States via the Jesuit-advised Pope Pius XII and his "Vatican Ratlines;" and the Masonic Islamic International Terrorist Empire under the Order's CIA-controlled Saudi Arabian prince, Osama bin Laden.

The Jesuits — 1572

St. Bartholomew's Massacre
Assassination of Admiral Gaspard de Coligny

"The Pope can kill by a single word; for having received the right of making pasture for the sheep, has he not received the right of cutting the throats of wolves?" {1}

Emmanuel Sa, 1596

Aphorisms

"A man who has been excommunicated by the Pope may be killed anywhere, as [Jesuits Antonio] Escobar and Deaux teach, because the Pope has an indirect jurisdiction over the whole world, even in temporal things . . . as [Jesuit Francisco] Suarez proves against the King of England." {2} [Emphasis added]

Herman Busembaum, 1757
German Jesuit
Theologia Moralis

"The assassins of St. Bartholomew, the inquisitors and the Jesuits are monsters produced by malignant imaginations; they are the natural allies of the spirit of darkness and of death . . . " [It is most revealing in recalling that the Order's political mass-murder called "The Night of the Long Knives" that was carried out by Hitler's Jesuit-controlled SS in 1934—which murder resulted in the purging of that most notorious homosexual, Ernst Roehm (who had scorned Hitler's Concordat and insulted the Papacy), along with his leading Nazi SA (Sturmableitung) "Brownshirts"— was also referred to by Masonic Jesuit Coadjutor Adolf Hitler himself as "The Saint Bartholomew's Day Massacre."] {3} [Emphasis added]

In France the Protestants, called "Huguenots," were gaining wealth and political power. Admiral Gaspard de Coligny was their leader. The Jesuits, with that she-wolf, Catherine de Medici, Queen Regent of France, plotted their destruction. On August 24, 1572 the murderous frenzy began. Admiral Coligny bravely resisted his assassins but to no avail. He was murdered and his head was sent as a trophy to the Cardinal of Lorraine who had been educated, or rather brainwashed, by the Jesuits in Flanders. Seventy-five thousand Protestants were butchered in cold blood in accordance with its past and present Canon Law. Rome celebrated, struck a coin commemorating the "great victory" and sang her "Te Deums." Of this horrible genocide we read from Protestant R. W. Thompson:

> "There is no intelligent reader of French history who is not familiar with the steps taken by this perfidious queen regent [Catherine de Medici] after the admission of the Jesuits into Paris, to bring about the terrible Massacre of St. Bartholomew—an event so closely allied with others, of which they were the undoubted authors, that one must close his eyes not to see the evidences which point to their agency in that infamous transaction. They needed such bloody work to give them the mastery over France; although they have since then been more than once expelled in disgrace from French soil, they have returned again and again to torment her people, who still continue to realize, under their [Third] Republic, how unceasingly they labor for the entire overthrow of every form of popular government." {5} [Emphasis added]

Dear truth-seeker, do you see how a Cardinal working in conjunction with the Jesuits can be involved in the murder of a powerful political leader?

As we shall see, in 1963, a Cardinal working in conjunction with the Jesuits was involved in the murder of an American political leader. The Cardinal was Francis Spellman, who had a special parlor (Room number three) at the Jesuit Novitiate of St. Isaac Jogues in Wernersville, Pennsylvania. (Jesuit Isaac Jogues distinguished himself as a "missionary" among the native American Hurons. For aiding in the arming of these natives, he was hated by the anti-Jesuit Iroquois and the Mohawks. The Mohawks, in the providence of God, ultimately tomahawked Jogues for being a sorcerer. {6}) The political leader was our President John Fitzgerald Kennedy (JFK), wounded in the house of his friends.

Forerunner to the Order's Revocation of the Edict of Nantes, 1685

Francis Borgia, the third Jesuit Superior General (1565-1572), having been in secret council with the Monarchs of France, laid the plan for this mass-murder of the righteous French Huguenot Protestant Calvinists including their great leader, Admiral Gaspard de Coligny. Pope Pius V, formerly "Brother Michael" the Inquisitor, exhorted both Queen Regent Catherine de Medici and her son, King Charles IX, ". . . to punish the heretics with all severity, and thus justly to avenge not only their own wrongs, but those of Almighty God; to pursue and destroy the remnants of the enemy, and wholly to tear up not only the roots of an evil so great, and which had gathered to itself much strength, but also the very fibers of the roots . . . Under no circumstances, and from no considerations, ought the enemies of God to be spared." With the sounding of an early morning church bell, the assassins were let loose. This infamous mass-murder, which resulted in the death of over 75,000 men, women and children, was done in obedience to the bloody Jesuit Oath and the Order's evil Council of Trent, which to this day stands affirmed by the cunning Second Vatican Council, having been neither repudiated nor renounced by either the Black Pope or the Papal Caesar.

The Cardinal of Lorraine, 1572 #3-3

Receiving the Head of Admiral Gaspard de Coligny

The Huguenots had been victorious in three Civil Wars against their Monarch of France, Charles IX, governed by his Queen mother, Catherine de Medici. They had obtained religious liberty with the Peace of St. Germain and Coligny sought to aid the Low Countries in their Calvinist revolt against Spain. Under the eye of the Black Pope, a trap was set luring all of the Protestants to a royal wedding in Paris. After the party, early in the morning, with white crosses on their hats, the Pope's Jesuit-led Vatican Assassins first murdered the great Admiral Coligny in his bedroom, he offering a most noble and determined resistance. After the savage and ghoulish massacre of 75,000 Protestant Huguenots, the Medicis sent his head as a trophy to the Jesuit-trained Cardinal of Lorraine pictured above.

Assassination of William I of Orange

"Secular powers of all ranks and degrees [controlling the governments of nations] are to be warned, induced, and, if necessary, compelled by ecclesiastical censure, to swear that they will exert themselves to the utmost in the defense of the faith, and extirpate all heretics denounced by the church, who shall be found in their territories." {1} [Emphasis added]

"As 'tis apparent to all that a prince is constituted by God to be ruler of a people [Romans 13:1-5], to defend them from oppression and violence as the shepherd his sheep; and whereas God did not create the people slaves to their prince, to obey his commands, whether right or wrong, but rather the prince for the sake of the subjects (without which he could be no prince), to govern them according to equity [Isaiah 11:4], to love and support them as a father his children or a shepherd his flock, and even at the hazard of life to defend and preserve them [John 10:11-15]. And when he does not behave thus, but, on the contrary, oppresses them, seeking opportunities to infringe their ancient customs and privileges, exacting from them slavish compliance, then he is no longer a prince, but a tyrant, and the subjects are to consider him in no other view. And particularly when this is done deliberately, unauthorized by the states, they may not only disallow his authority, but legally proceed to the choice of another prince for their defense. This is the only method left for subjects whose humble petitions and remonstrances could never soften their prince or dissuade him from his tyrannical proceedings; and this is what the law of nature [principles of creation] dictates [I Corinthians 11:14] for the defense of liberty, which we ought to transmit to posterity, even at the hazard of our lives. And this we have seen done frequently in several countries [Protestant Germany and England] upon the like occasion, whereof there are notorious instances, and more justifiable in our land, which are expressed in the oath taken by the prince at his admission to the government; . . . which he swears to maintain, which, if the prince violates, he is no longer sovereign. . . .

Now thus it was that the king of Spain [Philip II] . . . did rather hearken to the council of those [Jesuit] Spaniards about him, who had conceived a secret hatred to this [Protestant] land and to its liberty, . . . to subdue the Low Countries a second time, and to make himself absolute (by which they mean to tyrannize at pleasure), than to govern according to the restrictions he had accepted, and at his admission sworn to observe. . . . the king of Spain, following these evil counselors, sought by all means possible to reduce this country (stripping them of their ancient privileges) to slavery, under the government of [foreign Roman Catholic] Spaniards . . . and govern it tyrannically at pleasure . . . (showing the little regard he had for his people, so contrary to the duty which a good prince owes to his subjects), sent the Duke of Alva with a powerful army to oppress this land, who, for his inhuman cruelties, is looked upon as one of its greatest enemies, accompanied with [Jesuit] counselors too like himself. . . . [The Duke of Alva] . . . sent for the chief nobility in the king's name, under pretense of taking their advice . . . And they who believed his letters were seized . . . and prosecuted as criminals before him who had no right . . . and at the last, without hearing their defense . . . sentenced them to death, which was publicly and ignominiously executed [exactly as did the Order's Chairman Mao]. The others . . . residing in foreign countries, were declared outlawries, and had their estates confiscated, so that the poor subjects could make no use of their fortresses nor be assisted by their princes in defense of their liberty against the violence of the pope; . . .

All these considerations give us more than sufficient reason to renounce the King of Spain, and seek some other powerful and more gracious prince to take us under his protection; and, more especially, as these countries have been for these twenty years abandoned to disturbance and oppression by their king, during which time the inhabitants were not treated as subjects, but enemies, enslaved forcibly by their own governors. . . . At last we found by experience that nothing would be obtained of the king by prayers and treaties, which latter he made use of to divide and weaken the provinces, that he might the easier execute his [conspiratorial] plan rigorously, by subduing them one by one, which afterwards plainly appeared by certain proclamations and proscriptions published by the king's orders, by virtue of which we and all officers of the United Provinces with all our friends are declared rebels [as were the Southern Confederates], and as such, to have forfeited our lives and estates. Thus, by rendering us odious to all, he might interrupt our commerce, likewise reducing us to despair, offering a great sum to any that would assassinate the Prince of Orleans.

So having no hope of reconciliation, and finding no other remedy, we have, agreeable to the law of nature in our own defense, and for maintaining the rights, privileges, and liberties of our countrymen, wives, and children, and latest posterity from being enslaved by the Spaniards, been constrained to renounce allegiance to the King of Spain, and pursue such methods as appear to us most likely to secure our ancient liberties and privileges.

Know all men by these presents, that, being reduced to the last extremity, as above mentioned, we have unanimously and deliberately declared, and do by these presents declare, that the King of Spain has forfeited, ipso jure, all hereditary right to the sovereignty of these countries, and are determined from henceforward, not to acknowledge his sovereignty or jurisdiction, nor any act of his relating to the domains of the Low Countries, nor make use of his name as prince, nor suffer others to do it." {6} [Emphasis added]

The Netherlands also called "The Low Countries" began to embrace the Biblical doctrines of grace taught by the Reformers, especially John Calvin.

Thousands of Dutchmen were receiving Christ as the gospel was being preached in open fields. The result was that Rome began to lose her political power. To stop this movement of the risen Son of God, the Devil and his Jesuits moved Philip II to sacrifice his only son to the Inquisition, Prince Don Carlos (having shown lenity and favor to Dutch Protestants), and to re-enact the Edict of 1550, which read in part:

"No one shall print, write, copy, keep, conceal, sell, buy or give in churches, streets, or other places, any book or writing made by Martin Luther, John Calvin, or other heretics reprobated by the Holy Church . . . nor in his house hold illegal gatherings . . . Moreover, we forbid all lay persons to converse or dispute concerning the Holy Scriptures, openly or secretly, or to read, teach or expound the Scriptures . . . or to preach secretly or openly . . . on pain . . . to be punished in the following manner.

> That such . . . are to be executed, to wit: the men with the sword and the women to be buried alive, if they do not persist in their errors; if they do persist in them, then they are to be executed with fire; all their property in both cases being confiscated to the crown." {7} [Emphasis added]

To enforce this "mischief framed by a law" Philip dispatched ten thousand Spanish troops led by the Duke of Alva. The Duke, guided by the Jesuits, established an evil tribunal called "the Blood Council." Thousands perished to the delight of Cardinal Granvelle and Titelmann the Inquisitor. Of this horrible time we read:

> "In the second half of the sixteenth century the Spanish armies occupied Holland and Flanders and the glare of the Inquisition's autos-da-fé lit up the market squares of the cities great and small. After a long vigil in prayer, the silent man with the cruel eyes in the Escorial [Philip II of Madrid, Spain] had decreed the extermination of the new religion in the Netherlands. In less than a decade there perished by his will in the torture chambers, on the gallows and on the pyres two hundred and fifty thousand men and women of the Dutch race. Nobles and burghers, old and young, rich and poor, all were dragged from their homes, frequently on secret denunciation, to face the Grand Inquisitor—the monk Titelmann—and his helpers, who knew no mercy." {8} [Emphasis added]

But the Dutch Protestants would not be conquered. They had a great leader. His name was William I of Orange, surnamed "the Silent." He had been raised in the court of Charles V, the "Holy Roman Emperor," and was fit to lead a people to political liberty. He waged war from the sea commanding the bravest soldiers of the age. John Lothrop Motley, one of the Reformation's greatest historians having authored The Dutch Republic and The United Netherlands, writes:

> "Scarred, hacked, and even maimed, in the unceasing conflicts in which their lives had passed; wearing crescents in their caps, with the inscription, 'Rather Turkish than Popish', renowned far and wide, as much for their ferocity as for their nautical skill; the appearance of these wildest of the 'Sea-beggars' was both eccentric and terrific. They were known never to give nor to take quarter, for they went to mortal combat only, and had sworn to spare neither noble nor simple, neither king, kaiser, nor pope, should they fall into their power." {9} [Emphasis added]

The Sea Beggars always engaged their Spanish enemy and if they perceived the battle to be lost they would gather together, solemnly partake of the Lord's Supper and then fire the magazine, blowing themselves and the enemy into eternity.

This William I of Orange became the Father of religious liberty and greatly beloved of his people. He did not force the Anabaptists to go to war, as they were non-resistant. He further gave the European Jews religious liberty, so much so that they migrated to Amsterdam, calling it "the New Jerusalem." (Rembrandt painted some of his greatest portraits using the Jews of Amsterdam to illustrate Biblical characters.) William ultimately produced in his seventeen year-old son, Prince Maurice, a man who became the greatest soldier of the age. Maurice contributed to the final victory in 1648 after eighty years of war with the Spanish Empire under the command of the Jesuits and their tools, Philip II and his son, Philip III.

Obviously, the Jesuits hated William of Orange. They kidnapped his eldest son who was then raised a Roman Catholic, the heart-broken father never to see him again. After several attempts to assassinate William, they finally succeeded one sad day in 1584. Their tool was Balthazar Gerard, used to fulfill the death-inspiring Jesuit Oath. Shooting the Father of the Dutch Republic three times with a pistol, Gerard attempted to escape but was caught and later brutally executed. As the poison from the rounds was coursing through his veins, William's last words were: "O my God, have mercy on this poor people." {10}

Like Coligny, William I of Orange, the father of religious liberty and political freedom, died at the hand of a Jesuit assassin fulfilling the Company's bloody oath once again:

> "I will . . . make and wage relentless war . . . against all heretics . . . to exterminate them from the face of the whole earth; . . . That when the same cannot be done openly, I will secretly use . . . the leaden bullet . . ." {11 [Emphasis added]

Could it be that American presidents have been murdered by Jesuit assassins also? As we shall see, there have been many, the most recent being John F. Kennedy.

Father of The Dutch Republic, 1579 – 1584

This White, Reformed Protestant, Bible-believing, man of God is the Father of any and all Religious and Political Liberty remaining in the world today.

Leading his fearless soldiers, William relieved the city of Leyden besieged for four months by the brutal Spanish army. Broken and starving, its beloved people entered into their Church and, while singing a hymn of thanksgiving to the God and Father of the Lord Jesus Christ, all broke down and wept like children. The Prince went on to break the Pope's Temporal Power over the Netherlands. He protected the Anabaptists and Mennonites who refused to take up "the Sword of Just Defense" against the armies of Philip II, and gave refuge to the persecuted Jews of Europe. But he was murdered by an assassin sent by the Jesuits—Balthazar Gerard—in obedience to the bloody Jesuit Oath.

The Great Terror of the Sixteenth Century

The accused was arrested at night, tortured underground and upon confession, was handed over to "the secular arm" to be burned. The state was completely subservient to the Papacy. Over the centuries sixty-eight million perished amidst this horror according to Nineteenth Century author, Joseph F. Berg, later confirmed by the courageous, deceased ex-Jesuit, Alberto Rivera. To deceive the nations it was formally abolished in 1834, but it continued in secrecy, and later openly, under other deceptive names. In the Twentieth Century the Jesuits have conducted their Inquisition under the names of Nazism, Fascism, Communism and now Islamic Terrorism with their Inquisitors, Adolf Hitler, Francisco Franco, Josef Stalin and now Osama bin Laden. Today the Black Pope orders his Holy Office of the Inquisition, renamed in 1965 "The Sacred Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith," through his International Intelligence Community headed by Papal Knights, including Skull and Bonesman George W. Bush.

"My letters say a hundred and seven galleys,
And mine, a hundred forty.

'Tis oft with difference—yet do they all confirm
A Turkish fleet, and bearing up to Cyprus." {1}

"The Jesuits exist in all Protestant countries under the name of missionaries, with the habit of priest, and . . . they exist there under other names. . . . Take England for example, there they do not legally exist [since 1829 until re-admitted in 1902 by King Edward VII]; nevertheless, they have not given up that country, and I assure you that they are more numerous in England than in Italy, and this because all the English, Scotch and Irish priests are pupils of the Jesuits [as was the assassin of President John F. Kennedy, Francis Cardinal Spellman], . . . There are Jesuits in Parliament, amongst the Anglican clergy, amongst the Bishops, and perhaps also in still higher circles [advisors of Queen Victoria] . . ." {3}

. . . the right of rulers to misgovern the people [as outlined in Roman Catholic Niccolo Machiavelli's The Prince], the right of every one of the people to plunge his knife in the heart of a bad ruler, were inculcated by the same man, according as he addressed himself to the subject of Philip or to the subject of Elizabeth . . ." {4}

"Whereas the progress of the papal policy, long actuated by the steady counsels of successive pontiffs, took deeper root, and was at length in some places with difficulty, in others never yet, extirpated. For this we might call to witness the black intrigues of the Jesuits . . . This plan of pontifical power was so deeply laid, and so indefatigably pursued by the unwearied politics of the court of Rome through a long succession of ages . . . it was polished and improved by the united endeavors of a body of men who engrossed all the learning of Europe for centuries together; it was firmly and resolutely executed by persons the best calculated for establishing tyranny and despotism, being fixed with a bigoted enthusiasm, . . . unconnected with their fellow-subjects and totally indifferent to what might befall that posterity to which they bore no endearing relation: yet it vanished into nothing when the eyes of the people were a little enlightened, and they set themselves with vigor to oppose it." {5} [Emphasis added]

History of Protestantism: The Jesuits

The Reformation was prospering in England. Queen Elizabeth I, "every inch a queen" speaking six languages better than her own, permitted the reformed doctrines of the Bible to be openly preached. From her kingdom, she first banished the Order in 1579. Of course the Jesuits hated her, called her a bastard, denied her right to the throne and attempted to murder her several times. The Ridolfi Plot (1571), the Throgmarton Plot (1583) and the Babington Plot (1586), although failures, were instigated by the soldiers of the Jesuit General attempting to reduce England to the earthly, political rule of the Pope—the Temporal Power of "the Vicar of Christ."

Meanwhile, the Jesuits were in control of Spain. Philip II was the king through which they sought to destroy the Reformation in the Netherlands as well as in England. (Philip II enjoyed the execution of his cousin Dona Isabella who, before a mock Inquisitional Court, professed Christ as her Lord and Saviour.) Therefore, with the military might of Philip, the Jesuits plotted the "extirpation" of England's Protestants and Queen with one great stroke. They would invade with thousands of Spanish soldiers carried by a huge array of ships—the invincible Spanish Armada—its building having been financed by Rome's Papal Caesar for two million crowns!

Setting out in 1588, assured of naval supremacy and ultimate victory, the Jesuits urged their 30,000 attackers aboard 130 ships on to heretic England. But the risen Son of God chose to intervene. After five desperate days of naval battle with the mere 80 vessels of both Howard and Drake out of food and ammunition, we read:

"A mighty storm—a storm, which, to use the emphatic expression of Strada, 'shook heaven and earth'—finally decided the contest, and delivered England from the slightest apprehension of a rally, and fresh attack, from the scattered ships of the Armada . . . But winds and waves fought mightily for England, and while not so much as a single boat of ours was lost, many of the stateliest ships of Spain [63] were dashed upon the shores of Ireland and Scotland [37 perished without a trace], while their crews perished miserably [20,000]." {8}

Indeed, the English noble and true author of Othello joyfully wrote:

"News lads! our wars are done.
The desperate tempest hath so bang'd the Turks

That their designment halts: a noble ship of Venice
Hath seen a grievous wrack and sufferance
On most part of their fleet." {9}

Captain Thomas Fenner, commanding the Queen's ship Nonpareil, declared:

"THE MIGHTY GOD OF ISRAEL STRETCHED OUT BUT HIS FINGER AGAINST THEM." {10}

With England's victory by the hand of the One "that even the winds and the sea obey" Bishop John Fisher's deeply laid plans, perfected by the Jesuits, to destroy the "heretics" of England since 1533 were foiled. Elizabeth and the English people thanked God for giving so mighty a deliverance in answer to their prayers. Canon Pennington gives us his sagacious conclusion with the following words of wisdom:

"We must see in these events the interposition of the Almighty King of Heaven. We know that there is a common belief that to the tempest, irrespectively of any other cause, is due the destruction of the Armada, falsely styled Invincible; but we must remember that it would never have sunk beneath the boiling surges if the master spirit of the English navy, Sir Francis Drake, had not first defeated it by his superior skill before Gravelines, and then driven it, crippled as it was, into the region of storms.

On the result of that action before Gravelines were suspended the spiritual and temporal destinies of England. But even if we could suppose that the annihilation of the Spanish Armada was due only to the tempest, we should still be able to trace in its destruction the agency of God. We ask: 'Shall there be evil as well as good in a city, and the Lord hath not done it?' We say that 'fire and hail, snow and vapour, wind and storm, fulfill His word.'

We must protest against that refined idolatry which consists in overlooking the Great First Cause of all things, and attributing to the operation of second causes events which have flowed from the direct providential interference of God. . . . We must admit that this great destruction was due to Him whom we are thus reminded that the Psalmist styles 'the Lord mighty in battle.' We know that many of the Spaniards were conscious of an emotion of pride when they gazed on those ships of war, those monarchs of the deep, which were floating triumphantly before them. They thought in the vanity of their hearts, that, having ruffled up their plumage and issued from their harbours, they would ride triumphantly over the billows, and scatter destruction among the navies of their opponents. They trusted in an arm of flesh, and not in the arm of the Lord God omnipotent.

Let us learn, then, that God is 'the only Giver of all victory.' We must also come to this conclusion when we hear that the English fleet had in it far fewer vessels than the Spanish fleet; that it was far inferior to it in other respects which have come before us; and when we remember also that the greatest service ever performed by an English fleet had been performed by men whose wages had never been paid from the time of their engagement; by men half-starved, with their clothes in rags, and falling off from their backs; by men so ill-found in the necessaries of war that they supplied, as we have seen, the want of ammunition by ammunition taken from the enemy; men in whom the tendency to disease was so aggravated that boatloads of them were carried on shore at Margate, and set down to die in the streets, as there was no place in the town to receive them.

Let us, then, look away from ourselves, our own wisdom, our own resources, and our own armies, and let us look to Him who is 'a buckler to them who trust in Him.' Let us learn to depend on Him without whose blessing on our warriors the strongest arm must fall palsied and powerless, and the stoutest heart must quail. Let us ascribe the victory to Him who by the breath of His mouth can blast the strength of the most powerful army which ever marched beneath the banner of this world's potentates, and lay low the pride of the proudest navy which ever ploughed the waters of the ocean.

The attempted invasion of England was a most momentous crisis in the world's history. If it had been successful, in all human probability the power and policy of England would have been employed to promote the progress of Romanism throughout the world. The result of the struggle in the Netherlands would not have remained in suspense for a moment. The Prince of Orange had indeed broken the fetters which the tyrant had forged to enslave his fellow-countrymen. The patient zeal with which he laboured in the service of his country was rewarded, as we have seen, by the establishment of the government of the United Provinces.

But if Philip [and the Jesuits] had been successful, the Armada and the unexhausted resources of Spain, augmented by those gained through the conquest of England, would at once have been successfully employed by Philip to win back the United Provinces to their allegiance to himself and the [Jesuit-controlled] Papacy. Another result would have been that he would have interfered with success in that conflict which Henry of Navarre, the Protestant King of France, was waging with the whole force of the [Order's Roman Catholic] League, formed for the purpose of excluding from the throne a monarch who claimed to reign by hereditary right, even when he was willing to return to the Roman Catholic Church.

We should never have heard of the Edict of Nantes, establishing universal religious liberty in France. The Jesuits would have been successful, and France would have been placed in absolute subjection to the Pope. The Thirty Years'

War, . . . would never have been fought, or would have been brought, through the vast resources placed at the disposal of the Roman Catholic Church, to a speedy termination. The Pope would have reigned supreme throughout the continent of Europe." {11} [Emphasis added]

(Dear truth-seeker, would the Jesuits attempt to invade America with a foreign fleet? Is it simply a coincidence that Russia and China have the largest merchant marine fleets in the world? Could it be possible that Russia, China and possibly the Japanese would provide the fleets for millions of Chinese to invade America? Why did President Bill Clinton lease the American Naval Base in Long Beach, California, to Red China whose Secret Service has been run by the Company through England for decades? Why has the scrap steel from New York's demolished WTC been shipped to China, its Defense Ministry's Director of Strategy Colonel Xu Junping—who recently defected to the US—having declared that his agents have been bringing in nuclear and biological weapons for the last five years? Our attack is most assuredly coming; our own government will have betrayed us Americans for the last time. Like Germany, we will be silenced by the American Gestapo, the Office of Homeland Security; our troops will be sacrificed during our two-front war; and the Pope's invaders will succeed, as we have wickedly departed from the Word of God.)

The Babington Plot

"It was for this reason that the Jesuits, ever since the Reformation, took care to acquire the posts of confessors to nearly every crowned head of Europe, and to their principal ministers, for, by means of the religious influence which they exercised on the rulers, they were able to control the affairs of the State, enact laws, and wage wars against the Protestants, and plan and carry out massacres of those who opposed them. . . . In England, also, during the reign of Elizabeth, they made the greatest efforts to overthrow the Protestant Government by exciting repeated rebellions, and by forming numerous plots to the murder of the Queen and her ministers.

'England and Ireland,' said Lord Burleigh, 'had rebelled at the instigation of the Pope. Plots had been formed for the assassination of the Queen. Priests (Jesuits), commissioned by the Pope, had stolen into the realm to seduce her subjects from their allegiance, and had suffered accordingly, while no loyal Catholics had been interfered with.'

Again, at the meeting of Parliament, he said, 'Those devils (the Jesuits) were persuaded that her life (the Queen's) was the only let [hindrance] why their tyranny was not planted again. While that hope remained, her life was in peril. No laws, no associations, no fear of torment could remedy it.

The damnable sect of Jesuits persuaded men in conscience that such acts would merit heaven.'

The English Catholics at that time were well aware that the Jesuits were the sole authors of the unceasing sedition and rebellion in the kingdom, and they addressed a petition against them to the Pope, and again fifty years afterwards, begging the Pope to 'withdraw the Jesuits from England, since painful experience had proved that there was no way of restoring to the kingdom the peace and happiness which they had banished from it.' Rome and the War: And
Coming Events In Britain

"By promises and secret intrigues, Rome then sought to induce, first France, and then Spain, to undertake the conquest of England, while, at the same time, the Jesuits, both in this country and on the Continent, circulated a mass of scurrilous literature, full of falsehood and calumny, in order to stir up hatred on the Continent against this country and to inflame the minds of British Catholics against the Queen and her Protestant Ministers, with the view of dividing the kingdom against itself, and, by forming a powerful party in favour of Rome, prepare the way for the conquest of the country by a Catholic power. Froude remarks that the Jesuits in France and Belgium, and the seminary priest at Douay, 'represented the English Reformation as a monstrous product of lust and tyranny, and Cromwell, Cranmer, Burleigh, and every great thinker and statesman which England had produced, were held up as panderers to the wickedness of Henry VIII and his bastard daughter, while Elizabeth herself was described as a monster of the world whose cruelty exceeded both that of the heathen and Turk, and as the vilest of prostitutes, and her Court the vilest of brothels.' These and similar scurrilous calumnies were published [and] broadcast in England and on the Continent in order to stir up the hatred of the Catholics.

In this they so far succeeded that they excited sedition and provoked rebellion after rebellion both in this country and in Ireland, while, at the same time, they formed repeated plots to murder the Queen. . . .

Again in the 'Domestic MS' we read: 'One frightful thought possesses every loyal mind that those hell-hounds, the Jesuits, knowing themselves to be united, and good [British] subjects to be distracted and doubtful, would strike at the Queen and plunge the country into anarchy. They held and taught that it was only lawful and meritorious to kill excommunicated princes. The paradise they were to win enabled them to despise death and triumph in torments [as it is with Moslem terrorists of today—guided by Masonic Islamic Jesuit Coadjutors working with the Black Pope's CIA].'

Rome, although she failed to induce the King of France to make war against England, succeeded in persuading Philip [II] of Spain, the most powerful monarch in the world a that time, to do so, with the result that the mighty Armada was collected, manned by all the bravest and most disciplined troops of the Empire, and led by the chivalry of Spain, to accomplish the conquest of England and the re-establishment of the Papal dominion. The nation, including the loyal Catholics, remembering what it had suffered in the past from the cruelty of the Romish priesthood, responded nobly to the Queen's call to arms, but the alarm felt throughout the country was great and profound. Nevertheless, the defeat of the Armada was accomplished by seemingly weak and inadequate forces, which however, were aided in so remarkable a way by the powers of Nature that it called forth the remark of the Spanish sailors, 'God is fighting against us.' Rome and Germany: The Plot
For the Downfall of Britain

The Jesuits at every turn sought to discredit "heretic" Queen Elizabeth in the eyes of her English subjects. They claimed "that guilty woman of England" had neither right nor title to the throne because she was the daughter of Henry VIII's second wife, Protestant Anne Boleyn. Claiming that Henry's second marriage was adultery, Elizabeth was called "the bastard Queen" by the Jesuits. To add insult to injury, the Jesuits then moved Pope Pius V to excommunicate her with his most infamous Papal Bull, Regnans in Excelsis (February 25, 1570). Formally condemned by the Devil's dynastic "Vicar of Christ," certain Roman Catholic English lords could be convinced that killing Elizabeth would not be murder but a virtuous act. Regicide was a maxim of the Order then before the Suppression and Extinction in 1773, after the Restoration in 1814, and remains so to this day—as demonstrated in 1963 with the public murder of President John F. Kennedy.

Therefore, the Jesuits plotted Elizabeth's overthrow—many times. They attempted to make Mary, Queen of Scots, the Queen of England. But the conspiracy failed and the treacherous Mary lost her life. The conspiracy to put a Jesuit-controlled, Roman Catholic Monarch on England's throne was thwarted—this time.

She was tried and beheaded on the 8th of February 1587, by order of the Parliament.

Others would attempt the life of the Queen. William Parry, Anthony Babington, Roberto Ridolfi, as well as Jesuits Edmund Campion and Robert Parsons were a few of the many would-be assassins. They too all failed and paid with their lives. The risen Son of God was protecting Elizabeth not because of her personal purity but because of the prayers of her subjects and her benevolent policy towards the English Reformers.

History would prove that the reign of Elizabeth was the birth of England's religious liberty, the Middle Class, and thus the mighty Protestant British Empire. Of her kingdom's great prosperity ex-Jesuit Andrew Steinmetz writes:

> "The results of Protestantism were gloriously promoted and expanded by Elizabeth—in the vast improvement of agriculture—internal trade—and foreign commerce. Philip's [Jesuit-controlled] tyranny ruined the Netherlands [just as Hitler's Jesuit-controlled tyranny ruined Protestant Germany]: Elizabeth received and tolerated the fugitives. New manufacturers, of various kinds, energetically advanced the nation's onward march to supremacy amongst the most industrious, the wealthiest of earth. The Royal Exchange of London—built by one of her subjects— became the center of commerce extending over Europe, and to Barbary, Morocco, Guinea, and Turkey. Her sailor, Willoughby, actually discovered Archangel—and a Russian trading company was established.

Frobisher, Davis, Raleigh, Drake, and Cavendish, are names of high renown:—these men were Elizabeth's discoverers of the world, which they circumnavigated at no expense to the nation, because they had to fight their way on the papal seas of the Spanish despot—and brought home solid equivalents as well as contributions to 'the diffusion of knowledge.' Some call them pirates—but, if they were, they robbed from a thief—the King of Spain [Philip II]—that wholesale pirate among the Indians." {16}

Elizabeth's successor, King James I—the son of Scotland's beheaded Mary Queen of Scots—banished the Jesuits, rightly blamed the Gunpowder Plot of 1605 on "Jesuits and papists," and furthered the development of the Protestant British Empire.

He would also authorize the translation of the Protestant English Bible (for which his good name would be continually maligned, vilified and slandered), destined to be taken to the ends of the earth in creating White Protestant Western Civilization, while furthering The Great Commission given by Jesus the Messiah,

> "And Jesus came and spake unto them, saying, All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth. Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world. Amen."

> – Matthew 28:18-20

One of the most important plots in attempting to assassinate Queen Elizabeth miserably failed, having been exposed by England's Lord Great Chamberlain, Edward de Vere, the Seventeenth Earl of Oxford. In his revealing of the Jesuit General's Campion-Parsons Plot we read:

> "During the latter 1570's, the whole-souled Oxford had remained unsuspicious as his intimacy with his Catholic cousins and their circle of intellectual friends increased. Finally . . . they recklessly confided to him, in December, 1580, their plans to overthrow Elizabeth and place Mary Queen of Scots on the throne of England. To their horror, Oxford went at once to the Queen—the sovereign to whom, as a feudal knight, he had sworn undying fealty [in obedience to the Word of God]." {17}

Therefore,

> "From this time forward Jesuits who ventured into England were remorselessly hunted down, persecuted, and executed (125 by the time of Queen Elizabeth's death in 1603); and the law imposing fines on Catholics for non-attendance at Protestant services, which had remained a dead-letter since it received the royal assent at the beginning of Elizabeth's reign, was resuscitated and put into rigorous execution. . . . This change of policy is frequently attributed to the well-known mission to England of the Jesuits, Campion and Parsons. But they landed in England as far back as April 1580; and it was not until after Lord Oxford's disclosure in December and the proclamation in January that Campion was apprehended and sentenced to death. These dates make it clear that it must have been Lord Oxford's dramatic interview that induced the Queen to take her first step against her Catholic subjects. . . ." {18} [Emphasis added]

Who was this Edward de Vere, Queen Elizabeth's greatest courtier and the Jesuits' greatest enemy; this patriot responsible for the execution of Jesuit Parsons, thus having foiled the Pope's plots to overthrow England's greatest Monarch? He was none other than the one we know today as "William Shakespeare." For, ". . . it has become impossible to hesitate any longer in proclaiming Edward de Vere, Seventeenth Earl of Oxford, as the real author of 'Shakespeare's' works." {19} [Emphasis added]

And why would the true authorship of the works of "Shakespeare" be suppressed to this day? Because this Protestant, Bible-reading, honourable English knight, the enemy of the Jesuit Provincial Henry Garnet and greatest swordsman of the realm, used his pen—mightier than his sword—to thwart the designs of the Jesuits as they attempted to destroy the Reformation, wrought by the Spirit of God, and to restore the Temporal Power of the Pope over Britain. With their tool, William Cecil—who openly displayed prayer beads while a Catholic advisor during the reign of Queen Mary I of England ("Bloody Mary"), who always attempted to please the Jesuits' Philip II, who advised Elizabeth to marry the Catholic Archduke Charles of Austria (known also as Charles of Styria, being the son of the Holy Roman Emperor, Ferdinand I) rather than Protestant Leicester and who hired the Jesuit Henry Garnet to spread a nasty rumor about Edward de Vere—the Sons of Loyola robbed "the Red Knight" of his eighty-six landed estates. They also robbed him of his right to the throne and, through both William Cecil and Masonic Francis Bacon (the reputed father of the Craft in England), destroyed the memory of his great name, continuing to perpetuate the damnable lie that some illiterate, money-hungry, grain dealer of Stratford-on-Avon wrote the masterpieces of the man whom the British Empire has voted "the most important personality of the last millennium."

History would prove that the reign of Elizabeth was the birth of the mighty Protestant British Empire. England's first century as a Protestant nation produced the world's greatest Greek scholar and father of the Protestant English Bible, William Tyndale (John Wickliffe having previously translated Rome's Latin Vulgate); its greatest poet and abstract historian, Edward de Vere, (alias "Shakespeare"); its greatest scientist and mathematician, Isaac Newton; and its greatest sailor and naval commander at the defeat of the Spanish Armada, Francis Drake. Her successor, King James I, would also expel the Jesuits from his kingdom and authorize the translation of the English Bible destined to be taken by the missionary servants of the risen Son of God, as they preached the Gospel of the Grace of God, to the ends of the earth. And for these reasons the perpetually warring, Counter-Reformation Jesuits have assassinated his character, calling him

"a homosexual" and "a confirmed heretic," rather than acknowledge him as "the English Solomon" that he was!

Further, those wicked Sons of Loyola attacked the credibility of that finished literary classic which he authorized by asserting that the pagan Masonic Francis Bacon added his final touch to the work. This is a sheer and outright lie, as the forty-seven learned and godly men, having devoted their lives to one of the greatest moments in the history of the true Church of the Lord Jesus Christ, would never had dedicated THEIR WORK to THEIR DREAD SOVEREIGN had they known that infidel Francis Bacon was permitted to alter a single letter of their torturous, epic masterpiece!

More importantly for us Americans, the risen Son of God would use The Authorized King James Version of 1611 as the foundation for the Calvinistic, Federal Republic of these United States. George Washington's "Holy Experiment" in the form of a Protestant republic would last from the ratification of the Constitution in 1787 to the coerced ratification of the Fourteenth Amendment in 1868. Meanwhile, America would be the refuge and haven for Europe's Protestants, Baptists and Jews having been so mercilessly persecuted by Rome's Jesuits for over two hundred years.

All these blessings can be traced to England's "bastard queen," Elizabeth I, whom the risen Son of God protected while she encouraged the Reformation and furiously refused to be conquered by the Jesuits. May we never forget her in all her greatness and the immense Jesuit power she opposed with all of her might.

Dear truth-seeker, G. B. Nicolini, in making our lesson relevant for today, rightly concludes:

> "If [the Jesuits] hated England and Queen Elizabeth in the 16th century, they bear no less hate to England and Queen Victoria in the 19th. Let an opportunity present itself, and you shall see them again heading the rebellion, and preaching murder as the most meritorious of all actions. Nor do they remain inactive while waiting for the opportunity. Their evil genius is constantly present and active." {20} [Emphasis added]

This chart depicts the Jesuits and their mighty Satanic Power directed against Queen Elizabeth I whom they nicknamed "the bastard" and "that Jezebel of the North." The wicked sons of Loyola sought to destroy her, along with Jehovah's grand and glorious Protestant Reformation brought about by the fearless preaching of the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ. In the vain attempt to restore the Papal Caesar's Temporal Power over England, called by the Puritan Calvinists "Anti-Christian tyranny," the risen Son of God mightily intervened in answering the prayers of both the Nobles and Commoners, while they resisted Loyola's Company and its many tools with all of their circumcised hearts. May we Bible-believers of apostate Western Civilization do the same today, that we too may be delivered from the Order's neo-fascist, Jesuit/CFR-controlled, Department of Homeland Security (Gestapo/KGB) police state and our coming Sino-Soviet-Moslem-Latino invasion!

Elizabeth I, 1533 – 1603

Protestant Queen of England, 1558 – 1603

A woman with the intellect of one hundred ordinary kings, speaking seven languages and encouraging the Protestant Reformation, Elizabeth boldly expelled the Society of Jesus from England in 1579, 1581, 1586, and in 1602, the year before her death. Aware of the Order's plots and agitations among Catholics, the Queen ordered the immediate execution of any Jesuit found within her borders. Decreed a "heretic" and excommunicated by Pope Pius V, the Jesuits sought to assassinate her many times. But the risen Son of God spared her life using faithful courtiers, the greatest being Edward de Vere, her beloved Earl of Oxford and Lord Great Chamberlain. Miraculously, Elizabeth ruled for over forty years with the aid of her Puritan Secretary of State, Francis Walsingham, and laid the foundation for the Lord's Protestant-Calvinist AV1611 English Bible and the Protestant British Empire of the 17th and 18th Centuries, the Empire later to become apostate in the 19th century and destroyed in the 20th century.

Edward de Vere, 1550 – 1604 #3-8

"William Shakespeare" Seventeenth Earl of Oxford, Lord Great Chamberlain to Queen Elizabeth I

A member of "the fighting Veres" since the Battle of Hastings in 1066, and named after the young Protestant King Edward VI having been poisoned by the Jesuits, our hero, "born into great riches, honour and power," was known as "the Red Knight." As the finest horseman and swordsman of the realm, this great and loyal man of honor exposed one of the Order's plots to assassinate his Queen. In vengeance, the Company used its William Cecil to steal his eighty-six landed estates and "wounded" his great name, henceforth to be known as "William Shakespeare." This true author of the plays and of the sonnets (though many have erroneously attributed his works to Rosicrucian Francis Bacon), having been England's premier Earl in the House of Lords, was voted by the British Empire in the year 2000 as "the most important personality of the last millennium." Having coined five thousand words for the English language, de Vere's prose contributed to the literary basis for The AV1611 King James Bible.

This portrait of Edward de Vere at the age of forty-seven was hung in the school of Ashbourne, a seat of the Trenthams, Oxford's third wife. It was ultimately acquired by the Folger Library of Washington, D.C., and hangs there today.

Alterations were revealed by x-ray and infrared photography executed by Charles Wisner Barrell who, in the early 1950s, published his findings in The Scientific American. Some of those alterations were: the courtier's lace ruff had been painted over to resemble a commoner's plain collar; the boar-crest of the seal ring on the thumb had been obscured; the Trentham coat-of-arms in the upper left hand corner had been painted over and the date changed; the initials "C.K." for Cornelius Ketel, the famous artist, had been painted out; the hairline was moved back to make him to appear bald. Like the unbiblical "Jesus Christ" of Luciferian Jesuitism gripping his "sacred heart," the Ashbourne Portrait of "William Shakespeare" is just another artistic deception and literary fraud.

The Gunpowder Plot

Assassination Attempted of King James I and Entire Assembled British Parliament

"We have passed rapidly through strange scenes of priestly wickedness and bloodshed,—but of all the agents of the devil which were ever spawned in the black dens of that earthly pandemonium, the Papal Church, none can compare with the Jesuits and the Inquisition. . . . In Europe they disguised themselves by perpetual attempts against the peace of states, and the lives of monarchs [even as they have done in America against the lives of our Presidents]. . . . With the continual attempt of these pertinacious wretches [Jesuits] against the liberties of England, and the lives of Elizabeth and James I, every English reader is familiar: the names of Crichton, Garnet, Parry, Cullen, Gerard, and Tesmond, successively engaged in the design of assassinating the protestant queen, or in the attempt to blow up our English Solomon and all his parliament, will for ever perpetuate their abhorrence in England; . . ." {2} [Emphasis added]

"The trial of [English Jesuit Provincial] Henry Garnet took place on March 28, 1606, at the Guildhall (on all Saints' Day). The Commissioners who sat as his judges were the Lord Mayor of London, Sir Leonard Holyday, the Lord Chief Justice, Sir John Popham, the Lord Chief Baron of the Exchequer, Sir Thomas Fleming, Sir Christopher Yelverton, a Judge of the Court of King's Bench, and the Earls of Nottingham, Salisbury [Secretary of State Robert Cecil], Suffolk, Worcester, and Northampton (all these Commissioners, except the Lord Mayor and Christopher Yelverton, having presided at the trial of the gunpowder conspirators).

The proceedings commenced soon after eight o'clock in the morning, and were not concluded till close on seven in the evening. Among those present in court, as spectators, were the King, some of the Ambassadors, Lady Arabella Stuart, and a large number of the nobility. The indictment charged 'this Garnet, otherwise Wally, otherwise Darcy, otherwise Roberts, otherwise Framer, otherwise Philips,' with traitorously conspiring and compassing, with the assistance of [the deceased Robert] Catesby and [Jesuit priest Oswald] Greenway [having escaped to the Continent]:—

1. To depose the King and to deprive him of his Government [intending to enthrone a pro-Roman Catholic monarch];
2. To destroy and kill the King, and the noble Prince [of Wales], Henry, his eldest son: such a King, and such a Prince, such a son of such a father, whose virtues are rather with amazed silence to be wondered at, than able by any speech to be expressed;
3. To stir sedition and slaughter throughout the kingdom [intending to ignite a civil war and the general murder of Protestants as a result of that insurrection with a Spanish invasion soon to follow];
4. To subvert the true religion of God, and whole Government of the kingdom;
5. To overthrow the whole state of the Commonwealth [this being the last and final charge]. . . .
To this indictment, '[Provincial] Garnet did plead Not Guilty,' and the trial proceeded [Garnet employing the doctrine of 'Mental Reservation,' or 'holy lying' throughout the trial]. . . .

Finally, in dismissing the case of Father Garnet, for the convenience of the reader it is worth while to name the principal charges brought against the Jesuit

Superior, all of which he was shown to have been guilty, and therefore to have committed high treason; viz.:—

'1. He had been a party to sending Sir Edward Baynham to Rome. Baynham, a man of bad character, was (as Faukes [Fawkes] explained) to inform the Pope of the result of the Plot, had it succeeded.
2. He had heard of the Plot (outside the confessional) from [Jesuit] Father Greenway [of whom Garnet was his military superior].
3. He knew, from two conversations with Catesby, that the plot was in active progress [as the Jesuit Provincial was the true power behind the plot conspiring with his Jesuit accomplices on the Continent].
4. He sent Father Greenway to visit the conspirators at Huddington.
5. On All Saints Day, 1605 (Nov. 1st), he asked his congregation at Coughton, 'to pray for some good success for the Catholic cause at the beginning of Parliament' (Nov. 5th).
6. He made no (known) attempt to save the parliament from its doom.' [Of course there was no attempt to save these Bible-reading "accursed heretics" condemned by the Order's genocidal Council of Trent!!!]

In conclusion, although we may regret that King James and his Government did not temper justice with mercy and commute the death-sentence passed on Garnet to banishment [?], it must not be forgotten that, in those harsh times, there would have been no precedent for such a course.

[This author, dear truth-seeker, is a "mildly zealous" Jesuit Coadjutor, who, though admitting the guilt of this wicked and most devoted Son of Loyola, knew full well that if Garnet would have been freed, the exiled English Provincial would have continued to plot the overthrow of England with his "brethren" from the Jesuit College of Clermont in France.]

Moreover, Garnet, as the head of a branch of a Society determined on subjugating England, was as much a national enemy as any Spaniard [just as much as that Society is today a national enemy of America as any Communist Russian or Chinaman—whose governments are squarely in the hands of the Order].

The Jesuits were fighting hard to destroy the liberties of England, and it was necessary, therefore, to deal with them severely. [Oh, would to God American statesmen would learn this lesson from English history!!!] In the interests of their Society, they would stop at no offence, however shocking [like the "Great London Fire" or the 911 demolition of New York City's World Trade Center], when occasion served.

In removing Garnet, then, the Government of James I only put to death a man whose existence at large in London constituted a ceaseless danger to the commonwealth [as do the ten Jesuit Provincials presently in the United States subject to their American Jesuit Assistant advising the Black Pope at the Order's headquarters in Rome].

Moreover, it must not be forgotten, so far as our means at this late date of arriving at a correct idea of Garnet's position are concerned, that several of the most damning pieces of evidence against him have been removed by the loss of certain documents, taken by the Jesuits from the Collection of State Papers during the reigns of [Jesuit-controlled] Charles II and James II [just like the disappearance of President Kennedy's brain from our National Archives, the brain providing key evidence indicating that JFK was shot in the head from the front, not from behind according to the Order's Masonically-controlled Warren Commission overseen by certain Knights of Malta reporting to Francis Cardinal Spellman].

As to this, Mr. David Jardine, in a letter to Mr. R. Lemon, dated November 17th, 1857, says—

'That thievery of some kind abstracted such documents as the Treatise on Equivocation, with Garnet's hand-writing on it, the most important of the Interlocutions between Garnet and Hall in the Tower, and all the examinations of Garnet respecting the Pope's [two] Breves [which commanded all English Catholics not to acknowledge any Protestant as Elizabeth's successor as soon as "that miserable woman died"], is most clear!' " {5} [Emphasis added]

Philip Sidney, 1905

"But as all attempts made during the reign of Elizabeth proved abortive, and as the Jesuits were enraged to madness by the failure of their plots, they saw now that the assassination of kings and princes was not so easily accomplished, so they devised a new and horrible scheme for the attainment of their ends. As usual, their plans were laid with consummate cunning. The Provincial of their Order, Henry Garnet, came to England attended by Jesuits chosen with the greatest care for the work. . . . The one word was, Claim England for Rome." {6} [Emphasis added]

M. F. Cusack, 1896

The Black Pope

In 1603, Queen Elizabeth died having banished the Jesuits from her kingdom "forever." James I became king; he too banished the Jesuits and commanded a hangman to publicly burn the evil doctrines of the Jesuit Francisco Suarez—Defensio Fidei Catholicae found in his Opera Omnia! So England posed a problem for the Jesuit General. The king was a Protestant ("a confirmed heretic" in the words of Spain's King Philip III), the House of Commons was full of Protestants and the people no longer gave heed to the Pope's decrees. Therefore the Jesuits determined to ". . . annihilate the king, with his whole family, together with the entire heads of Protestantism in England in one blow." {7}

How? By blowing up the King and the assembled Parliament with thirty-six barrels of gunpowder. The plot nearly succeeded but a letter alerted the king to the plan. When the sheriff entered the Parliament's basement he discovered at one of its doors Guy Fawkes, a soldier in the service of King Philip III of Spain, with ". . . a piece of tinder, three matches, a dagger and a pistol . . . booted and spurred, like a man who was prepared to take a journey on horseback [as would John Wilkes Booth after his murder of Abraham Lincoln.]." {8}

Indeed he was. Violently resisting arrest, Fawkes was tried and executed having been the fanatical tool of England's Jesuit Provincial, Henry Garnet. Convicted of high treason having obeyed the Jesuit Oath, Garnet was also publicly executed in 1606.

To this day, every November 5th the English Protestants, especially those in Lewes and Sussex who burn the effigy of the Pope annually, celebrate "Guy Fawkes Day" while the Jesuit Provincial at Stonyhurst controls the Archbishop of Westminster who in turn rules the country through the Royal Institute of International Affairs (RIIA), the British parent of the American Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) likewise controlled by the Archbishop of New York. The Empires of both Britain and America are in the hands of Satan's Society of Jesus!

Protestant King of England, 1603 - 1625

One of England's greatest Kings in spite of being the son of Jesuit-controlled Mary Queen of Scots (beheaded for high treason), James I, like his predecessor Queen Elizabeth I, expelled the Order from England in 1604. Mastering Latin, Greek and French by the age of eight in addition to being schooled in Italian and Spanish, pro-Pope and anti-Reformation King James VI of Scotland was cleverly named to succeed his Queen via the intrigue of Robert Cecil (1550-1612). But after his coronation King James I (regarded by his people as "our English King Solomon") sided with the Protestant Reformers by authorizing the translation of the Bible for all English-speaking people, it bearing his most excellent and Biblical name. Branded a "confirmed heretic" by the Jesuits' King Philip III because of his expulsion of the Order and his personal, public burning of Jesuit Francisco Suarez's regicide doctrines, the Sons of Loyola sought to blow him up with the Gunpowder Plot. In 1650, twenty-five years after his death, Anthony Weldon spread the outrageous lie that James was a practicing sodomite as an act of vengeance for being expelled from Court! The lie was not believed, as there were enough people alive who knew the slander to be untrue. King James wrote a commentary on the Book of Revelation and a devotional on the Lord's Prayer.

Henry Garnet, 1606 #4-3

Jesuit Provincial for the English Province

This infamous English traitor and murderer plotted many times to assassinate Queen Elizabeth I in obedience to his Jesuit Oath. One of the attempts was exposed by the Protestant Edward de Vere, 17th Earl of Oxford (alias "William Shakespeare"), for which the Earl lost eighty-six landed estates to the Jesuits' William Cecil. With eight Commissioners presiding, Garnet was convicted and hung in St. Paul's Churchyard for his part in the Gunpowder Plot, having been aided by seven other Jesuits including John Gerard, Nicholas Hart, William Baldwin, Edward Oldcorne, Oswald Greenway, Oswald Tesmond, and his exiled master in France, the infamous Robert Parsons. Loyal to the Company to the end, his last words were, "Oh God! Destroy this perfidious nation, extirpate from the earth those who live in it, to the end that we may joyfully render to Jesus Christ [the Pope] the praises that are due unto him [the Pope]." The Jesuits still desire to destroy every vestige of the English Reformation, including Anglicanism. The Order used Goering's Luftwaffe to bomb St. Paul's Cathedral during WWII.

Assassination of King Henry III of France
The Edict of Nantes
Assassination of King Henry IV of France

"On the determination of the [Roman Catholic] Church, therefore, it is said, depend both the reverence which is due to Scripture and the books which are to be admitted into the canon [thereby undermining the Word of God]. Thus profane men, seeking, under the pretext of the Church, to introduce unbridled tyranny, care not in what absurdities they entangle themselves and others, provided they extort from the simple this one acknowledgement —viz. that there is nothing which the Church cannot do." {1}

John Calvin, 1536
French Protestant Reformer
Institutes of the Christian Religion

"Neither Henry III nor Henry IV, nor the Elector of Saxony [Frederick III], nor Queen Elizabeth, are true kings [in refusing to submit to the Pope's Temporal Power]. That [Jacques] Clement has done a heroic action in killing Henry III; if it were possible to make war with the Bernese [the Swiss Protestants] and bring them to the point; and if it was impossible, then to assassinate. . . . it is a meritorious action with God to kill a heretic king." {2} [Emphasis added]

Jean Guignard, 1589

"Rome, See this cart driver that governs France [King Henry IV], this anthropophagi [this cannibal], this monster that is bathed in blood [in resisting Jesuit designs against both the King and the people of France while enjoying Henry IV's Edict of Nantes granting religious freedom]? . . . Can we not find one that will take up arms against the ferocious beast]? . . .

Have we not a Pope that will employ an axe in the salvation of France? Calm yourself, young Jesuit, if we fail of the papal axe, we have the dagger of Ravaillac." {3} [Emphasis added]

"But of all their atrocities, there are none which more affect one with indignation, than their persecutions and murder of Henry III and Henry IV of France. In 1563, according to Mezerai, the famous Catholic League took its rise, whose object was to extirpate the Protestants in France. The Jesuits became the soul of this infamous federation [as there also is a Catholic League in America today]. Henry III assembled the states at Blois in 1579, for the purpose of dissolving this conspiracy; and from that time, was marked for destruction. Sammier, a Jesuit, traversed Germany, Italy, and Spain, to excite the princes of those countries against him. Mattheiu, another, styled the Courier of the League, made several journeys to the pope, to obtain a bull against him; and though the pope hesitated at this, he delivered his opinion, that the person of Henry should be secured, and his cities seized. [Jesuit Coadjutors] Commolet and Rouillet were trumpets of sedition. In the college of the Rue St. Jaques, the Jesuits met and conspired the murder of the king. It was there Baniere came to be stirred up by the doctrines of [Jesuit] Varade,—and that [Jesuit] Guignard composed the writings, for which he was hung. It was there that the Sixteen signed an absolute cession of the Kingdom to Philip [I] of Spain; and that [Jesuit Coadjutor] Chastel acquired the lesson of parricide he afterwards acted upon. There, [the Dominican monk and Jesuit Coadjutor] Clement animated by such horrible instructions, formed the resolve which he fulfilled on the 1st of August, 1589, the assassination of Henry III.

Henry IV, a generous-spirited and noble monarch, was educated in Protestantism;—this was enough to arouse their murderous and unappeasable hatred. It was almost by miracle that he escaped, then a youth, from the Massacre of St. Bartholomew. On his coming to the throne, he was pursued by them with such continual animosity, that to ally their fury, he consented to embrace Catholicism. This produced no effect—he was a man of liberal opinions; and such a man they could not tolerate. They made his life miserable; and at length nearly effected his murder by the knife of Baniere, at Melun, in August 1593. On the 27th of December, 1594, his life was again attempted by Chastel, another Jesuit.

He struck at him with a knife, but missed his aim, and instead of killing him, only cut his lip, and struck out a tooth. This circumstance, and the ferment of infernal fanaticism, which induced the papists, and Jesuits to continually seek the destruction of the king, caused the banishment of the whole Order. This however, did not mend the matter, as it regarded the king;—he had only the same enemies in disguise, and, if possible, ten times more embittered. With that good nature which characterized him, he at length consented to allow them to return [appointing Jesuit Peter Coton as his confessor!]. It was in vain that Sully, his minister, represented to him that no kindness could soften such foes;—he recalled them, and fell a victim to their instigations, being stabbed by Ravaillac, on May 14th, 1610.

Many books have been written of late by the Jesuits, vindicating and commending the killing of kings, particularly the work of [Spaniard Juan] Mariana,—De Rege et Regis Institutione, in which the killing of a [heretic or liberal] king was termed a 'laudable, glorious, and heroic action.' It was by such writings that his assassin was spurred on to his diabolical act [as was the case with John Wilkes Booth]. Aubigny, his [Ravaillac's] confessor, a Jesuit, when confronted with the murderer, and charged with being privy to the design [as was Jesuit Bernardine F. Wiget also involved in the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln], at first denied knowing the man at all; but when driven from that assertion, he declared that 'God had given to some the gift of tongues, to others the gift of prophecy, and to him the gift of forgetting confessions [thus mocking the Word of God, employing the Jesuit doctrine of Mental Reservation].

Such were the abominable principles which led them to these abominable actions [Jesuits Coton and Aubigny being the key players behind the regicide]. For a full account of this assassination, the reader may consult the fourth volume of Sully's Memoirs. So generally was the conspiracy known amongst the Catholic subjects of this unfortunate monarch, that many people declared, on the day when the murder took place, that the king was then dying, though they were in distant places [as in the case of the Lincoln assassination according to the record of ex-priest Charles Chiniquy in his Fifty Years in the Church of Rome, (1886)].

An astrologer had foretold the very day and hour to the king, the manner of the act, and that it would take place in a coach. So much impressed was the king with his approaching fate, that he was frequently in great agony of mind, and would fain have put off the queen's coronation, which was about to take place at the time predicted. He had terrible dreams, and so also had the queen, walking in horror, and crying out [that] the king was stabbed.

All these things which the common mind loves to believe supernatural intimations, only show to the more reflecting one, the audacity of these bloody wretches, who were so confident in their power of doing evil, that they spoke of it till it became a universal impression [as the same kind of prediction was made to Pope Clement XIV for extinguishing the Order with a Papal Bull in 1773]." {4} [Emphasis added] repute [Jesuit Thomas J. Campbell, The Jesuits, 1534-1921] . . . practically every instance of expulsion was for political intrigue, political infiltration, political subversion, and inciting to political insurrection." {5} [Emphasis added]

In 1589, King Henry III of France was stabbed to death by the Jesuit-brainwashed assassin, Jacques Clement—ending the dynasty of the House of Valois.

For glorifying this treasonous murder, the Jesuit Guignard was publicly executed with the hangman's noose. Of this gory affair we read from the essentially pro-Jesuit pen of Rene Fulop-Miller in his The Power and Secret of the Jesuits:

"Henry III was a man of strange passions. He wore large gold earrings, surrounded himself with a group of effeminately bedizened young people whom he called his mignons, and entrusted to them the greater part of the most important affairs of state [to the exclusion of the Jesuits]. Indifferent to religious matters [meaning that he refused to persecute the Protestant Huguenots residing within his dominions in accordance with the Pope's murderous Canon Law and the Jesuit General's bloodthirsty Council of Trent], he did not scruple to resist the increasing influence of the Catholic nobility by allying himself with the Huguenot party. It was then, however, that the warning which [Jesuit General Diego] Laynez had once uttered to the king's mother was fulfilled. The Catholic nation rose up against its heretically inclined ruler, and united to form the revolutionary Lique [The Catholic League] while from every pulpit the people were exhorted to armed rebellion, the agitators using as their principal argument the doctrine, once propounded by Laynez, of the 'sovereignty of the people.'

[Dear truth-seeker, the historic Protestant doctrine of the "Sovereignty of the People" in whose name Protestant Constitutions, being both express and limited grants of power, were established in such Protestant nations as The United Netherlands and The United States of America, is not the same doctrine espoused by the Jesuits. The Order's doctrine is merely a cunningly devised tool to either bring into subjection or to overthrow a monarch who is either a "heretic" or one promoting "liberal" political policies (and thus deemed to be a "tyrant"), thereby using the deceived people, solely functioning as "useful tools," to submit or overthrow the monarchy or Constitutional government then under siege by the Company. In the centuries to come, this doctrine, advocated by the Order's "Illuminated" Continental Freemasons would be used to motivate the starving Roman Catholic French people to overthrow the anti-Jesuit King Louis XVI during the French Revolution, and to impel the impoverished Russian Orthodox People to overthrow the anti-Jesuit Nicholas II during the Bolshevik Revolution, both upheavals resulting in monstrous, Masonic, military dictators secretly loyal to the Order, Napoleon and Stalin. The same tactic would be used during the Order's Communist, American Civil Rights Movement (using angry Blacks impoverished by Masonic, "Jim Crow" policies in the Protestant South and the Order's anti-Black governmental policies in the Catholic North, these betrayed Blacks chanting "Power to the People" and singing "We Shall Overcome"), to further destroy the Constitution while both centralizing and increasing power in the Federal Government, the ultimate goal being today's Jesuit corporate fascism. As we shall see, communist maxims are imposed upon a targeted people after whose calculated destruction Rome's corporations are enthroned and Jesuit fascism ensues.]

> Thus the Jesuits furnished the ideological justification for the French revolution of the sixteenth century; they were not found lacking either, when it came to securing recognition of the demands of the Catholic people by force of arms. In order to overthrow the Ligue, King Henry had by now openly allied himself with his cousin Henry of Navarre [later, King Henry IV], the leader of the Huguenots, and now the Jesuits placed themselves at the head of the remaining clergy and of the Catholic population; they demanded the deposition of the traitorous king, and did not rest until he had been driven from Paris by an armed uprising [as the Order would later do to France's "The Citizen King"]. When Henry thereupon joined forces with his Huguenot cousin and besieged the capital, which was in open rebellion, it was the Jesuit fathers who were most active in keeping up the spirits of the hungry Parisians [as the Jesuits would do in Ireland when Oliver Cromwell laid siege to Drogheda], in urging them to hold out, and in everywhere organizing the military defense of the town.
> The act of an assassin gave a new turn to the embittered struggle: Jacques Clement, a young Dominican monk who was carried away by the revolutionary fanaticism of the [Jesuit-controlled Catholic] 'Leaguers,' and had decided to rid the country of the 'heretic king,' stole into his camp and stabbed Henry III to death [in obedience to the Jesuit Oath]. . . . [The Jesuit Juan] Mariana, who had been active at the court of Madrid as tutor to the future King Philip III, had written for the edification of his pupil a tract entitled De Rege et Regis Institutione, upholding the theory Laynez had expounded, to the effect that the power of the [Roman Catholic] sovereign was delegated to him by the [Roman Catholic] people, and that the sovereign was accordingly responsible to the people for the ensuring a just rule [by enforcing the Temporal Power of the Pope]. He went still further, however, by advancing the view that if, instead of ruling justly [in obedience to the Pope], the sovereign rules despotically [in disobedience to the Pope, refusing to enforce his supposed right to rule every nation on the face of the earth] and abuses his power by oppressing his [Roman Catholic] subjects [through siding with "heretic" Protestants or "liberal" ideas as did President John F. Kennedy; for all Jesuit-controlled monarchs or dictators, such as would be France's Louis XIV, are, in deed despots, oppressing their own Roman Catholic people], then the people are justified in ridding themselves of their despotic ruler; even by violence if need be [in restoring the Temporal Power of the Pope].

The proper procedure in such cases was for the people assembled in solemn conclave [in the local Roman Catholic Church] to deprive the ruler of the prerogatives vested in him, and pronounce formal judgment of death on the tyrant; if, however, by reason of external circumstances, it was not possible to adopt this procedure [meaning, that if the King cannot be defeated on the battlefield], then, in certain circumstances, every individual citizen was justified in giving effect to the will of the [Jesuit-controlled, Catholic League] people as a whole, and in removing the tyrant by violence. In this connection, Mariana had referred to Clement, the murderer of Henry III, and regarding his crime, had written that it would perhaps have the salutary effect 'of bringing home to the minds of rulers [i.e., instilling terror in the hearts of other rulers as did the Kennedy Assassination] that it is not only a just but a praiseworthy and meritorious action to slay them, if they oppress the community, and by reason of their vices and malpractices, become intolerable [in refusing to uphold the Pope's Temporal Power; for nearly every popish despot in history is characterized with a life of "vice and malpractice"].' Regarding Clement himself, Mariana declared: 'The majority of people look upon him as having done honour to France [the words of Mariana forever condemning the Jesuit Order as an international brotherhood of assassins until such writings are repealed]. . . .

This book furnished the advocates and professors of Paris with the desired pretext for representing the Jesuits as being primarily responsible for the murder of Henry III and for the two attempts on Henry IV [yet to be described in our narration]. Furthermore, there was the fact that the would-be regicide, Chastel, had studied for a considerable period in a Jesuit college. This was sufficient for the Parliament to order the arrest of the two Jesuit fathers, Gueret and Guignard, who had been Chastel's former teachers. In the possession of Guignard were found a few early pamphlets of the time of the League, and forthwith the father was pronounced guilty of high treason, sentenced to death and hanged. . . .

The loyal zeal of the Parliament, . . . was carried so far that it was not content merely with the cruel execution of Chastel [how can any execution of a regicide be cruel?], but even ordered his house to be razed to the ground. [Praise God!] On the spot where it had stood, a pillory was erected, on the base of which was inscribed the judgment pronounced on Chastel, and a number of aspersions on the Jesuits [which righteous monument properly commemorated this terrible crime of the Order].

[Juan] Mariana's book was publicly burnt by the hangman [as King James I would publicly burn the writings of Jesuit Francisco Suarez], and the Parliament was, at last, able to realize its long-cherished desire, and order the expulsion of the Jesuits from Paris. Expelled as heretics, rebels, and inciters to murder, the Jesuit fathers found themselves forced to depart from the French capital amid scorn and ignominy [as they should be expelled from the United States of America for the murders of at least ten American Presidents]." {6} [Emphasis added]

The throne passed to a Protestant, Henry of Navarre also known as King Henry IV. Henry's ascent began the Bourbon dynasty that would span nearly three centuries. At its anti-Jesuit height it would threaten war on the Papacy if it refused to abolish the Company of Jesus in the late Eighteenth Century and at its pro-Jesuit depth it would end in disgrace, overthrown by an outraged France, in 1830. Henry was not fully accepted as king until he renounced Protestantism, as the Jesuits had plotted to give the crown to a Spanish Roman Catholic, Clara Isabella. Henry's compromising, cowardly and shameful renunciation was accomplished in 1593.

Henry IV proved to be the greatest French king since Charlemagne. He sought to better the plight of the peasants created by Rome's Dark Ages. He encouraged the arts and industries while manufacturers arose throughout the kingdom.

France began to flourish while its treasury increased. Henry IV's greatest act, however, was the issuing of the Edict of Nantes in 1598. This edict guaranteed freedom of worship and equality of rights to the Protestant Huguenots. The Jesuits were furious! If religious freedom was permitted, France might become a Protestant nation. O horrors! Although a Roman Catholic, the king's good will toward the Protestants brought upon him the one hundred and twenty-five curses of the Jesuits' Council of Trent. Clearly, Henry IV must die!

The Jesuits must now fulfill their bloody Oath as they did with Admiral Coligny and Henry III. The king clearly understood his peril. Chiniquy writes in quoting Sully's Memoirs:

"Henry IV, King of France, after being wounded by an assassin sent by the Jesuits, said: 'I am compelled to do one of these two things: Either recall the Jesuits, free them from the infamy and disgrace with which they are covered, or to expel them in a more absolute manner, and prevent them from approaching either my person or my kingdom. But then, we will drive them to despair and to the resolution of attempting my life again, which would render it so miserable to me, being always under the apprehension of being murdered or poisoned. For these people have correspondence everywhere, and are so very skillful in disposing the minds of men to whatever they wish, that I think it would be better that I should be already dead.' " {7} [Emphasis added]

One sad day in 1610, the Jesuits, those masters of murder, slew France's great King Henry IV. While returning from a visit with Sully (who later described this entire tragedy in his Memoirs) the king's carriage was stopped in the middle of the street—just like President Kennedy's limousine was nearly stopped in the middle of the street in Dallas. Instantly Francois Ravaillac, the Jesuits' assassin, jumped upon the wheel, leaned into the carriage and stabbed his shocked victim through the heart.

When arrested, he was still clutching his bloody knife. The immoral theology of the Order, including the Papal Bulls authorizing its actions, its Constitutions, its Secret Instructions and the guarded works of nearly one hundred and fifty Jesuit jurists, was beginning to establish a trail in modern history, a chain of evidence, that when diligently sought out during the Order's Golden Age of the Twentieth Century, and now the Twenty-first, could be found amidst the decaying state papers and true histories relegated to the dustbins, libraries and antiquarian bookstores of the world.

The Edict of Nantes would maintain religious liberty in France for eighty-seven years. In 1685, the Jesuits would cause it to be revoked through their most obedient servant and brother Jesuit, King Louis XIV (a dear friend of his English brother Jesuit, King James II, both having shared the same Jesuit confessor) who ". . . saw his kingdom impoverished, his commerce gone, his name execrated throughout the world, and lay in his magnificent palace at Versailles dying [of venereal disease]. He is utterly wretched. The people curse him, and hurl stones and mud at his coffin." {8}

And Protestantism, including the Bible, would be outlawed for over one hundred years, Satan's Jesuit-controlled Papacy maintaining absolute control over every civil institution of France. (Doesn't this sound like Communist Russia, China and Cuba?)

Dear truth-seeker, do you understand how the Jesuits will murder even Roman Catholic rulers if they dare resist Rome's policies? Did President Kennedy resist the Jesuits by truly intending to remove Jesuit-trained Fidel Castro from power; to break the Black Pope's Central Intelligence Agency "into a thousand pieces;" and to end Cardinal Spellman's Crusade known as the Vietnam War? Was this a threat to the "infallible" Pope Paul VI's Temporal Power? Indeed, the Jesuits, in seeking to introduce unbridled tyranny, believe there is nothing their Church cannot do.

Henry IV, King of France, 1589 - 1610

The Calvinist Henry of Navarre, being the first of the Bourbon Kings, ascended the French throne as "King Henry IV" after the Order, using the Dominican monk Jacques Clement, had assassinated King Henry III with "the steel of the poniard" pursuant to the Jesuit Oath. Henry III's death sentence was for openly allying himself with his "heretic" cousin, Henry of Navarre. The risen Son of God used Henry IV to bring Religious Liberty to France with his promulgation of the wonderful Edict of Nantes thus outraging Satan's Black Pope. As the leader of the French Protestant Calvinists, called "Huguenots," he sought military alliances with other Protestant princes against the continuous political conspiracies of Rome. He even planned to come to the aid of the struggling Dutch Protestants in their war with Spain led by the Order's King Philip III.

After several attempts, the Jesuits finally assassinated King Henry IV at point blank range with one of their fanatical, remorseless tools, Francois Ravaillac, fulfilling their bloody Oath in obedience to the regicide doctrines of Jesuits Louis Molina and Francisco Suarez. This butchery would further the Black Pope's anti-Bible, Counter-Reformation in accordance with the evil Council of Trent to the end that by 1685 all Huguenots would be expelled and the Bible suppressed.

The Thirty Years' War; Massacring German Protestantism Ending the Pope's Dark Ages*; Beginning* the LORD's Modern Era

"For what object have we given to us money, soldiers, sabers, and cannon, but to use them against the enemy? Why do we hesitate, then, in commencing to eradicate and root out heresy, root and branch, and especially this Calvinistic abomination? Kill them, then, the hounds, strike them down, and hurl them to the ground, give them their finishing stroke, burn their houses over their heads, and overwhelm them with everything of the worst description that can be invented, so that the hateful brood may finally disappear from off the face of the earth [pursuant to the Extreme Jesuit Oath of the Fourth Vow]." {1} [Emphasis added]

"It is certain that the Jesuits, through the favour of the emperor, which cannot be overestimated, have attained to overwhelming power [as they would in Bavaria through the royal court of Wittelsbach in preparation for World War II]. . . . They have the upper hand in everything, even over the most prominent minister of state, and domineer over them, if they do not carry out their will. . . . Their influence has always been considerable, but it has reached its zenith since Father Lamormaini has been confessor to the emperor." {2} [Emphasis added]

"The Jesuits [being continual 'mischief makers" as Pope Clement XIV later declared in his Suppression and Extinction of the Society of Jesus in 1773] . . . immersed themselves to such an extent in worldly affairs, that their story belongs to general history. . . . ". . . a desolating war of thirty years, which, from the interior of Bohemia to the mouth of Scheldt, and from the banks of the Po to the coasts of the Baltic, devastated whole countries, destroying harvests, and reduced towns and villages to ashes; which opened a grave for many thousand combatants, and for half a century smothered the glimmering sparks of civilization in Germany, and threw back the improving manners of the country into their pristine barbarity and wildness." {4} [Emphasis added]

History of the Thirty Years' War

"All throughout Germany the Jesuits spread desolation and misery whenever the cause of truth and freedom was overcome by the superior material force of despotism and bigotry. 'They were the most able auxiliaries of [Emperor] Ferdinand II [and King Philip IV of Spain] in destroying the Protestants; they were in the imperial cabinet, in his armies, among the defeated sectarians, and they even dared to penetrate into the camp of the Lutherans' (as spies, no doubt). The Jesuits had formed [General Barclay] Tilly [the butcher of Protestant Magdeburg and the victor of a hundred battles], [General Albert de] Wallenstein [who personally hated the Jesuits for which he was ultimately assassinated], and [General Ottavio] Piccolomini, the three champions [military Generals] of the Catholic cause in the Thirty Years' War.

'They (the Jesuits) accompanied the armies in their march, they followed them to the battlefield; . . . they preached the extermination of the Protestants [in accordance with the Council of Trent having pronounced 125 curses on all heretics], and gave out that no work was so meritorious in the eyes of God as to kill those accursed heretics. They did not calm, but rather excited, the ferocious passions of their pupils the generals, and, above all, of Tilly, over whom they possessed a very great influence. . . .

They fought here, as elsewhere, not for their faith or their Church, but for their idol—the Order. . . . The greatest part of the properties of which the Protestants were iniquitously divested went to enrich the covetous and insatiable disciples of Loyola." {5} [Emphasis added]

"[The Jesuits] . . . aim and object was that the war . . . should in truth, become a war of annihilation. Besides, was it possible for them to allow peace to be concluded with countries whose rebellious Governments had issued a law ruling that no Jesuit should ever again dare to show his face, under pain of death, within their boundaries? This, indeed, had Bohemia done, as also Hungary, Moravia, Silesia, with Upper and Lower Austria; and not only had they acted thus; but, at the same time, had publicly disclosed to the world, all the nefarious peculiarities and deeds of the Order of Jesus, in such a manner as to embitter the feelings of the Jesuits in the highest degree . . . the whole frightful responsibility for this terrible thirty years' war must rest upon the Emperor Ferdinand II, and his teachers, rulers, and bosom friends, the Sons of Loyola." {6} [Emphasis added]

Theodor Griesinger, 1873
German Protestant Historian
The Jesuits

This most horrible chapter in history was started by the Protestants using their Swords of Just Defense as a result of years of Jesuit persecution through the Holy Roman Emperor Matthias. Of this persecution Ridpath writes:

"The reformed churches were closed or demolished [as was done to the Russian Orthodox Churches during the Order's Bolshevik Revolution], the hymn books and [Reformation] Bibles of the people seized and burned, and a decree of banishment promulgated against all who would not return to the Holy Church." {7} [Emphasis added]

Interestingly enough, at the beginning of the Seventeenth Century, Germany was nearly entirely Protestant—Lutheran and Calvinist. The Pope's Spiritual power, and therefore his Temporal political power, had nearly vanished from much of Germany thanks to Martin Luther's preaching of the Word of God and his constant attacks against the Papal System, rightfully referring to the Pope as "his Hellishness" and "Antichrist," and to Rome as "Mystery Babylon, the Mother of Harlots." Further, the Protestant ruling nobles, in beginning to enjoy the blessings of National Sovereignty, defended their right to rule without permission from the Pope. One exception was the fanatically Roman Catholic, Bavarian nobility, centuries later to be the power behind the Order's Ultramontane, right-wing Nazi fascism founded on Pope Pius IX's Jesuit-penned, Syllabus of Errors of 1864 intended to serve as one of the foundations for the Order's Hegelian dialectic between its extremes of fascism and communism. Of the little known fact of Germany's majority Protestant population, we read from Richard W. Thompson in his The Footprints of the Jesuits as he quotes the renowned Lutheran historian and founder of the modern school of history, Leopold von Ranke in the 1844 edition of his History of the Popes:

"The great Ranke, whose impartiality has extorted even Jesuit praise, when referring to the effect produced by the Reformation in Germany, says:

'In short, from west to east and from north to south, throughout all Germany, Protestantism had unquestionably the preponderance. The nobility were attached to it from the very first; the body of public functionaries, already in > those days numerous and important, was trained up in the new doctrine; the common people would hear no more of certain articles—such, for instance, as purgatory—or of certain ceremonies, such as the pilgrimages; not a man durst come forward with holy relics. A Venetian ambassador calculates, in the year 1558, that but a tenth part of the inhabitants of Germany still clung to the ancient faith.' [Wow!!]

> [The learned Jesuit historian] Abbe Maynard [in his The Studies and Teachings of the Jesuits] also refers to this approvingly, and the Jesuits make it a matter of boasting, in order to support their claim to superior merit for having extirpated so much Protestant heresy, and for bringing back such multitudes of people to papal obedience. Nine Protestants to one papist! Germany, then, was a Protestant nation, governed by Protestant authorities, under Protestant laws, tolerant towards all who adhered to the ancient [Roman Catholic] faith, allowing non-interference with the freedom of religious opinions, happy, prosperous, and free, under her own institutions. In these respects she was in the same condition as the United States is to-day [1894], so far as she could be in the absence of written constitutional guarantees." {8} [Emphasis added]

Therefore, on the 23rd of May 1618, the first Thirty Years' War began. The Order, with an alliance between Bavaria and Austria, was ready to murder all "heretics" in sight. By a special decree Bohemia expelled all Jesuits declaring:

> "We lords, knights, deputies of Prague, Kuttenberg and other estates, together recognize in what great danger this kingdom of Bohemia has stood ever since the introduction of the hypocritical sect of Jesuits. We have, moreover, found in truth that the originators of all this mischief are the above-mentioned Jesuits, who occupy themselves in contriving how they may strengthen the Roman See, and bring all kingdoms and lands under their power and might, who to this end employ the most illicit means, inflame rulers against one another, cause rebellion and unrest among the estates of countries, especially such as are of different religions, set superiors against subordinates, subordinates against superiors [in the name of "equality"]. . . . Now therefore, as they are in these ways the cause of the evil state which has befallen the kingdom, they have justly merited to be no longer tolerated in the said kingdom. . . ." {9} [Emphasis added]

Silesia, Moravia and Hungary joined in the revolt. But the Jesuits became masters of Germany through their agent and tool, Emperor Ferdinand II (1619- 1637), who, in alliance with the Roman Catholic Bavarian Duke Maximilian, was as clay in the hands of his confessor-advisor, the Viennese professor of "Moral Theology," Jesuit Martin Becan, and later, Jesuit William Lamormaini.

> "In the middle of the ever-increasing confusion of war, Emperor Matthias died, and Ferdinand was elected as his successor; his old confessor, [Jesuit Bartholomaeus] Viller, accompanying the new emperor on the journey to his coronation. When, shortly after, Viller died, Ferdinand, on the recommendation of the [Jesuit Superior] General of the Order, chose the Viennese professor of theology, Father [Martin] Becan, as his confessor.
> The confidence which the emperor placed henceforth in Becan is shown in his own letters, in which he frequently remarked that he would undertake no important decision without having first taken the advice of his confessor." {10} [Emphasis added]

Therefore:

> ". . . there now began a regular system of Protestant persecution—more mean, cruel, and horrible bloody things happened, indeed than can well be conceived—and according to the evidence furnished by the Jesuits themselves, the originator of all this was their distinguished brother, William Lamormain [Lamormaini] . . ." {11} [Emphasis added]
> One of the greatest military atrocities ". . . consisted in this, that the Croats [like the Franciscan priest-led Ustashi three centuries later during World War II] . . . were employed, with drawn swords, in hunting down the people, forcing them to the Mass with dogs and whips, and throwing the refractory ones into the cages in which they could neither sit, lie down, nor even stand, while they were compelled to witness, at the same time, the most horrible violence [forcible rape] applied to their poor wives and daughters, until the husbands and fathers swore upon their knees to renounce heresy." {12} [Emphasis added]

The Sons of Loyola, ever true to their bloody Oath, used Emperor Ferdinand II, with his militant, murderous, conspiring, offensive Catholic League in opposing the defensive Protestant Union, to kill over ten million people. Ridpath tells us in 1901:

> "It has been estimated that this benign [Popish] sovereign went into the world of spirits with the blood of ten millions of people on his soul. . . . In the whole history of the German race no other sovereign ever contributed so largely to the woes of the people." {13} [Emphasis added]

Gustavus Adolphus the Great, known as the "Lion of the North," the "Snow-King" of Sweden and the invincible military hero of the Black Pope's Thirty Years' War will forever stand as one of the eight greatest generals in the history of the world (Alexander the Great, Hannibal, Julius Caesar, Gustavus Adolphus, Turenne, Prince Eugene, Frederick II the Great, and Napoleon I) according to Napoleon

Bonaparte himself. Never knowing that his beloved daughter, Christiana, would be converted to Romanism by a Portuguese Jesuit, Antonio Macedo, and would therefore renounce her father's Lutheran throne of Sweden, Adolphus, the godly, the prayerful, the simply-attired, Lutheran servant of the risen Son of God, raged:

> "There are three Ls I should like to see hanged: the Jesuit Lamormaine [Lamormaini], the Jesuit Laymann and the Jesuit Laurentius Forer." {14} [Emphasis added]

As this "holy war" of the Order came to a close Ridpath continues:

> "It was evident that the end was at hand—that the insane and bloody project, conceived in the bosom of Jesuitism, and transplanted to the brain of [Emperor] Ferdinand II, to crush into the earth the cause for which Huss had died and Luther had lived, was now doomed to a complete and everlasting disappointment." {15} [Emphasis added]
> Indeed the end was a great disappointment for the Jesuits, but hardly everlasting. The Treaty of Westphalia, concluded in 1648, secured religious liberty and furthered the Protestant Bible-preaching Reformation. At the same time the Protestant Dutch Republic achieved its liberty from Jesuit-controlled Spain. Thus, the Devil's Society of Jesus had failed to destroy Jehovah's Protestant Reformation in attempting to return Europe to the Pope's Dark Ages. The Devil failed to enslave Europe's greatest White nations to both the Spiritual Power and the Temporal Power of the Great Papal Pretender, "Vicar of Christ;" Satan then (and now) fully intended to submit the world to the universal monarchy of his overt White Pope subservient to his covert Luciferian *Black Pope. For in 1648 the world entered into that glorious epic of political liberty known to all historians as "the Modern Era."

Dear reader, do you understand why the Bible-believing Protestants through the arm of government were forced to use guns to resist tyrannical, usurping, political power then under the control of the Jesuits? Could it be that the Jesuits, having used U.S. Senators Ted Kennedy, Arlen Specter and Charles Schumer to further deprive us Americans of our right to bear arms, have also penetrated the National Rifle Association with one of their tools, John M. Snyder, a former Jesuit seminarian who is a member of the Pope's Order of St. Michael the Archangel and who lead the effort to make "St. Gabriel of the Sorrowful Mother" the patron saint of gun owners? In light of the Jesuit Conference seeking to ban all privately owned firearms, HOW RIDICULOUS AND HYPOCRITICAL CAN SNYDER BE!!!!

Could it be that the Jesuits have further used their Georgetown University graduate, President William "Bill" J. Clinton, to deprive us Americans of our right to own and bear arms secured by the Second Amendment with his "assault weapons" ban? Could it be that Adolf Hitler, who was brought to power by Germany's Papal Nuncio, Archbishop Eugenio Pacelli through the Crown Prince of Bavaria and Knight of Malta Rupprecht Wittelsbach and by the Chairman of the Center Party, Jesuit Monsignor Ludwig Kaas; who was given the Chancellorship by Papal Chamberlain and Knight of Malta Franz von Papen; and who was advised by the Jesuit-controlled SS General Martin Bormann, was indeed the second Emperor Ferdinand II, waging the Second Thirty Years' War against the Protestants, the Orthodox and the Jews of Europe and Russia, he also having deprived the German people of their right to own and bear arms? Remember, our own Gun Control Act of 1968 is based upon Hitler's gun control legislation of 1935, as brought back from Germany by one of J. Edgar Hoover's former FBI agents, Thomas J. Dodd, a Nuremberg prosecutor and later, a Democratic Senator from Connecticut. Was the Roman Catholic Senator Dodd connected to the Jesuits through the Council on Foreign Relations, during the time of its management by the anti-gun, Jesuit-trained Archbishop of New York, Francis Cardinal Spellman? Is Dodd's Roman Catholic son, Connecticut Democratic Senator Christopher J. Dodd, this obvious agent provocateur of the Jesuits, going to continue the popish, anti-gun, socialist policies of his late father (or was his real father Josef Stalin, as reported by the late researcher Sherman Skolnick)? In conclusion, Thompson summarizes the Jesuit Crusade of the Thirty Years' War and makes it relevant for us in the Twenty-first Century:

> "What people upon earth, other than the Germans themselves, had the just right, under the law of nations or any other human law, to interfere with their condition, or to plot, openly or secretly, against their independence?
> What was all this, however to the pope or to the Jesuits? From whence did they derive the authority to form a conspiracy at Rome to invade Germany, overthrow her existing institutions, bind the limbs of her people with fetters they had already broken, to gather up the rusty iron they had cast away, and re-forge it into manacles to hold them in obedience to an alien and foreign power? Was this conspiracy commanded by the law of God? If it was, wherein is that law changed? If not changed, and God's laws are all immutable, may not the Jesuits of to-day enter into fresh conspiracies to subvert the present institutions of Germany, or of Great Britain, or of the United States, or of any other nation that maintains the principles of Protestantism and the freedom of conscience? . . . 'The Jesuits,' says Ranke, 'conquered the Germans on their own soil, in their very home, and wrested from them a part of their native land.' Will there not be other conquests to be achieved by them so long as the freedom of conscience is sheltered and guaranteed by Protestant Institutions?" {16} [Emphasis added]

Death of Gustavus Adolphus at Lutzen, 1594 – 1632 #4-7
Protestant King of Sweden, 1611 – 1632

Known as "the Snow King" and "the Lion of the North," this greatest of Lutherans was the hero of the Thirty Years' War brought upon Europe by the Sons of Loyola controlling the Hapsburg and Wittelsbach dynasties ruling the Roman Catholic nations of Austria and Bavaria. On his knees, upon entering this, his last battle, he prayed, "O Lord Jesus Christ, bless our arms and this day's battle for the glory of Thy Holy Name!" Here, he is dying, giving his last full measure for Protestant liberty declaring to his killers, "I am the King of Sweden, and thus I seal with my blood the religion and liberties of Germany." Our hero's modest life and noble death furthered the risen Son of God's Grand and Glorious Protestant Reformation—having originated in East Germany—that brought about "The Modern Era" with the Treaty of Westphalia in 1648.

PAUSE I

The Jesuits — 1540 – 1773

Jesuit Ascendancy and Power

Dear truth-seeker, in light of the previous seven chapters we must pause and reflect on the power of the Jesuit Order. Historian John Clark Ridpath writes:

> "The Society of Jesus was thenceforth recognized as the chief opposing force of Protestantism. The Order became dominant in determining the plans and policy of the Romish Church. The brotherhood grew and flourished. It planted its chapters first in France, Italy and Spain, and then in all civilized lands. The success of the Order was phenomenal. It became a power in the world. It sent out its representatives to every quarter of the globe. Its solitary apostles were seen shadowing the thrones of Europe.
> They sought, by every means known to human ingenuity, to establish and confirm the tottering fabric of Rome, and to undermine the rising fabric of Protestantism. They penetrated to the Indus and the Ganges. They traversed the deserts of Thibet, and said, "Here am I," in the streets of Peking. They looked down into the silver mines of Peru, and knelt in prayer on the shore of Lake Superior. To know all secrets, fathom all designs, penetrate all intrigues, prevail in all counsels, rise above all diplomacy, and master the human race,—such was their purpose and ambition. They wound about human society in every part of the habitable earth, the noiseless creepers of their ever-growing plot to retake the world for the Church, and to subdue and conquer and extinguish the last remnant of opposition to her dominion from shore to shore, from the rivers to the ends of the earth." {1} [Emphasis added]

Having gained control of a nation's political leaders, the Order then enforced its power over the people with its "Holy" Office of the Inquisition. We read:

> "The Jesuits reckon it among the glories of their order, that Loyola supported, by a special memorial to the Pope [Paul III (1534-1549)], a petition for . . . reviving the infamous tribunal of the [Roman] Inquisition [with a Bull on April 1, 1542] . . . This terrible tribunal, in the hands of the relentless and unforgiving Caraffa [Gian Pietro Cardinal Caraffa or Carafa, later Pope Paul IV (1559-1565)], spread desolation and dismay throughout Italy, from its very commencement . . . death assumed a new and more terrible aspect. And he who should invent new instruments of torture to dislocate the limbs of the victims with the most exquisite and excruciating pains possible would be rewarded!!! Throughout Italy, and in various parts of Europe, you might have seen, whilst the infernal flames of the pile were ascending, the sinister and diabolical smile of the Jesuits, who were aiming at the increase of their order, under the shade of this all-mastering power!" {2} [Emphasis added]

Dear truth-seeker, the Order's "Holy" Office of the Inquisition—in maintaining its all-mastering power over the people—was brought into Stalin's Russia and Hitler's Germany under the guise of political ideologies—International Socialist-Communism, i.e., Marxism! and National Socialist-Fascism, i.e., Nazism!

Under the guise of drug-based, allopathic, medical ideology, the Order extended its Inquisition into 33rd Degree Freemason Theodore "Rex" Roosevelt's Fourteenth Amendment American Empire with the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) controlling its agent, the Masonically-directed American Medical (Murderer's) Association (AMA). Of Rome's power over America at the turn of the Nineteenth Century, Thomas Edward Watson, the great U. S. Senator from Georgia known as "the Sage of Hickory Hill," declared:

> "Today the Roman priest is the most insolent and arrogant man in America. The laws will not touch him. The politicians do his bidding.
>
> The press is afraid of him. His powerful hand controls Congress and the President. . . . [The priests] have established the Inquisition here: . . . they are in secret league with the head-chiefs of both the old political parties: they have shackled the press; and the cowardly politicians are in deadly fear of them. They have promised their Papa that the United States shall be his within the next few years! . . . But the Papa would burn heretics right now, if he could. . . .
> The Roman Catholic Hierarchy! The most damnable group of interlocking secret societies that ever met in darkness, and took hellish oaths to a compact of greed, and lust, and crime, for the sordid purpose of grasping uncontrollable power, boundless wealth, and a never ceasing supply of the most enjoyable women. These secret societies [the Society of Jesus, the Knights of Malta, the Knights of Columbus, 33rd Degree and Shriner Freemasonry, Opus Dei, etc.] which constitute the real machinery of the Roman Catholic Church, have the same sort of religion that Satan would have . . . were he to . . . take human shape on earth [the final Pope (possibly of the Germanic Merovingian bloodline claimed by evil men to be today's Davidic bloodline through descendants of a merely human "Jesus") to be the Antichrist]." {3} [Emphasis added]

As we shall see, the power of the Jesuits is now universal. They kill political leaders if they oppose their policies even if those leaders are Roman Catholic—like Bostonian Knight of Columbus, President John F. Kennedy. They foment wars to suit their purposes in fulfilling the Council of Trent—like the Vietnam War!

Holy Office of the Inquisition, Bavaria, 1600 #4-8

Wherever there are Jesuits controlling the civil power, there is, or will be, an Inquisition to "dispatch heretics and liberals" and compel submission from the survivors. As was done in Jesuit-ruled Bavaria in the 1600s, so would it be in the 1900s, the Order controlling Bavaria's SS and Munich's Gestapo Headquarters. In the Soviet Union the Order would rule Moscow's NKVD and its Lubyanka. Fire and sword are the Company's great weapons in Counter-Reformation.

The Pope, Jesuit General and Arsenal of the Holy Office, 1620 #4-9

After Pope Paul III approved the Society of Jesus in 1540, he re-established the Holy Office of the Inquisition in 1542, resurrecting the monster first created by that mass-murderer, Pope Innocent III. Wielding both "fire and sword" against all "accursed heretics" pursuant to the Black Pope's Council of Trent, we read:

"Turn we now to the town of Nuremberg, in Bavaria. . . . The house [Chamber of Torture] adjoins the Imperial Castle . . . It is hung round and round with instruments of torture, . . . There were instruments for compressing the fingers till the bones should be squeezed to splinters. . . . instruments for probing below the finger-nails till an exquisite pain, like a burning fire, would run along the nerves. . . . instruments for tearing out the tongue, for scooping out the eyes, for grubbing-up the ears. . . . bunches of iron cords, with a spiked circle at the end of every whip, for tearing the flesh from the back till bone and sinew were laid bare. . . . iron cases for the legs, which were tightened upon the limb placed in them by means of a screw, till flesh and bone were reduced to a jelly. . . . cradles set full of sharp spikes, in which victims were laid and rolled from side to side, the wretched occupant being pierced at each movement of the machine with innumerable sharp points. . . . iron ladles with long handles, for holding molten lead or boiling pitch, to be poured down the throat of the victim, and convert his body into a burning cauldron. . . . and other larger instruments for the same fearful end—lacerating, mangling, and agonizing living men; . . ."

The Jesuits — 1614 – 1867; 1941

Expelled from Japan; Assassination of Emperor Komei Warlord Emperor Meiji, Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Iwakura Tomomi Masonic Emperor Hirohito, Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Kido Koichi and Fascist Puppet Tojo Hideki, "the Sword of the Church"

> "Rome is now egging on Japan to annex Mexico, seize on the Philippines, on Hawaii and Alaska, to wipe off the United States of America from the map of the world's great powers [as the Jesuits have controlled the Emperor's court since no later than 1868]. While our Presidents [Taft and Wilson] are attending mass the Jap and other foreign emissaries in America are busy stealing plans from the Navy Department [which would be secretly working with Japanese Intelligence via the Jesuit Order by 1941] and studying every weak spot in our National armor, to report thereon promptly and fully to hostile governments. . . . Will America's army, papalized and foreignised, be so weakened and emasculated by Romanistic control as to make it easy prey for the perfidious Jap!" [Is this not how Rome is using China, whose Navy, according to the Jesuit-ruled BBC, has been practicing (as of January, 2002) in the Straits of Formosa for the West Coast Invasion of North America?] {1} [Emphasis added]

The writer was told by a Japanese Christian minister . . . that the Roman Church had gotten into his country under the guise of Mohammedanism . . . the Roman Catholic politician, [SMOM] James Phelan . . . sent to the United States Senate in 1913 . . . has been a prime mover in the anti-Jap agitation [even as the Jesuit Order's Council on Foreign Relations, including Fox News Network, is behind the presentday anti-Moslem agitation] . . ." {2} [Emphasis added]

> The Suppressed Truth About the Assassination of Abraham Lincoln

Remembering the purpose of the Jesuit Order, it set out to conquer the Far East, particularly Japan, and upon that victory, the Chinese Empire. First came the priests, and then came the foreign soldiers. In attempting to capture Japan with Francis Xavier arriving in 1549, the Jesuits converted many of the Japanese lords called "daimyo." The sect most subservient to the Order was the Choshu Clan, later banished for centuries. The Jesuits then incited them to destroy hundreds of Buddhist temples and slaughter the priests. But it came to pass that the risen Son of God would send a Protestant sea captain to the court of the Emperor's shogun. Having saved William Adams from being crucified by the Jesuits, the shogun Iyeyasu held many interviews with the mariner. There he learned of the Order's bloody history including the extermination of the West Indian races and of the Inquisition in Spain. As a result, the Englishman rose to extraordinary favor and was created a Samurai.

The shogun then purposed to resist the Pope's political agenda of the Roman Catholic Hierarchy guided by the Jesuits and their evil Council of Trent. We read:

> "From the beginning of his reign Iyeyasu had been organizing and unifying his empire and establishing his power to cope with the foreign conspirators.
> In 1606 he issued an edict forbidding further mission work and proclaiming that those who had adopted Christianity must abandon it. By Christianity he meant what Voltaire meant by "the Infamous," the intriguing system of Rome which aimed at the overthrow of the native government and the sectarian domination of the country." {3} [Emphasis added]

With this understanding, by 1642 the Tokugawa shoguns, Iyeyasu (1603-1616), Hidetada (1616-1623) and Iyemitsu (1623-1651), successfully expelled the last Jesuits with their minions, the Spanish and the Portuguese, allowing only the Protestant Dutch to trade with the Empire until 1854! With the Order first expelled in 1587 and again in 1597 by Daimyo Hideyoshi (for which he paid with his life in 1598), in 1614 Iyeyasu issued an edict in the name of his son, Hidetada, finally expelling the Company and outlawing Roman Catholic "Christianity." In 1622 many Jesuits were justly put to death ("martyred") for high treason, and in 1624 the Roman Catholic Spanish were banished by one of Iyemitsu's edicts. And why?

> "The Christians [Jesuits], so the decree alleged, were striving 'to spread abroad a pernicious code, to exterminate the true religion [Buddhism], to overthrow the government, and to make themselves masters of the whole empire.' " {4} [Emphasis added] And to what end?
> "These [Jesuits] had for their object nothing less than the conquest of China, and the Jesuit fathers cherished the hope of gaining before long entry into Peking in the train of the Japanese ruler." {5} [Emphasis added]

(Dear truth-seeker, this is precisely what happened from 1865 to 1989. The Jesuits, in control of the Japanese Army through Emperor Meiji and his grandson Hirohito, ended the Manchu Dynasty in 1911 and, during World War II, gang-raped and mass-murdered the Chinese people, as described in The Rape of Nanking, until 1945. Then in 1949 the Order, using their British, American and Russian Empires, installed its Chinese Grand Inquisitor, Mao Zedong. To deceive the anti-communist West, Mao OPENLY expelled the Jesuits in 1949! He in turn, in the name of "communism," murdered fifty million of his own people. The Jesuit General, having won the Cold War, became the absolute master of the Far East and emerged with a powerful new "sword of the Church" in his hands—the enormous Chinese Army! This army will one day absorb Japan, Korea, Taiwan, Malaysia, and a disarmed Australia, having been given technology and high finance by the Papal Caesar's "Holy Roman" Fourteenth Amendment American Empire since Richard Nixon's Presidency.)

But the Company of Jesus never cedes any portion of its power without a fight, as, in the words of the former Speaker of the House and one of the Kennedy assassins, Tip O'Neill, "power is never given, only taken." In 1637 it resisted the shogun's edicts by force through raising an army and inciting a rebellion. This army of thirty thousand Roman Catholic Japanese declared a religious war and openly revolted against the Emperor. It seized an abandoned castle on the coast of Shimabara and waited for the Spanish fleet of King Philip IV (1621-1665) intending to reinforce the Jesuits and their army. But the shogun's forces, along with the Protestant Dutch fleet, foiled the aim of the Order by destroying the fortress along with the rebels.

> "With the crushing of this rebellion fell the hopes of the Jesuits of establishing themselves in Japan. Their religion, says Lafcadio Hearn, had brought to Japan nothing but evil: disorders, persecutions, revolts, political troubles, and war. Even those virtues of the people which had been evolved at unutterable cost for the protection and conservation of society—their self-denial, their faith, their loyalty, their constancy and courage—were by this black creed diverted, distorted, and transformed into forces for the destruction of that society. Could that destruction have been accomplished, and a new Roman Catholic empire [Emperor Meiji's Japanese Empire] have been founded upon the ruins, the forces of that empire would have been used for the further extension of priestly tyranny, the spread of the [Jesuit Order's] Inquisition, the perpetual Jesuit warfare against freedom of conscience and human progress. . . . Viewed from any other standpoint than that of religious bias, and simply judged by its results, the Jesuit effort to Christianize Japan must be regarded as a crime against humanity, a labor of devastation, a calamity comparable only—by reason of the misery and destruction which it wrought—to an earthquake, a tidal-wave, a volcanic eruption." {6} [Emphasis added]

(Dear truth-seeker, as we shall later see, this is exactly what the Jesuits did to our Federal Republic established by our great George Washington. They founded a new "Holy Roman" American Empire on the ruins of our nation devastated by the War Between the States (1861-1865). The Jesuits then used their new American Empire to subdue all nations to the Temporal Power of their "infallible" Pope. In so doing the Jesuit General used his International Intelligence Community—the Holy Office of the Inquisition—to conduct his warfare against freedom of conscience, freedom of speech, of the press and human progress pursuant to the evil Council of Trent.)

The result of this upheaval was in 1636 shogun Iyemitsu banished the Roman Catholic Portuguese and all foreigners from Japan forever. The Pope's Temporal Power was to never be extended into his nation. The Expulsion Edict reads:

> "For the future, let none, so long as the sun illuminates the world, presume to sail to Japan, not even in the quality of ambassadors, and this declaration is never to be revoked, on pain of death." {7}

Of the Order's previous expulsion in 1614 until the final forced eviction of every last Roman Catholic priest in 1642, we read from Japan's Imperial Conspiracy: How Emperor Hirohito Led Japan Into War Against the West by David Bergamini:

> "Then in 1614, after further negotiation, ex-Emperor Go-Yozei consented to the Tokugawa-imperial marriage, and Tokugawa Iyeyasu, for his part, issued an edict ordering the deportation of foreign priests, the demolition of churches, and the renunciation of faith by all those Christians [Roman Catholics Jesuit tools] who seek 'to change the government of the country and obtain possession of the land [accomplished in Meiji's Imperial Japan finally absorbed into Fourteenth Amendment America after WWII].'
> In making this concession to the xenophobia of the high-priestly Emperor, Tokugawa [whose dynasty would endure until 1868] was influenced by the views of a practical Protestant layman who had no love for Portuguese Jesuits and Spanish friars. This was Will Adams, an Englishman from Kent, who had arrived in Japan in 1600 as a virtual castaway . . . During his lifetime Adams enjoyed the right of informal access to Shogun Tokugawa and, as a Protestant, constantly warned him against the territorial ambitions of Spain [under Jesuit-controlled King Philip IV whose grandfather had sent the Armada against England in 1588] and of her advance agents, 'the Papists.' As a result, Tokugawa tended to look upon all Spanish missionaries and most of the Portuguese Jesuits as fifth columnists bent on subversion [as they have subverted our government in America today]. . . . and so, on Adam's advice, Tokugawa encouraged Protestant merchants from Holland and England and used his edict against Christianity merely as an un-enforced warning to the friars and Jesuits. . . .

In 1634 Shogun Tokugawa Iyemitsu came from Tokyo [the residence of the Shogun] to Kyoto [the residence of the Emperor] . . . the shogun entertained the adolescent Empress, her father the retired Emperor, and all the courtiers at Nijo Castle, . . . The shogun had with him the globe on which Will Adams had formerly given lessons in geography to Iyeyasu, the shogun's grandfather. After many hours . . . they had examined Japan's position in the world from every angle and reached a meeting of the minds.

It was to determine Japan's highest state policy for the next 233 years. Its specifics were unwritten and secret but its general tenor may be judged from its results. . . . [In 1636] he proscribed all practice of the alien Christian religion on pain of death. . . . thus he sealed off Japan from the rest of the world [thanks to Jesuit-incited rebellion and bloody intrigue].

When the law against Christianity was enforced and half a million converts were ordered to renounce their faith, many Japanese built their own crosses and waited to be nailed to them. . . . Jesuit fathers who lived in hiding had to warn their parishioners against the pride of suicidal martyrdom. . . . In 1638 the shogun's police rounded up the last Portuguese priests and deported them. Thereafter one or two Catholic priests were smuggled in, hunted down, and executed, and all ships from Catholic countries were turned away at gunpoint. . . . Toward the Protestant Dutch and English, Iyeyasu's advisor Will Adams had given the authorities a somewhat more lenient attitude. As late as 1673 a British ship, which called to trade, was received civilly. The shogun was even inclined to let it discharge its cargo—or was, until he learned that Charles II of England was married to Catherine of Braganza and that Catherine was Portuguese [and a most devoted tool of the Jesuits]. After that, all deals were off and the British East Indiaman was sent away with threats. . . . Only a small Dutch trading post was allowed to remain in Japan [at Nagasaki harbor, for which reason the city was destroyed by an atomic ground blast detonated by Jesuits under the command of Jesuit Pedro Arrupe in 1945] . . . In 1642, . . . the last Japanese priest had been crucified and Japan had closed like an oyster [to the Jesuits and their allied European sovereigns]. She would not relax enough to be opened again for 211 years [in 1854]." {8} [Emphasis added]

As a result of these edicts, the Jesuits would be barred from Japan for over two hundred years, allowing art, prosperity and peace to flourish on the island nation under the fearless Tokugawa shoguns. Little did the Emperor and shogun know that both of their dynasties and nation would pay dearly for this! Always plotting and forever returning via secret disguise, in 1854 the Order used the American gunboats of Commodore Matthew C. Perry to open up trade with Japan. In taking vengeance on its old enemy, the Company (formally re-admitted in 1865), using foreigners, incited a revolution in 1868 after the assassination of Emperor Komei in 1867 and subsequent resignation of Shogun Yoshinobu. The shogun was branded a "tyrant" and a "usurper" (for refusing to submit to the secret imposition of the Temporal Power of the Pope pursuant to the absolutist and regicide doctrines of the Jesuit Francisco Suarez) and was forced to resign in 1867 ending the fifteen-generation Tokugawa shogunate. The Order's loyal clans, Choshu and Satsuma, secretly subject to the Black Pope for over two hundred years, conducted the Boshin War (1868-69), eliminating the anti-Jesuit Tokugawas while consolidating all power into the hands of the Order's new boy-Emperor. Annihilation of ten thousand of the "rebel" Satsuma clan, intending to take their grievances to the Emperor in person led by samurai Saigo Takamori (enacted in the Order's Hollywood movie The Last Samurai), occurred in 1877 eliminating all resistance to the Society's Asian Warlord.

In 1867, using agents involved with Queen Victoria's British Ambassador Thomas Glover, the Order assassinated Emperor Komei at the young age of only thirty-six. And why? Emperor Komei refused to open up Japan to the treasonous, Jesuit-controlled, White "Christian" foreigners who were at that time in the process of causing a revolution! (Thank you Toichi for these facts, my Japanese friend!) Of this assassination we read of Japanese Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor and secret murderer of patriotic Komei—Iwakura Tomomi—, Komei's banished advisor, beneficiary of the assassination and subsequent advisor of fourteen-year-old Emperor Meiji:

> "On January 15, 1867, Emperor Komei had a cold and his doctors prescribed a potion for him. One of the elder ladies-in-waiting, who performed menial palace housework, later said: 'He was given smallpox poison.' . . . The next morning Emperor Komei felt 'unpleasant,' . . . By January 18 he was confined to bed, was running a high fever, could not eat or sleep, and babbled deliriously. . . . By January 26 he was so far recovered [from the smallpox] that Shogun Tokugawa Yoshinobu, Lord of Mito, visited his bedside. . . . On the twenty-ninth he seemed fully convalescent and ate heartily. . . . That night his handmaidens gave him a bath and a thimble or two of his favorite saké. The next day, January 30, 1867, he awoke in misery. . . . He vomited repeatedly, 'breathed like an insect,' and 'passed blood from the honorable ninth hole [penis].' Late in the afternoon he fell into a coma. During the evening his doctors reappeared in force, examined him, found his pulse growing weaker and his limbs colder. At 11:00 P.M. he died. The death was not announced for four days, the funeral not held for thirty-two days. To courtiers whose diaries have been preserved, it appeared that Emperor Komei had survived a classic case of smallpox only to fall prey to a classic case of poisoning.

[Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor] Iwakura Tomomi, the nobleman who had once been Emperor Komei's chief advisor and had been living for four years in exile and hiding outside the Kyoto city walls, returned to Court immediately. One week after Komei's death, . . . Iwakuara sent a letter to one of the progressive samurai of Satsuma, one of the future leaders of Japan, with whom he had corresponded throughout the years of his rustication and plotting [which Satsuma oligarch, Okubo Toshimichi, in the battle of annihilation of 1877, would conspire with his boyhood friend, samurai* Saigo Takamori, who then deliberately delayed the march of his "rebel" army against Meiji's garrison—equipped with American-made Gatling guns! This treason allowed large bodies of Meiji's troops to be dispatched from Tokyo, who then massacred the valiant yet betrayed samurai warriors and witnessed the suicide of Saigo Takamori {9}]. In it, he wrote:

> 'I wish to release you and the others from any responsibility or punishment. I alone am responsible.' The correspondent wrote back:
> 'Silence is the best course [as in the case of the JFK assassination].' . . . The honorable Iwakura took all the royal blood on his own head and dedicated the rest of his life [until 1883] to the selfless service of Emperor Meiji, Komei's son and Hirohito's grandfather." {10} [Emphasis added]

True to form, having assassinated another enemy in obedience to its wicked laws, the Sons of Loyola put the young Emperor Meiji on the throne. Inexperienced and intimidated through the murder of his father, he became a most willing tool of the Order's advisors for over forty years, from 1868 to 1912. In 1873 the "Christianity Ban" was lifted, allowing all "Christian" sects open public worship in Japan, which included not only the Jesuits but the true Bible-believing, gospel missionaries of the Lord Jesus Christ eternally saving many of the LORD's Japanese elect during the 1880s according to Protestant missionary Winburn T. Thomas in his 1959 treatise, Protestant Beginnings In Japan: The First Three Decades, 1859-1889! In 1874 Buddhism, the Company's old enemy, was legally disenfranchised, the Emperor no longer protecting or providing for the former state religion. In 1889 all power was centralized in the monarchy via a new, unprecedented "Constitution" that would even cause King Charles I to blush, enthroning Emperor Meiji as the most absolutist military dictator in the Far East! Amassing a fortune via the proceeds of three industrial monopolies, cartel-capitalist Meiji began his military conquests for the Order in 1894, inciting revolution in Korea and sinking the Chinese Navy; in 1904 he ordered a surprise attack on the fleet of Nicholas II, destroying the Russian navy.

The overthrow of both the Manchu and Romanov dynasties were key goals of the Order fighting to restore the Pope's Temporal Power around the world. The Jesuits had been recently re-admitted into China in 1841 after years of suppression since 1775, and they were still legally expelled from all the Russias since 1820—though secretly in country and controlling the Romanovs ever since the Order's socialist-anarchists had brutally assassinated "heretic and liberal" Tzar Alexander II in 1881.

(Years later during the Pope's Cold War, the Company would launch a massive Inquisition against the peaceable Buddhists, aided their Masonic Dalai Lama (exiled in 1959 and presently a friend of the Jesuits at Georgetown University in Washington, D.C.), for daring to challenge THE POWER of "the Black Pope." Using Jesuittrained, bloodthirsty dictators like Chairman Mao of China, President Diem of Vietnam and Pol Pot of Cambodia, the Brotherhood would murder millions of Buddhists in obedience to its ungodly Jesuit Oath and Council of Trent, presently the foreign policy of the United States, Russia and China dictated by the Order's Council on Foreign Relations and Trilateral Commission in New York.)

Now that all resistance was out of the way, the Society of Jesus restored Emperor worship and centralized power (Jesuit style) in Tokyo. With this new absolute power in place, the Order would use its "Japanese Sword of the Church" until 1945. It used the Emperor's army to make war on two of its old enemies, China (1894) and Russia (1904): for the Manchu Emperor in Peking had expelled the Jesuits in 1716 and again in 1775 as a result of the Order's Papal Suppression in 1773, while the Romanov Tzar Alexander I in Moscow had done the same in 1820. By 1941 payback time had arrived for the Japanese people having enjoyed a Jesuit-free Japan for over two hundred years. Under the supervision of "the Black Pope" (Jesuit General Wladimir Ledochowski in Rome), the Sons of Loyola in Tokyo (working in conjunction with their brother Jesuits in Washington, D.C.) would create a war between the United States and Japan. In secret collusion with Masons Roosevelt and Hirohito, Tojo's Japanese fleet would bomb Pearl Harbor, creating a war-fury across America. (Had not that Jesuit-controlled traitor, Admiral Nagumo, cancelled his third attack wave, all ship repair and fuel storage facilities, having formerly belonged to Papal Knight of Malta and key player in the Teapot Dome Scandal, Edward L. Doheny, would have been destroyed, forcing the American Navy to wage a long-range war from the California coast!) The Congress would be tricked into declaring war—for the last time. This deception resulted in many Japanese Americans being shamefully shipped to mid-west concentration camps—the brainchild of Masonic Earl Warren of the Warren Commission. Emperor Hirohito lost his absolute monarchy, Japan with its ancient culture was destroyed and the Japanese people suffered the shame and humiliation of a national defeat. The Jesuits, via their CFR, then incorporated Japan into the Pope's "Holy Roman" Fourteenth Amendment American Empire, creating a socialist-commercial colony dependent on Washington for its protection—while building its navy to aid our future Chinese invaders!

Dear truth-seeker, I am and will always be an American. My heart breaks for my father's generation of American soldiers who suffered the cruelty of Japanese torture and death marches. The bloodbaths of Iwo Jima, Guadalcanal, Tarawa and the re-taking of the Philippines gave the United States Marines a fame they will never lose and a suffering they must never forget. If they only knew they were fighting not for American freedom under our Protestant Constitution but for the vengeance of the Jesuit General and his wicked Council of Trent, "for the greater glory of God," the Popish-Egyptian god-man who sits in St. Peter's Chair!

122nd Emperor of Japan, 1867 – 1912

Mutsuhito, upon ascending to the Throne at age 14, assumed the name "Meiji" (Enlightened Rule) after his father, Emperor Komei, had received "the poison cup" for refusing to open Japan to foreigners. Working in conjunction with the British, its SIS being directed by English Papal Knights loyal to the Jesuit General, Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Iwakura Tomomi was the power behind Komei's murder and the annihilation of thousands of samurai warriors in 1877.

Moving the Emperor's residence from Kyoto to Tokyo, Iwakura guided the boygod-king's domestic and foreign policies, including mandatory conscription, consolidation of all executive, legislative and judicial powers into the hands of the Emperor, as well as vesting supreme command over the Army and Navy with absolute power to make war and conclude peace guided by a Jesuit-ruled advisory body called "the Privy Council." Upon Iwakura's death in 1883, the Emperor continued to build his monopolistic corporate empire, conferring rights to three great cartel families, one of them being the Mitsubishis—now seated on the Jesuit Order's CFR/Trilateral Commission. Meiji aided the Black Pope in his attack on the Chinese-Manchu and Russian-Romanov monarchies, after whose overthrow, grandson Hirohito would serve as "the sword of the Church" during WWII, killing Protestants and leveling their churches throughout the Far East.

With the Satanic Jesuit Order being responsible for the expulsion of anything "Christian" for over two centuries, the opening of Japan in 1873 resulted in the spreading of the true gospel of Jesus Christ and the phenomenal growth of the Japanese church from 1883 to 1889. With the mystery of iniquity progressing in parallel with the mystery of godliness, God worked for good that which the Devil intended for evil, saving many Japanese elect during this small loophole of time.

The Teapot Dome Scandal of the 1920s (named after a town in Wyoming) involved Albert Fall, the Secretary of Interior under Shriner Freemason President Warren G. Harding (given "the poison cup") and the Irish Roman Catholic petroleum magnate Edward Doheny—who was far richer than John D. Rockefeller. Doheny's second wife, Estelle, was a Papal Countess and Dame of Malta who financed the building of one of the Order's Churches in Los Angeles.

This evil and calculating man bribed his old friend, Albert Fall, into leasing Navy oil land in Elk Hills, California, which oil netted him 100 million dollars in gold. Doheny then built Navy fuel storage tanks at Pearl Harbor in the name of "National Security" for the protection against a west coast "Mongol" invasion, the Black Pope preparing his "Holy Roman" 14th Amendment American Empire to wage a future war against Japan. Fall was convicted of taking a bribe from Doheny, but after four court battles the Pope's Papal Knight was found innocent of giving the very same sinister bribe that Fall had been sent to prison for receiving! Now, the Company of Jesus could secretly incite a Japanese attack using Masonic American President FDR's ONI and Masonic Japanese Emperor Hirohito's warlords to wage war against the anti-Jesuit Japanese people!

Oil Tank Farm, Southeast Loch, Pearl Harbor; October, 1941 #5-5

Ah dear truth-seeker, what a temptingly seductive target for any fighter pilot to strafe and destroy leaving the oil tanks in one massive flame of desolation! And yet, the first two Japanese attack waves never touched this "pearl of great price."

Taken two months prior to the attack, this aerial photo reveals the tank farm (built by Knight of Malta Edward L. Doheny via the Teapot Dome Scandal during the 1920s for the intended war with Japan), the submarine base (critical for the calculated destruction of the Japanese Fleet built with US scrap metal), and CINCPAC (Commander in Chief, Pacific Fleet) headquarters—commanded by FDR's patsy, Admiral Husband E. Kimmel. The destruction of this singular target alone, if not one battleship or aircraft had been lost that fateful morning, would have necessitated the withdrawal of the U.S. Navy to the California coast justifying a subsequent Japanese invasion of Hawaii. The Order's control of Masonic FDR's Office of Naval Intelligence and Masonic Hirohito's Japanese High Command is sublimely illustrated in Vice-Admiral Nagumo's refusal to send the Third Attack Wave of fighters to demolish this Achilles' Heel. Typical of the Company orchestrating both sides, the War in the Pacific proceeded as planned—eliminating "heretics and liberals" according to the Council of Trent.

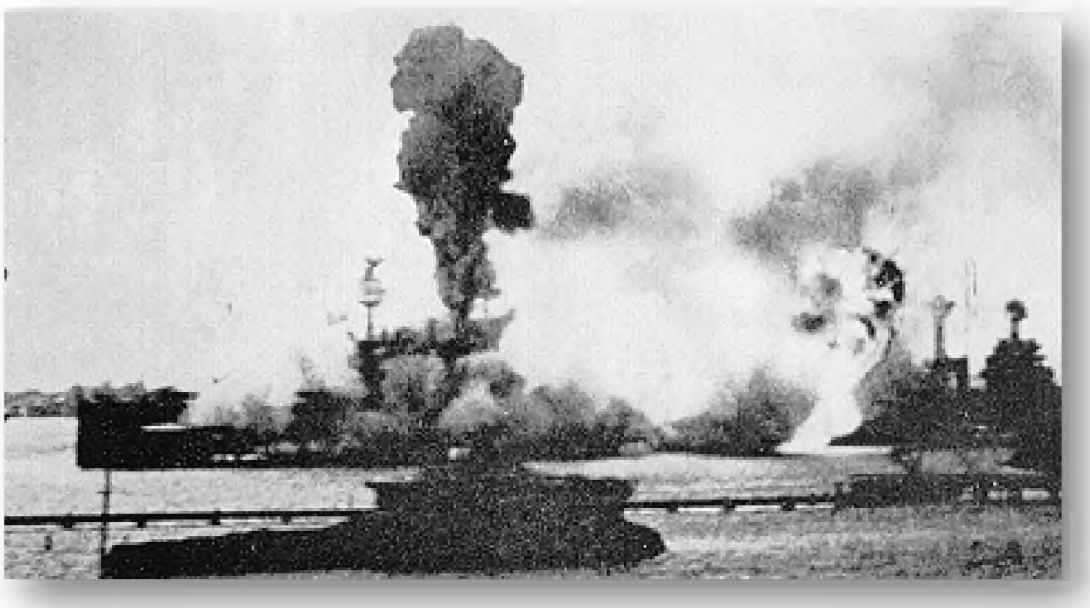
#5-6

Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor in Command of the Carrier Strike Force

With the Order in complete control of Masonic Emperor Hirohito as well as Masonic FDR via its Council on Foreign Relations, eight steps to openly provoke the attack on Pearl Harbor were secretly proposed to FDR by a former American instructor to Prince Hirohito—Naval Captain and Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Arthur H. McCollum. With the carriers conveniently at sea and the anti-sub nets left open at the harbor's entrance, Nagumo, having been exhorted by Hirohito and Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto (educated at Harvard University, 1919-1921), that "the fate of the Japanese Empire will depend on the issue of this battle," carefully followed orders. This shameless traitor to the anti-Jesuit Japanese people, in covertly working with the Order's American ONI, not only broke radio silence during the voyage, but also refused to order the third airborne attack wave sparing crucial targets, including ship repair and fuel storage facilities. The harbor's aboveground fuel tanks, built by Knight of Malta Edward L. Doheny in preparation for the Pacific War, were filled to capacity with 4.5 million barrels of oil and remained untouched. According to Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, if the oil tanks had been destroyed the Pacific Fleet would have been forced to wage a four-thousand-mile war from the distant California Coast, as there was no fuel available anywhere else in the Pacific. The Battle of Midway would never have taken place during which Japan lost half of its Fleet.

Since the purpose of the Black Pope's attack on Pearl Harbor was merely to incite 14th Amendment America to declare war on Japan, Nagumo's attack was never intended by the Japanese High Command—under abject Jesuit control— to destroy the base. As a result "the fate of the Japanese Empire" was sealed.

Pearl Harbor, Susan Wels, (Hong Kong: Time/Life & Tehabi Books, 2001) p. 194.



USS Arizona's ONI Detonation, Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941 #5-7

All was going well for the approaching Japanese Fleet: Vice Admiral Nagumo's broken radio silence had gone unreported; a Japanese midget submarine had been fired upon and sunk by the USS Ward four hours prior to the attack—but a resultant US warning to headquarters was stonewalled; the Opana Hill Army radar site had discovered Japan's incoming aircraft one hour before the attack but the warning went unreported due to Kermit Tyler's second refusal to notify General Short declaring the aircraft were only B-17s; and the 11 battleships anchored on both sides of Ford Island were deliberately moored in close proximity. Conveniently, our three aircraft carriers were at sea; they would be needed in the Battle of Midway. As the Arizona in "Battleship Row" waited to be sunk, its huge magazine had been secretly sabotaged to detonate (via cordite charges in silk bags) under cover of aerial bombardment. Thirteen minutes into the attack the ONI's Captain Eric Hawkinson, aboard hospital ship USS Solace (attended by a Coxswain, Jesuit priest Gallos), "coincidently" filmed the target before and during its plotted bombardment (the subsequent detonation of the ship's forward magazines never explained until now as no bomb truly pierced the ship's double-layered armored deck) sending a fireball 800 feet into the air, dark red smoke ascending to 3000 feet. Of the 49 bombs dropped that day, only one sank a battleship! And no wonder—it had been planned that way! Years later divers discovered no bomb had entered the smokestack supposedly sinking the ship! Like the deliberate sabotage and sinking of the USS Maine in Havana Harbor igniting the Spanish-American War of 1898, the Black Pope's Office of Naval Intelligence had orchestrated this attack thus providing the much needed justification for Masonic FDR's declaration of war on Japan. Occult Jesuit henchmen, including Captain Perlman, executed this papal murder overseen by Jesuit-ruled Archbishop Francis Spellman—the assassin of both FDR and JFK!

Masonic Emperor Hirohito, 1945

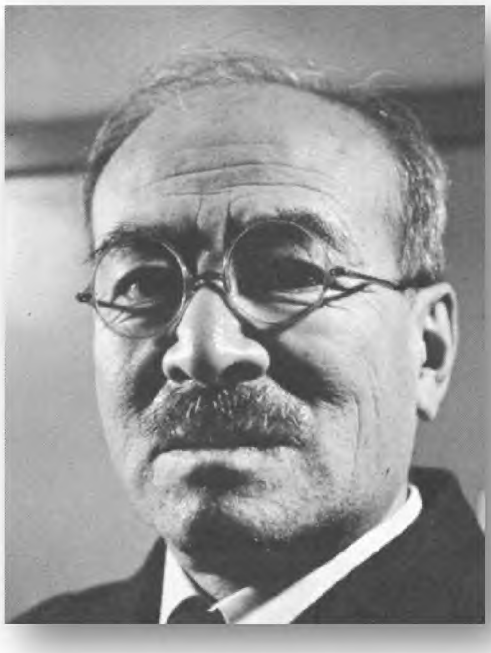
124th Emperor of Japan, 1926 – 1989



Kido Koichi, 1945 #5-9
Lord Privy Seal, 1940 – 1945

Hirohito (1900-1989) came to the Throne upon the death of his father, Emperor Taisho. Commanding the Black Pope's Pan-Asian, fascist, Japanese-supremacist Imperial Army began by Emperor Meiji, he: entered into the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo Axis via the Company's Tripartite Treaty (1940); declared war on China (1937), including the gang-rape and mass-murder of Nanking, killing thousands of Chinese "heretic" Protestants and Baptists; led in the secret plan for the attack on Pearl Harbor six months before his military advisors were informed thereof; kept apprised of every key military matter and "actively directed both the strategic and tactical planning for WWII"—including the Order's on-ground atomic incineration of Hiroshima and Nagasaki—for which obedience a "Peace Faction" was created which, aided by Cardinal Spellman's Jesuit Walsh, created the outright lie that he was an impotent monarch opposed to the war. Key to the cover-up was Choshu clan-member and Lord Keeper of the Privy Seal Kido Kiochi, whose grandfather had aided in the 1868 overthrow of the anti-Jesuit Tokugowa shogunate. Being Hirohito's closest advisor and liaison to the government, Kido had recommended the 1941 appointment of Hideki Tojo as Prime Minister. Upon Japan's surrender in Tokyo Bay—the same bay at which Commodore Perry demanded Komei to open Japan in 1853—, Marquis Kido became the one key advisor to the Order's Masonic General Douglas MacArthur concerning specifics of the surrender and occupation of Japan. At the Tokyo War Crimes Trial (1947-48), Kido Kiochi was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment, but released in 1953 due to ill health! Hirohito was never tried, but lost his status as a god-man, that worship being reserved only for the Pope!

Freemasons General MacArthur and Emperor Hirohito, 1945 #6-0

Ah, "Birds of a feather flock together!" These two obstinate traitors to their own people deserved to be hung together from Japan's highest yardarm! Though it is common knowledge that MacArthur was a 33rd Degree Freemason, Hirohito's membership, like Hitler's, is less well known. According to Canadian radio talk show host "Hehpsehboah," Hirohito was a Mason as the Dalai Lama is today. Further, he had an audience with Pope Benedict XV in 1921 preparing for his Counter-Reformation Far East Crusade to be waged for the Black Pope. Jesuit-trained as a youth, MacArthur was an intimate friend with Masonic Army General John J. Pershing during WWI; ensured the election of Masonic FDR through his brutal eviction of the bonus marchers in 1932; plotted with Admiral Nimitz and FDR throughout the war, including the evacuation of the Philippines giving the Order its storage facility for General Yamashita's gold horde amassed by the Japanese Army during its plundering rampage; and then saved the neck of his Masonic "brother" in international crime, Hirohito (having recognized Masonic Josef Stalin's Jesuit-ruled USSR in 1928), by promoting the illusion that the Emperor was the pawn of the Japanese High Command! MacArthur went on to preach the Pope's Cold War, losing China and North Korea to "the Communists," while pretending to be its greatest enemy in obedience to the script of Pope Pius XII and his "American Pope"—Francis Cardinal Spellman!

Masonic General MacArthur and Jesuit SMOM Walsh, Tokyo, 1947 #6-1

Masonic President Truman's conqueror of Japan, General Douglas MacArthur, is with his immediate master at the International Military Tribunal for the Far East (1947-48), Georgetown Jesuit Professed of the Fourth Vow, Edmund A. Walsh. Having previously overseen the Nuremberg Trials (1945-47) via Masonic prosecutor Robert H. Jackson and having electronically censored all testimony regarding Vatican control of the Third Reich via fellow Georgetown University School of Foreign Service professor holding the rank of an Army Colonel, Dr. Leon E. Dostert—the damnable Jesuit's chief interpreter during all the war trials!!!—, Walsh also manipulated the proceedings in Tokyo through his servant, MacArthur, who in turn ruled chief American prosecutor, Joseph B. Keenan. Even as this powerful Jesuit secured the acquittal of Knight of Malta Franz von Papen, even so he ensured the safety of Masonic Hirohito from the shame of a public trial. Winning the love and respect of the Japanese, MacArthur was indeed "the American Caesar" of the Far East, while his master directing all of his policies was none other than Francis Cardinal Spellman!

The Jesuits — 1641

The Irish Massacre
Assassination of Lieutenant General Henry Ireton

"The good counsellors of great statesmen, that parliaments of both kingdoms would take from the king's majesty, are a faction of perjured Papists, Prelates, Jesuits, Irish cut-throats, Stratfords, and Apostates; subverters of all laws, divine, human, of God, of church, of state." {1}

"Cardinal Manning has recently said that 'Romanists never persecuted Protestants.' It is a popish lie, told to bolster up a popish movement, in helping to re-establish 'Rome rule in Ireland,' and put forth without a blush in the face of the most reliable history. In 1172 Nicholas Breakspear, an Englishman, was elected to the See of Rome under the name of Adrian IV.

He gave Ireland to Henry II of England, under the condition that the Romish faith be forced upon the people, and that the Pope receive one penny from each house annually. This is the origin of Peter's Pence. The annals of Ulster tell of the horrible persecutions and massacres that followed on. The Pope, the king, and the army were against the truth [just as Pope Benedict XVI, President George W. Bush and the Order's CFR-controlled American Military Joint Chiefs of Staff are against the truth].

From 1500 to 1534, is a bloody page. Space forbids our transcribing it in full. As a specimen of the cruelties and barbarities that distinguish Rome whenever and wherever she gets the power, and as a presentation in tangible form of the dread of the Irish people of any movement which purposes to surrender them to Papal rule, read this, that Sir William Temple wrote. He uncovers the practices of Rome, and shows that three hundred thousand [300,000] Protestants were massacred before Cromwell came to the rescue of the people [and those lying Jesuits have the audacity to condemn Oliver Cromwell for his invasion of Ireland, submitting Drogheda and Wexford, putting an end to popish massacres! Just who does that man of God, Cromwell's son-in-law, Lieutenant General Henry Ireton, think himself to be in restoring order to Ireland, while putting the Jesuits to flight across the English Channel! How dare any man of God interfere with the massacres, Inquisitions and Crusades of the Papacy loosed upon helpless peoples, their persecutors being under secret orders from the Black Pope!]. He says,

'North, south, east, and west, Protestant blood flowed in rivers; houses were reduced to ashes, villages and towns all but destroyed; the very cattle of the Protestants were inhumanly tortured; the only burial allowed to the martyrs was the burial of the living [that is, buried alive], and their persecutors took fiendish delight in hearing their groans and cries issuing from the earth. Popish children were taught to pluck out the eyes of Protestant playmates; and some were forced to murder their own relations, and then butchered themselves over the bleeding remains, the last sounds that reached their dying ears being the savage assurances of the priests, that their agonies were but the commencement of eternal torment.'

Dublin alone escaped, and became a refuge for the distressed; but all the popish inhabitants were forbidden, under pain of the direct curse, to afford the slightest succor to the sufferers. Thousands died of cold and hunger; thousands more emigrated. In Armagh four thousand Protestants were drowned. In Cavan the road for twelve miles was stained by the blood of the fugitives. Sixty children were abandoned in the flight by their parents, fiercely hunted by the bloodhounds of the Papacy, who declared that anyone who helped or even buried their little ones should be burned by their aides [as did the Jesuit-controlled, Franciscan-led, Croatian Ustashi to thehelpless, non-Roman Catholic, Orthodox Serbian men, women and children during World War II]. Seventeen adults were buried alive at Fermanagh, and in Kilkenny seventy-two. In the province of Munster alone, a hundred and fifty-four Protestants were massacred, or expelled from Ireland. And yet Cardinal Manning declares in June 1886, that Romanism never persecuted Protestants; and we are told by a Protestant minister in Boston, in 1887, of the beneficent ministry of Romanism [as do all the present-day, apostate Protestant and Baptist television evangelists].

In 1643 Pope Urban VII granted full and absolute remission of all sins to those who had taken part in gallantly doing what in them lay to extirpate and wholly root out the pestiferous leaven of heretical contagion [as did the Pope following the Black Pope's St Bartholomew's Massacre in Paris, France, 1572; all this murder being in accordance with the Papacy's Canon Law, Council of Trent and the Jesuit Extreme Oath]. Under Elizabeth I, the Irish lords and commons recognized and generally supported the English Crown [which Queen the Jesuits sought to murder many times, in many ways; for which reason she expelled the Jesuits and compelled Roman Catholics to attend Protestant Bible-reading worship].

[Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor] James II [1685-1688] a Roman Catholic, betrayed England, and turned to the Papist of Ireland for support. Priests thronged the court and ruled the king [the Jesuits being in abundance, having united the army of King Louis XIV with the soldiers of James II in planning the final "extirpation" of English Protestantism]. Ireland was given up to the Papacy. Towns in which almost every householder was an English Protestant were, under Rome rule, placed under the government of Irish Roman Catholics [as in America today]. The civil power was transferred from the Saxon to the Celtic population. Six thousand Protestants were turned out of the army, and their places were supplied by Roman Catholics [as the majority of officers in the American Armed Forces today are Roman Catholics or Pope-serving Freemasons though they be Jews and Gentiles of all religions]. The new soldier never passed an Englishman without cursing him, and calling him foul names." {4 [Emphasis added]

The Devil in Robes; Or,
The Sin of Priests

"When a Jesuit dines in a house where the company are not completely under his domination, or where Protestants are present, I notice that nothing can exceed his patience and humility. He never misses a chance of inculcating the extreme poverty of himself and his Order upon those with whom he associates on terms of intimacy. He has been known, after being entertained at dinner at a well-to-do Dublin Catholic's house, to ask the hostess for a penny or two-pence to pay his tram-fare back to Gardiner Street. The Jesuit Society has, perhaps, more strings to its bow than any other community of priests in Ireland. They have, for instance, a man to cater in a mild way for sincere temperance people [as in the Protestant-led American Temperance Movement which resulted in the ratification of the unenforceable Eighteenth Amendment (1919), Prohibition and the creation of the Black Pope's Roman Catholic, Sicilian Mafioso-led Organized Crime Syndicate]. They have abstemious, ascetic-looking men [like Jesuit Bernard Vaughan] to win their way into the confidence of ladies who go for the religious cult [like first lady Mrs. William H. Taft], and who may be presented by those ladies to their friends in power at the Viceregal Lodge, and the chief secretary's lodge, or the castle. They have burly, stentorian Jesuits to orate and fume in remote country districts, when they are invited by the local parish priest to give a retreat or mission [like the infamous Jesuit Coadjutor "Father" Charles E. Coughlin]. In a word, the Jesuit body can be all things to all men and all women [as per the Jesuit Oath of the Fourth Vow]. They may be—and it is not admitting much—better educated than the general run of the religious Orders in Ireland; but they are, perhaps, on that account, all the more objectionable, and all the greater drag upon the country [having destroyed the Reformation in Ireland and reduced its population to the most illiterate and impoverished of the White races]. Whenever there was trouble in Ireland the Jesuit was always found absent or invisible. . . . What a fall from the humility and self-sacrifice of Jesus to the body of men who style themselves the Society of Jesus, for instance, in so many parts of the world today! . . .

This would have been a subject worthy of a historic picture; the 'hard headed, [capacity for drinking without getting drunk],' sly Jesuits, in their black soutanes [cassocks], remonstrating with the big Dominican in his robes of white and black. Father Burke was a large man, with jet-black hair, and a very florid face, and the Dominican used to preach in the showy robe of his Order. The dispute in the sacristy [a special room in the church] ended in the Jesuits giving way to Father Burke. . . . Imagine, then, their consternation when Father Burke, standing up in the pulpit and pulling back his sleeves, bared his wrists, and commenced operations by thumping the ledge of the pulpit with the clenched fist of his right arm. And he bellowed forth, in stentorian tones, as he brought his hand down with a thud, 'Damn the Jesuits!' And he struck the pulpit again and cried out, 'Damn the Jesuits!' The audience became intensely excited, and one might have heard a pin fall in the church. It is said that one of the most 'hard-headed' Jesuits had his foot upon the first step of the pulpit stairs, about to go up and remonstrate with the preacher. And Burke again cried forth, in the most pointed way, swinging himself right and left in the pulpit, 'To hell with the Jesuits!' It now seemed as if Burke was going to denounce the Order, which, in so may respects was a rival to his own, and was going to utilize the Jesuits' own pulpit for the purpose! The poor Catholic lay congregation listened awestruck, waiting for the development of these adjurations. For then, of course, nothing that could emanate from the pulpit would ever sound wrong. And they knew nothing about the dinner [at which the Dominican was accused by certain Jesuits of being drunk with wine and thus unfit to enter the pulpit]. Their faith assured them that the apparent inexplicability of the situation was bound to be satisfactorily unraveled. But the lurking Jesuits round the corners, looking through their spy-holes in the passage doors, and who knew all about the consumption at dinner, can have had no such comforting assurance. Burke however relieved the tension by proceeding to speak somewhat in this vein:

'Yes, my dearly beloved brethren, To Hell with the Jesuits! that is the irreligious cry which is now ringing throughout Europe [Germany having expelled the Order in 1872]. That is the unchristian cry which is now ringing throughout atheistical France [having expelled the Jesuits in 1901—the secret plotters behind the Dreyfus Affair and the Triple Entente so necessary in causing World War I]. Damn those holy men, the Jesuits; down with the Jesuits; yea, and other more ribald and even more impious curses than those I have mentioned, on the heads of the worthy Order which is one of the principal pillars of the Church.' And then he proceeded to preach an eloquent panegyric of the Jesuit Order, which succeeded in its purpose of eliciting the required subscriptions from the congregation." {5} [Emphasis added]

Michael J. F. McCarthy, 1902
Irish Roman Catholic Barrister-at-Law
Priests and People In Ireland

While the Jesuits were busy with their Thirty Years' War attempting to completely "extirpate" the Bible-reading, "heretic and liberal" Lutheran Germans, they were also suppressing the Protestant quest for liberty in the Dutch Republic.

Thus they also planned the annihilation of the Protestants in Ireland. We read:

"So greatly had the Irish ecclesiastics increased under Charles I, by titular archbishops, bishops, and deans, that in the year 1629 it was deemed necessary to forbid the public exercise of the popish rites and ceremonies. But notwithstanding this, soon after, the Romish clergy erected a new popish [Jesuit] university in Dublin. They also proceeded to build monasteries and nunneries in various parts of the kingdom, in which the priests and the chiefs of the Irish held frequent meetings, and from thence used to pass to and fro to France, Spain, Flanders, Lorraine, and Rome, where the plot of 1641 was being hatched by the family of the O'Neils [O'Neills] and their followers. The great design was, that a general insurrection should take place at the same time throughout the kingdom, and that all the Protestants, without exception, should be murdered. The day fixed for this horrid massacre was the 23rd of October, 1641, the feast of Ignatius Loyola, founder of the Jesuits; and the chief conspirators in the principal parts of the kingdom made the necessary preparations for the intended conflict." {6} [Emphasis added]

Having devised the plan to murder all the Protestants of Ireland on Ignatius Loyola's feast day, the Jesuits moved the deceived Irish Catholic people to carry out the plan.

> "The Irish were more strongly instigated to execute the infernal business by the Jesuits, priests, and friars, who when the day for the execution of the plot was agreed upon, recommended to their hearers diligence in the great design, which, they said, would greatly tend to the prosperity of the kingdom and to the advancement of the Catholic cause. They everywhere declared to the common people that the Protestants were heretics, and ought not to be suffered to live any longer among them, adding that it was no more sin to kill an Englishman than to kill a dog, and that the relieving or protecting them was a crime of the most unpardonable nature." {7} [Emphasis added]

When the extirpation began, the Jesuits, true to form, carried out their bloody Oath once again. Remember, they always use other people or organizations to do their dirty work when enforcing the Council of Trent. We read again:

> "It is impossible to conceive the pleasure these monsters took in exercising such cruelty; and to increase the misery of those who fell into their hands, when they butchered them they would say, 'Your soul to the devil!' One of these miscreants would come into a house with his hands imbrued in blood, and boast that it was English blood, and that his sword had pricked the white skins of the Protestants [being both a religious and racial extirpation as it is subtly today in the UK, South Africa, Canada and the US] even to the hilt. Upwards of thirty Protestants, men, women and children, in the county of Tipperary, fell into the hands of the papists, who, after stripping them naked, murdered them with stones, poleaxes, swords, and other instruments. . . . Others were hung on windmills, and before they were half dead the barbarians cut them in pieces with their swords. Some, both men, women and children, they cut and hacked in various [sexual] parts of their bodies and left them wallowing in their blood to perish where they fell. . . .
> Similar barbarities were practiced on the wretched Protestants in almost all parts of the kingdom; and when an estimate was afterwards made of the number who were sacrificed to gratify the diabolical cruelty of the papists, it amounted to 150,000." {8} [Emphasis added]

Continuing with a passage from J. T. Headley's The Life of Oliver Cromwell, we read with horror from Sir J. Temple's Irish Rebellion as given by Merle D'Aubigne:

> "Ever since the dreadful [Jesuit-instigated] massacre of 1641, a perpetual war had been carried on between the Protestants and Catholics. This, Charles [Charles I, whose descendants include the US Bush Dynasty having made its family fortune through banking via the Black Pope's Third Reich according to John Loftus, a former prosecutor in the Justice Department's Nazi War Crimes Unit and the author of Unholy Trinity], while alive, had fostered by throwing the weight of his influence on the side of the Catholics. [For six years Charles I of England and Louis XIV of France had the same Jesuit confessor, Pere La Chaise.] . . .

'The Catholics burnt the houses of Protestants, turned them out naked in the midst of winter, and drove them like herds of swine before them.

If ashamed of their nudity, and desirous of seeking shelter from the rigor of a remarkable severe season, these unhappy wretches took refuge in a barn, and concealed themselves under the straw, the rebels instantly set fire to it, and burned them alive [as did the Order's Nazi SS against Orthodox Russians and Jews during Operation Barbarossa in 1941]. At other times, they were bound without clothing, to be drowned in rivers; and if, on the road they did not move quick enough they were urged forward at the point of the pike. When they reached the river, or the sea, they were precipitated into it in bands of several hundreds. . . . If these poor wretches rose to the surface of the water, men were stationed along the brink, to plunge them in again with the butts of their muskets, or to fire at, and kill them. Husbands were cut to pieces in the presence of their wives; wives and virgins were abused in the sight of their nearest relations; and infants of seven or eight years were hung before the eyes of their parents. Nay, the Irish even went so far, as to teach their own children to strip and kill the children of the English, and dash out their brains against the stones [as did the Order's Croatian Ustashi to the Orthodox Serbs and Jews during World War II pursuant to the Jesuit Oath]. Numbers of Protestants were buried alive—as many as seventy in one trench. An Irish priest, named MacOdeghan, captured forty or fifty Protestants, and persuaded them to abjure their religion, on a promise of quarter. After their abjuration he asked them if they believed that Jesus Christ was bodily present in the host, and that the pope was the head of the church? And, on their replying in the affirmative, he said, 'Now, then, you are in a very good faith; and for fear they should relapse into heresy, cut all their throats.' " {9} [Emphasis added]

And why all this needless bloodshed? Because the murder had been boldly preached by the Jesuits. We read the brazen, unabashed words of Jesuit Conor O'Mahony, professor of Moral Theology in Evora, Portugal, spoken in 1645:

"My dear Irish,—Go on and perfect the work of your liberty and defence, which is so happily begun by you; and kill all the heretics, and all that do assist and defend them. You have in the space of four or five years, that is, between the years 1641 and 1645, wherein I write this, killed 150,000 heretics, as your enemies acknowledge. Neither do I deny it. And for my own part, as I verily believe you have killed more of them, so I would to God you had killed them all—which you must either do, or drive them all out of Ireland, that our [Catholic] Holy Land may be plagued no longer with such a . . . barbarous, ignorant and lawless generation of people." {10}

(Dear truth-seeker, two hundred years later the Satanic Sons of Loyola controlling the Queen of England would instigate the Second Irish Massacre. Deceptively called, "The Irish Potato Famine of 1845 to 1850," a private source writes:

> "During this five-year period—with Queen Victoria sitting on the British throne [The Royal Butcheress of Ireland whose son, Freemasonic King Edward VII, never caught Walter Richard Sickert, the notorious "Jack the Ripper"], and closely attended by her Jesuit advisors—freighters laden with Irish wheat, oats, barley, eggs, beef and pork were DEPARTING Irish ports en route to other countries, at the rate of about EIGHT FREIGHTERS PER DAY, while nearly one million of my Irish ancestors were starving to death. [In the 1930s the Company would cause Stalin's Massacre of Orthodox Ukrainians, the so-called "Famine in the Ukraine," ordering Masonic Stalin to lock up all the food as millions perished.]
> In addition to producing another Vatican harvest—the Irish Protestant body count—the ensuing, increased Irish emigration provided the Jesuits with a stepped-up flow of Irish Catholics to the United States, to help build within that Protestant nation a blindly obedient Papal fifth column, as an instrument for destroying American constitutional self-government. It worked." [In the 1950s the Jesuits would cause the mass-emigration of North Vietnamese Catholics to South Vietnam by using Ho Chi Minh (who, like Jesuit-trained Fidel Castro, had been brought to power by the OSS ruled by Knight of Malta "Wild" Bill Donovan) to spread the rumor that his Communists were going to kill all the Catholics in North Vietnam. The US Navy, formerly led by Cardinal Spellman's Francis Matthews, provided the vessels for that movement.] {11} [Emphasis added]

From 1641 to 1649—eight long years—the Jesuits continued their murder in Ireland. It was for this reason Oliver Cromwell, the Defender of the Protestant faith, landed in Ireland and demanded the country to surrender. Upon refusing, Cromwell made an example out of Jesuit-ruled Drogheda by breaching its wall and destroying every armed man with many interfering women and children. (The same was later done to Wexford, which had also butchered innocent Protestants.) This never would have happened had not the Jesuits instigated the mass-murder of the generally tolerant, minority Protestants beginning with the Irish Massacre of 1641, the Order having brainwashed the Irish Catholics to hate and kill anti-pope, anti-Jesuit, English and Irish Protestants—men, women and children! Headley writes:

> "Cromwell himself attempts no disguise, and in writing to the government on account of it, he says, after speaking of carrying the entrenchments:

> 'Being thus entered, we refused them quarter, having the day before summoned the town. I believe we put to the sword the whole number of the defendants [over 2000]. I do not think thirty of the whole number escaped with their lives. Those that did are in safe custody for the Barbadoes . . . I wish that all honest men may give the glory of this to God alone, to whom, indeed, the praise of this mercy [to the Irish Protestants] belongs.' . . . His Chaplain, Hugh Peters, took the same view of it, and went to the chief church, where he solemnly offered up thanks to God for the slaughter of his enemies. Parliament also decreed that a day of thanksgiving should be kept in honor of this great mercy. The fate of Drogheda struck the Irish people with dread. The day of vengeance had arrived; and the atrocities they had practiced on the helpless Protestants were now to be visited upon their own heads. Cromwell—resolved to bring the Irish [Jesuit-instigated] war to a speedy termination, followed up this victory by those rapid movements which distinguished his last campaign in England." {12} [Emphasis added]

With the collapse of the Jesuit Order's eight-year "extirpation" of the Protestant "accursed heretics," these converted Irishmen preferring the truths of the Word of God over the lies of that popish Antichrist in the Vatican, Cromwell placed his Puritan, Bible-believing, Calvinist son-in-law, Lieutenant General Henry Ireton, as lord deputy of the nation. Drogheda and Wexford had fallen to Cromwell.

Waterford and Limerick would fall to Ireton. Of the fall of Limerick, Ireland's last refuge of the Jesuits, we read from McMains', The Death of Oliver Cromwell:

> "The task in 1650-51 was the taking of Limerick, which proved difficult. The town lay in two parts, the so-called Irish town occupying the south bank of the Shannon surrounded by a mile-long wall, poor and mean, . . . 'but a street of decayed houses.' The so-called English town occupied the end of a large island in a river. A drawbridge over Shannon channel connected the party. . . .
>
> In the fall of 1650 a siege failed against the 'last refuge' of the Irish. This failure along the Shannon prompted the commander [Ireton] to 'be earnest with the Lord, to know his minde what he would have his poore servants in the Army to doe.' In the summer of 1651 he again invested the city. . . .
> Attacks failed during that summer because the Irish, led by Hugh O'Neill [the same O'Neill family having been used by the Jesuits to ignite the Irish massacre in 1641], skillfully deterred Ireton's stronger force for four months. . . . Ireton called for Limerick's surrender and offered O'Neill great preferment for yielding the city. O'Neill answered that he had defended the city for a year and was pledged to do so for another [enabling the Jesuits to continue to kill all of the Protestants]. . . . Needing troops elsewhere to fight marauding bands of Irish 'Tories,' Ireton in August tightened the siege, and the city finally surrendered on 27 October. . .

> .With the city's fall twelve hundred soldiers surrendered, and Ireton thought perhaps, a dozen persons should be tried for their part in the siege, including Bishop of Emly Terence O'Brien. The principal charge against them was that they helped disguise 'those bloody Rogues, the Friars, Priests, and Jesuits,' who thereby escaped the city [as the Nuremberg Trials and the Order's historians, such as CFR William L. Shirer, enabled the Jesuits to escape the notice and thus the wrath of Europe and Russia for their infamous crimes committed through Masons Hitler and Stalin]. . . .
> He eventually [and sadly] exempted O'Neill from death [as Hitler and Stalin were exempted from righteous death sentences by Masons FDR and Churchill] but hanged seven persons for their 'obstinate holding out.' O'Brien's real crimes were outrages committed during the 1641 uprising during which Protestants were massacred. His head was 'fixed on a lofty stake and placed at the top of the King's Fort.' " {13} [Emphasis added]

Ah, but the Jesuits never forget nor forsake the vengeance due their enemies. In redirecting an immediate sneak attack upon Ireland's lord deputy, the Order contacted their unsuspected Temporal Coadjutors, maybe a doctor or a cook, within the household of our hero—the trusted son-in-law of the Protector. In 1651, at the young age of forty, the Bible-believing and benevolent Lieutenant General Henry Ireton (like General Oliver Cromwell; like Elizabeth Claypole—Cromwell's beloved daughter; like General George Washington; like Lieutenant General Stonewall Jackson—at the young age of thirty-nine; like Lieutenant General George S. Patton, Jr.), would die of a kind of "pneumonia" and/or a "fever of some sort," becoming another victim of the Order's infamous and unrelenting "poison cup."

> "Ireton's death [November 26, 1651] in Sir Geoffrey Galway's townhouse was widely reported by seventeenth-century standards, but the cause remained uncertain. . . . [Jesuit] Dennis Murphy, S.J., implied plague by claiming that after Limerick's surrender, 'Ireton was infected and died.' . . .
> Ireton 'expired of a fever.' . . . Dr. Philip Carteret [a Jesuit disguised as a Baptist] . . . a shadowy person to the events in Limerick . . . was . . . an attending physician [giving "the heretic," Ireton, "the poison cup," whom the Order considered, "the scourge of Limerick"]." {14} [Emphasis added]

Why is it that today, the Irish Protestants of Northern Ireland do not want to lose the protection of the British Army and be given over to the Jesuits' Sein Fein and the Irish Republican Army (IRA)? Is it not shocking to know that both Sein Fein and the IRA—aided by certain American Knights of Columbus—work with the Russian Civilian Intelligence (KGB) as revealed by KGB agent Vasili Mitrokhin in The Sword and the Shield? Could it be the Jesuits also control the KGB, now the SVR?

Of the Jesuit penetration and control of all intelligence as well as the Order's ultimate doom, Doctor George Brown, Bishop of Christ Church in Dublin, Ireland sagaciously preached a sermon in 1551, a portion of which declares:

> "But there is a new fraternity of late sprung up who call themselves Jesuits, which will deceive many, who are much after the Scribes and Pharisees' manner. Amongst the Jews they shall strive to abolish the truth, and shall come very near to do it. For these sorts will turn themselves into several forms [spiritual shape-shifters]; with the Heathen a Heathenist, with the Atheists an Atheist, with the Jews a Jew [we wonder how many Talmudic Rabbis and Masonic Labor Zionists—such as the late New York Zionist known as "the Jewish Pope," Rabbi Stephen S. Wise—are secret Jesuits controlling the Zionist government in Israel through the Labor Party for the purpose of securing Jerusalem for the Papal Caesar in Rome], with the Reformers a Reformade [like 33º Freemason Billy Graham, so accurately described in Cathy Burns' Billy Graham and His Friends (2001)], purposely to know your intentions, your minds, your hearts, and your inclinations, and thereby bring you at last to be like the fool that 'said in his heart there was no God.' These shall spread over the whole world, 'shall be admitted into the counsels of princes, and they never the wiser,' charming of them, yea, making your princes reveal their hearts, and the secrets therein, and yet they not perceive it; which will happen from falling from the law of God, by neglect of fulfilling the law of God, and by winking at their sins. Yet in the end . . . they shall become odious to all nations: so that at the end they shall be worse than Jews, having no resting place upon earth; and then shall a Jew have more favour than a Jesuit." {15} [Emphasis added]

Knowing that the Society of Jesus will never change, could it be that the Jesuits have planned to destroy the Protestants and Baptists of the American Empire? If so, how? Will the Empire experience a series of nuclear detonations in the future?

The First Irish Massacre, 1642 #6-2

The Irish Massacre, also called "Ireland's St. Bartholomew's Massacre," was incited by the Jesuits with the blessing of Charles I and his De Medici French Queen, Henrietta, on October 23, 1641, the feast day of Ignatius Loyola. It lasted for eight long, savage years until Oliver Cromwell landed in Drogheda in 1649 to put an end to it.

The intended purpose of this conspiracy was to put every Protestant in Ireland to death. This scene depicts forty thousand Bible-reading Protestants being sacrificed by the savage and bloodthirsty Roman Papists having been brainwashed by the Sons of Loyola into believing that Protestants were "heretics" and had no right to live. Deceptively called "Christians" by their priests, whose allegiance was to the Papal Caesar in Rome, they merely enforced the curses pronounced by the Black Pope's Council of Trent, it being a militant reaffirmation of Pope Innocent III's Fourth Lateran Council of 1215.

The Jesuits — 1642 – 1660

The Puritan Revolution
Oliver Cromwell
Lord Protector of the British Commonwealth
Defender of the Protestant Faith
Assassination of Oliver Cromwell
Restoration of King Charles Stuart II

When God wants to drill a man,
And thrill a man,
And skill a man,
When God wants to mold a man,
To play the noblest part;

When He yearns with all His heart
To create so great and bold a man
That all the world shall be amazed
Watch His methods, watch His ways!
How He ruthlessly perfects
Whom He royally elects!

How He hammers and hurts him,
And with mighty blows converts
Into trial shapes of clay which Only God understands;

While his tortured heart is crying
And he lifts beseeching hands!
How he bends but never breaks
When his good He undertakes;

How He uses whom He chooses,
And with every purpose fuses him
By every act induces him
To try His splendor out—
God knows what He's about. {1}

"We would speak first of the Puritans, the most remarkable body of men perhaps, which the world has ever produced. The odious and ridiculous parts of their character lie on the surface. He that runs may read them; nor have there been wanting attentive and malicious observers to point them out. For many years after the Restoration [the ascent of Charles II to the throne in 1660 thereby reinstating England's Jesuit-controlled, corrupted Stuart Dynasty] they were the theme of unmeasured invective and derision.

They were exposed to the utmost licentiousness of the press and of the stage, at the time when the press and the stage were most licentious [as in the Order's "Hollywood Babylon" of today]. They were not men of letters; they were, as a body, unpopular; they could not defend themselves [through the Royalist, controlled Press]; and the public would not take them under its protection. They were therefore abandoned, without reserve, to the tender mercies of the satirists and dramatists. The ostentatious simplicity of their dress [being content with food and raiment], their sour aspect [in avoiding foolish jesting], their nasal twang, their stiff posture [like the ramrod-erect, sitting posture of Confederate General Thomas Jonathan "Stonewall" Jackson], their long graces [praying for all men everywhere], their Hebrew names, the scriptural phrases which they introduced on every occasion, their contempt of human learning [the wisdom of this world and knowledge, falsely so-called], their detestation of polite amusements [card-playing, games, etc.], were indeed fair game for the laughers. But it is not from the laughers alone that the philosophy of history is to be learned. . . .

Those who roused the people to resistance, who directed their measures through a long series of eventful years; who formed, out of the most unpromising materials, the finest army that Europe had ever seen; who trampled down King, church, and aristocracy; who, in the short intervals of domestic sedition and rebellion [as we Reformed Bible-believers are always called "seditionists and rebels" when we, under the authority of our duly formed governments, use our "Swords of Just Defense" against Jesuit-authored, anti-Christian tyranny], made the name of England terrible to every nation of the face of the earth—were no vulgar fanatics. . . .

The Puritans were men whose minds had derived a peculiar character from the daily contemplation of superior beings and eternal interests [as they set their affections on things above, where Christ sits—at the right hand of God]. . . . they habitually ascribed every event to the will of the Great Being, for whose power nothing was too vast, for whose inspection nothing was too minute. To know Him, to serve Him, to enjoy Him, was with them the great end of existence ["to glorify God and to enjoy Him forever"]. . . . they aspired to gaze full on the intolerable brightness, and to commune with Him face to face. Hence originated their contempt for terrestrial distinctions [especially those accursed "titles of nobility," which titles would have been forever prohibited to American statesmen had the original Thirteenth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution been ratified]. The difference between the greatest and the meanest of mankind seemed to vanish, when compared with the boundless interval which separated the whole race from Him on whom their own eyes were constantly fixed [looking unto Jesus, the author and finisher of our faith]. They recognized no title to superiority but His favor; and, confident of that favor, they despised all the accomplishments and all the dignities of the world. If their names were not found in the registers of heralds, they were recorded in the Book of Life [of the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world]. . . The very meanest of them was a being to whose fate a mysterious and terrible importance belonged, on whose slightest action the spirits of light [elect angels] and darkness [spiritual wickedness in high places] looked with anxious interest; who had been destined, before heaven and earth were created [unconditionally predestinated], to enjoy a felicity which should continue when heaven and earth should have passed away. . . .

Thus the Puritan was made up of two different men: the one all self-abasement, penitence, gratitude, passion; the other proud [confident], calm, inflexible, sagacious. He prostrated himself in the dust before his Maker; but he set his foot on the neck of his [wicked] King [Praise God!]. In his devotional retirement, he prayed with convulsions, and groans, and tears [as did the Lord Jesus Christ, who in the days of his flesh offered up prayers and supplications with strong crying and tears unto Him that was able to save him from death]. . . . But when he took his seat in the council, or girt his sword for war, these tempestuous workings of the soul had left no perceptible trace behind them. . . . These fanatics brought to civil and military affairs a coolness of judgment and an immutability of purpose . . .

Death had lost its terrors and pleasure its charms. . . . Enthusiasm had made them Stoics, had cleared their minds from every vulgar passion and prejudice, and raised them above the influence of danger and of corruption [evidenced by the words of Calvinist Presbyterian John Witherspoon when fearlessly urging the signing of our American Declaration of Independence]. . . . The Puritans espoused the cause of civil liberty mainly because it was the cause of religion." {2} [Emphasis added]

Thomas Babington Macaulay, 1825
English Lord and Protestant Historian
Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor
Conciliating towards the Papacy
"Milton," Edinburgh Review

"The royal visit to Hinchinbrook [the stately mansion of Oliver Cromwell's Knightly uncle whose father was the powerful minister of King Henry VIII, Sir Richard Cromwell] must have been a great treat for little Oliver [in meeting the Scottish King James I as he proceeded to London to ascend the English Throne]. . . . The intrigue of the Jesuits; the tendency of the Anglican party, which was ere long to muster under the banner of [Archbishop] Laud; the rights and power of the Word of God—these were the engrossing subjects of thought and conversation in the midst of which the child increased in strength in this rural solicitude. . . .

Of this [an open opposition to the scheming of King Charles I against the English Parliament and the Scotch Covenanters as the only means of saving England] the leaders of the nation were more fully convinced by a fearful catastrophe. In the midst of this [Jesuit-contrived] agitation [of the King] and mistrust [of the Parliament], on the 1st of November 1641, an alarming report suddenly reached London. The Irish [Roman Catholics], sheltering themselves behind the names of the king and queen, holding in one hand a commission they pretended to have received from Charles, and bearing fire and sword in the other, were ravaging the country with fearful desolation. The plot contrived with the greatest secrecy, had broken out in horrible massacres [the Jesuit-led Irish Massacre of 1641 to 1649, which "extirpation" resulted in the murder of over 300,000 Protestants]. In London and Edinburgh, in town and country, the most distressing accounts passed from mouth to mouth, and terror filled the hearts of all Protestants of Great Britain. The most serious members of the Commons immediately called for a Remonstrance to the King, as the nation was attacked in all that it held most dear. The [Grand] Remonstrance was passed at midnight, of the 22nd of November, by a majority of eleven votes. 'Had it been rejected,' said Oliver [Cromwell], as he came out, 'I would have sold everything I possess, and never seen England more.' . . .

This was the beginning of the Revolution: the commencement of the struggle between the Parliament and the King. . . . The maintenance of the liberty and religion of England could not be procured except at this cost. It has been said—let us ever bear it in mind—that the English Revolution, by proclaiming the illegality of absolute power, did nothing new. It was legitimate. . . . [the] 'struggling against royal tyranny, by exercising the rights of resistance, and by maintaining the maxims of liberty.' " {3} [Emphasis added; See www.constitution.org/eng/conpur.txt]

J. H. Merle D'Aubigne, 1847
Protestant Swiss Theologian and Historian
The Protector: A Vindication

"The duty which we owe to your Majesty and our country, cannot but make us very sensible and apprehensive, that the multiplicity, sharpness and malignity of those evils under which we have now many years suffered, are fomented and cherished by a corrupt and ill-affected party, who amongst other mischievous devices for the alteration of religion and government [the death of Protestantism and the establishment of Jesuit absolutism], have sought by many false scandals and imputations, cunningly insinuated and dispersed amongst the people, to blemish and disgrace our proceedings in this Parliament, and to get themselves a party and faction amongst your subjects, for the better strengthening themselves in their wicked courses, and hindering those provisions and remedies which might, by the wisdom of your Majesty [King Charles I] and counsel of your Parliament, be opposed against help. . . . And because we have reason to believe that those malignant parties, whose proceedings evidently appear to be mainly for the advantage and increase of Popery, is composed, set up, and acted by the subtle practice of the Jesuits and other engineers and factors for Rome [Knights of Malta and Scottish Rite Freemasonry], and to the great danger of this kingdom, and most grievous affliction of your loyal subjects, have so far prevailed to corrupt divers of your Bishops and others in prime places of the Church, and also to bring divers of these instruments to be of your Privy Council [presently the Pope's UK–RIIA/US–CFR-controlled advisors], and other employments of trust and nearness about your Majesty, the Prince [Charles II], and the rest of your royal children. . . .

For the preventing of those miserable effects which such malicious endeavors may produce, we have thought good to declare the root and the growth of these mischievous designs: . . .

The root of all this mischief we find to be a malignant and pernicious design [a Papal conspiracy] of subverting the fundamental laws and principles of government, upon the religion and justice of this kingdom are firmly established. The actors and promoters hereof have been:

The Jesuitized Papists, who hate the laws, as the obstacles of that change and subversion of religion which they so much long for. . . . 191. For the perfecting of the work begun, and removing all future impediments, we conceive these courses will be very effectual, seeing the religion of the Papists hath such principles as do certainly tend to the destruction and extirpation of all Protestants, when they shall have opportunity to effect it." {4} [Emphasis added]

John Pym, 1641
English Puritan and Jurist
The Grand Remonstrance

"[In 1656] . . . Cromwell opened the Parliament. He began the session with a speech of more than three hours in length: the longest, as well as the most violent and embarrassed, he had yet delivered. . . . 'You are at war with Spain. We put you into this hostility upon the ground of necessity; and the ground of necessity, for justifying men's actions, is above all considerations of instituted law. . . . The [Roman Catholic] Spaniard is your enemy, naturally and providentially, by reason of that enmity that is in him against whatsoever is of God. . . . You could not get an honest or honourable peace from him. . . . We desired but such liberty for our traders as that they might keep their Bibles in their pockets, to exercise their liberty of religion for themselves, and not be under restraint. But there is no liberty of conscience to be had from the [Jesuit-ruled] Spaniard. . . . The French and all the Protestants in Germany, have also agreed that his design was the empire of the whole Christian world, if not more; and upon that ground, he looks at this nation as his greatest obstacle. . . . If you make any peace with any State that is Popish, and subject to the rule of Rome, you are bound, and they are loose. . . .

Spain is the root of the matter; that is the party that brings all your enemies before you;—for Spain hath now espoused that interest which you have all along hitherto been conflicting with,—Charles Stuart's interest . . . And truly Spain hath an interest in your bowels; for the Papists in England have been accounted, ever since I was born, Spaniolised. They never regarded France;—Spain was their patron. . . . Can we think that Papists and Cavaliers shake not hands in England? . . . The ring-leaders in all this are none but your old enemies, the Papists and Cavaliers. . . . they sent a fellow, a wretched creature . . . to Madrid to advise with the King of Spain to land forces to invade this nation.' . . . In the midst of loud acclamations, Cromwell sat down in the chair of state. On his left stood the Lord Mayor of London . . . The Speaker, in the name of the Parliament . . . administered to Cromwell the following oath [inaugurating for the second time the Protectorate of Cromwell as established by the new Constitution]:

'I do in the presence and by the name of God Almighty, promise and swear, that, to the utmost of my power, I will uphold and maintain the true, reformed, Protestant, Christian religion, in the purity thereof, as it is contained in the Holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testament: and encourage the profession and professors of the same;—and that, to the utmost of my power, I will endeavour, as chief magistrate of these three nations, the maintenance and preservation of the just rights and privileges of the people thereof; and shall, in all things, according to my best knowledge and power, govern the people of these nations according to law.' . . .

On the 25th of January, 1658, the Protector summoned the two Houses to attend him in the Banqueting Hall at Whitehall; and there, during more than an hour, he discoursed to them on the external and internal dangers which threatened England. Abroad throughout all Europe, Protestantism was violently attacked, and in imminent danger; in Germany, Italy, and Switzerland, the House of Austria and the Pope still retained, or were retaining, the ascendancy; the most faithful Protestant ally of England, the King of Sweden had been defeated in [Roman Catholic] Poland, and was at war with his neighbour, the [Protestant] King of Denmark. . . .

'If it be nothing to you, let it be nothing to you! I have told you it is somewhat to you. It concerns all your religions, and all the good interests of England. . . . This complex design [Jesuit conspiracy] against the Protestant interest is a design against your very being. If they can shut us out of the Baltic Sea, and make themselves masters of that, where is our trade? Where are your materials to preserve your shipping? Where will you be able to challenge any right by sea, or justify yourselves against a foreign invasion of our own soil? You have accounted yourselves happy in being environed with a great ditch [the English Channel] from all the world beside. Truly, you will not be able to keep your ditch, nor your shipping, unless you turn your ships and shipping into troops of horse and companies of foot [soldiers], and fight to defend yourselves on terra firma.

. . . Your [false] allies, the [Protestant] Dutch, have professed a principle, which, thanks be to God, we never knew. They will sell arms to their enemies [as did the US to its enemy, the USSR], and lend their ships to their enemies. . . . they have let sloops on hire to transport upon you four thousand foot [soldiers] and a thousand horse, upon the pretended interest of that young man that was the late king's son [Charles II]. . . . If this be the condition of your affairs abroad, I pray a little consider what is the state of your affairs at home. . . . Is not this nation miserably divided into sects,—if I may call them sects, whether sects upon a religious account or upon a civil account? And what is that which possesseth every sect? That every sect may be uppermost, and may get the power into their hands. . . .

We have had now six years of peace,—of peace and the Gospel,—after an interruption of ten years' war. Let us have one heart and soul; one mind to maintain the honest and just rights of this nation. . . . Having said this, I have discharged my duty to God and to you. While I live, and am able, I shall be ready to stand and fall with you in this cause. . . . I have no more to say, but to pray, God Almighty bless you." {5} [Emphasis added]

French Protestant Statesman/Historian
The Life of Oliver Cromwell

"[King] Charles [I] landed at Dover on 25 May [1660] and arrived in London four days later [after being exiled to the wicked court of France's King Louis XIV controlled by Jesuit Pere La Chaise]. Bonfires marked the way and illuminated the city. In Westminster, Cromwell's effigy was placed on a post with the Commonwealth's arms, then set ablaze 'that every one might take better notice of them.' In Sherbourne, Dorset, when Charles was proclaimed [to be King], 'the witty Wags of the Town' set up a parody of the high court of justice, including effigies of [Chief Justice] Bradshaw and Cromwell. The mock court condemned the men, the effigies were hanged, then 'so hacked and hewed . . . that in a short time but little remained.' . . .

The Commons prepared a list of seven persons to be executed. General Thomas Harrison had been captured (he simply surrendered), but the other six were now on the Continent. . . . The October trials of those not given indemnity appear unfamiliar despite legal trappings. . . . The first judicial proceeding was against Gen. Thomas Harrison, and from arraignment to execution it occupied merely five days. . . . In pronouncing Harrison's sentence from the treason statute, Sir Orlando intoned that Harrison would be: 'hanged by the neck, and being alive shall be cut down, and your privy members [male genitalia] to be cut off, your entrails to be taken out of your body, and you living, the same are to be burnt before your eyes [pursuant to the Order's Scottish-Rite Masonic oaths], and your head to be cut off [the Jesuits being the foremost advocates of beheading], your body to be divided into four quarters, and head and quarters to be disposed of at the pleasure of the king's majesty, and the Lord [the Pope] have mercy upon your soul.' . . .

Condemned on 11 October, Harrison was two days later the first judge to be executed. At Newgate 'he parted with his wife and friends with great joy and chearfulness.' In midmorning he was tied to a hurdle and dragged along Fleet Street and the Strand to Charing Cross. Mobs jeered him all the way, but 'his eyes and hands lifted up to heaven.' The gallows stood on a platform surrounded by railings. Harrison forgave the hangman who placed the rope around his neck, hugged his servant, and climbed the ladder 'with an undaunted countenance.' He was positioned to face the Banqueting House, 'where that precious innocent bloud of our late Sovraign . . . was spilt.' Site was important to this ritual too. Before stepping from the ladder he made a long declaration of faith that 'this will make me come the sooner into his glory,' and ended with belief that 'by my God I will go through this death, and he will make it easy to me.' It was not to be so. According to one account, 'He was not so much thrown off the Ladder by the Executioner, but went as readily off himself.' The hangman stripped the clothes from Harrison's strangling and gasping form, cut down the 'half hang'd' and naked body, tossed it alive onto a bench, and began butchering it open while the crowd jostled for better views, as the hangman drew the entrails from the dying man. Harrison tried to rise up—perhaps a reflex to a knife ripping into his abdomen—and seemed to give the hangman 'a box on the ear.' But the executioner pushed him down, then castrated and eviscerated the sentient human form according to the statute's requirements. He sliced into the chest, ripped out the heart, and held the thing aloft while proclaiming, 'Behold the heart of a traitor.'

Harrison was at long last dead. The executioner finished butchering the body into quarters and tossed the heart and intestines onto a fire. The bloody quarters were 'throwne together like butchers meat brought from the shambles' and taken on the hurdle back to Newgate. . . .

And still they had not finished with what was left of General Harrison. Three days later his head was placed in a basket and set on the hurdle dragging John Cook to his Charing Cross execution. The heads of Harrison and Cook were then 'fastened on two poles, and pitched on the north end of Westminster Hall.' Whereupon Harrison's quarters were hanged 'on the four gates of the City.' Charles II, the merry monarch [who would later be given the Order's "poison cup"], had ordered this display of what remained of his victims." {6} [Emphasis added]

The Death of Oliver Cromwell

"In 1841 General William Henry Harrison of Ohio [whose forefather was Oliver Cromwell's General Thomas Harrison], was elected President by a large majority. . . . Just one month and five days from that day, President Harrison lay a corpse in the White House. He died from arsenic poisoning, administered by the tools of Rome. The Jesuit oath had been swiftly carried out: . . . Circumstances pointed to the Messrs. Gilmer and Upshur, as being the actual assassins of President Harrison [the assassins then bringing Texas into the Union]. . . . [Shortly thereafter] the Harrison family [rapidly suffered] WHOLESALE extirpation. In fact, there was but one of his eight children, a son, permitted to live." {7} [Emphasis added]

Miss Burke McCarty, 1924
Protestant American and Ex-Romanist
The Suppressed Truth About the Assassination of Abraham Lincoln

We are about to acquaint ourselves with one of the greatest chapters of human history. Its hero was the Puritan English freeman and Independent Baptist-Calvinist, the Protector of the Commonwealth of England and Defender of the Protestant Faith, Oliver Cromwell.

The Jesuits, however, have slandered our greatest of heroes branding him "the Usurper," as well as "a monster, a tyrant and a hypocrite," and have done all they could do to destroy his memory from English history. Therefore we shall review his astounding life pitted against Romish tyranny then ruling the British Crown.

In 1625 King James I died and his son Charles I came to the throne. Unlike his father, Charles became a tool of the Jesuits through the direction of the cruel and merciless Anglican Archbishop William Laud. He violated the Magna Charta and sought to govern as an absolute Monarch. Most of all, he suppressed the right of freedom of conscience by persecuting the Puritans who preached the Bible plan of salvation. Thousands left for America and Cromwell nearly departed England with other patriots. But the Father of the Lord Jesus Christ had decreed that Cromwell should remain and deliver the persecuted Protestants from the designs of the Jesuits.

With King Louis XIII of France (1610-1643) slaughtering the French Huguenots, ruining their Calvinist city of La Rochelle along with the sinking of the Huguenot Fleet via the British Royal Navy on loan to France in 1625, the division between Charles I and the Puritan Parliament ultimately arose in January of 1642.

Both prepared for war. Cromwell, after being defeated in his first battle by Prince Rupert's horsemen, declared that he would raise a cavalry of, " ' . . . men who will bring some conscience to what they do, and I promise you they shall not be beaten.' . . . He thus got around him a body of men who scorned idleness and pleasure; and submitting cheerfully to his rigid discipline, bore privations and toils without a murmur, nay, with enthusiastic pride, for often their gallant leader slept beside them on the cold earth, and shared all their hardships. Fighting under the special protection of heaven, and for God and religion, they would rush to battle as to a banquet and embrace death with rapture . . . and this body of a thousand horse was never beaten." {8} [Emphasis added]

For he said,

"A few honest men are better than numbers." {9}

Cromwell's Puritan cavalry came to be known as the "Ironsides." They utterly routed Rupert's finest horsemen at Marston Moor. From that time forward, Cromwell was regarded as invincible and enjoyed the confidence and love of his soldiers. Oliver went on to triumph over the Jesuits with their tools, Charles I and the Royalists. The battles of Naseby, Marston Moor, Dunbar, Worcester and charging the breach of Drogheda were all crowned with success, as Cromwell was fighting for freedom of conscience—so hated by the Jesuits and their Council of Trent—while Charles I was fighting for absolute monarchy and Papal supremacy.

With the Parliament executing the king for high treason, Cromwell went on to be "the Lord Protector of the British Commonwealth and Defender of the Protestant Faith." He later dissolved the wicked Parliament and banished the Jesuits from the kingdom resulting in many conspiracies against his life. In 1654 a plot was discovered and the Jesuits' would-be assassins, Gerard and Vowel, were promptly executed.

Therefore, as a result of the Order's design against the Defender's life, "A hundred and sixty brave fellows selected from his different regiments of cavalry, divided into eight companies, became his bodyguard; ten of whom were always on duty about his person. On these he could rely; and unflinching and bold must be the man, and quick the assassin's knife, that could reach him then." {10} [Emphasis added]

Clearly, Cromwell would not be another Admiral Coligny, William I of Orange, Henry III or Henry IV. Although the Jesuits failed in their many attempts to assassinate The Defender, they managed to cruelly poison his beloved daughter, Elizabeth. We read of her painful suffering and of her father's despairing heart:

> ". . . the Lady Claypole [Elizabeth Cromwell], his favorite daughter, was taken sick with a fatal and most painful disease. The Protector was forgotten in the father; and hurrying to Hampton Court, he took his place by her bed-side, overwhelmed with sorrow. Her convulsions, and cries of distress, tore his heart-strings asunder, and shook that strong and affectionate nature to its foundations. His kingdom, his power, the Commonwealth, were all forgotten; and for fourteen days he bent over his beloved child . . ." {11} [Emphasis added]

The Protector had laid the foundation of the British possessions in the West Indies and caused the flourishing of the preaching of the gospel while defending freedom of conscience, so condemned by the Jesuits' Council of Trent.

> "So far did his thoughts reach beyond his age, that he desired and earnestly attempted [but failed] to extend the rights of citizenship to the outcast and persecuted Jews." [Cromwell, the Protector of England and the Defender of the Protestant faith, did however readmit the Jews into England in 1655 upon the formal request of Manasseh ben Israel, as White Reformed Gentile nations are generally good to the Jews.] {12} [Emphasis added]

Further, he gave the American Colonies a taste of real freedom and protected the Protestants of France. Of Cromwell's protection of the Vaudois we read:

"In June of this year came the news of the persecutions in the valley of Piedmont. Six Catholic regiments, three of which were Irish, were appointed to drive the Vaudois from their homes in mid-winter. The cruelties, the inhuman barbarity, that marked the proceedings against the poor Protestants, are well known. 'Villages were burned to the ground; men were hewn in pieces: children's brains dashed out against the rocks, and women impaled naked—a hundred and fifty females were beheaded, and their heads used in a game of bowls.' When the news of the atrocities reached Cromwell, he burst into tears—they were the saints of God who thus suffered, and all his compassion was roused within him. On that day (January 3, 1655) he was to sign the treaty with France, which had for a long time been under contemplation; but he immediately refused, declaring that negotiations should proceed no further until the king [Louis XIV, whose Jesuit confessor would later cause him to revoke the Edict of Nantes] and Cardinal Mazarin, the prime minister, would pledge themselves to assist him in saving the Vaudois Protestants. . . . A day of fasting and humiliation was appointed, and a collection ordered to be taken in all the churches. The contribution amounted to over 37,000 pounds, showing how deeply Protestant England was stirred by the persecution of the Piedmontese Christians. It is said that Cromwell, in a burst of passion, replied to some obstacles that were mentioned as interfering with his plans, that 'he would sail his ships over the Alps, but that he would put a stop to the persecution.' . . . War with France, nay, with the whole world, if necessary, he would wage, but this persecution of the children of God should cease. The king of France at length yielded, and word was sent that the Duke of Savoy had granted an amnesty to the Vaudois, and restored their ancient rights. Mazarin, who, in fact, ruled France, had brought this about, for he stood in deadly fear of Cromwell. It is said that he always turned pale when he heard his name mentioned. Oliver was the champion of Protestantism the world over, and he wished it so understood: he would defend it wherever his arm could reach. . . . He also took pains to let the Pope understand, that he knew him to be at the bottom of the unnatural persecution, and if he did not beware, he would see his ships in the harbor of Civita Vecchia, and hear the thunder of his cannon around the Vatican." [It was for this reason that the calculating rage of the Jesuit General would reach our hero through the Protector's personal physician, Doctor George Bate. While on his deathbed Bate confessed to giving a series of mercury poisonings to our beloved example of godliness and zealous English patriotism. Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Dr. George Bate, later rewarded by the restored King Charles II, was the serpent who "extirpated the infamous heretic," Oliver Cromwell]. {13} [Emphasis added]

"In all his treaties, he made the rights of Protestants an indispensable article. He insisted that English merchants in Portugal should be allowed to worship God in their own way, and compelled France to respect the lives of the Huguenots. The latter called him 'their only hope next to God.' . . .

Thus the terror of his name became everywhere a shield for the persecuted Christians [as it was said that Jesuit-controlled Cardinal Mazarin 'feared Oliver more than the devil' {14}], and he was always remembered by them in their morning and evening devotions." {15} [Emphasis added]

Lastly, the Defender would not tolerate an attack of the Jesuits' Spanish Inquisition against any Englishman. (Oh, that America would have such a President today!)

"To such gigantic stature of power did this dismal institution attain, that no one was safe from its fangs. . . . Llorente gives several cases of English merchants, who were pounced upon by it in defiance to the law of nations.

On one occasion Oliver Cromwell had to intercede for an English consul, whom they had got into their dens. The king replied, he had no power over the inquisition. 'Then,' added Cromwell, in a second message, 'if you have no power over the inquisition, I will declare war against it.' . . .

Cromwell . . . menaced war on the inquisition—and the menace was heard to the lowest depths of its infernal dens." {16} [Emphasis added]

The rise of Cromwell, the dauntless Defender of the Protestant Faith, was no coincidence. It was the answer to the prayers of Queen Elizabeth. We read her petition to the LORD before her battle with the Spanish Armada:

"O let Thine enemies know that Thou hast received England, which they most of all for Thy gospel's sake do malign, into Thine own protection. Set a wall about it, O Lord, and evermore mightily defend it. Let it be a comfort to the afflicted, a help to the oppressed, and a defense to Thy church and people, persecuted abroad . . ." {17} [Emphasis added]

Yes, the Queen's request was mightily answered in the person of a lowly Puritan farmer, although lettered and a descendant of the House of Cromwell:

"With no knowledge of the art of war, but much of himself, of men and of the Bible, this stout English squire had made up his mind in no hasty or factious spirit to draw the sword [of a Puritan Parliament] against his king, and venture his life for what he believed with his whole heart and soul to be the cause of 'freedom and the truth in Christ.' " {18} [Emphasis added]

This honest man of God,

". . . through faith subdued kingdoms, wrought righteousness, obtained promises . . . escaped the edge of the sword, out of weakness were made strong, waxed valiant in fight, turned to flight the armies of the aliens."

– Hebrews 11:33, 34

For, Oliver Cromwell ". . . had risked his life in open war with the sovereign power of England, and his life a thousand times on the battle-field; who had placed his foot on the neck of a king; broken up parliament at the pike's point, and dissolved it by his imperial word; boldly assumed all the power the title of king could confer; laid his hand on the very chieftains who surrounded him at Naseby, Marston Moor, Dunbar, and Worcester, and quartered his troops in almost every town in England;—this man . . . had performed the boldest acts ever planned by the human intellect or exerted by a human arm . . ." {19}

And how so?

> "On one occasion, while looking at some statues of famous men, he turned to a friend and said, 'Make mine kneeling, for thus I came to glory.' " {20}

Further, as the LORD seems to do His greatest works in responding to the persistent prayers of righteous women having trusted Him, pitifully and helplessly laying bare their hearts before the One "who gathers the wind in His fists," Israel has known her greatest deliverers. Joseph, Samson, Samuel and the returning Messiah Jesus are but a few. True to form, the greatest Gentile Deliverer of the Lord's Bible-reading Church during this "dispensation of the grace of God" (Ephesians 3:2), we find the Calvinist Oliver Cromwell deeply moved by his prayerful mother. As she lay dying, he at her side, we see England's greatest Chieftain, the Reformation's greatest Champion and the Father of the once Protestant British Empire—by which the "glorious gospel of Christ" (II Corinthians 4:4) would be taken to "the uttermost part of the earth" (Acts 1:8)—, broken to shivers as she utters her last words:

> " 'The Lord cause His face to shine upon you,' she said; 'and comfort you in all your adversities; and enable you to do great things for the Glory of the Most High God, and to be a relief to His people. My dear son, I leave my heart with thee. Good Night!' and closing her eyes, she breathed forth her spirit to the God who gave it. Cromwell gazed a moment on her pallid features, and then burst into a flood of tears. What a picture does he, the Lord-Protector of England—the hero of so many battle-fields—the resolute, iron-willed man, present, weeping beside his aged mother." {21} [Emphasis added]

This good and great man, the most maligned actor on the stage of modern history, crowned his success with the Reformation's greatest victory over the Jesuit Order's political gates of hell. Under the Protector's rule, the United Kingdom prospered like never before; Admiral Blake swept the seas of papal pirates; and Oliver boldly expelled the Jesuits from his kingdom. And those who dared to remain he hunted them down like the conspiring, bloody traitors they were! Praise God!

> "But while the enemies of peace and order at home were made to feel the invincible power of his government, it was in his relations with foreign states that the commanding genius of Oliver was most conspicuously displayed. No Monarch ever so sustained in the eyes of Europe the majesty of British power. The grand object of his foreign policy was to unite the Protestant states [also intended by Henry IV], with Britain at their head, in a defensive league against Popery [and the Jesuits], then as now [1903] the enemy of civil and religious liberty." {22} [Emphasis added]

(Two hundred years later Luther's Germany would be blessed with a similar champion of Protestantism and the hero responsible for the expulsion of the Jesuits from the Protestant Second German Empire. (The First and Third German Reichs, embarking on a total of Nine Crusades in exterminating Jews, Moslems, Orthodox and Protestant non-Papal Christians, were Roman Catholic, totally controlled by the Papacy.) He would be the "Iron Chancellor," Otto von Bismarck, known for his political struggle with Rome called "the Kulturkampf," (i.e., "struggle between cultures") waged from 1872 to 1887, which he ultimately lost! Had this German hero persecuted the Jewish Race within the Empire in accordance with the supposed anti-Jewish writings of Luther—falsely imputed to our great Reformer by the Order and popularized by the Jesuit-trained Fabian Socialist, Will Durant, with his revisionist histories—there would have been no need for Hitler and the Nazi Party.)

The Jesuits had been taken in their own snare. The attempt to make King Charles Stuart I an absolute Roman Catholic Monarch provoked the Puritan Revolution, producing the greatest political archenemy of Jesuitism to date. They could not openly assassinate the Lord Protector nor thwart his foreign policy, which flew in the face of the Council of Trent. Imagine the rage of the Jesuit General! But the Order "never forsakes nor forgets;" therefore, it patiently awaited Cromwell's death after he was poisoned by his doctor, restored the Stuarts in 1660 and made Protestant Scotland "to howl" for twenty-eight years, King Charles II slaughtering in excess of 17,000 Covenanters. Both Charles II and James II turned their courts into houses of prostitution—like the Papal Caesar's Vatican Palace and Bill Clinton's White House—and sunk England into vice and corruption.

Although the Jesuits allegedly dug up Cromwell's coffin, dragged it through the streets of London, hanged the body on a gibbet at Tyburn, cut off its head and set it on a pole on top of Westminster Hall for over twenty years (which false version of true history has been believed until a recent historian exposed it as fallacious), they could never undo his martial defense of the Reformation in England, which led to the establishment of Rome's greatest antagonist, her most fearless and resolute of spiritual and political enemies—the Protestant British Empire.

Oliver Cromwell (1599 – 1658), 1650s
#6-3

Lord-Protector of the Commonwealth of England, Ireland and Scotland

Anti-Jesuit/Masonic Defender of the Protestant Faith, 1653 – 1658

As Elizabeth I was born to sustain the Reformation, so was Cromwell, with his Independent Baptist Puritans, predestined to save it from domestic conspiracy, foreign invasion and Papal supremacy superintended by the Jesuit Order, using its remorseless tools—Charles I, Archbishop Laud and Charles II. Our hero sought to weaken the Company's Spanish Empire by creating a grand military Protestant alliance between England, Germany, Denmark, Sweden and the Netherlands having survived eighty years of Jesuit-induced wars. For the risen Son of God used his Defender of Biblical Protestant faith to inspire America's Puritan Revolution led by our hero, the Baptist-Calvinist George Washington.

The Life of Oliver Cromwell, J. T. Headley, (New York: Baker and Scribner, 1848).

Oliver Cromwell, Protector and Defender, London, 1653 – 1658 #6-4

Having broken the Temporal Power of Rome's Papal Caesar while wielding the power of the Crown, the Parliament and the Law for three years over England, Scotland and Ireland, Cromwell assembled a new Parliament in 1656.

In 1657, upon his formal refusal to become king, Parliament bestowed upon the Protector "a Bible, ornamented with bosses and clasps, richly guilt; a rich and costly sword, and a scepter of massy gold." Meanwhile Jesuit-backed regicides plotted his demise with a tract penned by Colonel Sexby titled "Killing no Murder."

Life of Oliver Cromwell, F. Guizot, (London: Richard Bentley and Son, 1887) pp. 411-412.

In Defense of the Protestant Reformation's Greatest Defender and the Jesuitical Counter-Reformation's Greatest Enemy, Oliver Cromwell

England was suffering under the lawless rule of that Protestant pawn of the Jesuit Order, King Charles I. Secretly seeking to restore both the Spiritual and Temporal Powers of the Pope throughout the Kingdom, Charles never once sought to deliver his Irish Protestant subjects from the Black Pope's Irish Massacre which claimed the innocent lives of 300,000 men, women and children.

This mass-murder, coupled with the King's open violation of Magna Charta, ultimately brought Cromwell to the pinnacle of Parliament's military power in its righteous resistance to Jesuit absolutism via King Charles and his royalist Cavaliers. Enforcing the Biblical maxim of "Lex Rex" ("the law is king," as opposed to "the king is the law" so championed by the Company's French King Louis XIV), Cromwell and his Puritan Calvinist Republicans tried, condemned and executed the king for high treason. For this Cromwell has been unjustly branded a "regicide" by notable historians, they completely avoiding the fact that a criminal, whether he be king or pauper, is subject to the law of his nation.

The Jesuits are true regicides, evidenced by their doctrines and deeds; Cromwell, in the name of the "sovereignty of the people," gave Charles a trial and upon deliverance of the verdict, lawfully and properly executed the traitor. Never accepting defeat, the Order sought to overthrow the Commonwealth via 17th century communists, called "Levellers," led by the infamous John Lilburne.

These radicals were forerunners of the Jacobins of France and the Bolsheviks of Russia so successfully used by the Company in succeeding centuries. Cromwell vigorously ended the agitation (which fomented a mutiny within his army) by personally shooting one of the most notorious Levellers thus restoring order.

Cromwell, in command of the Parliamentary Army, invaded Jesuit-ruled Ireland in 1649 for its rebellion and murder of Protestants. For his severity against Drogheda and Wexford, he has been branded a tyrant and murderer; yet he gave both towns terms of surrender, which they refused. Upon his invasion of Scotland the Presbyterians (siding with Charles II who made Scotland "to howl" after his restoration in 1660) fought against "the Antichrist" Cromwell, but were defeated and submitted to Parliamentary rule by 1652. Never forsaking their oath, the Jesuits infiltrated Parliament and corrupted its rule for which reason Cromwell ended its reign, personally dismissed every member as he recited their unique sins before all, locked the door and pocketed its key. For three years the rule of the Protector was of necessity absolute, yet subject to the precepts of the Reformation English Bible. In 1656 the Protector created a new Parliament to be composed of both a House of Commons and a House of Lords. Via a legal act, Parliament sought to make Cromwell a king, but he cordially refused the title.

Jesuit Coadjutors within his new Parliament endangering the Kingdom's peace forced the Defender to abolish that body in February, 1658. Seven months later Oliver Cromwell lay dead, poisoned by that Jesuit Coadjutor, Dr. George Bate!

The Jesuits — 1685

Assassination of the Prince of Conde
Revocation of the Edict of Nantes
Protestant Huguenots Murdered and Expelled from France

> "No man has a right to choose his religion. [Jesuit-controlled] Catholicism is the most intolerant of creeds. It is intolerance itself. We might as rationally maintain that two and two does not make four as the theory of Religious Liberty. Its impiety s only equaled by its absurdity." {1} [Emphasis added]
>

> Vigorous Defender of the Pope's > Temporal Power

In 1598 King Henry IV issued the Edict of Nantes granting religious liberty to the Protestants of France. This act infuriated the Jesuits as it opposed their intolerant Council of Trent. As we have discovered in a previous chapter, the king paid for this act of courage with his life; he was stabbed in the chest by a Jesuit-controlled assassin, Francois Ravaillac.

Determined to implement their foreign policy—the evil Council of Trent—the Jesuits sought to abolish the Edict of Nantes. The result would be the purging of France of its "heretic" Protestants. Their tool for this heart-breaking injustice was the immoral "Sun King," Louis XIV, whose belief in the Pope's pagan doctrine of "salvation by works"—works further extending the power of the Papacy—drove him to murder the innocent: he was a spiritual captive at the feet of his confessor.

In understanding the cause of the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes we must review the Order's infamous intercepted letter of 1688, having been on display for decades in the British Museum. It was written by King Louis XIV's Jesuit confessor, Pere La Chaise, to Sir Edward Petre, the Jesuit confessor of England's corrupted King James II—who ultimately died in the palace of his French cousin, King Louis XIV, after their defeat in 1690 by England's King William III in Scotland's Battle of the Boyne. The letter concerns Jesuit La Chaise's instructions to Jesuit Petre for the "extirpation" of England's Protestants, citing how he, La Chaise, was successful in his mass-murder of the Calvinist Huguenots throughout France. We read his measured words with shocking unbelief, as they reflect the calculating coldness of the Council of Trent carried out by this, yet another, heartless Son of Loyola:

> " 'WORTHY FRIEND,—I received yours on the 20th of June last, and am glad to hear of your good success, and that our party gains ground so fast in England; but, concerning the question you have put to me, 'What is the best course to be taken to root out all heretics?'—I answer, there are divers ways to do that, but we must consider which is the best to make use of in England. I am sure you are not ignorant of how many thousand heretics we have converted in France, by the power of our [military] dragoons, in the space of one year; having by the doctrine of those booted apostles [brutal, merciless violence], turned more in one month than Christ and His apostles could in ten years. [What Jesuit sacrilegious blasphemy!] This is a most excellent method, and far excels those of the great preachers and teachers that have lived since Christ's time. [Ah, behold the Jesuit's atheism!] But I have spoken with divers fathers of our Society, who think that your king [James II] is not strong enough to accomplish his design by such kind of force; so that we cannot expect to have our work [of annihilation of heretics] done in that manner, for the heretics are too strong in the three kingdoms; and therefore we must seek to convert them by fair means, before we fall upon them with fire, sword, halters, gaols, and other suchlike punishments [presently in the making for the "heretics and liberals" of America under our New-Right, Ultramontane, Republican Fascism led by the Masonic Papal Crusader, George W. Bush]; and therefore I can give you no better advice than to begin with soft, easy means [like the Second Vatican Council (1962-1965) referring to the former Protestant "heretics" as "our separated brethren"].

Wheedle them by promises of profit and places of honour, till you have made them dip themselves in treasonable actions against the laws established, and then they are bound to serve for fear [blackmail]. When they have done this, turn them out, and serve others so, by putting them in their places [replacing Protestants with Roman Catholics in places of power and profit]; and by this means gain as many as you can. And for the heretics that are in places of profit and honour, turn them out, or suspend them on pretence of misbehaviour [as was done to General George S. Patton by the Masonic, CFR member, President Franklin D. Roosevelt through his Secretary of War, CFR member Henry L. Stimson, over the "Knutsford Incident" in England]; by which their places are forfeited, and they are subject to what judgment you please to give upon them.

Then you must form a camp [like the Catholic League of the Order's Thirty Years' War; like the League of Nations after World War I; like the United Nations after World War II; like America's Council on Foreign Relations or Britain's Royal Institute of International Affairs], that must consist of none but Catholics [and/or Masonic Protestants and Jews loyal to the Pope]; this will dishearten the heretics and cause them to conclude that all means of relief and recovery is gone [as in America and Britain today]. And lastly, take the short and the best way, which is, to surprise the heretics on a sudden; and to encourage the zealous Catholics, let them sacrifice them all, and wash their hands in their blood, which will be an acceptable offering to God [as was done in the Jesuits' Irish Massacre just forty years prior to this letter; as in the case of America's coming Sino-Soviet-Moslem invasion using Roman Catholic Cuba as a staging base into the "heretic" Protestant and Baptist American South].

This was the method I took in France, which hath well, you see, succeeded; but it cost me many threats and promises before I could bring it thus far; our king being a long time very unwilling. But at last I got him on the hip; for he had lain with his daughter-in-law, for which I would by no means give him absolution till he had given me an instrument [a legal document] under his own hand and seal, to sacrifice all the heretics in one day. Now, as soon as I had my desired commission, I appointed the day when this should be done; and, in the meantime, made ready some thousands of letters, to be sent into all parts of France in one post-night [as did the wicked Haman in the book of Esther]. I was never better pleased than at that time, but the king was affected with some compassion for the Huguenots, because they had been a means to bring him to his crown and throne [as American Fundamentalists and Evangelicals have been, and will continue to be, a means of bringing a Jesuit-controlled, American military dictator to power via the Order's CFR-controlled, Fascist-Republican New Right]; and the longer he was under it, the more sorrowful he was, often complaining, and desiring me to give him his commission again; but that I would by no persuasion do; advising him to repent of that heinous sin, and also telling him, that the trouble and horror of his spirit did not proceed from anything of evil in those things that were to be done [the genocide of the Huguenots], but from that wickedness that he had done; and that he must resolve to undergo the severe burden of a troubled mind for one of them [the adultery] or the other [the genocide]; and that if he would remain satisfied as it was, his sin being forgiven, there would, in a few days, be a perfect atonement made for it, and he perfectly reconciled to God again.

But all this would not pacify him; for the longer it continued the more restless he became; and I therefore ordered him to retire to his closet, and spend his time constantly in prayer, without permitting any one to interrupt him;—this was early in the morning, and on the evening following I was to send away all my letters. I indeed, made the more haste, for fear he should disclose it to any body, although I had given him a strict charge to keep it to himself; and the very things that I most feared, to my great sorrow, came to pass; for just in the nick of time, the devil [in fact, the risen Son of God], who hath at all times his instruments at work, sent the [Huguenot noble] Prince of Conde to the court, who asked for the king. He was told that he was in his closet, and would speak with no man. He impudently answered, 'that he must and would speak with him,' and so went directly to his closet; he being a great peer, no man durst hinder him. And being come to the king, he soon perceived by his countenance that he was under some great trouble of mind, for he looked as if he had been going into the other world immediately. 'Sir,' said he, 'what is the matter with you?' The king at the first refused to tell him, but he pressing harder upon him, the king at last, with a sorrowful complaint, burst out, and said—'I have given Father La Chaise a commission, under my hand, to murder all the Huguenots in one day; and this evening will the letters be dispatched to all parts, by the post, for the performing it: so that there is but small time left for my Huguenot subjects to live, who have never done me any harm.' Whereupon this cursed rogue answered, 'Let him give you your commission again.' The king said, 'How shall I get it out of his hand? For if I send to him for it, he will refuse to send it.' And this devil answered, 'If your majesty will give me the order, I will quickly make him return it.'

The king was soon persuaded, being willing to give ease to his troubled spirit, and said, 'Well, go then, and break his neck, if he will not give it you.' Whereupon this son of the devil went to the post-house, and asked if I had not a great number of letters there? And they said, 'Yes, more than I had sent in a whole year before.' 'Then,' said the prince, 'by order from the king, you must deliver them all to me;' which they durst not disobey, for they knew well enough who he was. And no sooner was he got into the post-house, and had asked these questions, than I came also in after him, to give order to the post-master to give notice to all those under him, in the several parts of the kingdom, that they should take care to deliver my letters with all speed imaginable.

But I had no sooner entered the house than he gave his servants order to secure the door, and said confidently to me, 'You must, by order from the king, give me the commission which you have forced from him.' I told him I had it not about me, but would go and fetch it; thinking to get from him, and so go out of town, and send the contents of those letters another time [i.e., lying "for the greater glory of God"]; but he said, 'You must give it up; and if you have it not about you, send somebody to fetch it or else never expect to go alive out of my hands; for I have an order from the king either to bring it or break your neck, and am resolved either to carry that back to him in my hand, or else your heart's blood on the point of my sword.'

[Now this, dear truth-seeker, is a real man of God! He is not afraid of the King's Jesuit.] I would have made my escape, but he set his sword to my breast, and said, 'You must give it me, or die; therefore deliver it, or else this goes through your body.' [Ah, what a portrait this would make!]

So, when I saw nothing else would do, I put my hand in my pocket and gave it him; which he carried immediately to the king, and gave him that and all my letters, which they burned. [Praise God!] And, all being done, the king said, now his heart was at ease. Now, how he should be eased by the devil [the righteous

Prince of Conde], or so well satisfied with a false joy, I cannot tell; but this I know, that it was a very wicked and ungodly action [Good is Evil to the Jesuit!], as well in his majesty as in the Prince of Conde, and did not a little increase the burden and danger of his majesty's sins. I soon gave an account of this affair to several fathers of our Society, who promised to do their best to prevent the aforesaid prince's doing such another act, which was accordingly done; for, within six days after the damned action, he was poisoned, and well he deserved it.

The king did also suffer too, but in another fashion, for disclosing the design unto the prince, and hearkening unto his counsel. And many a time since, when I have had him at confession, I have shook hell about his ears, and made him sigh, fear, and tremble, before I would give him absolution; nay, more than that, I have made him beg for it on his knees, before I would consent to absolve him. By this I saw that he had still an inclination to me, and was willing to be under my government; so I set the baseness of the action before him, by telling him the whole story, and how wicked it was, and that it could not be forgiven, till he had done some good action to balance that, and expiate the crime. Whereupon, he at last asked me, what he must do? I told him that he must root out all heretics from his kingdom.

So, when he saw there was no rest for him, without doing it, he did again give them all into my power and that of our clergy [the Society of Jesus], under this condition, that we would not murder them [which they did anyway], as he had before given orders, but that we should by fair means, or force, convert them to the Catholic religion. Now, when we had got the commission, we at once put it in force; and what the issue hath been, you very well know. But in England the work cannot be done after this manner, as you may perceive by what I have said to you; so that I cannot give you better counsel, than to take that course in hand wherein we were so unhappily prevented; and I doubt not, but it may have better success with you than with us [Jesuits in France, under the guise of the Pope's pretended Spiritual Power imposing the Pope's oppressively usurping Temporal Power over the King's affairs of state—as in the US today].

I would write to you of many other things, but I fear I have already detained you too long, wherefore I will write no more at present, but that I am Your friend and servant, LA CHAISE." {2} [Emphasis added]

Alexander Hislop, one of the most notable, Bible-believing Protestant ministers of the Nineteenth Century, staunchly warned his English brethren of the peril posed by the Order's Oxford Movement and later, continued under the name of the Tractarian Movement. In describing the psychology of control used by the Jesuit in the confessional, he rightly declares:

"In the confessional, when they have an object to gain, they make the sins and transgressions good weight; and then, when they have a man of influence, or power, or wealth to deal with, they will not give him the slightest hope till round sums of money, or the founding of an abbey [as did Kaiser Wilhelm II in Jerusalem], or some other object on which they have set their heart, be cast into the other scale.

In the famous letter of Pere La Chaise, the confessor of Louis XIV of France, giving an account of the method which he adopted to gain the consent of that licentious Monarch to the revocation of the Edict of Nantes, by which such cruelties were inflicted on his innocent Huguenot subjects, we see how the fear of the scales of St. Michael operated in bringing about the desired result:—'many a time since,' says the accomplished Jesuit, referring to an atrocious sin of which the king had been guilty, 'many a time since, when I have had him at confession, I have shook hell about his ears, and made him sigh, fear and tremble, before I would give him absolution. By this I saw that he had still an inclination to me, and was willing to be under my government; so I set the baseness of the action before him by telling the whole story, and how wicked it was, and that it could not be forgiven till he had done some good action to BALANCE that, and expiate the crime. Whereupon he at last asked me what he must do. I told him that he must root out all heretics from his kingdom.' This was the 'good action' to be cast into the scale of St. Michael the Archangel, to 'BALANCE' his crime. The king, wicked as he was—sore against his will—consented; the 'good action' was cast in, the 'heretics' were extirpated; and the king was absolved." {3} [Emphasis added]

So the Edict was revoked, the Huguenots lost their religious liberty and the protection of French law. When the First Amendment has been suspended, we Bible-believing Americans will experience the following outrages put upon the French:

"Let us see what the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes involved. The demolition of all the remaining Protestant Temples throughout France, and the entire proscription of the Protestant religion; the prohibition of even private worship under penalty of confiscation of body and property; the banishment of all Protestant pastors from France within fifteen days; the closing of all Protestant schools; the prohibition of parents to instruct their children in the Protestant faith; the injunction upon them, under a penalty of five hundred livres in each case, to have their children baptized by the parish priest, and brought up in the Roman Catholic religion, the confiscation of the property and goods of all Protestant refugees who failed to return to France within four months; the penalty of the galleys for life to all men, and of imprisonment for life to all women, detected in the act of attempting to escape from France." {4} [Emphasis added]

Then the fanatical Jesuits with their French soldiers, called "the Dragonnade," fulfilled the bloody Jesuit Oath and Council of Trent once again, shedding innocent blood throughout France. Of the bloodthirsty Dragonnade we read:

> "The dragons entered the houses with drawn swords, shouting 'kill, kill or become Catholics.' The scenes of brutal outrage, which occurred during these dragonnades, can not be described. These soldiers were among the roughest, loosest, cruelest of men. They suspended their victims with ropes, blowing tobacco-smoke into their nostrils and mouths, and practicing upon them a hundred other nameless cruelties . . . These infamous wreckers took a pleasure in maltreating women. They beat them with whips; they struck them on the face with canes in order to disfigure them; they dragged them by their hair in the mud and over the stones . . . Great was the rejoicing of the Jesuits on the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes." {5}

Chiniquy, a French Canadian and one of our heroes, concludes:

> "It was to obey those bloody laws that Louis XIV revoked the Edict of Nantes, caused the death of half a million of men, women and children, who perished in all the highways of France, and caused twice that number to die in the land of exile, where they had found a refuge." {6} [Emphasis added]

Ridpath agrees:

> "The regions where the Huguenot population predominated were reduced to a desolation, and it is estimated that France by her frightful barbarity to her own people lost fully half a million of her most industrious inhabitants . . ." [Does this not sound like the Purges under Jesuit-trained Masons Josef Stalin and Mao Zedong?] {7} [Emphasis added]

The result of the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes was over one hundred years of Jesuit suppression of the Protestant faith in France! (Many Huguenots would come to America and settle in English Carolina—North and South Carolina.

One of our Founding Fathers was a descendant of these persecuted French Calvinists. A contributor to The Federalist Papers and our first Chief Justice, he was the learned and great John Jay!) But, like in the Jesuits' Communist Russia and Communist China, the Bible-believing Protestant and Baptist Churches continued underground until the Jesuit General used his French Revolution to punish the disobedient Pope and Roman Catholic Monarchs of Europe for abolishing his Society of Jesus.

> "Although Protestantism seemed to be utterly stamped out in France during the century which followed the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes—although its ministers were banished, its churches and schools suppressed; and it was placed entirely beyond the pale of the law—it nevertheless continued to have an acted existence. . . . for the Protestants, after the Revocation, constituted a sort of underground church, regularly organized, though its meetings were held by night in forests, in caves among the hills, or in unsuspected places even in the heart of large towns and cities, in all parts of France." {8} [Emphasis added]

Dear truth-seeker, what is the difference between France under the Revocation and Russia and China under Communism in their treatment of Protestant and Baptist Bible-believers? Nothing! For as we shall see, their masters are the same—those vile, heartless and murderous Sons of Loyola!

Dear truth-seeker, do you see why America's founding fathers, the Baptist-Calvinist Virginian patriots being James Madison and George Mason in particular, insisted upon a Bill of Rights to secure Protestant and Baptist liberties from federal abridgement? Do you see why certain of our Southern, anti-federalist, Bible believing founding fathers wanted neither the Roman Catholic Hierarchy nor the English Anglican Hierarchy, both brotherhoods then and now being overseen and infested with Jesuits, to govern us Americans with unrestrained, absolute power through our duly constituted Federal Government? Has Washington, D.C., our national capital, degenerated into what our founding fathers feared what it might become as declared during the federalist and anti-federalist debates, namely "Rome on the Potomac?" (In 1888 Justin D. Fulton released his masterpiece, Washington In The Lap of Rome, fully substantiating the fears of our Southern Founding Fathers!)

If a French King—Louis XIV—could revoke Protestant liberty with an "edict" could not an American President, operating under the Emergency War Powers Act of 1950 as the Commander-in-Chief, do the same with an "executive order"? Would the Jesuits attempt to do the same thing in the United States if all the guns were registered then confiscated just as they were in Nazi Germany? No doubt!

"The Sun King:" Louis XIV "the Great," 1638 – 1715
Vicious Persecutor and Murderer of French Protestants

King Louis XIV was the utter creature of his Jesuit Confessor, Pere La Chaise. Therefore the Jesuit was in command of the French Branch of the Sovereign Military Order of Malta ordering the King's war machine and controlling the nation's banking and high finance—as it is today in America and Britain! In 1655 the Jesuit, in the name of the King via Cardinal Mazarin, ordered six Catholic regiments, three of which were Irish mercenaries, to mercilessly destroy entire villages of Vaudois Protestants; in 1672 he ordered an attack against the Protestant Dutch Republic only to see the hand of the risen Son of God melt the river of ice at the point of crossing, the entire advance guard drowning in the freezing waters. But in 1685 the death-knell to French Protestantism would finally sound: Jesuit La Chaise ordered Louis to sign the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes, ruining the commercial prosperity of France and setting the stage for the expulsion of the Company by King Louis XV in 1764. We read and weep:

"In the reign of Louis XIV and by the orders of that despot, the Protestants of France were treated with the most wanton and diabolical cruelty. Their houses were rifled, their wives and daughters ravished before their eyes, and their bodies forced to endure all the torments that ingenious malice could contrive. His dragoons who were employed in this infamous expedition, pulled them by the hair of their heads, plucked the nails off their fingers and toes, pricked their naked bodies with pins, smoked them in their chimneys with wisps of wet straw, threw them into fires and held them till they were almost burnt, slung them into wells of water, dipped them into ponds, took hold of them with red hot pincers, cut and slashed them with knives, and beat and tormented them to death in a most unmerciful and cruel manner. Some were hanged on the gallows, and others were broken upon wheels, and their mangled bodies were either left unburied, or cast into lakes and dunghills, with every mark of indignation and contempt. Mareschal Montrevel acted a conspicuous part in these barbarous executions. He burnt five hundred men, women, and children, who were assembled together in a mill to pray and sing psalms; he cut the throats of four hundred of the new converts at Montpelier, and drowned their wives and children in the river, near Aignes Mortes. Yet the haughty tyrant by whose orders these barbarous deeds were committed, along with his mareschals and grandees, who assisted in the execution—instead of suffering the visitations of retributive justice, continued, for thirty years after this period, to riot in all the splendours of absolute royalty, entering into solemn treaties, and breaking them when he pleased, and arrogating to himself divine honours; and his [Jesuitcontrolled] historians, instead of branding his memory with infamy, have procured for him the appellation of LOUIS THE GREAT ."

Louis XIV, King of France, 1643 – 1715

Words cannot describe the diabolical infamy of this evil and sinister man. Living in wealth and splendor at the French Court, he used Rome's cruel doctrine of "salvation by works" to intimidate King Louis XIV, surnamed "the Sun King," into expelling all Jews from the French colonies in 1683. Two years later, in 1685, he again forced the king to revoke King Henry IV's Edict of Nantes, having granted freedom of worship. The Revocation thereby destroyed the most productive and cultivated people of France, the Calvinist Huguenots, they like the Jews finding refuge in England. La Chaise's enforcement of the Company's evil Council of Trent fueled French resentment for priestly tyranny, which later erupted into the Masonic Revolution of 1789—secretly directed by the Order.

The atheism, socialism and immorality of the French today are largely the result of this perfidious Jesuit and his devilish master, the Black Pope.

Reading the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes, 1685 #6-9

This savage Jesuit Revocation cut the heart out of the Reformation in Europe, depriving the Huguenots of their religious liberty as well as their lives, their fortunes, their families and their sacred honor as high-cultured Frenchmen. For these hated French Calvinists, in the persons of Robert Stephens and Theodore Beza, had provided the foundational and finalized New Testament Greek Text for the risen Son of God's English Authorized Version of the Bible of 1611.

It was for this reason that the White Celtic-Anglo-Saxon Baptist Calvinists of the sovereign States of Rhode Island and Virginia insisted upon the addition of a Bill of Rights to the Constitution prior to their entering into our Confederated (or Federated) Republic of these United (Protestant Sovereign) States of America.

Both the First and Second Amendments were deemed necessary in order to prevent these scenes from occurring in our great Bible-reading land, surnamed "THE INVADED TERRITORY" by one of the most influential American Jesuit journalists of the Nineteenth Century, Orestes A. Brownson. For this reason the Sons of Loyola hate our Bill of Rights, having now been overturned by President George W. Bush's CFR/Jesuit-authored USA PATRIOT Acts I and II. The Acts will be enforced by one of their authors, Papal Knight Michael Chertoff, the director of the Office of Homeland ("Romeland") Security. The persecution of American "heretics, liberals and Jews" may now begin in dead earnest.

"The Society may also advantageously traffic under the borrowed names of some rich merchants [Shriner Freemasons and Knights of Malta], our friends; but never without a prospect of certain and abundant gain; and this may be done even to the Indies, which hitherto, by the bountiful favor of God, have furnished us not only with souls, but also plenteously supplied our coffers with wealth." {1}

"I find almost the whole wealth of Central America in the hands of the Jesuits, and the property they hold in heads of cattle ["the Father of the Cattle Business" being Arizona Jesuit Eusebio Kino] and sheep is something truly enormous. . . . and they have succeeded in a word to bring to such a height their power and riches that the secular clergy will soon be compelled to beg their bread from the Jesuits." {2}

"When once the Jesuits had raised up a generation so devoted and obedient, they then brought into operation their system of government, and made a successful attempt to realize that [Communist] republic preconceived of old by Plato, and which, with perhaps more interested views, is held out to us by the Socialists of our own day. In fact, their form of a republic was nothing else than Communism which the famous [French Roman Catholic Etienne] Cabet [who died in Jesuit-controlled St. Louis in 1856] is now trying to establish in nearly the same regions; the only difference being, that the Jesuits substituted themselves for the state or community." {4} [Emphasis added]

Pope Pius X, 1906

"The 'considerable progress' of the Communist party consists in this: It has succeeded in debauching thousands of our fellow workers who, had they been more fortunate, might have taken up the falchion [a broad, short sword] of uncompromising, revolutionary Socialism. Socialism does not look upon the proletariat [wage earners who must sell their labor to survive] as pawns to be maneuvered in accordance with the devious course of Soviet foreign policy, but as a class which must consciously strike off the chains of wage slavery. It, therefore, guards against aught that will confuse the workers, insisting instead that the issue be made clip and clear.

Jesuitism beclouds the issue and, because of the lack of class-consciousness among the workers, seems to enjoy a momentary triumph. The triumph is illusory. 'Twould be imbecile folly to believe that Jesuitic policies which bewilder the workers deceive their exploiters. Far from being deceived, the [cartel-capitalist] ruling class makes the fullest use of its communist errand boys, as the notorious Kelly-Nash machine did in [Jesuit-ruled] Chicago and as the petty capitalist elements did in Spain. And in Spain we may read the fate of the communist tail that would wag the capitalist dog!

But above all, there we may read the fate of a despoiled, defrauded and outraged working class that follows the will-o'-the-wisp of the corrupt and unprincipled Jesuitism of the Communist party politicians. . . .

Being at best a caricature of the Russian Communist party [brought to power in October, 1917, by the Order's Fabian Socialists ruling the British Labor Party then in control of Parliament], it was perhaps inevitable that the Communist party of America should become the fraud and burlesque that we now know it to be. For whereas the Communist party of Russia has practiced lying, deceit and double-dealing in a good cause (at least in its earlier period), the American Communist party has practiced lying, deceit and double-dealing in a rotten, infamous cause—the cause of making America safe for [cartel, corporate-fascist] capitalism, as far as it lay in their puny powers to make it so. . . . [American Communist party leader and Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor] Earl Browder . . . upheld Roosevelt's imperialist army and navy program [backed by Patrick Cardinal Hayes' American Tongue of the Knights of Malta] against the criticism of the honest bourgeois [Protestant Middle Class laissez-faire] writer! . . .

When the ruling class picks a plebs leader, the 'build-up' of the faker is the important thing. He has to be 'sold,' and the more threatening the workers become in their discontent, the quicker the 'build-up' process must get on the way. [Labor leader] John L. Lewis, pal of Morgan's [J. P. Morgan, Jr.] man, [Knight of Malta] Myron C. Taylor [FDR's ambassador to the Vatican during WWII], is an example. Earl Browder is another. . . . and his gang of plutocratic servitors [servants of the ruling elite], are advancing the strongest argument conceivable as to why the workers should support [Freemasons] Roosevelt, Morgan, Rockefeller . . . and John Lewis in saving and preserving [cartel] capitalism [President Wilson's WWI cry of "Making the world safe for democracy"]! . . .

It is significant to note that while the [American Communist party's] Daily Worker reports his pledge to sell liberty bonds 'tomorrow if war broke out' [thus backing Rome's plot to bring isolationist America into the Order's Crusade against the anti-Jesuit German and Japanese peoples] the lying sheet suppressed entirely his testimony that he would fight for the United States in case of war with Russia. What a spectacle this man presents—as revealing as it is loathsome! And what will [Jesuit-ruled] 'Moscow' now do with this faded carbon copy of Russia's Stalin—this noble fuehrer who is so eager to fight for United States [cartel, corporate-fascist] capitalism, even to the point of fighting against Soviet Russia [built by the same cartel-capitalists such as 33rd Degree Freemason Henry Ford, secretly advised by the Jesuits of Detroit]? Our guess is that [Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor] Stalin will wink an eye and say, 'Good work! Charming fellow, that [Earl] Browder. One of the finest products turned out by our Machiavellian school of statesmanship—that school whose curriculum includes a course in 'strategy and adroitness, illegal proceedings, reticence and subterfuge,' as [Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor] Lenin taught us [through his intimate connection to the Black Pope's British Fabian Socialists Sidney Webb and George Bernard Shaw]! Our motto is, like that of the Jesuits: 'The ends justify the means.' Browder, through his recent dodging, reticence, subterfuges, double-dealing and premeditated prevarications, has lived up to the noble traditions of our neo-jesuitism!

As a Communist Loyola, we hail him.' . . .

As defenders of [cartel] capitalist [pro-fascist] reaction in general, what more natural than that the Communist party should defend the [Roman] praetorian guard of capitalism and capitalist interests [the Jesuits serving as the Pope's "praetorian guard" since 1814], the [pro-fascist] reactionary American [Roman] Legion, which, collectively and otherwise, has seldom missed an opportunity to support the [pro-fascist] reaction, both as regards strikes, etc., as well as with respect to violating civil liberties, etc.!?

The Communist party's belly-crawling before the [Jesuit-authored—via Pope Pius IX's Syllabus of Errors of Modern Civilization (1864) as incorporated into the Counter-Reformation doctrines of Vatican I (1870)] Ultramontane machine [producing Nazi-fascism] is in keeping with its role of defender of all that is reactionary, including [cartel, corporate-fascist] capitalism itself. . . . the Communist party politicians have coyly extended to the [Jesuit-ruled] Ultramontane machine the 'brotherly outstretched hand [Hitler, according to Pierre van Paassen, admitting that "I am not so stupid as to believe in a communist threat myself" {6}].' And, although the top-Ultramontane politicians treat their overtures with understandable contempt, they have, in part at least, secured recognition for their disgusting truckling to Ultramontanism, for one of the organs of the [Jesuit-ruled, Roman Catholic Church's] Ultramontane machine, the New World [as in the Pope's "New World Order"] bestows well-deserved praise on the Midwest Daily Recorder, which is the daily Communist sheet published in Chicago. As quoted in the Daily Worker of July 9, the Catholic paper [New World)] says of the Communist mid-western sheet:

'And far from attacking the Catholic Church, it has been noted that when it [the Communist daily] has occasion to speak of that institution, it has nothing but praise for the constructive work done and is respectful throughout.'

Jesuitism and bourgeois communism—Siamese twins of the [pro-cartel corporate-fascist] reaction!

Having swallowed [cartel] capitalism [ruled by blue-blooded, 33rd Degree Freemasons and the Knights of Malta], hide and hair, having hailed the American Legion and the [Jesuit-created (1870) and ruled] Ultramontane [Roman Catholic] Church, and salaamed and belly-crawled before everything else of a [anti-laissez-faire, cartel] capitalist [pro-fascist] reactionary character, what else is there for this despicable group of 'communists' to do [but to become "pro-democracy," thus backing—in practice—Jesuit fascism after Rome's "Jew-communism" bankrupted the Protestant peoples of the West, and mass-murdered Russia's Orthodox peoples, both peoples to become fascist after the Pope's Cold War]? . . .

In a pamphlet written by one of the wheel-horses of the Communist party, one Alex Bittelman . . . [says] of the . . . bourgeois communist swindlers:

'Had Mr. X. included [in his 1934 readings] the theses of the [Masonicallyled] Communist International or the writings of [Freemason] Josef Stalin . . . he would have found that Communism traces no opposition in principle between bourgeois democracy and fascism. . . . that fascism is nothing but the fascization of bourgeois democracy!! This fetishism of democracy . . . leads . . . to collaboration with the [super-rich] bourgeois in the very preparation of fascist rule.' " {7} [Emphasis added]

Arnold Peterson, 1939
American; Socialist Labor Party
Communist Jesuitism

This chapter is most important as it will be proven that the Jesuits are the true authors of socialist-communism. The economic system of the Dark Ages was feudalism consisting of the few rich landowners and the many poor peasants. It was "a sin" to make a profit by anyone other than the feudal lords. Thus, if the world is to be returned to the Dark Ages, the White Protestant Middle Class must be destroyed.

Socialist-Communism accomplishes this, which system includes the progressive income tax (wickedly taxing the common-law right to labor exercised by all wage-earners), having yielded its bitter fruit in both Great Britain and the United States.

The great deception is that the Jews are the authors of communism. (After all, is not Labor Zionism, as opposed to Revisionist Zionism, Jewish communism?)

The facts are that the Jesuits used their Masonic Jews to introduce it in 1848 with the Second French Revolution (Marx), and again in 1917 with the Bolshevik Revolution (Lenin). Several years later, in 1933, the Order, in the person of Georgetown University Jesuit Edmund A. Walsh, then moved their 33rd Degree and Shriner Freemason, Franklin Delano Roosevelt (FDR), to recognize Russia's bloody government. The Society then financed Russian communism with its Knights of Malta on Wall Street. This enabled Jesuit-trained and advised Josef Stalin, "the Grand Inquisitor," to carry out the Great Terrorist Purges of the Thirties. Having deceived the world into believing communism was of Jewish origin, the Jesuits then used Hitler to implement "the Final Solution to the Jewish Question" pursuant to the evil Council of Trent. The result was the mass-murder of European and Russian Jewry at the hands of the Order's Teutonic Knights, the Nazi "Schutzstaffel" (SS).

At the close of the Second Thirty Years' War (1945) the Jesuits, with their Vatican Ratline, helped hundreds of top Nazis to escape to South America. And where in South America? To the old dominion where socialist-communism had been perfected by the Jesuit fathers—to the nation of Paraguay. For it was here that the socialist tenets of Roman Catholic "Saint" Sir Thomas More, an English traitor to his Protestant King Henry VIII, were revived and later used against Reformed nations.

The Jesuits entered Paraguay in the early 1600s, sent by the kings of Spain and Portugal. They established their supremacy over the natives, called "Guarani Indians," and did not allow them to mix with the Spanish or Portuguese. It was among this people the Jesuits established their communes called "Reductions."

Richard W. Thompson, a former Secretary of the American Navy, reveals:
"The unsuspecting Indians were easily seduced by acts of kindness, and the result was that, in the course of a brief period, they succeeded in establishing a number of what were called Reductions—or, more properly speaking, villages—with multitudes of Indians assembled about them; the whole aggregating, in the end, several hundred thousand. These [fifty-seven Reductions] constituted the Jesuit State, and were all, by the mere ceremony of baptism [conferring Roman Papal citizenship with privileges and immunities], brought under Jesuit dominion." {8} [Emphasis added]

The "Commune" or "Reduction" was kept in order by a system of spying.

> ". . . each Reduction was governed by a Jesuit father, supported by a vicar and a curate as assistants, but whose chief duty was espionage." {9}

This is important, as Rome's socialist-communist Reduction of the United States is also kept in order by a system of spying, carried out by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) and National Security Agency (NSA). (Vincent M. Cannistraro, the former CIA anti-terrorism chief under Knight of Malta William J. Casey, became the Vatican's security advisor in 2002.)

This system of spying has been greatly increased due to New York Archbishop Edward Cardinal Egan's CFR/CIA September 11th attack on the World Trade Center and the Pentagon. As of December, 2004, we now have a National Intelligence Tzar.

The Commune, called by the Jesuits a "republic," gave the appearance that it was self-governing. It was a republic in form but a monarchy in power controlled by the Jesuit General in Rome. Every Reduction was a Commune.

> "At each Reduction the natives were allowed to select a secular magistry, with limited and unimportant powers over such temporal affairs as could be intrusted to them without impairing the theocratic feature of the Government. It was in everything pertaining to the management of public affairs an absolute monarchy, with all its powers centered in the General at Rome, whose authority was accepted as equal to that of God, and to whose command obedience was exacted from all." {10} [Emphasis added]

(This also is important, as the Protestant-Calvinist republic of George Washington, with express and limited powers delegated to the Federal government, the remaining powers being retained by the States, was an abomination to the Jesuit Order:

> "For the Vatican condemned the Declaration of Independence [based on the Presbyterian Mechlenberg Declaration of 1775, not on the writings of the Jesuit Robert Cardinal Bellarmine (1640)] as 'wickedness' . . . and called the Constitution of the United States 'a Satanic document.' " {11}

So the Order with its "Radical Red Republican party" forced the ratification of the Fourteenth Amendment in 1868. This converted Washington's Calvinist republic into a Platonic, Jesuit republic—a republic in form but a monarchy in power.)

The status of the natives was one of equality and the economic system was socialist-communism. And of course, each Reduction had a common treasury or central bank. We read:

> ". . . universal equality prevailed. The principles of socialism or communism—very much as now understood [1894] —governed all the Reductions. Everything necessary to the material comfort and prosperity of the Indians was in common. Each family had a portion of land set apart for cultivation. They also learned trades, and many of them, both men and women, became experts. But the earnings of the whole were deposited in common storehouses at each Reduction, and distributed by the Jesuits in such portions to each individual as necessity required. . . . Suffrage was universal, but 'the sanction of the Jesuits was necessary to the validity of the election [as in the United States today].' " {12} [Emphasis added]

(Dear truth-seeker, is this not how the people of the United States are governed today?

Marx's ten planks of The Communist Manifesto, having spawned over fifty revolutions in Europe, are in full force. We have a privately owned central bank called the "Federal Reserve Bank." An annual income tax, never intended to be laid upon the "wages" of American laborers, is collected from "each according to his ability" and redistributed to "each according to his need," thereby destroying the White Protestant Middle Class. The sanction of the Jesuits, in control of their Council on Foreign Relations, is necessary to the validity of our "elections."

Politically, women are equal with men and we are oppressed with "one man, one vote." We have no "lawful money" which is real wealth, as President Roosevelt and President Johnson took our gold and silver coins out of circulation and created the supremacy of monopoly money—the bogus notes of the Federal Reserve Bank.)

One last trait of the Jesuit republic must be noted. Through its police state the Jesuits destroyed true manhood.

> "In order to teach the confiding Indians that obedience to authority was their chiefest duty, they were subjected to rules of conduct and intercourse which were enforced with the strictest severity. They were watched in everything, the searching eyes of the Jesuits being continually upon them. They constituted, in fact, a state of society reaching the Jesuit ideal completely; that is, docile, tractable, submissive, obedient, without the least real semblance of manhood. Having thus completed their subjugation, energetic measures were adopted to render any change in their condition impossible." {13} [Emphasis added]

(Dear truth-seeker, I must comment! Is this not the America of 2006? As a nation, we no longer read the Bible of the Protestant Reformation—The Authorized King James Version of 1611, the edition of 1769. As a result, there are no longer any Calvinists who would use "the Sword of Just Defense" against a Jesuit-controlled tyranny. Therefore, we Americans live in a police state and are watched and tracked in everything we do through the use of the "date of birth" and "social security number." The eyes of the FBI and CIA are continually upon us—like the KGB/FSB in Russia. And like the Guarani Indians, the vast majority of American men are submissive and obedient, docile and conquered, "without the least real semblance of manhood" thanks to the use of fluoride and amalgam fillings by the American Dental Association (ADA) along with synthetic estrogens, toxic chemicals and vaccinations by the American Medical Association (AMA) and cartel corporate farmers.)

"The Jesuit Republic," composed of fifty-seven Paraguayan Reductions, was in fact a vast, commercial empire in which over two hundred thousand slaves labored for their black-robed, corporate masters. E. Boyd Barrett, an Irish ex-Jesuit, tells us:

> "The Jesuits, as it is well known, held very large regions of Paraguay under missionary control from 1650 to 1750. More than a quarter million natives worked under their [absolutist] direction, and no payment was made directly to them [as in America where many corporate laborers have their checks automatically deposited into their bank accounts]. . . . They were educated, trained, housed, clothed, fed and, to some extent, amused, but what became of the surplus profits of their labours, and of the extensive trading that was carried on? Over two thousand boats are said to have been engaged in carrying merchandise and goods on the Parana River; and the economic value of the Reductions was beyond doubt very great: so great indeed as to have awakened the envy of Spanish and Portuguese traders.

Robertson estimated that the reductions represented at least $25,000,000 capital for the Society." {14} [Emphasis added]

Further, the Order's commercial empire extended north through Central America to include all of Mexico. Again, our ex-Jesuit writes:

"The most dramatic testimony to Jesuit 'avidity and eagerness for earthly goods' is contained in a letter from the Venerable Bishop Palafox of Los Angeles [Mexico] to [Pope] Innocent X [who had fully approved of the Jesuits' continuing Irish Massacre commenced in 1641] dated May 25, 1647. It treats the wealth of the Mexican Jesuits of that time.

'Most Holy Father:
I found almost all the wealth, all immovables, and all the treasures of this Province of America in the hands of the Jesuits, who still possess them.

Two of their colleges have 300,000 sheep, without counting the small flocks; and whilst almost all the Cathedral Churches and all the Orders together have hardly three sugar refineries, the Society has six of the largest. One of these refineries is valued at more than half a million thalers; and this single province of the Jesuits, which however only consists of ten colleges, possesses, as I have just said, six of these refineries, each of which brings in one hundred thousand thalers yearly. Besides this they have cornfields of enormous size. Also they have silver mines, and if they continue to increase their power and wealth as they have done up to now, the secular clergy will become their sacristans and the laymen their stewards, while the other Orders will be forced to collect alms at their doors. All this property and all these considerable revenues which might make a sovereign powerful, serve no other purpose than to maintain ten colleges [military fortresses]. . . . To this may be added the extraordinary skill with which they make use of and increase their super-abundant wealth.

They maintain public warehouses, cattle-fairs, butchers-stalls, and shops. They send part of their goods by way of the Philippine Islands to China. They lend out their money for usury, and thus cause the greatest loss and injury to others [as they do in the United States via their huge private banks, one of them being the Bank of America].' " {15} [Emphasis added]

Dear truth-seeker, "the Jesuit Republic" of South America became the model for "the Jesuit Republic" of North America. The fifty-seven Reductions in Paraguay from 1609 to 1767 have become the model for the fifty States of Fourteenth Amendment America from 1868 to 2007 (the present). Both "republics" were established by super cartel-capitalists—the Jesuits—who then implemented the economic system of the Dark Ages—feudal socialist-communism. As always, fascist cartel-capitalists and socialist-communists work together! Like Paraguay, Fourteenth Amendment America functions as a vast commercial empire, the Jesuits controlling all the wealth and reaping all the profits from their multinational corporations. Like the Guarani Indians, we American people are slaves; for after being "educated, trained, housed, clothed, fed and amused," we Americans have nothing left! Like Paraguay, the commercial power of Fourteenth Amendment America has been harnessed by the Jesuit Order and has been used to finance Great Wars furthering Loyola's Counter-Reformation while destroying Luther's Protestant Reformation!

Should those of us who believe the Bible to be the final rule of faith and practice continue to be used to such evil ends? Should our preachers continue to remain mute in the face of such grand theft and Anti-Christian tyranny?

Where are the Davids who would say:

"Is there not a cause?"

– I Samuel 17:29

Where are the Nehemiahs who would say:

"Should such a man as I flee?"

– Nehemiah 6:11

Finally, the Jesuits, in keeping the natives ignorant and enslaved, taught them to hate and kill White men and so keep the existence of the Reductions a secret from the sovereigns of Europe. Portugal issued the following statement of grievances:

> "That [the Jesuits] had under them thirty-one [in fact, 57] great populations, producing immense riches to the society, while the people themselves were kept in the most miserable slavery; that no Spaniard or Portuguese, were he even governor or bishop, was ever admitted into the Reductions; that 'with strange deceit,' the Spanish language was absolutely forbidden; that the Indians were trained to an unlimited, blind obedience, kept in the most 'extraordinary ignorance,' and the most insufferable slavery ever known, and under a complete despotism as to body and soul; that they did not know there was any other sovereign in the world than the fathers, and knew nothing of the king, or any other law than the will of the 'holy fathers,' that the Indians were taught that white laymen adored gold, had a devil in their bodies, were the enemies of the > Indians, and of the images which they adored; that they were consequently taught to kill white men wherever they could find them, and to be careful to cut off their heads, lest they should come to life again." {16} [Emphasis added]

(As an aside, did not the cult of the Black Muslims originate in the Jesuit-controlled city of Detroit? Are not the Black Muslims taught hatred for the "sub-human" White man? Was not the late Black Muslim, Khallid Abdul Muhammad, America's Black Hitler, hating both the White and Jewish races? Are not the Black Muslims taught that all White men are "white blue-eyed devils"? Do not the Black Muslims have a private army called "the Fruit of Islam" for the purpose of conducting an American race war pursuant to the wishes of its mulatto leader, Louis Farrakhan? Would not a race war (its preview being the Nation of Islam's Zebra Killings during the 70s, the Mau Mau butchery in Africa led by the Jesuits' Jomo Kenyatta during the 1950s, and now Black-on-White gang-rape and murder in Nelson Mandela's South Africa— his release from prison secured by African Knight of Malta, Abukuse V. E. P. Mbirika—and in Jesuit-trained Robert Mugabe's Zimbabwe) result in the suspension of the Constitution, the declaration of a national emergency, and with it*, absolutist martial law under the control of White military commanders subject to the Jesuit General?* Could it be that Malcolm X, after his trip to Mecca, became wise to this scenario realizing the Blacks of the Northern Roman Catholic cities were being used and would ultimately be interned in concentration camps? Could it be this is one of the reasons why he left the cult and founded his own movement resulting in his assassination? Could it be that Betty, the wife of Malcolm X, told the truth, that her husband was murdered by the leaders of the Nation of Islam in conjunction with the high command of the FBI, the Bureau in 1965 under the control of a White, apostate Presbyterian homosexual and 33rd Degree Freemason, J. Edgar Hoover? Was not Hoover the bosom friend of the homosexual American Pope, Cardinal Spellman, educated by and having been the great patron of the Society of Jesus? As we can see, the Black Muslim cult bears all the marks of Jesuit control including rabid, anti-Jewish and anti-WASP/Baptist fury; its Masonic leader, Louis Farrakhan (the personal friend of Masonic Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Fidel Castro), notoriously distributes the Jesuits' Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion—even though his violin teacher was Jewish—while promoting hatred for the Reformation's English* Bible of 1611 pursuant to the wishes of his master, the Archbishop of Chicago.) In casting further light on the assassination of Malcolm X in 1965, a private letter was received by the author from a brilliant and former associate of the Black Muslims, he having realized Rome's control of the movement through Black Freemasonry of the Prince Hall Rite. In moving me to tears as he applied a healing balsam to some of my old wounds, he bravely declared after forty years of study and involvement:

> "Elijah Muhammad was a Mason. (Many members of the Nation of Islam were/are Masons belonging to the Prince Hall Rite.) His son [Imam] Wallace (Warith) as well as [Louis] Farrakhan and Jesse Jackson are Masons. Farrakhan

[having been involved in mutual "worship" with his brother Shriner Freemason, "the White blue-eyed devil" and pastor of the Crystal Cathedral, Robert H. Schuller] was involved in Malcolm's assassination. He betrayed him knowing that he was going to be killed.

His role was that of a supervisor. He made sure the job was carried out. Wallace [Deen Muhammad] (Elijah Muhammad's son) also knew about his father's plans. His jealousy of Malcolm prevented him from warning him. He really wanted Malcolm out of the way. Based on declassified FBI, State Department, and Military Intelligence records which I have obtained a number of years ago, Wallace was/is the hand picked stooge of the FBI/Vatican. He was a government informant for the FBI as early as 1963-64. As for the thugs who were convicted of killing Malcolm, Thomas Johnson, Norman Butler and [Talmadge] Hayer are now free men. Hayer said the other two were not involved. This is a lie. I have personally spoken to an eyewitness who was present in Auburn Correctional Facility in 1972-1973 when Talmadge Hayer and Thomas Johnson planned their fabricated story. From 1966-1972 not one of the three ever had any contact with each other. It was not until 1971 after the riot at Auburn that a large portion of the inmate population was transferred to other prisons. Then in 1972 the Attica riots took place and it was then that Hayer was moved to Auburn. They were indeed the killers. However, there were others also involved who were on the scene as well as other conspirators, and the main culprit who gave the orders, Pope Paul VI (Giovanni Battista Montini), was the first Pope to ever visit the U.S. . . .

I hope I did not bore you with all this. In any event I am honored to be of service in this cause. Let me say I have been at this for more than forty years. I don't take this lightly and the seriousness of all this can never be overstated." {17} [Emphasis added]

As the Jesuits taught the native peoples of color hatred for the White race on their Reductions in Paraguay, even so they teach it now to the Blacks, or "African-Americans," in their American Empire through the Press, the Jesuit Theatre (Hollywood) and the Nation of Islam. (Islam has been highly embraced by the angry Blacks of the North—as opposed to the Bible-believing Blacks of the historic Old South. Northern Blacks have been victimized for over one hundred years by the majority White Roman Catholics controlling the commerce and politics of the cold Northern cities.) R. E. McMaster, Jr. writes concerning Islam:

"The Blacks particularly . . . are being played for suckers by the centralizing planners of this country. . . . too many Black minority groups have been conned into accepting the slavery of the dole . . . resulting from the government's welfare handout. Some Blacks have further been deceived into adopting the religion of [three quarters of] the slave traders who ruthlessly abused their ancestry—the Muslim religion." {18}

For the Nation of Islam is the Jesuit General's North American Masonic Black Terrorist Network intricately tied to the General's International Islamic Masonic Terrorist Network (created by the Order's NSA/CIA via Operation Cyclone) headquartered in the Shriner Masonic House of Saud's deliberately created oil monopoly, Saudi Arabia. And that wicked Wahhabi Islamic Terrorist Network is presently being financed by the trillionaire King of Saudi Arabia, Fahd bin Abdul Aziz Al-Saud. Any honorable Black man resisting and exposing this scenario will be threatened or silenced—permanently—unless he is protected by the risen Son of God who is the King of the Jews, the Lord Jesus Christ! Such was the Jesuit state of Paraguay from about 1600 to 1760. Such is the Jesuit State of the Pope's "Holy Roman," Fourteenth Amendment, Corporate-Fascist, Socialist-Communist, American Empire from 1868 to the present (2007). God the Father had decreed, however, that the Guarani Indians should be delivered from their invincible Jesuit masters. Therefore, the risen Son of God sent a man and the Jesuits ". . . encountered an adversary of whose courage and capacity they had not the least conception, and whom they found, in a brief period, capable of inflicting a death-blow upon the society. This was Sebastian Cavalho, Marquis of Pombal, who was [a Freemason and] the chief counselor of the Portuguese king [Joseph I]." {19} [Emphasis added]

In 1963, God the Father decreed that an American President would resist our Jesuit masters. He was a Catholic, John F. Kennedy, but he was mortally wounded in the house of his friends, while the nation's Protestant and Baptist preachers—including the 33rd Degree Freemason Billy Graham, the bosom friend of the Jesuits and servant of the "infallible" Papal Caesar in Rome—stood by and said nothing!

Southern Baptist Traitor, Billy Graham (1918 – Present), 1967 #7-2

Raised a Presbyterian, this 33rd Degree Freemason (according to the late Jim Shaw, a former 33rd Degree Freemason later converted to the Christ of the Bible and who authored The Deadly Deception, 1988) is receiving an honorary doctorate from the Benedictine Order's Belmont Abbey College in Belmont, North Carolina. Openly admiring the Jesuit Order and being responsible for the removal of all references to its inquisitional and murderous history in Halley's Bible Handbook published after 1961, "Father Graham" has called the Masonic Pope John Paul II "the world's greatest moral leader" knowing full well of his past employment with Nazi Germany's Vatican-controlled I. G. Farben, which manufactured "Zyklon B" pellets used at the nearby Auschwitz Death Camp.

With at least two Masons on the staff of his Evangelistic Association (BGEA), Graham offered prayer at the second inaugural of Bonesman George W. Bush.

The Guarani Socialist-Communist Reductions, 1609 – 1767 #7-3

These secret and evil socialist-communist Reductions, known today as "Communes" or "Kibbutzim," produced untold wealth for the Order using hundreds of thousands of slaves, "collecting from each according to his ability and giving to each according to his need." This wealth in turn was used to finance the many occult stratagems of the Order. The lessons learned on these Platonic Republics provided the groundwork for 33rd Degree Freemason Karl Marx's The Communist Manifesto by which every nation on earth would be reduced to a modern-day Guarani Reduction, thereby destroying the White Anglo-Saxon Protestant Middle Classes of Northern Europe and Western Civilization. In restoring the communal Feudalism of the Dark Ages—known as "the World's Midnight," the Order would submit all nations to a one-world economic system to be ruled by Rome's "Infallible" god-man—the Papal Caesar.

The Order's utopian Reductions upon which socialist-communism was perfected included central banks called "storehouses," universal equality and universal male and female labor. The goods produced by this slave labor were put into international trade with the Company's huge fleet of "Blackships." Benefiting Jesuit cartel-capitalists in financing their wars of annihilation against Protestant cultures, the Reductions bear a striking resemblance to the Concentration/Death Camps of the Black Pope's Nazi Third Reich fulfilling the Council of Trent. In fact, the first appearance of South America's Nazi Party was in Paraguay (1929)!

Presently, the profits generated from the slave labor of the Order's many Communist Reductions in the Far East are financing the building of Red China's huge navy intending to invade "heretic and liberal" North America, filled with refugees, Jews and apostate, AV1611 Bible-rejecting Protestants and Baptists.

Freemason Sebastian Cavalho, Marquis of Pombal, 1759 #7-5

After the attempted assassination of Portugal's King Joseph I, the Company was rightly blamed for which it was legally expelled from the kingdom and all its overseas holdings on September 16, 1759. The intrepid individual used for this stupendous task was the king's Chief Minister, Sebastian Cavalho. His legal decree is so scathing and damning of the Society of Jesus, that it remains without parallel today. Returned to "the King of the Papal States," 400 Jesuits were deposited on the riverbank of Rome's port of Civita Vecchia, disgraced and shamed. Later, the Blackrobes would take their vengeance using Napoleon I.

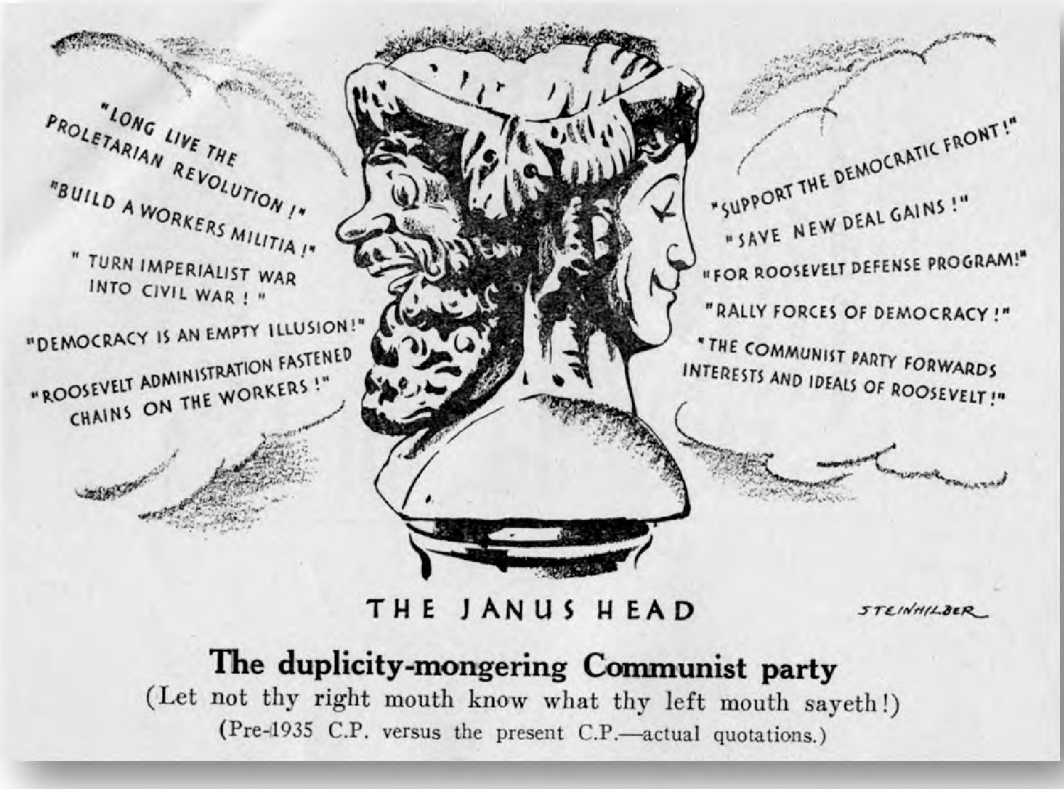
Mormon Freemason Brigham Young, 1801 – 1877
"The Prophet" of the Romish-styled Mormon Church, 1844 – 1877

The birth of Masonic Mormonism, and thus the fame of Brigham Young, can only be understood in light of America's anti-Masonic movement of the 1820s.

In August of 1826 Captain William Morgan of the Batavia Lodge of New York made public his Illustrations of Masonry By One of the Fraternity Who Has Devoted Thirty Years to the Subject. For revealing the first three degrees of Blue Lodge Masonry, Morgan was kidnapped; on the 19th of September he was drowned in the Niagara River. The people of western New York, where Morgan had lived, rose in all their might and attempted to find and punish the murderers. But to their surprise, sheriffs, witnesses, jurors and judges hindered the investigation, as they too were secret Masons bound by oaths of loyalty to the brotherhood over all civil oaths of duty to their communities. The outrage led to an anti-Masonic convention in 1828; in 1829 Baptist Preacher David Bernard published his Light On Free Masonry, revealing the first twenty degrees of the Craft. By 1830 tens of thousands of Northern Masons had disbanded their lodges. It was at this time Masonic Mormonism was born! On April 6, 1830, in the very same state out of which arose the anti-Masonic movement, Mason Joseph Smith (boldly calling himself "a Second Mohammed") privately founded a "New Religious Society" (surnamed after the "Society of Jesus")—"The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints." Fully intending to build "the temple of Zion, the center of the earthly kingdom of Jesus Christ," Zionist Smith fell into disrepute over his polygamy. In 1844 he was murdered in jail by a mob while giving the Masonic "Grand Hailing Sign of Distress," and Brigham Young became "The Prophet."

In 1846 at Council Bluffs, while moving 10,000 of his followers West, Young met with one of the Order's most powerful American Jesuits, Pierre-Jean De Smet.

The Jesuit directed Young to move his "Saints" to the Great Valley of the Salt Lake; Young obeyed, and upon arrival organized his new nation of "Deseret" along the lines of the Order's socialist Paraguayan Reductions. In 1857 Masonic President James Buchanan, controlled by the Jesuits since his early 1857 arsenic poisoning, began a political agitation over the governorship of Utah, igniting the bloodless "Utah War." He dispatched a military force led by Masonic Army Colonel Albert Sydney Johnston to put down Masonic Young's refusal to submit to Federal jurisdiction. In this, Young's "Deseret" only benefited, Johnston allowing Mormon raiders to "steal" 800 Army oxen. That same year Young ordered Bishop John D. Lee to lead a force composed of Mormons and Paiute Indians to murder nearly 130 "heretic" Protestant emigrants at Mountain Meadows—pursuant to the Order's wicked Council of Trent and bloody Jesuit Oath. In the Spring of 1858 Masonic President Buchanan arranged for a free pardon if the Mormons would submit to Federal authority. The chief negotiator between both parties was the Jesuit, Pierre-Jean De Smet! Jesuit Coadjutor Brigham Young died in 1877, and will one day answer to the Lord Jesus Christ!



The Roman God "Janus;" One Head With Two Faces #77

Jesuit Catholicism utilizes the Machiavellian maxim of OPENLY promoting a FALSE position while SECRETLY bringing to pass its TRUE purposes. Jesuit Communism does the same, as illustrated above. Socialist author Arnold Peterson said: "Since the fateful congress of 1935 the Communist International has courted [cartel] capitalist democracy as ardently as it formerly denounced it.

The new 'line' has led to a succession of ludicrous performances by the American Communist Jesuits—made giddy by the carte blanche from Moscow."*

In 1933 FDR, in the presence of Jesuit Edmund A. Walsh, formally recognized the Order's USSR, which from then on would be built by US cartel-capitalists.

Communist Jesuitism, Arnold Peterson, (New York: New York Labor News Co., 1939) *p. i.

The Order's Communist American Pope, Earl Browder, 1939 #78

Speaking on the 15th anniversary of Lenin's death, "the Pope" of the American Communist Party, Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Earl Browder, declared: "The Communist Party of the U.S.A. for the first time in its existence has come to the conclusion that it is necessary to take a positive attitude toward armaments."*

By backing FDR's massive armament program in preparation for the American Empire's entrance into WWII, Browder brought about the arming of Stalin's USSR. In 1941 cartel-capitalist and CFR/SMOM Averell Harriman signed the "Lend-Lease" Act into law, thus giving all the necessary armaments to the Soviet Union for the destruction of Protestant Prussia and the waging of the Cold War.

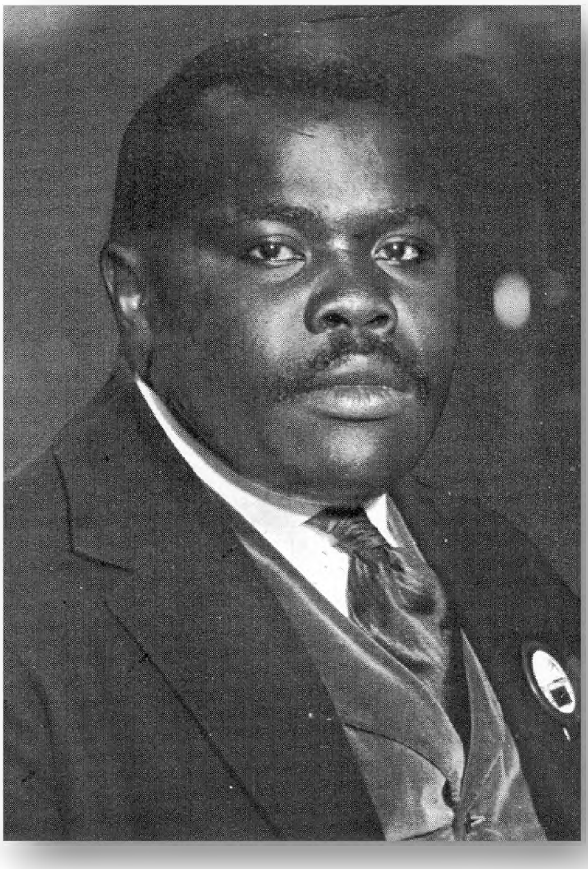
Malcolm Little, alias "Malcolm X," 1925 – 1965

Unknowingly controlled by the Order through the mulatto and "the honorable" Elijah Muhammad—the absolute Masonic dictator of the Nation of Islam (NOI) who was the obedient servant of the White Archbishop of Chicago, Albert Cardinal Meyer and later John Cardinal Cody—Malcolm bore all the marks of a Jesuit agitator including his detestation of Jews, White Anglo Saxon Protestants, the U.S. Constitution and the King James Bible. Surnamed "Big Red" due to his reddish-brown hair inherited from a White forefather, Malcolm's racial views had been born out of deplorable crimes of White Catholic and White Masonic violence, including intolerable, hate-filled racism experienced in the Northern, Mafia-dominated, Jesuit-controlled, White Roman Catholic cities of Boston, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Washington, D.C., as well as the Second Ku Klux Klan's gruesome murder of his father, Earl Little—an influential Baptist preacher and an outspoken advocate of Marcus Garvey's Back-to-Africa Movement. In opposition to the Jesuit Order's intended plan for a totally integrated North America thereby destroying the "heretic and liberal" White races, both Garvey and Malcolm seriously pursued the same policy of final separation and repatriation, as did Presidents Jefferson, Monroe and Lincoln.

Malcolm advocated that Blacks should break away from Whites either by returning to Africa or by establishing a separate Black North American nation, which indeed is the correct and Biblical solution to the Black Pope's international anti-White, Negro Agitation! Upon publicizing Elijah Muhammad's fathering of nine illegitimate children to six teenage girls, and for exposing the collusion between the NOI and KKK leaders (whose cooperative extremism created "collective guilt" among all Whites—cunningly calculated to unite Catholics and Protestants pursuant to the ecumenical doctrines of the Second Vatican Council while destroying the God-given preference to one's own race thus ensuring the success of the Civil Rights Movement), Malcolm became a threat to the Black Pope's NOI and was silenced for ninety days. This resulted in his trip to Mecca during which: he was carefully watched by Cardinal Spellman's CIA; he was converted to Orthodox Islam in spite of the brutal enslavement of African Blacks by Arab Muslims for centuries; he ceased to advocate Black separatism; and he finally broke with the NOI's Masonic leadership which included FBI informers Wallace Muhammad and Louis Farrakhan. The eloquent and independent Malcolm X who was now preaching against the NOI could not be allowed to live, as the genocidal race-mixing plot of the Order's Socialist-Communist Second Reconstruction, led by the wicked Black Martin Luther (Lucifer) King, Jr., championing the Order's doctrine of "universal equality" as perfected on the Reductions of Paraguay, could not be allowed to fail again. Therefore, Malcolm became another victim of the Order's Jesuit Oath and "leaden bullet," savagely shot down on stage at Harlem's Audubon Ballroom by three NOI assassins, all of whom were aided by Cardinal Spellman's CIA, FBI and New York City police.



Black Freemason Marcus Mosiah Garvey, 1921 #79

A Jamaican Black separatist and capitalist owning the Black Star Line, Garvey eloquently advocated the Back-to-Africa Movement from Harlem. The Order, using its Masonic Negroes like A. Philip Randolph, encouraged the Black Pope's Roman Catholic U.S. Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty (whose corrupt, pro-Mafia, Justice Department sold "liquor licenses" during Prohibition) to prosecute its bold enemy. Convicted of "mail fraud" in 1925 and given a five-year sentence that was later commuted, Garvey was deported back to Jamaica.

"And what became of the country after his [Oliver Cromwell's] death?— The Stuarts returned; and 'when the rejoicings were over . . . then . . . punishments followed. One hundred corpses were exhumed, among which were the great Oliver, his old and venerable mother, his dearly beloved daughter Bridget Pym [wife of the great Puritan Independent Baptist, John Pym, who twice had his ears cropped off by King Charles I] and the famous Admiral Blake. The mouldering bodies were hung on the three corners of the gallows at Tyburn, and the cavaliers found a subject of merriment and pleasantry in this revolting exhibition. Ears were cut off, noses were slit, and numbers lost their heads on the scaffold. The sentence pronounced against them all [twenty-nine of the signatories on the Death Warrant of King Charles I] was conceived in the following terms:—'You shall be drawn on a hurdle to the place of execution, and there you shall be hanged by the neck; and being alive, you shall be cut down and mutilated; your entrails shall be taken out of your body, and (you living) the same to be burnt before your eyes; and your head to be cut off, and your body to be divided into four quarters [which Jesuitauthored, barbaric punishment is nearly identical for those Freemasons who would dare to violate their oaths in telling the secrets of the Craft].'

The Stuarts, as if this were not enough, filled the country with immorality [including the plays of the Jesuit Theater, which present-day counterpart is the Black Pope's Hollywood Theater]; . . . Two thousand [Protestant and Baptist] ministers were driven from their benefices; the churches were oppressed; the noblest hearts of the country were forced to seek a refuge in distant lands; vast colonies in America were peopled by them; and England would have become like Spain, and worse than Spain, had not William III [of Orange] resumed the task so energetically begun by Cromwell [driving the Jesuit King James II from the Kingdom]." {1} [Emphasis added]

The Protector: A Vindication

"I had never heard of the Orangemen. . . . They were, I learned, worshippers (the word is not too strong) of the 'Glorious and Immortal Memory' of William of Orange, not the founder of the Dutch Republic, but of his great-grandson, William III, King of England, who went to the aid of English Protestantism when his father-in-law, James II, brought back the Roman Mass to the great cathedrals of London and Oxford.

Once a year, on the twelfth of July, Toronto's Orangemen held a parade, tens of thousands strong. On that day they carried fancy swords and were dressed in Swiss admirals' uniforms with plumed hats resembling those of their bitterest opponents, the Knights of Columbus [whose Supreme Knight is under the abject control of the Black Pope]. At the head of the procession walked a man carrying 'The Open Bible.' On their banners appeared the words: 'Remember the Deeds of our Forefathers.' This referred to the exploits of their ancestors or predecessors in the Battle of the Boyne in Ireland on the twelfth of July, 1690, when William III defeated the combined armies of [the French Roman Catholic Jesuit-King] Louis XVI and [the English Roman Catholic Jesuit-King] James II [both kings having Jesuit Pere La Chaise for their advisor, which merciless, antichrist, Son of Loyola had destroyed the Protestant Huguenots of France with his Revocation of the Edict of Nantes in 1685, five years prior to the Battle of the Boyne] and, by his victory, finally made the exercise of the Protestant religion safe and supreme in the realm of England [establishing the law that no Roman Catholic could ever again sit on the English throne].

Anybody amounting to anything in Toronto . . . all were 'true and faithful brother Orangemen.' . . . I was duly sworn in one night at one of the lodges. After the ritual I was called upon by the Worshipful Master [the same identical term used by Freemasons, indicating the evil union between the Church and the Craft] to say a few words. It was the first speech I made in English. For half an hour I discoursed, very poorly, I am afraid, on the history of the House of Orange. I told the story of William's coronation as sovereign of Scotland when he refused to swear the oath 'to extirpate heresy by the sword if needs be [as per the bloody Jesuit Oath].'

'My lords,' William replied amidst the astonished silence of the peers of the realm, 'I will never lay myself under obligation to persecute any man for his opinions [which brave and biblical position was the same as our hero, and Defender of the Protestant Faith, Oliver Cromwell].' "Bode, Johann Joachim Christoph.

Born in Brunswick, 18th of January, 1730. One of the most distinguished Masons of his time. . . . in 1757 he established himself at Hamburg as a bookseller, and was initiated into the Masonic Order. . . . To Masonic literature he made many valuable contributions; among others, he translated from the French [Nicolas de] Bonneville's celebrated work entitled Les Jesuites chasses de la Maconnerie et leur poignard brise par les Macons, which contains a comparison of Scottish Masonry with the Templarism of the fourteenth century. In 1790 he joined the order of the Illuminati, obtaining the highest degree in its second class, and at the Congress of Wilhelmsbad [1782] he advocated the opinions of Weishaupt. No man of his day was better versed than he in the history of Freemasonry, or possessed a more valuable and extensive library; no one was more diligent in increasing his stock of Masonic knowledge, or more anxious to avail himself of the rarest sources of learning. Hence, he has always held an exhalted position among the Masonic scholars of Germany. The theory which he had conceived on the origin of Freemasonry—a theory [carefully declared to be "untenable" by Masonic Coadjutor Mackey] . . . was that the Order was invented by the Jesuits, in the seventeenth century, as an instrument for the re-establishment of the Roman Church in England, covering it for their own purposes under the mantle of Templarism." {3} [Emphasis added]

Quite correct! My Square and Compass are every way equal to, if not superior to the Authorized Version of the Bible, and will 'enlighten' mankind quite as well. Go on, my dear sir! Go on, Bro. Leo, and issue your Bulls and Encyclicals against the Bible with all the rancor of which your old heart is capable, and I'll keep right on in my peculiarly aggressive course, degrading and debasing God's Word below my pagan emblems, and teaching my people that it is no better than the Koran, the Shasters or the Book of Mormon. Go on, Mr. Pope! Make all the Roman Catholics you can, and I'll guarantee to manufacture quite as many infidels from among the Protestants, and between us, I think, we shall be able to neutralize the great work of the Reformation, and perhaps destroy [Biblical] Christianity altogether.' Alien Rome

"There has never been any difficulty in the mind of any enlightened Protestant in identifying the woman 'sitting on seven mountains,' and having on her forehead the name written, 'Mystery, Babylon the Great,' with the Roman apostasy. 'No other city in the world has ever been celebrated, as the city of Rome has, for its situation on seven hills. Pagan poets and orators, who had no thought of elucidating prophecy, have alike characterized it as "the seven-hilled city." ' . . . It has been known all along that Popery was baptized Paganism; . . . that the Paganism which Rome has baptized is, in all its essential elements, the very Paganism which prevailed in the ancient literal Babylon . . . Rome is in very deed the Babylon of the Apocalypse . . . her priesthood and her orders [the Jesuits] have all been derived from ancient Babylon; and finally, that the Pope himself is truly and properly the lineal representative of Belshazzar. . . .

The Babylonians, in their popular religion, supremely worshipped a Goddess Mother and a Son, who was represented in pictures and in images as an infant or child in his mother's arms. From Babylon, this worship of the Mother and the Child spread to the ends of the earth. . . .

Now this Ninus, or 'Son,' borne in the arms of the Babylonian Madonna, is so described as very clearly to identify him with Nimrod. . . . Now Nimrod, as the son of Cush, was black, in other words, was a negro. . . . Wherever the negro aspect of Nimrod was found an obstacle to his worship . . . all that was needful was just to teach that Ninus [Osiris] had reappeared in the person of a posthumous son [Horus], of a fair complexion [like Rome's "Jesus"], supernaturally borne by his widowed wife [Isis, every Mason being "the poor widow's son"] after the father had gone to glory. . . .

In Egypt the fair Horus, the son of the black Osiris [from which mystery, hatefully racist Freemason Elijah Muhammad taught his Masonic Black American Nation of Islam that Whites descended from Blacks—a biological impossibility!], who was the favourite object of worship, in the arms of the goddess-mother, was said to have been miraculously born in consequence of a connection, on the part of that goddess [Isis], with Osiris after his death, and, in point of fact, to have been a new incarnation of that god, to avenge his death on his murderers [hence, the Masonic rite of Hiram Abiff, the initiate being killed by "three ruffians" (symbolizing Osiris's death); the initiate then receiving the whisper into his ear of the "grand Masonic [phallic] password" "Mah-hah-bone," symbolizing the fertilization of the womb of Isis); the initiate then being "born again" as he is raised from the dead via "the lion's paw" grip from the Worshipful Master (symbolizing the birth of Horus, the Deliverer—all of which forebodes the murder of the final Pope, who upon rising from the dead, will be the Antichrist—the risen Masonic initiate, now a Horus and son of "the poor widow" Isis!]. . . .

Thus the whole system of the secret Mysteries of Babylon was intended to glorify a dead man [just as Freemasonry glorifies the risen Hiram Abiff, which rite portrays the death of Osiris and his coming back to life as Horus who will then punish his murderers. The final Caesar/Pope (the last of the "seven kings" (Rev. 17:10) will receive a mortal "wound by a sword" (Rev. 13:14) and his "deadly wound" will be healed (Rev. 13:3) after which his "ten kings" (Rev. 18:12) will punish his papal murderers by destroying Rome, capital of the Vatican Empire, "that great city which reigneth over the kings of the earth" (Rev. 17:18), the risen Pope, then "the eighth king" (Rev. 17:11), who will not honor the gods of his popish fathers but will honor "a god whom his fathers knew not" (Dan. 11:38), may well be the Egyptian god SET, the Masonic Lucifer]; . . .

It is admitted that the secret system of Free Masonry was originally founded on the Mysteries of the Egyptian Isis, the goddess-mother, or wife of Osiris. But what could have led to the union of a Masonic body with these Mysteries, had they not had particular reference to architecture, and had the god who was worshipped in them not been celebrated for his success in perfecting the arts of fortification and building [the coming risen Pope, the Antichrist, to honor "the God of forces" (i.e., "the god of fortresses"), (Dan.11:38)]?

Now, if such were the case, considering the relation in which, as we have already seen, Egypt stood to Babylon, who would naturally be looked up to there as the great patron of the Masonic art? The strong presumption is, that Nimrod must have been the man [who in Egypt was "Horus," cleverly disguised as the "Jesus Christ" of Romanism now ruled by the Jesuits, the occult masters of all Masonic secret societies]. He was the first that gained fame in this way. As the child of the Babylonian goddess-mother, he was worshipped, as we have seen, in the character of Ala mahozim, 'The god of fortifications.' Osiris, in like manner, the child [also called Horus, the "reincarnation" of Osiris] of the Egyptian Madonna [Isis], was equally celebrated as 'the strong chief of the buildings.' This strong chief of the buildings was originally worshipped in Egypt with every physical characteristic of Nimrod. . . . Osiris met with a violent death, and that violent death of Osiris was the central theme of the whole idolatry of Egypt [which violent death of Hiram Abiff is the central theme of the whole idolatry of Freemasonry—authored by the Jesuits]." {9} [Emphasis added]

"In countries where there is an established religion, adherence to it is a necessary qualification for office. A citizen's religion determines largely his eligibility to a place of public trust. In this country [the Black Pope's "Holy Roman" Fourteenth Amendment American Empire], while we have no legally established religion [thanks to the Baptist-Calvinist First Amendment], we do have what in effect amounts to substantially the same thing. Masonry has become so powerful, so thoroughly organized, so thoroughly insinuated into the political life of our country, that adherence to it has become practically a prerequisite to appointment or election to office.

If it does not in every case dictate the nomination of the candidates, it does succeed in bringing them into its fold after their election, thus making them adherents of the state religion. There are over one million Masons in the United States, all voters, and these are a powerful factor in influencing those in office. Being a secret organization and governed by principles which are designed to exalt the order and its members, there is practically nothing to frustrate their designs [especially when select, high-level Masons carry out the designs of the Jesuit General]. They have placed in the executive chairs [at least fifteen US presidents], in the Congress and Legislatures, in the offices of trust and profit [FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover; CIA Director Allen W. Dulles, etc.], and upon the bench [Chief Justice Earl Warren who, with three other Masonic Justices, abolished Bible reading and prayer in the nation's public schools so despised by the Jesuit Order] its devotees [like Walt Disney, founder of Disneyland and Disney World], and thus for all practical purposes have made Masonry the religion of the state. We doubt whether any ecclesiastical power [including the Papacy] controls more completely the government of any country through the established church, than does Masonry the federal, state and municipal governments of our land. Freemasonry [secretly modeled after the Devil's Egyptian, "Isis-Horus-Seb," Luciferian, "Mystery Babylon Religion" and directed by the Black Pope] is to all intents and purposes, and in its practical effects, the state religion in our country. . . .

'It is the covenant that makes the Mason,' and that [like the Jesuit having taken his "perpetual" vows] 'no law of the land can affect that covenant, no anathema of the church can weaken it.' . . . 'Once a Mason, always a Mason.' . . . Even the power of Jesus Christ, King of kings and Lord of lords, can not, according to Masonic teaching, break that covenant, or absolve the Mason from it.' "As for Leo XIII, he was during his entire life intimately associated with the Society [of Jesus]. 'You Jesuits have enjoyed the great privilege,' he once said to a Father of the Roman Province, 'of having had saints for Generals' [every one of them being mass-murderers pursuant to the Jesuit Oath]. I knew Father Fortis [who declared in writing that Pope Clement XIV had suppressed the Order in 1773 with a "Bull" and not a "Brief"]; he was a saint. I knew Father Roothaan [the re-builder of the Jesuits] intimately; he was a saint. I was long acquainted with Father Beckx [the assassin of "heretic" American Presidents Abraham Lincoln and James A. Garfield]; he was a saint. And now you have Father Anderledy. . . .

[In 1885] Father Anderledy had asked His Holiness to re-affirm the ancient privileges of the Society, Leo XIII replied with the Brief [Bull] 'Dolemus inter [alia],' which is regarded by the Society as one of its great treasures [extorted from the Pope who was first poisoned by the Order and then given a promised antidote in return for the issuance of this Bull, making the Sons of Loyola absolute masters of the Vatican in preparation for the Order's 20th Century Papal Crusades]. After expressing his sorrow for the persecution which it was just then suffering in France [having been expelled in 1880 via the influence of Masonic anti-Jesuit Leon Gambetta, later murdered with "the leaden bullet"], the Pope says:

'In order that Our will [the Pope using a plural pronoun when speaking as a political sovereign] with regard to the Society of Jesus may be more thoroughly understood, We hereby declare that each and every Apostolic letter which concerns the establishment, the institution and confirmation of the Society of Jesus and which has been published by Our predecessors, the Roman Pontiffs, beginning with Paul III of happy memory, up to Our own time either by Briefs or Bulls, and whatever is contained in them or follows from them and which either directly or by participation with other religious orders has been granted to the Society and has not been abrogated or revoked in whole or in part by the Council of Trent and other Constitutions of the Apostolic See, namely, its privileges, immunities, exemptions and indults, we hereby confirm, by these letters, and fortify them by the strength of our Apostolic authority and once more concede. . . .

Let these letters be a witness of the love which we have always cherished and still cherish for the illustrious Society of Jesus which has been most devoted to Our Predecessors and to Us [Leo's Secretary of State, Cardinal Rampolla, being a member of the Order of Oriental Templars (OTO)]." {14} [Emphasis added]

"ADOLF SCHICKLGRUBER AND THE THULE-GESELLSCHAFT. . . .

Between 1880 and 1890 many personalities—among them some of England's most brilliant minds—found together and formed 'THE HERMETIC ORDER OF THE GOLDEN DAWN. Its members came largely from the Mother Grand Lodge of FREEMASONS and ROSICRUCIANS [London's Grand Lodge having been founded by four Masonic Jesuit Coadjutors in 1717 fully intending to restore the Pope's Stuart Dynasty to the throne of England]. . . . In 1917 the [extremely wealthy] occultist [and 33rd Degree Freemason, Bavarian Catholic] BARON RUDOLF VON SEBOTTENDORFF [whose Munich newspaper, "Volkischer Beobachter," became the official daily of the NSDAP Nazi Party], the George Gurdjieff disciple—[General] KARL HAUSHOFER [Hitler's second occult "esoteric mentor" (replacing Dietrich Eckart) who founded the Luminous Lodge or the "Vril Society" in Berlin and was questioned and released by Army officer Jesuit Edmund A. [German Masons] Sebottendorff and Haushofer were experienced travelers of India and Tibet and much influenced by the teachings and myths [including the Aryan mythology used to justify Nazi mass-murder] of those places. 1. Baron Rudolf von Sebottendorff, Grand Master of the Order [who from 1942 to 1945 was an agent for both the Nazi SS and the British SIS]
2. Guido von List, Master of the Order [who tutored Hitler in Vienna, the Jesuits also instructing Hitler in Vienna's Hofberg Library during the years 1907-1913 before his arrival in Munich, 1913]
3. Joerg Lanz von Liebenfels, Master of the Order [who, as the Roman Catholic priest "Father Georg," first met Hitler as a child at the Dominican Lambach Abbey in Austria; he later left the priesthood, became a Freemason and a Lutheran, openly and boldly wrote against the Jesuit Order, called for the incineration of the Jewish people as "an offering to God," and without question was a secret Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor].

4. Adolf Hitler, 'Fuhrer,' and German Chancellor, SS Superior [who was a Roman Catholic and a high Freemason; a close friend of the Bank of England's Masonic president, Montagu Norman; and the obedient servant to his German Jesuit masters in Rome, Bavarian Robert Leiber and Augustin Bea, controlling the former "German Pope" who brought him to power, Pope Pius XII].
5. Heinrich Himmler, Reichsfuhrer SS and Reichsminister [who being a most devoted Bavarian Roman Catholic was appointed to head the SS by Hitler through the influence of Munich's Crown Prince Rupprecht of Wittelsbach and Archbishop Michael von Faulhaber].
6. Bernhardt Stempfle, father confessor and confidant of Hitler, [who, being a priest of the Order of Saint Jerome, was the true author of Mein Kampf, it defining both the Pan-German movement and the "Jewish International Conspiracy" as put forth by the Jesuits].
7. Rudolf Steiner, founder of the anthroposophic teaching [who was also a high Freemason of the Scottish Rite; the head of the German Theosophical Society, Grand Master of the Illuminati order ORDO TEMPLI ORIENTIS (OTO) along with his "brother" 33rd Degree Freemason of the Scottish Rite, England's Aleister Crowley].

"The symbol of Thule was the swastika counter-clockwise. . . . The Thule-Gesellschaft engaged Hitler as a speaker at election rallies. Later the anti-Bolshevik and Thule-brother DIETRICH ECKART [to whom Mein Kampf was later dedicated] taught him how to write and speak properly. Eckart made Hitler what he later represented. He influenced him into the Munich and Berlin scenes and [Masonic] Hitler adopted the Thule views almost completely. . . . Hitler took the Thule salute 'Heil und Sieg' (Salvation and Victory) and made it into 'Sieg Heil.' This salute together with the raising of the arm is a magical ritual which is used to form voltes. . . .

According to Franz Bardon, Adolf Hitler was also a member of a 'F.O.G.C. Lodge' (Freimaurerischer Orden der Goldenen Centurie, Dresden, Germany, [Free] Masonic Order of the Golden Century), which is actually known as the '99 Lodge.' There are 99 of these '99 Lodges' in many places of the world, all with 99 members. Each lodge is presided by a demon, and each member has his personal demon. The deal is that the demon helps the person gain money and power, but his soul is, after death, committed to serve the demon. In addition, one member is sacrificed every year to the lodge demon. It will be replaced by a new member. The members of the '99 Lodges' are also industrialists and bankers of the highest caliber and today are more important than ever. . . .

The SS, also called the 'Black Order,' was everything but a police troop. It was a proper religious order of a hierarchic make-up. The brutal Nazi party as a holy order? In hindsight this seems ridiculous, until one notices that it wouldn't be the first time in history that a holy order was responsible for the most monstrous atrocities. The Jesuits, but also the Dominicans who ruled the Catholic Inquisition in the Middle Ages, are prime examples. The BLACK ORDER was the practical realization of the esoteric and occult belief system of the Thule-Gesellschaft. Within the SS there was a further secret society, the elite and innermost circle of the SS, the SS 'SCHWARZE SONNE' (Black Sun) [composed of Jesuit priests within high-level, 33rd Degree Freemasonry, as was Joseph Rettinger, the founder of the Bilderbergers]. . . . The Thule-Gesellschaft and the later SS 'Schwarze Sonne' (Black Sun) not only worked closely together with the Tibetan colony in Berlin but also with a Tibetan order of black magic [the Jesuits having penetrated Tibet in the Seventeenth century and today control the Tibetan Dalai Lama]." {16} [Emphasis added]

Secret Societies and Their Power
In the 20th Century

"A few days ago [SS Reichsfuehrer Heinrich] Himmler asked me whether I would care to visit the Masonic Department at the Reich's Security head office [SS General Reinhard Heydrich's Jesuit-controlled SD]. He believed that I had quite the wrong idea of what Freemasonry really means and would like me to take a good look round. To this I agreed.

Today I had a look at the Department. First of all there is a huge card index which includes the name of every member on the lists confiscated from the dissolved lodges [as Freemason Adolf Hitler dissolved all the lodges within the Reich (pursuant to the outward, anti-Masonic policy of the Jesuit General whose Order authored Pope Clement XII's famous anti-Masonic Bull of 1738) while he closely worked with domestic and foreign high-level Freemasons such as IBM's American Thomas J. Watson and the Nazi Party's "Yankee" Minister of Economics, Hjalmar "Horace Greeley" Schacht, in accordance with the secret, pro-Masonic policy of Jesuit Superior General Ledochowski who himself was a high-level Freemason].

I was then taken to a complete Masonic temple, where the ritual of the Masons was explained and a lecture given on the alleged dangers of the movement, its international relations, its powers and influence. I was shown papers illustrating the work and methods of the Masons, seeking to prove that they used poison to remove traitors from their own ranks [in accordance with the Jesuit-authored Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion]. There were skulls all over the place, a coffin marked with Masonic signs, aprons and insignia—really quite a gruesome display. . . .

Finally I was shown an enormous library, which contains everything written about Masonic activities, whether by Masons themselves or their enemies. It has been assembled from the wealth of volumes in the Masonic temples which had been closed down [the Company having centralized all secret Lodge power within Germany into the hands of its Grand Master of the SS Teutonic Knights, Heinrich Himmler], brought together to form one great Masonic library. . . . I learnt that the idea of arranging a Masonic Museum of this kind came from Heydrich, head of the Security police. At the same time he had set up an information center for all governmental and Party offices. When it was decided that a man was a Mason, that also decided his fate as a Party member, Government employee or Army officer.

A number of important people had already lost their posts for this reason. In particular Heydrich had led the campaign against Dr. Schacht, President of the Reichsbank [who resigned in 1939 after having financed the rearmament of Germany], on the grounds that he was a 'high-ranking Mason.' [Heydrich was later assassinated by agents of the British SIS whose head, Sir Stewart Menzies, was also a high-ranking Freemason.]

'Do you really believe, Herr Himmler, that there is a small group of high-grade Masons behind every political and economic event, regularly holding their secret meetings at which they make decisions involving peace and war, decisions affecting the history of peoples and governments?' . . . 'I not only believe it, Herr Kersten,' Himmler answered, 'I know it. You forgot to add that these high-grade Masons are identical with the inner circle of the Elders of Zion. Thus the Jewish [the Jesuit] rulers of the world have used Masonry as a camouflage for their own international power. . . .

To get a clear picture you must examine the activities of the Masons in the last two centuries under the microscope. Then you can confirm this: leading Masons had a part in the overthrow of every government. They had a hand in every severe financial crisis which has brought the economy of a country to the edge of the abyss. [CFR member Alan Greenspan, Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board making policy for the Pope's Federal Reserve Bank, is also a Jewish Freemason.] Masons occupy the important positions in the economic and intellectual life of a country and draw other Masons after them. The decisive men who waged the First World War against us were Masons [CFR Edward M. House and RIIA Lord Milner of the Roundtable, both controlled by the Company]. The Second World War again finds World Masonry united against us [including King George VI, Churchill, FDR and Stalin]. In some Anglo-Saxon countries it's quite impossible to achieve any position in industry or politics unless you're a Mason. Aren't these proofs enough, Herr Kersten?' . . . 'Are you still in the dark?' Himmler retorted. 'First of all it's wonderful propaganda for the Masonic idea. If the royal house belongs to a lodge, then it is respectable in the eyes of the broad masses, the propertied and the educated classes. All doubts are at once silenced. The Masons no longer need to defend themselves, but only point to the king, their brother

Mason. Is any individual going to be more clever than his king? Such membership automatically attracts all those whom the Masons particularly want, influential officials and politicians. Without any need for further action they have won over leading political and industrial figures to Masonry. . . .

Meanwhile however, the Masons are quietly and systematically extending their influence; lectures are given on themes dear to Masons; prominent scientists are won over; links are forged with other lodges and the desired result is achieved; at first neutrality, then union with World Masonry. It will perhaps surprise you to learn that the higher grades of this lodge are duplicated. Beside the Grand Master, needed as an advertisement, there is a man never seen who really occupies a far higher position in world Masonry [the Black Pope], using and directing this 'shadow system [Masonic world government] in a masterly way.' [How did Heinrich Himmler know this?]

'Only one power has not allowed itself to be deceived, the Catholic Church. She is the inexorable enemy of all Masonry [which is the open policy of the Jesuit Order towards both Freemasonry and Communism while secretly directing the rulers of Communism through Freemasonry]. . . . The Church knows very well why she is so inexorable. She herself works on Masonic principles; her religious Orders, in particular the Jesuits [as Himmler patterned the SS after the Jesuit Order, he being its "Ignatius of Loyola"], are nothing more nor less than powerful lodges of the Catholic Church. She knows what she has herself achieved with this system and will suffer no opposition lodge [for which reason the Order's Masonic Adolf Hitler closed down all lodges within the Reich and consolidated all Masonic power within the Black Pope's Teutonic Nazi SS displaying the Masonic symbols of the 'Skull and Bones' and the 'Swastika']. . . . Only the foolish Evangelical parsons have still not realized what is at stake. They join the Masons without realizing that they are digging their own graves.' 'But aren't your SS really a sort of Masonic lodge, Herr Reichsfuehrer?' I now asked Himmler." {17} [Emphasis added]

"Himmler . . . set up a museum dedicated to Masonic uniforms and regalia. His chief work was the establishment at Wewelsberg of a castle which reflected the reading he had done on King Arthur and the Knights of the Round Table. The leaders of the SS [a "secret Chapter of the Order" of the SS according to SS/SD General Walter Schellenberg] were entitled to assemble [once a year] at a large oak table in a dining room measuring 100 feet by 145 feet. They sat on high-backed chairs made out of pigskin, on each of which was a silver disk on which the selected 'knight' had his name engraved. Here the chiefs of the SS [Obergruppenfuehrers Karl Wolff, Gottlob Berger, Hans Juettner, Richard Hildebrandt, Franz Breithaupt, Maximilian von Herff, Kurt Daluege, Ulrich Greifelt, Werner Lorenz, August Heissmeyer, Oswald Pohl, and Reinhard Heydrich later replaced by Earnst Kaltenbrunner] were compelled to sit in the company of their Grand Master for hours of contemplation [of Loyola's Spiritual Exercises] . . ." {18} [Emphasis added]

The History of the SS

"The English Freemason organization was used by the KGB to infiltrate and take over British Intelligence [in fact, the Masonic KGB is an extension of the Masonic SIS]. British Intelligence is synonymous with Chatham House, more commonly known as the Royal Institute of International Affairs, the parent organization of the Council on Foreign Relations. . . .

Probably the most notorious Freemason lodge is the P2 lodge in Italy. This group has been connected to the Vatican, the Knights of Malta, and to the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency. It is powerful and dangerous. The P2 lodge [controlled by the Black Pope] has succeeded in infiltrating the Vatican and has scored a coup of tremendous significance: the Pope, John Paul II, has lifted the ban against Freemasonry. Many high-level members of the Vatican are now Freemasons [including the late Pope—a former I. G. Farben chemical salesman who sold cyanide gas to Pius XII's crusading SS Teutonic Knights]. . . . ALL of the intelligence officers that I worked for while in Naval Intelligence were Masons. As I stated above, I believe that my association with the DeMolay Society [like former President Bill Clinton] as a young adult may have been the reason that I was selected for Naval Security and Intelligence. However, that is only a guess.

I had intended to go into great detail in linking P2, the Prieure de Sion, the Vatican, the CIA, organizations for a United Europe, and the Bilderberg Group. Fortunately [high-level Freemasons] Michael Baigent, Richard Leigh & Henry Lincoln beat me to it. I say fortunately, because they confirm my previous allegation that I published in my paper, 'The Secret Government,' that the CIA had plants, called moles, deep within the Vatican [i.e., the Black Pope ruling the Vatican controls his Nazi SD/CIA via Freemasonry and the Knights of Malta]. I do not wish to be called a plagiarist so you MUST READ Holy Blood, Holy Grail and The Messianic Legacy, both by Baigent, Leigh & Lincoln. . . . Between pages 343 and 361 of The Messianic Legacy you can read of the alliance of power that resulted in a secret world government. . . .

I tell you now that Freemasonry is one of the most wicked and terrible organizations upon this earth. The Masons are major players in the struggle [or rather, the administration of the Black Pope's Satanic power] for world domination. The 33rd Degree is split into two [as attested to by the late ex-33rd Degree Freemason turned Bible-believer, James D. Shaw]. One split contains the core of the Luciferian Illuminati and the other contains those who have no knowledge of it whatsoever." {19} [Emphasis added]

"I flew into Washington National Airport and took a taxi to the House of the Temple on Northwest 16th Street. Upon arriving at the Temple I was met by a receptionist who asked if I were there to receive the 33rd Degree. I was surprised to find a woman in those sacred Masonic precincts, but said that I was and showed her my letter from the Supreme Council. . . .

We were called into one of the offices, one at a time, and interviewed by three members of the Supreme Council. When my turn came I was ushered into the office and seated. The very first question I was asked was, 'Of what religion are you?' Not long before this I would have answered with something like, 'I believe in the Ancient Mysteries, the 'Old Religion,' and I believe in reincarnation.' However, without thinking at all about how to answer, I found myself saying, 'I am a Christian.' Then to my surprise and theirs, I asked of them, 'Are you men born again?' The man in charge quickly stopped me by saying, 'We're not here to talk about that—we are here to ask you questions.' After they sent me back out I sat down and thought about it. When the next man came out, I asked him, 'Did they ask you if you are a Christian?' He said, 'Yes they did.' 'What did you tell them?' I asked, and he replied, 'I told them, 'Hell no, and I never intend to be!' ' Then he said a strange thing to me, 'They said I'm going higher,' and he left through a different door, looking pleased.

The representative candidate was dressed in black trousers, barefooted, bareheaded and draped in a long, black robe that reminded me of a very long, black raincoat [like Jesuit Himmler's Black-robed Teutonic SS]. He had a black cabletow around his neck but was not hoodwinked. . . . When it was time for the final obligation we all stood and repeated the oath with the representative candidate, administered by the Sovereign Grand Inspector General. We then swore true allegiance to the Supreme Council of the 33rd Degree, above all other allegiances [including the U.S. Constitution], . . . One of the Conductors then handed the 'candidate' a human skull, upside down, with wine in it. With all of us candidates repeating after him, he sealed the oath, 'May this wine I now drink become a deadly poison to me, as the Hemlock juice drunk by Socrates, should I ever knowingly or willfully violate the same' (the oath). He then drank the wine [as did Canadian Prime Minister Paul Martin, and Americans George W. Bush and John Kerry when they both were initiated into Yale's Skull and Bones Society]. . . .

The Sovereign Grand Commander closed the meeting of the Supreme Council 'with the Masonic Number,' striking his sword five, three, one and the two times [9-11 (Sept. 11th)]." {20} [Emphasis added]

"The Emblem of the Mystic Shrine.

In this emblem we have the sword or Scimitar, the symbol of the destroying principle. The Crescent [the vagina], also called "the Tiger's claws" is the symbol of the female principle. The Keystone [the penis] on the Crescent, the male and female principles united. The five-pointed Star is the symbol of creation, and its relative position to the Keystone and the Crescent symbolizes the manner in which creation is perpetuated. The Emblem indicates the destroying and creative powers in constant opposition. A new life comes forth from the old, which is perpetually dying to be born again. These processes go on in the generative region, which [sexual, pelvic, generative region] constitutes the Mystic Shrine of its devotees.

This Emblem also is designed, doubtless to show the essential unity of the Islamic religion with Freemasonry in its fundamental principles. The strength of Islam lies in its protection and devotion of the female principle to its support in its legalization of polygamy [like Masonic Mormonism]. This Emblem signifies that the religion of Islam [Osama bin Laden, the Saud Dynasty, etc.] is regarded by the Shriner [George H. W. Bush] as his own. It [the Shriner's Emblem] is an exhibition of the phallicism of Freemasonry under the symbols of Islam. . . . The Mystic Shrine is the Masonic phallicism veiled under Islamic symbols and terms. . . . The Arabs to this day swear by the phallus of Allah." {21} [Emphasis added]

Freemasonry: An Interpretation

"They [the Jesuits] came out of the very mouth, the very heart and the very bowels of the Pope, and of the devil. . . . They [the Jesuits] will have the religion of Mohamet established to poison and plague all the East parts of the world in their souls [now also in the apostate, post-Reformation West]; and they will have the most huge, cruel, and savage armies of the Turks raised up [an Arab/Turkish Muslim world united by the Pope's present Anglo-American-led Crusade (and for which reason the Pope disapproves of Turkey joining his European Union)], to murder and massacre millions of men in their bodies, in the West part of the world [the coming Sino-Soviet-Moslem Invasion of apostate Protestant North America]." {22) [Emphasis added]

The Ruin of Rome: Or, An Exposition Upon the Whole Revelation

"Where was the 'inner sanctum' Freemasonry traditionally disclosed to the ultra elite? To answer that question we must consult a labyrinthine collection of hotly contested books from France which began to surface approximately one hundred years ago under the patronage of Gabriel Jogand-Pagés, who wrote under the nom de plume, 'Leo Taxil.' His works purported to divulge a great secret and to reveal the system behind the Scottish Rite of Freemasonry's highly guarded inner sanctum; the peak of its inner circle, Albert Pike's Satanic 'Palladium' masonry. These books sparked an uproar, since they testified to Pike's leadership of a Satanic religion [as it is indeed]. But at the peak of the furor, Leo Taxil suddenly and inexplicably vigorously denounced his own work as a hoax. As a result, a great deal of subsequent exposure of Freemasonry was forever condemned as a replay of the 'Taxil fraud' [as secretly intended by the Jesuit General and his Assistants then planning for their bloody Second Thirty Years' War, both Allied and Axis powers to be led by high-level Freemasons cooperating together in obedience to the Black Pope].

But was it all a hoax? . . . how did Taxil manage to publish accurate details from numerous advanced secret rituals in the higher degrees? This writer can attest to this truth because I possess in my personal archive both Taxil's original descriptions and the actual secret rituals themselves. How could a low-level, ex-Mason have gained these explosive secrets? . . .

Moreover, did not Taxil confess that his Palladium revelations were a lurid hoax? Yet the respected Masonic historian Robert Macoy, 33º, included the 'Order of the Palladium' in his authoritative Dictionary. . . . The seal of the order was a heart ["the Sacred Heart of Jesus" created by the Jesuits, signaling to the adept the Black Pope's rule of the Palladium Rite] . . .

It is also possible that the exaggerations are from Taxil himself, working as a Masonic agent to inflate credulity only later to deflate it by casting doubt upon even authenticated testimony of Satanism in the masonic lodges [as intended by the Company so as to convince the sincere observer there was no real connection between high-level Jesuits and high-level Masons]. . . .

Could Taxil have been a double agent or even a triple agent? If so, he certainly ran a brilliant, early-day, black-op campaign on behalf of the lodges [directed by the Jesuits], to discredit anti-masonic exposures with a 'dirty tricks' campaign intended to nullify all attacks and exposes, while simultaneously leaking actual details of the most salacious and Satanic dimension of Palladium Freemasonry [the OTO]." {23} [Emphasis added]

"THE PRIME MOTIVIATION of [Jesuit-led] Catholic Action is its eschatological complex that the Vatican, as God's designated champion, must do open battle with the forces of Satan before the world ends. . . .

Leadership of these combined forces of evil is accredited to world Jewry and Freemasonry. The Protocols of Zion, preceded by the like forgery of The Secrets of the Elders of Bourg Fontaine [both documents having been authored by Jesuits according to this former anti-Jesuit Irish priest and Protestant writer], have spread this belief among Catholics everywhere. . . . it is safe to say that nothing contributed more to the rapid victories of Fascism over the forces of liberty and tolerance than these alleged Protocols of the Elders of Zion. As has been pointed out, they insidiously picture world Jewry and Freemasonry as conspiring to establish the reign of Satan on earth and, by contrast, the Catholic Church as the sole bulwark and only certain triumphant force against it. . . .

There is nothing too fantastic that the popes and Catholic authorities have not believed and propagated against Judiac-Masonic aims and activities.

The most astounding and outrageous were the alleged revelations of the arch-imposter [and secret Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor] Leo Taxil towards the end of the last century. . . . described by [Jesuit] Father [Herbert] Thurston . . . as 'the most blasphemous and obscene of anti-clerical writers in France.' . . . That was all before his conversion to the Catholic Church.

It was then he began to make alleged revelations about the Freemasons [most of which were true], and published a large number of books about them, each more astounding than the other. . . . Pope Leo XIII [whose Cardinal Secretary of State was a member of the Masonic OTO] received Taxil in private audience, gave him his blessing, and assured him that he had read his books against the Freemasons with intense interest, and that his writings were of great benefit to the cause of the Catholic Church. . . .

Then came the great dénouement . . . he called a public meeting in Paris on April 10, 1894 [just prior to the Order's anti-Jew Dreyfus Affair], and announced, to the consternation of his hearers, that all his activities, his books and pamphlets, . . . were nothing but a huge joke dispassionately concocted and executed by him. . . . The interesting, and serious, point in the whole affair is the fact that it was the Jesuits who translated Taxil's novels into German. The Jesuit Father Gruber, whose article on 'Freemasonry' in The Catholic Encyclopedia is nothing but a rehash of what Taxil says about it, widely publicized all his books." {24} [Emphasis added]

"The Frederick the Great Association

One of the more twisted myths being propagated by 'Regular' Anglo-American Freemasonry of late is that the Nazis persecuted 'regular' Freemasonry in Germany during its reign. 'Regular' Freemasonry plays the recognition game if it wants to deny that a particular infamous individual was a Freemason. Usually this is carried out in regard to Grand Orient Freemasons, which it does not recognize [them] as being legitimate Masons because it has its own operation called 'Grand Lodges' set up in their countries, France being the largest instance. Thus it is with a particular sense of accomplishment that we have uncovered one of 'regular' American and British Grand Lodge Freemasonry's most noxious official lies; its record and actions in Nazi Germany—a lie that their favorite recognition game-dodge won't work on.

In Germany at the time the Nazis came to power (with the aid of numerous Freemasonic High Financiers like [33rd Degree] Henry Ford [and Hjalmar Schacht]), there existed Nine Grand Lodges and Orients. Three Grand Lodges were known as 'Old Prussian Grand Lodges,' which were large, well organized and contained the bulk of all Freemasons in Germany.

Six were called 'Modern Grand Lodges,' which were small, isolated, with only a few thousand members each. One of the groupings had always banned Jews from joining and was fiercely nationalistic [i.e., Jesuit-fascist] and reactionary in its politics. One of the groupings had always allowed Jews to join and was international and liberal [i.e., socialist-communist] in its politics. Guess which Grand Lodge group American and British Freemasonry recognized as being 'Regular' Freemasonry and which group it branded as 'Irregular' and clandestine Freemasonry?

You guessed right. It was the 'Old Prussian Grand Lodges,' which contained the High Command Officers, Industrialists, and Royal Houses who had always banned Jews from joining and which was fiercely nationalistic and reactionary in its politics, that the American and British Grand Lodges recognized as being 'Regular.' [What of] the 'Moderns,' the ones that allowed Jews to join? 'Regular' Freemasonry said they were 'Irregular' and 'clandestine.' In other words they did not recognize the Grand Lodges that allowed Jews to join as Freemasons or [as being true] Freemasonry whatsoever. 'Regular' Freemasonry is trying to hoodwink their [temporary] recognition of the [fascist] anti-Semitic National Grand Lodges [Germanenorden] and their [temporary] non-recognition of the non-anti-Semitic [pro-communist] International Grand Lodges.

The Nazis shut down the 'Modern' Grand Lodges whose membership was heavily Jewish, liberal and international, but [the Nazis] allowed the 'national' Old Prussian Grand Lodges to carry on after their Grand Masters sent formal written oaths of allegiance to 'Mein Fuhrer,' changed their name to 'The Frederick the Great Association' (Frederick the Great being German 'Regular' Freemasonry's founder and principal patron), and removed any obvious Hebraic wording from its rituals. When the war was over 'Regular' Freemasonry, operating under the guise of 'The Frederick the Great Association,' changed their name back to what it was before 'Crystal Nacht.' You won't see any of this mentioned on any of those 'Is it true what they say about Freemasonry?' or 'Difficult Questions about Freemasonry' that 'Regular' Freemasonry has mirrored all over the net.

'The Scottish Rite had its beginning in France, when, in 1754, the [Jesuit] Chevalier de Bonneville established [at the Jesuit College of Clermont] in Paris, a chapter of twenty-five so-called High Degrees, which, including the three symbolic Degrees, were called the Rite of Perfection [after the Jesuit Order surnamed "the Company of the Perfect."] In 1758 these Degrees were taken to Berlin and placed under a body called the Council of Emperors of the East and West, and in 1762 Frederic the Great of Prussia became the head of the Rite and promulgated what is known as the Constitution of 1762. In 1786 a re-organization took place [after Frederick had admitted the Order into Prussia following Pope Clement XIV's Bull of Suppression and Extinction against the Society in 1773] in which eight Degrees were added to the twenty-five, and the name changed to the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry. By this Constitution, Frederick resigned his authority as Grand Commander and provided that the government of the new system of Degrees should rest with a Council of each Nation, to be composed of Nine Sovereign Grand Inspectors General of the Thirty-Third and last Degree of Freemasonry. Source: AASR, Orient of Texas.'

There was absolutely no persecution of 'Regular' Freemasonry in Germany. How could there have been? The Old Prussian 'Regular' Grand Lodges were filled with Officers of the High Command, Captains of Industry, Commerce, Finance, Leading Citizens and Royalty, most of whom were loyal Nazi Party members themselves—the very men who brought Hitler to power. All [this was done] with the knowledge of American and British 'Regular' Grand Lodge Freemasonry and its hereditary, pro-Nazi Grand Master, the Duke of Kent [with whom Hitler's betrayed Rudolph Hess sought to bargain after his flight to England]." {25} [Emphasis added] www.freemasonrywatch.org/2index.html

"While Mass is being said at the Sistine Chapel and tourists are being shown the works of Michelangelo, deep within the bowels of the Vatican sits a large, circular room with thirteen separate chambers, each leading to a distinct catacomb. When a mummified body is placed in front of each doorway, a young child is then brutally sacrificed with a long, golden knife during what is said to be a secret induction ceremony for new members of the Illuminati, better known as the New World Order. . . .

Although still incomplete, the small pieces of the puzzle I uncovered in the 1980s all led to direct involvement of the Illuminati/Freemasons, through groups like 'P Due,' the Prieure du Sion [i.e., the Priory of Zion, controlled by the Jesuit Order since 1619 according to Michael Baigent, one of the brilliant Masonic authors of Holy Blood, Holy Grail] and others, as well as deep involvement of the Vatican, the hub and centerpiece of this secret worldwide organization known to the public as the Illuminati but known by members as 'The Family or the Order.' . . .

In April, 2005, a Sicilian mobster, a Roman crime boss and two others were indicted in connection with the 1982 hanging of Roberto Calvi, a financier dubbed 'God's banker,' for his close ties to the Vatican. . . . Without question, one of the strangest characters in the Calvi saga, with ties to [Cardinal Paul] Marcinkus [who died in Phoenix, Arizona, in 2006] and [Michael] Sindona, was [Knight of Malta] Licio Gelli. A former member of the fascist Black Shirts Battalion and connected to the Mussolini regime [Mussolini having aided Hitler in his rise to power] and the Herman Goering SS Division in World War II, Gelli survived the conflict and amassed tremendous amounts of money and influence. Considered the head of the P-2 Masonic Lodge, he was also privy to sensitive information on hundreds of key political, military and financial figures not only in Italy but throughout Europe, Latin America and elsewhere due to his access of files from the Italian secret service (OVRA) and possibly British Intelligence. It was common knowledge in Italy that Gelli helped to smuggle [SS/SD Captain] Klaus Barbie, the infamous 'Butcher of Lyons,' to safe haven in Argentina, and even managed to work for and sell his services to the CIA and NATO. . . . The following is a Mason list [of Italy's P2 Lodge]: . . . Dear truth-seeker, the relationship between the Jesuits and Freemasonry is important to understand. The Jesuits, in control of the Vatican since 1814, portray Freemasonry as their enemy. This is simply not true. (In Masonic Baltimore, the Jesuits flourish at their prestigious Loyola College of Maryland!) As we shall see, Shriner Freemasonry's "Invisible Empire" and Jesuitism are friends and work together, as both secret societies desire to rebuild Solomon's Temple in Jerusalem.

The Knights Templars of the Popes' Crusades were revived in 1717 in Protestant England, having become the present day Freemasons. The Scottish Rites were written by the Jesuits at one of their colleges in France. Why? To restore the Jesuit-controlled House of Stuart to the throne of England and thus Papal Supremacy to the nation. Our Masonic author, William O. Peterson, P.M. 32nd Degree, writes:

> "Chevalier de Bonneville [like the Bonneville automobile manufactured by Pontiac/General Motors] formed a chapter of twenty-five Degrees of the so-called High-Degrees in the College of Jesuits of Clermont, in Paris in 1754. The adherents of the House of Stuart had made the college of Clermont their asylum, they being mostly Scotchmen. One of these Degrees being the "Scottish Master," the new body organized in Charleston, S.C., in 1801, gave the name of Scottish Rite to these Degrees, which name ever since that time has characterized the Rite all over the world." {27} [Emphasis added]

Again we read:

> "In the matter of the Stuarts we are, however, on firm ground with regard to Freemasonry. That the lodges at the end of the seventeenth century were Royalist is certain, and there seems good reason to believe that, when the [Glorious and bloodless, anti-Jesuit Protestant] revolution of 1688 divided the Royalist cause, the Jacobites who fled to France with [the Jesuit King] James II took Freemasonry with them. With the help of the French they established lodges in which, it is said, Masonic rites and symbols were used to promote the cause of the Stuarts. Thus the land of promise signified Great Britain, Jerusalem stood for London and the murder of Hiram represented the execution of Charles I." {28} [Emphasis added]

(Dear truth-seeker, as we shall see, Freemasonry has become a great tool of the Jesuits. It was used to punish the Pope and Monarchs of Europe for suppressing the Jesuit Order. Their tools were Robespierre and Napoleon. When the Jesuits were suppressed, the most powerful Freemason in Europe protected them. He was Frederick the Great of Prussia. When the Jesuits caused the American War Between the States (1861-1865), they used Freemasonry to ignite it. When the Jesuits overthrew the German Kaiser, Wilhelm II (being the foremost protector of the "heretic" Lutheran Church) after World War I, they used Freemasonry to betray him.

When the Jesuits destroyed key evidence pointing to more than one gunman in the Kennedy Assassination, they used Shriner Freemasons as their agents—J. Edgar Hoover, Lyndon Johnson, Earl Warren and Gerald Ford, to name a few.)
Let us now reflect, as our hearts and minds must understand this era of time. The Lord Jesus Christ—to Whom has been given all governing authority in earth— had granted Britain religious and political liberty for the third time. Indeed, the Protestant Revolution of 1688 was glorious and bloodless. It drove that Jesuit-controlled savage, James II, out of the country "who," in the words of D'Alembert, "was much more fit to be a Jesuit than a king;" it hunted down and drove out the Jesuits as in the greatest days of Elizabeth I; and it forever forbade a Catholic to sit on England's throne. This historic victory of good over evil marked the one hundredth anniversary of the risen Son of God intervening for His English Protestants and Baptists, He miraculously sinking the Jesuit General's Spanish Armada in response to their earnest prayers. Of the king's flight Ridpath records:

> "The little clique of Jesuits who still surrounded the throne formed but a ridiculous panoply about the quaking monarch. Perceiving with that sense of shrewdness by which the Order has ever been characterized, that their game was up in England, they advised James to quit the country until what time, by foreign alliances and a hope-for reaction at home, he might so strengthen himself as to reclaim the crown. The queen and the ministers likewise admonished him to fly before the storm which he had no means of resisting. This policy he accordingly adopted. Sending the queen and her infant son before him, he himself on the night of the 12th of December, 1688, slipped out of London, and accompanied only by Sir Edward Hale, fled to Feversham. . . .
> Upon the papists the insurgents let loose all their fury. The mass-houses were torn down and the priests were obliged to fly for their lives. . . . As to the fugitive James, he was presently found at Feversham and greatly against the will of the Prince of Orange was brought back to London. It had been the intention of William to permit, even to encourage, the escape of his father-in-law [James II] from England; for he had promised Mary that her father should suffer no personal harm. Accordingly the Prince connived at a second escape of the discrowned king from the city; and on the evening of Christmas, 1688, James, having made his way without discovery to the coast and taken ship, was landed at Ambletus in Picardy.

Thence he continued his course to St. Germains, near Paris, where he was awaited and cordially received by [Knight of Malta] Louis XIV, very glad to gain such an accession to his list of dependents." {29} [Emphasis added]

The following year of 1689 was a time of great rejoicing for:

"When the righteous are in authority, the people rejoice:"
– Proverbs 29:2

On January 20th, 1689, the House of Commons passed a resolution that would resound throughout the world, England again enraging the power-mad Jesuits:

"King James II, having attempted to subvert the constitution of the kingdom by breaking the original contract between the king and the people, and by the advice of the Jesuits and other wicked persons having violated the fundamental laws of the kingdom and withdrawn himself out of the kingdom, has abdicated the government, and the throne is thereby vacant." {30} [Emphasis added]

Therefore, Protestants William III of Orange and Mary of the United Netherlands— the model for George Washington's United (Protestant) States of America (USA)— were requested to occupy and, upon acceptance, thereby given England's throne by a truly patriotic act of Parliament. As the Dutch Fleet arrived in England carrying its precious Protestant King, the cheers of the crowds ascended to heaven as the eyes of English freemen beheld the words emblazoned on those mighty sails:

"The Protestant Reformation and the Liberties of the English People."

Further, a law was passed forbidding any Roman Catholic from ever governing England again. After shedding rivers of blood and tears for over one hundred years, the English people finally put an end to the Jesuit-controlled House of Stuart and its Anti-Christian tyranny. This freedom would last for over one hundred years when, in 1773, the wicked King George III would secretly receive, protect and be advised by the Society of Jesus having been abolished by Pope Clement XIV.

In response to the Lord's establishment of English liberty in 1689, Satan attempted to secretly undermine it. In 1717 his Jesuit Order revived the Order of the Knights Templars—those bloodthirsty Crusaders—calling it "Freemasonry." Its purpose was to reestablish English tyranny, restoring the Roman Catholic Stuarts as "divine right Monarchs" subject to the Temporal Power of the Pope. Later in 1754, the Jesuits created Scottish Rite Freemasonry and in 1786 with their Protector, Frederick II the Great, centralized all Masonic power with the creation of 33rd Degree Freemasonry. From 1789 to 1815 the Jesuits used this "warhorse" to punish the Roman Catholic Monarchs of Europe and the Papacy, including Pope Clement XIV, Pope Pius VI and Pope Pius VII, for suppressing the Jesuit Order in 1773.

Since the Congress of Vienna in 1815, Satan's Jesuit General has used 33rd Degree Freemasonry for three purposes. Being keys of understanding, they are:

> 1. To maintain the Order's death grip over the Pope, the College of Cardinals and thus the Papacy (controlling the leaders of Roman Catholicism pursuant to Pope Gregory XVI's 1836 Brief granting all power to the Order);
> 2. To destroy the Protestant Reformation while restoring and maintaining the Temporal Power of the Order's "infallible" Pope over every nation (controlling the leaders of all Protestants including the Orangemen, and pre-Protestant "Christian" sects including the Orthodox Church leadership);
> 3. To gain possession of Jerusalem in order to rebuild Solomon's Temple, for the Pope, after which every Masonic Lodge is patterned (controlling the leaders of all Islamic sects, including the American Black Muslims, and the leaders of all Judaistic sects including the Orthodox Chief Rabbis).

Years later the Jesuits, using high-level Freemasonry, would begin a powerful cult in George Washington's Calvinistic Republic of these United States. The new brotherhood would be called "The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints"—Mormonism! Being another salvation-by-works religion (like Roman Catholicism), its founder, Joseph Smith, was a high-level Freemason. His successor, Brigham Young, was also another high-level Freemason who, in 1846 at Council Bluffs, Iowa, had a private meeting with Pierre De Smet, one of the most powerful American Jesuits of the Nineteenth Century. Being the foremost Jesuit of influence among the Indian Nations, De Smet, using Confederate General and 33rd Degree Freemason Albert Pike, incited his Sioux Indians to mass-murder eight hundred White Lutherans of Minnesota (Northerners) while having procured the exemption of Jesuits from the draft during America's bloodbath, erroneously called "the Civil War." Possibly, De Smet could have personally visited Young on his settlement in the West, furthering "the Mormon agitation" via gnostic Freemasonry! For the Mormon leaders sought to create their own nation, and thus were considered so dangerous to our Union by President Abraham Lincoln. Knowing that whatever enterprise the Jesuit Order is involved in, it was either secretly controlled by the Order through the Craft from the beginning or its leadership was later subverted, we must ask the question,

"What service does the multi-million dollar, Masonically controlled, Mormon headquarters in Salt Lake City, Utah provide for the Jesuit General and his high command Assistancy?"

Dear truth-seeker, that service is the genealogical record keeping so accurately maintained by the Mormon hierarchy. And for what purpose? The practical, nonreligious answer can only be to keep track of the world's racial Jews enabling the Jesuit General, using his fascist military dictators, to locate, arrest, imprison and murder the physical descendants of the sons of Jacob having yet to inherit the promises given to Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and David. The coming international Jewish persecution will be especially bloody inside the world's greatest haven for the wandering Jews—Fourteenth Amendment America. And the "infallible," Masonic Mormon Prophet, the successor of Gordon B. Hinckley (the friend of 33rd Degree Freemason Robert Schuller) will aid the Jesuit General in this annihilation! The survivors will flee to Labor Zionist Israel to ultimately face the horrifying and ghastly

They will be betrayed by Israel's Masonic Jewish Labor Zionist leaders (as was done during the Jesuits' Jewish Holocaust by Chaim Weizmann, Dr. Rudolf Kastner, Moshe Sharett, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, Eliezer Kaplan, Solomon Goldmann and Nahum Goldmann according to Barry Chamish, author of Israel Betrayed and now Shabtai Tzvi, Labor Zionism and the Holocaust, who cites M. J. Nuremberger's The Scared and the Doomed—The Jewish Establishment vs. The Six Million, Ben Hecht's Perfidy, and Edwin Black's The Transfer Agreement) as the risen Papal Caesar (Satan's long-awaited risen Phoenix symbolized by a decorated Christmas Tree every December 25th and the double-headed Phoenix of the Masons),

". . . that spake very great things, whose look was more stout than his fellows."

– Daniel 7:20

A quote from the past regarding the "Twin Pincers" of Jesuitism and Freemasonry, ruling the Devil's "Invisible Empire," is most appropriate for today: "It is very greatly to be feared that forgetting their petty differences for the time being, both Romanism and Freemasonry would make common cause and stand shoulder to shoulder, the very embodiment of the works of darkness. . . . as two such terrible systems united would be well-nigh irresistible." {31} [Emphasis added]

Dear truth-seeker, these united systems are resistible. If you have turned from your sin upon believing the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ, you have been saved and indwelt by the Holy Spirit. He is THE POWER "which worketh in you mightily!" If you "yield yourself" and do not "quench" Him, "grieve" Him or "insult" Him through acts of personal sin and disobedience, His POWER will flow through you and He will do "that which is good in His sight." "Be of good courage," sincerely calling upon God your Father "out of a pure heart" in Jesus' name, as you now have access to His "throne of grace" through "the blood of Christ" in this great time of need for our families, country and community of nations. He will joyously answer your prayers without regard to your race or nationality, as "it is God who hath made us" and "is no respecter of persons."

With all of your might and in all your ways "acknowledge Him and He will direct your paths" as you resist Satan's "Society of Jesus" (Oh, what blasphemy!) and its greatest tool, high-level and select 33rd Degree and Shriner Freemasonry (Oh, what deception!), lest we be consumed by an American, Anti-Christ, White Roman Catholic (or pro-Jesuit Protestant), homosexual-led, Masonic Neo-Nazi, cartel-corporate-fascist tyranny (having been secretly purposed against us by the Jesuit General and his Archbishop of New York—Edward Cardinal Egan), before the risen Son of God appears for His remaining Bible-believing Church! May you have confidence in the day of His "appearing" when, in that memorial moment, having been "valiant for the truth in the earth," your eyes meet His and you hear similar inspiring words,

> "Well done, thou good and faithful servant: thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy lord."

King of England, Scotland and Ireland, 1689 – 1702
Stadtholder of the United Netherlands, 1672 – 1702
Nephew and Son-In-Law of King James II

Upon England's rejection of the villainous and tyrannical, Jesuit-controlled King James II, the Dutch William III was invited to assume the throne of England. Though the Order had used the alliance of King Louis XIV of France and King James II of England (both enjoying the same Jesuit confessor, Père La Chaise) to attack the Protestant United Netherlands in 1672, "King Billy" (so affectionately addressed by Ireland's Protestants) accepted the invitation to become Britain's king. King William would defeat these same two monarchs during the crucial Battle of the Boyne in 1690 thus continuing the LORD's Protestant Reformation.

Below are two Jesuitized natives and the Chinese cross they used: notice the Order's "INRI" also used by several Masonic bodies. Schall is holding a compass in his left hand and a square in his right, two key symbols employed by the Order in reviving the Papacy's medieval, crusading Knights Templars surnamed "Scottish Rite Freemasonry."

Heart and Soul of Luciferian Scottish-Rite Freemasonry

With Paris serving as one of the most important staging bases in the Company's Counter-Reformation annihilation of "heretic" Protestantism, the Jesuit College of Clermont was a hotbed of intrigue and conspiracy for centuries. The Order's House of Stuart and adherents made the college their asylum after the Battle of the Boyne in 1690; it was here the Black Pope's plan was set in motion to restore Great Britain to the fold of Rome. Part of that plan was to subvert the Kingdom from within; therefore, in 1717 the first "Free and Accepted" Grand Lodge of Freemasonry was formed in London. In 1754 Jesuit Chevalier de Bonneville formed a chapter in the college, the Order writing the first 25 degrees of Scottish Rite Freemasonry, first known as the "Rite of Perfection" (for the Order was called "the Company of the Perfect") or the "Ancient and Accepted Rite."

Today the Scottish Rite is the largest body of Masonry in the world, its US northern jurisdiction being in Lexington, Massachusetts and its US southern jurisdiction abiding in Washington, D.C. The Jesuit Superior General is the master of all Freemasonry, for his occult agents have written all the Rites!

Jesuit Sorcerers Among North American Indian Natives, 1670s #86

The purpose of the Society of Jesus was to use France, then under the complete control of King Louis XIV's Jesuit confessor, Pere La Chaise, to conquer North America for the Roman Papal Caesar, Rome being "the New Babylon of the West." Native American Indians were to be used to attack and destroy the tens of thousands of immigrating White Protestant and Baptist refugees from Europe. The natives were to be enslaved to work on reservations of "Northern Paraguay" modeled after the Order's commercial, South American Reductions, further enriching the Company of the Black Pope. But the plan failed as key tribes refused to be conquered and several Jesuits were executed for "sorcery." Ridpath's Universal History, John Clark Ridpath, (New York: Merrill & Baker, 1901) Vol. XIV, p. 558.

Jesuit De Smet with Indian Chiefs of the Pacific Northwest, 1859 #88

Three-Week Peace Council; May/June; Fort Vancouver, Washington Territory In continuing the Order's quest of destroying the Protestant Reformation in North America, Jesuit De Smet began his lifetime relationship with the Native American Indians of the Mid and North West. Under the guidance of his master in Rome—Jesuit Superior General Johannes Roothaan—De Smet began to organize the Indians into "Reductions" while purposing to use them as soldiers in repelling the movement of Protestant settlers to the Oregon Territory. One of the massacres involved the use of Cayuse Indians, killing eighteen Protestants including Presbyterian physician, Dr. Marcus Whitman, and his dear wife Narcissa, at Waiilatpu on November 27, 1847. Fifty-three women and children were taken captive and suffered "indescribable [sexual] indignities" for thirty days until a ransom was paid for their release. The odious Sons of Loyola, garrisoned at their military outpost of "Rocky Mountain Mission," were publicly blamed for this atrocity. Congregationalist Pastor Henry Spaulding preached far and wide of the Order's duplicity in both the massacre and subsequent 1848 Cayuse War as a conspiracy to destroy Protestantism in Oregon. Little did he know that the Company intended to begin its elimination of "the savages" during the Black Pope's destruction of the Protestant South (1861-1865), later using the reunited, Fourteenth Amendment Empire's Federal Army in massacring the Indians during the Thirty Years' Indian War (1860-1890). The Chiefs are, left to right, front row: Victor, (Kalispel); Alexander, (Pend Oreille); Adolphe, (Flathead); Andrew, (Coeur d'Alene); and back row: Dennis, (Colville); Bonaventure, (Coeur d'Alene); Jesuit De Smet; and Francis Xavier, (Flathead).

De Smet Meets Hostile Sioux, Powder River, 1868 #90

A Radical Red Republican and friend of both General Sherman, whose son Thomas became a Jesuit, and Roman Catholic General Philip Sheridan, Jesuit De Smet was the foremost peace negotiator for the Order's new government in Washington. Sadly, in 1868, Chief Sitting Bull of the Sioux, the "Generalissimo" of the hostile chiefs, trusted this evil White man who "kept no faith with heretics, liberals or pagans." The treaties were purposely violated; the natives were betrayed, massacred and then consigned to dismal reservations to make jewelry. For the Black Pope's new "Holy Roman" American Empire had no place for the conquered White Protestants of the South or the vanquished American Natives.

Thule Society Symbol, 1919 #92

The "Swastika," known by its clockwise spinning movement to the right with its top leg-tips pointing to the left (unlike the above "Sauvastikas") is a pagan symbol for well-being, prosperity and good fortune. It has been widely used throughout the ancient and modern world from Mesopotamia, to the Mayas, to the North American Navajo Indians. But the wicked "Sauvastika, " known by its counter-clockwise spin to the left with its top leg-tips pointing to the right (as pictured above) symbolizes evil, the night, the terrifying goddess Kali (whom the Jesuits worship as "the Black Virgin" of Montserrat) and "Black magic"—also called "the Left-Handed Path." "Sinister" is the Latin word for both "left" and "evil," a meaning still retained in English today. It is the "Sauvastika" that has been a symbol within the Black Pope's Invisible Masonic Empire for nearly three centuries. The Masonic Theosophical Society was created by Co-Mason Helena Petrovna Blavatsky in 1875 under the guidance of 33rd Degree Scottish Rite Freemasons Henry Steel Olcott and Charles Sotheran. This "New Age" witch had previous ties with the Jesuit Order through the Continent's most powerful 33rd Degree Freemason and founder of the Mafia, Giuseppe Mazzini, used by the Jesuits to drive Pope Pius IX from Rome for expelling the Society from his Papal States in 1848 and for his pro-Constitution, political "liberalism." In 1919, 33rd Degree Freemason Rudolf von Sebottendorff founded the Masonic Thule Society from which arose the Nazi Party. Both Masonic secret societies employed the Teutonic "Sauvastika" indicating their Luciferian origin and occult intentions.

Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Aleister Crowley (1875 – 1947), 1912 #93

Dubbed "the Wickedest Man in the World" in 1928 by the English tabloid John Bull, Crowley, though raised a Bible-reading Plymouth Brethren in England, became a member of the Hermetic Order of the Golden Dawn, a 33rd Degree Scottish Rite Freemason (1900); an initiate of the Masonic Egyptian rites of Mizraim and Memphis; and was initiated into the Ordo Templi Orientis (O.T.O.—the "Grand Orient Lodge") in 1910 by German O.T.O. Grand Master, Theodor Reuss. Championing the Jesuit/Masonic doctrine of "free will" denoted as "Thelema" in his wicked Book of the Law, Crowley became the O.T.O.'s National Grand Master General for Great Britain and Ireland in 1912 and remained such until his death in 1947. Moving to Jesuit-ruled New York City in 1914, "the Purple Priest" engaged in Satanism, destroyed his British passport before the Statue of Liberty, and conspired with the Black Pope's "Secret Revolutionary Committee" plotting to sever Catholic Ireland from Protestant Britain. A Cambridge graduate and British Intelligence Agent (MI5), thus tied to SIS Cambridge spymaster Anthony Blunt, Crowley's purpose was to debauch White Protestant Western culture glorifying sex, drugs and every feasible immoral act in fulfilling his missionary maxim, "Do what thou wilt shall be the whole of the law." Crowley was the Pope's Masonic "Great Beast—666."

Ordo Templi Orientis.

With an Introduction and a Synopsis of the Degrees of the O. T. O.

Constitution of the Ordo Templi Orientis (O.T.O.), 1912 #94

Further evidence of the Black Pope's control of the Masonic, Illuministic O.T.O. is the use of certain symbols notoriously employed by the Jesuit Order. One of those symbols is "I.N.R.I." found on every Jesuit crucifix and emblazoned over the head of the Company's effeminate, mythological "Jesus Christ" still nailed to a cross, and who is in truth the Satanic Egyptian Horus. The hexagram, or "sixpointed star," has also been given an exclusive use by the Order in signifying the Hebrew /Jewish/Israelites during the Jesuit-led, Nazi Jewish Holocaust as well as the resultant nation of Israel governed by the Pope's Masonic Labor Zionists.

The O.T.O. was openly suppressed by Jesuit-advised Hitler due to its linkage with Jewish Freemasonry; Joerg Lanz von Liebenfels' strictly German, anti-Jew, Order of the New Templars (O.N.T.) would provide the occult foundation for Himmler's Jesuit-modeled "Order of the Death's Head"—the SS! Both Orders, the O.T.O. and the O.N.T., were ruled by agents of the Jesuit General.

Count Mariano Rampolla del Tindaro (1843 – 1913), 1905 #95

In restraining the mystery of iniquity from advancing beyond its appointed time, the risen Son of God via the Power of the Holy Spirit caused two great Masonic schisms. The first, in 1753, resulted in the expulsion of Satan's Company from Portugal, France and Spain via Freemasons Pombal, Choiseul and Aranda. The second, in 1877, drove the Jesuits out of Italy, France and Portugal. Therefore it became imperative that the Jesuit General centralize all Masonic power into his hands via a new Order fitted to rule his "lesser Masonic brethren." Formed in 1902 by Jesuit Temporal Coadjutors Carl Kellner and Theodore Reuss, the Illuminist Order of Oriental Templars (OTO) performed Scottish, Memphis and Mizraim Rites, while introducing even higher degrees. At the same time Pope Leo XIII, that darling of the Jesuits, openly condemned Freemasonry via a most scathing Encyclical. Meanwhile, the Pope's Secretary of State, Cardinal Rampolla, was a secret member of the OTO having previously been a Freemason for years.

The success of the Jesuit-financed Leo Taxil Affair which duped the peoples into rejecting the bloody truth of "the Craft," paved the way for a host of Popes and Cardinal Secretaries of State to secretly join the OTO and/or P2 lodge including: Pius XII, John XXIII and his Jesuit Cardinal Augustin Bea; Paul VI and his Cardinal Jean Villot; John Paul II and his Cardinal Agostino Casaroli as well as several P2 members managing the Black Pope's Vatican Radio station. Clearly, the Company rules the Papacy via its Satanic, "G"nostic Freemasonry.

Bavarian Jesuit Augustin Cardinal Bea (1881–1968), 1965; 1959 #99; #100

The mentor of ex-Jesuit Alberto Rivera, Augustin Bea was a German Jesuit, an intimate collaborator with brother Bavarian Jesuit Robert Leiber (the confessor of Pope Pius XII), and a trusted subordinate of Superior General Ledochowski.

Ordained a Jesuit priest in 1912 at the age of 31, Bea proved to be an invaluable warrior during the Second Thirty Years' War though suffering a heart attack in 1942. Collaborating with Leiber, Bea secretly worked with Himmler's "sole point of contact" Nazi statistician in numbering victims of Gestapo and SS "extirpation"—"traditionalist" Roman Catholic Dr. Richard Korherr. After Germany's cold betrayal by Masonic Hitler and unconditional surrender, Bea orchestrated the Pope's Vatican Ratlines escorting top Nazis to safety in Italy before they departed to foreign ports. The confessor of Pius XII shortly before he died in 1958, Bea was promoted to the Masonic office of Cardinal Secretary of State in 1959 serving Masonic Popes John XXIII and Paul VI. For Jesuit Bea was a member of Italy's Masonic P2 Lodge headed by SMOM Licio Gelli, the protector of SS/SD Captain Klaus Barbie. During Vatican II, Bea was the Jesuit who led a pretended reconciliation with the hated Jews. Today, the Black Pope's Masonic Labor Zionist ADL bestows "The Cardinal Bea Interfaith Award."

With the death of the Company's World War II, pro-Nazi SS, Office of Strategic Services in 1945 first created by 33rd Degree Freemason Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1942, 33rd Degree Freemason "Dirty Harry" Truman established the ubiquitous Central Intelligence Agency via the National Security Act of 1947. For this, along with promoting Pius XII's Cold War Hoax, Truman was awarded "The Sword of Ignatius Loyola" by the Order's St. Louis University in 1966.

In 1949 the supplemental Central Intelligence Act was passed providing a Seal for the Agency: for as "the Company" of the CIA has a Seal, even so the Company of the Society of Jesus has a Seal. Approved in 1950 by Truman's Executive Order 10111, the CIA Seal includes a Roman Eagle denoting the Pope's "Holy Roman," Masonically-led, Fourteenth Amendment, corporate-fascist, American Empire.

The Seal also includes a "Compass Pass," or "Compass Rose," with 16 points facing all directions. Greatly aided by Georgetown Jesuit Edmund A. Walsh and manned by notorious Knights of Malta such as Francis Cardinal Spellman, William J. Donovan, Allen W. Dulles, James Jesus Angleton, John C. McCone, Frank C. Carlucci and George J. Tenet, the CIA, with its "Vatican Desk," would build the Black Pope's Cold War International Intelligence Community now directing all Masonic leaders of the Moslem world. Indeed, the words of France's Andre' Dupin ring true: "The Jesuits are a naked sword, whose hilt is at Rome but its blade is everywhere, invisible until its stroke is felt." In 1963, President John F. Kennedy would die by a stroke of that invisible blade.

Assassination of Pope Clement XIV and Pope John Paul I

"When you are compelled by force to yield in laying aside the clothing which our holy Father Ignatius required to be worn, you can still inwardly, in your hearts, remain steadfastly united to his institution, and await a more propitious time when you can again adopt it openly; only take care to draw the bonds uniting you to one another more closely together, and recollect that no human power [including the Pope] can release you from your vows [as in high-level, 33rd Degree, Grand Orient and Scottish-Rite, Illuminized Freemasonry]." {1} [Emphasis added]

". . . the Jesuits are the only religious order in the Church of Rome—and these orders are very numerous—which has lain under the ban of the Pope, or which has been expelled from any country because of its interference in politics [as in the case of Tzars Peter the Great and Alexander I, for which they were assassinated]. Hence we may expect to find that to obtain political power forms a main feature in the plans of the Society." {3} [Emphasis added]

"Lorenzo Ganganelli was elevated to the vacant chair under the title of Clement XIV. Ganganelli was studious, learned, of pure morals, and of genuine piety. From the schoolmen he turned to the Fathers, forsaking the Fathers he gave himself to the study of the Holy Scriptures, where he learned on what Rock to fix the anchor of his faith. Clement XIV strove for several years, with honest but mistaken zeal, to reform the Order. His efforts were fruitless. On the 21st of July, 1773, he issued the famous bull, 'Dominus ac Redemptor noster,' by which he 'dissolved and for ever annihilated the Order as a corporate body,' at a moment when it counted 22,000 members. The bull justifies itself by a long and formidable list of charges against the Jesuits. Had this accusation proceeded from a Protestant pen it might have been regarded as not free from exaggeration, but coming from the Papal chair it must be accepted as the sober truth." {4} [Emphasis added]

"Their abolition was not a work of haste. According to the life of this pope, published in the year 1776, he spent four years deliberately examining the history of this order. He searched the archives of the Propaganda, for the documents relating to their missions, the accusations against and apologies for them; desirous of being correct in the matter of his condemnation, he communicated his brief, privately to several cardinals, and theologians as well as to some sovereigns, etc., before he promulgated it [as a bull]. He then decided on the abolition, but not without considering the consequences to himself. . . . The bull of restoration by Pius VII in the year 1814, was an unfortunate event for the church of Rome; not only because it has restored the Jesuits, but because it gave a tremendous blow to the infallible authority of the pope; it showed that the bull of Clement XIV, in which that pontiff suppressed and annulled the order of the Jesuits, was wrong, and how can we know that his bull of restoration is right? Popery boasts loudly of its uniformity of creed, unity of actions and infallibility of authority, but is it not surprising to see the same authority in contradiction with itself? The house is divided and it must fall." {5} [Emphasis added]

". . . the Jesuit Order at last reached the pinnacle of its power and prestige in the early eighteenth century. It had become more influential and more wealthy than any other organization in the world. It held a position in world affairs that no oath-bound group of men has ever held before or since. . . . 'nearly all the Kings and Sovereigns of Europe had only Jesuits as directors of their consciences, so that the whole of Europe appeared to be governed by Jesuits only.' " {6} [Emphasis added]

Pope Clement XIV, 1774
Abolished the Society of Jesus
With a 1773 Papal Bull titled:
Dominus ac Redemptor Noster

By 1750, the Society of Jesus was composed of the most powerful group of men in the world. They were the confessors of nearly every king in the Far East, Russia and in Europe—including the Pope. The Jesuit General knew the secret affairs of every nation and his soldiers were making millions of dollars for the Order. The South American Reductions produced herbs, hides, tallow, clocks and other goods, which the Jesuits traded in Europe with their huge fleet of "Blackships." The profits were then used to finance wars against the Protestant nations they had sworn to destroy. But all this wealth and power was acquired in secret, as the kings of Portugal and Spain knew nothing about the Reductions, known today as Communes.

Therefore, upon the discovery of the Reductions, the most powerful Roman Catholic kings of Europe expelled the Jesuits from their dominions. The first was King Joseph I of Portugal in 1759 with the help of his great Prime Minister Sebastian Cavalho, Marquis of Pombal. Of the king's condemnation of the Society, as found in his manifesto addressed to the bishops of his kingdom, we read:

> "It cannot be but the licentiousness introduced by the Jesuits, in which the three grand features are, falsehood, murder, and perjury, should not give a new character to the morals of the EXTERNI [Goyium], as the Jesuits call those who are not of their order [i.e., the Order destroying the morality of the nations as in America today], as well as the internal government of the Nostri [i.e., Cosa Nostra, "Our Enterprise"], or their own body. In fact, since these Religious [persons] have introduced into Christian and Civil Society those perverted doctrines which render murder innocent—which sanctify falsehood—authorize perjury—deprive the laws of their power— destroy the submission of subjects—allow individuals the liberty of calumniating, killing, lying, and foreswearing, as their consciences may dictate, which remove the fear of human and divine laws, and permit a man to redress his own grievances without applying to the magistrate, it is easy to see, without much penetration, that Christian and Civil Society could not subsist without a miracle. It was to be expected that such pernicious maxims would most effectually dissolve the strongest bonds which could be found for preserving the commerce and union of mankind." {8} [Emphasis added]

Following the condemnation, the king's resultant banishment of the Jesuits declares:

> ". . . in order to protect my royal honour, which is equally the life and soul of the whole monarchy; in order to maintain uninjured my independence as sovereign and ruler; in order to remove from the midst of my dominions such extraordinary and great vexation, and to shield my subjects from similar frightful occurrences with their sad results, I declare the so-called ecclesiastics—the Jesuits, namely—to be thoroughly corrupt, and to have receded from the rules of their Holy Order, and from deeply-rooted depravity to have become completely incapable of ever again learning to observe them; I declare them to be notorious rebels, traitors, enemies, and disturbers of the peace, who have opposed, and will again oppose, my royal person and Government, the public peace of my kingdom, and the general welfare of my subjects, and, therefore order that each and every one of them may be looked upon as rebels and traitors, and treated as such. On the strength of this I declare them to be denaturalized, exiled, outlawed, and banished, and decree that they shall be expelled from all my kingdoms and lordships, without ever again, at any time, being allowed to return." {9} [Emphasis added]

Richard W. Thompson concludes:

> "In Portugal the culminating point was reached by an attempt to assassinate the king [Joseph I]. . . . the deed had been incited by the Jesuits, who had impressed ignorant and fanatical minds with the idea that no wrong was committed by killing a heretical king [pursuant to the maxims of the Brotherhood's "Moral Theologians"]; that is one who did not submit to their dictation [as in the case of President John F. Kennedy]. . . . Hence, as a measure absolutely essential to the life of the nation, the king issued a decree of banishment against the Jesuits as traitors, rebels, enemies to, and aggressors on, his person, his States, and the public peace and the general good of the people. The Jesuits were then seized, transported to the States of the Church [Italy] under the jurisdiction of Clement XIII, and the three accused fathers were placed in prison to await his action. . . . The chief one of these was turned over to the Dominicans—'the natural enemies of the Jesuits'—by whom he was burned alive . . ." {10} [Emphasis added]

Little did the King and the Dominicans know they would pay dearly for this, as the far-reaching, invisible hand of the Black Pope would guide his absolute dictator, Napoleon the Roman Catholic Grand Orient Freemason, to drive the Portuguese King Joseph I from his throne, while making war on the Dominicans and their Holy Office of the Inquisition, exposing the torturous barbarities of the inquisitors.

The second expulsion was by the Bourbon King of France in 1764, having been heartily encouraged by his mistress, Madame de Pompadour. Of Louis XV (nearly assassinated by the Jesuit-controlled Robert-Francois Damiens in 1757 for which he was tortured to death) and his Parliament's righteous decree we read:
"Whereupon, the investigation into the constitution and statutes of the society (of Jesuits) . . . resulted in the enactment of a Parliamentary decree which shows the odium then attached to the society in France. It denounced their doctrines and practices 'as perverse, destructive of every principle of religion, and even of probity; as injurious to morality, pernicious to civil society, seditious, dangerous to rights of the persons of sovereigns; as fit to excite the greatest troubles in States, to form and maintain the most profound corruption in the hearts of men.'

> '. . . that the institutions of the Jesuits should forever cease to exist throughout the whole extent of the kingdom.' " {11} [Emphasis added]

Little did King Louis XV know his dynasty would also pay dearly for this, as his grandson, Louis XVI along with his Hapsburg Queen Marie Antoinette and little son titled "the Dauphin," would be cruelly murdered by the fanatical Masonic Jacobins under Jesuit control. Indeed, the Society is "terrible in its vengeance," especially against unsaved men living in gross immoral sin without the protection of the risen and returning Son of God, the Lord Jesus Christ.

The third sovereign to expel the Jesuits was Charles III, the King of Spain, in 1767. He had read the Jesuit handbook, Secret Instructions of the Jesuits known as Secreta Monita (scanned onto a CD and enclosed herein). His confessor was a Franciscan—that Order being a confirmed and continued enemy of the Jesuits—and none of the Company were advisors in his Court. Of Charles III's renown we read:

> "His greatest work, the expulsion of the Jesuits, would never have been carried out if he had not been persuaded of its political necessity. The order had already been driven out by [Cavalho, the Marquis of] Pombal from Portugal and by Choiseul from France, when Charles III was convinced that a riot in Madrid . . . had been promoted by the Jesuits [Lopez, Benavente and Gonzalez] . . ." {12} [Emphasis added]

And why did the Jesuits incite a riot against the king, they alone, commanding a host of secret agents, holding the power of revolutions in their hands?

> ". . . this revolt . . . this Jesuitical high treason . . . was got up . . . for . . . the deposition of the king himself . . . the Monarch, who had been from the first opposed to the Order." {13}

Having purposed to expel the Company, the king and his Masonic counselor, Count Aranda, moved secretly and decisively. What a movie this would make!

> "All the superior Spanish officials in the whole Spanish monarchy, as well as all the military commandants in the towns in which there existed Jesuitical colleges, residencies, or houses of other description, at once received packets, the contents of which were precisely the same, and provided with the King's seal; the contents thereof were extremely mysterious, as, upon the packet being opened, another was found, provided with three seals, together with an open note, in which the following words were to be read:
> 'On pain of death you shall not open the document provided with three seals, previous to the 2nd of April, at the hour of sunset, and the same punishment will await you, if anyone, be he whom he may, discloses his having received a secret writing.'

Precisely similar instructions were forwarded to all the prefects, governors, and commandants, in different colonies of Asia and [South] America, only, of course, in this case, owing to the far distance of the localities, the date of the opening was necessarily deferred. One may well imagine the anxiety that existed among those officials and commandants on their receiving this remarkable document, and not the less may it be supposed, how difficult it was for them to restrain their anxiety; but they all did so, without a single exception, and the secret remained inviolate up till the 2nd of April. As soon, however, as the sun went down on that day, all these secret packets were opened at the same time, and what was now their astonishment when the matter in question became known to them! Among things, the [substance of the] document ran as follows:

> 'I convey to you herewith all my authority and Royal power; as soon as you have opened this document you will at once summon all the troops, and, accompanied by them, you will immediately betake yourself to the house or college of the Jesuits. Having arrived there, you shall place a sentinel at the door; you shall awaken all the members of the Society, one with another, out of their sleep, and arrest them. Thereupon you shall seal, with the Royal seal, the archives and magazines, take the whole books and papers which may be found there into safe keeping, and intimate to the Jesuits that they must follow you without daring to take anything away with them except their prayer-books, mantels, and hats, and whatever linen may be required for a long journey. As soon as you have requisitioned a sufficient number of carriages, you shall place the Jesuits therein and convey them to the seaport I here point out to you. There, ships shall be already in waiting to transport the Fathers to their destination, as soon as you have delivered over your prisoners to the captains, your responsibility shall be at an end. But this, however, I must tell you, that after the embarkation of the Fathers, if a single one of the Society—the sick not even exempted—be found in your department or province, you shall atone for this by death. Yo el Rey, that is, I, the King.'

[Oh, that we would have a President with the courage of this Roman Catholic king!]

> Thus ran the order which the governors and superior officials received from the Government, and that they strictly carried out the same may be well understood. In this manner were the whole of the sons of Loyola, throughout all Spain, numbering about six thousand, arrested at the same hour, that is, about midnight on the 2nd April 1767, and a few days afterward they all found themselves, without exception, on the ships already prepared for them. It was a master-stroke, the like of which had never been seen, and the whole of Christendom were so astonished thereat that it could not for a long time recover itself." {14} [Emphasis added]

The fourth sovereign to expel the Jesuits from his dominion was the Roman Catholic Crusader for the Pope, the Grand Master of the Knights of Malta, Fra Manuel Pinto de Fonseca. Driven from the island of Malta in 1768 we discover:

> "In 1768 the Jesuits, having given much trouble, were expelled and their property confiscated." {15}
> Little did the Knights know that they would pay dearly for this, as the Jesuits would use Napoleon to confiscate all their landed property in France, invade Malta, plunder their weapons and treasures, and drive the Knights to an alien existence at the Court of Tzar Paul I of Russia. Meanwhile the Order had assassinated the Tzar's father, Peter III, for refusing to use his Russian forces during the Order's attempted destruction of Lutheran Germany with its Seven Years' War. The assassin was none other than the Tzar's wife, Catherine I "the Great." Paul I would also be assassinated, as was his great grandfather, Peter the Great, Peter expelling the Jesuits in 1723 for aspiring to power, as they were always meddling "in political affairs."

(Dear truth-seeker, our lesson is we must never be blinded by the terms "Protestant," "Roman Catholic," "Moslem" or "Orthodox" when seeking to understand conflicts between nations for the last five hundred years—between patriotic, non-aggressive, nationalists opposing treasonous, imperialistic internationalists—between the risen Son of God with His Biblical Protestant-Baptist-Calvinist Reformation opposing Satan with his Tridentine (Council of Trent) Jesuitical Counter-Reformation.

Knowing that the solution to any problem always lies in asking the right question, we must unceasingly ask, "Where are the Jesuits and their select 33rd Degree and Shriner Freemasons in this picture?" And in answering the questions, "Who benefits?" and "Who suffers?," the smoke will clear and all will become naked before our eyes.)

> With the return of the Jesuits to Italy, R. W. Thompson quotes the Roman Catholic Louis Marie de Cormenin in his History of the Popes of Rome, ". . . the soil of Italy was polluted by this unclean slime which the nations had rejected, and which they had sent back to Rome, the fountain of all corruption." {16} [Emphasis added]

With the Jesuits expelled from all of North America (which resulted in Masonic—Grand Orient—Thomas Jefferson's Louisiana Purchase from Masonic— Grand Orient—Napoleon Bonaparte I thereby nullifying the Company's French expulsion, further evidencing the Order's control of the Continental—Grand Orient— Illuminati Lodges), South America and from the mightiest Roman Catholic nations on the Continent, Europe's kings demanded, under the threat of a formal declaration of war on the Vatican, that the Pope abolish the Society. When Pope Clement XIII was about to do it he was poisoned the night before:

> "During the night preceding the day appointed for the public ceremony of announcing the abolition of the Jesuits, Clement XIII was suddenly seized with convulsions [like Cromwell's daughter], and died, leaving the act unperformed, and the Jesuits victorious. Cormenin . . . records this event in the terse and expressive words: 'The Jesuits had poisoned him.' " {17}

However, after a four-year investigation, his successor, Pope Clement XIV did sign a Bull of Suppression in 1773 "under the seal of the fisherman," part of which reads:

> ". . . 'that the name of the company shall be, and is forever extinguished and suppressed;' that 'no one of them do carry their audacity so far as to impugn, combat, or even write or speak about the said suppression, or the reasons and motives of it;' and that the said bull of suppression and abolition [extinction] shall 'forever and to all eternity be valid, permanent, and efficacious.' " {18} [Emphasis added]

One of our hero ex-priests, Emmett McLoughlin, sheds further light on the power of "the Company" and the Pope's extinction of so dastardly an Order. He writes:

> "The Jesuits have always been known to all other priests as the most treacherous, single-minded and supranational of all Roman Catholic orders. This is the basic reason why in country after country, their treachery, ambition and systematic > consuming greed have resulted in their suppression and expulsion from every country in Europe, and all the Catholic-dominated countries of America. From the days of Henry VIII and Elizabeth I, the English ferreted them out and hanged them. The Jesuits, Fr. Garnet, Fr. Gerard and Fr. Greenway, were involved even in the Gunpowder Plot of 1605 which was planned to blow up Parliament and destroy British royalty.

[If the Jesuits sought to blow up the English Parliament for expelling them from England in 1602, and again in 1604, would not the Jesuits, with their Nazi SS, burn the German Parliament for expelling them from Germany in 1872?]

Even their own Catholic countries finally became surfeited with Jesuit political intrigue and financial avarice and, in self-preservation, were forced to expel them. Portugal, Angola, Goa and Brazil took the lead in 1759. France followed in 1764. Several Italian states as Parma, Sicily and Naples followed suit. By sealed imperial orders sent to her colonies around the world, Spain threw out all Jesuits in 1767. This decree suppressed them in the Philippines, Argentina, New Granada (Colombia), Peru, Chili, Ecuador, Guatemala, Cuba, Puerto Rico, Mexico, New Mexico and Arizona. Austria did the same in 1773. Finally, Pope Clement XIV in 1773 issued the document 'Dominus ac Redemptor' [found in Nicolini's History of the Jesuits, pp. 387-406] abolishing the Jesuit Order altogether, and listed eleven Popes as having tried to curb their excesses. Among them were Benedict XIV, Innocent XI, Innocent XIII and Clement XIII. He cited the Jesuits for opposition to 'other religious orders,' for 'revolts and intestine troubles in some of the Catholic states' and 'persecutions against the church in Europe and Asia.' 'There remained no other remedy to so great evils . . . and this step was necessary in order to prevent the Christians from rising one against the other and from massacring each other in the very bosom of our common mother, the holy church.'

[Therefore, the Papal Caesar concluded,]

> ' . . . after a mature deliberation, we do out of our certain knowledge and the fullness of our apostolic power [mandating the use of a Bull], suppress and abolish [extinguish] the said Company.' " {19} [Emphasis added]

A Glimpse of the Great Secret Society (1872), gives a portion of this most important Bull ever issued by any Pope, the risen Son of God intervening on behalf of His elect, Bible-believing, Protestant and Baptist-Calvinist Churches. For we White, European Protestants and Baptists had suffered torture and murder at the hands of the Order for over two hundred and thirty years (1540-1773); we would now receive a reprieve here in North America for about that same length of time. We read:

> "I [Pope Clement XIV] have omitted no care, no pains, in order to arrive at a thorough knowledge of the origin, the progress, and the actual state of that regular Order, commonly called the 'Company of Jesus.'
> After so many storms, troubles, and divisions, every good man looked forward with impatience to the happy day which was to restore peace and tranquility. But under the reign of this same Clement XIII, the times became more difficult and tempestuous. Complaints and quarrels were multiplied on every side. In some places dangerous seditions arose—tumults, discords, dissensions, scandals, which weakening or entirely breaking the bonds of Christian [Roman Catholic] charity, excited the faithful to all the rage of party hatreds and enmities. Desolation and danger grew to such a height, that the very sovereigns whose piety and liberality towards the Company were so well known as to be looked upon as hereditary in their families—we mean our dearly-beloved sons in Christ, the kings of France, Spain, Portugal, and Sicily—found themselves under the necessity of EXPELLING AND DRIVING FROM THEIR STATES, KINGDOMS, AND PROVINCES THOSE VERY COMPANIONS OF JESUS, persuaded that there remained no other remedy to so great evils and this step was necessary, in order to prevent the Christians [Roman Catholics] from rising one against another, and massacring each other in the very bosom of our common mother, the Holy Church." {20}

In other words, the Pope suppressed the Jesuits utterly convinced that, in the face of a war with the monarchs of France, Portugal and Spain—in combination, ruling the most powerful nations on earth—it was absolutely necessary if the Vatican Empire was to be saved from the plunder of a military annihilation. Little did the Pope know that the combined power of these nations was vastly inferior to the voice of the Jesuit General in command of his international, oath-bound, Brotherhood of the Society of Jesus. Nevertheless, this Franciscan Pope, like his predecessor, Clement V who boldly abolished the evil Knights Templars with a Papal Bull, forever suppressed and extinguished the Society with the most powerful instrument possible—a Bull.

In casting further light on the Pope's document of suppression, there are two conflicting positions, only one of which is correct. The Jesuits continually call said document a "Brief" or "Breve," titled Dominus ac Redemptor, as does the Jesuit Thomas J. Campbell in his The Jesuits: 1534-1921 (1921); as does ex-Jesuit Andrew Steinmetz in his History of the Jesuits (1848); as does G. B. Nicolini in his History of the Jesuits (1889). However, a most convincing argument is found among other authoritative historians of the Society of Jesus, establishing that the instrument (though at first being a "Brief") was finally issued as a "Bull," titled Dominus ac Redemptor Noster. Both the German historian, Theodor Griesinger in his The Jesuits (1866; second edition in 1873; third edition in 1903); and the American Secretary of the Navy, Richard W. Thompson in his The Footprints of the Jesuits (1894); along with the converted English ex-nun, M. F. Cusack in her The Black Pope (1896); and the German historian H. Boehmer in his The Jesuits: An Historical Study (1928) are most noteworthy. But the brilliant and courageous ex-priest turned socialist and atheist, Joseph McCabe (whose 19-pamphlet series titled The Black International was suppressed in 1942 by the Order's evil 33rd Degree Freemason and Director of the FBI, J. Edgar Hoover, on the grounds that its message was "divisive and demoralizing to the war effort," the series proving that Jesuit-trained Pope Pius XII brought Hitler to power in Nazi Germany) settles the issue with his learned, definitive and convincing words taken from one of his pamphlet series boldly titled, The Jesuits: Religious Rogues (1927). We read pages 58 through 61:

> "Rome and Italy were now packed with displaced Jesuits, and there was a European cry for the suppression of the Society. At this juncture their friend Pope Clement XIII died [was poisoned the night before he was to suppress the Society], and, in spite of the furious intrigues of the Jesuits, a Franciscan monk, Cardinal Ganganelli, became Pope under the name of Clement XIV. A volume could be written on that election and what followed. It was said in Rome that the Pope put a Franciscan friar in charge of his kitchen, as he feared the Jesuits would poison him. I am convinced, after studying both sides, that Ganganelli assumed the Papacy with an open mind on the Jesuit question, and he at once began to inquire into it. The excitement, intrigue, lying, and passion at Rome were extraordinary. But in 1773 the long secret activity of the Pope came to an end, and the Bull, Dominus ac Redemptor Noster told the world that the Society was abolished 'forever.' The Catholic Encyclopedia gives the customary Catholic assurance that 'no blame was laid by the Pope on the rules of the Order (it is not an Order), or the present condition of its members, or the orthodoxy of their teaching:' a most audacious lie. The Bull is a lengthy list of all the accusations against the Jesuits. These are generally given merely as charges on which the Pope passes no judgment, but the language is at times plain enough, as one extract will show:
> 'We have observed with the bitterest grief that these remedies, and others applied (by previous Popes) afterwards, had neither efficacy or strength enough to put an end to the troubles, the charges, and the complaints formulated against the Society, and that our predecessors Urban VII [whose Pontificate lasted a mere twelve days!!!], Clements IX, X, XI, and XII, Alexanders VII and VIII, Innocents X, XI, XII, and XIII, and Benedict XIV, vainly endeavored to restore to the Church the desired tranquility by means of various enactments, either relating to secular affairs with which the Society ought not to concern itself, on missions or elsewhere; or relating to grave dissensions and quarrels harshly provoked by its members, not without a risk of the loss of souls, and to the great scandal of the nations, against the bishops, the religious orders, places consecrated to piety, and all kinds of communities in Europe, Asia, and America; or relating to the interpretation and practice of certain pagan ceremonies tolerated and admitted in various places, apart from those which are approved by the universal church; or relating to the use and interpretation of those maxims which the Holy See has justly proscribed as scandalous and evidently injurious to good morals; or relating to other matters of great importance and absolutely necessary to preserve the purity and integrity of the dogmas of the Christian [Roman Catholic] religion.'

To say that this passage, which I have translated literally from the Latin Bull, lays no blame on the Society, is to trust that one's readers will never glance at the Bull itself. It is a plain endorsement of the main charges brought against the Jesuits. . .

The Pope . . . says, later, that Christian [Roman Catholic] monarchs have been compelled by 'seditions' and 'scandals' to expel the Jesuits and demand the abolition of the Society. Finally, 'recognizing that the Society of Jesus can no longer produce abundant fruits and considerable advantages for which it was created,' the Pope by the present Bull, 'suppresses and abolishes the Society forever.' And Catholic writers the world over, knowing that no Catholic layman will ever read the Bull, repeat in every generation that the Pope endorsed no charges against the Jesuits, but thought it politic to disband them.

In the only kind of language which one could expect from a head of a Church which had used the Jesuits for two hundred years, Clement XIV endorsed every charge that I have brought against them in this book. They were a disgrace to Christendom [Romanism] and were abolished." {21} [Emphasis added]

Upon signing the Bull of Suppression and Extinction in the early hours of the morning (half past one), Pope Clement XIV was reported to have said, "The suppression is accomplished, I do not repent of it, having only resolved on it after examining and weighing everything, and because I thought it necessary for the church. If it were not done, I would do it now. But THIS SUPPRESSION WILL BE MY DEATH." {22} [Emphasis added]

Further:

"We can well believe with what a terrible sense of responsibility the Pope signed this document . . . And he had but two good reasons for personal fear. He had done and dared what none of his predecessors would have attempted; he knew the penalty and paid for it . . .

The signature was made on July 23rd, 1773. On September 27th [in fact on the 22nd, fourteen months to the day], 1774, he died." {23} [Emphasis added]

Indeed, the Pope knew the Jesuits well. Eight months later he was slow-poisoned with the dreaded "aquetta" as it does not at once prove fatal, but, according to the dose, it may be predicted beforehand at what time the victim must die. The "poison cup," so dreaded by the enemies of the Order, would now be used once again on the learned, judicious and courageous Pope Clement XIV!

And how was the Pope poisoned?

> "Hence, all the avenues of approach to the pope were carefully watched, and the utmost precautions employed to guard against the possibility of poison. These were successful for about eight months, when a peasant woman was persuaded, by means of a disguise, to procure entrance into the Vatican, and offer to the Pope a fig in which poison was concealed.

Clement XIV was exceedingly fond of this fruit, and ate it without hesitation. The same day the first symptoms of severe illness were observed, and to these, rapidly succeeded violent inflammation of the bowels. He soon became convinced that he was poisoned, and remarked:

> 'Alas! I knew they would poison me; but I did not expect to die in so slow and cruel a manner.' His terrible sufferings continued for several months, when he died, 'the poor victim,' said Cormenin, 'of the execrable Jesuits [to which the Bishop of Pistoia, Scipio di' Ricci, the nephew and heir of Jesuit General Ricci, fully agreed.]' " {24} [Emphasis added]

There is no doubt Pope Clement XIV, after lingering eight long months, had been poisoned, evidenced by his autopsy. Of this ghastly scene we see:

> "Throughout the whole of Rome the unanimous opinion was that the Pope had died from poison, and, indeed, from the so-called 'aquetta,' . . . as this does not at once prove fatal, but, according to the dose, it may be predicted beforehand at what time the person poisoned must die. Even, indeed, did anyone have a doubt whether poison had been the cause of death, that doubt must have been at once resolved by the appearance of the corpse, when, on the day following the death, the 23rd of September, the process of embalming the body was commenced. The face then presented a leaden colour, while the lips and nails had become quite black. Ash coloured strips showed themselves too, under the skin, on the arms, sides, thighs, and feet, and on other parts of the body blue spots appeared, as if from coagulation of the blood. The body was opened in order to remove the intestines, which was effected with considerable difficulty; while the whole presented the appearance as if eaten up with something resembling cancer [casting further light on the Order's American Medical Association and its domestic control of the International Cancer Conspiracy]. They were immediately placed in an especially well-closed vessel, as the odour was most offensive, while the examination was proceeded with. Not an hour, however, had elapsed before the vessel burst with a loud explosion, and the gases issuing from the intestines produced so frightful a stench that it was impossible any longer to remain in the chamber, and the embalming process had to be discontinued for that day. On the following day, the 24th, when they came again, it was found that decomposition had made rapid process, such as never occurs in ordinary cases, but alone in those of poisoning, the face and hands having become quite black, while on the skin appeared thick blisters filled with a noisome lymph, and when these were cut or pressed an odour was emitted entirely similar to that coming from the intestines, and it was, indeed, necessary to avoid coming near the body as much as possible.

But this was still not the least difficulty in carrying out the embalmment, as the skin had become detached from almost the whole body of the deceased, as in the case of a putrid carcass. Indeed, the nails came off, and the hair remained on the pillows on which the head rested. Under such circumstances embalmment was, of course, quite out of the question, and it became necessary to hasten to place the body quickly into a coffin before the limbs became entirely separated; and the Roman people had, for this time, to forego the spectacle of the exhibition of a Papal corpse in full Pontifical robes. . . . [The] question was who had poisoned him? The people of Rome quickly gave an answer, and exclaimed as from one throat, 'This the Jesuits have done.' . . . the Order of Jesus had perpetrated an act of revenge; and that it was not contrary to their morals that such an act might be accomplished by poison or dagger . . ." {25} [Emphasis added]

With this, Protestant Richard W. Thompson agrees:

". . . that it was not criminal but rather the proper service of God, to assassinate their enemies." {26}

Further, Edward W. Grinfield, in his History of the Jesuits, agrees:

"There cannot be stronger circumstantial evidence that Ganganelli fell a victim to the rage and detestation of the Order he had suppressed." {27}

For the famous German Jesuit and "moral theologian," Martin Becan, had declared in his outrageous Opusculum Theologicum on page 130 concerning regicide:

"That every subject can assassinate his prince when he has assumed the power of the throne as a usurper . . . in all the nations, it will be observed, that they will be > honored in the extreme, those who immolate similar tyrants. It is necessary yet, however, that he shall be a usurper, because, having a probable right, his death will not be lawful. It is permitted to a nation . . . to depose a legitimate prince always, when he conducts himself as a tyrant [one who does not submit to the rule of the Jesuits]." {28} [Emphasis added]

Over two hundred years later, the Jesuits, using their 33rd Degree and Shriner Freemasons, would poison another Pope who had become their enemy as a usurper and a tyrant. After only thirty-three (Masonic) days in office Pope John Paul I lay dead in his bedroom. The Pope's death, according to some, was the result of a trusted friend who entered his room and, while standing nearby during a friendly conversation, crushed a two-chambered capsule under the Pope's nose releasing deadly airborne cyanide. In the words of a memorandum from a U.S. Army medical facility in Washington, D.C., the Papal Caesar was found sitting in a chair with a look of wide-eyed horror. Avro Manhattan gives us a similar description:

> "The Pope's lips were pulled backwards and upwards, his gums exposed, giving him a most horrific grimace. But then, what horrified her [the nun] even more, was, that both his eyes seemed about to be shooting out of their sockets . . . Cardinal Villot . . . announced with the utmost detachment, that, yes, the Pope was truly dead." {29}

And why?

> ". . . John Paul [I], had said that, the following morning he was going to read personally to Father Arrupe, the Jesuit General, a document which he had written himself. Although he did not reveal its nature, his companions guessed, it had something to do with [Communist] Liberation Theology . . . the Jesuits, behind the whole movement of Liberation Theology, were supporting, ever more openly, Communist guerrillas. Some of these movements, indeed, were even led by the Jesuit padres . . . Father Arrupe, their General, who had been in contact with Moscow [under Jesuit control since the commencement of the Bolshevik Revolution in 1917], had become a ruling Pope [the sinister "Black Pope"] himself, with a private army of his own. . . . Pope John Paul [I] became perturbed about the whole problem . . . The new Pope, decided to start dealing with Father Arrupe. Perhaps with Father Arrupe's dismissal." {30} [Emphasis added]

And two key players in the assassination of Pope John Paul I were Jean Cardinal Villot, the Papal Secretary of State (like President Kennedy's Dean Rusk), and Bishop Paul Marcinkus of the Vatican Bank. Both of these men were Freemasons.

We read with astonishment and utter disbelief:

> "Now, along with top politicians, journalists, pundits, and others with a need to know first, the pope read about what L'Osservatore Politics OP called 'The Great Vatican Lodge.' The article gave names of 121 people who were alleged to be members of Masonic lodges . . . If the information was authentic, then it meant Luciano [Pope John Paul I] was virtually surrounded by Masons . . . The Secretary of State, Cardinal Villot, Masonic name Jeanni . . . Bishop Paul Marcinkus . . . of the Vatican Bank. The disconcerted pope read a list that seemed like a Who's Who of Vatican City." {31} [Emphasis added]

By virtue of their high positions of power in Vatican City and being members of the P2 Masonic Lodge, Jean Cardinal Villot and Bishop Paul Marcinkus (who was also a criminal money launderer for the Pope's Italian Mafia and CIA who resided in Sun City, Arizona, until his sudden death in February, 2006) were obedient tools of Pedro Arrupe, the Jesuit General. Dear truth-seeker, in addition to Popes, the Jesuit General using his many soldiers has imprisoned or killed scores of liberal-minded priests within the Roman hierarchy and priesthood who dared to resist his absolutism.

This policy further entrenched the power of his "infallible" Papal Roman Caesar and of his ultramontane, fascist dictators. We read:

> ". . . the Hitler regime in the beginning interned Catholic priests in concentration camps because they refused to obey his dictates . . .
> Persecution of the Catholic Church in Germany has been directed only against those elements which did not entirely submit to the ever-increasing centralization of authority in Church and State [as described in Pope Pius IX's Syllabus of Errors and his conferred Infallibility in 1870]. To this end the Vatican helped crush out [directed the crushing out of] the Catholic popular parties both in Italy and Germany and centralized all political matters in Rome. This ensured to the [Masonic] dictators freedom from popular interference on the part of Catholics [via the Concordats with Hitler and Mussolini]; it established a more complete dictatorial regime within the Catholic Church itself; it enabled the Vatican to enter into secret concordats [like the Concordat with Lenin and Stalin negotiated by Georgetown Jesuit Edmund Walsh under cover of President Herbert Hoover's Mission of Relief in 1922] with fascist countries already existing, and with democratic countries, like Spain, France, Belgium [which, under the Order's King Leopold II having invited the Jesuits into the Congo, murdered ten million Black Congolese], and Portugal, after the destruction of their democratic governments by revolution and blitzkrieg.

> Finally it left the way clear for complete harmony and unity between Nazi-Fascism and Jesuit Catholicism . . . [This is exactly the same scenario that will be followed within the American Empire during its coming White, "New Right," fascist Republican, military dictatorship led by someone like the Jesuit-trained Knight of Malta, Patrick J. Buchanan, or the centralizing, "New Federalist" Roman Catholic and anti-Jew, Grand Orient Freemason, Lyndon H. LaRouche, Jr., brought to power by Catholics and Protestants alike, who will be enraged over the treasonous policies of previous Presidents—like President George W. Bush's blanket naturalization of illegal aliens, they being mostly Hispanics, Orientals and Blacks, further making America a Roman Catholic nation of color. The Jesuits, advising and directing their American Nazi fascists, will use domestic concentration camps to murder "liberal," Roman Catholic priests resisting tyranny, just as they did in Hitler's Nazi Germany. This ruse of war will further create the deception that the Order's American tyrant is against the Pope and his Hierarch—to the delight of the Black Pope!]
> With the extinction of liberal Catholicism and the imprisonment of liberal Protestant leaders, Vatican absolutism was triumphant. Of supreme satisfaction to the Jesuit Catholic faction was the dissolution of Protestantism in Germany [with the help of Jesuit General Ledochowski's Grand Inquisitor, the Jesuit-trained crypto-Roman Catholic Joseph Djugashvili ("Son of Steel") Stalin ("Man of Steel"), and his Red Army directed by the Black Pope's GRU/NKVD secretly working in conjunction with the Black Pope's Nazi SS in the persons of SS Generals Martin Bormann and "Gestapo" Heinrich Muller]." {32} [Emphasis added]

If the Jesuits, in assassinating their enemies, would kill Popes, Cardinals, Bishops and Priests, would they not kill a Roman Catholic American President if they thought it essential to the fulfillment of their imperial plans, while imposing their evil Council of Trent on us trusting and naive Americans?

Indeed they would, and indeed they did on November 22, 1963.

Anti-Jesuit Pope Clement XIV, 1769 – 1774 #102

After a four-year investigation and pressured by the Roman Catholic Monarchs of Europe, this brave Pope suppressed the Society of Jesus with a Papal Bull on July 21, 1773. He knew the tremendous POWER he was resisting and that the signing of the Bull would be his death warrant.

Fourteen months later he lay dead having been poisoned by those masters of murder, as the Italians declared the Pope's death to be a work of the Jesuits in obedience to their god whom they consider to be Jesus Christ in the flesh, the Black Pope.

To this day no mortal man occupying the office of Satan's sacred Papacy has ever dared to once again suppress the Company of Jesus, as the Pope's every word, tendency and action is closely monitored by the Jesuit General's Curia overseeing him. For indeed, the office of "the Sovereign Pontiff" is tempered with Jesuit/Masonic regicide.

Anti-Jesuit, Anti-Masonic Pope John Paul I, 1978 #103

After only thirty-three days in occupying St. Peter's Chair, this brave and daring Papal Caesar was poisoned by the P2 Masonic agents of the Jesuits, one being Secretary of State Jean Cardinal Villot. Found dead one morning by a nun, no autopsy was ever performed and no official death certificate has ever been issued. His fatal error was in attempting to formally relieve Pedro Arrupe of his command as the Superior General of the Society of Jesus. He should have learned his lesson from Pope Clement XIV, as both were given "the poison cup."

Masonic P2 Knight of Malta Licio Gelli (1919 – Present), 1981 #105

Secondary Vatican Assassin of Pope John Paul I

One of the Black Pope's most devoted servants, we review with wonder the past criminal deeds of infamy committed by this most obedient son of the devil, who, like his spiritual father, is a thief and a mass-murderer. As Grand Master of the secretive 2400-member P2 Masonic lodge funded by the CIA to the tune of $10 million a month, Gelli, an agent for both the CIA and the KGB, was a key player in the Order's International Drug Trade, International Intelligence Community and International Banking Cartel. He had been: a fascist cohort of Mussolini; an ardent friend of ex-Nazi SD "Butcher of Lyons," Klaus Barbie; the unseen hand behind SMOM Juan Peron, Argentina's dictator who protected hundreds of Nazis after WWII; behind the murder of hundreds of patriotic nationalists, East and West, destroying national sovereignties in care of the New World Order; a close friend of the Papacy's Masonic Libyan dictator Muammar al-Qaddafi, evidencing Papal Knights are in fact the real power behind the Black Pope's Masonic Islamic International Terrorist Network; the guest of honor at the 1981 inauguration of President Ronald Reagan; an operative in the Gehlen Org; and the liaison between the CIA and the Vatican via his Masonic P2 lodge. Gelli was associated with SMOM General Alexander Haig, Jr., then President Nixon's chief-of-staff, and National Security Advisor Henry Kissinger. Gelli also had strong ties to the Pope's International Sicilian Mafia and accrued a fortune in both commercial paper and gold. Behind a host of bombings, assassinations and grand thefts, Gelli, now convicted, is under house arrest in his villa in Tuscany.

Primary Vatican Assassins of Pope John Paul I:

The White Pope, John Paul II; The Black Pope Pedro Arrupe, 1980 #106

The Jesuit General's show of submission to the Pope comports with Canon Law but is, in fact, quite the opposite. Indeed, "Black is White and White is Black." With the Company's Masonic grip over the Papacy, no Pope will ever be allowed to exercise his sovereign powers without both the approval and oversight of his Jesuit confessor and advisor. The "Jesuit State" within the Pope's "Vatican City State" keeps the Pope submissive to the present and future policies of the Jesuit General as advised by his Assistants. Pope John Paul I was deceived, believing he could submit the Order to himself and expose its evil Vatican Bank Scandal.

Jesuit Power During the Suppression and Extinction of the Society From Pope Clement XIV to Pope Pius VII

> "Never before in the course of the world's history had such a Society appeared. The old Roman Senate itself did not lay schemes for world domination with greater certainty of success." {1}

> Protestant Italian Patriot
> Exiled to England
> History of the Jesuits

We shall pause for a moment of reflection, dear truth-seeker. You have finished your First Block of Jesuit history as it relates to the Kennedy Assassination.

It is imperative that you be familiar with the censored history of the past that you may understand the present. There are now three more blocks to go. Be of good cheer, be not afraid, be patient and stand fast, as would a good soldier while under emotional attack by this seasoned and ubiquitous enemy whose god is "the god of this world."

Having an understanding of the Order's first two hundred and thirty-three years of existence, you now know the true course of European history. The issues are Black and White, with no shades of Gray. It was the righteous Protestant Calvinist Reformation versus the Catholic Jesuit Counter-Reformation; the Old and New Testament teachings of the Bible as preached by Luther and Calvin versus the teachings of the evil Council of Trent as championed by the Sons of Ignatius Loyola. There was a courageous, Irish Catholic priest who conducted a legal action in Rome on behalf of American bishops and priests in the 1920s against the Jesuits.

After his conversion to the true risen Christ of the AV1611 Reformation Bible, he became an evangelist conducting mission work among New York Roman Catholics during the 1940s. The brilliant and beloved Leo Lehmann writes of the Nazi era:

"Space permits only a very brief summary of the counter-Reformation activities of Jesuit Catholicism which led to the rise and present successes of Nazi-Fascism against the liberalizing effects of the Protestant Reformation. The Thirty Years' War, the murderous reign of the Duke of Alva in the Netherlands, the Massacre of St. Bartholomew and the bloody attempts at Catholic restoration in England, are visible, and terrifying examples of the anti-Protestant activities of the Jesuit Order in the past." {3} [Emphasis added]

In addition to the Council of Trent, Peter Dens' Theologia, as taught to the Irish priests in 1826 at a Roman Catholic Seminary in Maynooth, Ireland, declared:

> "Prop. 1. Protestants are heretics, and as such are worse than Jews, and pagans.
> Prop. 2. That they are by baptism, and by blood, under the power of the Roman Catholic Church.
> Prop. 3. That heretics (Protestants) are subject to the Roman Catholic Church.
> Prop. 4. So far from granting toleration to Protestants, it is the duty of the church, to exterminate the rites of their religion.
> Prop. 5. That it is the duty of the Roman Catholic Church to compel heretics, by corporal punishment, to submit to her faith.
> Prop. 6. That the punishments decreed by the Roman Catholic Church, are confiscation of goods, exile, imprisonment, and death." {4} [Emphasis added]

And to what end did these unbiblical, tyrannical and heretical doctrines so insanely serve? In 1550 Pope Julius III declared his claim to universal Temporal (political) Power evidenced by a new coin he issued, its motto having read:

> "The nation and kingdom that will not serve me shall perish!" {5}

This claim of the Papal Caesar was and is a perversion of a passage of Holy Writ referring to the Nation of Israel under the rule of her Messiah during His future universal reign, He having established the kingdom promised to King David. The Pope's claim is evidence of his evil and wicked doctrine called "Replacement Theology," namely that the Gentile Pope and his pagan, Roman Catholic Church has replaced the Hebrew/Jewish Lord Jesus Christ and his Hebrew nation of Israel. We read of Messiah's future kingdom on earth with Israel to be the head of all nations:

> "And the sons of strangers shall build up thy walls, and their kings shall minister unto thee [Israel]: for in my wrath I smote thee [Israel], but in my favour have I had mercy on thee [Israel] . . . For the nation and kingdom that will not serve thee [Israel] shall perish; yea, those nations shall be utterly wasted."
> – Isaiah 60:10, 12

Dear truth-seeker, since you now understand our First Block of Jesuit history, you are now able to understand our Second Block of Jesuit history. It begins with the Order's formal suppression and extinction by Pope Clement XIV in 1773 and ends with its formal re-establishment by Pius VII in 1814—a total of forty-one years.

These forty-one years were absolutely golden for the Society of Jesus. For the Sons of Loyola punished all their enemies including the Dominican priests, perfected the inner workings between themselves and high-level Freemasonry, created an alliance between the House of Rothschild in establishing the Illuminati, punished and then absorbed the Knights of Malta just like the absorbing "Borg" of Star Trek.

They used the Orthodox Catherine II "the Great" of Russia and the Lutheran Frederick II "the Great" of Prussia to conquer and divide Poland, rendering the Pope's Bull of Suppression and Extinction of no effect in that Roman Catholic land.

Frederick the Great commanded as much, as translated by Thomas J. Campbell, S.J.:

> "We, Frederick by the Grace of God, King of Prussia, to all and every of our subjects, greeting:
> As you have already been advised that you are not permitted to circulate any Bulls or Briefs of the Pope, without our approbation of the same, we have no doubt that you will conform to this general order, in case the Brief [in fact, the Bull] of the Pope suppressing the Society of Jesus arrives at any department within your jurisdiction. Nevertheless, we have deemed it necessary to recall this to your memory, and as, under the date of Berlin, the sixth of this month, we have resolved, for reasons prompting us thereto, that this annihilation of the Society which has recently taken place shall not be published in our states, we graciously enjoin upon you to take all necessary measures in your district to suppress the aforesaid Bull of the Pope; for which end you will, in our name, as soon as you receive this communication, issue an explicit order, under penalty of rigorous chastisement, to all ecclesiastics of the Roman Catholic religion domiciled in your territory not to publish the aforesaid Bull annulling the Society of Jesus. You are commanded to see carefully to the execution of this order, and to inform us immediately in case any high foreign ecclesiastics endeavor to introduce any Bulls of this kind into our kingdom surreptitiously." {6} [Emphasis added]

Under the protection of the Continent's most powerful Masonic authority and creator of the Supreme Council of the 33rd Degree, the Order caused the French Revolution, beheading a Bourbon Catholic King, Louis XVI, and a Hapsburg Catholic Queen, Marie Antoinette, in retaliation for being expelled from France by King Louis XV and from Austria by Archduchess Maria Theresa. With Napoleon the Freemason they drove the Bourbons from their throne in Spain and the Braganzas from their throne in Portugal. They even attempted to take the land of Canaan (not Romish "Palestine") and thus Jerusalem from the Moslems, as did the Pope's Crusaders, led by the evil Knights Templars of the Dark Ages.

Known as "The Community of Zion" in France, the Sons of Loyola used their Middle Eastern Napoleonic Wars in attempting to secure Jerusalem, in the words of the lying Napoleon, "for the Jews." As per the ancient dream and quest of Loyola, the Society, in the name of "the Jews," which race they hated and continue to hate to this day, sought to destroy the two Islamic Mosques on Jerusalem's ancient Temple Mount. It then desired to build a Masonic Solomon's Temple "for the Jews," but with the secret agenda of fully intending to transform "the temple of God" into a Luciferian-Satanic-Egyptian Temple of SET. That momentous transformation would be realized by a future and final Jesuit Pontiff turned Antichrist, mortally wounded with the sword, risen from the dead, indwelt by the Devil and causing the Mosaic sacrifices and oblations to cease via his personal presence within. This final consummation of the Devil's "mystery of iniquity," to which end the Jesuit Order was created, and to which end its Elders have strained every nerve, is none other than—

> "the abomination of desolation, spoken of by Daniel the prophet, stand in the holy place."
> – Matthew 24:15

Yet, the Militia's most important victories were both religious and political. The Jesuits deeply penetrated the Russian Orthodox Church and Germany's Lutheran Church, along with its Tubingen University, attributing their Jew-hating propaganda to the works of Martin Luther! Politically, they took control of the Crown and Bank of England. For this reason England, with Shriner Freemason Viscount Palmerston, would never go to war with Jesuit-controlled France again; it would conduct the Pope's Opium Wars against the people of China (just like the Company, with its CIA and Mafia Commission, is presently conducting a massive Drug Trade against the "heretic and liberal" people of the American Empire) governed by the Order's enemy—the Manchu Dynasty—and would refuse to help the Italian patriots in their warring with the armies of the Pope during the Italian Revolution of 1848.

The Jesuits also captured the huge Vatican Empire, including its landed Church properties the world over, and for this reason the Papal Caesar, occupying Satan's sacred Office of the Papacy, would never suppress the Society of Jesus, ever again!

Freemason Choiseul; Chief Minister to King Louis XV, 1764 #108

It was during the first Great Masonic Schism (1753) that the Order was driven out of Portugal, France and Spain by Freemasons Pombal, Choiseul and Aranda.

Preferring loyalty to his king rather than treason to the Temporal Power of the Pope upheld by the Jesuits, Duc de Choiseul expelled the Order from France, including all legal holdings in the New World. To preserve their properties and tremendous wealth in America, the Company arranged the Louisiana Purchase between Thomas Jefferson and Napoleon I. Meanwhile, the North American states would continue to serve as a haven for Protestant Christians. By dividing Masonry from Jesuitism for a season, the LORD gave a respite to His people.

The Black Pope, Lorenzo Ricci #109

Eighteenth Superior General of the Society of Jesus, 1758 – 1775

During the Order's Suppression from 1773 to 1814 by Pope Clement XIV, General Ricci created the Order of the Illuminati with his soldier, Adam Weishaupt, uniting the House of Rothschild and Grand Orient Freemasonry with the Society of Jesus. Although Ricci would die a prisoner in Rome's Castle of St. Angelo, his Satanic master plan of vengeance against the Monarchs of Europe and war on the Papacy's Holy Roman Empire would be crowned with success. Weishaupt, the Father of modern Communism, used his Jesuit-backed Jacobins to conduct the terrifying French Revolution incited by his Masonic Encyclopaedists, Voltaire and Diderot. Years later Jesuit General Ledochowski, with his Bolsheviks, conducted the Russian Revolution in 1917 incited by his Masonic Communists, Marx and Engels, it being identical to the upheaval of 1789. What many modern writers of today describe as "the Illuminati" is, in fact and purpose, another name for the ubiquitous Company of Jesus under the all-pervading guidance of its master governing Washington, D.C., London, Paris, Berlin, Moscow, Peking, Jerusalem, Mecca and the Vatican, the Black Pope.

In Seeking to Destroy the Protestant Reformation and Restore the Dark Ages with "The White Pope" Exercising His Temporal Power as the Universal Monarch of the World,

Established the Illuminati in Alliance with Grand Orient, 33rd Degree, Shriner Freemasonry, and then, as the secret Advisors of Napoleon Bonaparte, Punished the Papacy, the Dominican Priests, the Knights of Malta, the Roman Catholic Monarchs of Europe, the Protestant people of Germany, and the Orthodox people of Russia;

Moreover, they Destroyed the Pope's Holy Roman Empire, Exposed the Outrages of the Dominicans' "Holy Office of the Inquisition," and Enfranchised the Semitic Hebrew/Jewish Race (Further Humbling the anti-Jewish, Roman Catholic Sovereigns of Europe), for the Purpose of Inducing Pope Pius VII to Restore to Life his Ubiquitous, Obsidian Bodyguard—the Society of Jesus—in 1814, following its Suppression and Extinction by the brave Pope Clement XIV, his Bull enforced in all Roman Catholic Nations from 1773 to 1814. With the Jesuit Order now legally revived, the Black Pope would continue to magnify demon-possessed Pope Innocent III's Fourth Lateran Council (1215 A.D.). One of its death sentences reads thus:

> "We excommunicate and anathematize every heresy that exalts itself against the holy, orthodox and Catholic faith, condemning all heretics, by whatever name they may be known; for though their faces differ, they are tied together by their tails. Such as are condemned are to be delivered over to the existing secular powers, to receive due punishment.
> . . . Secular powers of all ranks and degrees are to be warned, induced, and, if necessary, compelled by ecclesiastical censure, to swear that they will exert themselves to the utmost in the defence of the faith, and extirpate all heretics denounced by the Church who shall be found in their territories. . . . If any temporal lord, . . . shall neglect to clear his territory of heretical depravity, . . . the bishops of the province shall unite in excommunicating him. . . . the Supreme Pontiff . . . will bestow the territory on Catholics . . . on the condition of exterminating the heretics and preserving the said territory in the faith." {1}

The Society of Jesus was now, formally and forever, disbanded by Pope Clement XIV's Bull of Suppression and Extinction issued in 1773. It cost the Pope his life but saved the Devil's Vatican Empire from a war with the enraged Roman Catholic monarchs of Europe. The Bull was effective in countries where the Roman Catholic Church and the Civil State were united. In countries where another religious institution was united with the State, the Bull would not be enforced. Such was the case with Prussia and Russia. "Mother Russia" was governed by an absolute monarchy, headed by the Romanovs. The Romanov dynasty was the legal protector of the Russian Eastern Orthodox Church, which included the Orthodox "Pope" called the "Patriarch." Church and State were united, as they were all throughout Europe, Protestant and Roman Catholic alike. (The only exception to this rule in history would be the creation of these United Protestant States of America tempered with the anti-Jesuit, Baptist-Calvinist First Amendment.) Since Pope Clement XIV's Bull of Suppression would not be enforced in Russia, the Jesuits sought and received admittance and protection there. In spite of the fact that Peter the Great had expelled the Jesuits during his reign in 1723, Catherine the Great (who in 1762, with her paramour, Grigory Grigoryevich Orlov, had murdered her husband, Tzar Peter III) freely re-admitted them in 1773. This selfish move would prove to be the end of the Romanov Dynasty within one hundred and forty-five years.

Catherine believed the Order would protect her throne since she had murdered her husband to acquire it. She was German and a Lutheran, as well as a "whore" according to her son, Tzar Paul I; but as the Empress of Russia she was the protector of the Orthodox Church. Little did she know the secret designs of the Order as it deeply penetrated the Orthodox priesthood and acquired such political power that Tzar Alexander I would expel it after the Congress of Vienna, in 1820.

We must remember that the Pope, in command of the Western Roman Catholic Church Empire headed in Rome, was the rival of the Patriarch in command of the Eastern Orthodox Church Empire headed in Constantinople (the Second Rome) and Orthodox Moscow (the Third Rome). The policy of the Popes of the Dark Ages, since the religious division between East and West led by Michael Cerularius in 1054, was to conquer these two key cities of Orthodox religious power and restore the Pope's Temporal tyranny, centralizing all Spiritual and Temporal power in the Pope of Rome. During the reign of the demon-Pope Innocent III, the Fourth Crusade was launched resulting in the sacking of Orthodox Constantinople in 1204. In 1453 the Moslem Turks, secretly financed by Rome, conquered and plundered the city, turning the famous Orthodox Church Cathedral, "Hagia Sophia," into "St. Sophia's Mosque" to this day, thereby eliminating one of the Pope's greatest visible rivals. By the mid-Nineteenth Century, the Jesuits, via Grand Orient, Islamic-Shriner Freemasonry, would be in complete control of Islam. Turkey, later aided by Jesuit-controlled monarchs, Protestant Queen Victoria and Roman Catholic Napoleon III, ignited the Order's war against Alexander II's anti-Jesuit Orthodox Russia, known as the Crimean War of 1853-56. It was obvious: "the Third Rome" was now under Papal attack. In 1904 the Company used its Japanese Emperor Meiji to launch the Russo-Japanese War via a sneak attack, partially destroying the Tzar's navy built by the American John Paul Jones. (Could that have been the Judgment of God for the Russian blockade of Southern American ports during the War Between the States, cutting off essential medicines, contrary to the law of war, thereby intending to make every wound mortal?) Orthodox Moscow fell in 1917 and the Church's anti-Papal leadership was purged by the Order's bloody Jacobin/Bolsheviks. Hence Moscow, like Constantinople, through the Pope's religions of Communism and Islam, was now completely in the hands of the Sons of Loyola. Yet the fall of "the Third Rome" may well have been delayed had not the wicked Catherine II "the Great" re-admitted the Society into Russia, thereby providing the impetus of the Jesuit conspiracy within the Orthodox Church to secretly aid the Order's conspiracy of the October Revolution.

The other absolute Monarch who gave protection to the Jesuit Order was Frederick II "the Great," King of Prussia. This heroic military leader of the Seven Years' War (1756-1763) with its Protestant victory was the protector of the Lutheran Church in that country. Church and State were united. Therefore,

Clement XIV's Bull of Suppression and Extinction was not enforced in Lutheran Prussia. So the Jesuits, "the Pope's bodyguard," sought and received protection from Frederick II:

> "Although overwhelmed on every side, they were not daunted, and their courage was still greater than their misfortunes. Driven from those countries in which they had been nurtured and cherished, and which ought to have been their natural abode, they turned their regards to the camp of their former enemies. . . . those fiery persecutors of all religious sects which were out of the pale of Rome, and especially the Lutherans, had recourse for protection to the Lutheran Frederick of Prussia, and to the schismatic Catherine of Russia; and we do not hesitate to advance that, had those monarchs, in exchange for some advantages and privileges, asked of them to combat the Papal doctrines, . . .they would have fought against the Roman Catholic religion with the same ardour which they had employed in defending it [which indeed was done with Napoleon Bonaparte I]. . . .
> We have already seen that [Jesuit General] Ricci, in his examination, confessed that he was in correspondence with his Prussian majesty [as well as with King George III]; and it is a fact that Frederick, even before the suppression of the Society, proved himself its friend and protector, notwithstanding the reproaches and sneers of his friends and masters, the philosophers. D'Alembert, above, assailed the king in all his vulnerable points; but in vain: Frederick remained firm in his purpose of supporting the Jesuits [remembering that Frederick had fought a Seven Years' War with France and thus hated its Bourbon Dynasty as much as the Jesuits wished to overthrow it via a Masonic Revolution]. . . . D'Alembert, . . . wrote to Frederick, telling him that he 'wished that neither he nor his successors might ever have cause to repent of granting an asylum to intriguers, . . . he much doubted whether the Jesuits would ever pay his majesty the honour of admitting him to their Order, as they did the great Louis XIV, . . . and the poor, miserable James II, who was much more fit to be a Jesuit than a king. . . . It is not on your majesty's account that I dread the re-establishment of these formerly self-styled Jesuits, as the late Parliament of Paris called them. What harm, indeed, could they do to a prince whom the Austrians, the Imperialists, the French, and the Swedes united, have been unable to deprive of a single village?
> But I am alarmed, sire, lest other princes, who have not the same power as you have to make head against all Europe, and who have weeded out this poisonous hemlock from their gardens, should one day take a fancy to come to you and borrow seed to scatter their ground anew. I earnestly hope your majesty will issue an edict to forbid for ever the exportation of Jesuitic grain, which can [at present] thrive nowhere but in your dominions.' Frederick remained unmoved; . . ." {3} [Emphasis added]

A key detail here is that Frederick II was the most powerful Freemason in Europe, possessing the sovereign Masonic power over all "the Craft." We read:

> ". . . on the 1st of May, 1786, Frederick II, King of Prussia, caused the high degrees and Masonic Constitutions of the ancient Rite to be revived. He added eight degrees to the twenty-five [written by the Jesuits in the College of Clermont in France] already recognized in Prussia, and founded a Supreme Council of thirty-three degrees [which Supreme Council in America is in Washington, D.C.], of which he himself constructed the regulations in eighteen articles." {4} [Emphasis added]

Could it be that the Jesuits aided Frederick II in writing the additional eight degrees as well as establishing the Supreme Council of thirty-three degrees? This is one of the major connections between Jesuitism and high-level Freemasonry. For when the Jesuits would cause the Russian Revolution in 1917 they would institute communism. (Communism had been perfected on their Reductions in Paraguay from 1609 to 1767.) And the great day of celebration in Stalin's Russia and Hitler's Germany would be May 1st—the very day Frederick II instituted 33rd Degree Freemasonry. Of this union between Frederick II and the Jesuits we read:

> "The Jesuits flocked, therefore, to [Polish Roman Catholic] Silesia from all quarters, seeking his Protestant protection, which caused Voltaire to remark in his caustic style, that 'it would divert him beyond measure to think of Frederick as the general of the Jesuits, and that he hoped this would inspire the Pope with the idea of becoming mufti.' " {5} [Emphasis added]

Little did Frederick II know that Protestant Germany would pay dearly for this. The Jesuits would penetrate the Lutheran clergy and add to the words of Luther, portraying him as a Jew-hater! They would attack the Bible of Luther's Germany with "higher criticism," and overthrow Frederick II's distant descendant, Kaiser Wilhelm II. The Jesuits would also bring Hitler to power and in their beloved Silesia (now Poland), would erect their Death Camps in which millions of "accursed heretics and liberals," including two thirds of the Jews of Europe along with the Roman Catholic Roma (Gypsies, many of which were vagabond Jews by race), would be mass-murdered. And when many were calling for the Americans to bomb Auschwitz, it was President Roosevelt—the 33rd Degree Shriner Freemason—who prevented it with his tool and CFR member, John J. McCloy. And it was John J. McCloy, along with two other 33rd Degree Masons, who were appointed to the Warren Commission. They were Gerald Ford and Supreme Court Chief Justice, Earl Warren.

As we all know, the Warren Commission covered up the Kennedy Assassination. But most Americans do not know that the Jesuits got away with murder—again—with the help of their Shriner and 33rd Degree "Slavemasons."

Frederick II "the Great" Hohenzollern (1712 – 1786), 1770s #110

Freemasonic King of Prussia, 1740 – 1786

Frederick II was the most powerful Freemason on the European Continent.

Even though he: was the hero of the Seven Years' War (1756-1763) which enabled his Protestant ally, Great Britain, to win North America; was the Protector of the Lutheran Church who saved Germany from partition had the war been lost; and declared "No country ever got any good by injuring the Jew;" he treacherously admitted the Jesuits into his Protestant Empire and censored the Pope's "Bull" suppressing the Order. This is an undeniable link between high-level, 33rd Degree Freemasonry and the Professed Jesuits of the Fourth Vow. His Hohenzollern dynasty however, would pay dearly for this, as his distant "heretic" Lutheran relative, Kaiser Wilhelm II, would flee into exile in 1918 after he, via General Ludendorff, destroyed Bismarck's Protestant Second Reich. Wilhelm II, though allowing the Redemptorists and Jesuits to re-enter Germany (1894/1917), became the victim of the very Grand Orient Illuminized Freemasonry Frederick had helped to create, the Company's same Satanic agent used to overthrow the Bourbons during the Black Pope's Napoleonic Wars.

Catherine II "the Great" Romanov (1729 – 1796), 1770s #111

Empress of Russia, 1762 – 1796

This German was the greatest disgrace ever to sit upon the throne of the Romanovs. Having both murdered her husband and usurped the power of the Empire, Catherine was openly called a "whore" by her son, Paul, who had been the rightful heir to the throne after his father's death. As the protector of the Orthodox Church, she treasonously admitted the Jesuits into Russia in 1773 despite Peter the Great's expulsion of the Order in 1723. The Jesuits deeply penetrated Russia's state Church and Tsarist government through Freemasonry, Catherine having declared herself the "Protectress of the Craft" in 1763. The Order successfully overthrew both Church and State by 1922 using their "Holy Monk," Grigory Rasputin, a secret Jesuit according to the brave, Spanish ex-Jesuit, Alberto Rivera. Rasputin was covertly advised by the visibly Orthodox rector of the Jesuit-controlled, Orthodox Tiflis Theological Seminary, Bishop Hermogen, along with Hermogen's fellow secret Jesuit, the evil Orthodox priest Iliodor. Stalin would attend the same Seminary and be tutored by the same Jesuit coadjutors for five years. Meanwhile, the Sons of Loyola thrived during the Suppression under Catherine II, Paul I, and Alexander I, awaiting their ultimate restoration while the Black Pope conducted his Napoleonic Wars.

"Von Hammer, in his History of the Assassins, a branch or development of the Illuminati, points out singular parallels between the teaching of Loyola and the Assassins. [The Jesuit Order has revived the Assassins in creating the intolerant and fanatical modern day sect within Islam known as Osama bin Laden's "Wahhabism," having been embraced by tribal chief Abdul Aziz ibn Saud in 1744 and now, since formally established by King Abdul Aziz ibn Saud 1932 (via one of his British MI6 courtiers, Knight of Malta Sir John Philby), is the state religion of Saudi Arabia.] Nor can it be said that drawing attention to this parallelism is a mere Protestant prejudice, since the first charge was made by the priests of Alcala, and in the very lifetime of the founder of the Jesuits." {1} [Emphasis added]

"[The Constitutions of the Jesuit Order] contain six impediments against reception into the Order, the first of which is Jewish descent up to the fourth generation . . . [From 1593 to 1946] General council of the order have many times proclaimed that Jewish descent must be considered as 'an impurity, scandal, dishonor and infamy.' "In 1814, Berckheim drew up his great report on the secret societies of Germany, which is of so much importance in throwing light on the workings of the modern revolutionary movement, that extracts must be given here at length. His testimony gains greater weight from the vagueness he displays on the origins of Illuminism and the role it had played before the French Revolution; it is evident, therefore, that he had not taken his ideas from [John] Robison or [Jesuit Abbe Augusten de] Barruel—to whom he never once refers—but from information gleaned on the spot in Germany. The opening paragraphs finally refute the fallacy concerning the extinction of the sect in 1786 [the very same year the Supreme Council of the 33rd Degree was established in Germany].

'The oldest and most dangerous association is that which is generally known under the denomination of the Ilumines [Illuminati] and of which the foundation goes back towards the middle of the last century. "ILLUMINATI, . . . It was founded on May 1, 1776, by Adam Weishaupt, professor of canon law at Ingolstadt, and an [openly] ex-Jesuit [but secretly still a member of the Order retaining his chair at the University until 1785], . . . The name originally assumed for the order was the Society of the Perfectibilists [the Jesuits also calling their Order, 'The Society of the Perfect' so designated in Abate Leone's The Jesuit Conspiracy: The Secret Plan of the Order, (1848), p. 183]. . . .

The entire subserviency of its members (who on admission were pledged to blind obedience to the orders of their superiors [as are the Jesuits]) was secured by a strict system of secret confessions and monthly reports [as practiced in the Order] checked by mutual espionage [individual Jesuits allowed only to be in groups of three, which groups of three abreast, when walking or marching, compose "the long Black line"]. . . . special attention being given to the enlistment of young men of wealth, rank, and social importance [also practiced by the Jesuits as in the case of Fordham University Jesuit Avery Cardinal Dulles, the son of Eisenhower's Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles]. . . . the order . . . was considerably influenced by the intimate relations which were established with Masonic lodges at Munich and Freising [both cities later being Heinrich Himmler's Nazi SS strongholds] in 1780. . . .

About the time an important impulse was given to its prosperity in middle and northern Germany by the ambition and energy of a newly acquired member, [Masonic Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor] Baron Adolf von Knigge, who had his headquarters at Frankfort-on-the-Main. It was to him that the society was indebted for the extremely elaborate constitution (never, however, actually realized) according to which the entire membership was divided into three great classes, in the first of which were to be included the 'novices' [like the Jesuit "novices"], the 'minervals,' and the 'lesser illuminati' [Jesuit "Scholastics"], while the second consisted of 'freemasons,' ('ordinary,' 'Scotch,' and 'Scotch knights' [the Jesuits having previously written the first twenty-five degrees of the Scottish Rite from their Parisian College of Clermont in 1754]), and the third or 'mystery class' [as are those select Jesuits under Extreme Oath of the Fourth Vow] was subdivided into the two grades of priests and regents [like the Jesuit Spiritual Coadjutors] and of magus and king [like the Jesuit Temporal Coadjutors]. . . . all correspondence was conducted in cipher [as did the Jesuits for centuries prior to the perfection of the Black Pope's International Intelligence Community]; to increase the mystification, towns and provinces were invested with new and altogether arbitrary designations [the Jesuit Superior General having divided up the world into "Provinces" now composing ten "Assistancies"]. . . .

A rupture which took place between Weishaupt and Knigge [ordered by the Jesuit General] in 1784 greatly accelerated the public expression of a counter feeling of suspicion and dislike which had been slowly gathering strength [as intended so as to distance the Illuminati from the Bavarian Jesuits], and in 1785 [nearly four years before the beginning of the Order's French Revolution] the Bavarian Government [controlled by the Jesuits through the Bavarian Roman Catholic Wittelsbach dynasty] issued an edict which proved fatal to the order [in Bavaria]. Many of its members were imprisoned or compelled to leave their homes; Weishaupt himself was deprived of his chair [at the University, indicating that the Society of Jesus was involved in creating the Illuminati for nearly ten years!] and banished the kingdom [Weishaupt to become known as the "PATRIARCH OF THE JACOBINS"]." {5} [Emphasis added]

"Illuminati"

The Jesuits, now formally suppressed by the Pope, were allied with Frederick II "the Great" of Prussia and Catherine II "the Great" of Russia. The Jesuit General was in control of high-level Scottish Rite Freemasonry, Grand Orient Freemasonry, and now sought an alliance with the Masonic Baron of the House of Rothschild. To accomplish this he chose a Jesuit who was a German Gentile (not a Jew) by race and a Freemason by association—Adam Weishaupt.

"That [Adam] Weishaupt was not the originator of the [Luciferian and Satanic] system he named 'Illuminism' will be already apparent to every reader of the present work. . . . How did these Oriental methods penetrate to the Bavarian professor? According to certain writers, through the Jesuits.

The fact that Weishaupt had been brought up by this Order has provided the enemies of the Jesuits with the argument that they were the secret inspirers of the Illuminati [as indeed they were]. . . . That Weishaupt did, however, draw to a certain extent on Jesuit methods of training is recognized even by [Abbe] Barruel, himself a Jesuit [a 3rd degree Freemason and influential historian of the French Revolution], who, quoting [Masonic] Mirabeau, says that Weishaupt, 'admired above all those laws, that regime of the Jesuits, which, under one head [the Jesuit General], made men dispersed over the universe tend towards the same goal . . . ' " {6}[Emphasis added]

The Jesuit Adam Weishaupt was thoroughly familiar with the regicide doctrines of Suarez, Molina, Mariana and Escobar. He was also a brilliant instructor of Canon Law—including the evil Council of Trent—at a Jesuit College in Bavaria. We read:

"From the Jesuit College at Ingolstadt is said to have issued the sect known as 'the Illuminati of Bavaria' founded by Adam Weishaupt; its nominal founder, however, seems to have played a subordinate though conspicuous role in the organization of this sect." {7}[Emphasis added]

With Jesuit General Ricci's creation of the Bavarian Illuminati through his obedient soldier, Adam Weishaupt, it was determined that Weishaupt would be given a new name, unique to the purpose of the General's new Order, and later openly join the Munich Lodge. That name was known in ancient Roman history as "Spartacus."

"According to [anti-Jew French historian and Masonic Jesuit Abbe Augusten de] Barruel, Weishaupt then spent five years thinking out his system, which he founded under the name of Illuminati on May 1, 1776, and assumed the 'illuminated' name of 'Spartacus' [and in 1777 Weishaupt was initiated into first degree of the Lodge "Theodore de Bon Conseil," in the Jesuit haven of Munich]." {8}[Emphasis added]

But who was the historical Spartacus and what did he do, that so merited the use of his name as an alias for Weishaupt? The answer to this question reveals just who in fact were the real players behind the Illuminati. Were they Jews or Jesuits?

"SPARTACUS (died in 71 BC), [a Thracian] leader [of Roman slaves of several nationalities] in the Gladiatorial War (73-71) against Rome." {9}

Indeed, Adam Weishaupt was the visible Gentile leader of a Gladiatorial War against the Roman Papacy. But who were these gladiators, these slaves, having risen up in rebellion, and now warring against their master, the Papal Caesar of Rome?

> "I _____, now in the presence of Almighty God, . . . do . . . declare and swear that his Holiness, the Pope, is Christ's vicegerent, . . . that I will help, assist and advise all or any of his holiness' agents, in any place where I shall be, . . . and do my utmost to extirpate the heretical Protestant or liberal doctrines, and to destroy all their pretended powers, legal or otherwise [gladiators]. . . . that I will have no opinion or will of my own or any mental reservation whatsoever, even as a corpse or cadaver, . . . but will unhesitatingly obey each and every command that I may receive from my superiors in the militia of the Pope [slaves]. . . . as I at any time may be directed so to do by any agent of the Pope, or Superior of the Brotherhood of the Holy Faith of the Society of Jesus." {10} [Emphasis added]

The Jesuits, not the Masonic Jews, were and are the foremost gladiatorial slaves of the Roman Caesar, the Pope. Because of their Suppression by their master, Weishaupt led a revolt of former Jesuit slaves from 1776 to 1814—nearly forty years! Thus, the name Spartacus was a perfect description of the man who led the Jesuits' Illuminati.

(Dear truth-seeker, Masonic Jews always play "a subordinate though conspicuous role" when used by the Jesuit General. Such was the case of the birth of the Illuminati with Rothschild (1776), the financing of the French Revolution and Napoleonic Wars with Rothschild (1789-1815), the creation of modern Communism with Marx (1848), the first head of the Federal Reserve Bank with Paul M. Warburg (1913) and later, Alan Greenspan (2006), the creation of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (USSR) via the Bolshevik Revolution with Trotsky and Lenin (1917), the financing and building of the USSR with Jacob H. Schiff and Armand Hammer (1920-1980), AIG's Maurice Greenberg (2006), the Jewish Holocaust of Europe with Rudolf Kastner (1939-1945), the birth of Labor Zionist Israel with Theodor Herzl (1948), the cover-up of the Masonic Kennedy Assassination with the Warren Commission's Arlen Specter and his "single bullet theory" (1964) and the continual high treason against the people of the American Empire by Henry A.

Kissinger, now an advisor to Pope Benedict XVI and whom the Greek Cypriots, as a result of the CIA-induced invasion, murder, rape and plunder of Orthodox Cyprus by Moslem Turkey, have surnamed "Henry Killinger," (1972 to the Present (2007)).

These are high-level Masonic Jews who adhere to the evil Babylonian Talmud of Judaism—the twin sister of the evil Council of Trent of Jesuitism—and have betrayed their own Jewish Race contributing to the atrocities committed by the Jesuit Order including the Jewish Holocaust. These same Masonic (racially) Jewish Labor Zionists with their secret brethren, the Masonic (religiously) Jewish Talmudic Rabbinical leaders, will one day betray "the holy people" by making Jerusalem an international city and by entering into a treaty with the Papal Caesar,

". . . the prince that shall come . . ."

– Daniel 9:26

For if the pre-Talmudic Jewish leaders had "no king but Caesar" in Messiah's day, why should we be surprised to see these same men serving the Papal Caesar of our day? May those elect racial Jews today in Israel awake to the good news of Yeshua, the racially Jewish, Talmud-rejecting, Torah-believing Messiah before it is too late!)

On May 1, 1776, the Order of the Illuminati was officially founded at the Jesuit College of Ingolstadt in the old Jesuit stronghold of Bavaria from which the Sons of Loyola had ignited the sanguinary Thirty Years' War. The Company would now use the Jewish House of Rothschild to finance the French Revolution, which would, in turn, enfranchise the Jewish People in 1791, furthering the illusion that "the Jews" were the real culprits behind the upheaval in France. Rothschild would also finance the rise of Napoleon the Freemason with his Jesuit-trained advisor, Abbe Sieyes. In spite of the historical writings of the Jesuit Abbe Barruel, who blamed the Rothschilds and Freemasonry for the French Revolution, it was the Society of Jesus that used these very tools to carry out the Revolution and punish the Roman Catholic Monarchs who dared to expel the Sons of Loyola from their dominions and insisted upon their Suppression by a Franciscan Pope of their choosing—Clement XIV. The Jesuits, having been expelled from the Spanish Empire, found refuge in Corsica. From there they raised up their great Masonic avenger, Napoleon Bonaparte I.

In the early forties, during World War II—nearing the end of the Second Thirty Years' War—the Jesuits would again use their Rothschild Illuminati and 33rd Degree, Shriner Freemasonry to punish two nations having dared to expel the Order from their borders. In conjunction with the Rothschild Vatican bankers of England, they would use their "Federal Reserve Bank" to finance the building of a huge, British and American aerial war machine. The Lancaster Bombers, B-17s and B-29s would be used to destroy the peoples of these two nations, which countries after the war would be rebuilt according to the religious, commercial and military blueprints as implemented by the Masonic agents of their unseen master, the Black Pope.

In carrying out the plan of destroying the peoples of these two nations, the Jesuits would again use high-level, 33rd Degree and Shriner Freemasonry on both sides. Their tools on the American side were Masons General Douglas MacArthur in the firebombing of Japan and General George C. Marshall using Dwight D. Eisenhower in the annihilation of Germany. On the Japanese side was the Masonic Emperor Hirohito who (along with the 33rd Degree, Masonic-Communist, Franklin D. Roosevelt, using his Office of Naval Intelligence) aided in the Order's plot to bring Japan into a fratricidal war with America. The details of the Emperor's criminal complicity have been provided by David Bergamini in his 1971, ground-breaking, two-volume masterpiece, Japan's Imperial Conspiracy: How Emperor Hirohito Led Japan Into War Against the West. On the German side was the Masonic Hyalmar "Horace Greeley" Schacht who, as the head of the Warburg/Rothschild Reichsbank, financed the building of Hitler's massive war machine—to the exclusion of long-range bombers! American high-level Freemasons Henry Ford and Thomas J. Watson further aided Hitler, yet the Fuhrer's Jesuitically deceptive, open policy was anti-Masonic, blaming the "International and Eternal Jew" as the secret master of World Freemasonry! Ford provided the plants to mechanize the German Army and Watson provided the IBM punch-card system so necessary in implementing the Order's "Final Solution to the Jewish Question" throughout Europe and the USSR.

With the Order re-admitted into Japan in 1865 and Germany in 1917, the Jesuit General would centralize all political power in Tokyo via the Jesuit-advised court of the young Emperor Meiji, the grandfather of Emperor Hirohito. True to form, the Father General would later centralize all political power in Berlin, after the fall of the Constitutional Weimar Republic, via that Roman Catholic creation of Munich's Papal Nuncio, Eugenio Pacelli. That creation would be the Masonic Adolf Hitler.

These Armies would then be used as the initial, first strike, "Swords of the Church," one in the Far East, the other in Western Europe, North Africa, Eastern Europe and the USSR. Once the "two Axis swords" of Pope Pius XII would finish their calculated killing pursuant to the Council of Trent, the Japanese and the German peoples, now hated by all nations for the murderous sins of their governments—just like us Americans today in 2007—, would be invaded, raped, killed, plundered and occupied. This calculated punishment of the Japanese and German peoples would be due to the treachery and betrayal of their own fascist governments (controlled by Japanese and German Papal Knights subject to "the Vicar of Christ" and his Jesuit Curia), whose truthful doctrines of German and Japanese racial supremacy over other European and Oriental Gentiles (evidenced by their superior cultures in the cultivation of the arts, education and martial prowess), were perverted into a justification to murder Orthodox Slavs, Buddhist Chinese (along with White missionary Protestants in their midst), and the intellectually superior Jews—all these peoples being condemned by the wicked Council of Trent. And why was this done, dear truthseeker? Japan had expelled the Jesuits for over two hundred and fifty years and Germany had banished them for forty-five years. This is called vengeance with a fury! This is called payback without mercy, without regret and without remorse!

Indeed, these paybacks were previews of the Biblical, unquenchable, eternal Hell—an atomic mushrooming and firebombing hell—carried out by the Pope's Masonic agents of The Engineer Corps of Hell—the Black robes of Ignatius Loyola.

Jesuit Coadjutor Adam Weishaupt (1748 – 1830), 1790s #112

Founder of the Jesuit-Styled Order of the Illuminati, 1776

Born in Ingolstadt, Germany, in the heart of the Wittelsbach Dynasty's Roman Catholic Bavaria from which originated the Order's Thirty Years' War (1618-1648), Adam Weishaupt, a White German Gentile, was educated by the Jesuits: in 1775 he became Ingolstadt University's professor of Canon Law, the expelled Jesuits having held that Chair for the previous 90 years! Since Pope Clement XIV's Bull of Suppression was enforced throughout his Holy Roman Empire, the Order had been expelled from Roman Catholic Bavaria. From the once Jesuit University of Ingolstadt, Weishaupt established the Order of the Illuminati in 1776, joining Munich's Lodge Theodore of Good Council in 1777. He united the magnificent financial empire of the Cabalistic, Masonic, Jewish House of Rothschild—the "Guardians of the Vatican Treasury," with the opulence of the international, anti-Jewish Race, primarily White-Gentile, Masonic/Luciferian Society of Jesus. Having "Illuminized" continental Freemasonry (which had expelled the plotting Jesuits from Portugal, France and Spain) thus submitting "Illuminized Freemasonry" to the Black Pope via the Council of Wilhelmsbad, "Spartacus" Weishaupt led the Company's war on the Pope's Vatican Empire and Holy Roman Empire from 1789 to 1815. To deceive the historian, Weishaupt openly deplored the Jesuits though he had patterned his new Order after the Society. Coadjutor Heinrich Himmler would do the same, openly denouncing the very Jesuit Order after which his "Order of the SS" was designed. Secretly, both the Masonic Illuminati and the Masonic Thule Society were extensions of the "Church Militant," it obediently fulfilling the will of its master, the Black Pope.

"Now, Sir [Roman Catholic Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, Roger B. Taney], . . . Is Popery the best form of religion for our country? . . . You love your country, and its institutions, and its future glory too ardently to place it under the care of the Jesuit and the priest, and thus to make it a mere tributary to the rickety despotism of Rome, which is only kept in existence by [Emperor Napoleon III's] French bayonets.

But what would work evil to the mass can not be good for the individual; and the question returns, Is Popery the best form of religion for the individual?

There is but one answer to the question; it admits of but one. It is by debasing individuals it debases the masses, and lays its ax at the root of all national greatness. There is not a living person that is not the worse for being a Papist; nor can a man or woman embrace it without mental and moral injury [evidenced by the most recent sexual scandals involving over twelve hundred American priests, the scandals no longer deemed to be important stories by the Pope's CFR-controlled American Press].

Protestantism, Sir, has made our land what it is. It originally colonized these states—it laid the mental and moral training of our people at the foundation of our institutions—it put up our school-houses and colleges—it nerved the hearts of our sires to resist the encroachments of power—it fought and won the battles of our independence—it has made us an enterprising, law-abiding, and industrious people—it has founded our governments—framed our laws—given integrity to our judges—and has made this the home of the exile from all lands. It has built our cities— whitened the ocean with our canvas, and has sent our ships to every bay, yes, to every creek of the ocean. It has extended loyalty, and thrift, and enterprise, and wealth, and security, and happiness from shore to shore—from the Atlantic to the Pacific, where the west is lost in the rising east.

Nor can you or I indulge in vivid hopes for our country, save in its Christianized, that is to say, spiritually-Protestantized futurity. Let the Pope and the priest reign here as they do in Naples, Austria, and Rome, and then New York will be as Naples, and Baltimore as Rome, and our great and growing country like unto the empire of the house of Hapsburg, the Sleepy Hollow of the world; and our active, industrious, and thriving people, as lazy, as poor, as stupid, and as vicious as are our neighbors of Mexico, or as wicked and avaricious priests can make them. When the priest gains the ascendant here, the last rays of the sun of our glory are dying away on the summit of our Rocky Mountains." {10} [Emphasis added]

"The immense organization of religious [including the Jesuits] which I have described in detail in the foregoing chapters, and which numbers, at a moderate estimate, 23,000 souls, virtually controls Ireland at present. . . .

But let a young Irish priest, Father Gildea of Donegal, depict the altitude of the priest's position for us in his own words:—

'Every day, in the sacrifice of the Mass, he can say to the Son of God, 'Come down from heaven,' and immediately Christ obeys . . . comes meekly and rests on our altars, within the little chalice or the cold ciborium.

What earthly power can vie with this, or, might I add, what heavenly power either? . . . The Priest of God. He can rescue the sinner from hell, and make him worthy to be received into heaven. Go, therefore, where you will, to heaven or through this earth, you will find only one created being who can forgive the sinner, and that Being is the Catholic priest. . . . In one word, he is, as it were, the great channel through which all the helps and means of salvation are conveyed to our souls [rendering I Timothy 2:5 to be a lie].'

Still, let the Protestants of Ireland take heed that if they lower their standard they will be devoured. Protestantism in Ireland, as in all North Europe and North America, enjoys what it possesses by sheer dint of industry, ability, and good living. Those qualities are the dominant note of Protestantism everywhere. The Protestants of Ireland, too, may rest safely on that bedrock. But, when once they begin to lower their flag, desert their principles, and temporize with the priests—for it is the priests, not the people, that are their opponents—from that instant they may abandon all hope of continuing to live in Ireland. Let them educate their children to live elsewhere. The existing generation of Protestants, after the surrender [in the 21st Century, Jesuit-controlled England to surrender Northern Ireland through the Black Pope's "War on Terror"], may eke out a dishonoured existence by sufferance here; but their children will inevitably have to go [to Great Britain]. Darkness and light cannot amalgamate forever in these latitudes; the present twilight [1902] must soon come to an end; and then there will be day or night. In my opinion, the brightest light in Ireland will have left it, if and when the Protestants go. . . .

I can testify that during my three years at Middleton Endowed School—a Protestant foundation—and during the four years that I attended the lectures and passed the examinations of Trinity College, I never heard an unkind or uncharitable expression used towards me as a Roman Catholic. I received equal attention with my Protestant fellow-pupils at school; I received equal treatment at the university, and I profited exceedingly by the association.

In the first week after my entrance I was awarded the Junior University Exhibition and the Midleton School Exhibition, the money value of which was equal to the entire amount of fees payable to Trinity College up to the conferring of the degree of Bachelor of Arts. If I now happen to know anything; if I have traveled any distance, however short, on the road to Truth; I owe it, in common with the entire civilized world, mainly to association with Protestants, and to the principles of Protestantism. . . .

What I call for is the admission of the light of truth into our people's minds [the people of Roman Catholic Ireland]; what I ask is that our people may be permitted to open their ears to the voice of truth [the AV1611 Bible].

'Every one that is of the truth heareth my voice.'

When a nation hears and feels that voice in its heart of hearts, it is saved from the 'barren' oppressors [the priests and Jesuits of Rome]. England, Scotland, the United States, Germany, Holland, Scandinavia, Switzerland, and other Protestant lands, all have heard that Divine voice. Had France hearkened to it when England did so, in the sixteenth century, France would have been spared the horrors of 1789 [the Jesuit-vengeance of the French Revolution], and penal enactments against religious associations would be as needless in France [which expelled the Jesuits again in 1901 to 1942] today as they are in England [having expelled the Jesuits again in 1829 until 1902] or the United States [which shamefully never expelled the Jesuits].

How well and truly did the founders of the American Commonwealth [called by the Dutch, "The Empire of Calvin"] hear that voice!

And to that greatest of lands, that product of a pinch of Puritanic seed wafted across the Atlantic in the Mayflower, and now extending from ocean to ocean, until it embraces every clime and is hospitable to every race, how literally may the parable, enunciated long ago in his voice, be applied today!

The United States of America 'is like to a grain of mustard seed,' which God took and sowed in His field. And the seed was the God-fearing, truth-loving, falsehood-hating, spirit of the Puritan emigrants. And the field was the land of the Mississippi, the Father of Waters. The seed was indeed, 'the least of all seeds.' But, now, when it is grown, it is 'the greatest among herbs.' And it has become a tree, 'so that the birds of the air,' all the [White Protestant and Roman Catholic] peoples of the earth [as there was no Black, Hispanic or Moslem immigration at the time of this writing], 'come and lodge in the branches thereof.' "It became very different after Ignatius Loyola had founded the Jesuit Order, since the Jesuits looked upon it as their highest problem to establish, by the annihilation of Protestantism, the omnipotence of the Papacy, as it obtained in the Middle Ages at the time of Hildebrand and Innocent [III] and designated all those who offered to exercise resistance to this as heterodox persons. Who, then, was more jubilant than the Roman Curie!

O God! If the Papacy of the Middle Ages could but be restored, then must the whole western world cringe again at the feet of the Pope, and the latter would once more become the 'Representative of God,' similar to the blessed condition of an Innocent III. It was even on this ground that the successors of Peter became not only the most zealous supporters of the Jesuits, but threw themselves entirely into their arms, and did only what the pious Fathers suggested to them.

Thus Paul IV, in 1558, only two years after the death of Ignatius Loyola, issued the disreputable Bull, Cum ex apostolatus officio, drawn up by the Jesuit General Laynez, in which he defines the following propositions:—

'1. The Pope, who, as Pontifex Maximus (Supreme Priest ["supreme builder of bridges"]), is the representative of God on earth, has, in the plentitude of his power, entire dominion over peoples and kingdoms; he directs all, but cannot himself be directed by anyone in this world.
2. All princes and monarchs as well as all bishops, as soon as they have degenerated into heresy or schism from the Church, are irrevocably deposed, deprived of all sovereign rights for ever, and have incurred the penalty of death without any judicial formality being required [as did Knight of Columbus JFK]. In cases of penitential conversion, they shall be immured in a cloister in order that they may make atonement for life on bread and water.
3. No one must render any assistance whatever, not even such as humanity dictates, to a heretical prince or one found to be schismatical; the monarch who attempts this is forthwith deprived of his country, which shall then fall to the lot of princes obedient to the Pope who can take possession of the same [as did Masonic LBJ].' . . .

Thus in short, did the Jesuits labour indefatigably to make the Pope again the universal monarch of the world, exactly as had been the case during the Middle Ages, . . ." {12} [Emphasis added]

The Jesuits

As a result of Pope Clement XIV's Bull of Suppression, the Jesuits sought refuge in non-Roman Catholic countries. One of the countries in which they secretly received protection was Protestant England. Although the Jesuits had been expelled in 1604 by King James I, and Parliament (thanks to the Glorious Revolution in 1688) had passed a law forbidding any Roman Catholic to sit on England's throne, the Jesuits persisted in their plot to conquer that nation. Knowing if they could control the English King, even though he was a Protestant and the protector of the Anglican Church, they could control the vast British Empire. Then, that Empire, with the world's greatest navy, could be used to suppress Protestant liberty, both political and religious. Such was the case during America's War for Independence.

According to Bancroft's History of the United States, America's thirteen colonies had been settled by White European Protestants—including Maryland. At the time of the Revolution, of the three million inhabitants, ninety-seven percent were Protestants and Baptists, the rest being Roman Catholics and Jews. And what drove these displaced European Protestants to a wild and unsettled land? It was the relentless and ferocious persecutions and wars having drenched Europe in Protestant and Baptist blood for over two hundred years. And as we have seen in our previous chapters these all were incited by the Jesuit Order! George Bancroft, one of America's foremost historians, writes:

> "For more than two centuries the humbler Protestant sects had sent up the cry to heaven for freedom to worship God. To the panting for this freedom half the American states owed their existence. . . . The immense majority of the inhabitants of the thirteen colonies were Protestant dissenters . . . The establishment of liberty of conscience, which brought with it liberty of speech and of the press, was, in the several states, the fruit not of philosophy, but of the love of Protestantism for the open (Bible) . . ." {13} [Emphasis added]

(Dear truth-seeker, the Jesuits knew this. Do you think for one minute they would allow the establishment of a Protestant nation, founded upon The Authorized King James Version of 1611, and the creation of a new form of Protestant constitutional government limiting the powers of the Legislative, Executive and Judicial branches through an express grant of powers ratified by thirteen sovereign States? Do you think for one minute the Jesuits would permit delegated powers of the federal government to be limited by a Calvinist document called "The Bill of Rights" written by the Baptist James Madison and influenced by the Baptist George Mason at the insistence of Virginia's greatest Baptist preacher, John Leland? In light of the Council of Trent and the Jesuit Oath the answer is absolutely not! Remember, the Jesuits hated the Dutch Republic of William I of Orange and the English Commonwealth of Oliver Cromwell. They would also come to hate the Federal Republic of these United States of the Baptist-Calvinist George Washington.)

Now, the Jesuit Order had a war on two fronts. In the Providence of the risen Son of God, the American Revolution erupted in 1775—the same year Jesuit General Ricci supposedly died in the state prison of Castel St. Angelo, Italy. (Like Hitler, his death could have been faked while he made his escape to another continent, possibly North America. Interestingly, there was no formal successor to General Ricci for seven critical years until General Czerniewicz appeared in Russia.)

Therefore, the Order had to punish Europe's Roman Catholic Monarchs and the Pope for its suppression as well as imprison Pius VII as payback for the imprisonment and death of its General. It also had to prevent the establishment of another Protestant "heretic and liberal" nation with a Constitutional, non-absolute, form of government.

To effect these ends the Jesuits sought control of the English throne. From there they could incite a revolution, justify a British Armada invasion, and crush the preaching of the true gospel. From there the Jesuits could use England as a controlled enemy of Napoleon while he executed vengeance for the Order. Therefore, the General of the Jesuits sought protection for his army of Jesuits from King George III. We read:

> "Clutching at straws [Jesuit General Lorenzo] Ricci had been heartened when King George III's brother, the Duke of Gloucester, lunched with him and hinted at English support [along with the protection given by the Masonic Prussian Kaiser, Frederick II "the Great"]." {14}

The Order received more than support. It was given all it needed, to survive and prosper, from George III. This wicked king also reestablished the English branch of the Knights of Malta in 1782, it having been banished from the Empire for over two hundred years. In 1795, Stonyhurst, one of England's most beautiful landed estates, was donated to the Company by Jesuit-trained Lord Thomas Weld. In exchange for the King's protection, the Jesuits have continuously protected the British Crown, the Old City of London having become the center of the world's commerce.

Once in the Court of King George III the strategy of the Black Pope became the foreign policy of England. He would use certain American Grand Orient, Illuminized Freemasons, like Benjamin Franklin (who negotiated with Jesuits Mattingly and Sewall while in Paris) and Thomas Jefferson, to ignite a revolution and thereby justify the use of England's military to plunder the Colonies, fiercely persecuting its Protestants by burning many of them alive while assembled in their churches. But these Protestants were Calvinists with a history of Biblical resistance to Jesuit, anti-Christian tyranny. We read of these men who did not hesitate to pit their convictions against the power of the state, the princes and dictatorships:

> "It was Calvinism which formed the hosts who resisted and overcame the worldly dictatorships of France, the Netherlands, and Great Britain. It was Calvinism which broke the chains in which the spiritual dictatorship of Rome and the Jesuits sought to enslave western Europe. To be an 'elect of the Lord' was not a mere theological phrase with which the Inquisition had to reckon, but a political fact, a thousand times tested on the battlegrounds of freedom." {15}[Emphasis added]

What was that something in their creed that made them what they were—the only fighting Protestants? The answer is found in our second question: Why were these men able to resist the Jesuits? Indeed, it was their creed, what they believed about God, man, themselves and the Pope, that enabled them to repel the armies of Rome. We read in their Westminster Confession of Faith of 1658 concerning what the Calvinists believed about God:

> "There is but one only, living and true God, who is infinite in being and perfection, a most pure spirit, invisible, without body, parts, or passions, immutable, immense, eternal, incomprehensible, almighty, most wise, most holy, most free, most absolute, working all things according to the counsel of his own immutable and most righteous will, for his own glory; most loving, gracious, merciful, long-suffering abundant in goodness and truth, forgiving iniquity, transgression, and sin; the rewarder of them that diligently seek him; and withal most just and terrible in his judgments; hating all sin, and will by no means clear the guilty.
> II. God hath all life, glory, goodness, blessedness, in and of himself; and is alone in and unto himself all-sufficient, not standing in need of any creatures which he hath made, not deriving any glory from them, but only manifesting his own glory, in, by, unto, and upon them: he is alone the foundation of all being, of whom, through whom, and to whom, are all things; and hath most sovereign dominion over them, to do by them, for them, or upon them, whatsoever himself pleaseth. In his sight all things are open and manifest; his knowledge is infinite, infallible, and independent upon the creature, so as nothing is to him contingent or uncertain. He is most holy in all his counsels, in all his works, and in all his commands. To him is due from angels and men, and every other creature, whatsoever worship, service, or obedience, he is pleased to require of them." {16}[Emphasis added]

Of man, the Calvinists believed:

> "By the decree of God, for the manifestation of his glory, some men and angels are predestinated unto everlasting life, and others foreordained to everlasting death. These angels and [some] men, thus predestinated and foreordained, are particularly and unchangeably designed; and their number is so certain and definite, that it cannot be either increased or diminished [thus rejecting the Jesuit/Arminian doctrine of man's "free will"]." {17}

Of themselves, the Calvinists believed:

> "As God hath appointed the elect unto glory, so hath he, by the eternal and most free purpose of his will, foreordained all the means thereunto. Wherefore they who are elected being fallen in Adam, are redeemed in Christ; are effectually called unto faith in Christ by his Spirit working in due season; are justified, adopted, sanctified, and kept by His power through faith unto salvation. Neither are any other redeemed by Christ, effectually called, justified, adopted, sanctified, and saved, but the elect only. . . . The doctrine of > this high mystery of predestination is to be handled with special prudence and care, that men attending the will of God revealed in his Word, and yielding obedience thereunto, may, from the certainty of their effectual vocation [good works], be assured of their eternal election. So shall this doctrine afford matter of praise, reverence, and admiration of God, and of humility, diligence, and abundant consolation to all that sincerely obey the Gospel." {18} [Emphasis added]

Lastly, of the Pope, the Calvinists believed:

> "There is no other head of the church but the Lord Jesus Christ; nor can the Pope of Rome in any sense be head thereof; but is that antichrist, that man of sin, and son of perdition, that exalteth himself in the church against Christ, and all that is called God." {19} [Emphasis added]

Ah, dear truth-seeker (though every Pope is an antichrist, the final Pope being The Antichrist), truer words have never been written by sin-cursed men. Yes, it was these fighting Calvinists, knowing the risen Son of God and rightly thinking of Him coupled with their pure, stable and obedient lives, who completely changed the face of medieval Europe. They in the minority, the Pope with his Jesuits and papists in the majority, the risen Son of God mightily moved in answering their prayers, giving the world "the Modern Era" and the greatest refuge for the LORD's persecuted Protestants, Baptists and Jews—The Federal (Calvinist) Republic of these United (Protestant) States of America! They knew they were the elect and therefore believed whatever befell them was predestinated! For it was these White Celtic-Anglo-Saxon Calvinists who invented new technologies as did the learned Presbyterian Edwin H. Armstrong, the father of FM radio and more importantly his Presbyterian predecessor, James Clerk Maxwell, the father of electro-magnetic theory and engineering. They created prosperous civilizations out of barren wildernesses—like South Africa—and brought wealth and industry to the great cities of Europe—like London, Paris, Berlin and Amsterdam. And it was the prayers, pens and swords of our American Calvinists that thwarted the design of Jesuit General Lorenzo Ricci whose evil agents attempted to make our Confederate Republic of these United States of America into a centralized, Jesuit Empire of the West, with its "Rome on the Potomac," subject to a British Monarch controlled by the Black Pope.

But above all, the Calvinists regarded resistance to unlawful government—the Anti-Christian tyranny of the Jesuit General's absolute monarchies—a sacred duty. We read the words of John Knox, the great Scottish Reformer nicknamed "Calvin with a Sword of Just Defense," spoken to Mary, Queen of Scots:

> ". . . we are constrained by unjust tyranny purposed against us, to declare unto Your Grace, that except this cruelty be stayed by your wisdom, we will be compelled to take the sword of just defense against all that shall pursue us for the matter of religion, and for our conscience sake, which ought not, nor may not be subject to mortal creatures, farther than by God's Word man be able to prove that he hath power to command us. . . . Better we think, to expose our bodies to a thousand deaths, than to hazard our souls to perpetual condemnation, by denying Christ Jesus, and His manifest truth." {20} [Emphasis added]

This classic Calvinist conviction was expressed by a Scotch Covenanter, Isabel Alison, in 1681 before her heartless execution by the government agents of the pro-Roman Catholic King Charles II. (In being fair, we must remember that during his reign the king, later given "the poison cup" on his deathbed in 1685, sanctioned Parliament's decree to banish all Catholic priests in 1662, consented to the Protestant anti-Popish "Test Act," signed a proclamation in 1674 confirming all the pains and penalties issued against Catholics by former sovereigns, and consented to the execution of no less that fourteen Jesuits, including the Provincial Fr. Thomas Whitbread, convicted of conspiring to his assassination. The plot, having been secretly financed by Pere La Chaise, the Jesuit confessor to France's King Louis XIV, was revealed in 1678 by Dr. Tongue, Titus Oates and Bedlo.) We read:

"They said, Thought I ever that Charles II was our lawful king? I said, Yes; for he entered into covenant with God and the land; but he hath broken and cast off that tie, and hath exercised so much, both tyranny and cruelty, that I had just ground to decline him and them both. Then they bade my blood be upon my own head; but I told them they would find it would be on their heads, for it was owning of Christ's kingly office that they put me to suffer, say the contrary who will. Now I bless the Lord I am free from Jesuitical principles. The Scripture is my rule, and when obedience to men is contrary to obedience to God, I am clear to disown them." {21} [Emphasis added]

When this Calvinist conviction was brought to the battlefield in prayer we see the American War for Independence from unbridled English tyranny in all its glory and success. J. T. Headley, the author's favorite American historian, writes:

". . . the patriotic clergy of the revolution never practiced self-deception; they did not wish for one thing in their hearts and pray for another with their lips. When they wanted the destruction of their foes, they did not pray about something else, and wait to see if their desires might not be accomplished through the agency of wicked men, or chance, or the devil.

They came boldly to the Holy of Holies, and asked for it. Their enemies were the enemies of God; their foes those of the Church, who were coming to lay waste and destroy God's heritage, and they wished their overthrow, and > honestly, and with strong crying and tears, prayed for it. Like Cromwell's Ironsides, who first invoked God's right arm to strike with them, and then, with the fearful war-cry 'Religion' on their lips swept like a thundercloud to battle; like the Covenanters, who prayed that their swords might be like that of Gideon, that turned not back from the slaughter, and then fell in fury on their pursuers; like David, praying for the overthrow of his enemies, and Moses, and Joshua, and the prophets, whose earnest supplications swelled the heaps of the slain; so these puritan divines, without rancor or vindictive hate, prayed in this fashion, and with an honest, earnest purpose, 'Thy kingdom come.' " {22} [Emphasis added]

Such was the rag-tag American army led by their great chieftain and Protestant Southerner, General George Washington. Surrounded by Calvinist preachers like Timothy Dwight—the grandson of Jonathan Edwards, the Calvinist man of God who preached America's First Great Awakening—Washington always received words of encouragement and exhortations to prayer. At Valley Forge we see the Father of our country at his greatest—on his knees. We read:

> "One day a Quaker, by the name of Potts, was strolling up a creek, when he heard, in a secluded spot, the solemn voice of someone apparently engaged in prayer. Stealing quietly forward, he saw Washington's horse tied to a sapling, and a little farther on, in a thicket, the chief himself, on his knees, and with tears streaming down his cheeks, beseeching Heaven for his country and his army. Before God alone, that strong heart gave way, and poured forth the full tide of its griefs and anxieties. Though the heavens grew dark around him, and disaster after disaster wrecked his brightest hopes, and despair settled down on officers and men, he showed the same unalterable presence—moved the same tower of strength. But to his God he could safely go with his troubles, and on that arm securely lean. How sublime does he appear, and how good and holy the cause he was engaged in seems, as he thus carries it to the throne of a just God, feeling that it has his sanction and can claim his protection. . . . No wonder peace sat enthroned on that brow when despair clouded all others." {23}

In time the prayers of Washington were answered. Haym Solomon, a wealthy Jewish banker and Philadelphia broker, loaned his entire fortune, a quarter of a million dollars in specie, for the Army at Valley Forge. The Protestant Netherlands, along with Catholic France and Spain, having expelled the Jesuits from their lands including all of South America, declared war on Protestant England, that Jesuit nest! Louis XVI dispatched the French navy to aid the beloved boy-General, the Marquis de Lafayette. As a result, the English army, controlled by the Jesuits through King George III, was defeated at Yorktown, a village of Protestant Virginia. Obviously, the risen Son of God worked mightily in answer to many prayers!

Enraged, the Jesuits would cause the United Netherlands, France and Spain to pay dearly for this! Napoleon would destroy the Dutch Republic in 1795, driving King William I of Orange (1772-1843) into exile in London. In addition to France's expulsion of the Order in 1764 and now her aid to the accursed American "heretics and liberals," the rage of the Jesuits would unleash the French Revolution. They would use Robespierre, brainwashed by Jesuits for nine years in their College of Louis-le-grand, to lead the Jacobins. The Jacobins would behead Louis XVI, who dared to resist the Order, and murder his Hapsburg Queen Marie Antoinette, whose mother, Archduchess Maria Theresa, had expelled the Jesuits from Austria. They would cruelly torture and murder Louis' young son, the Dauphin, and destroy the flower of French manhood with the endless wars of Napoleon I. The Jesuits would break up the French Empire and use King George III to restore the Bourbon Dynasty (after the Congress of Vienna) with their tyrannical Freemason, Louis XVIII, who promptly re-admitted the Jesuits. Spain suffered a similar punishment. The Jesuits used Napoleon to drive Spain's Bourbon king, Charles IV, into exile and to begin to break up the Spanish Empire, race amalgamation being one of their tactics. Again, they used George III to restore the Bourbon Dynasty (after the Congress of Vienna) with their beast, King Ferdinand VII of Spain (1808, 1814-1833), who then promptly re-admitted the Jesuits and revived the Inquisition with all its fury.

Meanwhile in America, George Washington became the most respected man of the age who, according to our famous American historian, John Clark Ridpath, as found in Ridpath's Universal History, Volume XIV, page 617, funded the Revolution with $74,485 from his own purse. Although having been initiated into low-level, English Freemasonry as a young man in 1752, he was largely inactive. Aware of the history and presence of the Jesuits at Georgetown University, we read his words, warning the whole country to beware of secret societies, in a letter written to Pastor G. W. Snyder one year before his death, on September 25, 1798:

> "I have little more to add than thanks for your wishes, and favorable sentiments, except to correct an error you have run into of my presiding over English lodges in this country. The fact is I preside over none, nor have I been in one more than once or twice within the last thirty years. I believe, notwithstanding, that none of the lodges in this country [unlike the British, French and German lodges] are contaminated with the principles ascribed to the [Jesuits'] society of the Illuminati." {24} [Emphasis added]

Having been baptized into a Baptist Church by one of his officers, Pastor John Gano, he became our first and greatest President. Our French hero, Marquis de Lafayette, sent him the key to the Bastille after it was stormed and demolished, while Frederick the Great sent him his sword with these words engraved upon it:

"From the Oldest General in Europe,

To the Greatest General in the World." {25}

Indeed, George Washington, in obtaining one of the Bible's promises—Godbreathed by the Holy Spirit—and recorded in I Peter 5:6, had humbled himself under the mighty hand of God for which he was exalted in due time. Like Cromwell, it was Washington who, with tender heart, wept on his aged mother's neck after he heard her last words:

> "You will see me no more . . . But you George, fulfill the high destinies which Heaven has assigned you. Go my son, and may Heaven and your mother's blessing be with you always." {26}

Having released all of his Black slaves upon his death (including his beloved house servant, "Billy Lee"), it was Washington who brought each colony into Statehood. For in the Treaty of Paris in 1783 the colonies were declared to be "free independent and sovereign." It was Washington who, having declined all compensation for his services, brought the nation out of bankruptcy by abolishing paper currency and called for the 1792 Coinage Act establishing gold and silver coins for the nation's money. He erected protective tariffs enabling the nation's manufacturers to grow—and prosper—unlike the Jesuits' oppressive North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) and General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) treaties of the 1990s. He left office after a glorious two terms as President and a brilliant Farewell Address with decency and honor.

Lastly, it was George Washington who was so beloved by France's General Lafayette. During the revolution our great chieftain took the "boy General" under his wing for which cause the Frenchman named his eldest son George Washington Lafayette. With this same endearing love the Roman Catholic Lafayette warned:

> "It is my opinion that if the liberties of this country—the United States of America—are destroyed, it will be by the subtlety of the Roman Catholic Jesuit priests, for they are the most crafty, dangerous enemies to civil and religious liberty. They have instigated most of the wars of Europe [including the coming French Revolution]." {27} [Emphasis added]

This in turn was paramount on the mind of President Washington, who had visited the suppressed Jesuits at Georgetown University's Old North in 1796, the same year he gave his Farewell Address, in which he warned:

> "Against the insidious wiles of foreign influence (I conjure you to believe me, fellow citizens) the jealousy of a free people ought to be constantly awake, since history and experience prove that foreign influence is one of the most baneful woes of republican government."{28}

Dear truth-seeker, are we to believe that the great Father of our country, the White Anglo-Saxon Baptist and Southern Virginian having founded a nation of Protestant freemen, escaped the vengeance of the suppressed Jesuit Order? We must remember that the Society of Jesus HATED George Washington and for good reason. The Revolution that Jesuit General Lorenzo Ricci had helped to foment, using continental, Bible-hating, pagan Freemasons like Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Jefferson and John Adams, was intended to be a War of Annihilation—a war that would have to wait for the passing of two generations in order to be successfully waged against the White Protestant South from 1861 to 1865. Employing the British Army, seventeen thousand Hessian mercenaries and the bloodletting Six Indian Nations, the war was to be a successful repeat of the Order's French Indian War having been lost to England's King George II (fully aware of the Order's Secret Instructions) in 1763. Once successful, with the aid of certain traitors within the Continental Congress who sought to overthrow General Washington as the Commander of the Continental Army while deliberately cutting off payments to our patriotic soldiers thereby attempting to effect a mutiny, the Baptist and Protestant Colonies would be subordinated to the Anglican Church, it being under the control of the Jesuits via its protector, King George III. With the intended subjugation of the Colonies, then to be managed exactly like the Society's communist Reductions in South America, the Jesuit General would be able to realize the goal of his Order in making the White Pope the Universal Monarch of the World. He would use his British Empire, with the world's mightiest Navy, supported by the "reduced and centralized" American Colonies governed by their federal city of Washington, D.C.—surnamed "Rome on the Potomac" and nearly designed by the Order's continental French Freemason, Pierre-Charles L'Enfant, (who was dismissed by Washington and replaced by Dr. William Thornton)—to subjugate all the governments of the world to theTemporal Power of the Pope. This Anglo-American, Jesuit-controlled, Japhetic "Protestant Kingdom" in alliance with the Order's European, Japhetic, "Catholic Holy Alliance" established in 1815 (after the Company had used Napoleon to punish the Pope and Roman Catholic Monarchs of Europe for suppressing the Society from 1773 to 1814), was intended to be the death knell to the risen Son of God's grand and glorious Protestant Reformation. Imagine, "Protestant" King George III acting in concert with "Roman Catholic" Prince von Metternich subject to Jesuit General Johannes Roothaan—the rebuilder of the Jesuits! But our hero, George Washington, brought the Revolution to a successful termination striking a major blow for Protestant liberty, thus outraging the Devil's Jesuits.

Further, George Washington thwarted the Order's plan by preventing Congress from adopting an absolutist and centralized Constitution. He brought calm and stability to the discussions of the Convention, and within ninety days our organic document was complete, having been modeled after the Protestant Pelatiah Webster's Treatise on Government written in 1775. Additionally, the Baptist-Calvinist James Madison, compelled by the demand of Virginia's leading Baptist-Calvinist preacher, John Leland, added to the Constitution the Baptist Bill of Rights (modeled after the Baptist Calvinist George Mason's Declaration of Rights adopted by Virginia, the "Empire State of the South"). This further infuriated the Jesuit General and his fanatical Order of brainwashed cutthroats!

Our gallant Washington (who, when he was fourteen years of age, wrote his 110 Rules of Civility and Decent Behavior) went on to further stifle the Order's quest in establishing absolutism in America. He, unlike Napoleon, stoutly refused the title of "King," as a monarchy could be more easily corrupted than a republic.

He was unanimously chosen to be the first President of these federated United States of America, and he erected a protective tariff stimulating the growth of our domestic manufacturers. Having inspired the 1792 Coinage Act, the Federal Government properly began minting gold and silver coins as lawful money. He abolished worthless paper currency called "continentals," saving the nation from bankruptcy. After eight years in guiding the nation as its first and greatest President, he dealt the Order his final blow with his immemorial Farewell Address given in 1796—America's greatest state paper! In it he warned of the "insidious wiles of foreign influence" knowing full well the power of the Jesuit Order having been exercised over the nations of Europe for over two hundred years prior to this, his last address. (It is staggering to note, when the Jesuits fomented our terrible War Between the States waged from 1861 to 1865, they merely instituted the federal policies to be avoided as described in the Farewell Address, one of them being the geographical division of our country into "the North" and "the South.")

It is for these reasons that our inspirational President George Washington became the greatest enemy of the Jesuit Order throughout the Eighteenth Century.

If the Society had murdered the Kings of France and England in the past, why would it not murder the greatest "accursed heretic" of the age, pursuant to the Council of Trent? Indeed it did! With those masters of murder slipping him the poison cup on December 12, 1799, Washington was stricken at sixty-seven years of age in the full vigor of life. America's greatest historian, J. T. Headley, in his The Life of Washington, on pages 465 to 467, describes the sufferings of our hero whose life ended on December 14th, a mere two days after he became ill. Dr. Craik, Dr. Brown and Dr. Dick, after bleeding him, were "powerless against the disease," making "the last struggles doubly violent," which brought him to "the point of suffocation. . . . death seemed doubly terrible, when with one quick blow it could carry so much to the grave." This, dear truth-seeker, is the poison cup!

The difference between the Protestant American Revolution and the atheistic, French Revolution was the difference between Washington the Baptist, advised by Presbyterian Calvinists, and Napoleon the Roman Catholic, advised by the Jesuit, Abbe Sieyes. In Washington's darkest hour, he is weeping on his knees in prayer at Valley Forge. In Napoleon's darkest hour, he is abandoning his army in the snows of Russia, leaving his loyal men to the mercy of the Cossacks. Washington refuses the title of "King" while Napoleon accepts the crown from the Pope as "Emperor."

Further, the people of the colonies were Bible-reading Protestant and Baptist Calvinists; the people of France were disillusioned, atheistic Catholics, the Jesuits having outlawed the Bible and Protestantism for over one hundred years since Jesuit La Chaise's Revocation of the Edict of Nantes in 1685. The outcome of the American Revolution was a Constitutional Republic of federated sovereign States.

The outcome of the French Revolution was a Jesuit-controlled military dictator resulting in the restoration of a Jesuit-controlled Monarch, Louis XVIII. The Jesuits had their way in France; but, with their centralizing "Federalists" in America, failed to establish absolutism, the Calvinistic, States' Rights Anti-Federalists emphatically warning that Washington, D.C., would become the Pope's domain. Therefore that victory of the Black Pope over Protestant America would have to wait until 1868.

But the Jesuits, with King George III who later became deaf and blind for persecuting the Bible-believing Church of the risen Son of God, were still alive and plotting. While Napoleon was busy deliberately sacrificing his army in the snows of Russia, George III invaded America again with the War of 1812. The apostate English Protestants set fire to our White House on August 24, 1814, and threatened to reduce us to serving the British Crown once again. But the risen Son of God sent us a second deliverer who was the savior of our Protestant Republic Washington had established. This man, the hero of New Orleans, was none other than "Old Hickory" —another Protestant Southerner—President Andrew Jackson. (As an aside, those great Jesuit agitators hated President Jackson, a Bible-believing Protestant although a low-level Freemason. By saving this "heretic" nation in restoring economic stability through abolishing "the United States Bank," returning to hard money (gold and silver coins) and erecting a protective tariff thereby helping our domestic manufacturers, the Jesuits attempted to shoot him twice at point-blank range with one of their dupes. In the providence of the risen Son of God both pistols misfired and our hero-President lived on to be the great inspiration of Pennsylvania's only President, the democratic States-rights champion, James Buchanan.)

Years later the Jesuits in creating the American Indian Agitation of the 1960s re-attacked their old enemy by blaming him for the movement of the Cherokee Nation from Georgia to west of the Mississippi River. In setting the record straight we appeal to the great Missouri Senator, Mason Thomas Benton, and his Thirty Years' View. In Chapter CXXXVI titled "Removal of the Cherokees from Georgia" we read:

> "In the winter of 1835-'36 a treaty was negotiated, by which the Cherokees, making clean disposal of all their possessions east of the Mississippi, ceded the whole, and agreed to go West, to join the half tribe beyond that river. The consideration paid them was ample and besides that moneyed consideration, they had large inducements, founded in views of their own welfare, to make the removal. These inducements were set out by themselves in the preamble to the treaty, and were declared to be:

'A desire to get rid of the difficulties experienced by a residence within the settled parts of the United States; and to reunite their people, by joining those who had crossed the Mississippi; and to live in a country beyond the limits of State sovereignties, and where they could establish and enjoy a government of their choice, and perpetuate a state of society, which might be most consonant with their views, habits, and condition, and which might tend to their individual comfort, and their advancement in civilization [which is exactly what we White Celtic-Anglo-Saxon, Bible-believing Protestants and Baptists ought to do right here in North America, leaving Washington as it is, squarely in the hands of the Pope and his Jesuits].'

These were sensible reasons for desiring a removal, and, added to the moneyed consideration, made it immensely desirable to the Indians. The direct consideration was five millions of dollars [!!!*] which, added to stipulations to pay for the improvements on the ceded lands—to defray the expenses of removal to their new homes beyond the Mississippi—to subsist them for one year after their arrival—to commute school funds and annuities—to allow pre-exemptions and pay for reserves—with some liberal grants of money from Congress, for the sake of quieting complaints —and some large departmental allowances, amounted in the whole, to more than twelve millions of dollars! Being almost as much for their single extinction of Indian title in the corner of two States, as the whole province of Louisiana cost! And this in addition to seven millions of acres granted for their new home, and making a larger and a better home than the one they had left. Considered as a moneyed transaction, the advantage was altogether, and out of all proportion, on the side of the Indian; but relief to the States, and quiet to the Indians, and the completion of a wise and humane policy, were overruling considerations, which sanctioned the enormity of the amount paid." {29} [Emphasis added] Indeed,

"Righteousness exalteth a nation:"

So our great and learned White Anglo-Saxon, Scotch-Irish Protestant and Baptist Congress justly and generously treated the Cherokee people. (Is this not the manner in which Israel and her Islamic neighbors should cooperate to remove and repatriate the displaced Arab Palestinians from her borders? Ah, but the Black Pope would never allow it! There must be ceaseless agitation and murder justifying more Jesuit mediation intending to secure Jerusalem's Temple Mount for "the antichrist.") And it was for this reason, in appreciation for their righteous treatment by the people of Protestant and Baptist Georgia, that the Cherokee Nation sided with the Southern Confederacy during the War Between the States and was the last to surrender to the Northern invaders controlled by the Order's Radical Red Republicans in Washington.

A few years later, the Jesuits would make the Cherokee pay dearly for this, along with the rest of the Indian Nations in the process of the Jesuit General creating his Twentieth Century Monster of Vengeance—the "Holy Roman" Fourteenth Amendment American Empire. Dee Brown in her masterpiece, Bury My Heart at Wounded Knee, gives a most detailed and tragic account of the systematic destruction of the American Indian during the second half of the Nineteenth Century. For the Society of Jesus, in control of Washington, D.C., via the Republican Party, used its savage Grande Armee of the North, led by its Roman Catholic Federal General Philip Sheridan to cruelly humiliate and destroy the Native American Indian Nations through the Indian Wars of the Great Plains. Tragically for the natives, they were betrayed by Sheridan's evil White master they had come to trust, the Jesuit Pierre De Smet! (Dear American truth-seeker, did you learn this in high school or college? If you remember, we were all singing along with Paul Revere and the Raiders' "Cherokee Nation." This Jesuit agitation, along with the Civil Rights agitation, the abortion agitation and the Vietnam War nearly destroyed our patriotism while making us ashamed that we were members of the great White American Gentile Race!)

Under the blessing of the risen, reigning, righteous and returning Son of God, George Washington and his Calvinist army won a war and created a country with a Protestant Constitution. Andrew Jackson saved it from the British sword wielded by King George III and his Jesuits, including his Jesuit Prime Minister, Robert Petty, titled Lord Shelburne of Berkeley Square. This glorious page of history would never have been written without the suppression of the Jesuit Order from 1773 to 1814. May we pause for a moment of silence to thank our Heavenly Father for using Roman Catholic sovereigns and Pope Clement XIV himself who courageously suppressed and abolished so odious and perfidious an Order. As we shall see, the history of the Jesuits will continue to be one of murder, intrigue and enslavement towards all who resist their designs, including President John F. Kennedy who was wounded in the house of his friends, two of them being Henry R. Luce, whom he called "Lucy," and J. Peter Grace, Jr., a former suitor of his sister, Kathleen.

God help us to open our eyes!

George Washington (1732 – 1799), 1790s #113

First and Greatest President of our Federal Republic of these United (Protestant and Baptist) States of America, 1789 – 1797

After two hundred years of Jesuit dungeons, persecutions and wars of extermination in Europe, the risen Son of God raised up our virtuous and honorable deliverer. He established a Nation of White Protestant and Baptist freemen whose ancient Common Law rights were secured by the Bill of Rights.

But our new nation was maliciously called "THE INVADED TERRITORY of NORTHERN PARAGUAY" by Orestes A. Brownson, a journalist and secret lay-Jesuit "of the short robe" who published his popish Brownson's Quarterly Review during the latter half of the Nineteenth Century. The illustrious Father of our country saved the Revolutionary Army from dissolution many times; his leadership alone is responsible for the success of the Revolution; he served two terms as President having established a Constitutional Confederate Republic of Sovereign States in which we displaced and exiled White Celtic-Anglo-Saxon Calvinistic Protestants and Baptists could worship the one true God according to the dictates of our consciences in obedience to His Holy Word, translated into English by Puritan Calvinists of the Protestant Reformation, The Authorized King James Version of the Bible of 1611. For thwarting the Order's evil plan for North America, Washington was given "the poison cup" and within two days lay dead at his home in Mount Vernon, another noble victim of the Black Pope.

The Life of George Washington, J. T. Headley, (New York: Charles Scribner, 1856).

Baptism of General Washington by Baptist Pastor Gano, 1783 #114

When a Protestant Episcopalian submits to believer's baptism by immersion at the hands of a noted Baptist pastor, he then becomes, ipso facto, a Baptist regardless of any past association with State-Church Protestantism. Such was the case with our illustrious southern gentleman, General George Washington.

Pastor of New York City's First Baptist Church since 1762, John Gano was not only a fearless soldier and chaplain in battle, he was Washington's favorite from whom the Father of pre-Fourteenth Amendment America learned his respect for the Baptist maxims of individual soul liberty and the absolute separation of any organized state from any organized church—regardless of the denomination!

Because these Baptists were fighting Calvinists along with their Presbyterian brethren, they first remonstrated against England's Church-State tyranny, then withdrew their political allegiance and, when attacked, declared war against that Jesuit-induced absolutism of King George III! Washington called upon John Gano to lead in prayer at the end of the revolution in 1783. Afterwards, he presented his battle "Sword of Just Defense" (encased above)—a gift from anti-Jesuit Lafayette—to Pastor Gano following his baptism in the Hudson River.

The Jesuits — 1789 – 1815

The Evil Empire Strikes Back:
The French Revolution
The Napoleonic Wars
Assassination of Freemason Napoleon Bonaparte I

"But if our hopes in this should be blasted, and since offences of necessity will come, our political schemes must be cunningly varied, according to the different posture of the times; and princes, our intimates, whom we can influence to follow our counsels, must be pushed on to embroil themselves in vigorous wars one with another, to the end, our Society (as promoters of the universal good of the world), may on all hands be solicited to contribute its assistance, and always employed in being mediators of public dissensions: . . ." {1}

Ignatius Loyola, 1540
Founder, 1st Jesuit General, 1540-1556
Secret Instructions of the Jesuits

"They (the Jesuits) have so constantly mixed themselves up in court and state intrigues that they must, in justice, be reproached with striving after universal dominion. They cost kings their lives, not on the scaffold, but by assassination, and equally hurtful as the society of Illuminati; they were the foremost among the crowd, at all events, who applauded the murder scenes in Paris. They robbed the states of their most capable youths, whom they enticed into their institutions, and procured for themselves, by their monopoly in the direction of study, . . . an excessive and immoderate influence over all opinions. They held in their hands all the springs for working upon mankind; money, protection, confessionals and other means were plentifully at their command. They might thus work for good if they wished to do so, but they labored at the beck and call of their superiors alone, for their own peculiar advantage and aggrandizement, without any regard whatever for the well-being of mankind; and it is impossible, therefore, to indulge in a conviction that the re-establishment of the Society of Jesus can be productive of any benefit whatever." {2}[Emphasis added]

Archduke Maximilian Francis, 1815
Youngest son of Maria Theresa,
Archduchess of Austria

"The Jesuits and their friends ascribe the French Revolution to their suppression [which fact is in total agreement with Jesuit history; whenever a nation expels the Order from its dominions, a war is soon to follow as in the case of Iraq, which Moslem nation expelled the Society in 1969]." {3}

Andrew Steinmetz, 1848
English Ex-Jesuit
History of the Jesuits

"It seemed as though a righteous Providence was smiting the nation [France] for the crimes it tolerated in its rulers [Louis XIV and his consent to the Jesuit Order's Revocation of the Edict of Nantes]." {4}

J. Wayne Laurens, 1855
American Historian and Patriot
The Crisis: Or, the Enemies of America Unmasked

"Weishaupt and his fellow Jesuits cut off the income to the Vatican by launching and leading the French Revolution; by directing Napoleon's conquest of Catholic Europe [as the Order would do with Hitler]; by the revolt against the Church, led by such priests as Father Hidalgo, in Mexico and Latin America; by eventually having Napoleon throw Pope Pius VII in jail at Avignon until he agreed, as the price for his release, to reestablish the Jesuit Order. This Jesuit war on the Vatican was terminated by the Congress of Vienna and by the secret, 1822, Treaty of Verona. . . . Ever since, the Rothschilds have been the fiscal agents of the Vatican." {5}[Emphasis added]

It was now payback time for the Pope, his Dominican priests with the Holy Office of the Inquisition, the Knights of Malta and the Roman Catholic sovereigns of Europe. The Jesuits, with Freemasonry and the Illuminati as their tools, would punish the Monarchs as they had never been punished before! The Jesuits would also take time to punish a few Protestant nations pursuant to the Council of Trent, having pronounced over one hundred curses on all "heretics and liberals." In this light the purpose of the atheistic, deceptively pro-Jewish, French Revolution and Napoleonic Wars becomes crystal clear. And with this understanding, the authors and purpose of the atheistic, deceptively pro-Jewish, Russian Revolution of 1917 will also become crystal clear. A common design betrays the unseen hand of a common creator.

Rather than give a history of the revolution and subsequent wars we shall focus on the question "Who benefits?"

Did not the Jesuits benefit when Louis XVI and Queen Marie Antoinette were beheaded by the fanatical Jacobins? These sovereigns had aided the Protestant American "heretics" in their revolt from King George III. Additionally, both the Bourbon and Hapsburg dynasties had expelled the Jesuits from their countries and foreign dominions. Louis XV, the grandfather of Louis XVI, had expelled the Jesuits from France and Archduchess Maria Theresa, the mother of Queen Marie Antoinette, had expelled the Jesuits from Austria twice in 1769, once in 1770 and finally in 1772. So Louis XVI, of the Bourbon dynasty, and Marie Antoinette, of the Hapsburg dynasty, must be gruesomely murdered in broad daylight—just like John F. Kennedy—as a lesson to the future Roman Catholic sovereigns.

Did not the Jesuits benefit when the Jacobins killed or expelled nearly all the Dominican priests in France? We must remember that the Order of the Dominicans was the enemy of the Jesuits from the inception of the Jesuit Order! Further, when the Jesuits had been suppressed by the Pope, the Dominicans took back the "Holy Office of the Inquisition," thus outraging the Company. Could this be the reason why Napoleon made war on the Inquisition, exposing the dastardly deeds of the Dominican inquisitors to the light of day? For example:

> "Even as late as the time of Napoleon, we read that after his troops had captured Toledo, an Inquisition prison was opened there. The historian of Napoleon's wars said it was like opening tombs, as the poor captives came forth. Their beards had grown down over their chests, their finger nails were like bird claws, and their bodies not much more than mere skeletons. Some of them had not breathed fresh air in years. Some were hopelessly crippled and deformed from having been kept in dens so low that they could not rise up in them. The next day, General LaSalle and several of his officers carefully inspected the place. The torture instruments they found filled even these men of the battlefield with horror." {6}

(Dear truth-seeker, the torture instruments of Rome's Inquisition were very similar and as gruesome as those found in Hitler's Death Camps in Poland. The methods of slow torture and murder in Stalin's Siberian Gulag prison system were just as bad, clandestine Jesuit Coadjutors acting as the Generalissimo's communist inquisitors.)

Did not the Jesuits benefit when General Berthier made war on the Vatican when he captured Rome and imprisoned the ungodly Pope Pius VI in 1798, the Pope having fathered two illegitimate children to his sister? Was this not a payback, as the Pope had imprisoned Jesuit General Lorenzo Ricci following the abolition of the Jesuit Order? Did not the Jesuits completely humiliate the Pope when the occupying French soldiers overturned "St. Peter's Chair?" Of this we read:

> "I said so on the authority of Lady Morgan, who, in her work of Italy, in the fourth volume, says that the sacrilegious curiosity of the French at the time when they occupied Rome, in the beginning of this century, overcame all obstacles, in order to see so famous a seat. They took off its copper covering, and drew out the seat, and examining it diligently, found there engraved in Arabic characters these words:—'There is one God, and Mahomet is His prophet.' . . . The Pope, then, knowing that amongst the relics there was a seat, brought as a relic from the Crusades, ordered this to be taken and brought for veneration . . ." {7}[Emphasis added]

Did not the Jesuits benefit when Napoleon Bonaparte drove the Bourbon King of Spain, Charles IV, into exile? Did not the Jesuits benefit when Napoleon exiled the Braganza monarchs, Queen Maria Francisca I (1777-1816) and her son John (later King John VI, 1816-1826) of Portugal to Brazil? Did not the Jesuits benefit when Napoleon drove the Knights of Malta from the island of Malta, confiscating all their treasures and weapons? (Remember, the Knights had previously expelled the Jesuits from Malta in 1868.) Did not the Jesuits benefit when Napoleon conquered the Protestant Dutch Republic, founded by one of our heroes, William I of Orange? Did not the Jesuits benefit when Napoleon conquered Italy, and vanquished Austria as both nations had expelled the Jesuit Order? Did not the Jesuits benefit when Napoleon conquered Protestant Switzerland? Would not the Jesuits have benefited if the French General Hoche had succeeded in breaking away Catholic Ireland from Protestant England (later accomplished after World War I)? Would not the Jesuits have benefited had Napoleon, the Masonic Zionist, conquered Jerusalem, he having called for the establishment of "Jerusalem for the Jews" on April 14, 1799? Did not the Jesuits benefit when Napoleon broke up the Pope's Holy Roman Empire? Did not the Jesuits benefit when Napoleon killed 600,000 Roman Catholic French Vendee who remained loyal to the Pope? Why did nearly every strategy of Napoleon result in benefiting the Jesuit Order? The answer is in the person of Abbe Sieyes. According to Ridpath's Universal History this priest was a prime mover of the French Revolution, the Directory, and was the Second Consul on Napoleon's Consulate (Pierre-Roger Ducos being the third), calling for the end of the nobility and clergy —the enemies of the Society of Jesus! It is also most fascinating to see that Sieyes, the man whose coup d'etat brought Napoleon to power, was Jesuit-trained. We read:

> "Sieyes, Emmanuel Joseph (1748-1836), one of the chief political thinkers and writers of the period of the French Revolution and the first empire, . . . He was destined for the Church, was educated by the Jesuits, became a licentiate of the Canon law [including the oppressive Jesuit "Moral Theologies," and the evil Council of Trent] . . ." {8}[Emphasis added]

Thus Napoleon, the Roman Catholic Freemason, surnamed "Robespierre on horseback" by Madame de Stael, whose right-hand man was both a Jesuit-trained and controlled advisor, Abbe Sieyes, was brought to power from the Jesuit stronghold of Corsica. By 1812 the Jesuits had punished their enemies with their Masonic avenger's many victories. It was now time to destroy his Grande Armee, as those men would not allow the restoration of the old absolute monarchies. So Napoleon attacked Russia and then abandoned his patriotic soldiers, those men having hated absolute monarchy with all their hearts, to the winter snow and Russian army. Of the retreat from Moscow Count Leo Nikolayevich Tolstoy writes in his War and Peace:

> "One army fled and the other pursued . . . But after a four days' halt the mob, with no maneuvers or plans, again began running along the beaten track, neither to the right nor to the left but along the old—the worst—road . . . At the Berezina they again became disorganized, many were drowned and many surrendered, but those who got across the river fled farther. Their supreme chief donned a fur coat and, having seated himself in a sleigh, galloped on alone, abandoning his companions." {9}

This Napoleon Bonaparte, the Roman Catholic Freemason and pawn of the Jesuits, was not only a traitor to France but also a mass-murderer, as he was responsible for abandoning a quarter of a million dead, frozen or starving men in the snows of Russia. He should have been hanged for being not only a traitor but also a heartless coward. And who gave him the order to abandon his army? It could only be his masters, the Jesuits, who had, in the words of Eugene Sue, brought him from nothingness to become Emperor of the French and master of the world! (Dear truthseeker, one hundred and thirty years later the Jesuits would order the destruction of the German Army in the East. Their Masonic tool, Adolf Hitler, during Operation Barbarossa, would "snatch defeat from the jaws of victory," destroying his army in the snows of Russia—aided by General Gehlen. He, like Napoleon, ensured an Allied victory with the agents of the Jesuits determining the terms of surrender.)

Following Napoleon's Russian campaign—his successful betrayal and murder of hundreds of thousands of freedom-loving republican soldiers—the Jesuits sought to restore the old order of things. The Society of Jesus was revived in 1814 and the Congress of Vienna also beginning. Meanwhile, Napoleon was rewarded for a job well done with an annual pension of two million francs while on the island of Elba. But the Monarchs at the Congress of Vienna squabbled; so, the Jesuits brought Napoleon back to France, known as "the hundred days." This frightened the Monarchs into coming to terms with each other. With the Congress of Vienna having fulfilled the purpose of the Jesuit Order, the soldiers of France could now be finally defeated. Napoleon gathered an army of French patriots and deliberately sacrificed it at Waterloo by attacking the wrong point of the British line. For this wicked, Masonic Napoleon Bonaparte, having seduced all of his sisters, replied to Prince Metternich that he "did not give a damn about the death of a million men." {10} We read concerning General "Stonewall" Jackson's observations at Waterloo:

> "In the summer of 1856, he employed his long vacation in a European tour, in which he visited England, France, and Switzerland. During this journey he carefully examined the field of Waterloo, and traced out upon it the positions of the contending armies. When he returned home, he said although Napoleon was the greatest of commanders, he had committed an error in selecting the Chateau of Hougomont as the vital point of attack upon the British line; it should have been the village of Mont St. Jean. This opinion has subsequently been corroborated by high authority in the military art." [About fifty years later, Lee would do the same at Gettysburg, under the guidance of the same Brotherhood.] {11} [Emphasis added]

Dear truth-seeker, do you think the master of Austerlitz would make such a basic blunder—by accident—blasting all hope for French liberty? How ridiculous!

Napoleon was captured by the English and banished to an island in the South Atlantic Ocean called St. Helena. There, his Memoirs were written which accurately described his masters, the Sons of Loyola, having betrayed him into the hands of his captors. In awe and in anger he declared:

> "The Jesuits are a military organization, not a religious order. Their chief is a general of an army, not the mere father abbot of a monastery. And the aim of this organization is: POWER. Power in its most despotic exercise. Absolute power, universal power, power to control the world by the volition of a single man. Jesuitism is the most absolute of despotisms: and at the same time the greatest and most enormous of abuses . . . The general of the Jesuits insists on being master, sovereign, over the sovereign. Wherever the Jesuits are admitted they will be masters, cost what it may. Their society is by nature dictatorial, and therefore it is the irreconcilable enemy of all constituted authority. Every act, every crime, however atrocious, is a meritorious work, if committed for the interest of the Society of the Jesuits, or by the order of the general." {12} [Emphasis added]

The Society of Jesus had now emerged more powerful than ever. Satan's Kingdom was no longer divided. In control of Freemasonry and the Illuminati, the Jesuits had taken the Protestant British Empire—its Throne as well as its Bank. London would now be their commercial capital of the world. They had retaken the Vatican and control of the Papacy. Rome would be their religious capital of the world and by 1900 New York would be the Order's political capital of the world. They had punished the Roman Catholic sovereigns of Europe and would use England to restore them to their thrones again. (Dear truth-seeker, we must remember that even though Jesuit General Michelangelo Tamburini (1706-1730) had revived the old Knights Templars under the new name of "Freemasonry" with its letter "G" in the midst of the Compass and the Square standing for the Order's Church of the "Gesu," it being the Company's world headquarters in Rome, the Craft was divided as a result of the First Great Schism of Freemasonry (1753-1813)! There were Masons loyal to the Black Pope such as Napoleon Bonaparte and Abbe Sieyes; there were others who were loyal to their Catholic Kings, country and people such as the ministers of state who expelled the Jesuits from their sovereigns' borders. These Masons were Sebastian Cavalho, Marquis of Pombal of Portugal's King Joseph I, the Count of Aranda of Spain's King Charles III, Minister de Tillot and Duc de Choiseul of France's King Louis XV and Prince von Kaunitz and Gerard von Swieten of Austria's Archduchess Maria Theresa. This revolt would begin to be remedied with the Council of Wilhelmsbad in 1782 and the creation of the Supreme Council of the 33rd Degree in 1786—after the risen Son of God's successful Presbyterian-Calvinist and Baptist-Calvinist American Revolution! Praise God!)

Now one final piece of business needed to be completed. On May 5, 1821, Napoleon Bonaparte was poisoned with arsenic, and he knew it, by guess who? When Napoleon's will was opened after his death, General Montholon read the Emperor's last accusation concerning St. Helena's English governor, Hudson Lowe—his detested jailer. Napoleon's words, destined to fly across Europe, were:

> "I die prematurely, murdered by the English oligarchy and its hired assassin [yet the truth was that Montholon had himself done the poisoning, had profited from Napoleon's will, and was loyal to his Jesuit masters]." {13}

Dear truth-seeker, who benefited? The Jesuits had used King George III to protect their Masonic King Louis XVIII while in exile during the French Revolution and Napoleonic wars. Having betrayed Napoleon into the hands of his captors, they used the English king to banish the Emperor to a distant island in the middle of the South Atlantic Ocean. They again used George III to restore Louis XVIII to the throne of France. Louis XVIII then gave the Jesuits permission to re-enter France having been previously expelled by King Louis XV, including his Jesuit confessor, Pere de Sacy, for which he paid with his ungodly, adulterous life at the hand of another Jesuit-sent, "smallpox" assassin. The Jesuits then used French troops to suppress popular liberty in Spain pursuant to the oppressive policy of their "Holy Alliance," called by the Saxons "the White Terror." The murder of Napoleon crushed the hope of the French for liberal government and silenced the only rival of Louis XVIII as he enforced the Jesuits' tyrannical program for the Continent. Little did the French people know that Napoleon had been only a tool of the Jesuit Order and was never intended to bring popular, "liberal" government to the European nations. If the Jesuits would poison Pope Clement XIV, would they not poison Napoleon? And if they would poison Napoleon would they not assassinate an American President like John F. Kennedy? Yes indeed, for he was mortally wounded in the house of his friends, the Jesuits. For he had attended one of their churches in Washington, D.C., while a U.S. Senator from Massachusetts. JFK knew his masters well, yet, unlike his father, he dared to be a loyal American first.

Napoleon Bonaparte I (1769 – 1821), 1812 #115

Emperor of the French Empire, 1804 – 1815

Being one of the greatest enigmas of history, Napoleon was a tool of the Jesuits. As a result of the Order's Suppression and Extinction in 1773, Napoleon, having seduced all of his sisters and believing the people should not have the Bible in their own language thus backing the Council of Trent, was brought to power out of Corsica, the Order's island fortress. Through Bonaparte's military exploits the Jesuits imprisoned Pope Pius VII—the Papal Caesar—and drove the Roman Catholic Monarchs of Europe into exile until they had learned their lesson never to interfere with the POWER of the Black Pope. Here we see the great betrayal by the Emperor as he abandons his Grande Armee to the snows and vicious Cossacks of Russia in 1812. Out of 400,000 men, truly believing they were fighting for liberty, only 10,000 were allowed to return to France, the Order intending to reduce Europe to the tyranny of the Holy Alliance. It was for this reason Bonaparte remarked to his secret partner in suppressing popular liberty, Prince Metternich, that he "did not give a damn about the death of a million men!" To further dash the hopes of the defeated French, Napoleon, betrayed by his Jesuit masters including the Jesuit-trained coadjutor Abbe Sieyes, was confined to St. Helena, an island in the middle of the South Atlantic Ocean, and in due time given the Order's "poison cup" by his General Montholon in 1821.

They ventured the attempt to domineer in Russia as they had formerly done in Spain, France, Portugal, and elsewhere. . . . "In regard to religion, mutual toleration in the different professions thereof is what all good and candid minds in all ages have ever practiced and, both by precept and example, inculcated on mankind. And it is now generally agreed among [Protestant and Baptist] Christians that this spirit of toleration, in the fullest extent consistent with the being of civil society, is the chief characteristical mark of the true Church [which mark of toleration has always been a Baptist distinctive]. Insomuch that Mr. [John] Locke has asserted and approved, beyond the possibility of contradiction on any solid ground, that such toleration ought to be extended to all whose doctrines are not subversive of society [to the exclusion of Romanism, her creation of Islam, and her praetorian guard, the Jesuit Order].

The only sects which he thinks ought to be, and which by all wise laws are excluded from such toleration, are those who teach doctrines subversive of the civil government under which they live. The Roman Catholics or Papists are excluded by reason of such doctrines as these: that princes excommunicated may be deposed, and those that they call heretics may be destroyed without mercy; besides their recognizing the Pope in so absolute a manner, in subversion of government, by introducing as far as possible into the states under whose protection they enjoy life, liberty, and property, that solecism [error] in politics imperium in imperio ["a government within a government"], leading directly to the worst anarchy and confusion, civil discord, war, and bloodshed [fully describing the foremost doctrines of the Society of Jesus]." {7} [Emphasis added]

The day Catholicism is separated from Jesuitism will be the day of its death. . . . Popery Jesuitised can only be known it its reality in Rome. . . . there alone can you learn all the subterfuges and the evil arts that they adopt to draw all the kingdoms of the earth under the yoke of the Pope." {8} [Emphasis added]

Popery, Puseyism and Jesuitism

The connection between the Knights of Malta, the Pope and the Jesuit General, with his army of Jesuits, is a key in understanding the flow of history since 1814. For the Pope's restoration of the Society of Jesus was the capstone of Satanic Power through which the Devil would control all of his secret societies during the Nineteenth and Twentieth Centuries. Never in the history of the world had evil men been so successfully united in purposing to destroy all religious and political liberty.

The intended result was to have the Papal Caesar ruling the world from Solomon's rebuilt Temple in Jerusalem as the Theocratic Universal Monarch of the World.

But before we begin our next chapter, please, dear truth-seeker, read the following brief history of the Knights of Malta, received from the secretary at their office in St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York. Note that on the last page, the Order has established formal diplomatic relations with Cuba, presently oppressed by that Jesuit-trained, Masonic Temporal Coadjutor, bastard son of a Nazi and fascist military dictator—that Communist Roman Catholic son of the Church—Fidel Castro.

As we shall later see, the Knights of Malta, in control of the CIA and the Pentagon, put Castro in power, as Castro is a puppet of the Order's "infallible" Pope. And being one of the Pope's "altar boys" enforcing the Temporal Power of "the Vicar of Christ," he forbids the free circulation of the Protestant Bible, has caused a massive Jewish exodus to Israel and Miami by the thousands, while suppressing any movement towards liberal, popular government in obedience to the Council of Trent.

Notice also that the American Branch of the Knights of Malta was established in 1927. This was one year before the Company created Opus Dei in Spain (another international Brotherhood dedicated to the restoration of the Pope's Temporal Power and the Dark Ages), and two years before the Knights caused the Great Depression, which in effect made the Jesuits' evil Federal Reserve Bank the financial monopoly of the Black Pope's evil American Empire created in 1868. This was five years before they attempted to make FDR a fascist dictator who, as President, formally recognized Jesuit-trained Josef Stalin's bloody Soviet government. This enabled the American Knights, in control of the Empire's Military Industrial Complex, to aid the Russian Knights in building the Military Industrial Complex of the Jesuits' Soviet Empire.

Then one day in 1962 three puppets of the Order (Kennedy, Khrushchev and Castro), overseen by the intelligence agencies of the Knights of Malta (the CIA and KGB), created the hoax called "the Cuban Missile Crisis." That deceit was based on another hoax called "the Cold War," which in turn was based on yet another hoax called "Airborne Nuclear War." The gripping fear created by our American press, controlled by Cardinal Spellman through his Knight of Malta Henry R. Luce (whose nickname as one of Yale's Skull and Bones members was appropriately "Baal"), resulted in a secret agreement between "the superpowers." That agreement, prohibiting an American invasion of Cuba, secured the island as a staging base for a future foreign invasion of the American apostate Protestant and Baptist South—pursuant to the evil Council of Trent. Now, dear truth-seeker, enjoy the letter intended for public consumption which is retyped in larger print for all to read.

We hope the attached History of the Order of Malta is of interest to you.

Unfortunately, it is the policy of the Order not to furnish our membership roster or Constitution to other than a member of the Association [as that roster and Constitution would enumerate a group of highly placed individuals within the U.S. Government whose allegiance is first and foremost to the Pope of Rome].

HISTORY OF THE ORDER OF MALTA
The Order of St. John was founded before the taking of Jerusalem in 1099 by the armies of the First Crusade. It began as a monastic community, dedicated to St. John the Baptist, which administered a hospice-infirmary for pilgrims to the Holy Land. Originally connected with the Benedictines, it became, under Blessed Gerard (1120), an independent organization. By the Bull of 15 February 1113, addressed to Gerard, Pope Pascal II approved the confraternity of the Hospital of St. John, placed it under the protection of the Holy See, and ensured its right of freely electing its heads, Gerard's successors, without any interference from any other ecclesiastical or any lay authority. In virtue of this Bull and of subsequent Papal acts, the Hospital became an exempt Order of the Church.

Owing to the political situation after the setting up by the Crusaders of the Kingdom of Jerusalem, the Order, now under its second head (and the first to be styled Master), Fra Raymond du Puy, was obliged to assume military functions for the protection of the sick, the pilgrims, and the Christian territory which the Crusaders had won back from the Muslims. Accordingly, the Order of the Hospital of St. John acquired the additional character of an Order of Knighthood [as are the Jesuits]. The Knights were thus also Religious, bound by the three monastic vows of Obedience, Chastity, and Poverty [as are the Jesuits]. It thus became a persona mixta, a religious-military Order [just as the Company of Ignatius Loyola is a religious-military Order].

Fra Raymond du Puy introduced the first rule of the Order known to us and also the white octagonal cross which has to this day remained the Order's emblem (the Maltese Cross) [and worn by nearly every monarch in Europe].

While continuing on a vast scale its hospitaller activity, one of its two aims: obsequium pauperum (service of the poor), the Order pursued valiantly its other aim—the defense of Christendom [the Pope's Vatican Empire which enforces his Spiritual and Temporal Power]: tuitio fidei (protection of the Faith). However, in 1291, Acre, the last Christian stronghold in the Holy Land was lost and the Order settled temporarily in Cyprus.

From the beginning, the Order's independence of all other States, in virtue of Papal acts, and its universally recognized right to maintain armed forces and wage war constituted its international sovereignty [even as today, waging wars with the armies of select nations for the benefit of the Papacy].

With the occupation of the island of Rhodes, completed in 1310 under the Grand Master Fra Foulques de Villaret, the Order acquired territorial sovereignty as well [also] (and the Knights of St. John came to be called the Knights of Rhodes). The island faced Muslim territorial and naval might and became a bastion of Christendom [Romanism] in the East Mediterranean sea.

The military defense of Christendom now of necessity required naval action. Accordingly, the Order came to possess a powerful fleet; it patrolled the East Mediterranean waters and engaged in many renowned battles with the enemy. It took part in the crusades in Syria and in Egypt and brought aid to the [Orthodox] Christian Kingdom of Armenia (Cilicia) against Muslim invaders.

The members of the Order who came to Rhodes from all over Europe, as well as the establishments of the Order in Europe, were from the beginning of the fourteenth century, grouped according to languages spoken. There were thus, initially, seven such groups of Langues (Tongues): Province, Auvergne, France, Italy (Aragon-Navarre), England (with Scotland and Ireland), and Germany. In 1462 Castile and Portugal separated from the Langue of Aragon and formed together the eight Langues.

In the sixteenth century the Langue of England was suppressed [by the Protestant Queen Elizabeth I] and later, in 1782, temporarily reestablished under the name of the Anglo-Bavarian Langue [in preparation for the coming Second Thirty Years' War, the English and Bavarian nobles to work together in the Jesuit annihilation of the Protestants and Jews of Europe]. Each Langue was composed of Priories or Grand Priories, Bailiwicks, and Commanderies.

The Order was ruled by the Grand Master and the Council [even as the military Company of Jesus is ruled by the Jesuit Superior General and his Council of Assistants], minted its own money and maintained diplomatic relations with other States. The Grand Master was Prince of Rhodes, as later he was Prince of Malta. The high offices of the Order were attributed to representatives of different Langues; and the seat of the Order, the Convent, was in effect composed of a number of national religious houses.

The Knights gallantly repulsed numerous Turkish assaults, until the Sultan Suleyman the Magnificent attacked Rhodes with a large fleet and a powerful army. On Christmas Eve of 1522 the Knights were forced to capitulate and, on 1

January 1523, left the island with military honors [the risen Son of God weakening the military might of the Papacy by using Islam, thereby enabling the spread of His grand and glorious Protestant Reformation]. For the next seven years the Order, while vested with international sovereignty, was deprived of territory, until the cession by the Emperor Charles V (in his capacity as King of Sicily) of the islands of Malta, Gozo, and Comino, as well as Tripoli in North Africa, in sovereign fief.

On 26 October 1530 the Grand Master Fra Philippe de Villiers de l'Isle-Adam took possession of Malta, with the approbation of Pope Clement VII. It was stipulated that the Order was to remain neutral in wars between Christian nations [i.e., wars between Protestant and Roman Catholic nations].

Yet the war of defense of Christendom went on. The Turks attacked Malta, but in the Great Siege, from 18 May to 8 September 1565, were finally routed by the Knights led by the heroic Grand Master Fra Jean de la Vallette-Parisot (after whom the island's capital Valletta is named). The decline of Ottoman sea power dates from the defeat of 1565. The navy of the Order of St. John (or of Malta as it now came to be called) became one of the most powerful in the Mediterranean and took part in the final destruction of the Ottoman naval might in the great battle of Lepanto in 1571.

In 1607 and, again, in 1620, the dignity of Grand Master was conjoined with the title of Prince of the [Pope's] Holy Roman Empire and in 1630 with the rank equal to the dignity of a Cardinal of the Holy Roman Church with the style of Eminence [as a result his obedience during the Thirty Years' War].
In 1798 [Grand Orient Freemason] Bonaparte, engaged in a campaign against Egypt, occupied the island of Malta and drove out the Order [in obedience to his Jesuit advisor, Abbe Sieyes]. The Knights again found themselves without a home. This was followed by what has been called the Russian coup d'etat (1798-1803). The Emperor Paul I of Russia, who had shown himself a friend of the Order, now had himself proclaimed Grand Master by a handful of Knights then in Russia, in place of the Grand Master Fra Ferdinand von Hompesch zu Bolheim who had been obliged to abandon Malta to the French. This proclamation of a married non-Catholic as head of a Catholic religious order was wholly illegal and void, and never recognized by the Holy See (a necessary condition for legitimacy). Accordingly, Paul I, who was nevertheless accepted by many Knights and a number of governments can only be regarded as a Grand Master de facto, never one de jure. His successor Alexander I, on the other hand, helped the Order to return to legitimate rule; and in 1803 Fra Giovanni Battista Tommasi was elected Grand Master [the Jesuit Order, at about the same time, given legal existence in Russia by Pope Pius VII]. The British had meantime occupied Malta in 1801 and though the Treaty of Amiens (1802) recognized the Order's sovereign rights over the island, it has never been able to avail itself of them.

After temporary seats in Messina, Catania and Ferrara the Order finally established itself in 1834 in Rome, where it holds, extra-territorially, the Malta Palace at 68 Via Condotti and Villa on the Aventine. From 1805 the Order was ruled by Lieutenants, until in 1879 when [Jesuit-controlled and infallible] Pope Leo XIII restored the Grandmastership and the honors of a Cardinal attaching to it [the Jesuit General now in full command of the Knights]. Hospitaller work, the original work of the Order, became once again its main concern. The hospital and welfare activities, undertaken on a considerable scale in World War I, were greatly intensified and expanded in World War II under the Grand Master Fra Ludovico Chigi della Rovere Albani [this Italian Grand Master overseeing the Black Pope's international Intelligence Community].

The activities of the Order have been further expanded under the rule of Grand Master Fra Angelo de Mojana di Cologna (1962-1988), who was succeeded by the present Prince and Grand Master Fra Andrew Bertie [who, without question, is one of the most powerful men in the world].

The Order of Malta constitutes the sole unbroken continuation of the Order of the Hospital of St. John recognized in 1113. It alone is a religious Order of the Catholic Church and at the same time a Catholic Order of Knighthood. It alone contains the governing nucleus of the professed Knights of Justice [the governing nucleus of the Jesuit Order being also composed of professed Knights of the Fourth Vow], direct successors of its founders, from among whom the Grand Master and most of the members of the Sovereign Council are elected, and which is placed above the ranks of the lay Knights, grown numerous since the fall of Malta. It has never ceased to be recognized by the community of nations as sovereign and independent of any civil power [as is the Society of Jesus]. These facts constitute the irrefutable proof of the Order's unique historical identity and authenticity, to which no other organization can lay claim.

The sovereignty of the Order is expressed in the diarchy of the Prince and Grand Master, who is its Supreme Head, and the Councils: the Sovereign Council, the General Chapter, and the Council Complete of State. The General Chapter is the supreme assembly of the Knights, is convened normally every five years, and elects members of the Sovereign Council; while the Council Complete of State is convened for the purpose of electing a Grand Master or a Lieutenant. Both the General Chapter and the Council Complete of State contain representatives of the Grand Priories, Priories, Sub- Priories, and National Associations, into which the Order is territorially divided throughout the world.

The full title of the Grand Master is, in Latin: Dei gratia Sacrae Domus Hospitalis Sancti Johannis Hierosolymitani et militaris Ordinis Sancti Sepulchri Domini magister humilis pauperumque Jesu Christi custos. (A part of this title commemorates the granting to the Grand Master Fra Pierre d'Aubusson [a Cardinal] of the Mastership of the Order of the Holy Sepulchre by Pope Innocent VIII in 1489, which grant proved temporary.) Enjoying the precedence of a Cardinal and therefore that of a Royal Prince as well as the dignity of Prince of the Holy Roman Empire (recognized later by Austria and Italy), and formerly a reigning Prince of Rhodes and then of Malta, the Grand Master is styled both Eminence and Highness, or Most Eminent Highness, and is internationally recognized as a Chief of State and sovereign honours are vested in him [to which Sovereign many American politicians owe their first allegiance, men like Alexander M. Haig, Jr., and* William F. Buckley, Jr.].

The Grand Master governs the Order with the assistance of the Sovereign Council, presided over by himself and composed of the four High Officers of the Grand Magistry elected by the General Chapter: the Grand Commander, the Grand Chancellor, the Hospitaller, and the Receiver of the Common Treasure, as well as of six Councillors. The holders of these offices are chosen from among the professed Knights and, exceptionally, from among the Knights of Obedience.

The Sovereign Pontiff is the Superior of the Order, as of any religious Order, and He nominates as His representative to it a Cardinal of the Holy Roman Church, styled Cardinalis Patronus: the latter is assisted by the Prelate of the Order, who is likewise appointed by the Sovereign Pontiff. The Prelate of the Order is the ecclesiastical superior of the Order's clergy and the Grand Master's assistant in the care for the spiritual welfare of the Order.

The life and activities of the Order are regulated by the Constitutional Charter approved by the Holy See, and the Code. The Code de Rohan, promulgated by the Grand Master Fra Emmanuel de Rohan-Polduc in the eighteenth century, retains its validity as a supplementary source of law, provided its provisions are applicable and not contrary to the other two sources of law. Juridical questions and problems of interest and importance for the Order are dealt with by the Consultative Juridical Council, appointed by the Grand Master with the consent of the Sovereign Council.

To deal with cases outside the competence of Canon Law and ecclesiastical Courts, the Order has its own Court of Law of First Instance and Courts of Appeal with the Presidents, Judges, Promoters of Justice, and Auxiliaries appointed by the Grand Master with the deliberative vote of the Sovereign Council. Appeals against the sentences of the Order's Courts may be lodged with the Court of Cassation of the Vatican State, which, in such cases, acting by proxy on behalf of the Order, may exercise the functions of Supreme Court.

A Board of Auditors, elected by the General Chapter, controls the [tax free] income and the expenditures of the Order.

Under the provisions of International Law, the Order maintains diplomatic relations, through accredited representatives, with the Holy See, on which, in its double nature, it depends as a religious Order, but of which, as a sovereign Order of Knighthood, it is independent, and through the exchange of such diplomatic representatives, with six European countries: Austria, Italy, Malta, Portugal, San Marino, Spain; with nineteen South American States: Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Columbia, Costa Rica, Cuba, El Salvador, Ecuador, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Nicaragua, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Dominican Republic, Uruguay, Venezuela; in Asia with the Philippines, Thailand, Lebanon; in Africa with Benin, Burkina, Faso Cameroun, Central Africa Republic, Comores, Egypt, Ethiopia, Gabon, Guinea, the Ivory Coast, Liberia, Mali, Mauritania, Mauritius, Morocco; Niger, Senegal, Somalia, Togo, Tchad and Zaire. Moreover, it maintains Delegations in Belgium, France, Germany, Monaco and Switzerland, as well as at the Council of Europe, the UNESCO, the FAO and several International Organizations in Geneva.

His Most Eminent Highness the Prince and Grand Master of the Order rules with the assistance of the Sovereign Council a world-wide and international organization which, while never abandoning its aim of the defense of Christendom [the Pope's world empire of nations including Israel], is now dedicated to providing assistance in the hospitaller, charitable, and social fields in the widest possible meaning of these words. In particular the Order comes to the aid of those stricken by natural disasters and to the casualties of war.

THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION
On April 28, 1927 at the special request of the Holy Father, Pope Pius XI [whose confessors were Jesuits Alissiardi and Celebrano], the Supreme Council of the Sovereign Military Order of Malta granted a Constitution (Charter) creating the:

AMERICAN CHAPTER OF THE KNIGHTS OF THE SOVEREIGN MILITARY ORDER OF MALTA
[Emphasis added and End of History of the Order of Malta]

Recalling previous chapters, the Knights of Malta expelled the Jesuits from their island of Malta in 1768. So Napoleon the Freemason, with his French Fleet, was used by the Jesuits to return the insult, driving the Knights from Malta, absorbing their weapons and treasures thirty years later. (The Order never forgives or forgets!)

And to where would those ancient Crusaders go? The Knights sought and received protection from the Russian Tzar Paul I (having designated himself as their Grand Master) and stayed in his Imperial Palace from 1798 onward. It just so happened that on March 7, 1801, the Polish Jesuit Vicar General Franciskus Xavier Kareu, also appeared in Russia. (For it was in 1801 that the suppressed Company of Jesus was given legal existence and permission to reside in that "heretic" nation by Pope Pius VII). What reason could justify this secret rendezvous? The Knights of Malta and the Jesuit Order had mutual interests. They both wanted to take Jerusalem away from the Moslems and rebuild Solomon's Temple for the Pope. So having been humbled by the Jesuits with Napoleon, they evidently agreed to be subordinate to the Jesuit General. The Knights would never be expelled from Russia unlike the Jesuit Order. By 1879, the Jesuit-trained Pope Leo XIII gave the Grand Master of the Knights of Malta the status of a Cardinal. This act formally subordinated these warriors to the Pope—the now "infallible" Papal Caesar under Jesuit domination.

In 1927, the American Branch of the Knights of Malta was established at St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York City. One of the original thirteen founding members was John J. Raskob, the Chairman of the Board for General Motors and major financier of the Democratic Party. In the 1930s these criminals, including Joseph P. Kennedy, sought to create martial law in America by making FDR, the 33rd Degree and Shriner-Freemason, a fascist, absolutist dictator. It was only appropriate, as FDR's "alter ego," advisor and speechwriter, was a "Jesuit of the short robe" (a secret lay Jesuit) and member of the General's Council on Foreign Relations, the dirty and despicable Harry Hopkins. But the plot failed as a hero and two-time Medal of Honor recipient exposed the conspiracy. He was General Smedley Butler of the United States Marine Corps. May we pause and thank God for so great and courageous a man whom He used to temporarily deliver us Americans from a fascist bloodbath overseen by the Archbishop of New York—Francis Cardinal Spellman!

Dear truth-seeker, the Knights and the Jesuits then and now work together! This may seem irrelevant but it is important for you to understand this connection. As we shall see, the Knights financed Lenin and Hitler from Wall Street also using their Federal Reserve Bank headed by a Masonic Jew and CFR member, Paul M. Warburg. The Knights negotiated the Concordat (a Papal treaty) between the Pope and Hitler in the person of Franz von Papen. The Knights, as American ambassadors, coordinated Roosevelt with Churchill and Pius XII using Joseph P. Kennedy and Myron C. Taylor, another CFR member. They also helped top Nazis to escape to North and South America after World War II using William J. Donovan, James J. Angleton, William J. Casey and Argentina's President Juan D. Peron.

In America the Knights with their Office of Strategic Services (OSS), which later became the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), were behind the Pentagon's "Operation Paperclip," (publicly exposed in 1984) moving the Jesuit General's Third Reich across the Atlantic. After World War II, over two thousand top Nazis and scientists were illegally secreted into the United States, including SS Major Werner von Braun. Many were placed in the top-secret military installation in Tonopah, Nevada known as "Area 51." The perfection of the Nazis' anti-gravity aircraft (flying saucers made of Pyrex with a mirrored finish by Corning Incorporated, General Electric Company and Lockheed Martin, all three corporations being represented on the Archbishop of New York's Council on Foreign Relations) was to be completed there, among other secret, light-electro-magnetic technologies.

"Operation Paperclip" was overseen by America's most powerful Knight of Malta and CFR kingpin, J. Peter Grace, Jr. Grace was subject to the Jesuit-trained Archbishop Francis Cardinal Spellman, as the American headquarters for the Knights was and is the "Powerhouse" in New York. Further, the Order's SR-71 "Blackbird" was built for the covert purposes of the Pope's Cold War as was the most recent Stealth Bomber, intended to be a key weapon in the Black Pope's crusade against Islam purposed against us Americans for at least the last three decades.

Years later the Knights would oversee another clandestine event known as "Operation Mongoose." Mongoose, like Hitler's "Operation Barbarossa," was a Jesuit-controlled fascist Crusade, betrayed by high-ranking intelligence officers who were Knights of Malta loyal to the Jesuit General. The result of the Bay of Pigs invasion, the Cuban Missile Crisis and Operation Mongoose—all failures due to high treason—was the securing of Jesuit-trained Fidel Castro's absolute power over Roman Catholic Cuba. For Communist Cuba is to serve as the Order's staging base for a massive Sino-Soviet-Moslem-Latino invasion into the last bastion of the Reformation's historically Protestant and Baptist-Calvinist cultures—the South!

At the time of the Bay of Pigs invasion the Director of the CIA was Knight of Malta Allen W. Dulles whose nephew, Avery Dulles, was an active participant in Vatican II and is presently a powerful Jesuit Cardinal and Knight of Malta at the Order's Fordham University. Embarrassed, President Kennedy relieved Dulles of his command and appointed another Knight of Malta John A. McCone as the Agency's new Director. The President then took steps to break the CIA "into a thousand pieces," thereby putting in jeopardy the nucleus of the Black Pope's International Intelligence Community covering for Hitler's Nazis secreted into America.

This the Jesuits would never permit! The CIA was a necessary tool in preventing popular government from emerging around the world; it was the secret enforcer of Jesuit immoral theology. (It would betray the Roman Catholic Hungarian Revolution of 1956 into the hands of the Order's Soviet Red Army and KGB thus eliminating or silencing anti-communists of Eastern Europe, among other nefarious acts.) The Jesuits' great deception known as "The Cold War" must continue. America, with her Protestant Constitution, must be conquered from within, depriving her of sacred, Baptist liberties via "Royal Edicts" known as "Executive Orders."

The Black Pope's merciless Inquisition behind the "Iron Curtain" known as "communism" must continue. From 1917 to 1989 one hundred million people must be tortured and murdered, and the Protestant Bible must be suppressed. Indeed, the difference between the Jesuits' Inquisition in Europe during World War II—the Second Thirty Years' War—and the Jesuits' Communist Inquisition in Orthodox Russia and in the Buddhist Far East—the Second Hundred Years' War—is absolutely nothing! Both Crusades with their accompanying Inquisitions have been financed and supported by the Jesuit-controlled governments of the United States and Great Britain—to the shame and disgrace of both historically Protestant peoples!

The Jesuits, refusing to permit President Kennedy to destroy their continuation of the Nazi SS and American OSS, having been secretly combined after the war and renamed the CIA, called upon their fanatical "Cold Warrior," Francis Cardinal Spellman. He in turn called upon the head of his American "tongue" of the Knights of Malta, the pro-Nazi J. Peter Grace, Jr. The plan was to assassinate President Kennedy in broad daylight as a warning to the heads of all nations should they dare to interfere with the Pope's International Intelligence Community enforcing his Temporal Power. Meanwhile, the Jesuit-trained, communist Cuban dictator and one of the Order's kingpins in its international drug trade, 33rd Degree Freemason Fidel Castro, sent his Knight of Malta ambassador to the Nation State of the Sovereign Military Order of Malta—to this day!)

After Pope Pius VII was released from Napoleon's prison in 1814, he obediently restored the Society of Jesus with a Papal Bull, Solicitudo omnium ecclesiarum, promulgated on August 7 of that very year. (A Bull is the strongest legal document a Pope can issue.) In that Bull of Restoration, the Pope added:

> ". . . if any should again attempt to abolish it [the Society of Jesus] he would incur the indignation of Almighty God and of the Holy Apostles Peter and Paul." {9}

As a result, in 1816:

> "John Adams wrote Thomas Jefferson about Pope Pius VII's reinstatement of Jesuits repressed [suppressed and extinguished] by Pope Clement XIV:
> 'My history of the Jesuits is not eloquently written, but it is supported by unquestionable authorities, is very particular and very horrible. Their restoration is indeed a step toward darkness, cruelty, perfidy, despotism, death . . . I do not like the appearance of the Jesuits. If ever there was a body of men who merited eternal damnation on earth and in hell, it is this Society of Loyola's.' " {10}[Emphasis added]

In October of 1836, Pope Gregory XIV issued a Brief by which he gave over the Papacy and Hierarchy to the total control of the Jesuit Order. In 1870, the office of the Pope now entirely under the sway of the Black Pope, both de jure and de facto, "the vicar of Christ" was now declared to be the Infallible when promulgating the doctrines of Rome. The Jesuits, always acting as the Pope's penholders, could now rule the entire Vatican Empire through the dicta of one man—the Devil's Pontiff of Jesuit making! As a result of Vatican I, the Pope would lose his Temporal Power in Rome for nearly sixty years until the arrival of that man of Providence—the fascist occult Freemason, Benito Mussolini! Further, both Germany and France would expel the Order from their borders, as supposedly done by Great Britain in 1829.

The Order's Nineteenth "Century of Disaster" did not discourage its quest for Papal world dominion. In paving the way for the Order's Twentieth "Century of Vengeance," including both the Second Thirty Years' War and its covert continuation called "the Cold War," on July 13th, 1886, Pope Leo XIII issued a Brief, after enduring three days of severe illness due to poisoning, restoring all the remaining privileges withheld by Pius VII upon the Order's re-establishment in 1814.

The Brief would enable the Society to do as they would please, unrestrained by any human authority! For his compliance in signing the Jesuit-authored Brief, Pope Leo XIII was given an antidote and thereby survived. Thus, no Pope, no Cardinal or Grandmaster of the Knights of Malta—or the head of any other Secret Society—has successfully challenged the earthly POWER of the Devil's Superior General of the Society of Jesus.

In fact, since 1814 the Black Pope has kept the White Pope in check. If a Pope becomes politically "liberal" favoring the rights of the people, he is punished, as was Pius IX in 1848. (Pius resisted the policy of the Jesuits' Holy Alliance by declaring himself a condemned "liberal," favoring popular government. He proclaimed a general amnesty to political offenders and began to form a Constitution for Italy with his minister, Count Pellegrini L. O. Rossi, who was later assassinated. This resulted in the Jesuits causing a revolution in 1848 forcing the Pope to flee "the Eternal City." The Order used their Italian Freemasons, led by the most powerful mason on the Continent, Roman Catholic Giuseppe Mazzini, to instill a controlled fear in Pope, causing his flight to Gaeta. Upon his return in 1849, protected by French troops of the interim republic of Louis Napoleon, Pius IX obeyed his Jesuit masters becoming thoroughly absolutist for the rest of his Pontificate.)

But if the Pope determines to resist the power and purpose of the "Father General" he suddenly dies, as did Pope John XXIII in 1963. (Pope John resisted Jesuit General Janssen's secret policy of continuing the Cold War having been birthed by 33º Masons President Harry Truman, General Douglas MacArthur and Air Force General Curtis LeMay—the officer "in charge" of the JFK cover-up autopsy at Bethesda Naval Hospital! He promoted the Order's open policy of ending the Cold War in seeking to establish a World Government put forth during the Second Vatican Council.) A few months later President Kennedy was assassinated as he pursued the anti-Cold War policy of Pope John XXIII in seeking to prematurely end the Cold War by ordering American troop withdrawal from Vietnam. He also intended to overthrow Castro, giving Cuba back to the Cubans. Thus, JFK's assassination was carried out by the Cold Warriors of Francis Cardinal Spellman. They were the Knights of Malta and select, 33rd Degree Freemasons subordinate to the Jesuits. Indeed, President Kennedy was wounded in the house of his friends, including his own father—Cardinal Spellman's once most powerful Knight of Malta during the Roosevelt years—Joseph P. Kennedy! Dear truth-seeker, never forget these words of Ignatius Loyola, though spoken over four centuries ago, having pierced our unguarded hearts on November 22, 1963:

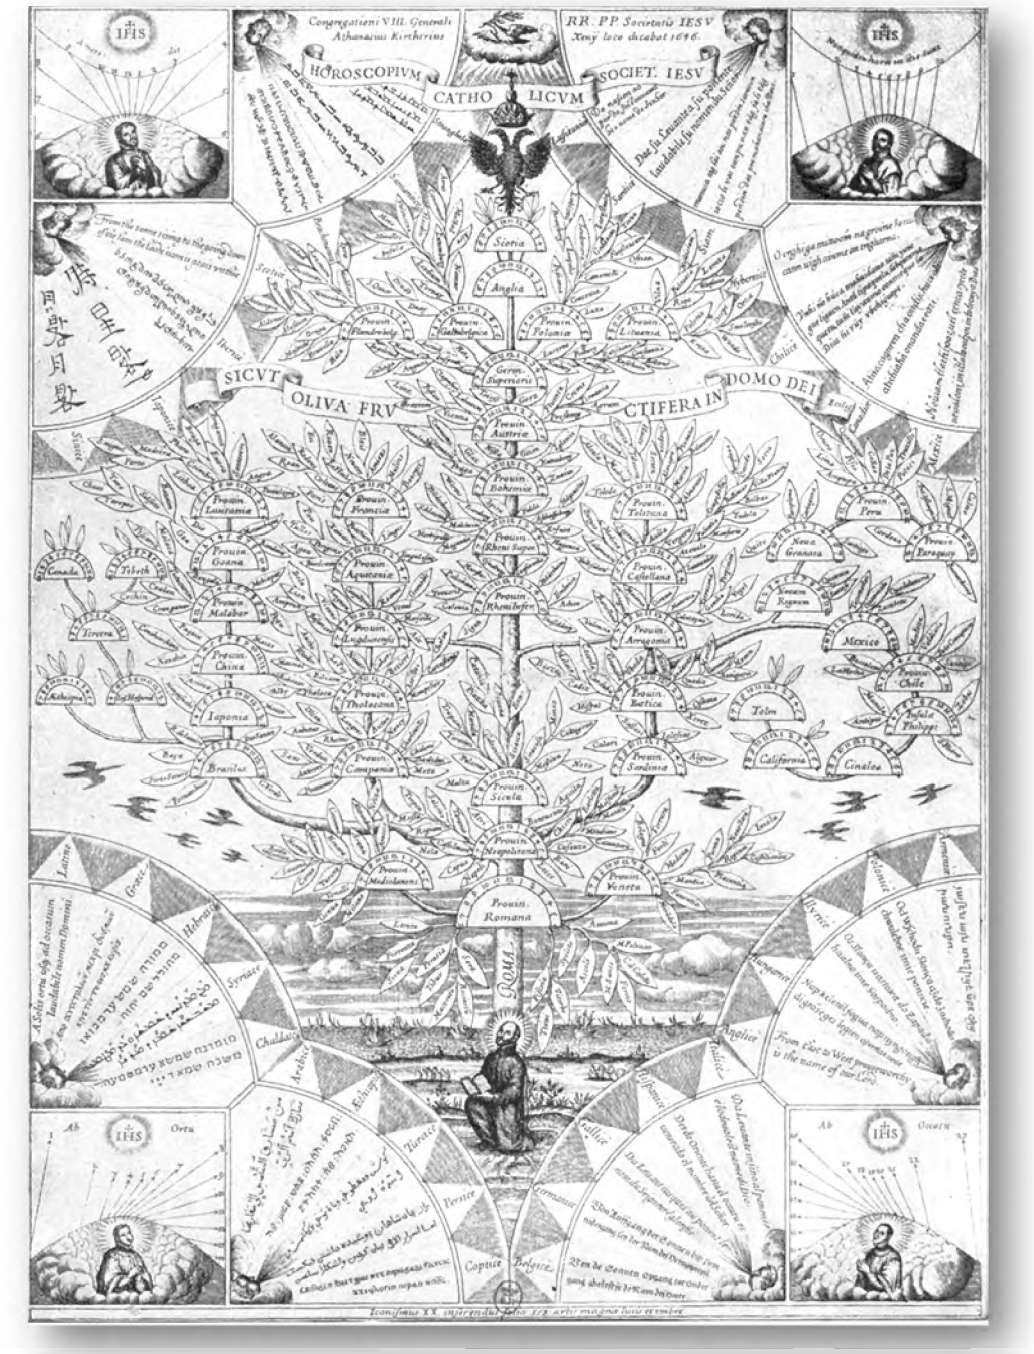
> "Finally;—Let all with such artfulness gain the ascendant [ascendancy] over princes, noblemen, and the magistrates of every place, that they may be ready at our beck, even to sacrifice their nearest relations and most intimate friends, when we say it is for our interest and advantage." {11}



Ignatius Loyola's International Geopolitical Jesuit Empire, 1640 #116

This engraving, commemorating the first centennial celebration of the Society of Jesus, is topped with a risen double-headed phoenix—the symbol of the Knights of Malta and later, 32nd degree Freemasonry—anticipating the future world kingdom to be ruled by the Devil's god-man, the Satanic risen Papal Caesar. It is to this end that the LORD's "Mystery of Iniquity" works in human history.

Crown Prince Rupprecht Wittelsbach of Bavaria, 1954 #117

This Roman Catholic Knight of Malta was the infamous second Ferdinand II of the Black Pope's Second Thirty Years' War (1914-1945). His grandfather, Prince Regent Luitpold (1886-1912) was the mastermind behind the murder of King Ludwig II who supposedly drowned in three feet of water! Advised by a secret court Jesuit affiliated with Munich's Jesuit Church of Saint Michael's, Rupprecht, being also a member of the British-based Committee of 300, would play a key role in destroying apostate Protestant Germany for the second time in accordance with the Company's Counter-Reformation Council of Trent. For the Prince, in control of Reichsfuhrer Heinrich Himmler, would secretly collaborate with Allied Committee members, one being Canadian SIS officer and SMOM Sir William Stephenson who would mastermind the assassination of the anti-Papacy, SS General Reinhard Heydrich and aid Himmler in his escape from Europe.

Crown Prince Rupprecht Wittelsbach of Bavaria, 1954

Dear truth-seeker, you are viewing one of the most sinister, diabolical, daring and devious men who ever served the Black Pope and his Jesuit Militia, it directing the Devil's Papal Caesar secretly ruling the world from Rome's Vatican Palace. Born in 1869 to King Ludwig III (1913-1918), this most powerful Roman Catholic Knight of Malta was destined for infamy. His father would be the last monarch of the condemned Wittelsbach Dynasty due to a series of anti-Jesuit acts perpetrated by three former Bavarian kings in addition to Ludwig III. Under the influence of the whorish Lola Montez, Ludwig I fired his Jesuit advisors, including Prime Minister Jesuit Baron Abel, and expelled the Order from Bavaria on February 17, 1848. Within one month he was disgraced and forced to abdicate to his son, Maximilian II. But Maximilian was later deemed an enemy of the Company, dying "unexpectedly" four years before his father at the middle age of fifty-two. Ludwig II ascended the throne at the young age of eighteen, destined to the same terrible fate. Resisting Rome's Syllabus of Errors, Ludwig sided with Prussia against France during Order's Franco-Prussian War (1870-71). He also consented to enter Prince Bismarck's anti-Jesuit, Protestant-led Second Reich, as "the Iron Chancellor" highly respected the young king and admitted that without Ludwig's cooperation the Reich would never have been formed. In 1872, when the Reichstag expelled the Society from the Empire, that banishment included Bavaria—for which Ludwig was blamed!

For his opposition to Papal Infallibility he was later declared to be "insane" and then murdered through the intrigue of the royal court directed by his Uncle Luitpold who then became Prince Regent (1886-1912); Ludwig was shot twice in the back and entombed in Munich's Jesuit Church of St. Michael—his body later removed from the coffin! Upon the death of Luitpold, Ludwig III pursued pro-Prussian policies indicating his resistance to Munich's emerging Nazi agenda. For these reasons, he was overthrown and died an exile in Hungary (1921). Though the Dynasty was officially ended, Jesuit-advised Crown Prince Rupprecht wielded the Pope's Temporal Power in Bavaria. Used by (ex-Jesuit) Pope Pius XI's Bavarian Papal Nuncio, Archbishop Eugenio Pacelli, the Prince created Munich's Nazi party, bringing Masonic Hitler to power (1933) after the Fuhrer's priest-led "apprenticeship" had ended in Vienna (1913). Being also the master of court tutor Dr. Gebhardt Himmler, he was behind son Heinrich Himmler's uncanny rise to power as the Reichsfuhrer of the Black Pope's Order of the Death's Head—the SS. Another arch-villain and personal friend backed by the Prince was Munich policeman Heinrich Mueller, who would also be appointed to head the Order's Gestapo-SS. Rupprecht died in 1955 having survived the Reich, Allied bombing and the Order's Masonically-led Nuremberg Trials. His safety was secured by his Jesuit-controlled, Masonic master, Pope Pius XII. He will not however, escape his sentence of eternal damnation at the mouth of the Lord Jesus Christ before the Great White Throne (Rev. 20:11-15).

Archbishop Pacelli at the Marriage of Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria to Princess Antonia of Luxemburg and Nassau, 1921 #118

Dear truth-seeker, here we have a most important photograph illustrating the relationship between the Papal Caesar's "two keys," his Spiritual Power and Temporal Power over all nations. These powers are enforced by his Political Rulers (Kings, Presidents, Dictators) at the direction of his Hierarchy overseen by the Jesuits. It was for this reason the Order was expelled from Bavaria in 1848 and again in 1872. The above persons are as follows: (seated from left) Nuncio Eugenio Pacelli, later Pope Pius XII (1876-1958); Grand Duchess Maria Anna of Luxembourg (1861-1942); Second Wife, Crown Princess Antonia of Luxembourg (1899-1954); Husband, Crown Prince Rupprecht Wittelsbach (1869-1955); King Ludwig III (1845-1921). (2nd row from left) Freiin of Hirschberg; Pss Helmtrud; Pss Hildegard (1881-1948); Prince Franz (half covered); Grand Dss Hilda of Baden (1864-1952); nachm. Pss of Saxony (1902-1941); Her.Pc Albrecht (1905-1996); Pss Sofie of Luxembourg; nachm. Fuerstin Schwarzenberg; Pss Wiltrud; nachm. Dutchess of Urach. (Last row left to right) Freiin of Bechtolsheim, Maximilian, Frhr of Bodman; Mayor Mesmer; Dr. Wiest-Lenggries; Msgr. Count Conrad Preysing-later Cardinal- (on the right behind Her. Prince Albrecht) Liedl; behind him Pss Elisabeth of Luxembourg; nsvhm. Pss von Thurn und Taxis (1901-1950); Fuerst Alois zu Loewenstein; Prince Ernst Heinrich of Saxony; Count Johann Georg of Preysing (1887-1924); Duke Miguel of Braganza (1853-1927); behind him Franz, Prince of Bavaria.

Jesuit-trained and one of the few carryovers from the Clinton Administration, Tenet was the agent of Archbishop Edward Cardinal Egan in bringing down New York's World Trade Center on September 11, 2001—the very day in which Cromwell conquered Ireland's popish Drogheda in 1649. President George W. Bush, in obedience to his master, Pope John Paul II, then launched his "War on (Islamic) Terrorism," it being another evil and bloody Crusade of the Papacy.

Headquartered in Rome these crusading Knights of the Papal Caesar control the Banking, Industry, Armies and Military Industrial Complexes of the world. They direct the Black Pope's International Intelligence Community—the KGB (SVR) in the East and the MI6/CIA/NSA in the West—, through which they control the International Oil Monopoly and Drug Trade financing their Global Islamic Terrorist Network in seeking to restore Rome's anti-Bible, anti-Middle Class, socialist-communist, feudal despotism of Pope Innocent III's Satanic Dark Ages. www.knights-of-st-john.co.uk/

"Star of David" Occult Hexagram Inside "The Powerhouse," 2005 #129

The six-pointed "Star of David" is no more a Torah-based, Jewish symbol than the "Cross" is a New Testament-based Christian symbol: neither symbol should be worn as both have their origins in "Mystery Babylon Religion," the Satanic salvation-by-works religion of Cain, Nimrod, Pharaoh, the Kings of Babylon, Medo-Persia, Greece, and the Caesars of Rome who continue to rule the world under the disguise of the devil-worshipping, Bible-burning Popes of Rome. This star, wickedly denoting the racially Jewish people, is referred to in Scripture as "the star of your god, which ye made to yourselves" (Amos 5:26), also referenced in the New Testament as "the star of your god Remphan" (Acts 7:43). Therefore we are not surprised to discover that this wicked "Star of David" has been forced upon the risen Son of God's beloved, racially Hebrew/Jewish/Israelitic people by Rome beginning in the twelfth century about the time of the Pope's bloodthirsty Crusades. Thus we understand why Pope Pius XII's Nazi-SS forced the Jews of Eurasia to wear the star when confined to miserable ghettos and concentration camps. After WWII, the Pope's Masonic Jewish Labor Zionists chose to identify their new nation of Israel—the Vatican's "Kingdom of Jerusalem"—with this pagan death-star. When Messiah Yeshua returns, He will forever ban its use, having destroyed all devilish religion with the execution of Satan's Antichrist.

Investiture Ceremony, Knights of Malta, New York City, 1982 #130

Subordinate to the Papacy ordered by the Society of Jesus, the Knights continue their crusading quest of ruling all nations from Solomon's rebuilt temple on Mt. Zion in Jerusalem. To this end they have endeavored to destroy the LORD's glorious Protestant Reformation, while simultaneously annihilating all inherent patriotic nationalism—via Nazi-Communist totalitarian governments—around the globe. The Military Order consists of many garrisoned divisions, a "branch" or "tongue" located in most Western nations. The Knights had been OPENLY expelled from the "anti-capitalist, Communist USSR," giving credence to the Pope's Cold War Hoax, ended at Malta in December, 1989, by Masons Bush and Gorbachev. The Russian branch OPENLY took up residence in Jesuit-ruled Paris in 1917, when Lenin, secretly financed by SMOM and Masonic bankers from the old "City of London" and New York City, expelled the Knights in accordance with the Black Pope's communist propaganda—eliminating the "capitalist bourgeoisie." Therefore, Europe's Knights of Malta OPENLY sided with Nazi-fascism against Stalin's Communism during and after WWII. Today the Knights are leading the Pope's War on Terror via their puppets, President George W. Bush and Tony Blair. The Knights also direct the Saudi royal family.

Jesuit Power From the Holy Alliance to the Second Thirty Years' War Fulfilling the Council of Trent During "the British Century"

"MELCHOIR [MELCHIOR] INCHOFFER, a Jesuit suspected to be the author of the Monarchy of Solipsos ["people who wish to govern entirely"], was violently carried away clandestinely from Rome, whither he had returned to petition the Pope. The FATHER SCOTTI, the true author of the 'Solipsos,' escaped with difficulty the poniard and the poison." {1}

". . . the Jesuits [upon the Pope being declared "infallible" in 1870] wished to take a step towards the accomplishment of their great object of establishing a universal monarchy with the White Pope nominally at the head and the *Black Pope holding the reins." {2} [Emphasis added]

*The Black Pope

"The new General, Father Aloysius Fortis [the Black Pope having hosted the secret meeting at Chieri, Italy, in 1825, as recorded by Abate Leone in his The Jesuit Conspiracy, which meeting laid the plans for the Company's atheistic, Socialist-Communist, Socialist-Nazi World Revolution of the Twentieth Century], was born in 1748 and was consequently seventy-two years of age when he was elected [in 1820]. In spite of his age, however, he was in vigorous health and governed the Society for nine years. He had been in the old Society for eleven years before the Suppression. . . . In the [general] congregation [of Professed Jesuits of the Fourth Vow having elected him], Father Fortis proposed a resolution or a decree, as it is called, which is of supreme importance, and which was, it is needless to say, unanimously adopted. It runs as follows:

'Although there is no doubt that both the Constitutions given by Our Holy Founder [Illuminatus Ignatius Loyola], and whatever in the course of time the Fathers have judged to add to them, have recovered their force at the very outset of the restored Society, as it was the manifest wish of our Holy Father, Pius VII, that the Society re-established by him should be governed by the same laws as before the Suppression, nevertheless, to remove all anxiety on that score, and to put an end to the obstinacy of certain disturbers of the peace, this congregation not only confirms, but as far as necessary decrees anew, in conformity with the power vested in the General and the congregations by Paul III [in 1540], and reaffirms that not only the Constitutions with the declarations and the decrees of the general congregations, but the Common Rules and those of the several offices, the Ratio Studiorum, the ordinations, the formulas and whatsoever belongs to the legislation of Our Society are intact, and it wishes all and each of the aforesaid to have the same binding force on those who live in the Society that they had before Clement XIV's Bull of Suppression.' " {3}

[Dear truth-seeker, the above "resolution or decree" of Jesuit Superior General Aloysius Fortis proves two things: the Order, by the General's own admission, was suppressed by a Papal Bull, not a Brief; and that the Company after its Restoration is exactly the same nefarious, military body of politically conspiring, totally depraved sinners existing prior to its Suppression, adhering to the same Satanic Constitutions and precepts which brought the world to the brink of total political tyranny via murder, assassination and intrigue. The words of Jesuit General Lorenzo Ricci were carefully followed when he declared to King Louis XV just prior to the Order's Suppression in 1773: "Let them be as they are or else not be!"]

Thomas J. Campbell, 1921

Dear truth-seeker, you have now finished your Second Block of Jesuit history. Once again it is time to pause and reflect. You now have an understanding of the most important forty-one years in Modern History. You must remember the Jesuits created other international secret societies prior to and during this time for the purpose of accomplishing their evil ends while deceiving the nations as to which brotherhood truly rules the world. Working together while subordinated to the Black Pope, they brought about the tremendous upheaval in 1789, to which the movement of modern Communism is traced, resulting in the atheistic French Revolution and the Napoleonic Wars. These wars would serve as a terrible vengeance, punishing Europe's Roman Catholic Monarchs who would dare to righteously expel the Society from its borders.

The Jesuit General's war on the Papacy, daring to "forever suppress and extinguish" the Devil's Company, would be won and to this day, never be repeated.

By 1815, at the time of Satan's Congress of Vienna, the Jesuits were more powerful than before their suppression. Their purposes remained the same. The Jesuits had united, under THE POWER of the Black Pope, all Freemasonry (using Adam Weishaupt and his Illuminati in 1776, Adolph von Knigge at the Congress of Wilhelmsbad in 1782, at which the Papal "compass and square"—appearing in the stained-glass windows at the Cathedral of Notre Dame in Paris—first began to assume its Masonic significance, and Frederick the Great creating the Supreme Council of Thirty-third degrees—remembering that even as the Society of Jesus has its Constitutions, even so Shriner Freemasonry has its Constitutions) in 1786—and sought to destroy the Protestant Reformation returning the world to the Pope's Dark Ages. They would terribly persecute the Jews, as in the Dark Ages, while seeking to exalt the Papal Caesar to the place of a Satanic Egyptian Pharaoh—an "infallible" Druidic Roman Caesar and Priest-King, ruling the world from Jerusalem as "the universal god" (like the Grecian "PAN" or Egyptian "SET" of old, symbolized by the goat's head of Mendes. This Satanic goat's head depicted by "the Baphomet" was, according to Von Hammer in his Mines de l' Orient (1818), the symbol worshipped in the secret rites of those bloody Crusaders for the Popes, the Knights Templars, known today as Shriner Freemasons). He would exercise the power of an absolute Monarch over all the kings and dictators of the earth. In so doing the Jesuits would suppress any attempt by any people to establish popular, or as they called it, "liberal" government. These maxims would never change because the Jesuit Order would never change, remembering the words of former Jesuit General Lorenzo Ricci:

> "Let them be as they are or else not be!" {4} The secret to the unchanging nature of the Jesuit Order is given by Baptist-Calvinist Pastor Nelson C. Turner who writes:
> "The man who is a member of the Vatican military order of the Society of Jesus is a most unusual man. He is different from other men not by virtue of mere membership in what may be one of the world's oldest, continually active secret societies, nor simply because he dresses in the distinctive fashion of a Romish priest. The men of the Society are different from virtually all others on many counts, but the distinctions which cause them to differ from the generality of mankind are for the most part inward and are not readily observed or understood by those ignorant of the Bible and world history over the past five hundred years. While the Jesuit may bear any one of a thousand faces that would go unnoticed in a crowd, he bears something spiritual that separates him form other men. His spirituality is changeable, a spirituality of apparel that makes him an actor, and yet something more than an actor. As an accomplished actor he bears along in his mind a wardrobe of costumes suitable for the various scenes and situations that the plot of spiritual subversion spins. He is a gymnastic thespian, appearing in the guise of fatherly concern and tender charity here, and coming forth as a roaring lion defending dogma there. He is a man trained to 'become all things to all men.' He does this, as his motto declares, 'For the greater glory of God.' He may be ensconced in the pulpit of a Presbyterian Church ostensibly upholding the doctrines of Calvin; he might be a consultant and script writher in Holly wood [the Jesuit Theater]; he might be the handler of an informational assistant to your favorite talking head on news TV; or he may be the coach to a team of assassins who are all members of his church. Whatever he may be, the Jesuit can be anything, and yet is nothing. He is whatever he is told to be and if he is a 'good Jesuit,' that is all he ever will be.

To find the mind of the Jesuit, we must have the mind of Christ, but find the mind of Satan. To know the mind of the Jesuit is to know the mind of the Devil. No soul can rightly comprehend the 'mystery of iniquity' unless it first partakes of the 'mystery of godliness.' The Jesuit, as a Roman Catholic priest, will consistently preach the doctrine of the 'free will' of man; but he, to be what he is, has already totally relinquished control of his body, soul, possessions, conscience and future life to his superior. He deems himself to be without a will of his own, nothing more than 'a stick in the hand of an old man.' While he promises men liberty through the use of their 'free will,' he himself is the servant of corruption. His will is never his own, but has been extinguished by the will of his commanding officer.

His mind has been brought to or passed over the brink of insanity repeatedly through the lifelong, repetitious spiritual exercises and retreats where he wipes clean the slate of conscience and the spark of humanity through obsequious idolatry. His heart, black by nature, is polished to the luster of a lump of shiny coal, and when it is tossed into the furnace of ordered action will ignite to red and then glowing white heat in a most vehement manner. His best motions are for the worst purposes, and his greatest victory is the defeat of every pang and qualm of conscience within himself and those whom he is appointed to incite to evil. As the Scriptures say,

'The Devil is come down unto you, having great wrath.' (Rev. 12:12). So then, what is the mind of the Devil? The Devil doesn't come to man to elevate him, but to hold him fast in the chains of fallen flesh, and provoke him to further defilement through the promise of an illusory liberty obtained through self will. The Devil savors the things that be of men, and detests those that be of God. He promotes the will of man but deplores the will of God. He loves the power and arm of the flesh, and hates the work of the Spirit. The Devil loves hate, and hates love. He will do well to no man, but would make all men his servants. Promising promotion to those that obey him, he leads them along an ever sinking path to a reward of eternal conscious pain, a recompense which is meet to those that are so used of him. Promising to heal, he wounds and destroys, his blessings being all curses. He loves worship to be rendered unto him, but returns no worship to the God that created him. He is ever active and does much that looks good, but in his wake is a trail of corpses, collapse and consternation. He professes to promote piety while praying blasphemies, and drives the wicked headlong with the counsel of their free will. He begins where most men would stop and never pays the bill for the mischief which his blandishments have enticed others to commit. The sins and crimes he moves men to engage in become their own, and he smugly watches as they are taken and bound with cords, cheerfully ignoring their shrieks of terror and pain. The tear of sorrow, the pangs of remorse or regretful looking back are all unknown to the Devil, and these common human emotions are absent in the good Jesuit.

Compassion is in the mouth but not in the heart of the Jesuit, and his speeches about charity, unity, and equality are formed to drop a curtain of confusion over the mind of his hearers. When he speaks to men, they hear one thing, but he secretly means another. While he enunciates with embellished eloquence desires for peace and love, it is war that is in his heart. Good words and fair speeches pour forth from his feigned lips as he drowns his opponents with rhetoric devoid of truth and empty of righteousness. All is emotionless calculation with these workers of iniquity, so much that all outward and visible displays of emotion by the Jesuit are insincere and formulated to elicit the desired responses from his opponents. He never shows his true self because he has no true self. His ways are changeable that one cannot know them, yet he has no changes and fears not God. He is a man of mystery, a puzzle of a person who carries under his cloak a double heart that makes him heartless. He reaches into the heights of craft and knowledge as he plumbs the depths of depravity, and ever trawls the murky waters of sin for a prize." {5} [Emphasis added]

Scottish Protestant historian James A. Wylie concludes:

"So far we have traced the enrolment and training of that mighty [Jesuit] army which Loyola had called into existence for the conquest of Protestantism. . . . Let us survey the soldier of Loyola, as he stands in the complete and perfect panoply his General has provided him with. How admirably harnessed for the battle he is to fight! He has his 'loins girt about with' mental and verbal equivocation; he has 'on the breast-plate' of probabilism; his 'feet are shod with the preparation of the' Secret Instructions. 'Above all, taking the shield of' intention, and rightly directing it, he is 'able to quench all the fiery darts of' human remorse and Divine threatenings. He takes 'for an helmet' the hope of Paradise [as do the Pope's Moslem hordes unknowingly serving the Order as a "sword of the Church," now to be used against the West], which has been most surely promised him as the reward of his services; and in his hand he grasps the two-edged sword of a fiery fanaticism, wherewith he is able to cut his way, with prodigious bravery, through truth and righteousness. Verily, the man who has to sustain the onset of soldiers like these, and parry the thrusts of their weapons, had need to be mindful of the ancient admonition,

> 'Take unto you the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand.' [Eph. 6:13.] . . .
> While slowly and steadily climbing up to the control of kings, and the government of kingdoms, they are to study great modesty of demeanor and simplicity of life. The pride must be worn in the heart, not on the brow; and the foot must be set down softly that is to be planted at last on the neck of monarchs. 'Let ours that are in the service of princes,' say the Instructions, 'keep but a very little money, and a few movables, contenting themselves with a little chamber, modestly keeping company with persons in humble station; and so being in good esteem, they ought prudently to persuade princes to do nothing without their counsel, whether it be in spiritual or temporal affairs.' " {6}[Emphasis added]

It is with these insights that we shall fully understand the Nineteenth Century leading into World War I, the United States declaring war against Germany on "Good Friday," April 6, 1917. The Brotherhood will make great gains, as in its re-entrance into Japan (1865), its assassination of the Japanese Emperor Komei and the overthrow, via resignation, of the Japanese Tokugawa shogun (1867-1868), Japan's lifting of "the Christian Ban" (1873), its destruction of America's Protestant and Baptist-Calvinist Republic (1868) and the Pope being declared to be "infallible" (1870). The Order will also experience great losses, as in Pope Pius IX losing his Temporal Power to the Masonic Italian patriots (1870), as well as its expulsion from the German Empire (1872) and from Republican France (1880 and 1901).

But the Jesuits never forsake their grand design. With a will of steel, inspired of Satan, they regrouped in America and England, maneuvered their forces into critical positions throughout the world and then, at the will of their "Father General," ignited gigantic wars, the outcomes of which the Jesuits—history's greatest masters of contingency—held in their hands. They further amassed untold power and wealth, moving ever closer to the "infallible" Papal Caesar and Priest-King of their making, despotically ruling all the nations of the world through the Jesuit General's universal "Monarchy of Solipsos" from his palace-temple located at the center of the earth, from Solomon's rebuilt Temple in Jerusalem!

The Gesù, Mother Church of the Society of Jesus, Rome, 1970s #131

Oh, if only the inner walls and dark corridors of this mysterious inquisitional edifice could but talk, what a myriad of conspiracies and murders would unfold before our eyes! As the seat for the Company since 1571, the Gesù has been the heart of the Devil's international conspiracy for world government under the expected final Pope. Serving also as the clandestine "Grand Mother Lodge" for International Scottish Rite Freemasonry as well as Grand Orient Freemasonry, the "G" utilized in the Craft not only reflects sexual "Generation" and hermetic "Gnosticism," but identifies its true master within the "Gesù"—the Black Pope.

In conjunction with its "5, Borgo Santo Spirito," just outside Vatican walls, the Jesuit General coordinates all espionage and war through his international intelligence agencies. In 1963, his JFK assassin was CIA/Vatican desk operative, James Jesus Angleton. From 1872 to 1893 the Order would be expelled from Rome, for which reason the "liberal" Roman Catholic Italian people would pay with a river of treasure and blood during the Pope's Second Thirty Years' War.

Blind and deaf, this most evil of English Kings, whose Parliament established Roman Catholicism as the state religion of Quebec—the foundation and nursery of the Jesuit Order in North America—and whose Prime Minister was the Jesuit Lord Shelburne of Berkeley Square, secretly preserved the political and financial POWER of the Jesuit Order during its Papal "Suppression and Extinction."

Meanwhile, its General made War on the "accursed" Protestants and Baptists of North America, Protestant Germany, the Protestant Netherlands, the Holy Roman Empire, the Papacy and the Roman Catholic Monarchs of Europe, using the British Army, the French Revolution and Napoleonic Wars from 1775 to 1815. The Company was formally restored by Pope Pius VII in 1814, commanded by Jesuit General Tadeusz Brzozowski from 1805 to 1820, who then immediately established the oppressive Holy Alliance on the bones of the patriots of France.

Upon the Papal Caesar's formal Restoration of his victorious International Bodyguard on August 7, 1814, Satan's protectors of His sacred Papal Chair needed a disciplined, dauntless, and determined new Superior General. Out of the Order's harsh Russian exile would this Dutchman descend upon Europe to be the backbone of Prince Metternich's Holy Alliance. Rightly hailed as the "Second Founder" of the military Society of Jesus "fighting for Jesus and the Virgin Mary," this man of destiny would plot the destruction of George Washington's American Calvinist Republic. For we speak of none other than the most diabolical Luciferian High Priest of the Nineteenth Century, Johannes Roothaan, the 21st Superior General of the Jesuits, 1829 to 1853, who, according to Abate Leone, "conceals a propensity to violence and persecution."

The Jesuits — 1815

The Congress of Vienna; Pope Pius VII, "King of the Papal States"
The Holy Alliance; Spearheaded by the Jesuits
Austrian Roman Catholic Knight Of Malta, Prince Metternich

"They are Jesuits. This society of men, after exerting their tyranny for upwards of two hundred years, at length became so formidable to the world, threatening the entire subversion of all social order, that even the Pope, whose devoted subjects they are, and must be, by the vow of their society, was compelled to dissolve them. They had not been suppressed, however, for fifty years, before the waning influence of Popery and Despotism required their useful labors, to resist the light of Democratic liberty, and the Pope (Pius VII), simultaneously with the formation of the Holy Alliance, revived the order of the Jesuits in all their power. From their vow of "unqualified submission to the Sovereign Pontiff," they have been appropriately called the Pope's Body Guard [even as Himmler's SS, modeled after the Society of Jesus as ordered in the 1920s by Bavarian Papal Nuncio Eugenio Pacelli, was called Hitler's Body Guard].

And do Americans need to be told what Jesuits are? . . . they are a secret society, a sort of Masonic order, with superadded features of revolting odiousness, and a thousand times more dangerous. They are not merely priests, or of one religious creed; they are merchants, and lawyers, and editors, and men of any profession, having no outward badge (in this country) by which to be recognized; they are about in all your society.

They can assume any character, that of angels of light, or ministers of darkness to accomplish their one great end, the service upon which they are sent, whatever that service may be. They are all educated men, prepared and sworn to start at any moment, and in any direction, and for any service, commanded by the general of their order, bound to no family, community, or country, by the ordinary ties which bind men; and sold for life to the cause of the Roman Pontiff." {2}[Emphasis added]

"The sovereigns of the 'Holy Alliance' had massed large armies, and soon entered into a pledge to devote them to the suppression of all uprisings of the people in favor of free government; and he [Pope Pius VII] desired to devote the Jesuits, supported by his pontifical power, to the accomplishment of that end [to which intended end the Society has now arrived here in Fourteenth Amendment America]. He knew how faithfully they would apply themselves to that work, and hence he counseled them, in his decree of restoration, to strictly observe the 'useful advices and salutary counsels' whereby Loyola had made absolution the cornerstone of the society." {3}[Emphasis added]

"The Congress of Vienna . . . which had held its session secret, covering the whole year of 1814-15 . . . was a black conspiracy against Popular Governments at which the 'high contracting parties' announced at its close that they had formed a 'holy alliance.' This was a cloak under which they masked to deceive the people. The particular business of the Congress of Verona it developed, was the RATIFICATION of Article Six of the Congress of Vienna, which was in short, a promise to prevent or destroy Popular Government wherever found, and to re-establish monarchy [or absolute socialist-communist-fascist military dictatorships] where it had been set aside." {4}[Emphasis added]

The business at hand was now to suppress the movements for free government in Europe and elsewhere. The Jesuits had used the people and Napoleon to punish the Monarchs. The people, excited with the taste of republican freedom, must now be prevented from establishing "liberal" or non-absolutist governments. So the Congress of Vienna, having created "the Holy Alliance," was called in 1814, while the Papal Caesar restored his Bodyguard, the Society of Jesus, to its former status as the Order had existed before the French Revolution and Napoleonic Wars.

The Congress of Vienna had representatives from all the sovereigns in Europe. Tzar Alexander I attended personally. As evidence of its Jesuit control, there was even a representative from Protestant England. The three major players were the sovereigns from Russia, Prussia and Austria, overseen by the Pope, "King of the Papal States." (This is important to remember; for, when the Jesuits decided to change their form of absolutism from Roman Catholic, feudalistic, Machiavellian monarchies to Atheistic, socialist-communist, Platonic "republics," in contrast to Protestant-Calvinist, free enterprise, Biblical republics as established in Holland, South Africa, England and America, all three monarchies were permanently abolished by the end of World War I.) By the time the Order's "Superpower Summit" in Austria had terminated in 1815, the nations of Europe had been realigned and the monarchies reestablished under the watchful eye of the acting "Holy Roman Emperor," Knight of Malta Prince Klemens Lothar Wenzel Von Metternich, and the Pope's "Grand Inquisitor" himself, Jesuit General Thaddaeus Brzozowski.

The Congress, in purposing to destroy all movements for popular liberty, had for its head, the evil Prince von Metternich of Austria. What Napoleon was to the Monarchs, Metternich would be to the peoples. Of this Jesuit-controlled beast of a man we read from the father of Morse Code, Samuel F. B. Morse:

> " 'Prince Metternich,' says Dwight, 'is regarded by the liberals of Europe as the greatest enemy of the human race who has lived for ages. You rarely hear his name mentioned without exciting indignation, not only in the speaker but in the auditors. Metternich has not been attacking MEN but PRINCIPLES, and has done so much towards destroying on the continent those great political truths which nations have acquired through ages of effort and suffering, that there is reason to fear, should his system continue for half a century, liberty will forsake the continent to visit it no more. The Saxons literally abhor this Prince. The German word mitternacht means midnight. From the resemblance of the word to Metternich, as well from his efforts to cover Europe with political darkness, the Saxons call him Prince Mitternacht—Prince Midnight.' " {6} [Emphasis added]

And what did this "Prince Midnight" do? He enforced the political tyranny of "the White Terror," commonly known as "the Holy Alliance." Morse continues:

> "He persuaded the Emperor of Austria and King of Prussia not to fulfill the promise they so solemnly made to their [Protestant and Catholic] German subjects of giving them free constitutions. It was the influence of Metternich that prevented Alexander [Tzar and protector of the Russian Orthodox Church] from assisting [Orthodox] Greece in her struggles for liberty. [Could this Jesuit political control be the same reason "the Former Soviet Union" did not give aid to their Orthodox Serbian brothers during the War in Bosnia in 1998?] He lent Austrian vessels to assist the [Moslem] Turks in the subjugation of the [Orthodox] Greeks. [Was this not President Clinton's policy for the Serbs of Kosovo in 1999?] Metternich crushed the liberties of [Roman Catholic] Spain by inducing Louis XVIII [King of France] . . . to send 100,000 men there . . . to restore public order!
> When Sicily, Naples and Genoa, in 1820-21, threw off the galling yoke of slavery, Metternich sent his 30,000 [Roman Catholic] Austrian bayonets into [Roman Catholic] Italy and re-established despotism." {7} [Emphasis added]

Prince Metternich was a most faithful tool of his occult, Black-robed shadow, Jesuit General Johannes Roothaan, the calculating, cold, cruel and cunning "rebuilder of the Jesuits." For it was said Prince Midnight's rule "was shored up by a standing army of soldiers, a sitting army of bureaucrats, a kneeling army of priests, and a creeping army of informers." His Congress of Vienna enforced the political tyrannies championed by the Jesuit Order and their Council of Trent—regardless of the religion of any nation including Roman Catholicism. Austrian Roman Catholic Knight of Malta, Jesuit-controlled Prince Metternich was also the bosom friend of that "Radical Red/Black Republican" from Massachusetts, Senator Charles Sumner.

Sumner was the leading radical in the Senate, whose Federal, predominantly Roman Catholic-led, "Grande Armee of the Republic" conducted a war of annihilation against the White Anglo-Saxon peoples of the American Protestant and Baptist-Calvinist South from 1861 to 1865. The war continues to this day under numerous Jesuit-inspired Federal policies including its anti-White race "Affirmative Action."

As we shall see, Rome's present quest for an international fascist, socialist-communist police state is the same policy of the Jesuit General's Holy Alliance. That policy of "no religious freedom" and "no political freedom" has been continued via the Black Pope's International Intelligence Community which, with its Global International Banking System managed by the Pope's Knights of Malta laundering trillions of dollars in ill-gotten gain having been criminally generated by the Jesuit General's Mafia-aided International Drug Trade, is then financing, managing and directing the Jesuit General's diabolical and merciless Global Terrorist Network. It includes Fidel Castro of Cuba, Gerry Adams of the IRA, the supposedly captured Saddam Hussein of Iraq, the recently poisoned Yasser Arafat of the PLO (having secretly worked with Zionist Israel's Jesuit-trained Foreign Minister, Shimon Peres, in continuing the Palestinian agitation for the benefit of the Papacy and its ultimate possession of Jerusalem's Temple Mount) and Saudi Arabia's Osama bin Laden who now has been declared to be "dead" by the FBI's chief of counter terrorism, Dale Watson. Although a tool of the CIA himself, Bin Laden has been the willing "scapegoat" for the Agency's remotely controlled aerial attack (using "hijacked" American airliners) on the Twin Towers of New York City's World Trade Center, which Towers were then INTERNALLY IMPLODED, and a "Sky Warrior" aircraft hit the Pentagon in Washington, D.C., (this high treason being entirely managed by the Archbishop of New York, Edward Cardinal Egan). At the time, President George W. Bush was conveniently in Florida (benevolently reading a book to Black school children), having been given secret instructions to follow, after a recent visit to the Vatican, by that forerunner of Satan's Antichrist, Pope John Paul II. Americans will now unite to ignorantly fight a no-win, CFR-led, Middle East War enabling the Black Pope's MI6/CIA/BND/KGB/Mossad/ISI to destroy Jerusalem's Dome of the Rock during the confusion of war. Persecution of Bible-believers and Jews will be strictly enforced during the General's coming New World Order—the restoration of the "infallible" Papal Caesar's Dark Ages. The propaganda being used among Bible-rejecting intellectuals to bring this about is called "the New Age Movement," the conclusion of that agenda culminating in "that man of sin" (II Thessalonians 2:3) in Jerusalem! That "wild beast" and "king of fierce countenance" will be the Jesuits' White "infallible" Gentile Pope, risen from the dead, given all the kingdoms of the world, ruling from Solomon's rebuilt Temple, having previously destroyed Vatican City, and invincible for "forty-two months!" Key to his great Satanic Power will be his Baal-worshipping, Hebrew/Jewish False Prophet who,

> ". . . had two horns like a lamb, and he spake as a dragon.
> And he exerciseth all the power of the first beast before him, > and causeth the earth and them which dwell therein > to worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed."

The Jesuits — 1822 – 1825

The Secret Treaty of Verona
America's Protestant-Calvinist Isolationist Monroe Doctrine
The Secret Plans at Chieri; the Great Jesuit Conspiracy Revealed Blueprint for the Destruction of Reformed Western Civilization

"It was observed to me, that the father of whom I have already spoken, he who opened the conference by an address to his colleagues, expressed himself like one having authority. He evidently took the lead, and all the others showed much deference for him. His expressions and his deportment would seem to indicate that he was himself the restorer of the society, and that he directed it as chief mover; for neither did his language nor that of the others give the slightest indication that he was in any way dependent on any superiors. It thus appears probable that the president of the meeting at Chieri was the General of the Jesuits.

Now, at this period, the General of the Order was no other than Father [Aloysius] Fortis, the same who, when Pius VII conceived the project of introducing some innovations into the articles of the Jesuitical Constitutions, repeated these memorable words,

'Sint ut sunt, aut non sint.'

It is to this reply, first addressed to Clement XIV by Father Ricci, General of the Company, that Archbishop de Pradt alludes, when, recapitulating his ideas on this invincible society, he thus expresses himself:—

'Heavens! What an institution is this! Was there ever one so powerful amongst men! How, in fact, has Jesuitism lived? How had it fallen? Like the Titans, it yielded only to the combined thunderbolts of all the gods of the earthly Olympus. Did the aspect of death damp its courage? Did it yield one step? Let us be what we are, it said, or let us be no longer. This was truly to die standing, like the emperors, and according to the precept of one of the masters of the world.'

Supposing that someone knows, either by private intelligence or as an accomplice, that there is a plot to set a town on fire, may he, notwithstanding his oath of secrecy, give information to the authorities, in order that they may take the necessary measures of prevention? Would it be lawful for the confessor, who might be informed of the fact, to take, notwithstanding the sacramental seal upon his lips, the needful steps to prevent so great a catastrophe?

Supposing that a conspiracy existed, the success of which would bring ruin on a kingdom, might it, in spite of all imaginable oaths to secrecy, be revealed by a conspirator, or by the confessor himself? Yes. I have heard it laid down by the most profound casuists, that where the general good is in question oaths are in no way binding in such cases as these. Now, besides that I am bound by no promise, I may boldly affirm that it is not an individual that is here at stake, or a town, or a kingdom, but the far more important interests of civilization and of the gospel itself, which is alone able, by the force of truth, to transform this vicious civilization, and to substitute for it that Kingdom of God whose coming we daily invoke in our Christian prayers. . . .

In fact it was impossible for me to act otherwise than as I did; and I will add, in order to conceal nothing, that it would have been equally impossible for me afterwards to resist the yearning I constantly felt to search into everything that had the slightest connection with those Jesuitical revelations which were ever present to my mind. What I am, intellectually and morally, all my researches and all my ulterior labours, all the materials which I possess—my whole life, in short resolves itself into the sudden and terrible enlightenment which so early flashed upon me, and which communicated to all my energies an irresistible impulse.

It might be objected that it would be more prudent, on my part, not to provoke, by the publication of this secret, irreconcilable hatred, and perhaps, even revenge. But have I not undergone the most painful sacrifices in order to keep myself independent? . . . And now, perceiving, to my great surprise, . . . that . . . a certain class of [Masonic] interests, either from blindness or irreflection, is inclined to mix itself up with the interests of the Jesuits, little aware of the nature of the allies it seeks, or of the fate which attends all who make common cause with them." {1}[Emphasis added]

The Jesuit Conspiracy:
The Secret Plan of the Order

". . . Jesuitism inspired its followers with fanaticism . . . There was no crime too great for them to commit, no deception too base for them to practice, no disguise too difficult for them to assume [including feigning to be a Jew or a Moslem] . . . It was a fundamental principle of the order that the end justifies the means. By this code, lying, theft, perjury, assassination, were not only pardonable but commendable, when they served the interests of the church. Under various disguises the Jesuits worked their way into offices of state [including certain Arab leaders of the Middle East and certain ruling Labor

Zionists of Israel], climbing up to be the counselors of kings, and shaping the policy of nations." {2} [Emphasis added]

'In a Protestant country he is a Protestant [like Freemasons Billy Graham and Robert Schuller]; in a Catholic country he is a Catholic; and in a Mussulman country he is a Mussulman [like Islamic Freemason Osama bin Laden].' Les Jesuites

The Jesuits had not only conspired against the peoples of Europe, they had also conspired to overthrow the government of the United States as its Protestant Constitution protected the rights of White Protestant American freemen. (Remember at the breaking out of the American Revolution there were less than thirty thousand Roman Catholics and twenty-four priests in the Colonies.) Of this great conspiracy we read the words of Senator Robert L. Owen recorded in the Diplomatic Code, by Jonathan Elliot, page 179:

"The Holy Alliance having destroyed the popular government in Spain, and in Italy, had well-laid plans to destroy popular government in the American Colonies which had revolted from Spain and Portugal in Central and South America under the influence of the successful example of the United States.

It was because of this conspiracy against the American Republic by the European monarchies that the great English statesman, [Prime Minister George] Canning, called the attention of our government to it, and our statesmen then, including Thomas Jefferson, who was still living at that time, took an active part to bring about the declaration by President Monroe in his next annual message to the Congress of the United States that the United States would regard it as an act of hostility to the government of the United States and an unfriendly act, if this coalition, or if any power of Europe ever undertook to establish upon the American continent any control of any American republic, or to acquire any territorial rights [even as the Papacy has established control over Washington, D.C., through its "trusted third party," the Council on Foreign Relations directing the Central Intelligence Agency].

> This is the so-called Monroe Doctrine. The threat under the secret treaty of Verona to suppress popular government in the American republics is the basis of the Monroe Doctrine. This secret treaty sets forth clearly the conflict between the government of the few as against the government of the many." {4}[Emphasis added]

Yes, dear truth-seeker, the Holy Alliance of 1815 with its Secret Treaty of Verona of 1822 was a massive conspiracy against both the "heretic" American people and "liberal" government of the United States as established by George Washington. The Monroe Doctrine was put forth in 1823 to resist this conspiracy. It was the basis for President Lincoln commanding the French army—sent by the Jesuits' Napoleon III—to leave Mexico, during the War Between the States. This Monroe Doctrine was the basis by which President Kennedy commanded the Russian fleet to stay out of Cuba during the Missile Crisis of 1962. Ultimately, both Lincoln and Kennedy were assassinated by Loyola's Blackrobes, surnamed The Engineer Corps of Hell, as both sought to resist the Jesuit General's policies of the Holy Alliance in making their Papal Caesar the Theocratic Universal Monarch of the World.

In addition to the Congress of Vienna and the secret Treaty of Verona, the Jesuit Order further perfected its grand design in a little town called Chieri located in Italy. The following quote, assembled from Abate Leone's The Jesuit Conspiracy:

The Secret Plan of the Order, is taken from Augusta Cooke's great book, Bolshevism and the Jesuits' Church: Throne and Empire in Danger, published in the early 1930s. The quote appears to be a combination of the Company's Secret Instructions of the Jesuits and The Protocols of the Meetings of the Learned Elders of Zion. We read with wonder beholding the bombastic audacity of these words:

> In 1825, some eleven years after the revival of the Jesuit Order, a secret meeting of leading Jesuits was held at their College at Chieri near Turin, in Northern Italy. At that gathering plans were discussed for the advancement Vatican Assassins of Papal power, world-wide, for the destabilizing of governments who stood in the way and for the crushing of all opposition to Jesuit schemes and ambitions. A young Jesuit, named Leone, a favourite of the Rector at Chieri (who subsequently became General of the Order) took notes of the speeches and discussions at Chieri and these were afterwards published by a French publisher. In 1848 they were translated into English and published as a book entitled [The Jesuit Conspiracy:] The Secret Plan [of the Order] by Leone, which has been thoroughly authenticated and can be read in the Library of the British Museum. It makes enlightening reading and we will now reproduce some extracts as originally published by the late Augusta Cooke.

A. Long Term Plan for World Government

The first generation will not belong to us; the second will nearly belong to us; the third will entirely belong to us. You well know that what we aim at, is the Empire of the World.

B. Working in Secret and Using Duplicity

Let us prefer a Secret War, let us shun too much light. Every Bishop must vigorously act upon this principle, be gentle but inflexible—Let him know how to assume the demeanor of a lamb . . . which will win all hearts; but let him also know how to act with the fierceness of a raging lion when he is called upon to defend the rights of the Church . . . Nothing ought in fact to distinguish us in appearance from other men. Yes, the Catholic exterior may be sociable but let him not the less cherish within him concentrated rage and unconquerable antipathy.

C. Working by Revolution and Class Warfare to Destabilize Opponents

When the ebullition [state of boiling agitation] which we are secretly fomenting shall have reached a sufficient point, the cover shall be suddenly removed, and we shall pour our liquid fire upon those political meddlers who are ignorant and unreflecting enough to serve as tools in our hands, and our efforts will result in a Revolution, worthy of the name, which shall combine in one universal conquest, all the conquests that have been made.

For I would not have it lost sight of, that our chief concern must be to mould the people to our purpose . . . yes, the people are the vast domain we have to conquer . . . the higher classes are always very inaccessible to the lower ones. Let us nourish their mutual antipathy. Let us accustom the mob, which is in fact an implement of power to look upon us as its warmest advocates: favouring its desires, let us feed the fire of its wrath and open to its view a golden age [the New World Order].

[Dear truth-seeker, as outlined above, class warfare advocated by the Order is exactly what has been done in the United States for the last sixty years between Capital and Labor, and between Whites and Blacks via the wicked decisions of the Supreme Court, the propaganda of the CFR-ruled national Press and of Hollywood.]

D. Influencing the Great and Powerful

It is upon the great that we ought particularly to exert our influence. We ought to bring them to believe that in a period as storming as this there is no safety for them but through us. We must give them to understand that the cause of evil, the bad leaven, will remain as long as Protestantism shall exist, that Protestantism must therefore be utterly abolished.

E. Using Writers and Authors

We ought by every possible means to secure the aid of modern thinkers, whatever be the nature of their opinions. If they can be induced at all, to write in our favour, let us pay them well either in money or laudation [the thinkers and writers of America's Council on Foreign Relations].

F. Ireland Their Hope

Initiated fathers [Professed Jesuits under Extreme Oath], great are the hopes I build on the energies of OUR IRELAND. I regard her as OUR CHAMPION. Let us only be careful to anoint her effectually with our oil, so that in wrestling with her [British] tyrant she may always slip from his grasp. In how many folds may she not entangle the British she-wolf if she will but listen to our counsels . . . What may we not make of an idiot, savage and famishing people (the Irish)? [Is this what the Jesuits think of their Irish Catholics?] It will prove our Samson and with its irresistible jawbone it will grind to dust the myriads of Philistines (the British).

And now we learn what is the baptism of fire, which at each confession I used to pour upon the heads of my penitents in Ireland:

'Poor people' I say to them, 'How have they degraded you . . . look at these great landlords, they revel in wealth, they devour the land, they laugh at you . . . and yet if you knew how to count up your strength you are stronger than they [agitating poor Irish Catholics against wealthy "heretic" Protestants justifying Masonic socialist-communism to the detriment of both peoples].'

G. A Catholic 'Master Race'

The Catholic people is the successor to the people of God (Israel) [the Pope's Amillennial Replacement Theology], consequently, heretics are the enemies (Canaanites) we are bound to exterminate [justifying the Order's genocidal wars through the last five centuries]. We may say that God designs for extermination, like the Canaanites, all the nations that obstinately refuse to enter into the unity of the Church, and that the Vicar of Jesus Christ (the Pope) is appointed to execute these judgments in due time.

H. Hatred for Protestants

All will go well for us provided we can obtain that the Catholic from his childhood shall abhor even the breath of a heretic. Catholics shall be imbued with hatred for heretics, whoever they may be and that this hatred shall constantly increase and bind them closely to each other. That it be nevertheless dissembled so as not to transpire until the day when it shall be appointed to break forth. That this secret hate be combined with great activity in endeavouring to detach the faithful from every government inimical to us and to employ them when they shall form a detached body to strike deadly blows at heresy [Stalin's NKVD, Donovan's OSS, Menzies' SIS and Hitler's SS/SD].

When the evening comes we shall pay them in good money for the Middle Ages [restoring the Dark Ages, deceptively called the New World Order].

Do they flatter themselves that no spark still smoulders in the ashes around the stake to kindle another fire . . . they are far from dreaming that we alone know how to prepare another revolution [like the Second Thirty Years' War, 1914-1945, and now the Order's Crusade against Islam in the Middle East], compared with which all theirs have been but pigmy insurrections.

In calling us 'Jesuits' they think they have covered us with opprobrium. They little think that Jesuits have in store for them the censorship gags and flames and will one day be their masters [as in the United States, Canada and Great Britain today in 2007].

I. Destroying Protestantism

We cherish at the bottom of our hearts this principle—that whatever does not unite with us must be ANNIHILATED and we hold ourselves ready to make as soon as we shall have the means [via the Federal Reserve Bank], an energetic application of these principles. Protestantism is already wearing out and sinking to decay. Yes we are destined to insult its last agonies, to march over its broken skeleton and scattered bones. O let us hasten this dissolution by our strong and united efforts. Protestantism is becoming decomposed; it is falling to pieces. We are beginning to gain from it men of note [England's 19th Century Anglican John Cardinal Newman] and there are even high personages whom we have succeeded in convincing that if they continue to uphold Protestantism, they are lost.

J. View of the Bible

Then the Bible [The Authorized King James Version of 1611], that serpent which with head erect and eyes flashing threatens us with its venom while it trails along the ground, shall be changed into a rod as soon as we are able to seize it [The English Revised Version (as well as the many succeeding versions) completed in 1881, based on a corrupt, pro-Latin Vulgate Greek Text pursuant to the Jesuit General's Council of Trent, and hailed by the Jesuits in Dublin, Ireland as "the death knell of Protestantism," the culminating work of the English Revision Committee being the result of a "conspiracy" in the words of the Dean of Chichester and master Greek scholar, John Burgon] . . . for three centuries past this cruel asp has left us no repose. You well know with what folds it entwines us and with what fangs it gnaws us [as The Authorized Version is the bulwark for the very Reformation the Order is oath-bound to destroy]." {5} [Emphasis added]

(The Society of Jesus, in control of the world's major universities and thus the sciences, would continue its attack on the inerrancy of the Protestant Reformation's "final authority of faith and practice." With the Bible teaching

"geocentricity," that the earth is stationary and therefore "cannot be moved" (Psalm 93:1), while the sun orbits around the earth traveling on its daily "circuit" (Psalm 19:6), both the Order and the Craft would use their corrupted form of "astronomy" to promote the opposite.

(For Tycho Brahe, a Danish Protestant and the foremost geocentric astronomer of the Sixteenth Century, was given the Order's "poison cup" in 1564 by his heliocentric assistant and student, Johannes Kepler, whose uncle was a Jesuit!) The Satanic sun worshipping doctrine of "heliocentricity," that the earth "rotates on its axis while revolving around the sun," would continue to be forced down the throat of the world's scientific community using one of the Pope's Court Jews, the Masonic Jewish Zionist Albert Einstein, who openly advocated the rebuilding of Solomon's Temple in Jerusalem. Heliocentricity would ultimately become a religious tenet, disbelief of which would constitute a scientific "heresy" resulting in the expulsion and "excommunication" from the world's "Holy Mother Scientific Church." For a most excellent DVD see Geocentric Universe 2.2. Contact: stavro_jones@yahoo.com. Further, see www.midclyth.supanet.com. for more truly scientific information.)

Dear truth-seeker, will the Jesuit Order continue to remain absolute in Washington, D.C., or will the risen Son of God raise up a Deliverer for us as we obey His Word—The Authorized King James Version of 1611? The choice is ours!

The son of a Calvinist Congregationalist Minister, Jedidiah Morse, Samuel Morse is known as the father of Morse Code and the telegraph that he developed exercising his Protestant rights of freedom of conscience and freedom of the press, so condemned by the Jesuits' Council of Trent. His first message from Washington, D.C., to Baltimore in 1844 declared, "Look what God hath wrought!" Morse was also the author of one of the most profound works of the Nineteenth Century, Foreign Conspiracy Against the Liberties of the United States, in which he warned his countrymen of the Great Jesuit Conspiracy to overthrow the liberties of Protestant "freemen" secured by the Constitution, replacing our form of government with the absolutism of a tyrant supported by Austria's Prince Metternich and his Holy Alliance. He, along with our hero Charles Chiniquy, also warned President Lincoln that the Jesuits, priests and nuns of Rome were merely agents of a foreign power, and that the War Between the States was a work of the Jesuits, having been planned deep within the Vatican since the Order's evil and subversive Secret Treaty of Verona finalized in 1822.

" 'Learn to know us, and in the first place know that in our first book we lied. We spoke of liberty of instruction. That means that the clergy alone should teach (Instruction belongs to the clergy, of divine right. The University has usurped. Either the University or Catholicism must give place.) . . . We spoke of liberty of the press—for ourselves alone. It is a lever of which the priest should obtain possession. As for industrial liberty, 'to seize upon the different kinds of industry, is a duty of the church [through Mafia-controlled Unions and corporate-fascist monopolies].' The liberty of worship! Let's not speak of it! It is an invention of [Roman Emperor] Julian the Apostate [who rightly diminished Rome's centralized power]. We will no longer tolerate mixed [Catholic and Protestant} marriages! They performed such marriages at the Court of Catherine de Medici, on the eve of St. Bartholomew!

Let them take care! We are the strongest. We give a sufficient proof of it, and one that cannot be answered; it is, that all the powers of Europe are against us. Except two or three little States, the whole world condemns us [which Jesuit logic simply stated is that the proof of the Order's supreme earthly power over all other secret societies and governmental bodies of men is its universal condemnation].' convicted, SHALL BE SENTENCED AND ORDERED TO BE BANISHED FROM THE UNITED KINGDOM FOR THE TERM OF HIS NATURAL LIFE." {3} [Emphasis added]

The Relief Bill, 1829
10 Geo. 4, cap. 7:29
Act of British Parliament

"Why have the Jesuits been expelled from Roman-Catholic countries? And why have we not heard of the expulsion or suppression of other orders?

The answer to this question is furnished by the extract from Pope Clement's Bull, namely that Jesuitism is productive of 'seditions, tumults, discords, dissensions, scandals;' . . . How can their suppression from Roman Catholic countries, the dark and hideous picture drawn by Clement the 14th, twelve other Popes, the King of Portugal, the Universities and parliaments of Europe, and other distinguished Roman Catholics, be reconciled with the apparent character of the Jesuits? Shall we say that Clement and the other Popes were odious monsters, deserving eternal execration for fabricating this huge calumny? that his most Catholic Majesty was most mendacious and vindictive? . . .

Or shall we say that the Jesuits are the secret and sworn enemies of all law and order; that in proportion to the magnitude of their designs in the religious hypocrisy with which they deceive their votaries; that they value neither doctrines, persons, nor things, further than these tend to the interest of their order; and that they set before themselves a design of no less importance than to enslave the soul and body of every human being [suffering under a government secretly or openly controlled by Order]?

Any person who is even partially acquainted with the real history of the Company will not hesitate to adopt the latter view of the question. . . .

We have then, from the writings of the Jesuits themselves, ample proof of what Clement 14th, the king of Portugal, and others asserted respecting them. These things being so, it becomes a question of vital importance whether Roman Catholics or Protestants should encourage these secret disturbers of the peace and order of society. . . .

A Jesuit mission was, not long since, established in Galway [Ireland]. . . . Immediately on the Jesuits having transgressed our national law, which forbids their existence in this country, the peace and harmony, which existed among Roman Catholics and Protestants, is broken up. Agrarian outrages, electioneering disturbances, a fierce persecution against Protestants, and Phoenix [Masonic] conspiracies are multiplied. They have not ceased to work their secret machinery, . . . Jesuitism is then, not merely an enemy to Protestants and free institutions, but to every Roman Catholic who dares to think for himself in matters either sacred or secular, and the only restraints that are laid upon them in this country, and which prevent them from running into excesses of temporal and spiritual despotism similar to those in which they indulged in Italy, are those that are laid on [them] by a constitutional government, which tolerates them when they are expelled from Roman Catholic countries—and the freedom, action, and opinion of such distinguished men as the Peters and Barrys, who appreciate too highly the freedom they enjoy as British subjects to bow their neck to the yoke which the Italians lately cast off [in 1870]. Nor is this opposition which Jesuitism or Ultramontane tyranny [Nazi fascism] encounters confined to [Roman Catholic] individuals. . . .

But we solemnly warn both Roman Catholic and Protestant, if they would not have society disorganized—if they value the first principles of morality, but, above all, if they would be zealous for the glory of God, let them demand the enforcement of that statute, the 'Relief Bill,' against these men who falsely call themselves the Society of Jesus, but whose mission is to subvert the plainest commands of God's blessed Word." {4} [Emphasis added]

A Glimpse of the Great Secret Society

"The rich [Jesuit] province of England is likely to be the general refuge of the Company. The origin of the Jesuit-wealth in England is interesting. When their colleges at St. Omer, Bruges, and Ghent crumbled under the horns of the Papal bull, the establishment at Liege was somehow spared. The [Black Pope's] French Revolution supervened: that avenger included the Jesuits in its fearful retribution [even as the Black Pope's Nazi Third Reich openly murdered select Jesuits thereby misleading the public as to the real power behind Hitler's "Final Solution to the Jewish Question"]; the college at Liege was destroyed; the Jesuits and their pupils were expelled. This misfortune was the harbinger of prosperity to the Belgian Jesuits. The took refuge in England; and the generous Thomas Weld, of Lulworth Castle, a Catholic gentleman, presented the exiles with the domain of Stonyhurst. . . . The Jesuits are highly esteemed in the neighborhood: their handsome church is thronged on Sundays and festivals; and on stated occasions, they distribute portions of meat to the poor, besides supporting a small school for their children [for the purpose of deceiving the common people in light of their nefarious history]. Hence they have influence in those parts, as any Member of Parliament will find to his cost, should he not make friends with the Jesuits.

The English fathers have no less than thirty-three establishments, or colleges, residences, and missions in England. Of course Stonyhurst is the principal establishment, where the Provincial of England resides. . . . Of the 806 missionary priests in Great Britain, including bishops, the Jesuits alone can say how many are enlisted under the banner of Ignatius [all of them], . . . The Jesuits are muffled in England; it is difficult to distinguish them in the names of the Catholic lists annually published. . . .

The Jesuits in England dress as any clergyman, or any gentleman: by their outward man you cannot tell them. . . . I have been asked if I do not think that there are Jesuits incognito in the University of Oxford [as there were indeed at the time secretly backing Anglican Bishops John Newman and Henry Manning's Romanizing Oxford Movement]. . . . surely, if a Jesuit may assume the Brahmin and Pariah, in order to 'ingraft Christianity on Paganism,' he may assume the Protestant, in order to ingraft Romanism on Protestantism, firmly convinced of Lucian's axiom, namely, that 'a beginning is the half of everything.' . . .

Again I have been asked, by what sign can one distinguish a Jesuit?

Perhaps the sign whereby you may know the Jesuits, is their being better housed, better clothed, and better fed than most other Roman Catholic priests. . . . their movements in London are considered by many of the orthodox [Catholic priests] as somewhat encroaching. If these 'doings' in London are 'for a sign' as to their other localities, they are not idle. Nine years ago, there were only two Jesuits in London; there are now at least four in one 'residence;' and if their great church in Berkeley-square be now finished, there must be twelve Jesuits in London, to 'serve' their metropolitan speculation [i.e., to rule London as they do in 2007], as was intended. Every year a bill is proposed in Parliament for the removal of Catholic disabilities, including a clause in favor of the Jesuits." {5}[Emphasis added]

English Ex-Jesuit and Historian
History of the Jesuits

" 'My Jesuit Confessor,' says Dr. [Luigi] Desanctis, 'was Secretary to the French Father Assistant (of the Jesuit Order), and as he esteemed me much, and accounted me an affiliated member of the Society, he made many disclosures to me.' Among these disclosures were the following:—

'Despite all the persecution they (the Jesuits) have met with, they have not abandoned England, where there are a greater number of Jesuits than in Italy; that there are Jesuits in all classes of Society; in Parliament; among the English Clergy; among the Protestant laity, even in the higher stations. I could not comprehend how a Jesuit could be a Protestant priest, or how a Protestant priest could be a Jesuit; but my Confessor silenced my scruples by telling me, omnia munda mundis, and that St. Paul became as a Jew that he might save the Jews; it was no wonder, therefore, if a Jesuit should feign himself a Protestant, for the conversion of Protestants. But pay attention, I entreat you, to my discoveries concerning the nature of the religious movement in England termed Puseyism. The English Clergy were formerly too much attached to their [Thirty-nine] Articles of Faith to be shaken from them. You might have employed in vain all the machines set in motion by [Bishop Jacques Benigne] Bossuet and the Jansenists of France to reunite them to the Romish church; and so the Jesuits of England tried another plan. This was to demonstrate from history and ecclesiastical antiquity the legitimacy of the usages of the English Church, whence, through the exertions of the Jesuits concealed among its clergy, might arise a studious attention to Christian antiquity. This was designed to occupy the clergy in long, laborious, and abstruse investigation, and to alienate them from their Bibles.'

[The Jesuit, answering another question, added] ' . . . the Puseyite movement must be let alone that it may bring forth fruit. If all the Puseyites were to declare themselves Catholics, the Movement would be at an end. Protestants would be alarmed and the whole gain of the Catholic Church would be reduced to some million of individuals and no more.

From time to time it is as well that one of the Puseyite leaders should become a Catholic, in order that, under our instructions, the Movement may be better conducted; but it would not be desirable for many of them to come over to Catholicism. Puseyism is a living testimony of Catholicism in the midst of our enemies; it is a worm at the root which, skillfully nourished by our exertions, will waste Protestantism till it is destroyed.' The Secret History of the Oxford Movement

By the year 1820 the Jesuits were in high gear restoring "the altar and the throne" in Europe. But their first major setback occurred when Tzar Alexander I expelled them from Russia. Of this great day we read:

"The Russian emperor, Alexander, was currently compelled to issue a royal ukase in 1816, by which he expelled them from St. Petersburg and Moscow. This proving ineffectual, he issued another in 1820, excluding them entirely from the Russian dominions. The emperor set forth in his decree that he had intrusted them with the education of youth, and had imposed no restrictions upon their right to profess and practice their own religion, but that they had 'abused the confidence which was placed in them, and misled their inexperienced pupils;' that whilst they enjoyed toleration themselves, 'they implanted a hard intolerance in the natures infatuated by them;' and that all their efforts 'were directed merely to secure advantages for themselves, and the extension of their power, and their conscience found in every refractory > action a convenient justification in their statutes' . . . 'where, in fact, is the State that would tolerate in its bosom those who sow in it hatred and discord.' " {7} [Emphasis added]

(Yes, dear truth-seeker, right here in Fourteenth Amendment America, the "Union of American Socialist Republics!" The Order also took refuge in Quebec, Canada, resulting in ninety percent of its Prime Ministers being Roman Catholic!) The Jesuits were now formally expelled from Russia and would not be allowed to re-enter for over one hundred years. In 1922 the Bolshevik and Jewish Freemason, Vladimir Lenin (his Jewish maternal grandfather being Moishe Irskovich Blank) would give the Company permission to return to the Jesuit General's Russian "Union of Soviet Socialist Republics." Lenin would then be given "the poison cup" in 1924.

With the papal restoration of the Society of Jesus in the United States via a Brief of Pope Pius VII in 1805, Presbyterian Calvinism received the brunt of the attack. (Apparently President Thomas Jefferson (1801-1809) never objected to the restoration of this sworn enemy of Protestant and Baptist liberties, as he was "an Illuminatus" according to Calvinist Congregational minister Jedidiah Morse.

Indeed, Jefferson, though having espoused "liberal," constitutional principles, was a covert agent of the Black Pope, evidenced by his comradery with the Order's French Jacobins while in Paris (1784-1789); his defense of occult Jesuit and brother Illuminatus, Adam Weishaupt; and his notorious "Jefferson Bible" in which he denies the Lord Jesus Christ's virgin birth, numerous miracles, bodily resurrection and ascension into heaven!) New England's citadel of Calvinism, Yale College in New Haven, Connecticut, would be invaded with a new secret society, "the Order of Skull and Bones." Founded in 1832 as the covert "Protestant-based Jesuit Order," we read of the initiation, it being a dead giveaway as to its authors, the Sons of Loyola:

> "In the Inner Temple . . . a senior dressed as the Pope sits in the chair to the left of the fireplace with one foot, covered in a white slipper monogrammed 'SBT,' perched on a stone skull . . . The stage is set: The oath of secrecy [like the secret Jesuit Oath], . . . waits on the table. . . . The Yorick, a skull container, . . . is filled with blood [or another red liquid] . . . and rests at the foot of the Madame [an encased skeleton acclaimed to be Madame de Pompadour—the relentless enemy of the Jesuits who encouraged her paramour, King Louis XV, to expel the Order from France in 1764] . . . The shakers . . . [being] the brawniest knights . . . whisk the neophyte to a picture of Judas Iscariot, whose name the crowd screams three times ["Judas" symbolizing the Order's hatred for risen Son of God's beloved Hebrew/Jewish/Israelitic people whom also the Jesuits hate and anathematize as the "killers of Christ"].

> The shakers push the initiate to his knees in front of the Yorick and force his head toward the pool of "blood." To the neophyte's dismay, the crowd implores him to 'Drink it! Drink it! Drink it!,' which he must [just as the Jesuit priests drink the symbolic "blood of Christ" at every "mass" according to the Order's wicked doctrine of "transubstantiation"]. The shakers hurry the initiate to the Pope, but not before the Devil whips him in the face with his tail [evidencing the Bonesman's submission to Satan as are the high Jesuits under the Fourth Vow]. The initiate bends to kiss the Pope's slippered toe on the skull [indicating the earthly master of the Order of Skull and Bones—like the Jesuit Order—is the Pope, the skull symbolizing his power of death over the initiate]. When the initiate is brought to Don Quixote [symbolizing Ignatius Loyola, the first Jesuit Superior General, who, like Don Quixote, went to Jerusalem seeking to liberate the "City of God" from the Moslem "infidel"], who stands just in front of the fireplace with a sword in his right hand [symbolizing the Jesuit Order as "the Church Militant"], he is pushed once again to his knees, but this time for glory ["ad majorem Dei gloriam"—"for the greater glory of God"—being the universal word of command for the Society of Jesus] as the crowd falls silent once again. Quixote taps the junior on the left shoulder and says, 'By order of our Order [secretly the Jesuit Order for whom Don Quixote speaks], I dub thee Knight of Eulogia [a pagan female goddess symbolizing none other than Rome's pagan female goddess, "the Virgin Mary," as the Jesuits were first called "the Knights of the Virgin Mary"]. The skeleton nearest the tocsin [a bell] in the room strikes it three times, then two times, then twice again [322] and the crowd shouts, 'Bones' [the Jesuits also using skeletons in one of their initiations and having authored a similar tapping during the Masonic initiation of the 33rd Degree according to the late Jim Shaw {8}]." {9}[Emphasis added]

With the Black Pope's American version of his Masonic-styled Order of the Illuminati, the Order of Skull and Bones would serve to neutralize historic Protestant and Baptist Calvinism while amassing a large portion of political power into its orb.

Yale University's "Tomb" serving as its Masonic Lodge, the American Order would compose a majority of movers and shakers directing the nation's domestic and foreign policies. With the membership lists of this "Brotherhood of Death" utilizing a "skull and crossbones" as its insignia, Antony C. Sutton declared in his 1986 classic, America's Secret Establishment: An Introduction to the Order of Skull and Bones:

> "Above all, The Order is powerful, unbelievably powerful. If the reader will persist and examine the evidence to be presented—which is overwhelming—there is no doubt his view of the world will suddenly come sharply into focus, with frightening clarity. . . . By determining when members enter a scene, what > they did, what they argued, who they appointed and when they faded out, we can assemble patterns and deduce objectives." {10}[Emphasis added]

How true! Bonesmen would: aid in the Order's British-led opium war against China ruled by the anti-Jesuit Manchu dynasty; import German rationalism—that "work of the Jesuits" according to Luigi Descantis—aiding in the perverse "revision" of the English Reformation's AV1611 Bible; reduce our Calvinist Republic into a Jesuit Empire to serve as a tool of the Order's British-led imperialism; man the Pope's Federal Reserve Bank; serve within the Order's CFR, its subsequent OSS and War Department; found the CIA; build Stalin's USSR and Mao's Red China during the Pope's Cold War; serve in the assassination of JFK (McGeorge Bundy, who would foil the Bay of Pigs invasion) and cover-up (Henry R. Luce, who would alter the Zapruder Film); and ignite the Black Pope's war against Islam (George W. Bush).

Meanwhile, the Sons of Loyola were busy using England in restoring the Monarchs to their thrones in Europe. (Indeed, the Nineteenth Century was the Order's "the British Century"!) They would also use England to suppress and hinder movements seeking to establish popular liberty. What a disgrace to the land of Oliver Cromwell! Of this we read:

> "Amid all the crimes of Napoleon, let it be forever remembered that he annihilated this earthly hell [the Inquisition] with a word—but Englishmen restored [King] Ferdinand [VII] to the throne of Spain [in 1814], and Ferdinand restored the inquisition." [King Ferdinand VII of Spain not only restored the Inquisition but also re-admitted the Jesuit Order, as did the Masonic Louis XVIII of France.] {11}

England also gave no help to the Italian patriots seeking to end Papal tyranny enforced by republican France, her troops under the command of the Jesuit General's Louis Napoleon—later to become Emperor Napoleon III. We read:

> "On the return of the Pope [Pius IX] to Rome in 1849, and the overthrow of Italian liberty by the French republic [controlled by the Jesuits' future Napoleon III], the Roman patriots fled to British Malta, but were refused an asylum by the British governor, who, being a Roman Catholic, and, as such, owing a first allegiance to the Pope, dared not to give refuge to the enemies of the Church of Rome." {12}[Emphasis added]

Indeed, the history of the government of England from 1815 to the present has been entirely pro-Rome! She has never gone to war against France, especially the government of Napoleon III thanks to her treasonous Prime Ministers, Freemason Viscount Palmerston (1855-1858; 1859-65) Lord John Russell (1846-52; 1865-66) and William E. Gladstone (1868-74; 1880-85; 1886; 1892-94). To the contrary, she has sided with the French during both the Crimean War (1853) and the war in China against the Manchu Dynasty (1860). She also sided with France when the Jesuits' Napoleon III sent his troops to invade Mexico during the American "Civil War," as well as during World War I and World War II—the Second Thirty Years' War. It is for this reason that England, France and the Pope never gave any true aid to the Protestant peoples of the Southern Confederacy during the American Civil War, properly called "the War Between the States" or "the War for Southern Independence." England threatened war with the North if Lincoln (having only forty-four percent of the popular vote) would not radically emancipate the southern slaves.

As calculated, the Emancipation Proclamation destroyed the Southern culture that generally had been a blessing to the Negroes, in contrast to their barbarism and cannibalism in Africa. France sent troops into Mexico pretending to unite with the Confederacy, but withdrew giving only the appearance that it favored the South. (Pope Pius IX, towards the end of the war, sent a letter to Jefferson Davis calling him the "President of the United States." This too was a ruse of war, as Pius IX could have prevented the immigration and enlistment of thousands of Irish Roman Catholics in the Northern Army, thereby sparing Protestant Georgia of General Sherman's raping and thieving "bummers" during his Crusader's march from Atlanta to Savannah. Clearly, "the Holy Alliance" with its Jesuits, favored the North and its Radical Red Republican party, the new Federalists—now our "neo-con" fascists.)

It is for this reason that the Crown of England—the supposed protector of the anti-Pope, Anglican Church—never resisted the Jesuits' Oxford Movement from 1833 to 1845. This Tractarian Movement led by the rank Jesuits E. B. Pusey and John Newman—the John Newman who defected to Rome and was made a Cardinal by the Jesuits' Pius IX—was never publicly condemned by any English Monarch including Queen Victoria. For if the Oxford Movement had been exposed as a plot of the Jesuits to Catholicize England, the ensuing Revision Committee would never have been allowed to undermine the Bible of England's grand and glorious Protestant and Calvinist Reformation—The Authorized King James Version of 1611.

It is for this reason that the Jesuits used England to take "Palestine" from the Turks during World War I with the Arabs of Lawrence of Arabia and the British Army of General Allenby. And in so doing the Jesuits with their Knights of Malta in England sought to create Labor Zionist-led Israel. Avro Manhattan declares:

> ". . . [Wahhabi Moslem and Knight of Malta] St. John Philby . . . told the author in strictest confidence: how Lawrence of Arabia, while posing as the Arab's champion, had gone to London in secret, at least on two occasions, 'to confer with [33rd Degree Freemason] Churchill and the [Masonic Jewish Labor] Zionists,' who were then planning the future state of Israel, even before the end of World War I." {13}[Emphasis added]

With the Balfour Declaration in 1917, a steady influx of Jews transpired for thirty years when, in 1948, England gave the land to Pope Pius XII's leading Masonic Jewish Zionists (high-level Freemasons Chaim Weizmann and David Ben-Gurion), heavily financed by the Jesuits' Illuminati House of Rothschild. In 1967 the Temple site was taken from the Moslems enabling the Pope's Masonic Jews to lay the plans for the rebuilding of Solomon's Temple. The Arabs fully anticipated this. Pierre van Paassen, a Protestant friend of the Jewish People, speaking fluent Hebrew and one of the greatest international correspondents of his day, wrote in 1939:

> "In 1929 the Mufti [(appointed in 1921 by Britain's High Commissioner in "Palestine"—the Jew Herbert Samuel), Islamic Freemason Haj Amin al-Husseini, Masonic Yasser Arafat's uncle and tool of the Order who, during Israel's War of Independence in 1948, would secretly aid the Pope's Chaim Weizmann by ordering all Arabs to flee "Palestine" until the battle was over thereby securing victory for the Pope's Masonic Jewish Zionists] raised the issue of religion: behind the peaceful behavior of the Jews loomed a sinister design to secure a numerical majority in the country.
> Once that was attained, the great mosque in Jerusalem was to be replaced with a Hebrew sanctuary. . . . 'Oh but that is common knowledge,' His Eminence added . . . 'Lord Melchett [the English Jew Alfred Mond] declared that he will consecrate the remainder of his life to rebuild the Jewish Temple. And here is something else,' added the 'Grand' Mufti:
> 'Professor [Albert] Einstein believes that Palestine without the Temple is to the Jews like a body without a head. Do you see the real aims of the Jews? They want to destroy this mosque.' " {14}[Emphasis added]

Little do the Jews, Arabs, and the English know that they have been manipulated, used and betrayed by the Jesuit Order through occult Freemasonry.

> "The truth is, the Jesuits of Rome have perfected Freemasonry to be their most magnificent and effective tool, accomplishing their purposes among Protestants, yet remaining completely hidden and unknown." {15}

For one day the wealthy Knights of International Shriner Freemasonry—who for a dress rehearsal have built the Mormon Temple in Salt Lake City, Utah—will rebuild Solomon's Temple in Jerusalem, and a risen Priest-King, the Eighth Roman Caesar chosen by the Black Pope and possessed by the Devil himself, will arrogantly sit ". . . in the temple of God, shewing himself that he is God."

– II Thessalonians 2:4

The Jesuits by 1815 were in control of England, the Vatican and continental Europe once again. They were in command of International Freemasonry, the Sovereign Military Order of Malta and the Order of the Illuminati. Yet Tzar Alexander I, who died ten years later from poisoning, became a born-again Bible-believer, expelling the Sons of Loyola from Russia on March 13, 1820 and abolishing Masonry in 1822. Little did the Jesuits know that this first major expulsion after the Order's formal restoration by Pope Pius VII—the Papal Caesar—would be the beginning of a series of events acting in unison ordered by their Great Enemy, the risen Son of God, in answer to the prayers of his blood-bought people scattered throughout Europe. The resurrected Ruler of Nations would send His powerful preachers, like Charles Haddon Spurgeon—England's Prince of Preachers*—, throughout the British Empire to boldly preach His glorious "gospel of Christ" being,

> ". . . the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek."
> – Romans 1:16

His Holy Spirit would mightily move upon the hearts of many, causing the Second Great Awakening of 1835 and the Ulster Revival in 1859 among English-speaking peoples. England's China Inland Mission flourished while many a Gentile became "a Jew inwardly," as He invisibly circumcised the hearts and saved the souls of learned and brave Roman Catholics having been shackled to the Pope's religious and political tyranny for all of their lives. Hundreds of authors would begin to expose the true colors of the Jesuit Order, validated with impeccable lives and irrefutable facts obtained from personal experience, the most outstanding and extensively quoted herein being M. F. Cusack, G. B. Nicolini and Luigi Desanctis. Seated at the right hand of His Heavenly Father, the risen Son of Man, who is "a Priest for ever after the order of Melchizedek," ordered a series of events acting in unison causing another upheaval for Satan's Society of Jesus. Those events occurred during the Nineteenth Century, called by the Company "the Century of Disaster." One of the individuals involved who struck a blow for liberty was a Catholic Frenchman—and a hero.

His name was Eugene Sue.

Knight of Malta Alexander I Romanov, 1777 – 1825 #139

Protector of the Russian Priory; Tzar of all the Russias, 1801 – 1825

The Tzar of Tolstoy's War and Peace, Alexander is one of the greatest rulers in Russian history. Having consented to his father's assassination, he evidently repented of his sin, believed on the risen Son of God and found forgiveness and comfort through the Scriptures. Although a party to Prince Metternich's "Holy Alliance," he was tolerant of every religious sect including the Jews.

During the reign of his grandmother, Catherine II "the Great," the Society of Jesus found refuge in the Empire, greatly increased its power among the Orthodox Clergy and spread the growth of Freemasonry in the twin cities of Moscow and St. Petersburg. But on March 13, 1820, according to Abate Leone, Alexander expelled the Papal Caesar's Militia of the Black Pope for opposing the free circulation of the Holy Bible. Two years later, Freemasonry was banished from the empire. For this the Jesuits murdered him in 1825, slipping him "the poison cup." One hundred years later, after the Order had initiated a century of anti-Jewish pogroms from Tzar Nicholas I to the abdication and escape of Tzar Nicholas II, the Company of Jesus was re-admitted into its "USSR" in 1922 by Lenin and his Masonic Jewish Bolsheviks. Having used the Pope's "Court Jews" to visibly carry out the Revolution, the Order's NKVD later executed all but one.

Eugene Sue and his Enduring Masterpiece: The Wandering Jew

"Imagine an association whose members having destroyed all ties of family and of country, to be singled out from among men, and whose forces are to be concentrated at last to one united and formidable end, its plan devised and it establishes its dominion by all possible means over all the nations of the earth [in establishing a world government to be ruled by a risen Jesuit Pontiff from Solomon's rebuilt Temple in Jerusalem].

Imagine this immense conspiration . . . of a force hidden and silent. SUCH ARE THE JESUITS. Always expelled, forever returning, and little by little clandestinely and in the darkness throwing out its vigorous roots . . . Its wealth may be confiscated, its losses cannot be detained for they are covered. . . . At times mixing in politics, agitating states and making princes to tremble upon their thrones, for they are terrible in their hate. WOE UNTO HIM WHEN THEY TURN UPON HIM AS HIS ENEMY! By very especial grace from heaven, any who may raise obstacles against them, although they may be found at the summit of the most lofty grandeur, yet will they be stricken down as with a thunderbolt [as President John F. Kennedy was struck down by a Jesuit thunderbolt in Dallas on November 22, 1963 via the Black Pope's International Intelligence Community]. The formidable 'Company of Jesus' is a society of dead men!

Established and directed with the proposition of universal domination, this Society presents in the means of its organization such power of invasion that we cannot think of it without being oppressed by a species of fear . . .

For themselves, they are nothing, not having pompous titles, no sumptuous ornaments, no crosiers, no mitres, no capes of the prebendiaries, but pertain to that one Order everywhere governing and directing. Of command, others have the appearance [all other secret societies and all Roman Catholic orders and brotherhoods]; but these possess the reality. In whatever place of the Catholic world a Jesuit is insulted or resisted, no matter how insignificant he may be, he is sure to be avenged—AND THIS WE KNOW [unless protected by the Son of God]." {1} [Emphasis added]

M. Charles Sauvestre, 1863
French Historian and Journalist
The Company of Jesus

"It was at the time of the restorations of all sorts that Jesuitism also was restored [1814]. At the period when the Holy Alliance was formed, the pope determined that he also would create a rampart for himself, against the encroachment of new ideas; he therefore evoked, from the depths of its mysterious retreats, the most skilful and enterprising of orders, that he might by its aid unite and consolidate not only all the orders [including the Dominican, the Benedictine and the Franciscan, which latter Order led the savage Croatian Ustashi in butchering over a million Serbs and Jews during the Order's Second Thirty Years' War (1914-1945)], but the clergy of different countries, and the episcopacy, in a Theocratical Holy Alliance, of which the object would be not less fatal to the people than to the governing powers themselves. . . .

A phenomenon to which I am bound to call attention, because its immense importance is not sufficiently apprehended, is the alliance, which is now more than ever, between the high clergy [the Pope and his Hierarchy] and Jesuitism [shedding further light on the later connection between the Black Pope, Jesuit-trained and advised Pope Pius XII and Adolf Hitler]. I say, that neither its extent, nor its consequences, are sufficiently apprehended.

And yet, who will deny that it has been the character of Jesuitism from its origin [1540] to its suppression [1773], as Clement XIV attests . . . It is, then, an acknowledged fact that there exists a vast concert, in which the paid performers obey, almost unconsciously, the powerful and hidden instrument which gives them the key, from behind the curtain of the Alps [from which description arises the political term, "Ultramontane," meaning "over the Alps," which party in America today is the fascist Radical Republican Right having united a majority of Roman Catholics with Protestant and Baptist Evangelicals over the Order's "Abortion Agitation," and the Pope's long-awaited Crusade against Islam]; and it is even admitted that the many attacks we witness, far from being the effect of chance, are, on the contrary, evidently made with a view to certain remote projects. But who is there that cares to investigate the nature of those remote projects, and the means which may be employed to realize them?

All however agree in attributing to the Jesuits an extraordinary political influence [which influence today in America is without rival; it is maintained through the Order's Federal Reserve Bank, its Council on Foreign Relations, and its assassins within its Central Intelligence Agency]. It is generally admitted that boundless power, absolute supremacy, is the object of their ambition. Their rule of action, that 'the end justifies the means,' is become proverbial. And who doubts that the end so sought is evermore this same boundless power and supremacy?

The progress of this Order being known and acknowledged, it would be folly not to suppose that it has abundantly provided itself with baits of every description, in order to secure such an immense number of co-operators of all classes [economic and racial] and parties [political and religious], even those the most opposite by nature. And yet, no one has ever come forward with a view to investigate the means which the Jesuits are so industriously employing for the accomplishment of their ends. . . .

To revert to the occult plans I expose to the public, I have only to entreat that this matter be not lightly examined. Now to judge it with sagacity demands some acquaintance with the mass of writings with which the advocates of monastic institutions and of the Jesuits have inundated us. Such a course of reading could not fail to convince every candid mind that there really exists a secret understanding to propagate, in a devout and pathetic tone, the most unworthy falsehoods. . . .

Even a cursory inquiry into those manouvres and artifices, can hardly fail to manifest that the prime mover of all this wonderfully assiduous labour is a power which works in secret, which combines all the subordinate movements [including high-level Freemasonry], which chooses and applies its means according to circumstances; and which spares neither flattery nor bribes in order to enroll in its service those individuals, whether writers or men of action, who may be able to aid the work. . . .

Many persons have inveighed against Eugene Sue for having dared to personify the Jesuitic genius in Rodin. They could not bring themselves to believe that a considerable number of men, and those, too, men invested with a religious character [Freemasons Billy Graham, Jesse Jackson and Al Sharpton], could have concerted together to wear all sorts of masks and play all sorts of parts, in order to secure the services of all sorts of individuals for a work which every one would abhor if he knew its aim and scope [the Sino-Soviet-Moslem invasion of a conquered North America].

This system of graduated fraud, which it has been thought unjust to attribute to the majority of the Jesuits, have I not proved that it is fair to impute it to numerous writers, to preachers, and to a large portion of the upper clergy?

Can there be a doubt that there exists among them a close counterpart, and a well understood mot d'ordre [chain of command], to mystify not only Europe but the whole world?" {2} [Emphasis added]

Abate Leone, 1848
Italian Protestant; Ex- Jesuit Novice
The Jesuit Conspiracy:
The Secret Plan of the Order

"The fourth kind [of Jesuit] is that of the political Jesuits, in whose hands is the government of the whole order. They are of those whom the devil has tempted with that temptation which Christ endured in the wilderness [to rule all the kingdoms of the world], . . . and they have not shrunk from the offer. They have made it their task to constitute their Company a perfect monarchy, and they establish it in Rome [presently ruling the "superpowers"], the center of confluence for almost all the affairs of Christendom [Catholic nations and now the world]. There resides the chief of these politicians—that is to say, their general—with many others [professed of the Fourth Vow] who profess the same maxims [universal monarchy under a Pope of their making]. Being informed beforehand, through their spies and numerous correspondents, of all the affairs of the greatest importance which are pending at the court of Rome, and having their minds fixed upon those issues which accord with their own interests, each of them is assiduous in attendance on the cardinals, ambassadors, and prelates, with whom they adroitly ingratiate themselves. They talk to them of the affair in question or about to be brought forward—represent it under such colours as suit themselves—and do this so cleverly, that they make their hearers believe black is white. And forasmuch as first impressions, especially when they are derived from clerical persons, usually leave deep traces on the mind, it follows that extremely important negotiations, conducted by ambassadors, princes, and other eminent personages of the Roman court, have often not succeeded as princes would have desired, the Jesuits having forestalled the influence of the princes, or their agents, by their insidious statements.

The same artfulness, which they use with the Roman prelates, they exhibit also in their dealings with sovereigns, either directly or through the medium of the Jesuits of the second class [temporal coadjutors] who are away from Rome. Thus does the greater part of the affairs of Christendom [including the United States] pass through the hands of the Jesuits; and those affairs alone succeed to which they offer no resistance. They formerly supplicated His Holiness Gregory XIII [1572-1585] (on the colourable plea of the good of the Church) to enjoin all legates and apostolic nuncios [Archbishop Eugenio Pacelli, Papal Nuncio to Bavaria] to take, for companions and confidants, Jesuits whose councils should guide them in all their actions [Jesuit Robert Leiber]. By such manoeuvres, and by that knowledge they have of affairs of state, the principal Jesuits have acquired the friendship of several temporal and spiritual princes [Bavarian Crown Prince Rupprecht of Wittelsbach and the Archbishop of Munich, Michael von Faulhaber], whom they have prevailed on to do and say many things for their advantage [creating Hitler's Third Reich].

Hence have resulted two great evils. The first is, that, abusing the friendship and kindness of princes, they have not scrupled to ruin many rich and noble families, by usurping their patrimonies. They have enticed into their order such of the pupils in their schools as were most remarkable for their talents; and very often, when the latter have become useless to them through infirmities or other causes, the Jesuits have turned them off under some pretext or another, but without restoring their property, of which, during the period of profession, the order had taken care to become possessor [heartless grand theft on a massive scale!]. The second evil is, that these fathers are sedulous to make known the friendship and intimacy they enjoy with princes, and give it out for still greater than it really is, in order to engage the sympathies of all the ministers, and thus excite everybody to have recourse to them for obtaining favours. They have publicly boasted of their ability to create cardinals, nuncios, lieutenants, governors, and other functionaries. There are some among them who have even made bold to affirm that their General can do much more than the pope [which, since 1814, is the absolute truth]; and others have alleged that it is better to belong to their order than to be a cardinal. All these things have been said publicly; and there is scarcely any one who, in conversing familiarly with them, has not heard them giver utterance to the like sentiments.

Amply provided with resources of this kind, they affirm that they can favour [Masonic Presidents Lyndon B. Johnson and Gerald R. Ford, also a Knight of Malta] or disgrace [President Richard M. Nixon] whomsoever they please; and covering themselves with the cloak of religion, the better to secure belief, they often succeed in their designs. It is not long since one of the leading Jesuits, speaking in public to one of the leading sovereigns in the name of his Company, began with these audacious words, founded on the notion that they are a POWER: 'Our Company has always maintained a good understanding with your Serenity,' &c. These reverend fathers make it their business to have it believed that all those whom the prince favours in any manner whatever have been their favourites; and, by this means, they acquire more mastery over subjects than their monarch himself. This is highly prejudicial to the later, both because it is inconsistent with every interest of state, that ecclesiastics so ambitious and politic should have so much power over the will of ministers as to be able, if they please, to produce treason or riots [like the New York City Draft Riots of 1863]; and because, through their influence over the ministers, their adherents, they introduce sworn Jesuits into the prince's service as councillors or secretaries; these, again, intrigue until they induce the prince to employ some Jesuits as confessors or preachers, and then all together ply their task as spies and informers, rendering a minute account to the general of all that passes in the secret councils. Thence it happens that certain projects get wind immediately, secrets of great importance are discovered, yet no one can tell who is the traitor [such as "Deep Throat" in the Watergate Scandal whose younger brother, Francis R. Haig, is a Jesuit], and sometimes suspicion falls on those who are not guilty.

As from different plants the alembic extracts an unguent capable of curing many sores; as the bees suck honey from many flowers, so the Jesuit fathers draw profit from the infallible knowledge they have of all the interests of princes, and of the facts which occur in all parts, being skilled to the use of speech, so as to obtain their profit through the good or evil fortune of others, but more frequently through the latter than the former. Often, too, they prevail with princes, whose dispositions they have already sounded, by hinting at the possession of great means to enable the latter to accomplish their designs and crown all their desires. But when by the help of princes they have succeeded in their views, judging that if they aided those princes to rise too high, the latter might one day do them a mischief, they begin, as lawyers do with their causes, to protract and delay everything, and, with surprising artifice and cunning, they turn the cards, and finally ruin the designs they had themselves suggested.

From all that has been said, it follows that the Jesuits never act with the least honesty towards any princes whatever, lay or ecclesiastic, and that they aid them only as far as their own interests require. It also follows that their aid should never be accepted by princes, and still less by prelates, because they are equally ready to bestow their attachment on everybody, and make themselves Frenchmen with the French, Spaniards with the Spaniards [Americans with the Americans], and so forth, according to circumstances; and since, provided they compass their own ends, they care not though it be to the detriment of this one or that, the enterprises in which the Jesuit fathers have meddled have rarely had a good result. . . .

Sometimes we see a person afflicted with a dangerous disease; he shrieks out piteously; every one thinks him in great danger, but no one can guess the nature and origin of the disease. Thus every one complains of the Jesuits: one because he is persecuted by them; another, because they have dealt dishonestly by him; but still the evil goes on, and it is not easy to apprehend its cause. Now, that cause consists in their huge desire to aggrandize themselves evermore [ruling the United States and thus the world]. To accomplish this they will stop at nothing, whether it be to displease everybody, or to deceive princes, or to oppress the poor, or to extort widows' fortunes, or to ruin the most noble families; and they very often sow the seeds of suspicion among Christian princes, in order to have opportunities of mixing in their most important affairs.

To demonstrate how excessive is their passion for aggrandizement, I might adduce numberless proofs from experience. In the time of Gregory XIII, had not the Jesuits the audacity to solicit of the pope the investiture of all the parochial churches of Rome, in order to lay the foundations of their [universal] monarchy? But what they could not obtain in Rome they have at least recently obtained in England, where they have procured the election of an arch-priest [Archbishop], bound by oath to their Company. . . .

Almost all the English clergy have become sworn Jesuits, and none are now received in the colleges but those who pledge their words to become Jesuits; so that should that kingdom return to Catholicism, England would give birth to an effective Jesuit monarchy [as it has been since the reign of King George III], since the ecclesiastical revenues, all the abbeys, benefices, and bishoprics, the arch-priestships [Archbishops], and the other dignities, would be conferred on none but Jesuits.

If now, when they have no temporal jurisdiction, they exhibit to the world such great and scandalous disorders, what would they do if unhappily one of them were elected pope? In the first place, he would fill the Sacred College [of Cardinals] with Jesuits, and by that means the pontificate would remain forever in the hands of the Company [as it is today in 2007]. Moreover, the Sacred College being moved only by its interests, and possessing the papal power, might they not endanger the states of several princes, especially those most contiguous to Rome?

The Jesuit pontiff [Pope Pius XI] would bestow on his Order the investiture of some towns or of some temporal jurisdiction [the Sovereign State of Vatican City], in which it would adroitly maintain itself, to the great injury of other princes.

When the Sacred College was filled with Jesuits, the latter would be the arbiters of Christ's whole patrimony; and like the dropsical patient, whose thirst increases as he drinks, the more greatness they acquired the more they would covet, and they would cause a thousand troubles.

And as there is nothing so susceptible of changes as states, these fathers would put in operation all their artifices and resources, and would strive to disorganize everything in order to realize universally the form of [absolutist] domination which is dearest to them; and by this means they would become real monarchs." {3} [Emphasis added]

Si Governano i Padri Gesuiti

"Our task is done — our work is ended. . . . During the progress of the publication [The Wandering Jew] many hateful, unjust, and fierce attacks have assailed it; . . . The hateful, unjust, and fierce attacks have diverted us — we confess it in all humility — inasmuch as they have been directed against us from certain episcopal pulpits. . . . We have been accused of having appealed to the passions, by marking out for public animadversion the members of the Company of Jesus. This is our answer: There is no longer any doubt — it is incontestable — it is demonstrated by texts submitted to evidence of the most opposite character, from [Blaise] Pascal [1623-1662] to our days, that the theological works of the best accredited members of the Company of Jesus contain justification or excuse for —

THEFT — ADULTRY — VIOLATION — MURDER

It is also undeniable that foul and revolting works, signed by the reverend fathers of the Company of Jesus, have been more than once placed in the hands of the youth of their seminaries. This last fact established, demonstrated by a scrupulous examination of texts, having been, besides, solemnly and lately exposed in an oration full of high feelings, reasoning, and serious and noble eloquence, by M. l'Avocat-Général Dupoty, during the proceedings of the learned and honourable M. Busch, of Strasbourg, what has been our proceeding? We have imagined members of the Company of Jesus, inspired by the detestable principles of their theologian classics, and acting according to the spirit and letter of these abominable works, their catechism and rudiments, — we have, in fact, put in action, in relief, in flesh and blood, these detestable doctrines, nothing more —nothing less.

Have we pretended that all the members of the Society of Jesus had the black art, the audacity, or the wickedness to employ those dangerous arms which are contained in the dark arsenal of their Order? By no means. What we have attacked is the abominable spirit of the Constitution of the Company of Jesus, the books of their classic theologians. Is there any need to add that, since popes, kings, nations, and latterly France, have shown their disgust for the horrible doctrines of this Company by expelling its members or dissolving their congregation, we have done no more than present, under a new form, ideas, convictions, and facts, for a long while consecrated and of public notoriety?" {4} [Emphasis added]

Eugene Sue, 1844
French Catholic Author and Patriot
The Wandering Jew:
"Conclusion"

Eugene Sue was cut from the same mold as the great anti-Jesuit and Roman Catholic French patriot, General Lafayette. In fact they were contemporaries. He published his masterpiece and international bestseller, The Wandering Jew, in 1844.

At that time the powers of the Holy Alliance were supreme in Europe. France, however, was enjoying the non-absolutist rule of its "Citizen-King," Louis Philippe. Prince Metternich of the Austrian House of Hapsburg was still alive using the armies of the Monarchs to suppress and murder any people that would dare attempt a popular revolution. The Spanish people had expelled the Jesuits in 1820 and attempted to establish popular government. But the invading French army sent by the Jesuits' most powerful Freemason in France, Louis XVIII, crushed them.

By 1844 France was enjoying good government, its beloved "Citizen King" Louis Philippe having expelled the Order in 1831. Praise God! But the other peoples of Europe were becoming more and more oppressed by the power of the Jesuits controlling the affairs of States according to the purposes of the Holy Alliance.

They remembered the relative liberty given to them by Napoleon (as he used them to punish the Monarchs on the behalf of the Order) and looked to the successful republican example of the Protestant-Calvinist, Constitutional Republic of America.

They yearned for that same freedom and were willing to die for it during this progressive and accomplished Nineteenth Century, the greatest of centuries!

At this time The Wandering Jew was published. Typical of the expressive and compassionate heart of the French, the story draws from its reader every extreme of human emotion. Love, hate, joy, sorrow, hope, disappointment, suspense, courage, intrigue and surprise so grip the reader that the novel becomes irresistible! The righteous priest Gabriel, the poor but loyal hunchback Mother Bunch, the assassin Faringhea, the beautiful and accomplished Adrienne, the courageous Indian prince Djalma, the old soldier of Napoleon's army Dagobert, and General Simon's innocent little girls, Rose and Blanche, are but a few of the wonderful characters used to convey a story of so great a magnitude and final tragedy as to move anyone with a heart to action—action against the Jesuit Order!

One of the key characters is Rodin the Jesuit. He is thoroughly evil, deceptive, treacherous, heartless, and completely loyal to the General in Rome. He is the key player in attempting to steal a huge fortune from a French Protestant family, which is held in trust by none other than a "perfidious and accursed" Jew.

Another character is the refined, Jesuit Superior General, Abbe Marquis d'Aigrigny. The author assigns this traitor the perfect narrative describing the function and power of his Order—a power virtually unheard of today! We read:

> "What ought not to be sacrificed in order to reign in secret over the all-powerful of the earth, who lord it in full day? This journey to Rome, from which I have just returned, has given me a new idea of our formidable power. For . . . it is Rome which is the culminating point, overlooking the fairest and broadest quarters of the globe, made so by custom, by tradition, or by faith. Thence can our workings be embraced in their full extent. It is an uncommon view to see from its height the myriad tools, whose personality is continually absorbed into the immovable personality of our Order. What a might we possess! Verily, I am always swayed with admiration, aye almost frightened, that man once thinks, wishes, believes, and acts as he alone lists, until, soon ours, he becomes but a human shell; its kernel of intelligence, mind, reason, conscience, and free will, shriveled within him, dry and withered by the habit of mutely, fearingly bowing under mysterious tasks, which shatter and slay everything spontaneous in the human soul! Then do we infuse in such spiritless clay, speechless, cold, and motionless as corpses, the breath of our Order, and, lo! The dry bones stand up and walk; acting and executing, though only within the limits which are circled round them evermore. Thus do they become mere limbs of the gigantic trunk, whose impulses they mechanically carry out, while ignorant of the design, like the stonecutter who shapes out a stone, unaware if it be for cathedral or bagnio [brothel] . . . But now, in spite of the misfortunes which have befallen our Order [during the Nineteenth "Century of Disaster"], I feel myself a thousand times more ready for action, more authoritative, more strong and more daring, at the head of our mute and black-robed militia, who only think or wish, or move and obey, mechanically, according to my will. On a sign they scatter over the surface of the globe, gliding stealthily into households under the guise of confessing the wife or teaching the children, into family affairs by hearing the dying avowals,—up to the throne through the quaking conscience of a credulous crowned coward; —aye, even to the chair of the Pope, himself, living manifesto of the Godhead though he is [later to be declared "Infallible" by the Order's First Vatican Council in 1870 enabling the Black Pope to direct the White Pope's International Vatican Empire through the rule of a single, solitary man], by the services, rendered him or imposed by him. Is not this secret rule, made to kindle or glut the wildest ambition, as it reaches from the cradle to the grave, from the laborer's hovel to the royal palace, from the palace to the papal chair?" {5} [Emphasis added]

Having fired the soul of the French, The Wandering Jew ". . . caused such a storm of indignation that the [Jesuit] novitiate was moved from Avignon to Nice on orders from General Roothaan [the Rebuilder]. Jesuits in Paris were hastily redistributed, and in other danger spots there was a thinning and scattering of members . . ." {6}

It was these descriptive and accurate portraits of the Jesuit Order that brought the learned and compassionate Eugene Sue world renown. He also became the accursed enemy of the Brotherhood while it plotted to overthrow its most notorious French adversary, King Louis Philippe. As we shall see, the Jesuits excited the Second French Revolution bringing their perfected doctrines of communal "communism" into the European upheaval of 1848. As a result, in that year Louis Napoleon, the nephew of Napoleon I was brought to power in France.

Four years later the Jesuits overthrew the Constitutional Government in a coup d'etat (even as they would overthrow the Weimar Republic in Germany, having been governed by four Roman Catholic Chancellors, they being Heinrich Bruening, Kurt von Schleicher, Knight of Malta Franz von Papen and Freemason Adolf Hitler) and Bonaparte declared himself Emperor Napoleon III (even as Hitler would be declared Chancellor of the Black Pope's Bavarian, Munich-based Nazi Third Reich).

(Dear truth-seeker, now do you know why history repeats itself? It is the Society of Jesus, that Great Secret Society, utilizing the same tactics over and over again! The Roman Catholic Freemason, Voltaire (Francois Marie Arouet), that great agent for the suppressed Jesuits having incited the Order's French Revolution, more accurately stated, "History never repeats itself, man always does.")

> It was now payback time for Eugene Sue. He had created a world of enemies for the Company and now he would be made to pay for his "blasphemy!" The Jesuits, with their Masonic creature Napoleon III, drove this fearless hero of international fame into exile. (Remember, it was this papal slave, Napoleon III, who had taken to wife the daughter of Italy's finest, most honest and patriotic Roman Catholic King, Victor Emmanuel II, who in turn was excommunicated for depriving Pope Pius IX of his Temporal Power in 1870. For that unforgivable act of defiance Victor Emmanuel II "died of a fever"—"the poison cup"—and previous to his death his mother, wife and brother had died within four weeks of each other, the Jesuits openly attributing to Providence their Black Hand of relentless, calculating vengeance.
> Failing in its first 1878 attempted assassination, in 1900, the Order would use one of its Roman Catholic Italian anarchists to kill his son, King Humbert I, via "the leaden bullet.") Eugene Sue died in banishment five years later, brokenhearted over the nation of his love, to the disgrace of the people of France and to the delight of the Jesuit Order. But our hero was not the loser; for, humanly speaking, "Cowards die many times before their deaths; The valiant never taste of death but once." {7}

Eugene Sue (1804 – 1857), 1844 #147

A master of world history, this bold, brave and eloquent French Roman Catholic sought to deliver his beloved nation from the political tyranny of the Black Pope.

Thoroughly versed in the Order's history, its Constitutions, secret oaths and despicable maxims deceptively called "Moral Theology," Sue ignited the rage of France with his 1844 classic, The Wandering Jew. At that time, the Order had been expelled from France by King Louis Philippe, "the Citizen King," and the stinging satire of Blaise Pascal's The Provincial Letters continued to maintain the Society of Jesus in its true light. The murderous and conspiring "Rodin" was Sue's Jesuit villain masterminding the plot to prevent every heir of a French Protestant family fortune from obtaining their rightful portion—then to be seized upon by the Order! But that inheritance had been committed to the trust of a Jew who, in the end, thwarted Rodin's grand design. With the Company's successful overthrow of "the citizen King" in 1848, Louis Napoleon was brought to power who, in 1852 as "Emperor Napoleon III," drove Eugene Sue into exile.

Never would this hero return to his native France, now in the throes of a Jesuit-incited, class agitation intended to promote an absolutist, neo-fascist backlash to be directed against the Black Pope's secret target—600,000 French Jews!

The Marquis de Lafayette, 1757 – 1834 #148

French Nobleman, George Washington's "Boy General"

Hero of the American Revolutionary War, 1775 – 1783

As George Washington's aide-de-camp and later, upon his return from France, as a Major General, Lafayette drew Cornwallis, the English commander, into a trap at Yorktown causing his ultimate surrender. As long as Americans enjoy Protestant liberties, we remain indebted to the great French Roman Catholic, anti-Jesuit and friend of Eugene Sue, Marquis de Lafayette who, thoroughly knowing Europe's history, declared:

"If the liberties of the United States of America are destroyed it will be by the subtlety of the Roman Catholic Jesuit priests, for they are the most crafty, dangerous enemies to civil and religious liberty."

Throughout the Twentieth Century Lafayette's warning went unheeded resulting in the Order's absolute control of the American Empire from President Theodore Roosevelt to President George W. Bush, who has now begun a Middle East war in conjunction with his Masonic/CIA business partner, Osama bin Laden. One of the intended results of this Papal Crusade is the destruction of the Dome of the Rock enabling the Black Pope to rebuild Solomon's Temple.

Abbe Emmanuel Joseph Sieyes, 1748 – 1836 #149

Jesuit Advisor to Napoleon Bonaparte I, 1798 – 1815

Like Lafayette, Sieyes was a contemporary of Eugene Sue. Educated by Jesuits, he was a prime mover of the French Revolution, its guillotine invented by another Catholic Jacobin, a French physician, "ex"-Jesuit, and Freemason, Joseph Ignace Guillotin. Abbe Sieyes also voted for the death penalty against Louis XVI. Why? The Jesuits considered the King to be a "usurper" and thus a "tyrant" for enforcing Louis XV's banishment of the Company and for aiding and abetting the North American "heretic and liberal" White Celtic-Anglo-Saxon Protestant and Baptist Calvinists who, with the blessing of the risen Son of God, waged a successful revolution against the Order's wicked King George III. As a member of the Directory, Sieyes engineered a coup d'etat in 1799, overthrowing the Directory and creating the Consulate with Napoleon the Freemason as first consul, he as the second. The Jesuit General, through his advisor to Napoleon, then proceeded to punish the Pope and the "usurping" Roman Catholic Monarchs of Europe (financing two decades of Napoleonic Crusades using his Rothschild Illuminati Bankers) for daring to boldly suppress the Society of Jesus.

"The Jesuits, from 1830 to the end of '48, seemed to have lost all public favour, all influence and authority. Persecuted and hooted in France, Switzerland, Russia, hated in their own dominion, Italy, they were considered as a vanquished enemy, deserving rather commiseration than hatred . . . But the Papal protection was no longer sufficient to shelter the Jesuits from public hatred. Pius IX lost a great part of his popularity, but could not save them. They were expelled from the whole of the peninsula [Italy, 1848] not as a general revolutionary measure, since all other religious communities lived unmolested, but as the manifestation of the public opinion against the hateful descendants of Ignatius . . . professedly organized by such cunning knaves [the Jesuits], and for such base purposes, and which has been sustained by fraud, falsehood and deception, from the commencement of its career to the present time, should be permitted today to dictate to, if not virtually to rule the nation, and to create such a dread in communities that even some of the ministers of Christian denominations who detest its vile philosophy, and who would like to see it swept from the face of the earth, are absolutely afraid to mention its name, either in the pulpit, the prayer meeting or the Sabbath school, lest its secret vendetta vengeance might, in some concealed manner, be wreaked upon them." {4} [Emphasis added]

"The people need governing, and must be governed. . . . They must have a MASTER. . . . The religion which is to answer our purpose must be above the people, and able to COMMAND THEM. . . . The first lesson to the child is, obey; the first and last lesson to the people, individually and collectively, is, OBEY; and there is no obedience where there is no authority to enjoin [enforce] it. . . . The Roman Catholic religion, then, is necessary to sustain popular liberty, because popular liberty can be sustained only by a religion free from popular control, above the people, speaking from above and able to command them; and such a religion is the Roman Catholic. . . . In this sense, we wish THIS COUNTRY [the pre-Fourteenth Amendment Republic of these United States of America] TO COME UNDER THE POPE OF ROME. As the visible head of the Church, the spiritual authority which Almighty God has instituted to teach and govern the nations [the Pope], we assert his supremacy, and tell our countrymen that we would have them submit to him. They may flare up at this as much as they please, and write as many alarming and abusive editorials as the choose, or can find time and space to do—they will not move us, or relieve themselves from the obligation Almighty God [of the Pope's Canon Law] has placed them under of obeying the authority of the Catholic Church, pope and all [i.e., submission to Rome at the point of a sword]. . . .

She [the Roman Catholic Institution] is, under God, the supreme judge of both laws, which for her are but one law; and hence she takes cognizance, in her tribunals, of the breaches of the natural law as well as of the revealed [the Pope's Canon Law], and has the right to take cognizance by nations as well as of its breaches by individuals, by the prince as well as the subject, for it is the supreme law for both. The state is, therefore, only an inferior court, bound to receive the law from the [Pope's] Supreme Court, and liable to have its decrees reversed on appeal [exactly as the Order uses its Jesuit Georgetown University-controlled Supreme Court over the States of the American Empire today]. . . . Withdraw the supremacy of the Church from the temporal order, and you deprive the state of that sanction; by asserting that it does not hold from God [the Pope; as "God" is no reference to the God of the Bible], and is not amenable to his law [the Pope's Canon Law and Council of Trent], you give the state simply a human basis, and have in it only a human authority, which has no right to govern, and which it is intolerable tyranny to compel me to obey." {7} [Emphasis added]

"Dear [Jesuit] Brethren, our weapons are of a quite different temper from those of the Caesars of all ages; and it will not be difficult for us so to manoeuvre [maneuver] as to render ourselves masters of all the [European] powers already so much weakened [by the Napoleonic wars]. We need fear no lack of soldiers, only let us apply ourselves to recruiting them from all ranks, and from all nations, and drilling them into punctual [Jesuit military] service. But let us, at the same time, be vigilant, that no one [outside of the Order] suspect our designs. Let every one be [deceptively] persuaded, while consecrating to us his labour, his gold, or his talents, that he is employing them in his own interest [including high-ranking Freemasons such as Cecil J. Edgar Hoover's Jesuit-influenced Masters of Deceit (1958)], so that, having eyes, they may not see, and having ears, they may not hear [i.e., never understanding that the Jesuit Order controls all communist nations, including the Soviet Union, despite the Society's open campaign against "Godless Jew Communism."]

Let us labour more diligently than all who have undertaken to raise great hierarchical edifices, and let our labour be in earnest [remembering the Fabian Socialist motto, "Hammer stoutly, and pray devoutly"]! You well know that what we aim at is the empire of the world; but how are we to succeed, unless we have, everywhere, adepts who understand our language, which must yet remain unknown to others.

Doubtless, you have not forgotten our ancient Paraguay [in which we mastered the ten planks of Communism, perfecting Plato's communist Republic, enslaving hundreds of thousands of Guarani Indian natives who produced a host of commodities (hides, wool, tallow, etc.) making billions for the Jesuit cartel-capitalists, while the natives were being continually watched by means of a secret police (FBI/Gestapo/KGB) on the Order's socialist-communist Reductions presently functioning as the model for Red China]. It was but a very limited trial of our system, in a small corner of the globe. In these later days, we need a new code [33rd Degree Freemason and Satanic occultist Karl Marx's The Communist Manifesto, (1848)], we who have undertaken to work so mighty a change [in forcing socialist-communism upon all nations through the economic and political power of the Order's Masonic cartel-capitalists residing in New York and London]—to make everything bend beneath the irresistible hammer [and sickle] of our [socialist-communist] doctrines [forced upon all college graduates during their first two years of the mandated "pseudo-social sciences"], so that all shall become as stone, iron, gold and adamant, for the gigantic building into which we will force [via Masonically controlled, anti-Reformation Bible, pro-Communist, American Supreme Court decisions] all men to enter. . . and let the pope—but a pope of our own forming—be its perpetual abbot [Jesuit fascism, being merely the means of establishing universal socialist-communism evidenced by the outcome of the Order's World War II]." {8}

The Jesuit Conspiracy:
The Secret Plan of the Order

"Today one third of the world [in fact, all of the world] is Marxist. . . . Marxism [clandestine Jesuitism] is a new religion, and it even 'uses' Scripture [as does Jesuitism]. Its main work, The Capital by Marx, is called 'the Bible of the working class.' Marx considered himself 'the Pope of Communism.' Communism 'has the pride of infallibility [as does Jesuitized Romanism promulgated at the First Vatican Council in 1870].'

All who oppose the Communist [religious] 'creed' (this expression is used by Engels) are excommunicated [as per the creed of Jesuitized Romanism]. . . . Marxism is a church. . . . Satan is obviously its god [like Jesuitism]. . . . Though a Jew, he [Marx] wrote a pernicious anti-Jewish book called The Jewish Question [inciting the Order's 19th "Jewish Question Agitation"].

In 1856, he wrote in [Radical Red Republican Horace Greeley's] The New York Tribune an article entitled 'The Russian Loan,' in which we read:

'We know that behind every tyrant stands a Jew, as a Jesuit stands behind every Pope. As the army of the Jesuits kills every free thought (so the desire of the oppressed would have chances of success), the usefulness of wars incited by capitalists would cease, if it were not for the Jews who steal the treasures of mankind. It is no wonder that 1856 years ago Jesus chased the usurers from the Jerusalem temple. They were like contemporary usurers, who stand behind tyrants and tyrannies. The majority of them are Jewish. The facts that the Jews have become so strong as to endanger the life of the world causes us [Marx and his Jesuit masters] to disclose their organization, [and] their purpose, that its stench might awaken the workers of the world to fight and eliminate such a canker.' Marx and Satan

"There was a remarkable coincidence in the time of the 'Declaration' of Papal Infallibility with the commencement of the late war [the Franco-Prussian War of 1870-71] which has resulted in such disaster to France.

On the 18th of July, 1870, amidst a scene that was designed by the Papal curia to be one of peculiar and significant splendour, . . . the war, which had been declared three days before by France against [Protestant] Prussia was commenced by the march of the French forces. Was this an accidental coincidence, or was it design? There is every reason to believe, that the war, which began on the very day of the Papal consummation, had been planned for the purpose of using the sword of France in a new crusade, whereby Ultramontane [fascist, right-wing Jesuit] influence [which influence later brought Adolf Hitler to power through Knight of Malta Franz von Papen's and

Monsignor Ludwig Kaas's Ultramontane Center Party] should obtain an enormous expansion, forcing nations to receive the favoured heresy of Papal infallibility now being pressed upon the recreant Bishops by an ultimatum from the Vatican [for which reason over 2600 anti-Ultramontane, anti-Nazi priests were murdered in Bavaria's Dachau concentration camp during the Order's Nazi Crusade created by Jesuittrained and advised Pope Pius XII], with all its inseparable tyranny.

This war . . . was expected to achieve far different results. The date of its commencement was chosen so as to excite the idea that Providence had interposed in favour of the new dogma. The Jesuits intended, in this way, to answer and silence their opponents, to distract the minds of men from a critical consideration of their proceedings, and to overpower the noble freedom of German thought. 'Quirinus' wrote from Rome, in December 1869, in these remarkable words, which pointed out accurately the programme of those constant plotters, the members of the Society of Jesus:

'Their Order is now really, and in the fullest sense, the Urim and Thummim and breastplate of the high-priest—the Pope—who can only then issue an oracular utterance when he has consulted his breastplate, the Jesuit Order. Only one thing was still wanting for the salvation of a world redeemed and regenerated once again: the Jesuits must again become the confessors of monarchs restored to absolute power. . . .'

The sword of France was the instrument which was to open the way to absolutism in Church and in State throughout the world. Jesuits were thus to 'become the confessors of monarchs restored to absolute power,' holding the same relation to them that [Jesuit confessor] Father La Chaise did to [Jesuit King] Louis XIV in his dotage. The present head of the Romish Church is content to be the puppet of this power—crafty, secret, active, persistent—a power behind the Papal throne overawing its possessor.

Intoxicated with their success, ignoring the former reverses of their Order, and entirely callous to the demands urged for their expulsion in July and September last from Rome, and also virtually from Germany [in 1872, Lutherans Prince Bismarck and Kaiser Wilhelm I knowing the Order had fomented the Franco-Prussian War fully intended to destroy Protestant Prussia], by the adoption of the sixth resolution in the programme of the Old Catholic Congress, held at Munich in October [for which reason the Jesuits would use Allied bombers to destroy over fifty-percent of Roman Catholic Munich], they are following in the steps of the most ambitious and unscrupulous of their former chiefs [as the antichrist Society of Jesus never changes]. To arrive at the summit, not merely of spiritual power, but of political and worldly authority, through spiritual pretensions,—this is, and ever has been, the object kept in view. To attain this end, they bend all their energies and use every means that promises to secure any degree of success and additional influence to their Society.

They acted upon the Emperor of the French [Napoleon III] through his Empress [Eugenie] who was devoted to them and obedient to their suggestions, and proved herself their partisan at every risk, by the well-known exclamation: 'Better the Prussians at Paris than the Italians at Rome.' And indeed, we find on referring to an entry made by Professor Friedrich in is diary, dated May 2nd, 1870, . . . that he speaks of a distinct understanding having been arrived at, between the Jesuit party and the Tuilleries [the royal residence in Paris begun in 1564 by the Order's murderess who carried out the St. Bartholomew's Massacre, Catherine de Medicis, and later burned to the ground in 1871], in view of a Franco-Prussian war. The Professor observes, that it was well known in Berlin that such an understanding existed. He adds:

'It was no secret, but a notorious fact, that the Empress Eugenie was entirely under the influence of the Jesuits [as were Hitler and FDR], and in constant communication with Rome [as were Hitler and FDR], and that she was eager in urging on the war [as were Masons Hitler and FDR], which she repeatedly spoke of as 'ma guerre [my war],' because she regarded it as a sort of crusade [as did Hitler and FDR]. The Empress and her clerical advisers represented the party, then dominant at the Vatican [as Hitler did openly and as FDR did secretly]. And the Jesuits hoped to promote, by war, the [socialist-fascist] policy they had inaugurated by the Ecumenical Council [1870] and the Syllabus [of Errors] which had preceded it [1864].

The agent employed to conduct the negotiations between the Empress (who, after the departure of the Emperor to the army, assumed the supreme power as Regent) and the directors of the Papal policy, was her Majesty's confessor [Jesuit Monsignor de Falloux]. [Hitler's agent who conducted negotiations with the Vatican was occult Jesuit, Monsignor Ludwig Kaas.

FDR's agent was Jesuit Coadjutor Archbishop Francis Spellman, the power behind the Kennedy Assassination.] The participation of other Court confessors, such as those at Vienna [whose succeeding Jesuit confessors would later oversee Hitler's "Viennese apprenticeship" in preparation for his rise to power guided by "ex-Jesuit" Pope Pius XI's Jesuit-trained and guided Bavarian Papal Nuncio, Archbishop Eugenio Pacelli] and elsewhere, in this affair, was also reckoned upon. Even Italy would, it was thought, be thus brought over to the cause; and if the [German] victories of Wissemburg, Woerth, and Spicheren had not so rapidly succeeded each other, perhaps, the calculations made at the Vatican and the Tuilleries for bringing about a coalition of the Catholic Powers against Germany [intending to repeat the Black Pope's Thirty Years' War] would not have proved fallacious. [In the

Providence of the risen Son of God, Roman Catholic Kings Victor Emmanuel II of Italy and King Ludwig II of Bavaria refused to join the Order's coalition against Protestant Prussia; Victor later died of a fever, given "the poison cup," and Ludwig was later secretly shot twice in the back, given "the leaden bullet."]

All objections to Papal tyranny must be stifled; all claim to spiritual freedom on the part of Roman Catholics must be put down as infidelity, which was equal in their eyes to the enormity of Protestantism itself. In the Monde [20 July 1870], two days after the breaking out of the Franco-German war, there appeared an article in which the writer declared that, 'the war is not only destined to decide the preponderance of one of the two Powers, but will have a most important influence upon the prospects of Catholicism. The triumph of [Napoleon III's] France is necessary, in order to stay the progress of Protestantism and infidel [Jesuit-backed, Masonically-led] German [rationalistic] philosophy [both condemned by the Jesuit-authored Syllabus of Errors] represented by Prussia.' . . .

Upon the German nation, therefore, was to be enforced a submission to everything Papal, renunciation of all manliness of soul and freedom of mind, by the power of the sword [later accomplished by Pacelli's Barlow Palace Fuhrer, Adolf Hitler]. The Emperor of the French, the quondam [former] eldest son of the Church—now no longer looked on as legitimate, since his power to serve the Papacy had failed—was then supposed to be in possession of force sufficient to achieve this desired object. But even the most astute are sometimes deceived [or rather, Providentially thwarted by none Other than the Lord Jesus Christ, delivering apostate Protestant Prussia from her annihilation until near the end of World War II]; and fortunate it is for the human race, that these subtle plans against freedom have been turned to the discomfiture of their originators [the Jesuits]. . . .

The Jesuits, with characteristic selfishness, look with apathy on the misfortunes of their instruments, who have committed the unpardonable crime of failure in attaining their leading object—the supremacy of the Order. Constitutional forms of government are everywhere, more or less, opposed by the Jesuits [most of all, here in the Constitutional Republic of the United States of America evidenced by PATRIOT Acts I and II].

Democracy as the parent of despotism, and despotism itself, alone receive their constant fealty [for which reason both Jesuit/CFR/CIA-controlled political parties always refer to the United States as a "democracy"] . . .

To the Great Secret Society, the downfall of France [or later, Germany] and the desolate homes of millions are as nothing. Men and governments, in its estimation, are merely the counters with which it plays. Sorrows, tears and blood, it cares for, only as far as these favour or thwart its own schemes. . . . Unchanged in temper and aim, they are looking forward to a terrible revenge for their recent defeats [evidenced by] . . . an undying hatred against those who have checkmated them, [which admission leads to the conclusion that those who planned and launched the Franco-Prussian War of 1870-71—the Sons of Loyola—are the masterminds responsible for unleashing the Second Thirty Years' War (1914-1945) and the Cold War (1945-1989) upon the nations of the Twentieth Century!] . . . The State, in Germany and elsewhere, has failed to come to a settlement with Ultramontanism [Germany's ultramontane Center Party, led by Knight of Malta Franz von Papen and occult Jesuit Monsignor Ludwig Kaas, later enabling Hitler's Nazi Party to assume absolute power, and using Himmler's SS secretly collaborating with the Soviet NKVD, Hitler and Stalin inflicted a terrible revenge upon the Lutheran Prussians whose grandfathers had checkmated the Order, defeating the French in 1871 and expelling the Society of Jesus from the German Empire in 1872]." {10} [Emphasis added]

A Glimpse of the Great Secret Society

"The State can punish heresy as an evil in itself and as an offence against the Church, and the Church can require the assistance of the State in suppressing heresy, if its interference be deemed necessary for the good of society. The principle (of liberty of conscience) is one which is not and never has been, and never will be, approved by the Church of Christ." {11}

Jesuit Edmund J. O'Reilly, 1892
Professor at Maynooth College, Ireland
The Secret History of the Oxford Movement

Dear truth-seeker, we now shall embark on a very deceptive and puzzling era of history for the student whose eye is not focused on the movements of the Jesuit Order. We shall first clarify the relationship between the political doctrine of Communism and the secret society of International Freemasonry.

Remembering our previous chapters, we know that socialist-communism was perfected by the Jesuits on their commercial "Reductions" or "Communes" from 1609 to 1767. The reductions had a storehouse or central bank and the enslaved Indians contributed, "each according to his ability," and received, "each according to his need." "Father" George Rapp's American socialist "Harmony Society" of the Nineteenth Century was governed in the same tyrannical, absolutist, Jesuit manner.

We also know from our previous chapters that the old military Order of the Knights Templars—abolished with a Papal Bull by Pope Clement V in 1312—was revived in 1717 in England called "Freemasonry." Its stated purpose was to restore the pro-Jesuit Stuart Dynasty to the throne of England. This occult, Luciferian religion of Freemasonry, grounded in the pagan, phallic, sex-worshipping mysteries of ancient Babylon, was intended to create a universal religious and political Empire. Its doctrines would be in accord with the Council of Trent and its political agenda subject to the Jesuit General.

Therefore, we are not surprised in discovering that the Jesuit Order—the creator and sustainer of modern communism—has written all the rites of Scottish Rite Freemasonry. In a letter written by high-level Freemason Charles Sotheran addressed to the New York Press Club, dated January 11, 1877, we read:

> "It is curious to note too that most of the bodies which work these, such as the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite, the Rite of Avignon, [Edward Aleister Crowley's] the Order of the Temple, Fesslor's Rite, the 'Grand Council of the Emperors of the East and West Sovereign Prince Masons', etc., etc., are nearly all the offspring of the sons of Ignatius Loyola. The Baron Hundt, Chevalier Ramsey, Tschoudy, Zinnendorf, and numerous others, who founded the grades in these rites, worked under instructions from the General of the Jesuits. The nest where these high degrees were hatched, and no Masonic rite is free from their baleful influence more or less, was the Jesuit College of Clermont at Paris." {12} [Emphasis added]

(Dear truth-seeker, what a perfect tool Freemasonry has proven to be in effecting the reunion between Protestantism and Jesuit Romanism! Even the most conservative Protestant Orangemen (members of Northern Ireland's openly anti Catholic, oathbound, Grand Orange Lodge founded in 1795 during the reign of Jesuit-controlled King George III) have been penetrated by the Order's Craft through such men as Gerry Budden, the Past Grand Master of the Grand Orange Lodge of Canada.)

Examples of the Jesuits authoring the higher degrees, found in Light on Free Masonry written by David Bernard, a brave and honest Nineteenth Century Baptist-Calvinist and preacher of the gospel, are these:

> 1. The Rite titled "The Holy and Thrice Illustrious ORDER OF THE CROSS" (see the comparison chart on the last page of Chapter Fourteen) employs these words:
> ". . . we have confirmed the Induction of the Knight Templar Mason into the Councils of the said Order of Knighthood, . . . and hoping and confiding that he will ever so demean himself as to conduct to the glory of I.H.S., the Most Holy and Almighty GOD [the Black Pope], and to the honor of his MARK [I.H.S.], we do recommend . . ." {13} [Emphasis added]

The initiation proceeds with questions from superiors and answers from the initiate who unknowingly is taught to render obedience to a superior who is directly or indirectly subject to the Jesuit Superior General. We observe with wonder:

". . . 'what therein becomes your duty?' . . .

'To receive the commands of my superiors in the order, and pay obedience thereto' . . .

'By what right do you claim this duty?' . . . '

By the right of a sign and the mark of a sign' . . . Thereupon he produces his mark in his left hand, and with the forefinger of his right on the letter S*, on the cross [Jesuit crucifix], asks,*

'What's that?' . . .

*'Lisha.' . . . (he) puts his finger on the letter* H*, and asks,*

'What is this?'

*'Sha.' . . . (he) then puts his finger on the letter* I*, and asks,*

'What is this?'

*'Baal.'*

'What then is your mark?'

*'Baal,* Sha-Lisha *(*Lord of the three); [I.H.S.] I am the Lord [further proving that the god of Freemasonry is the same god of the Jesuit Order as he reveals his will through the Jesuit General].' " {14} [Emphasis added]*

[The initiate then takes his Jesuitical oath:]

"To all this, and every part thereof, I do now, as before, by the honor and power of the mark, as by an . . . awful oath . . . solemnly . . . bind and obligate my soul . . . I become the silent and mute subject . . . of the Illustrious Order . . . and for a breach of silence . . . that I shall die the infamous death of a traitor . . . bearing testimony, even in death, of the power of the mark of the Holy and Illustrious Cross before I.H.S. our Thrice Illustrious Counselor [the Black Pope*]. . . ." [Could it be that "the mark of the beast" will be* I.H.S.?] {15} [Emphasis added]

2. In a diploma titled "The Ancient Council of the Trinity, by their Successors in the United States of America" we read:

"To every Knight Companion of the Holy and Thrice Illustrious ORDER OF THE CROSS: . . . we have confirmed the induction of the Knight Templar Mason into the Councils of said order of Knighthood, . . . and hoping and confiding that he will ever so demean himself as to conduct to the glory of I.H.S., the Most Holy and Almighty God [the Black Pope*], and the honor of his MARK, we do recommend and submit him to the confidence of all those throughout the world . . ."* {16} [Emphasis added]

Dear truth-seeker, I.H.S., displayed on the cover of Vatican Assassins:

"Wounded In The House Of My Friends", is the seal of the General of the Jesuits created by Ignatius Loyola himself! Ian Paisley*, Ireland's foremost preacher and greatest Parliamentary statesman who was later used by the risen Son of God to convert* Avro Manhattan into the Bible-believing Protestant faith, declares:

*"When the original group in the crypt of Notre-Dame de Montmarte rose from their knees, Ignatius pointed to the letters on the altar—*I.H.S. *'These', he said 'stand for "Jesus Hominum Salvator" (Jesus the Savior of Mankind), and they shall henceforth be the motto of our institution.'* I.H.S. is the design of the Jesuits. These letters do not stand for what Ignatius affirmed. They are in fact the pagan mystical symbol of the Egyptian trinity Isis, Horus, Seb*—the Mother, Child and Father of the Gods. No honest person could imagine that this double sense is accidental.*

[Outwardly] I.H.S. pays the semblance of a tribute to Christianity, but [secretly] they are in reality the substance of devil worship. The cloven hoof is upon them." {17} [Emphasis added]

Therefore, the "Almighty God" of Freemasonry, "the Thrice Illustrious Counselor," to which every Shriner Freemason ultimately owes silent and mute obedience, is the same god of the Society of Jesus—the Black Pope—as he serves his master Satan, deceptively called Lucifer! His servants bear his mark—I.H.S.

The Jesuits having revived Freemasonry through which they authored Communism could never be openly identified with either system. They boldly attack these systems with their mouthpiece, the Papal Caesar, or simply tolerate them. But they do all to conceal the facts that prove the Society of Jesus brought these diabolical systems into existence and control them both. On the surface the Jesuits appear to suffer by communist revolutions but after the dust clears they always benefit! An example of this is the Second French Revolution of 1848. The Jesuits, in defense of absolutism, claimed they suffered from this revolution. We read in a letter written by a Jesuit Provincial to the King of Naples in 1854:

> "Majesty, that we both think, and believe, and sustain that absolute monarchy is the best of governments, is demonstrated by the damage we sustained in the year 1848. We were the victims of liberalism, because all liberals were and are well persuaded also, that the Jesuits are the supporters of absolute monarchy [now replaced with military dictatorship]." {18}

Yet in France, all the facts point to the realization that the Jesuits ultimately benefited from the revolution. Freemason Louis XVIII was a Jesuit tool ruling France from 1814 to 1824. His Roman Catholic brother Charles X,—another one of the Order's high-level Freemasons—then ruled under Jesuit supervision from 1824 until he abdicated in 1830, ending the Bourbon Dynasty. But then an enemy of the Society and Metternich's Holy Alliance emerged on the scene. He was Louis Philippe, declared "King of the French." He was known as "The Citizen-King," and his government was one of moderation and order. His policies, like those of Henry IV, were benefiting the people while the idea of absolute monarchy was a thing of the past. In 1831 he expelled Satan's Jesuit Order from France and refused to send French troops to protect the Pope during the Italian revolution . . . So the Order used the Austrians. And what was the response of the Jesuits to this liberal King? They hated him and set the powers of the Holy Alliance against him. An agent of the Jesuits attempted to assassinate him with a special gun, but failed, only wounding the king. Finally, the Order fomented the Revolution of 1848, led by its Freemasons crying their old Masonic watchwords of "liberty, equality, and fraternity!" The Citizen-King abdicated, his throne was publicly burned and he was banished from France. Four years later, the French found themselves under the absolutism of the Jesuits' Napoleon III along with the continual plague of foreign war!

It was the same story for Italy—bestowing temporary liberty giving way to tyranny. Replacing the Citizen-King's liberal monarchy with a republic, the Jesuits installed Louis Napoleon as the President of France. He was the nephew of that great tool of the Order and Freemason, Napoleon Bonaparte. Louis Napoleon's first act was to return the Pope to Rome, thereby destroying the Italian Republic established in 1848, with the troops of republican France! The year was 1849. For twenty-one years the French Army would be garrisoned in Rome, preventing the Italian patriots from achieving national sovereignty to the disgrace of the silent Protestant British Empire ruled by the Jesuit General! These were merely two of the many stupendous benefits the Company received as a result of the European Revolution in 1848.

(Dear truth-seeker, in 1870 things would change. The Franco-Prussian War would break out resulting in the French troops withdrawing from Rome. Victor Emmanuel II would take the "Eternal City" and become King of Italy, taking the Temporal Power from Pope Pius IX. The Pope would declare himself a "prisoner" and lock himself in the Vatican for the rest of his pontificate, having previously condemned the modern world in 1864 via his Encyclical Quanta Cura with its Syllabus of Errors.

As a result, the Pope would be deprived of his Temporal Power (the right to rule the governments of all nations) for nearly sixty years. But Roman Catholic Italy would pay dearly for this during World War I and World War II, the Second Thirty Years' War. One of the many benefits accruing to the Jesuits during the Second Thirty Years' War would be the restoration of the Pope's Temporal Power in 1929. Their "man of destiny" who signed the Lateran Treaty creating the Sovereign State of Vatican City would be the fascist, absolutist, military dictator, Benito Mussolini, whose friend and financier was a notorious thief, a fellow fascist, a fugitive from American justice and later, a member of New York's Mafia Commission—Vito Genovese. Mussolini's confessor was the secretary of the Company of Jesus, Jesuit Pietro Tacchi-Venturi. (What a depraved display of dastardly criminals!)

In 1849, while the Pope had been banished from Rome, the Minister Sterbini of the Italian Republic abolished the Holy Office of the Inquisition liberating its prisoners. The crowds cried, "Death to the Pope! Long live the Republic!" A group of men then inspected the subterranean prisons of the Inquisition. Two of the dungeons are described as follows:

> "In one of these dungeons there was a stone staircase, which led to a still deeper dungeon. It was destined to receive those unfortunate ones who were condemned to be walled up to die. The skeletons that were found here indicated the mode of their barbarous execution. They let down these unfortunate ones with their hands and feet tied; they buried them up to the breast in dry lime, mixed with earthen cement, and left them there, closing the grating above. The positions of these skeletons showed the horrible struggle they must have had before finding death. . . . There remained to be seen the chamber of torture; it was in one of the lowest and most hidden dungeons . . . Near to this cellar the governor of the republic had caused an old wall to be broken down, on account of work which was to be done, but God willed that they should begin with the demolition of a very recent wall, made with lime and clay, colored so as to appear old. Having pulled down the wall, another cellar was found, but instead of bottles, they found in it two ovens, made like beehives, and in these furnaces there were still calcified human bones. You cannot believe the horror that such a discovery occasioned the Romans; every one believed that the torture by fire was abolished. But the Holy Inquisition never derogates from its own laws, and when it can no longer burn in the open air, because the smoke would be seen, it burns them in the furnaces. We came out of so dreadful a place, never to return there again." {19} [Emphasis added]

(Dear truth-seeker, do the instruments of torture and ovens burning the bodies of the condemned resemble a recent event in modern history? Yes! For it was the Jesuits in control of Hitler, and his homosexual Third Reich intricately detailed by Lively and Abrams' The Pink Swastika (1997), who committed tortures (called "medical experiments") and burned the bodies of the condemned Jews—in the ovens at Auschwitz! As it has become unpopular for the Jesuits' Holy Office to destroy whole peoples in the name of the Inquisition, they do so in the name of Democracy, Nazism, Communism, Fascism, Labor Zionism or any other form of socialist absolutism. In America they are doing so in the name of the American Medical (Murderer's) Association with their Inquisitors, the Food & Drug Administration.)

In 1852 Louis Napoleon overthrew the French Republic with a coup d'etat as he declared himself Napoleon III, Emperor of the Second Empire. From that day, until defeated by the Germans in the Franco-Prussian War of 1870-71, he was the dictator of France and the abject tool of the Jesuits of whom we read in 1854:

> "We have arrived at a great crisis . . . Napoleon ascends the throne of France. The policy of the latter days of his great uncle he carries out, and espouses the cause of the Papacy. The Church of Rome, in France, rises, with extraordinary power. Napoleon assumes the title of "Protector of the Holy Places [Jerusalem]." . . . Napoleon cannot hold a review without a military mass, he cannot send out a fleet without commending it to the virgin, whose image he devoutly inaugurates in the flagship. Napoleon, be his private views what they may, is a champion of the Papacy, and the Papal authorities [and the Jesuit Curia] are loud in his praise." {20}

The question arises: "Who benefited from the Revolution of 1848?" The Citizen-King, Louis Philippe, was overthrown and the Pope was punished for his liberalism, being driven from Rome by Italian patriots led by Freemasons loyal to "I.H.S." The French Army of Louis Napoleon then restored Pius IX to power and Louis in turn became an absolute Monarch, Napoleon III. And thus, Napoleon III was a dedicated servant of the Jesuits. Yes, like the first French Revolution and Empire, the Jesuits greatly benefited from the second French Revolution and Empire.

They turned legitimate grievances of oppressed peoples into revolutions managed for their own gain—just like the Black American Civil Rights movement of the 1960s led by the "boys" of Henry R. Luce and his master, Francis Cardinal Spellman! Two of those "boys" were the socialist-communist and unionist integrationists A. Philip Randolph, "Mr. Black Labor," and Michael (alias "Martin Luther") King, Jr.

We now must stand back and gaze at the forest having examined the trees. The Jesuits revived and controlled high-level Freemasonry. They authored Socialist-Communism. By 1815 they had gained control of England and the Papacy. They had created the Holy Alliance to crush popular governments. The Order was the great instigator of both French Revolutions and the absolute sovereign of both French Empires, overthrowing all kings who dared resist the power of its "Father General."

But times were changing by the 1840s. The old absolutism was on its way out. The altar and the throne were hated. So the question the Jesuits must have asked was, "How can we maintain absolutism and make it look like a government of the people?"

The answer was to introduce absolutist Socialist-Communism, by way of Freemasonry, into Europe. But the Order could never formally endorse it; it must appear to be its foe, as the Society would later appear to be the foe of its "USSR." Therefore, the Jesuits blamed the origin of absolutist Socialist-Communism on two foes—one superficial, the other very real. Their pretended foe was International Freemasonry, their executioners during the French Revolution (1789-1793). Their real foe was the Jewish Race, as it alone has been promised the land of Israel forever during the earthly reign of her Messiah, ruling all nations with "a rod of iron" while sitting on "the throne of David." The Jewish Race and its Jewish Messiah are the rivals of the Gentile Jesuit Order and its "infallible," Gentile Papal Caesar, as to who will rule the world from Solomon's final rebuilt Temple in Jerusalem—forever!

Thus, "the dictatorship (absolutism) of the proletariat" was introduced into Europe in 1848. The book was The Communist Manifesto. Its author was a conscious tool of the Jesuit Order, a worshipper of Satan, and a high-level Jewish Freemason, Karl Marx. As a result if Marx's infamy, the Jewish Race would pay dearly for this during the Jesuits' Third Reich, being the scapegoat for the evils of communism, while further enabling the Company of Loyola to escape the historical light of day.

The Company's grand design, of which the French Revolution of 1848 was only a part, was clearly stated by a courageous Italian Bible-believer in 1852. Luigi Desanctis, who for many years was a priest of Rome, Professor of Theology and Official Censor of the Inquisition, was driven into exile upon his conversion to Christ, becoming a Reformed pastor in Geneva. While yet a Catholic he had had an interview with the Secretary of the French "Father Assistant" (one of the Jesuit General's most powerful Administrators over the Provincials of an Assistancy) of the Jesuit Order. In his extremely difficult-to-find masterpiece, Popery, Puseyism, and Jesuitism, which is included herein along with the Secret Instructions of the Jesuits on a CD, he revealed the Company's quest for a world governed by its General:

> "At what then do the Jesuits aim? According to them, they only seek the greater glory of God; but if you examine the facts you will find that they aim at universal dominion alone. They have rendered themselves indispensable to the Pope, who, without them, could not exist, because Catholicism is identified with them. They have rendered themselves indispensable to governors and hold revolutions in their hands; and in this way, either under one name or another, it is they who rule the world." {21} [Emphasis added]

And they wish to rule the world, not from Rome but from Jerusalem, from Solomon's rebuilt Temple with an "infallible" Pope of their choosing, he having suffered a mortal wound but then raised from the dead and possessed by the Devil himself. Satan's ultimate "Final Solution to the Jewish Question," yet to be carried out by this Eighth and final Roman Caesar—the risen Pope spoken of in the Book of Revelation, chapter seventeen, verses ten and eleven—, will be

– Jeremiah 30:7

Rising to become the "antichrist," he will destroy Vatican City with its Papacy, Hierarchy and Empire. Ah then, dear truth-seeker, from Jerusalem within Solomon's rebuilt Temple, "that man of sin" will begin a bloodthirsty and fanatical persecution of "those perfidious Jews," so referred to by the priests of Rome in their "prayers" prior to Vatican II. In one last mad attempt to annihilate them all, this man-devil beast will desperately seek "to extirpate and exterminate them from the face of the whole earth" in obedience to Satan's Jesuit Oath! At the end of his universal reign of forty-two months, as the world's armies pour into Israel's Valley of Megiddo—Armageddon—while raping and murdering the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the lowly Nazarene will appear once again. But this time He will be The Great Avenger, coming upon "a white horse," clothed with "a vesture dipped in blood," out of Whose mouth will be proceeding "a sharp, two-edged sword" to "strike through kings in the day of his wrath." "The hope of his people, and the strength of the children of Israel," in treading "the winepress of the fierceness and wrath of Almighty God . . . alone," He will be the roaring and furious "King of kings and Lord of lords . . . dwelling in the light which no man can approach,"

The Lion of the Tribe of Judah!

In that day the words of King David the Prophet will be fulfilled:

"The stone which the builders refused is become the head stone of the corner."

Miserly Mission of the Jesuits in Switzerland, 1844 #150

In seeking to overthrow the Constitution of Protestant Switzerland, the Order was expelled in 1847. The Company's orchestrated Continental upheaval in 1848, which the Jesuits have asserted they were its victims, consolidated more power into their hands. Napoleon III "the Little"
Emperor of the Second Empire of France, 1852 – 1870

A high-level Freemason like his uncle, Louis Napoleon was brought to power in 1848 as a result of the Order's expulsion from France in 1831 championed by the great Louis Philippe, "the Citizen King" (1830 – 1848), the Company having failed at a previous attempted assassination of the King from a distance. With a criminal coup d'etat in 1852, Louis Napoleon became Emperor Napoleon III, advised through the brother (a trusted third party) of Monsignor de Falloux, the most powerful Jesuit in France. He completely served the interests of the Jesuit General by crushing the Italian revolution and restoring the Temporal Power of Pope Pius IX in 1849. Obeying his Jesuit masters in making the Empire "the Sword of the Church," he won the Crimean War in 1853-56, intervened in Vietnam and started the Franco-Prussian War in 1870-71. Shamed and broken, having surrendered his armies to Protestant Prince Bismarck at Sedan, he died two years later in exile while protected by the Jesuits' English Queen Victoria whose Prime Ministers refused to enforce the Relief Bill of 1829, it having BANISHED the Society of Jesus from Great Britain and Ireland once again.

The Order's expulsion from France in 1880 and again in 1901 would result in the deliberate annihilation of millions "liberal" Frenchmen during the Pope's Second Thirty Years' War (1914-1945) guided by French Jesuit Coadjutors (including the Chaplain of the French Resistance, Jesuit Michael Riquet) who, during WWII, betrayed French Resistance hero Jean Moulin into the hands of Jesuit Coadjutor SS/SD Captain Klaus Barbie, "the Butcher of Lyons."

French "Liberals" Michelet, Quinet and Renan, 1838

Jules Michelet, Edgar Quinet and Ernest Renan, notorious French Roman Catholic "liberal" historians, philosophers and writers, had drawn their literary swords against right-wing Jesuit absolutism threatening the fine reign of Louis Philippe, the settled enemy of the Black Pope. Michelet, a professor of history at the Collège de France and assisted by his friend Quinet, authored an indicting history against the Jesuits, and his lectures exposing the Order's duplicity were attended enthusiastically. But the Order incited the Second French Revolution in 1848, overthrowing the Citizen King; in 1852 it enthroned Napoleon III via a coup d'etat. Bonaparte then dismissed Michelet from his chair for the latter's continued attack upon the Emperor's Jesuit masters. Dying in 1874, Michelet was interred in Paris' great cemetery named after a Jesuit—"Pierre La Chaise!"

Freemason Karl Heinrich Marx, 1818 – 1883 #155

Karl Marx, "the Father of Modern Communism" was himself an occultist and high-level Jewish Freemason, intimately associated with Rome's Giuseppe Mazzini (1805-1872)—the most powerful Shriner on the Continent and founder of the Mafia—and Albert Pike (1809-1891), the most powerful Shriner in Fourteenth Amendment America and a leader of the first Ku Klux Klan. He was privately tutored by Jesuits in the huge Reading Room of the British Museum while writing The Communist Manifesto based upon the ten maxims or "planks" the Order had perfected on its Paraguayan Reductions (1609-1767) and its Maryland Reductions (1650-1838). His writings (including The Jewish Question in promoting the Company's European "Jewish Question Agitation," Marx claiming, "behind every tyrant stands a Jew, as a Jesuit stands behind every Pope," and exhorting "the workers of the world to fight and eliminate such a cancer") were financed by the Society's wealthy, White Gentile cartel-capitalists, such as John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and J. P. Morgan, also 33rd Degree Freemasons who, being in their doctrines and deeds, were in fact the revived old Order of the crusading Papal Knights Templars. Brought to international fame in 1870 via the Order's Paris Commune, Marx, a racial Jew, was chosen for this task, the Order intending to blame all the brutal and savage evils of their absolutist, Communist Inquisition on the Semitic/Hebrew/Israelitic/Jewish Race. This masterstroke of Jesuit genius was fulfilled by the Black Pope's Third Reich with its invasion of Russia during "Operation Barbarossa," followed by the Order's SS "extirpation" of "infidel" European and Russian Jewry with the aid of Stalin, Churchill, and FDR pursuant to the bigoted and accursing Council of Trent.

Islamic Freemason Muammar al-Qaddafi, President of Libya, 2002 #158

Like Saddam Hussein of Iraq and Osama Bin Laden—the Saudi Prince in charge of the Black Pope's international Al Qaeda Terrorist network—Qaddafi is a creation of the Order's Central Intelligence Agency, its obedient dictator having provided weapons to the Jesuit-commanded IRA throughout the 70s and 80s. In 1988 the CIA brought down Pan Am flight 103 over Lockerbie, Scotland killing eight members of the US intelligence community, including four CIA officers led by Matthew Gannon. As Bin Laden was blamed for the destruction of the World Trade Center, even so Qaddafi was blamed for the downing of Pan Am 103.

During the trial of two of Qaddafi's highest intelligence officers, it was revealed that Libya's dictator was a member of a secret, high-level Masonic Islamic Brotherhood that extended throughout the Middle East. This was a most unnerving revelation, since it was never to be known that the Black Pope's "Invisible Empire" is in complete control of all Islamic nations while at the same time directing the Masonic, anti-Torah, Labor Zionist government in Israel—to the detriment of the risen Son of God's beloved Hebrew/Jewish People yet to inherit the promises given to Abraham. In the above photo we have the great Masonic Islamic agitator himself, IN ROME, dressed in black and having seen (or about to see) his White master, Pope Paul John II—the power behind America's present Crusade against the Order's CIA/Saudi-financed Islamic "terrorism."

The Jesuits — 1815 – 1860

The Great Conspiracy of the Jesuits With their Evil "Holy Alliance" of European Despots Against The Calvinist Federal Republic of These United States of America

"The name of Jesuit was, suffice it to say, but synonymous with all of ambition, craft, and treachery, duplicity and talent, to be conceived by the human mind . . . Let the court of Rome bear the responsibility of its daring! Necessary indeed to its service may be the devotion of such a band—but how perilous the determination to employ it!" {1}

Othello, Act I, Scene III

According to our previous chapters we know the Jesuits are the Counter-Reformation. Their Council of Trent and Jesuit Oath prove that they purpose to destroy the Protestant Reformation. Since the thirteen American colonies were entirely Protestant and the Federal Republic established by the Constitution was a Protestant form of limited government, reason, logic, common sense and knowledge of history confirms the reality that the Jesuits had a secret plan to destroy our Nation.

America's Declaration of Independence was fashioned after the 1775 Mecklenberg Declaration of Independence put forth by Presbyterian Calvinists of North Carolina; the blueprint for America's Constitution had been devised by Pelatiah Webster; its Constitution and Bill of Rights had been penned by James Madison; and its Government had been established with the sword and statesmanship of George Washington—all White Protestant and Baptist-Calvinists! Though the Jesuits succeeded in using their Freemason, John Adams, to foment the Revolution, create the evil "Great Seal" and give shelter to the Society, they HATED Washington's Victory over Cornwallis, defeating their plan of submitting the nation to George III.

That plan was greatly enhanced by the "Holy Alliance" of European sovereigns in 1815. The secret Treaty of Verona, Italy, furthered the conspiracy, which in turn was countered by the Monroe Doctrine of 1823. But the final touch was the Jesuit General's Secret Plan at Chieri, Italy, in 1825. Therefore we are safe in saying the Jesuits, with Prince Metternich's "Holy Alliance," conspired to overthrow that successful example of popular Protestant liberty and envy the world over—The Federal Republic of the United States. (For years, our Protestant Republic refused to acknowledge the sovereignty of Vatican City as well as the Temporal Power of the Pope. After 1867, as a result of the Jesuit hand in Lincoln's assassination, the American Government never openly sent an ambassador to the Vatican until 33rd Degree Mason FDR, without the consent of Congress, sent Knight of Malta/CFR Myron C. Taylor during World War II, Rome's advisor to the OSS headed by another Irish Roman Catholic, Knight of Malta "Wild Bill" Donovan.)

Our founding Fathers knew of the Jesuit intrigue directed at the new Protestant Republic of these United States of America. In 1816 John Adams, who had been known as the "King-aping" President, wrote to Thomas Jefferson:

"Shall we not have regular swarms of them here, in as many disguises as only a king of the gypsies can assume, dressed as painters, publishers, writers [broadcasters,] and schoolmasters? If ever there was a body of men who merited eternal damnation on earth and in hell it is this Society of Loyola's . . . we are compelled by our system . . . to offer them asylum [Adams protecting the Order]." {3} [Emphasis added]

Many writers warned of this Great Conspiracy of the Jesuits. Samuel Morse, the father of Morse Code, was one of them. The preface of his great work, Foreign Conspiracy Against the Liberties of the United States, written in 1835 reads:

"The author undertakes to show—that a conspiracy against the liberties of this Republic is now in full action, under the direction of the wily [Knight of Malta] Prince Metternich of Austria, who knowing the impossibility of obliterating this troublesome example of a great and free nation by force of arms, is attempting to accomplish his object through the agency of an army of Jesuits. The array of facts and arguments going to prove the existence of such a conspiracy, will astonish any man who opens the book with the same incredulity as we did." {4} [Emphasis added]

Of the Jesuits, Morse wrote:

"And who are these agents? They are for the most part, Jesuits, an ecclesiastical order proverbial through the world for cunning, duplicity, and total want of moral principle; an order so skilled in all the arts of deception that even in Catholic countries, in Italy itself, it became intolerable, and the people required its suppression." {5}[Emphasis added]

Morse, in alerting Protestant America to the Great Jesuit Conspiracy against our free and popular form of government, further described the Jesuit Order:

"Let us examine the operations of this Austrian Society, [St. Leopold Foundation, the Leopoldines being the present day Knights of Columbus] for it is hard at work all around us, yes, here in this country, from one end to the other, at our very doors, in this city [Boston]. From a machinery of such a character and power, we shall doubtless be able to see already some effect. With its headquarters at Vienna, under the immediate direction and inspection of Metternich, the well-known great managing general of the diplomacy of Europe, it makes itself already felt through the Republic. Its emissaries are here. And who are these emissaries? They are Jesuits. This society of men, after exerting their tyranny for upwards of two hundred years, at length became so formidable to the world, threatening the entire subversion to all social order, that even the Pope [Clement XIV], whose devoted subjects they are, and must be, by the vow of their society, was compelled to dissolve them. They had not been suppressed, however, for fifty years, before the waning influence of Popery and Despotism required their useful labors, to resist the light of Democratic liberty, and the Pope (Pius VII) simultaneously with the formation of the Holy Alliance, revived the order of the Jesuits in all their power. From their vow of 'unqualified submission to the Sovereign Pontiff,' they have been appropriately called the Pope's Body Guard . . . And do Americans need to be told what Jesuits are? If any are ignorant, let them inform themselves of their history without delay; no time is to be lost: their workings are before you in every day's events: they are a secret society, a sort of Masonic order with super added features of revolting odiousness, and a thousand times more dangerous.

They are not merely priests, or priests of one religious creed; they are merchants, and lawyers, and editors, and men of any profession, having no outward badge, (in this country) by which to be recognized; they are about in all your society [functioning as Temporal Coadjutors most apparently in politics and the media]. They can assume any character, that of angels of light, or ministers of darkness, to accomplish their one great end, the service upon which they are sent, whatever that service may be. They are all educated men, prepared, and sworn to start at any moment, and in any direction, and for any service, commanded by the general of their order, bound to no family, community, or country, by the ordinary ties which bind men, and sold for life to the cause of the Roman Pontiff." {6}[Emphasis added]

And what military tactic would the Jesuits use in their conspiracy to overthrow America's Protestant Constitution, erecting an absolute tyranny in its place?

> "Jesuits are not fools. They would not startle our slumbering fears, by bolting out their monarchial designs directly in our teeth . . . except so far as to cover their designs. . . . Let every real Democrat guard against the common Jesuitical artifice of tyrants, . . . it is founded on the well known principle that 'extremes meet.' . . . When in despotic governments popular discontent, arising from intolerable oppressions of the tyrants of the people, has manifested itself by popular outbreakings, to such a degree as to endanger the throne, and the people seemed prepared to shove their masters from their horses, and are likely to mount, and seize the reins themselves; then, the popular movement, unmanageable any longer by resistance, is pushed to the extreme. The passions of the ignorant and vicious are excited to outrage by pretended friends of the people [like the American Black communist, revolutionary rioting during 1968]. Anarchy ensues; and then the mass of the people, who are always lovers of order and quiet, unite at once in support of the strong arm of force for protection; and despotism, perhaps, in another, but preconcerted shape, resumes its iron reign. . . . look at France in her late Republican revolution [1848] and in her present relapse into despotism [Jesuit-advised Napoleon III—1852].
> [The writer then makes this artifice of tyrants—the great Jesuit maxim for world domination under Fascist-Socialist-Communist dictators—crystal clear.] He who would prevent you from mounting his horse has two ways of thwarting your designs. If he finds efforts to rise too strong for his resistance, he has but to add a little more impulse to them, and he shoves you over on the other side. In either case you are on the ground [perfectly describing Europe's upheaval in 1848]." {7} [Emphasis added]

A personal friend of Professor Morse believed his warning of the Great Jesuit Conspiracy. He was President Abraham Lincoln. We read:

> "The Protestants of both the North and South would surely unite to exterminate the priests and the Jesuits, . . . if they could learn how the priests, the nuns, and the monks, which daily land on our shores, under the pretext of preaching their religion . . . are nothing else but the [political] emissaries of the Pope, of Napoleon [III], and the other despots of Europe, to undermine our institutions, alienate the hearts of our people from our Constitution, and our laws, destroy our schools, and prepare a reign of anarchy here as they have done in Ireland, in Mexico, in Spain, and wherever there are any people who want to be free." {8}

Further, the Duke of Richmond, who had been Governor of Canada in 1815-1816, told Horatio Gates, an eminent merchant in Montreal [the capital of Jesuit Quebec], of the same Great Jesuit Conspiracy against the United States. We read:

> " 'The Church of Rome has a design upon that country, and it will, in time, be the established religion, and will aid in the destruction of that republic. I have conversed with many of the sovereigns and princes of Europe, and they have unanimously expressed these opinions relative to the government of the United States, and their determination to subvert it!' " {9}[Emphasis added]

And how would the Jesuits and the Holy Alliance accomplish this task while employing the "common Jesuitical artifice of tyrants"? By bringing in thousands of easily agitated Roman Catholic immigrants, especially from Ireland. We read the narration of our hero, Charles Chiniquy, when he was invited to a meeting of priests at Buffalo in 1852. The priests, sent by the Bishops of the United States, declared:

> "We are determined to take possession of the United States and rule them; but we cannot do that without acting secretly and with the utmost wisdom. If our plans are known, they will surely be defeated. . . . Silently and patiently, we must mass our Roman Catholics in the great cities of the United States, remembering that the vote of a poor journeyman, though he be covered with rags, has as much weight in the scale of power as the millionaire Astor, and that if we have two votes against his one, he will become as powerless as an oyster. Let us then multiply our votes; let us call our poor but faithful Irish Catholics from every corner of the world, and gather them into the very hearts of those proud citadels which the Yankees are so rapidly building under the names of Washington, New York, Boston, Chicago, Buffalo, Albany, Troy, Cincinnati, etc. Under the shadows of those great [Northern] cities, the Americans consider themselves a giant and unconquerable race. They look upon the poor Irish people with supreme contempt, as only fit to dig their canals, sweep their streets and work in their kitchens. Let no one awake those sleeping lions, today. Let us pray God that they may sleep and dream their sweet dreams, a few years more. How sad will their awakening be, when with our out-numbering votes, we will turn them forever, from every position of honor, power and profit! What will those hypocritical and godless sons and daughters of the fanatical Pilgrim Fathers say, when not a single judge, not a single teacher, not a single policeman, will be elected if he be not a devoted Irish Roman Catholic? What will those so-called giants think of their matchless shrewdness and ability, when not a single Senator or member of Congress will be chosen, if he be not submitted to our holy father the Pope! What a sad figure those Protestant Yankees will cut when we will not only elect the President, but fill and command the armies, man the navies and hold the keys of the public treasury [the Federal Reserve Bank]? . . . Then, Yes!

Then, we will rule the United States, and lay them at the feet of the Vicar of Jesus Christ, that he may put an end to their godless system of education, and impious laws of liberty of conscience which are an insult to God and man!" {10} [Emphasis added]

Chiniquy then responds in commenting on the plans of the Bishops:

> "From that, the Catholic priests, with the most admirable ability and success, have gathered their Irish legions into the great cities of the United States, and the American people must be very blind indeed, if they do not see that if they do nothing to prevent it, the day is very near when the Jesuits will rule their country, from the magnificent White House at Washington [occupied by the Order's George W. Bush] to the humblest civil and military department of this vast Republic." {11} [Emphasis added]

(Dear truth-seeker, by 1963 the rich Irish Catholics would be the true powerbrokers of Fourteenth Amendment America. Industrialist J. Peter Grace, Jr., would head the Cardinal's political and financial elite—the Knights of Malta; Joseph P. Kennedy—friend of billionaire Knight of Malta Aristotle Onassis—would be supreme in power, business and entertainment; and Francis Cardinal Spellman would be the greatest and most powerful Archbishop in American history. Today, Edward Cardinal Egan has replaced Spellman; William J. Flynn replaced J. Peter Grace; CFR/Trilateralist William J. McDonough headed the Federal Reserve Bank in New York City later replaced with brother CFR member, Knight of Malta Peter G. Peterson; and CFR member Joseph A. O'Hare with Leo J. O'Donovan are two of the Empire's most powerful Professed Jesuits of the Fourth Vow—being former presidents of Fordham and Georgetown Universities respectively. Yes indeed, the true men of power in America are evil, White Gentile, Irish Roman Catholics who are completely at the beck and call of the Company of Jesus—the Militia of the Black Pope!)

The Jesuits would bring one such Irish Roman Catholic family to Boston. Its patriarch would become a baron in the commerce of alcohol and one of the founders of the Jesuit Theater of unholy Hollywood. In becoming one of the nation's most powerful Knights of Malta, he would go on to be our ambassador to England after aiding Pius XI in making FDR and Hitler dictators over historically White Protestant nations only to be pitted against each other during a fratricidal, four-year war. One of his sons would become the President of the United States to the delight of the Order. But the son would turn on his Jesuit masters by resisting the Pope's Temporal Power.

That son was John F. Kennedy. And he, without mercy, would be wounded in the house of his friends, by the man who had performed the wedding of his brother Ted, Francis Cardinal Spellman.

"There have, in all ages, been really but two parties in politics. One, that did not believe in the people, but wanted a strong government to control or rule them [Jesuit Catholicism]. The other, that believed in the people, was for retaining power in their hands to control or rule the government [Calvinist Protestantism]. The former is the Monarchial or Strong Government [Federalist] party. Its members were called Tories [led by Alexander Hamilton] in the Revolution of 1776. The latter is the Democratic party [led by Thomas Jefferson]. I shall show how this Tory [Federalist] party has always been trying to subvert our Government, because it [our limited, Constitutional government] was formed on the democratic principle. I shall show that finally, after being defeated in every other effort, this Tory or Monarchial party assumed the name of Republican, and taking the advantage of a popular delusion about negroes, used it to get into power [after the Jesuits split the Democratic Convention in Charleston with their tool and Freemason, Stephen Douglas] and accomplished its long cherished purposes. I shall show that Abraham Lincoln was the direct successor of old John Adams and his infamous Alien and Sedition laws, only that Mr. Lincoln went much further, and acted much worse than John Adams ever dared to do. I shall show that the war was not waged to preserve the Union, or to maintain republican institutions, but really to destroy both, and that every dollar spent, and every life lost, have been taken by the Abolitionists on false pretenses. This book will show that the Abolition or so-called Republican Party has simply carried out the British free-Negro policy on this Continent, a pet measure of all the kings and despots of Europe [the Monarchs of the Holy Alliance, secretly including Queen Victoria]. In order to reach this end, Mr. Lincoln was compelled to assume the Dictatorship, and overthrow the government as it was formed, which he did by issuing a military Edict or Decree [Executive Orders] changing the fundamental law of the land [as further proven by an economics professor at the Jesuits' Loyola College in Baltimore, Thomas DiLorenzo, author of The Real Lincoln, (2001), although he falsely accuses Lincoln of centralism, as Lincoln was against the Order's centralizing Fourteenth Amendment]. . . . It will also be seen that the war has changed the entire character and system of our Government [and has] overthrown the ancient rights of the States . . . against the free action . . . of the people." {6}[Emphasis added]

"Another principle must certainly be embodied in our re-organized form of government. The men who shape the legislation of this country, when the war is past, must remember what we want is power and strength. The problem will be to combine the forms of a republican government with the powers of a monarchial government [like "the Jesuit Republic" in socialist-communist Paraguay] . . . This war has already shown the absurdity of a government of limited powers; it has shown that the power of every government ought to be and must be unlimited [under the guise of an ultra "democracy" having now degenerated into a socialist-fascist military dictatorship under President George W. Bush]." {7}[Emphasis added]

"My darling Sister,

Your letter, which I need to say, has caused some change in our plans, which [plans] were to go by way of New York, Niagara. I pray you avoid all kinds of 'instructions [i.e., Secret Instructions],' or anything of the sort from all manner of Jesuits, man or woman." {8}[Emphasis added]

[Confederate Generals Johnson and McCausland invaded Pennsylvania a year after Gettysburg on Protestant General Jubal Early's orders to slow the arson of Roman Catholic Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor General Philip Sheridan (who

"Abraham Lincoln and others had resisted Northern abolitionists' efforts to free the slaves. But in the face of the incredible sacrifices required, many Northerners were finding less resolve to pursue the original purpose of keeping the nation intact. Even moderate Northerners now saw that slaves were contributing immensely to the rebellion—raising food and forage, building entrenchments, producing cotton that blockade runners exchanged for European weapons, and much more. On July 22 Lincoln proposed an emancipation proclamation to his cabinet. It would leave slavery intact in the border-states, Delaware, Maryland, Kentucky, and Missouri, that had not seceded, but declare slavery ended on January 1, 1863, in the Confederate states. . . . This would guarantee the persistence of the Northern people in the struggle and the drawing back of Britain and France from recognition of the Confederacy. . . . He waited for a successful Northern battle to announce his revolutionary move. . . . On September 22 Abraham Lincoln issued the Emancipation Proclamation, effective January 1, 1863. It was revolutionary, a presidential edict, that ignored procedures for amending the Constitution, struck down constitutional provisions protecting slavery, and changed the war at a stroke from a conflict to preserve the Union into a crusade to free the slaves . . . This had been the heritage of Lee's insistence on fighting and losing the battle of Antietam [as Lee full well knew that the Order's key martial Freemason, General George McClellan, possessed his secret battle plan, Orders 191]." {9}

"I have read with great interest the Congressional Report of the Committee, recommending the repeal of the law regarding the mails to be carried on the Sabbath; and I hope that you will feel it a duty, as well as a pleasure, to urge its repeal. I do not see how a nation that thus arrays itself by such a law, against God's holy day, can expect to escape His wrath. The punishment of national sins must be confined to this world, as there are no nationalities beyond the grave. For fifteen years I have refused to mail letters on Sunday, or to take them out of the office on that day, except since I came into the field; . . . I have never sustained loss in observing what God enjoins; and I am well satisfied that the law should be repealed at the earliest practicable moment. . . . God has greatly blessed us and I trust He will make us that people whose God is the Lord. Let us look to God for an illustration in our history that 'righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people.'. . .

I greatly desire to see peace,—blessed peace. And I am persuaded, that if God's people throughout our Confederacy will earnestly and perseveringly unite in imploring His interposition for peace, we may expect it. Let our Government acknowledge the God of the Bible as its God, and we may expect soon to be a happy and independent people. It appears to me that extremes are to be avoided; and it also appears to me that the old United States occupied an extreme position in the means it took to prevent the union of Church and State. We call ourselves a Christian people; and it seems to me that our Government may be of the same character, without connecting itself with an established Church. It does appear to me that as our President, our Congress, and our people have thanked God for victories, and prayed to Him for additional ones, and He has answered such prayers, and gives us a Government, it is gross ingratitude not to acknowledge Him in the gift. Let the framework of our Government show that we are not ungrateful to Him. . . . When we take our meals, . . . there is the grace.

When I take a drought of water I always pause as my palate receives the refreshment, to lift up my heart to God in thanks and prayer for the water of life [the Lord Jesus Christ]. Whenever I drop a letter into the box at the post-office, I send a petition along with it, for God's blessing upon its mission and upon the person to whom it is sent. When I break the seal of a letter just received, I stop to pray to God that He may prepare me for its contents, and make it a message of good. . . . And so of every other familiar act of the day." {10}[Emphasis added]

Thomas J. "Stonewall" Jackson, 1862
Presbyterian Calvinist Confederate General
Life and Campaigns of Lieut. General Thomas J. Jackson

The Jesuits, with their "Holy Alliance" of despots, conspired to overthrow Protestant republicanism, especially the Federal Government of these United States of America. For our government had been established upon the principles of the Bible of the English Reformation, The Authorized King James Version of 1611. Those principles were embodied in the Protestant documents known as the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution and the Bill of Rights. Therefore, pursuant to the Council of Trent and Jesuit Oath, this "heretic nation" was to be overthrown as its obedience to the Word of God had produced the greatest Gentile civilization in world history. Of this White civilization and Bible-based government we read in 1835:

> "And what do the people of Europe behold in this country? They witness a successful experiment of a free government; a government of the people; without rulers by divine right; having no hereditary privileged classes; a government exhibiting good order and obedience to law, without an armed police and secret tribunals; a government out of debt; a people industrious, enterprising, thriving in all their interests; without monopolies; a people religious without an establishment; moral and honest without the terrors of the confessional or the inquisition; a people not harmed by the uncontrolled liberty of the press and freedom of opinion; a people that read what they please, and think and judge, and act for themselves; a people enjoying the most unbounded security of person and property; among whom domestic conspiracies are unknown; where the poor and the rich have equal justice; a people social and hospitable, exerting all their energies in schemes of public and private benefit without other control than mutual forbearance." {11} [Emphasis added]

This highly cultured and scientifically advanced White, Celtic-Anglo-Saxon Protestant and Baptist-Calvinist civilization, consisting of what Rome called "obstinate heretics" practicing Biblical morality, must be overthrown. The method was threefold. First, as we have seen, America must be invaded by foreign immigrants, Irish Roman Catholics especially; secondly, civil war must be incited resulting in the annihilation of the White Protestant and Baptist Southern culture; and lastly, the Protestant Constitution must be modified resulting in the centralization of power in Washington, D.C. We read the following words written in 1855:

> "The Duke of Richmond . . . in speaking of the government of the United States, said . . . 'It will be destroyed, it ought not, and will not be permitted to exist . . . and so long as it exists, no prince will be safe upon his throne; and the sovereigns of Europe are aware of it, and they have determined upon its destruction, and come to an understanding upon this subject, and have decided on the means to accomplish it; and they will eventually succeed by subversion rather than conquest. As the low and surplus population of the different nations of Europe will be carried into that country; it is and will be a receptacle for the bad and disaffected population of Europe, when they are not wanted for soldiers, or to supply the navies, and the European governments will favor such a course. [Did not that bastard son of a Nazi, Fidel Castro, expel Cuban criminals during the Carter Administration, they ultimately landing in Miami, Florida?] This will create a surplus and majority of low population, who are so very easily excited [Irish Roman Catholic "Molly Maguires"] and they will bring with them their principles, and in nine cases out of ten, adhere to their ancient and former governments, laws, manners, and religion, and will transmit them to their posterity, and in many cases propagate them among the natives. These men will become citizens, and by the constitution and laws, will be invested with the right of suffrage. The different grades of society will then be created by the elevation of a few and by degrading many, and thus a heterogeneous population will then be formed, speaking different languages, and of different religions and sentiments, and to make them act, think, and feel alike, in political affairs, will be like mixing oil and water; hence discord, dissension, anarchy and civil war will ensue, and some popular individual will assume the government and restore order, and the sovereigns of Europe, the immigrants, and many of the natives will sustain him.' " {12} [Emphasis added]

(Dear truth-seeker, does this not describe the American Empire of today? Our religious discord and dissension arises from three basic documents. They are the Council of Trent governing Roman Catholicism, the Koran governing Islam, and the Talmud governing Orthodox Judaism. All three documents are Bible-rejecting, intolerant and hostile to Bible-believing Protestants and Baptists. For all three religions are controlled by the General of the Jesuits through Shriner Freemasonry.)

Such was the plan. The following is how it was accomplished. The Jesuits, using Scottish Rite Freemasonry, first divided the country into geographical sections, North and South, with the Missouri Compromise. The Freemason used to that end was the centralist, Henry Clay. The Jesuits then brought in thousands of Irish Roman Catholics and settled them predominantly in Northern cities! In the 1820s British Secret Service agents under Jesuit control then fomented "the anti-slavery agitation," as President Buchanan called it, branding slavery as "immoral and evil," while neither the Bible nor the Constitution forbade it. Then a new political party, consisting of the centralizing, old Federalists, was created in the North called "the Republican Party." The Jesuits used it to intensify their "anti-slavery agitation" with the Lincoln-Douglas debates, claiming "America could not endure half slave and half free." This created a tremendous hatred between Northerners and Southerners.

Meanwhile, the Jesuits with their Freemasonry created the radical secessionists in the South. They would hotly promote the withdrawing of the Southern States from the Union. Two Freemasons who were radical secessionists were John C. Calhoun and Robert Toombs. Ah, Yes! Enough hatred had been created to justify a war!

The greatest and most powerful American Freemason at this time, however, was the evil Albert Pike. As the Sovereign Grand Commander of Scottish Rite Freemasonry and Confederate General, Albert Pike was to the War Between the States, what Frederick the Great was to the French Revolution and Napoleonic Wars. Both men possessed the sovereign power over all "the Craft." Both men instigated horrific wars of decimation, Napoleon I wrecking Protestant Germany and General Ulysses S. Grant (who was later privy to Lincoln's assassination for which he was rewarded with two terms in the White House) wasting the Protestant South.

Both men served the Jesuit General as the Sons of Loyola authored the rites of "the Brotherhood." And since the Jesuits authored Scottish Rite Freemasonry, the Order and the Craft must serve the same god as revealed by Pike who declared:

> "To you, Sovereign Grand Inspectors General, we say this, that you may repeat it to the Brethren of the 32nd, 31st and 30th degrees—the Masonic religion should be, by all of us initiates of the high degrees, maintained in the purity of the Luciferian doctrine . . . Yes, Lucifer is God . . . the true and pure . . . religion is the belief in Lucifer . . ." {13} [Emphasis added]

The country was now ready for war by 1860. The Jesuits, in control of the "Radical Red/Black Republican Party" ensured the election of Lincoln by disrupting the Democratic convention in Charleston with their Masonic tools, Stephen Douglas in particular! Foretold in 1855 we behold:

> "Is there no danger to the Democracy of the country from such formidable foes arrayed against it? Is Metternich its friend? Is the Pope its friend? Are his official documents, now daily put forth, Democratic in their character? Oh, there is no danger to the Democracy, for those most devoted to the Pope; the Roman Catholics, especially the Irish Catholics, are all on the side of Democracy [evidenced by their control of Tammany Hall]! Yes; to be sure they are on the side of Democracy. They are just where I should look for them. Judas Iscariot joined with the true disciples. Jesuits are not fools. . . . the Democratic party is and ever must be the strongest party, unless ruined by traitors and Jesuits in the camps. Yes, it is in the ranks of Democracy I should expect to find them [as they today fill the ranks of the fascist, right-wing Republican Party] and for no good purpose, be assured.
> Every measure of Democratic policy in the least exciting will be pushed to ultraism [later to be called "Ultramontanism," which ultimately leads to Jesuit absolute fascism as in the case of Nazi Germany], so soon as it is introduced for discussion. Let every real Democrat guard against the common Jesuitical artifice of tyrants, an artifice which there is much evidence to believe is practicing against them at this moment, an artifice, which, if not heeded, will surely be the ruin of Democracy: it is founded on the well known principle that 'extremes meet.' " {14} [Emphasis added]

Now, with enough hatred in place, the Jesuits needed an incident to ignite their bloody War Between the States. Before Lincoln took office, President James Buchanan, a Protestant Freemason, sent a navy vessel, "The Star of the West," into Charleston harbor to relieve Fort Sumter. This was an act of war in international law, as the Southern States had lawfully seceded, the right of resuming delegated powers having been specifically reserved by the State Ratification Contracts of New York, Rhode Island and Virginia. The Confederate States responded in the person of General Beauregard, a Roman Catholic Freemason, by firing on the Fort and have been wrongfully blamed for starting the war—just like Germany in World War I and Japan in World War II. Thus, the Northern Freemason who incited America's bloodiest war was President James Buchanan. And the Southern Freemason who fired the first shot was General Pierre G. T. Beauregard.

The Jesuit Order was now delighted. It had used its high Freemasons of America to cut the nation in half, to cause hatred and discord between the Northern and Southern peoples using "the anti-slavery agitation," and then to ignite a war of annihilation against the White Protestant peoples of the South pursuant to the evil Council of Trent! The great Southern Presbyterian, Robert L. Dabney writes:

> "The common language [of the North] breathed threatening and slaughter, and demanded the sack, ruin, and extermination of the Southern people . . . Its intention was a wholesale murder and piracy, the extermination of a whole people's national life . . . With an inhumanity unknown to modern history, they had extended the law of blockade to all medicines and hospital stores; hoping . . . to make the hurts of every wounded adversary mortal . . . The Federal Congress and Executive had . . . ordained that the war should be a huge piracy . . . declaring all tobacco, cotton and labor of slaves, . . . to be 'contraband of war' . . ." {15}[Emphasis added]

The purpose was to destroy the primarily Protestant States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia while only lightly afflicting the primarily Roman Catholic States of Louisiana and Florida. And how did the, truly in fact, "Rebels" of the Radical Red Republican government of the North, backed by the power of the Jesuits' Holy Alliance, carry out its plan in destroying the, truly in fact, "Yankees" of the South? Hundreds of thousands of foreign mercenaries were hired "to extirpate the White Southern heretics from the face of the whole earth." In addition to eleven thousand Germans, the Jesuits used hundreds of thousands of their most devoted Irish Roman Catholics to ransack the South just as they had done in Germany during the ghastly and nightmarish Thirty Years' War. We read:

> "The radicals, the proletaires [like the Order's future New York-financed Russian communists], the robbers, the outlaws, of all other lands, flocked to > their standards, taught by their ready instincts that their cause was the same. One-half of the prisoners of war, registered by the victorious armies of the South, have been foreign mercenaries. . . . the Moloch of Federal ambition has already sacrificed two hundred thousand Irishmen to it. And still, as the flaming sword of the South mows down these hireling invaders, fresh hordes throng the shores." {16}[Emphasis added]

The Jesuits would control both sides of the conflict as they did during the Napoleonic Wars. They controlled the radicals in the North, particularly Thaddeus Stevens in the House, Charles Sumner in the Senate and Freemason Edwin Stanton, Lincoln's Secretary of War. They also controlled the leadership in the South, particularly President Jefferson Davis (educated at Bardstown's monastery of St. Thomas College and whose sister was a "mother superior" of a nearby convent) and Jewish Freemason Judah Benjamin, the Secretary of War. Of Davis we read:

> "There are only very few of the Southern leaders who are not more or less under the influence of the Jesuits, through their wives, family relations, and their friends. Several members of the family of Jeff Davis [who had a close friendship with Pope Pius IX] belong to the Church of Rome." {17}

To prove the point, a few specifics will be cited. It was for this reason, after the Confederate Army had defeated the Northern invading Army at the first battle of Manassas (Bull Run), that Jefferson Davis would not permit "Stonewall" Jackson to capture Washington, thereby prolonging the war of annihilation against the White Anglo-Saxon Protestant and Baptist peoples of the States' Rights Democratic Party of the South—Virginia in particular! For the greatest enemies of the Jesuit Order and the Monarchs of the Holy Alliance had been White, Calvinistic, Baptist and Protestant Virginians—George Washington, Thomas Jefferson (although an Illuminatus, his principles of limited government were indeed "liberal"), James Madison and James Monroe. These accursed "heretics and liberals," having defeated King George's army (under Jesuit control) at Yorktown, Virginia, had authored the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States, the Bill of Rights, the Virginia and Kentucky Resolutions and the bold Monroe Doctrine. These great men had been used by the risen Son of God to perform the miracle of rendering the Jesuits' evil Council of Trent of no effect in Protestant North America. Indeed, these godly Calvinists had broken the Temporal Power of the Pope over America!

(Dear truth-seeker, eighty years later the Jesuits would order Hitler (a homosexual according to Lothar Machtan's The Hidden Hitler) to forbid his victorious German Army from destroying the British Army at Dunkirk, thereby prolonging the war of annihilation against Europe's Jews, Orthodox Serbs and German Lutherans. Hitler would also forbid the development of secret technology enabling the production of super-weapons that would have given Germany victory over the Allies. For the Jesuit General's dream of one day reviving the Pope's Holy Roman Empire—destroyed by the Messiah's Protestant Reformation—could never come to pass with all these "obstinate heretics and liberals" in the way. Seeker, are you starting to get a feel for the predictable workings of the Jesuit Order and its foot cavalry, the Masonic Lodge?)

It was for this reason that Confederate General James Longstreet, who gives all indications that he was, indeed, a Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor, betrayed his own Southern people by becoming, postwar, one of the Order's Northern Radical Red Republicans. The Jesuits greatly benefited, as he appeared to have betrayed General Lee through disobeying orders at Gettysburg and at the Wilderness, by attacking too late, the Federals having gained the stronger positions. Of Gettysburg we read:

> "That gallant gentleman [a Bible-believing Baptist yet also a low-level Freemason] and accomplished soldier, General John B. Gordon, in his Reminiscences of the War, sums up his account of Gettysburg as follows:
> 'It now seems certain that impartial military critics, after thorough investigation, will consider the following established:
>
> 1. That General Lee distinctly ordered Longstreet to attack early in the morning of the second day, and if he had done so, two of the largest corps of Meade's army would not have been in the fight; but Longstreet delayed the attack until four o'clock in the afternoon, and thus lost his opportunity of occupying Little Round Top, the key to the position, which he might have done in the morning without firing a shot or losing a man.*
>
> 2. That General Lee ordered Longstreet to attack at daybreak on the morning of the third day, and that he did not attack until two or three o'clock in the afternoon, the artillery opening at one.*
>
> 3. That General Lee, according to the testimony of Col. Walter Taylor, Col. C. S. Venable, and Gen. A. L. Long, who were present when the order was given, ordered Longstreet to make the attack on the last day, with the three divisions of his corps, and two divisions of A. P. Hill's corps, and that, instead of doing so, he sent fourteen thousand men to assail Meade's army in his strong position, and heavily entrenched [deliberately throwing the most decisive battle of the war, as did Napoleon at Waterloo, ultimately destroying the Protestant Southern culture and people].*
> 4. That the great mistake of the halt on the first day would have been repaired on the second, and even on the third day, if Lee's orders had been vigorously* executed, and that General Lee died believing (the testimony on the point is overwhelming) that he lost Gettysburg [coincidently, on the 4th of July] at last by Longstreet's disobedience to orders.'

It is susceptible of the most overwhelming proof that while General Lee, with a magnanimity that rises to the sublime, when moving among his shattered battalions at Gettysburg said, 'This is all my fault. I have lost this battle, and you must get me out of it the best you can,' and that while he refrained as long as he lived from any public censure of his lieutenant, he did not hesitate to say in the intimacy of private friendship that he lost the battle of Gettysburg mainly because of Longstreet's disobedience to orders." {18} [Emphasis added]

(Years later the Jesuits, in control of Hollywood—the modern-day, violent and degenerate Jesuit Theatre, its most successful director being the Roman Catholic fascist and Knight of Malta Frank Capra in directing the Order's Jesuit Dramas—would release a movie boldly depicting Jesuit Coadjutor General James Longstreet as the stable hero while General Lee—the foremost soldier of the age according to the Masonic Federal General Winfield Scott—was portrayed by Jesuit Coadjutor Martin Sheen as an idiot. That utter deception of a movie was called Gettysburg.) Yet, in being fair to General Longstreet, it appears, after a most thorough investigation of the facts given in Douglas Savage's The Court Marshall of Robert E. Lee: A Historical Novel (1993), and Bevin Alexander's monumental and unparalleled Lost Victories: The Military Genius of Stonewall Jackson (2004), General Robert E. Lee was a no good, low-down, dirty Yankee traitor, while Longstreet willingly played the scapegoat!!! Loyal to his masters in Richmond, Jesuit Temporal Coadjutors President Jefferson Davis and Secretary of War James Seddon, Lee pursued the Order's intended policy of merely fighting a defensive war! Lee was never to destroy the Army of the Potomac; but rather, he was only to repel that Bolshevik/Jacobin army, while gradually taking heavy loses resulting in the ultimate depopulation and doom of States Rights, Democratic, "heretic"-Protestant and "liberal"-Roman Catholic, White Southern manhood. Freemason and Federal General George B. McClellan was not a player in this same Vatican game, as his Jesuit-controlled Masonic master in Washington, Secretary of War Edwin Stanton, using General Henry W. Halleck, prevented him from crushing the Confederates. McClellan, and all of the "Grand Armee's" successive commanders, were used to purposely bleed the North of her Protestant soldiers, who, upon their death, would be replaced by Irish and Italian Roman Catholic immigrants during and after the war via J. P. Morgan's eventual White Star Line. Indeed, the war of aggression was a Papal Crusade against the "heretics and liberals" of both North and South without regard to the horrid deaths of hundreds of thousands of Roman Catholics. Therefore, it could not be allowed to terminate with a quick victory for either side.

There was one noble exception to this grand Vatican conspiracy among the South's martial giants. He was none other than the good, the godly, the Protestant Bible-believing Presbyterian—Stonewall Jackson. Loyal to the risen Son of God in his prayers, devotion to truth and personal purity, Jackson was loved by his "Colored Sabbath School," by his Black servant, Jim (who would inform the other White officers—to their chagrin—if conversing near Jackson's tent, that the General was praying), his pastor, his inspired fighting men and the Southern People. Thus, it was Jackson's policy to wage war to defeat and destroy the Northern Army. We read:

> "The evidence suggests that, on the Confederate side, Stonewall Jackson, not Lee, possessed the strategic vision necessary to win key battles and possibly, entire campaigns. Instead Robert E. Lee blocked the more daring and opportunistic Jackson, while pursuing a destructive strategy that permitted the North to wear down the South. . . . The full statement on Jackson's battle philosophy comes from Brig. Gen. John D. Imboden, who quotes Jackson as saying there are two things never to lose sight of by a commander: 'Always mystify, mislead and surprise the enemy, if possible; and when you strike and overcome him, never let up in the pursuit so long as your men have strength to follow, for an army routed, if hotly pursued, becomes panic-stricken and can then be destroyed by half their number. The other rule is, never fight against heavy odds, if by any possible maneuvering you can hurl your own force on only a part, and thus the weakest part, of your enemy and crush it. Such tactics will win every time and a small army may thus destroy a large one in detail and repeated victory will make it invincible.' . . .
>
> Three times since mid-August [1862] Jackson had proposed a plan to annihilate the Northern army. Lee had delayed implementing his first proposal, to crush John Pope against the Rapidan, until it was too late. At Second Manassas he had driven Pope into attacking with inadequate routes of retreat and an undefended flank, but Lee again had waited until it was too late. In the Maryland campaign he wanted to place McClellan on the horns of a dilemma: to attack the Confederate army and lose or to give up Philadelphia and possibly Baltimore and still lose. Lee instead followed his own plan [Antietam, in spite of the fact that Lee knew McClellan was in possession of his secret battle plan, Special Orders 191], which was to convince the Northern people to accept peace. Now for the fourth time, Lee rejected Jackson's strategy to win the war in a swift campaign by eradicating the Northern army. Lee decided to stay at Fredericksburg.
> His reason was to deny the enemy the territory between the North Anna and Rappahannock. Jackson protested, but to no avail, and resignedly moved his corps to Fredericksburg . . .

> Four times previously Lee had rejected Jackson's proposal to annihilate a Federal army. Now [at Chancellorsville] Jackson saw a fifth opportunity, and this time he pressed hard for it. . . . Though Lee had rejected past opportunities, this time, knowing that his army was in desperate straits and recognizing that Jackson had seen a chance to transform the situation, Lee answered calmly [and reluctantly], 'Well, go on [instead of exclaiming, "Praise God and Glory Hallelujah!"].' . . . One of the most spectacular marches in the history of warfare had begun." {19} [Emphasis added]

Little did Jackson know Chancellorsville would be his last exploit! For the Black Pope in Rome had ordered his assassination through the hand of his superiors in Richmond controlling his officers in the field. Yes, Jackson had to die if the Federal Army was to be saved from its continual peril of annihilation; Jackson had to die if Richmond was to eventually fall, if the South was ever to be defeated and if the Jesuit Order was to finally centralize all power in Washington through the racemixing, empire-building, socialist-communist Fourteenth Amendment via Thaddeus Stevens' brutal, illegal, demoralizing and merciless Southern Reconstruction.

Indeed, Stonewall Jackson, the man of God, the warrior of principle and stern discipline, yet abiding the Christian man of compassion and religious toleration, the loyal and invincible Lieutenant General, had many powerful enemies! The first was Satan and his ubiquitous Society of Jesus. For Jackson was a Scotch-Irish Presbyterian Calvinist who, according to his youngest staff member Robert L. Dabney, considered Romanism to be "an apostasy from the system of Holy Writ." Hated by the Devil and condemned by the Order's murderous Council of Trent, Jackson, "the sinful slaveholder," was despised by the Company's Northern abolitionists promoting the Black Pope's Paraguayan socialist-communism via his rear attack of the British Secret Service-led "anti-slavery agitation." Of Jackson's Bible-based philosophical attitude towards and benevolent relationship with his Black slaves, let us read from works of Robert L. Dabney, the learned and articulate Presbyterian Calvinist minister having been a close personal friend of the General:

> "He next proposed to gather the African slaves of the village in the afternoon of the Sabbath, and speedily he had a flourishing school of eighty or a hundred pupils, with twelve teachers; the latter of whom were recruited from among the educated [White] ladies and gentlemen of the place. This he continued to teach successfully from 1855 until the spring of 1861; when he reluctantly left it to enter the army. And to the end of his life, he inquired of every visitor at the camp from his church at home, how his black Sabbath-school was progressing; and if the answer was favorable, he did not fail to express his gratitude. . . . While thus exacting in his discipline of the school, he was rendered extremely popular among all the more serious servants by these labors for their good. He was indeed the black man's friend. His prayers were so attractive to them that a number of those living in his quarter of the town, petitioned to be admitted on Sabbath nights, along with his own servants, to his evening domestic worship. . . .

To his own slaves, he was a methodical and exact, but conscientious master. Absolute obedience was the rule of his household; and if he found chastisement was necessary to secure this, it was faithfully administered.

He required all his slaves to attend the domestic worship of his family morning and evening; . . . On hearing of the death of one of his female servants, he wrote expressing his gratitude for the attentions bestowed upon her in her illness and at her burial.

[On behalf of Jackson, Dabney concludes with a scriptural and historical defense of the domestic institution of slavery, be it White or Black, and exposes the true ntent of the Order's Northern, radical Red-Republican, socialist-communist, abolitionist crusaders, they possessing no true concern for the good of the African race, while "hell-bent" on destroying, "pell-mell," White Protestant Southern culture:]

It may be accepted as a significant dispensation of Providence, that Jackson, the best type of the Christian master in the South, should be made the hero of this war of Southern independence. The people of the Southern States will cheerfully consent that this holy man, with his strong convictions of the righteousness and beneficence of their form of society, may stand forth to the world as their exemplar. . . . His understanding was too honest to profess belief in God's inspired Word [The King James Authorized Version of 1611], and yet hold that relation [of master and slave] to be a sinful one, which Moses expressly allowed and legislated for; which the Bible saints sustained to their fellow-man; which the Redeemer [the risen Lord Jesus Christ] left prominent and unrepealed amidst his churches, as well as in secular society; and which the apostles continued to sanction, by admitting those who held it [the master-slave relationship] without any disclaimer, or pledge of reformation or repentance, to church membership and church office. His conscience was too sensitive to tolerate known sin, at any prompting of conscience or interest. . . . Especially, let the happy condition, which the benevolence of such masters confers on their servants, be contrasted with that degradation and ruin to which our enemies intentionally consign them [apart from being aided by socialist-communist federal script money, welfare and anti-White "affirmative action," of which Papal economic policies Dabney could never conceive].

Southern masters, with very few exceptions, provide generously for the welfare of their servants, at the prompting of affection, conscience, selfrespect, and interest, while they exact only a moderate labor [contrary to the propaganda we hear today from the Order's CFR-controlled press and historians]; and many of them, like Jackson, strive conscientiously for their spiritual good [which, thanks to wicked, Jesuit-controlled, Masonic White men on the Supreme Court, Blacks can no longer read the Bible in public schools]. Northern anti-slavery men, under the pretence to the negro of being his disinterested liberator, seduce him from his protector, and have him, without provision for body or soul, either to perish in pestilential indolence, or to wear out his frame in the severest toils, in entrenchments of factories [later, in the name of "equality," to receive a socialist-communist "living minimum wage" at the expense of true, White Protestant Middle Class free enterprise, while the Jesuits, via their gigantic trusts and foundations, control the nation's cartel corporate monopolies and labor Unions], under the compulsion not of stripes, but of a bayonet in the hands of a brutal [White Irish Roman Catholic] mercenary. Not seldom does this hypocrisy find its candid and exact expression, in the conduct of the more shameless of our invaders; when the same men, after wheedling the servants with fine promises, pretended sympathies, and the terms 'brother, sister,' pass from their cabins to the master's dwelling to insult him [the White master] with the declaration that they [the Pope's immigrant White Irish Roman Catholic Northern invaders] despise the Africans as much as they hate him [the White Protestant master], and have no other purpose in seducing him [the Black slave] from his [master's] service except to 'humble his [master's] Virginian aristocracy.' " {20} [Emphasis added]

But Jackson is hated most of all by the Order for his evangelistic efforts among his own beloved Southern soldiers, Catholic and Protestant alike. His constant exhortation to his superiors was to send preachers of the gospel to his Corps. For he believed that men who trusted in the Lord Jesus Christ alone for their personal salvation and forgiveness of sins were better soldiers. The General knew from personal experience that faith produces courage, and with no fear of death, the Southern armies could be invincible, or at least, more difficult to defeat. Jackson's evangelistic policy, so abhorred by the Company in Richmond, led to a great revival among the Southern people for which reason the South is known today as "the Bible belt" of America. (And it is this Bible belt of the South that the Black Pope fully intends to destroy by our coming Sino-Soviet-Moslem invasion, the Jesuit fortress of Cuba to serve as its staging base.) Dabney gives us a most colorful narration:

"One of the measures adopted was the preaching of the gospel at the headquarters of General Jackson, and under his immediate countenance, every Sabbath, while the troops were in their camps. For this end, a place in the open field was prepared, near Hamilton's crossing (to which General Jackson removed his quarters soon after), with rude seats and a temporary pulpit, where public worship was held in the open air [as in the Netherlands during the days of the blessed William I of Orange]. The example of so famous a warrior, always potent among soldiers when sustained by official rank, the curiosity to see him and the galaxy of celebrities who came to worship with him, the eloquence of the preachers, and the purer motives which the great religious awakening now begun to propagate far and wide, soon drew a vast congregation to this spot on the Sabbath days.

From hundreds it grew to thousands, until the assemblage, surrounded the preacher in a compact mass, as far as his voice could be distinctly heard. Here, on a bright Sabbath in the spring, might be seen the stately head of the Commander-in-Chief [General Lee], with a crowd of Generals, whose names had been borne by fame across the ocean, and of legislators and statesmen, bowed along with the multitude of private soldiers, in divine worship; while the solemn and tender wave of sacred emotion subdued the great and the unknown alike before it. At these scenes, which were so directly produced by his instrumentality, General Jackson was the most unobtrusive assistant. Seated in some retired spot amidst the private soldiers, he listened to the worship and the preaching with an edifying attention, and watched the power of the truth upon the great congregation, with a glow of elevated and tender delight. Never, since the days when [the Anglican Calvinist George] Whitefield preached to the mingled crowd of peers and beggars in Moorfields [England], has the sky looked down upon a more imposing worship." {21} [Emphasis added]

Jackson's most immediate and visible enemies were "his familiar friends." President Jefferson Davis, being completely in the lap of the Jesuits in Richmond, was Stonewall's foremost adversary. One of our heroes, ex-priest Charles Chiniquy, has written much concerning Davis' historic connections with the priests and Pope of Rome. The second was Secretary of War and later Secretary of State, the wicked Rothschild agent and foremost American Jew of the Nineteenth Century, Judah P. Benjamin, who, aided by the Order after the war, would escape a ruined America, practice law in Queen Victoria's Jesuit-controlled English legal system, and at his death (to the grief of his paramour in Paris), would be buried at the Jesuit Pere La Chaise Cemetery. This "Court Jew" of Pope Pius IX had attempted to interfere with Jackson's command in 1861, his actions being in the words of the General, ". . . an attempt to control military operations in detail from the Secretary's desk at a distance. . . . But if this method of making war is to prevail, which they seek to establish in my case, the country is ruined." {22}

For this reason our Southern gentleman resigned his commission and was about to return as an instructor to Virginia Military Institute. Due to public outcry, Benjamin was forced to resign (only to be immediately reappointed by Davis as his popish Secretary of State) and Jackson was never again interdicted by Richmond; his interference would now come from Lee! Embarrassed, Benjamin sought revenge.

Jefferson Davis' General of the Army of Northern Virginia, Robert E. Lee, of whom Jackson said he would follow "blindfolded," continually subdued his Lieutenant, further graying worrisome Lee in restraining Stonewall from annihilating the Order's Northern Invaders. Lee's dear accomplice and "Old Warhorse" in crime, Lieutenant General James Longstreet, played the "no-win-war" game well, never attempting to destroy the Federal armies; thus he too desired to be rid of Jackson.

Further, Longstreet would benefit the most from Jackson's death, rising to Lee's most trusted and prominent Lieutenant thereafter. It is most interesting to note that in 1959 the U.S. government provided pensions for the widows of Confederate veterans. The act was passed for the benefit of Longstreet's widow, one of only three survivors!

Last, but not least, was the arrogant and tempermental Lieutenant General Ambrose P. Hill, who, without a doubt, hated Jackson from the depths of his evil heart. Hill had been arrested for insubordination and thus humiliated by Stonewall himself during the march into Maryland after the Second Manassas. Further, it was the policy of Jackson not to divulge his plans to any subordinate officer, and often changed them in early morning after his nightly prayers, his "foot cavalry" having no idea as to where it was going. This policy infuriated A. P. Hill—and most assuredly, the intelligence-gathering Jesuit Order! Clearly, Jackson must die! Satan's Masonic players are now in place; the bloody ambush and medical murder of our righteous warrior will now unfold before our eyes. Like President Kennedy, he is unaware that he will be "wounded in the house of his friends."

As the Order controlled Masons Napoleon and Wellington at Waterloo in 1815, even so it controlled Lee and Hooker at Chancellorsville in 1863. Lee's agent in Jackson's assassination would be none other than A. P. Hill, who, for a job well done, would be given an entire corps—the Third Corps. Lee had been in contact with Hooker under the guise of the Confederate commander being informed of the death of an old friend, General Edwin Sumner. Jackson, at the head of his Second Corps, was to lead the advance. Meanwhile, Longstreet was to be kept out of the fight, as he had been dispatched south to North Carolina with 20,000 men, Lee collaborating with Secretary Seddon's senseless plan to attack Suffolk, which town presented no strategic danger. Again, this was not "an unpardonable blunder," as termed by military historian Bevin Alexander; this was a conspiracy involving President Davis, Secretary of State Benjamin, Secretary of War James Seddon and General Lee himself. This Jesuit plot purposely reduced Lee's force at Chancellorsville to a mere 60,000 against Hooker's 139,000. Meanwhile, Lee's cavalryman, Jeb Stuart, guessed the Federal force to be only a third of its actual size! This, yet another "blunder," led to Hooker flanking Lee's rear with 60,000 men—as planned!

Meanwhile, with the Army of Northern Virginia concentrated at Fredericksburg, Jackson was summoned to the front, having been refreshed with his wife for nine days! There, he had seen his baby daughter, Julia Jackson, for the first time. Stonewall was rested, nourished, in excellent health and invigorated with his wife's love and prayers going before him. IN THIS REFRESHED, CONFIDENT AND "PRAYED-UP" CONDITION, Lee ordered Jackson to march to Fredericksburg "to repulse the enemy"—without Early's division of 10,000 men! As planned by Lee and Hooker, Jackson was to be overwhelmed, ambushed and murdered, fighting defensively and desperately from entrenchments that Lee's engineers had designated.

But how is our man of God led in answer to his prayers by the Most High? He decides to abandon his ordered defensive position and seeks to push Hooker into the brush-filled, disorienting Wilderness thereby crippling Federal artillery and blocking Hooker, otherwise unbeatable, from deploying in open country. In accordance with his maxims, his advancing down the pike proved to be a masterstroke of genius, turning a sure Confederate defeat into a potential victory—against the secret design of Lee and to the utter confusion of Hooker—who then suspended the attack!

Lee and Hooker's plan now had to be altered; therefore the Federal General needed time to communicate with Lee, thus he withdrew to Chancellorsville. With the arrival of Jackson at about 1930 hours, it was obvious that the only means of attack were frontal against the town or a flank movement to the south. Lee had approved a limited flank movement, merely causing Hooker to retreat in accordance with Jesuit no-win policy. But Jackson, in the Providence of God and in answer to his anticipatory prayers, discovered a covered back route by which he could attack Hooker's rear and, if on the double-quick, utterly destroy Lincoln's Northern Army.

To this Lee reluctantly agreed. Meanwhile, via a Jesuit/Masonic courier, the wicked Hooker was informed of the march and agreed to allow it to succeed, ordering Sickles to march twenty-two thousand men southwest, away from the action. Hooker's treason would lead to the sacrifice of thousands of Protestant American Federal sons.

In foreseeing the confusion of battle and a temporary Confederate victory, Lee and Hooker arranged an ambush to eliminate Lee's most obedient and devoted Lieutenant General, Thomas "Stonewall" Jackson. The man for the job would be the profane and vindictive General A. P. Hill, Jackson's bitter enemy seeking sweet revenge. The cover of darkness would serve the Confederate conspirators with the alibi of "mistaken identity," that the General and his escorts were in fact Federal cavalry.

Jackson's flanking movement was a complete surprise although it had been sighted early on by the Federals. In receiving the message, Hooker misled his staff, declaring the Confederates were retreating to Gordonsville when he, like Lee, knew that the only means of successful attack against his Northern army was a flanking movement to the south. Hooker then sent away his cavalry in hot pursuit, enabling Jackson to take the Federal rear. Meanwhile Howard's Eleventh Corps, doomed to receive Jackson's attack, was deliberately weakened, General Hooker ordering Howard to send a brigade to pursue the "retreating" rebels. A total rout, however, would not only destroy Hooker's army contrary to agreed-upon policy, but there would be no opportunity to set up that all-important ambush for the Company's target.

Like Kennedy, nothing can be left to chance; Jackson's murder must come to pass! Therefore, in disobedience to Jackson's orders, two key officers would be secretly ordered to halt. General Alfred N. Colquitt, leading a Georgia brigade in first line of attack, halted, forcing two other brigades to halt behind him. Pretending to fear a Federal flank attack, he refused to move ensuring that Jackson's well-ordered flanking maneuver would not be a rout. (Instead of Lee shooting Colquitt after the battle, he rewarded him, sending him south nearer to his home and, for the time, out of harm's way.) General Robert Rhodes was also a party to the plot. Heading Jackson' s first assault line, Rhodes halted using an excuse, further losing precious time while enabling A. P. Hill's men to go ahead of Rhodes', continuing the assault. Later, Rhodes attacked the Federals at Hazel Grove around 2000 hours and was "cut to shreds" thereby enabling Hill to send him six brigades for further assistance, leaving Hill alone with his select brigade. These clever moves executed in the heat of battle enabled Hill to place his "A-team" into position along Plank Road with all other brigades out of the way in preparation for "the extirpation of an obstinate heretic."

Jackson, as the navy sea captain would say, is to "walk the plank," on Plank Road. With Jackson's well-ordered, simply stated attack not proceeding as planned due to secret conspiracy clothed in martial disobedience, General A. P. Hill could now arrange the ambush of the man of God. Stonewall is to be "hoodwinked" into the intended place of rendezvous. At about nightfall with Hill's brigade now in place, Jackson had galloped up on Little Sorrel, intending to send part of A. P. Hill's division to Chancellorsville. One of Hill's subordinates, Brigadier General James Lane whose command included a North Carolina Brigade, asked Jackson for orders, Lane getting a good look at his target! Immediately after Lane, General Hill asked for and received orders to the very same question to which Jackson answered, "Press them; cut them off from the United States Ford, Hill; press them." But Hill claimed he did not know the terrain, which excuse served as a ruse to lure Jackson and his chief engineer, Captain J. Keith Boswell, into Hill's slaughter pen. Although there was danger for all involved in the plot, Stonewall could now be shot by Lane's men under cover of darkness in the presence of unidentified Federal and Confederate officers. Satan's lodge-room "ruffians" of murder were now in their places.

Jackson, with his aides, then proceeded to begin their reconnaissance. The group, including Stonewall's brother-in-law, Lieutenant Joe Morrison, along with Lieutenant Wynn and Captain Wilbourn, rode along Plank Road about one hundred yards in advance of the line of battle of Lane's brigade. In receiving Federal fire, the General discovered there were no skirmishers to his front, contrary to his constant, long-standing orders. Of these key moments we read from Burke Davis' They Called Him Stonewall: The Life of Lt. General T. J. Jackson, C.S.A.:

> "He [Jackson] made a decision wordlessly and, turning, spurred off the road, headlong back towards his own lines. The crackling underbrush seemed louder than the earlier thunder of hoofs on the oak planks of the turnpike. Once an officer halted Jackson, with a hand on his bridle.
>
> 'General, you shouldn't expose yourself. Let me take you back.'
> 'There's no danger sir. The enemy's routed. Go back and tell General Hill to press on.' [Now get this!] The men with Jackson did not recognize the officer." {23}[Emphasis added]

(Dear truth-seeker, after three years in the field, who is this Confederate officer whose identity neither Jackson nor his men knew nothing of? Who is this bold, unknown cavalier who would dare grab the bridal of the infamous Stonewall Jackson and offer to take him back to the very line that would later, from a steady kneeling position, shoot the General? He can only be one of the assassination team. He is Jackson's "escort," like the driver of the Kennedy limousine in 1963, ready to lead his sheep to the slaughter. Ah, but our beloved refuses the offer and presses on in his purpose.)

Frank E. Vandiver, former President of Texas A & M University, in his Mighty Stonewall continues with the intrigue:

> "From north of the Plank Road came the sound of horses—Federal cavalry? A shot tore the nervous silence of the front, another, then a well-delivered volley. A. P. Hill's voice instantly could be heard above the echoing shots, 'Cease firing, cease firing [evidencing Hill knew it to be Confederate fire, and that he knew where it was coming from, he and his escort riding a safe distance behind Stonewall and his aides].' Little Sorrel for once yielded to panic, bolted and raced mostly north toward heavy woods. Pull up, hold, control. Reining with one hand and holding his cap on with the other [as by this first volley of Confederate fire, Stonewall remained unhurt]. Jackson finally wheeled his mount back in the direction of the confederates.

Confusion and panic spread among Jackson's little coterie. Joe Morrison, leaping from his frightened horse ran desperately toward the gray lines yelling, 'Cease firing! You are firing into our own men.'

'Who gave that order?' thundered an unseen officer. 'It's a lie! Pour it into them, boys.' And before Morrison could reach the Colonel [in fact a Major] commanding a North Carolina regiment, a steady volley from a kneeling line blazed into the night." {24} [Emphasis added]

This brilliant "commander," subject to General James Lane in charge of the Jackson assassination team, is none other than Major John Decatur Barry of the 18th North Carolina Brigade. He was later promoted for his villainy in obeying Jackson's implacable enemy, General A. P. Hill. Hill, in turn, was executing the secret orders of Jefferson Davis' delivered through Hill's hypocritical, murderous, traitorous, commanding officer who was fully aware of Hill's hatred for Jackson—General Robert E. Lee. We read of a little known fact from a footnote in Byron Farwell's Stonewall: A Biography of General Thomas J. Jackson. The former British World War II officer writes:

"No stigma appears to have attached to John Barry for having been responsible for Jackson's wounding. After the Battle of Chancellorsville he was promoted colonel of the 18th North Carolina and on 3 August 1864 was appointed brigadier general. [Wow!!! Way to go, Robert E. Lee!] He was wounded shortly thereafter, however, and his appointment was not confirmed. He survived the war and edited a newspaper in Wilmington until he died in 1867 at the age of twenty-seven." [We wonder if John Barry was also "dispatched;" he carried a secret which if divulged would have overturned the Order's plans for the post-war South. Both Davis and Lee would have been tried and condemned; Lee would neither have been the "gentleman hero" that he was then and is today, nor would he have been in such a universally respected position as to exhort Jackson's Protestant Calvinist Southerners to accept the tyrannical policies of Thaddeus Stevens' outrageous Reconstruction.] {25} [Emphasis added]

Dabney adds:

> "As the party approached within twenty paces of the Confederate troops, these, evidently mistaken them for cavalry [how ridiculous Mr. Dabney, as General Lane, Major Barry and his men knew that six to eight Confederate officers were in their front, two of them being Second Corps' key commanders on the field that day], stooped and delivered a deadly fire. So sudden and stunning was this volley, and so near at hand, that every horse which was not shot down [fourteen in all], recoiled from it in panic, and turned to rush back, bearing their riders toward the approaching enemy [as planned]. Several fell dead upon the spot, among them the amiable and courageous Boswell and more were wounded. Among the latter was General Jackson." {26} [Emphasis added]

Davis continues:

> "Somehow, General A. P. Hill was there. It was strange that the most bitter of Jackson's enemies within the army should be there to give help.

[Indeed it was strange, unless it had been planned that way!] . . . Jackson lay outside his own lines. Two men stepped into the road near the growing cluster of the party about Jackson, bearing rifles; Federal infantrymen [or were they Confederates dressed as Federals? Why were these men not immediately shot down—men in enemy uniforms—as was Jackson?]. Hill spoke in a quick casual voice [without the least twinge of surprise], 'Take charge of these men [as Hill knew just who these secret players really were].' Several forms went forward [apparently Confederates of Lane's brigade having been previously informed as to who these Federals were, the entire time yielding complete obedience to their Georgian commander who is a most willing party to the conspiracy and a subordinate of Hill] and, almost without a struggle [of course not, as these men are merely distractions, removing attention from the most important guilty party, A. P. Hill himself!], the Bluecoats were led to the rear [as these Federals are like the grassy knoll gunman in Dallas whose purpose in firing their loud rifles was to distract startled observers; the Federal riflemen are like the three arrested "hobos" in Dallas, being led away by "the good guys," men dressed as Dallas police officers, without being questioned. General Hill (even as Secret Service agent Clint Hill was a party to the Kennedy assassination) is obviously in charge of the Black Pope's "executive action" in killing Jackson, "the accursed heretic"]." {27} [Emphasis added]

With Jackson down, Vandiver continues:

> "[Jackson's signal officer] Wilbourn [able to secretly send messages to Jesuit contacts in both the Union and Confederate armies] competently sent an unidentified bystander [who is neither identified nor reported to have returned to the Confederate line] to find out what confederate troops were in front [quite possibly sent to inform Hooker's contact-agent of the successful shooting of Stonewall] and he sent Wynn careering through the wood to find Dr. Hunter McGuire [the Order's designated Masonic medical assassin if the ambush should fail]." {28} [Emphasis added]

Of this unidentified bystander who appears to be a Federal officer on horseback according to Farwell, we read from his account once again:

> "Wilbourne sent Wynn to find Dr. McGuire or any other surgeon, with the caution to tell no one that Jackson had been wounded. Lieutenant Wynn rode off, unsure of his direction. Before him a horse and rider emerged from the darkness and Wynn demanded angrily which regiment had fired. Without a response the horseman disappeared; he had never been identified.7

7. [In the footnote we read] Joseph Warren Revere, a grandson of Paul Revere's, claimed to have met Jackson on a steamboat in 1852. He was a [Federal] brigadier general at Chancellorsville, and he later claimed that he was the unidentified horseman that night [later informing Hooker about the successful ambush of Jackson]. Revere was commanding a division at this time, but because he retreated in the face of Jackson's charge [as ordered by Hooker with the knowledge of General Lee] he was court-martialed and dismissed from the service, though Lincoln later allowed him to resign [through the influence of Lincoln's Masonic Secretary of War, Edwin M. Stanton, he knowing of the extreme importance Revere played in the Order's plot to assassinate General Jackson. For you see, dear truthseeker, according to Allen E. Roberts' House Undivided: The Story of Freemasonry and the Civil War, (Richmond, Virginia: Macoy Publishing and Masonic Supply Co., 1961) p. 341, Federal General Joseph Warren Revere was a Massachusetts Freemason and therefore a party with the Confederate Major— Masonic Dr. McGuire—in the murder of our beloved Presbyterian Calvinist, General Jackson!]." {29} [Emphasis added]

Davis continues, as Stonewall had now been brought to the ambulance:

> "The officers sighed with relief, but found that the canvas-covered wagon already bore Colonel Stapleton Crutchfield, chief of Jackson's artillery, as well as a strange captain. Crutchfield was moaning endlessly, and the driver said his leg was hopelessly shattered; he could not be moved. After a moment of discussion, the captain called from within demanding that he be moved to make room for General Jackson [as this strange, unnamed captain is now in command, fully intending to bring Stonewall to Dr. McGuire who will amputate the General's left arm, will remove the round from the right hand and then, during the General's obvious recovery, give our beloved a metallic poison in order to induce symptoms indicative of pneumonia. Later, the dastardly

McGuire would slip our hero the Order's "poison cup"—"for the greater glory of God"]." {30}[Emphasis added]

Jackson was transferred by ambulance to the care of Dr. Hunter McGuire. Indeed, this man was a "hunter." With Doctor Harvey Black watching the pulse, Doctor Coleman administering the chloroform, and Doctor Walls securing the arteries, McGuire removed Stonewall's left arm below the shoulder. The General then rested all day Sunday. The following day, Lee's condemned Lieutenant was now recovering. He spoke of returning to his command, as "God was not finished" with him yet. Dabney relates the following account, overlooked by most historians, as they mistakenly believe Jackson had been mortally wounded the day of the shooting:

> "On Monday [Tuesday] morning he appeared so exceedingly well that it was determined to attempt the journey [to the Chandler family's house in Guinea's Station, some twenty-seven miles away]. A mattress was placed in an ambulance, and he was laid upon it with every appliance for his comfort which could be devised. Dr. McGuire took his place within, by his side, while [the loyal] Lieutenant Smith rode near, and Mr. Hotchkiss, with a party of pioneers, preceded the vehicle, removing everything from the road, which might cause a jostle to the sufferer. He [General Jackson] seemed bright and cheerful during the journey, and conversed with spirit concerning military affairs and religion. . . . At nightfall the party reached the house of Mr. Chandler near the railroad station, whose hospitality General Jackson had shared the previous winter, when he first came from the Valley. . . . He arrived at this resting place wearied and painful, complaining of some nausea, and pain in his bruised side; but still declared that he had made the journey with unexpected comfort, for which he should be very grateful to God. . . . When he was removed to his bed at Mr. Chandler's, he took some supper with relish, and then spent the night in quiet sleep. . . . On Monday [Wednesday] morning, General Jackson awoke refreshed, and his wounds were pronounced to be in an admirable condition. He now began to look forward to his restoration to his command and inquired of Dr. McGuire, how many weeks would probably elapse before he would be fit for the field." {31}[Emphasis added]

Indeed, the ambush had failed. Jackson had had a tremendous constitution, constantly sucking on lemons, while refusing to drink any strong drink or indulge in sugar, tea, coffee, tobacco or wine. His energies were excellent, as he had spent nine days with his wife and baby prior to the battle. But early Thursday morning, March 7, Jackson began to fail. We continue with Vandiver's most telling account:

> "After a long searing day [Wednesday] during which his patient showed steady improvement, Dr. McGuire thought it safe to leave Jackson in the affectionate care of [Stonewall's Black servant] Jim Lewis and to stretch out on the sofa for a much-needed rest. Jim sat quietly watching as his beloved general fell asleep. On the sofa the Doctor, too, slept soundly.

Thursday, May 7, about 1:00am, Jackson stirred and awoke, nauseated [being the General's first sign of occult, mercury poisoning]. Jim was asked to get a wet towel and bathe the stomach [upset by the poison]: that would help. Jim objected: shouldn't he wake the doctor?? Let him sleep, said the general, he needs it. Get the towel. This time the old cure helped not at all. [Of course not! For this is not the old malady; this is poisoning.] The right side flashed again in violent pain [quite possibly the kidney or liver writhing in poisoned agony], while nausea continued [along with a feverish distemper evidencing antimony or arsenic poisoning]. Grimly, Jackson set about fighting this now familiar enemy [having used cold packs in the past for pain, reducing inflammation]. Jim wanted to wake McGuire. Wait. At dawn Jackson yielded—wake him." {32} [Emphasis added]

Dabney adds this most revealing description:

"Wednesday evening [May 6], Dr. McGuire, who had scarcely permitted himself to sleep for three of four nights [now finally relieved that he had given Jackson his first poison cup], overpowered by fatigue [and stressful guilt], retired to rest. But during the night, the General began to complain of an intense pain in his side, [one of the first symptoms of poisoning induced by the first mercury overdose] and urged his servant Jim, who was watching with him, to apply wet towels. He complied; but the remedy failed to bring relief; and as morning approached, he summoned the doctor again. The General was found with a quickened pulse, laboring respiration, and severe pain [indicating a raging immune reaction to a poison, either mercury or even arsenic, administered by Jesuit McGuire in the form of "cordials," justifying subsequent treatment with a higher dose of poisons].

Pneumonia was clearly developed [as claimed by McGuire], but not with alarming intensity [the symptoms of pneumonia not being alarmingly intense]; the pain and difficult breathing being more accounted for by a neuralgic [pains of a stabbing, darting or burning character occurring along the course of a nerve in which no structural changes could be recognized, even with a microscope] Pleurodinia [rheumatism in the muscles between the ribs due to exposure to cold and damp; fibrositis, or inflammation of the muscles between the ribs], constricting the muscles of the chest, than by actual inflammation of the lungs [Dabney believing that Jackson's difficulty in breathing was not due to an inflammation of the muscles between the ribs, i.e., pneumonia, but to an acute nerve inflammation, those nerves controlling the muscles of the ribs]. The physician therefore resorted to the more vigorous remedies of sinapisms [i.e., external medicinal applications, while giving the General another oral dose of poison, as Dr. Morrison, General Jackson's family doctor and father-in-law, would be arriving later that day on Thursday, making further poisoning extremely risky] and cupping; but with only partial effect. . . . his features were changed by the prostration of his energies. . . . His cheeks burned with a swarthy, and almost livid flush [another sign of poison]." {33}

Vandiver, without any mention of poisoning (how strange, or is he too a party to the continuing cover-up), concludes with naming the medicines given to the General without any reference to their historical use as the primary tools of the poisoner:

"McGuire sprang to Jackson's side, heard his breathing, examined his chest. Pneumonia [which malady the General did not have, as the poisoner's medically-induced symptoms, appearing to imitate pneumonia, justified the oral administration of three historic poisons]. The wet cloths had not caused it, but they had not helped. Swiftly the young doctor set about doing all that medical knowledge dictated—cupping, mercury, [the primary poison Dr. George Bate successfully used (along with antimony and arsenic) in poisoning Oliver Cromwell]; antimony [used for bronchial infections and can be an irritant poison in large doses] and opium [a powerful pain reliever and fighter of inflammation, it is also a depressant to muscular activity, a poisonous dose causing profound sleep leading to a coma and quiet death]—all these were tried." {34}[Emphasis added]

The 1863 account of Freemason Dr. Hunter Holmes McGuire is somewhat different, although in agreement with the above quotations substantiating the fact that Jackson's turn for the worse occurred early in the morning of Thursday, May 7. This means that "Old Blue Eyes" had been recovering from his wounds and surgery for over FOUR DAYS prior to his shocking collapse; he had been "uniformly cheerful," while resting, eating well and freely conversing. His recovering was in spite of the fact that Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor General Lee, in obedience to Someone Else (Lee, in his own words, having not "directed events") had first "directed" and, upon Jackson's refusal, then "ordered" Masonic McGuire to convey Stonewall TWENTY-SEVEN MILES away from the field hospital at the Wilderness tavern, to the remote Chandler plantation at Guinea's Station. This move was against the wishes of the General himself, his officers needing surgeons on the battlefield.

And why such a reckless order, as Jackson would not be in danger of capture if his men would but execute his plan? Lee sought to further weaken his Lieutenant in the quest of making his wounds mortal through hemorrhaging and resultant infection, while being conveyed on a hot, bumpy, dusty road for over twelve grisly hours! Further, both Lee and McGuire knew that at the Chandler mansion there was a small, private outbuilding away from the main house where the General could be isolated, unknowingly captive for five days to the only physician providing "round-the-clockcare," the trusted young friend, Masonic McGuire! Jackson could then, without suspicion, be successively poisoned late at night, while all others were sleeping at the main house. Even Jackson's wife, Anna, after her arrival on Thursday, was not even allowed to comfort her man through the nights, but was forced to sleep in the main house—full of wounded Confederate soldiers—from Thursday night to Sunday morning, the day of the General's death! Further, to add insult to injury, Jackson could have enjoyed a private room, sharing intimate hours with his wife and daughter, within the mansion, yet McGuire refused, citing the presence of a possible contagion!

In order for the Black Pope's Masonic assassin to cover his murderous tracks, two lies were told, and were to remain a matter of medical record for over one hundred and forty years. The first lie was that Jackson's sickness was "pneumonia," the same malady blamed for the Order's arsenic poisoning of America's thirty-day President, William-Henry Harrison, in 1841 after a mere thirty-two days in office.

The second lie was that Jackson's "pneumonia" was due to his being dropped by one of the four men carrying him off the field on a liter shortly after his wounding. But the dropping, at worse, with skin unbroken, caused only internal bruising, an injury from which he was obviously recovering. Further, the assassin's report is full of misleading statements. He records that Jackson arrived at the "Chandler house" on Tuesday, May 6, "where he remained till he died." No mention is made that the General was never in the Chandler house, but that he was moved to a detached, lowframed, building (with four small rooms) away from the mansion. He states that Mrs. Jackson arrived on Thursday "and nursed him faithfully to the end," yet no mention is made that she could not spend the nights with him during the critical hours of his potential recovery; that was the role of the assassin.

The parallels between the poisonings of our Calvinist heroes, General Oliver Cromwell and General Thomas J. Jackson in their sudden onset of pain, fever, sweating, sleeplessness, misdiagnosis and ultimate demise are striking, as we read H. F. McMains in his most timely masterpiece, The Death of Oliver Cromwell (2000):

> "Among the era's best-known metallic poisons were antimony, mercury, and arsenic. Exposure to them might be categorized as acute or chronic— high concentration for a short term [as in the case of Jackson] or low concentrations over a long term [as in the case of Cromwell]. Poisoners calculated that acute doses acted quickly, but suspiciously [yet in Jackson's case, all suspicion was eliminated with the additional administration of opium, sedating the General and putting him permanently to sleep], whereas chronic doses were slow and insidious. Exposure was typically by ingestion, . . . Mercury was less familiar than other poisons and acted more rapidly; reasons a poisoner might have considered its use [as in the case of Jackson who could not be allowed to fight at Gettysburg]. Chronic doses of inorganic mercury were absorbed through the gastrointestinal tract and accumulated in the organs, especially kidneys [explaining the pain in Jackson's right side]. . . . It was the poisoner's good fortune that after three weeks, malaria in Cromwell's weakened body masked the poison and provided a diagnosis for those who sought one [as Jackson's first dose of poison on Wednesday, 6 May 1863, produced the symptoms of pneumonia, also providing a diagnosis for Jackson's close friends and family]. . . .

Arsenic was another possible agent, for since the Middle Ages [the Pope's Dark Ages] it had been 'the poison of choice [even as English Jesuits in the Modern Era had successfully used arsenic on the Order's Great Masonic Avenger, Napoleon Bonaparte, once he had fulfilled his intended mission as purposed by the Black Pope].' . . . the protector's illness began suddenly, with severe pain, gastrointestinal violence, expectations of death [as did General Jackson's illness]. This implies a primary agent more toxic than arsenic. . . . During the evening of 17 August [1658] he [Cromwell] received another dose of mercury. That afternoon he had consulted with doctors, who found an irregular pulse; he swooned and perspired [Jackson having all three symptoms as did Cromwell]. A physician 'refreshed' him with 'Cordials [Dr. McGuire having done the same for Jackson].' . . . he [Cromwell] relapsed from an apparent recovery [as did Jackson]. . . .

The poisoner must have administered the final dose during the evening of 2 September [1658], and that it would have differed from previous doses, in that it probably contained a massive amount of arsenic, enough to push the protector over the edge [even as Jackson was probably given his final, massive dose of arsenic and/or mercury and opium on 9 May 1863, the day before his death]. Overnight the patient's health collapsed. He became depressed, lightheaded, feverish, sleepless with pain; he had a sore throat and thirst caused, one senses, by arsenic-induced fluid loss [Jackson having the same symptoms of being lightheaded, feverish and thirsty, while the opium eliminated sleeplessness and pain]. On the morning of 3 September he began 'to draw near the gate of death [as did Jackson in like manner on 10 May 1863],' and he died in syncope [as Jackson also died in "syncope," slipping in and out of consciousness with an inadequate flow of oxygenated blood to the brain] during the afternoon—'unexpectedly [just as our beloved Jackson died in the afternoon, too quickly for his robust frame, both surprisingly and unexpectedly].' " {35} [Emphasis added]

One final touch. As our beloved man of God, patriot, husband and father was nearing death, his eyes seemingly closing for the last time, Jackson's wife, Anna, ". . . was permitted to abandon herself to all the desolation of her grief. . . . Bowing down over him, her eyes raining tears upon his dying face, and covering it with kisses, she cried: 'Oh doctor; cannot you do something more?' " {36} [Emphasis added]

(Oh yes, dear truth-seeker, Ignatius Loyola's terminator, Dr. Hunter McGuire, would do nothing more! He was finished, with no pang of remorse. "Like a stick in the hand of an old man," his unquestioning obedience to a secret superior overruled any compunction of the heart, compassion for the weeping widow or concern for the fatherless infant. Only a Jesuit, after winning the love of his victim, could coldly, and calculatingly, in the sacred chamber of friendship, murder the innocent deemed to be an enemy of his "Worshipful Master," the Pope, or his "Holy Order," the Society of Jesus. In the presence of the despairing and the helpless, he is highly admired for his profession; he enjoys the blessing of trusting and unsuspecting countrymen. Still, the Order's "poison cup" will be served! The Company's living dead-man struck his prey with no alarm, leaving no trace, raising no suspicion and causing no terror. In this way, the Black Pope's Mason wounded our David in the house of his friends.)

General Thomas J. Jackson went on to be buried in Lexington, in the Valley of Virginia, amidst untold sorrow for the entire South. During Grant's campaign Federal soldiers were posted, supposedly "to guard" the grave of the General. Young children of his "Colored Sabbath School" would sneak past the Federal soldiers at night and plant little Confederate flags on their beloved teacher's grave—to the immense anger of the Northern communist Rebels! But more had transpired than the mere guarding of Stonewall's grave. Twenty-eight years after the burial, in 1891, a decision was made to move our hero's body to a new tomb. When the casket was opened only bones and an insulting, Federal blue greatcoat were found! The body of Stonewall Jackson had disappeared, even as Kennedy's brain had disappeared from the National Archives upon its requested release by Louisiana District Attorney Jim Garrison during his 1960s prosecution of Knight of Malta Clay Shaw. It is an established fact that the Luciferian Society of Jesus seeks to retrieve the remains of its enemies. So it was with Oliver Cromwell, for which reason his body was secretly buried by a few of his loyal followers after the Restoration of the Order's avenging King Charles II. So it was with Geronimo, Chief of the Apaches, and one of the Order's daring enemies during the American Empire's Jesuit-led, Thirty Years' Indian War of the Great Plains (1860-1890). So it was with the late ex-Jesuit Alberto Rivera, whose wife, Nury, informed the author of a meeting with four clandestine Jesuits attempting to locate her husband's body in exchange for a large sum of money, an estate in Europe and an education for her son, Alberto Rivera, Jr.

Even so it was with Stonewall. The Order subtlety poisoned him and then, using their Federals, exhumed the body! When Charles II was restored to the throne of England in 1660, it was decreed that the coffins of Cromwell, Bradshaw and Ireton were to be dragged through the streets of London to Tyburn. There, the supposed bodies were hung on gallows. After they were thrown in a pit, the heads of the three "regicide rebels" were loftily displayed at Westminster Hall for over twenty years. We wonder what insults the Order inflicted upon the body of "the heretic," General Jackson.

(Dear Truth-seeker, Confederate General Robert E. Lee was a cold-blooded traitor to the Confederacy, and our beloved man of God, General Thomas J. Jackson was ambushed by the wicked General A. P. Hill on orders of Lee, in secret conspiracy with Federal General Hooker. When the ambush was not fatal, "the Masonic hunter," Dr. Hunter McGuire, slipped our beloved "the poison cup." Now Lee and Longstreet could lose the battle of Gettysburg. Jackson would interfere no more!!)
It was for this reason that Federal General Meade, a Roman Catholic, was directed by a disguised Jesuit to send one third of his Army to quell Archbishop Hughes' New York City Draft Riots ("a Romish plot from beginning to end" in the words of Lincoln), and therefore did not pursue General Lee's betrayed and defeated army at Gettysburg. The war must continue, as there are more "heretics" to kill and property to burn. Of the Jesuit influence on the battlefield President Lincoln said:

> "It is true, also, that Meade has remained with us, and gained the bloody battle of Gettysburg . . . But it is evident that his Romanism superseded his patriotism after the battle. He let the army of Lee escape, when it was so easy to cut his retreat and force him to surrender, after having lost nearly half of his soldiers in the last day's carnage. When Meade was to order the pursuit, after the battle, a stranger came, in haste, to the headquarters, and that stranger was a disguised Jesuit. After a ten minutes' conversation with him, Meade made such arrangements for the pursuit of the enemy, that he escaped almost untouched, with the loss of only two guns!" {37}[Emphasis added]

And why would the Jesuits want Lee's army to escape? So the war of annihilation could be continued until the Protestant States of the South had been utterly destroyed by General Grant and General Sherman. The Order would use this tactic again in the future.

In continuing the description of the destruction of the South, the Jesuits sought to create an insurrection of Black Southern slaves against their White masters by way of a mass-emancipation. The Emancipation Proclamation, promoted heavily by the Jesuits in control of England through Queen Victoria, was calculated to incite the slaves to murder their masters. The plot failed as the vast majority of Protestant masters had lovingly taught the Bible to their slaves. One such Protestant was General "Stonewall" Jackson. Upon his death, the Black slaves of his Sunday school gathered around his grave and bitterly mourned his departing. For the Biblical doctrine of White supremacy and Negro subordination was universally believed among White Protestant nations in accordance with Noah's prophecy given in Genesis 9:18-28. Of this prophecy the Baptist Henry Halley comments in 1927:

> "Descendants of Ham [Blacks] were to be servant races; Shemites [particularly the physical descendants of Jacob] were to preserve the knowledge of the True God; Japhetic races [Whites] were to have the largest portion of the world, and to supplant the Semitic races as teachers of God. It was fulfilled when the Israelites took Canaan, when the Greeks took Sidon, and when Rome conquered Carthage; and ever since Japhetic races [Whites] have dominated the world, and have been converted to the God of Shem [the God and Father of the Lord Jesus Christ], while Semitic races have occupied a place of comparative insignificance [during Israel's Diaspora]; and Hamitic races [Blacks] have occupied a place of servitude. An amazing forecast!" {38} [Emphasis added]

A short summary is given by R. G. Horton, a prominent Northern Democrat, concerning the attitude of the Southern Whites toward their Negro servants:

> "The negro was not a man like the white man. He had never been so elevated at any time in the history of his race as the four millions in the Southern States. Our form of society had civilized and Christianized [Protestant and Baptist] the only negroes that ever had been civilized or Christianized. This is simple historical fact, which no one dare defy [except the Jesuits using their Masonically-controlled Black "Nation of Islam;" their Rockefeller Center-based "Lucepress;" their Masonically-controlled "Civil Rights Movement;" and their Jesuit Dramas known as "Hollywood movies;" in creating Fourteenth Amendment America's Second Reconstruction (1950 to the Present) using hostile and radical, socialist-communist American Blacks, specifically hating the White Celtic Anglo-Saxon Protestants and Baptists as did the brilliant mulatto NOI spokesman, Malcolm X, prior to his return from Mecca]. . . . It is our duty, as the superior race, to care for these people whom God, in his providence, has given us. [Today this "care" would be to create a new Black nation within North America as the home for "African-Americans"—to the exclusion of Whites—, thereby ending the Order's socialist-communist "Negro agitation" and diffusing the Jesuit General's coming race war.]
> We should try to understand their natures, their capacities, and their wants, and then adapt our laws so that they will be in the happiest, the healthiest and best condition it is possible for them to attain. That is what the Southern people [mostly Protestant and Baptist] tried to do, and though no society is perfect, yet all must admit that the negroes were better off every way before the war than now. A million, it is estimated, have died in the effort to make them act like white people. . . . Thousands of these poor creatures have died of small pox and other loathsome diseases. Hundreds have starved to death or died of exposure, and all because of the false teachings of the abolitionists [controlled by the Jesuits], who deceived the people, and told them that society as it existed at the [White, maledominant, Protestant and Baptist, slave-holding] South was 'a sin and a crime [to the exclusion of slave-holding, Roman Catholic South America or slave-holding, Islamic North Africa].' " {39} [Emphasis added]

After the war, while under martial law, the Jesuits continued their attempt to destroy the Protestant White race of the South. The unparalleled and farsighted Robert L. Dabney, one of the South's greatest Presbyterian ministers and youngest member of General Jackson's staff, writes:

". . . once abolition by federal aggression came, these other sure results would follow . . . full negro equality: that negro equality thus theoretically established would be practical negro superiority [as demonstrated in America's Africanized culture of today]; . . . that this miserable career must result in one of two things, either a war of races, in which the whites or the blacks would be, one or the other exterminated; or amalgamation . . . And this apparently is the destiny which our [Jesuit] conquerors have in view [which is in complete agreement with the Order's Masonic Jewish Zionist Israel Cohen's A Racial Program for the 20th Century (1912) advocating a continual Negro agitation against all Whites in general, Negro prominence in sports and entertainment, and ultimately the sin of interracial marriage]. If indeed they can mix the blood of the heroes of Manassas with this vile stream from the fens of Africa, then they will never again have occasion to tremble before the righteous resistance of [White Protestant and Baptist-Calvinist] Virginian freemen; but will have a race supple and vile enough to fill that position of political subjection, which they desire to fix on the South [and the nation]." {40} [Emphasis added]

Again R. G. Horton agrees:

"The laws of every State in the Union wisely denied negroes an equality with white people. I say this was a just and necessary provision in order to prevent what is called mulattoism or mongrelism, that is, a mixture of the white and black races, which history and experience have proved to be one of the greatest curses that can befall a society. Every nation on the face of the earth where such a mixture has taken place to any considerable extent, has declined in its civilization, and gradually sunk down in ruin, as if wasted by slow poison.

> And that is just what it was. God's punishment upon men for violating his laws [of separation]." {41} [Emphasis added]

Further, J. H. Van Evrie, M.D., casts further light on the subject of the long term effects of "mulattoism" in his epic 1868 work, White Supremacy and Negro Subordination; Or, Negroes A Subordinate Race, and (So Called) Slavery Its Normal Condition, "The mulatto, literally speaking, or in the ordinary sense, does beget offspring, but mulattoism is as positively sterile as muleism. . . . Instead of a single generation, as in the animals referred to [the horse and the donkey], sterility in the human creatures is embraced within four generations, where a boundary is arrived at as absolutely fixed and impassable as the single generation in the case of the former. . . .

But in order to understand the matter clearly, it is proposed to present the reader with the preliminary principles or facts, and inductive facts, that lead to this vital and all-important conclusion. It is all-important, not as demonstrating beyond doubt the vital and fundamental truth of distinct species [within one genus—the human race as begotten by our first parents, Adam and Eve], for that is a self-evident and indeed unavoidable truth that meets us at every step, and confronts our senses almost every hour or day of our lives. But mulattoism is a subject of stupendous importance in itself, and as the public are generally, and the "anti-slavery" writers especially, profoundly ignorant of it, it is proposed to present the elementary principles or basis on which the whole subject rests.*

(*The author has devoted much time and labor to this interesting subject, and, together with his own and the observations of friends and correspondents, covering several thousand cases of the mixed blood, is able to deduce the general laws as stated in the text, and with entire confidence in their essential accuracy.)

> 1st. In the case of the white man cohabitating with the negress, or "married" to a Negro female, there will be a more limited progeny than if she were married to one of her own race.
> 2nd. The mulatto offspring of this connection intermarrying with other hybrids, will exhibit still less virility.
> 3rd. The offspring of the former again intermarrying with hybrids equally removed from the original parentage, shows a yet greater diminution of virile power.
>
> 4th. By still intermarrying with hybrids, and of a corresponding remove, virility is correspondingly decreased.
> 5th. Finally, the fourth generation of mulattoism is as absolutely sterile as muleism, and though there may be, at rare intervals, a possible exception, yet, in every practical sense, and for all the purposes of philosophic inquiry, it may be assumed as the natural and impassable barrier of this abnormal and exceptional being. . . .

(Royalism, or a Hereditary Aristocracy, or class that attempts to create a permanent superiority over the great body of the [White] people by incestuous intermarriage with its own members, is punished with similar results as those that attend the violation of the sexual relations of different Races. And the idiotic, impotent, and diseased offspring of hereditary [White] kings has always a certain physiological resemblance to the effete and sterile mulatto. Both are violations of the normal order, and both are limited to a determinate existence, just as any other diseased conditions which nature forbids to live.) . . .

But it is in the female hybrid that this tendency to decay, or this vice of constitutional formation, is most apparent. Many of them are incapable of nourishing or taking care of their offspring, and together with miscarriages and the numerous forms of disease connected with maternity, they are often found to have had a large number of children, not one of whom reached maturity. . . .

As has been said, four millions of our own white race would be involved in this monstrous maelstrom of amalgamation with the [enfranchised Black] subject race, while the remaining twenty millions [of Whites] would be left untouched and unpolluted by the physical degradation that must needs follow such a stupendous sin as practical abolitionism. But they would not escape the moral deterioration [via the Pope's race-mixed American military fighting a host of no-win foreign wars; amalgamating Supreme Court decisions overthrowing laws of the States to the contrary; African drum-beat music known as "Big Band," "Rock and Roll," "Jazz," "Disco," and now "Hip-Hop;" and the continual morally degrading, and cunningly calculated miscegenation movies produced by the Black Pope's Hollywood Jesuit Theater], and the nation, weighed down by mulattoism, by such an ulcer on the body politic, by such a frightful mass of disease and death, would doubtless fall a conquest to some other nation or other variety of the master race [a non-Hamite, Sino-Soviet-Moslem triumvirate], and again become English provinces or dependencies of some other European power [the ultimate purpose of "mulattoism" being to guarantee the military success of the Black Pope's forthcoming foreign attack, invasion, mutilation, mass-murder and humiliation of what was once a Reformed, White Celtic-Anglo-Saxon Protestant Civilization]!" {42} [Emphasis added]

Armed with the above obscure, yet empirical knowledge, all the while being the occult masters of Karl Marx's Masonic, Socialist-Communist World Revolution centered in Stalin's Moscow, the dastardly Sons of Loyola set out to further destroy the LORD's Bible-based, anti-Masonic, anti-Jesuit, anti-Pope, anti-Council of Trent, anti-Dark Age, anti-New Age, anti-divine right, anti-socialist-communist, pro-Calvinist, pro-Constitution, pro-Bill of Rights, pro-gun ownership, pro-National Sovereignty, pro-property rights, pro-English Common Law, pro-Bible-based public/common school White Protestant Reformation via forced integration of the White and Black races. Many successful blows could be dealt through one brilliantly orchestrated, socio-economic-political program. By means of politically aiding and abetting Marxian Soviet Communism via the Archbishop of New York's CFRcontrolled American Presidency and State Department (as ably proven by Biblebeliever John Stormer in his 1964 epic work, None Dare Call It Treason), while providing financial aid through the Order's New York-based Wall Street and Federal Reserve Bank administered by the Pope's Knights of Malta and Masonic Jewish Labor Zionists, White Protestant and Baptist Calvinist civilization could be wonderfully destroyed without a shot being fired! This Communist (i.e., "universal equality," Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendment) policy of the Order would reduce North America to the status of a race-mixed, mongrelized nation of color further destroying the Reformation's Modern Era with its bold, inquiring, inventive, frugal and predominantly German and Scotch-Irish, White Protestant Middle Class.

As calculated, the Pope's Dark Ages would be restored composed of only the few, Masonic ("Skull and Bones") Yale, Harvard and Jesuit Georgetown-educated, White Noble Irish Roman Catholic rich. We speak of such families as the Kennedys, the Graces, the McDonnells, the Bradys, the Dohenys, the Murrays, the Ryans the Cuddihys, the McLeans (Evalyn Walsh McLean being a former owner of the infamous "Hope Diamond"), the MacDonalds (George MacDonald having been a Papal Chamberlain and a Grand Master of the Knights of Malta), the Flynns, the Lannans (multimillionaire industrialists), and the notorious, CIA-affiliated Buckleys —which families NEVER amalgamate their White sons and daughters with people of color—and the many, race-mixed, "dumb-downed," multi-religious, crime-ridden, "gang-banging," drug-addicted (both legal and illegal) illiterate poor, many of which would be Latino and Hispanic Roman Catholic people of color, both immigrants (again, legal and illegal) and native born. The communist "Republic of Cuba," under the merciless, Jesuit-trained, Temporal Coadjutor and Freemason Fidel Castro, is a classic example of Jesuit "social engineering" successfully imposed upon the Spanish Roman Catholic Cuban people, the vast majority of which are now people of color.

Further, an additional accomplishment of this insidious Counter-Reformation stratagem, energetically defended by the Order's international press, constantly advancing a "bodyguard of lies," would be the deliberate destruction of Jewish life and culture within historic White Protestant nations! And no wonder; for Biblebelieving, Reformed White nations have been the greatest haven and blessed sanctuary for the risen Son of God's beloved Hebrew/Jewish/Israelitic people for nearly the last five hundred years. The Company's Black Socialist-Communist movements in both historically White Protestant Rhodesia (now Zimbabwe, whose Jesuit-trained, Black savage dictator, Robert Mugabe, is presently stealing the land and murdering all White Protestant farmers, thereby deliberately creating a calculated famine for poor unsuspecting Blacks) and White Protestant South Africa (the policy of the Black, Jesuit-controlled ANC having resulted in the continued assault, battery, rape and murder of thousands of White Protestants whose technological know-how and business acumen—received in answer to their prayers—made that nation the most prosperous in all of Africa) have successfully accomplished this goal.

To this end the Pope's Anti-Torah, Polish-born, Socialist-Communist, Masonic Jewish Zionists have aided their masters, the secretly pro-Communist but openly anti-Communist Society of Jesus, in advancing the Company's atheist, political religion of Socialist-Communism. This includes the pro-Black, anti-White, anti-Protestant Civil Rights Movement of the 1960s right here in the Pope's now condemned, "Holy Roman" Fourteenth Amendment Corporate-Fascist American Empire. Concerning the Order's Communist tactic of forced amalgamation of American Blacks and Whites being a stated goal of the Order's communist "World Revolution," we read from the pen of the learned and godly Messianic Jew, Arno Gaebelein, in his 1933 uncensored masterpiece, Conflict of the Ages:

> "The trail of the serpent has become most prominent in our country. The astonishing growth of communism [the 1913 Federal Reserve Act (a monopolistic central bank issuing fiat money); the 1913 Seventeenth Amendment (direct election of U.S. Senators and the President thereby eliminating the controlling representation of State governments over the choosing of U.S. Senators and the President); the 1913 Sixteenth Amendment (a heavy, progressive, graduated income tax); the 1870 Fifteenth Amendment (granting the "elective franchise" to all Fourteenth Amendment White and Black "U.S. citizens" resulting in "one man, one vote"), the 1868 Fourteenth Amendment (centralization of power in Washington, D.C., and granting the Roman privilege of national citizenship and thus "universal equality"); the Thirteenth Amendment (grand theft of the labor of Black slaves without remuneration or "reparations" to their White masters], this offspring of [Masonic] Marx, [Jesuit-Masonic]

Weishaupt and other godless elements, we shall now briefly follow. . . . Another activity is among the Negro residents. In order to give facts to the reader who has not access to the [1933] Congressional Report [pp. 32-33], we quote from it:

> 'The communists for years have looked hopefully toward the Negro residents of the United States as an element whom they might gain recruits for the Communist Party. [The author's paternal grandparents were cardcarrying communists who entertained Black communists in their home and together sang the Soviet National Anthem in the 1930s.] Work among the Negroes is considered one of the major activities of the party.

Up until this time, the communist effort to interest and line up the Negroes in this country has not met with great success [as of 1933], although a considerable number of Negroes employed in the [primarily anti-Black, Roman Catholic] Northern industrial centers have joined the movement [as Northern Blacks would later join the pro-communist, pro-Castro, anti-Jew, anti-WASP, anti-Reformation, anti-AV1611 Bible, Black Nation of Islam].

In the [primarily Bible-reading Protestant and Baptist] South, efforts among the Negroes have not been very fruitful [as Southern Blacks would later refuse to join the Masonic Black Nation of Islam secretly affiliated (according to the late Malcolm X) with the Masonic Ku Klux Klan, the leadership of both groups being tied to the Pope's Masonic/SMOM FBI], although some headway has been made in certain sections.

The [Jesuit Order's Church of the] Communist Party [of which the Bible-rejecting Martin "Lucifer" King, Jr., was a member] has a Negro work department and a national Negro organizer [as all Labor Unions are pro-communist and controlled by the Pope's Mafia]. This special department extends down through all communist units, including the District, the section, and finally to each unit or nucleus, with a responsible director.

The tasks of the communists among the Negro workers is to bring about class consciousness [for which reason most American Blacks are socialistcommunist, NAACP Democrats expecting the government to do what they should do for themselves], and to crystallize this in independent class political action against the capitalist class [in fact, against the free enterprise White Protestant Middle Class, as the rich, Jesuit-controlled, White, corporate, cartel-capitalists always finance communism]; to take every possible advantage of occurrences [White-on-Black crime but never the daily, forbidden-to-report, Black-on White crime now inundating the nation] and conditions [poor housing, job discrimination, oppressive segregation, etc.] that will tend to develop race feeling [anti-White race feeling] with the view of utilizing racial antagonism [intended to erupt into race riots and a future race war justifying Popish martial law and more priest-authored legislation—such as the 1964 Civil Rights Act—further centralizing irreversible, absolute power in Washington, D.C.].

At every opportunity the attempt is made to stir up trouble between the White and Negro races [which racial antagonism is continually put upon all White people, without regard to any distinctions between Roman Catholic and Protestant, by the Jesuit Theater in Hollywood via such movies as Roots, Mississippi Burning, To Kill A Mockingbird, etc.].

> The Negroes are made to believe that the communists practice complete racial and social equality [which pseudo equality can only be enforced at the barrel of a Federal gun under the color of Federal law] and only when a communist Government is set up in the United States will the Negroes obtain equality and freedom from exploitation from the 'White bosses' [which government will then enforce Black, and now Latino/Hispanic Roman Catholic, "affirmative action" supremacy to the detriment of all Whites, thereby cunningly uniting White Protestants and White Roman Catholics against a mutual "Communist" or "Islamic" Black enemy.
> Pursuant to the Second Vatican Council (1962-1965) the Protestant "separated brethren" will submit to the absolute Temporal Power of the Pope of Rome via a fascist, Jesuit-controlled, American military dictator who will then provide "the Final Solution to the Racial Question"]; and, in order to attract and impress the Negro, the communists make a point of encouraging mixed social functions where White women communists dance with Negro men, and White men communists dance with Negro women [which goal was realized using the Vatican-financed, race-mixing, Africanizing, "Rock and Roll" music industry for the last fifty years].
> It is openly advocated that there must be complete social and racial equality between the Whites and Negroes even to the extent of intermarriage [which religious dogma of "universal racial equality" would ultimately be taught, legally enacted into State and Federal Codes and then savagely enforced upon every public corporate institution residing within the United States today. Anything contrary to this religious socialist-communist dogma (remember the popular pro-football commentator "Jimmy the Greek") would result in the immediate reprimand, resignation or dismissal of the social "heretic" from any public or private corporate position].' " {43} [Emphasis added]

(Dear truth-seeker, do you now understand that the entire CFR-controlled government of the Pope's "Holy Roman" Fourteenth Amendment American Empire is entirely Socialist-Communist? Do you now grasp why the Order has enforced Black Supremacy in not only professional Sports (football, baseball and basketball) but also within the Entertainment industry? Do you now understand why the "music" of the most recent 2004 Democratic National Convention, even though hosted in the White Roman Catholic city of Boston, was entirely dominated by Blacks? Do you now understand why Hollywood—the Jesuit Theatre—is constantly shoving race-mixing and interracial marriages down America's throat? For the last fifty years the "Lucepress," controlled by the Cardinal's Council on Foreign Relations in New York City, has gone to every extreme to intimidate White and Black people into practicing this sin against the risen Son of God! They have branded us Whites as "haters of the Black race," describing us with newly defined words such as "racist" and "prejudice" (basically non-hateful terms), if we do not consent to the Order's socialist-communist program of forced integration, amalgamation and miscegenation.

Did not Nehemiah, the man of God furiously rebuke his own Jewish people for race-mixing, forcing them to put away their foreign wives (Nehemiah 13:23-31)? Did not Jesus the Messiah command his disciples, when sent out to preach the good news that the Davidic kingdom of heaven was about to be established on earth, not to enter into any city of the Samaritans (Matthew 10:5)—the racially half Jews?!!)

The Jesuits now sat on top of the ruin of George Washington's Protestant Republic. America had experienced her atheistic French Revolution. The Radical "Red" Republicans, led by Sumner and Stevens, were like the Jacobins led by Robespierre and Danton. Archbishop Hughes, defending the Temporal Power of the Pope, had visited Europe and Rome in support of the North during 1861-62 at the request of Lincoln and Seward. After the war, Hughes was recommended to Pius IX for a Cardinal's red hat by the Radical Red Republicans! Brigands Grant and Sherman had led their monster armies, composed of a large number of Irish Roman Catholic and foreign banditti, on a campaign of rapine, plunder and mass-destruction, utterly disgracing the noble art of arms. While Sherman's Crusaders were burning the Protestant cities of Atlanta, Georgia and Columbia, South Carolina to the ground, the honorable Baptist and Confederate General Jubal Early had ordered his men to put out a large fire in Wrightsville, Pennsylvania. (The fire had been set by the inhabitants of Columbia, Pennsylvania, as they had burned the bridge spanning the Susquehanna River in seeking to prevent the Confederates from crossing.)

America, more so than France, lay in ruins as nearly seven hundred thousand of her sons had died, according to the Civil War Museum in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. The bloody Jesuit Oath had been obeyed once again with the death of "accursed heretics" in accordance with the Council of Trent. Margaret Mitchell, the author of America's greatest novel, Gone With the Wind, captures the tragedy of this moment with a poem written on the back of a Confederate Note:

"Representing nothing on God's earth now and naught in the waters below it—
As the pledge of a nation that's passed away
Keep it, dear friend, and show it.

Show it to those who will lend an ear
To the tale this trifle will tell
Of Liberty, born of patriot's dream,
Of a storm-cradled nation that fell." {44}

> The Jesuits were now the secret masters of the United States. They had restored absolutism to France with a coup d'etat in 1852, resulting in the dictatorship of Napoleon III. But in the United States they were careful to institute a very deceptive form of absolutism, via a coup d'etat known as the Fourteenth Amendment. This amendment would create the consolidation of the States into the "Holy Roman" American Empire of the Twentieth Century. And it was predominantly the Protestant-Calvinist people of the South, with no help from any foreign government including England, France, Spain, Germany, Russia or the Papacy, who fought the Holy Alliance's predominantly Irish Roman Catholic people inhabiting the cities of North in seeking to prevent the establishment of the dreaded, centralized American Empire. For these Protestant Calvinists, in seeking to prevent the Pope from ruling the world once again as in the Dark Ages, did ". . . look to the Federative System, between Free [Sovereign and Independent] Democratic States, as the surest means of saving Mankind from ultimate universal Monarchial Rule." {45} [Emphasis added]

With the destruction of the righteous and noble people of the Protestant and Baptist Calvinist South (along with many "liberal" Roman Catholics), the Roman Catholic and apostate Protestant and Baptist people of the North enslaved themselves to the Jesuits in Washington, D.C. The Sons of Loyola, using their "Republicans" as they had used their "Jacobins" in France, raised a huge "Grand Army," like that of Napoleon's, which during the Twentieth Century would be used to restore the Pope's Temporal Power around the world after it had destroyed the Shemitic Native American Indian Nations in the West. (When the Jesuits create an Empire there is first always "ethnic cleansing.") Again, Robert L. Dabney, in foreseeing the overthrow of Europe's Monarchs, wrote of this new Jesuit power:

> "History will some day place the position of these Confederate States, in this high argument, in the clearest light of her glory. The cause they undertook to defend was that of regulated, constitutional liberty, and of fidelity to law and covenants, against the licentious violence of physical power. The assumptions they resisted were precisely those of that radical democracy [socialist-communism], which deluged Europe with blood at the close of the eighteenth century [the French Revolution and Napoleonic Wars], and which shook its thrones again in the convulsions of 1848 [the Second French Revolution]. . . . This power . . . at the beginning of the century, had transferred its immediate designs across the Atlantic, was consolidating itself anew in the Northern States of America, with a wealth, an organization, an audacity, an extent, to which it never aspired in the lands of its birth, and was preparing to make the United States, after crushing all law there under its brute will, the fulcrum whence they should extend their lever to upheave every legitimate throne

Meanwhile in Rome, the Jesuit General, in anticipating the victory of the Northern Army, caused his servant, Pope Pius IX, to erect the Jesuits' American College in 1864. We read:

> "The pontificate of Pio Nono is likely to become historical from two circumstances, possibly three—the flight of Gaeta [after a Jesuit-controlled assassin, sent by Masonic Giuseppe Mazzini, murdered the Pope's "liberal" reforming officer, Pellegrini Rossi], the promulgation of the Immaculate Conception, and, peradventure, the dismemberment of the ecclesiastical territories. Besides this [in seeking to revive the use of the guillotine according to the Protestant, Bible-believing, Reformation historian, James A. Wylie, which portable guillotines are presently in storage throughout North America in reserve for future use], I know of nothing in his administration that can claim a place in history, except it may be that he has erected a college in Rome, for the special benefit of American youth." {47}

And why? It was to train future American priests to rule the American Empire through both political parties, democratic and republican. One young Irish American trained by Jesuits at Fordham University in New York, further trained by Jesuits at the American College in Rome to be the most powerful Roman Catholic Archbishop in American history controlling both the Central Intelligence Agency and the Federal Bureau of Investigation, was none other than "the American Pope," the dark mastermind behind the Kennedy assassination and sin-hardened sodomite, Francis Cardinal Spellman!

Meanwhile in Mexico, shortly before our American "Civil War" broke out in 1861, that oppressed nation, plagued with dictators and revolts for nearly forty years, finally began to enjoy the wonderful taste of free, "liberal" government, so condemned by the Jesuits' evil Council of Trent. The great pro-Protestant, "condemned liberal" and inspiration of the Mexican people, Benito Pablo Juarez, was proclaimed President upon his triumphal entry into the capital in 1860. For three long years the War of Reform, ignited by the suspension of the liberal Constitution so hated by the Jesuits, had raged between the Jesuit tyranny of General Ignacio Comonfort (named after Ignatius Loyola) and the liberals led by Juarez.

And now, with the sweet taste of victory, the risen Son of God having answered their prayers, our hero, Benito Juarez, removed the millstone from around the neck of his beloved people, it having been ruthlessly fastened by the heartless Sons of Loyola. The first thing he did was to break the financial and political power of the Jesuit General's soon-to-be infallible Pope Pius IX, along with his Hierarchy and Clergy manning his worldwide colossus of wealth—the Vatican Empire—by:

> 1. Suspending for two years all payments on public debts of every kind; since, they were owed to the Masonic banking agents of the Vatican;
> 2. Declaring marriage a civil contract and not a privilege granted by the Pope; 3. Suppressing celibacy and the Inquisition's ecclesiastical courts;
> 4. Confiscating the Pope's Church property valued at over one hundred million silver dollars and over one third (thirty-five percent) of Mexico's choicest lands and holdings;
> 5. Separating the Roman Catholic Church government, with its Pope, Hierarchy and Jesuits, from the government, having expelled the Archbishop of Mexico!

We read further on the condition of Mexico both before and after the arrival of the intrepid and courageous Benito Juarez. Both brilliant and godly, Protestant Bible-believer J. Scott Carr writes in his The Devil in Robes; Or, The Sin of Priests:

> "Look at Mexico, a country less known to the people of the United States than is any State in Europe. Romanism had full swing [as now in America]. As a result, ignorance was the rule [as now in America with the destruction of the historically Bible-based, Protestant founded, public common schools]. Crime was unchecked [as in America today]. To virtue the people were strangers [as in America today]. To poverty, degradation, to criminal living they were to the manor born [as are the majority of the world's Blacks]. . . . Romanism had eaten out the life of the nation [as in America today]. The people saw it. When the uprising for liberty came, the Roman-Catholic Church stood across the track, and went down because of the triumph of free thought. The invasion of the home by the priesthood had despoiled it. The rule of the priesthood had impoverished the people [as in America today via the Pope's CFR and Federal Reserve Bank]. The church held property to the amount of three hundred million [silver] dollars, and derived a revenue of over twenty-two millions, or more than the aggregate of all the revenues which the State derived from its customs and internal taxes. . . .
> Louis Napoleon desired to found a Latin empire on this Western continent, making Mexico its capital . . . The Pope, the Roman Catholic Church, and every lover of despotism in the world, was with him. Against him were the lovers of liberty and the haters of Romanism in Mexico, led by Benito Juarez, a Zapotec Indian, a race that was of the mountainous portions of the country, and who had never been fully conquered by the Spainards. . . . Maximilian of Austria was, by the power of the Papal Church, installed as emperor. . . . he was an absolutist, and in devotion to the Roman-Catholic Church as an extremist to the point of fanaticism. . . . seen in his . . . proclamation and execution of an order (which subsequently cost Maximilian his own life), that all republican officers taken prisoners in battle by the imperialists should be summarily executed as bandits. . . . As the overthrow of the [Southern Confederate] rebellion in 1865 made it certain that Louis Napoleon and his Latin empire must seek safety in flight (at any rate must turn from the Western continent), the French forces were withdrawn from Mexico. Maximilian should have gone with them. The Church party persuaded him to remain, pledging him their support. Maximilian returned to the City of Mexico, and went to his doom. The republican forces triumphed over despotism, Maximilian was executed and Benito Juarez became president of the republic.

What did he find? This: the Church had despoiled Mexico of hope, of honor, of faith, of religion [just as it has done to us Americans as of 2007]; Romanism must get out of the way, that the republic might live. Get out of the way it did. The entire property of the Church was confiscated to the use of the state. 'Every convent, monastic institution, or religious house was closed up, and devoted to secular uses.' Streets were dug through the foundations; and then and there the inquisitorial hate, as it wreaked its vengeance upon hapless victims, was uncovered. Walled-up graves, dungeons, and horrid implements of torture, were revealed. Romanism in Mexico was the same as Romanism in Rome and everywhere. It is as bad as it can be, wherever opportunity is furnished it to exchange freedom for despotism, education for ignorance and superstition for [Protestant and Baptist-Calvinist AV1611 Bible-based] Christianity.

Mexico had more than enough homes wrecked, of property grasped, of the people being tyrannized by it; hence the members of every religious society, from the Jesuits to the Sisters of Charity who served in the hospitals, or taught in the schools, were banished and summarily sent out of the country. [Praise God!] As a result, no convent or monastery now openly exists in Mexico [as of 1900]; and no priest, or sister, or any ecclesiastic can walk the streets in any distinctive costume, or take part in any religious parade or procession; and this in towns and cities where twenty years ago or less, the life of a foreigner or skeptic who did not promptly kneel in the street at the 'procession of the host' was imperiled. . . .

All those rites, furthermore, which the Catholic Church has always classed as among her holy sacraments and exclusive privileges, and the possession of which has constituted the chief source of her power over society, are also now regulated by civil law. The civil authority registers births, performs the marriage ceremony, and provides for the burial of the dead; and while the marriage ceremonies are not prohibited to those who desire them, they are legally superfluous and alone have no validity. The achievement was as momentous to Mexico as was the abolition of slavery to the United States.

> Romanism was worse to Mexico morally, financially, and intellectually, then was [abusive] slavery to the Republic of the United States. . . . Is it not possible that Americans will yet strip Rome in the United States, and leave her naked among her enemies? It will be done as soon as [White American] freemen comprehend her true character." {48} [Emphasis added]

Dear truth-seeker, for the first time in the history of our southern neighbor, the Temporal Power of the Papal-Caesar had been broken. Juarez upheld the Constitution of 1857, which guaranteed freedom of speech and freedom of the press so condemned by the Jesuits' evil Council of Trent.

Praise God! Behold the man!!

Is it any wonder that we Americans have heard nothing of this mighty man of valor in our schools, both public and private? We Americans, in two hundred years, have never had such a hero as this!!! He's a Mexican Oliver Cromwell! Wow!!

(Ironically, "Benito" Mussolini was named after "Benito" Juarez, the Duce being an abject tool of the Order, betraying his own Italian people into the hands of Pope Pius XII, the creator of Adolf Hitler, Martin Bormann, Heinrich Himmler, Heinrich Mueller, Josef Mengele and the Nazi Third Reich. This most evil of Popes, to whom "Benito" Mussolini restored the Temporal Power, used Himmler's SS Chief of Staff, Karl Wolff to deport all the Jews of the Papacy's Roman ghetto to Auschwitz.)

Juarez's expulsion of the Order brought blessing to Mexico, that beautiful land having been downtrodden by the Papacy for centuries. Finally the sun would rise on our southern neighbor thanks to aid from American patriots and the devout nationalism of one astounding man, Benito Pablo Juarez. We read:

> "Since Mexico has become a republic and the Roman political Jesuits have been driven out, we are informed that the nation has more than doubled in wealth and prosperity." {49} [Emphasis added]

Ah, dear truth-seeker, these wonderful works of righteousness never go unresisted by the Devil and his shogun Priest-King, the Black Pope. With their "Holy Alliance" of European despots, England, France and Spain invaded. Our hero, Juarez, fled the capital for his life, while the Austrian archduke Ferdinand Maximilian—the tool of the Jesuits' Napoleon III of France—was made Mexico's absolutist Emperor in 1864. After three years of stout Mexican resistance, coupled with Abraham Lincoln's enforcement of the Monroe Doctrine, Juarez prevailed, ordering the righteous execution of the Austrian usurper in 1867. This further infuriated the suppressed Jesuits! For five more years Benito Juarez remained President, pursuing his "liberal," anti-Council of Trent policies, until he died at his desk in the National Palace. Low-level Freemason Benito Juarez—"the Savior of Mexico"—was slipped the poison cup and five of his dear sons never lived to see adult life! In retrospect, the risen Son of God chose to deliver the Mexican people from centuries of papal tyranny, accounting them worthy of the liberty for which they had endured so much suffering and shed so much blood. Prior to the presidency of Juarez, General Comonfort had suppressed the Jesuits on June 5, 1856! On July 12, 1859, the Reform Laws, or rather "the Juarez Laws," forever expelled the Jesuits and all religious brotherhoods from our hero's beloved Mexico. Praise God!

Little did the Mexican people know they would pay dearly for this! Three years later General Porfirio Diaz would come to power who in turn would restore the Jesuits. This merciless, military dictator would then rule Mexico with an iron fist, faithfully serving the Society of Jesus for over thirty years (from 1876 to 1911).

During the ensuing two decades of revolution, the Sons of Loyola would bring their Second Thirty Years' War into Mexico resulting in over one million deaths! With the people striking back, in 1924 President Plutarco Calles forbad all Catholic teaching congregations including the Jesuits. In 1927, Jesuit Michael Augustine Pro was executed after an attempted assassination of Alvaro Obregon. But the Order would have its way when, in 1928, President Obregon, Mexico's second Juarez, received "the leaden bullet" by a Jesuit-sent assassin, Jose de Leon Toral.

Dear truth-seeker, by 1945 Mexico would be completely in the hands of the Company's Black Pope. Today, over sixty years later, our southern neighbor has been reduced to a coolie nation with absolutism, crime, poverty and misery reigning supreme. In the midst of this disgraceful, modern day Jesuit Reduction thrives a multi trillion-dollar drug trade having absorbed every ruler of the land subject to the Black Pope's "Holy Roman" American Empire. One such ruler is Governor Felipe Gonzales of Aguascalientes. And wouldn't you know it, Governor Gonzales is one of Archbishop Edward Egan's most faithful and obedient Knights of Columbus!

Now the Company, in exploiting its" Mexican Agitation," is bringing millions of illegal aliens over our Southern border using Presidents Vicente Fox and George W. Bush. The Order's Department of Homeland Security will be used to "solve the problem" headed by its Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor, the Jewish Michael Chertoff.

Freemason James Buchanan (1791 – 1868), 1860 #163

15th President of these United States of America, 1857 – 1861

At first a Federalist and witnessing the alarming centralizing tendencies of the party, James Buchanan switched to Jefferson's Democratic Party and became a great admirer of President Andrew Jackson who had declared the AV1611 Bible of the risen Son of God's Protestant Reformation to be the bedrock upon which George Washington's Republic rested. As a Democrat and an advocate of the rights of the States not expressly delegated to the Federal government by the Constitution, President Buchanan refused to make war on the Southern States threatening to leave the Union. Like John F. Kennedy seeking to end Cardinal Spellman's War in Vietnam, he blamed Southern secession on the radical Red/Black Republican Northern abolitionists and refused to ignite Archbishop Hughes' War Between the States, as he opposed the conspiracy of Prince Metternich's Holy Alliance. Therefore, on the 23rd of February 1857 at the Order's National Hotel in Washington, D.C., the President and his Northern men were poisoned with arsenic sprinkled in their tea. Thirty-eight people died as the Order fulfilled its bloody Oath once again. But Buchanan survived and toward the end of his Presidency, on January 5, 1861, he sent a merchant steamer called the "Star of the West" to reinforce Fort Sumter, it carrying "troops and foodstuffs." This act ignited the Jesuits' "American Civil War."

Sovereign Grand Commander Albert Pike, 1809 – 1891

This Luciferian, ex-Confederate General and most powerful Freemason in North America was a member of the first White Ku Klux Klan founded in 1866 by the fearless and gallant ex-Confederate General and ex-Freemason, Nathan Bedford Forrest, the War's greatest Cavalry commander. Pike, a secret Jesuit Coadjutor and murderer of White Protestants, was an organizer for the KKK in Arkansas after Forrest appointed him "Grand Dragon" of the region. With the Klan disbanded by Forrest in 1869 after the "ratification" of the Papal Caesar's Fourteenth Amendment (1868), Pike maintained ties with existing Klansmen while he remained a Masonic brother to his contemporary occultist Karl Marx.

In 1915 Pike's Masonic Southern descendants would found the hatefully White racist, anti-Jew, openly anti-Roman Catholic, pro-Protestant, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan several years after anti-Jesuit, Masonic German Jesuit Coadjutor Adolf Josef Lanz founded his hatefully White racist, anti-Jew, pro-Protestant Order of the New Templars in 1900—one of the Masonic foundations for the Jesuit General's Nazi Third Reich. Pike's new KKK would be used by the Order to unite apostate Protestants and Baptists against Roman Catholic immigrants while spreading hatred between Whites and Blacks in both the North and the South via abashment, theft, rapine and murderous lynchings: these agent provocateurs would create the legitimate grievances necessary for the Company to launch its Masonic Civil Rights Movement intended to bring about its "Racial Program for the Twentieth Century"—the amalgamation of both races purposed to destroy White Anglo-Saxon Protestants of North America. Using Southern lodge-rooms the Order had created grievances whereby the Protestants of the South were drawn into "the Civil War" during which war of annihilation they were betrayed by leaders beholden to the fear of death by Masonic, oath-bound masters secretly subordinate to the Jesuit General in Rome. After the failed War of Southern Independence fought by the White Protestant peoples of the South, the victorious Jesuits finished erecting two of their despicable idols in celebration of the Black Pope's newly created "Holy Roman" 14th Amendment American Empire. They were the Washington Monument (1885) and the Statue of Liberty (1886), it having been designed by the Roman Catholic French Freemason, Frederic Auguste Bartholdi and formally received by the Jesuit-ruled mayor of New York, Knight of Malta William R. Grace. Pike also spoke of the Invisible Empire's plan to ignite three World Wars, the first to be fought in Europe preparing the land of Canaan for the Lord's beloved Hebrew/Jewish/Israelitic people; the second to be a continuation in preparing the people for the land via the Pope's Knight of Malta-led Nazi Fascist/Masonic Labor Zionist Eurasian Jewish Holocaust; and the third to be fought in the Middle East involving the destruction of the Mosques on Jerusalem's Temple Mount and the rebuilding of Solomon's Temple as well as the ancient commercial treasure city of Babylon!

This will come to pass as Rome continues to rule both sides of every conflict.

President and Pro-Protestant Reformer of Mexico, 1857 – 1872

This full-blooded native Zapotec Indian is Mexico's greatest patriot, Civil War commander and finest statesman of integrity, ability and undying determination in his quest to make his beloved country a nation among nations. Having studied for the priesthood as a young man, he became the most dreaded enemy of the Society of Jesus while hating the Temporal Power of the Papal Caesar in Rome.

He exiled the Archbishop of Mexico along with five Bishops, confiscated all of the Pope's Church property composing the finest lands of his Nation, expelled the Spanish ambassador, banished every Popish religious society from the Jesuits to the Sisters of Charity, and hated Prince Metternich's Holy Alliance. He enforced the "liberal" Constitution of 1857 securing the Protestant rights of freedom of conscience and freedom of the press, utterly condemned by the Black Pope's bloody Council of Trent. He sought to establish a Middle Class and repudiated the National Debt. In 1867 he rightly executed Mexico's usurper and tyrant, Ferdinand Maximilian, of the Company's popish House of Hapsburg, sent by France's Napoleon III, further outraging the Jesuits! For boldly resisting the Pope's Temporal Power over Mexico, Benito Juarez became a "rebel king" and therefore a "tyrant" according to the Satanic doctrines of the Spanish Jesuit, Francisco Suarez. In 1872 he died at his desk, a victim of "the poison cup."

Lieutenant General
Thomas Jonathan "Stonewall" Jackson, C.S.A.

These few words fail us in attempting to describe the life of our most beloved and universally respected Man of God, the model example of Southern manhood for nearly the last 150 years. Of Scotch-Irish stock, the aristocratic Jackson family produced a host of doctors, lawyers and statesmen. Jonathan Jackson, the General's father, was a Counselor-at-law upon whom his wife and four children depended. But the General lost both his father and a sister at the age of three, dying of a fever. With no means of support, a Masonic lodge, of which Jonathan was an officer, "gave to the widow a little cottage of a single room." How ominous and yet providential!

Our hero would begin childhood with his mother, a widow, in a one-room cottage due to the benevolence of a Mason; yet, as a father, he would die in a one-room cottage leaving his widow and child due to the violence of a Mason—in secret service to the Jesuit Order! The General's mother was a Methodist, he receiving his first instruction about the Savior from her readings of the Word of God. Like Oliver Cromwell and George Washington before him, the tender heart of the General can be traced to his godly mother, after whom he would name his daughter. Julia Jackson remarried, but died in childbirth leaving the General orphaned at the age of seven. At eight, Thomas resolutely left his guardians to be raised by his Uncle Cummins until he entered West Point in 1842. Graduating 17th in his class, Lt. Jackson wrote a personal code of behavior titled, "Maxims," the most important rule being "YOU MAY BE WHATEVER YOU RESOLVE TO BE." By these principles and obedience to the Word of God, the fame of Jackson would fill two hemispheres "for every quality which is great and good." During the war with Mexico, Jackson distinguished himself for gallantry when nearly forced to retreat, showing his commanding genius.

After duty in Mexico where he learned Spanish, Major Jackson was elected to teach at Virginia Military Institute in 1851, when he also was accepted into the Presbyterian Church, until he took his commission in defense of the South in 1861. The General's epic fame was born out of his brilliant defense of the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia, routing five Federal Generals in quick succession giving all glory to God. Stonewall rightly sought to destroy Lincoln's Army but General Lee fought President Davis' defensive war, resulting in the ultimate annihilation of White Protestant Virginia and the South.

Four times Jackson planned to destroy the Northern invaders; Lee, the traitor, forbade it. The fifth opportunity arose at Chancellorsville. But Generals Lee and Hooker, controlled by the Company, had arranged an ambush for Stonewall —overseen by General A. P. Hill! When it failed, Lee ordered Major Dr. Hunter McGuire to take Jackson to Guinea's Station. Away from the Chandler house in a one-room cottage, Masonic McGuire gave Jackson, the "accursed heretic," the Order's "poison cup." This last photo of the General was taken by his wife on Thursday afternoon, May 7, 1863, with the loss of his left arm and after his first "poison cup" the night before. Three days later our blessed hero was dead!

Major, Second Corps, Army of Northern Virginia, C.S.A.

Murderer of Lieut. General Thomas J. "Stonewall" Jackson

Ah, dear truth-seeker, the above photo was taken in mid-May, no more than a week after the death of General Jackson. Look carefully! Can you see the guilt in the assassin's eyes? His telltale heart betrays his villainy! For in the bond of friendship, he slipped our beloved Stonewall Jackson the Jesuit "poison cup" at least twice, maybe thrice! In the providence of the risen Son of the Most High, this blue-eyed, White devil was properly named—"Hunter!" Indeed he was a hunter; this is the infamous twenty-seven year old murderer, Masonic McGuire!

Born in Winchester, Virginia in the Shenandoah Valley, his father was a wellknown eye surgeon, Dr. Hughes Holmes. A book-wormed loner at the age of twenty, he graduated from his father's Winchester Medical College in 1855. The following year, the Hunter entered Thomas Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia. Upon his return home due to sickness, he became a professor of anatomy at the College, then only twenty-two. Later, he returned to the College in Philadelphia, the Order busily populating the city with Irish Catholics fleeing Queen Victoria's Jesuit-controlled Second Irish Massacre only to be used as mercenaries in the coming War Between the States. In the Hunter, the Order saw a potential tool for treating Southern Generals on the coming fields of battle.

The Company, having poisoned General Cromwell after the Puritan Revolution, General Washington after the American Revolution, and Emperor Bonaparte after Waterloo, knew that in the hands of a doctor was the life and death of an enemy. Pursuant to the Order's centuries-old policy in controlling both warring factions, if any Southern General would not "play ball" but in fact sought to win, Masonic McGuire, "like a stick in the hand of an old man," could eliminate the adversary. Upon a secret order, the Hunter struck his prey, General Jackson! http://members.aol.com/CWSurgeon0/introtohunter.html

McGuire; Reunion at the Chancellorsville Battlefield, 1884 #170

In remembrance of the death of Stonewall Jackson, veterans met for a reunion in 1884. Above, a boulder marked the spot where Jackson was wounded on May 2, 1863. After Lee's failed ambush overseen by General A. P. Hill, Jackson was committed into the care of Masonic McGuire—the youngest conspirator of all.

Upon the Hunter poisoning Stonewall, while alone with the General through five nights in a one-room cottage, he went on to poison another Man of God—a preacher and one of Jackson's favorites—Colonel Sandie Pendelton. With the defeat of General Early at Waynesboro in 1865, McGuire attempted an escape but was arrested by a Federal cavalryman. Upon giving the Masonic "grand hailing sign of distress," a Masonic Federal officer rode up and quickly yelled, "This is my prisoner!" McGuire was then turned over to Jesuit Pierre De Smet's Roman Catholic Coadjutor, General Philip Sheridan. For a job quite well done, the Hunter was paroled. After the war he founded his own hospital and, in 1892, became the President of the American Medical Association—the Order's Holy Office of the Inquisition in North America for more than one hundred years!

Freemason Nathaniel P. Banks (1816 – 1894), 1864 #171

Governor of Massachusetts, 1858 - 1861
Major General of Volunteers, 1861 – 1865

Nathaniel Banks was a Northern Freemason and a Radical Red Republican. Appointed by Lincoln as Major General of Volunteers, Banks was the fourth highest-ranking officer, junior to Freemason Winfield Scott, John C. Fremont, and Freemason George B. McClellan. This appointment of a most disgusting, arrogant, unprincipled and self-seeking politician infuriated senior officers, as Banks possessed no military training or experience. Utterly routed by Stonewall Jackson during our hero's infamous Valley Campaign of 1862, Banks went on to conduct military actions into the Deep South. Commanding thirty thousand soldiers during the first months of 1863, Banks invaded Teche County of southern Louisiana and settled in fields around Grand Coteau and Sunset for a few weeks, engaging the Confederates in several small battles. It is here that we shall witness once again the treasonous and tragic subordination of Freemasonry to its master, the Jesuit Order, during America's bloodiest conflict. Nearby was a Roman Catholic Institute for the Education of Young Ladies, the Academy of the Sacred Heart. A mile and a half away was St. Charles College, the first Jesuit college to have been erected in the South. General Banks just so happened to have a daughter attending another Sacred Heart school in Manhattanville, New York. Indeed, this supposedly anti-Catholic Freemason had committed the education of his dear child to the nuns and priests of Rome! The Masonic General ensured that no harm would come to the Sacred Heart Academy or the College of the Sons of Loyola—Lincoln's future assassins! Banks went on to be defeated at Port Hudson (July 1863), and his Red River Expedition (1864) ended when he was bested by Confederate General Edmund Kirby-Smith. www.spartacus.schoolnet.co.uk/USACWbanks.htm

It was here at this seemingly insignificant college, nestled in a secluded spot of southern Louisiana, that the mighty military Company of the Society of Jesus plotted the overthrow of the South and thus our Calvinist Federal Republic of George Washington's United Protestant States of America. General Banks should have burned it to the ground and arrested all the Jesuits, as they were soldiers of a foreign monarch, the Black Pope. Instead the Masonic General sent a detachment of cavalry to the college, summoned the Jesuit President and gave to him a certificate of "special protection of the United States" which read:

"Officers and soldiers will protect the property and persons of the Convent and College at Grand Coteau. The violation of this safeguard will be punished with death." The General then gave the Jesuits one hundred pounds of coffee, five barrels of meal, two barrels of flour, half a chest of tea, one barrel of sugar, five bags of salt, one keg of butter and a bolt of black merino wool—courtesy of the Protestant Northern peoples! Part of the college would be converted into a Novitiate in 1872, preparing future soldiers of Loyola now in command of the great cities of the South. In the providence of the risen Son of God, it was burned to the ground in 1907, only to be rebuilt two years later into a spectacular brick edifice much like the Novitiate in Wernersville, Pennsylvania. The Company continues to use its invisible, high Masonic Craft "for the greater glory of God."

"After he [Diabolus] had furnished his men with armor and weapons, Diabolus addressed himself to them. 'Remember,' he said, 'I am your rightful king. You have taken an oath and entered into a covenant to be true to me and my cause. Show yourselves as brave and valiant men of Mansoul. Remember also the kindness that I always showed to you and all the wonderful things I have granted you. The privileges, immunities, pleasures, and honors I have given you require your loyalty to me in return. What better time to show it than when another seeks to take my dominion over you into their own hands. . . . If we can stand against this one attack, I would not doubt that, in a short time, all the world will be ours.' . . .

'O Mansoul, it would be wise to take heed to what you are doing in this matter. For if you yield, you will give yourselves up to another and no longer be your own. To give up yourselves to an unlimited power is the greatest folly in the world. . . . If you submit to him, you do not know which of you he will kill and which of you he will keep alive.' "One method of assault may be to effect in the forms of the constitution alterations which will impair the energy of the system, and thus to undermine what cannot be directly overthrown . . . "We cannot be too often reminded of the double character of the enemy who has gained foothold upon our shores; for although Popery is a religious sect, and on this ground claims toleration side by side with other religious sects, yet

Popery is also a political, a despotic system, which we must repel as altogether incompatible with the existence of freedom. I repeat it, Popery is a political, a despotic system which must be resisted by all true patriots." {3} [Emphasis added]

"The Papacy is now endeavoring, by the most active and persistent efforts, to substitute an ecclesiastical government of the people—a grand 'Holy Empire' [the Pope's "Holy Roman" Fourteenth Amendment American Empire] for this free and popular [Presbyterian/Baptist-Calvinist] republic which it has cost so much blood and treasure to establish and maintain." {4} [Emphasis added]

"There is [he said] no secret about this. The object we hope to accomplish, in time, is to convert all Pagan nations, and all Protestant nations, even England with her proud Parliament and imperial sovereign. There is no secrecy in this. It is the commission of God to his church, and not a human project . . . Protestantism pretends to have discovered a great secret.

Protestantism startles our eastern borders occasionally on the intention of the Pope with regard to the Valley of the Mississippi and dreams that it has made a wonderful discovery. Not at all. Everybody should know it. Everybody should know that we have our mission to convert the world—including the inhabitants of the United States,—the people of the cities, andthe people of the country, the officers of the navy and the marines,commanders of the army, the Legislatures, the Senate, the Cabinet, the President, and all [now controlled by the CFR]!" {5} [Emphasis added]

The Protestant Crusade

"Whereas the spiritual foundation of America had been the Holy Bible, Jesuit agents polluted the land with Latin Masses, wafer gods, confession booths, pedophilic priests, statues, incense pots, idol worship, candles, rosaries, convents, holy days, prayers for the dead, bingo parlors, 'Las Vegas nights' [at "Caesar's Palace" i.e., the Pope's Vatican Palace], and numerous 'doctrines of devils.' (I Timothy 4:1) With reference to the King James Bible, [ex-President] Andrew Jackson testified from his deathbed, 'That book, Sir, is the rock upon which our republic rests.' However, the newly-arrived [Romish] 'Christians' from Europe looked to their human infallible pope for marching orders in Protestant America.

Someone has said that a man's theology will dictate his morality. By 1850, the immigrants constituted only 11 percent of the population, but 50 percent of the nation's 27,000 criminals. One angry patriot declared, 'America has become the sewer into which the pollutions of European jails are emptied.' The standard Catholic vices of alcoholism, gambling, prostitution, etc., led to organized crime and general civil unrest. . . . Well over a century has passed since real Americans like President Jefferson, Professor Morse, Secretary Thompson, Reverend Chiniquy and General Harris sounded their clarion calls on Roman Catholicism. Were they right, or were they wrong? A recent study revealed that there are 141 Roman Catholics seated in Congress, comprising the largest denomination in that legislative body (more than twice as many as the second-place United Methodist total of sixty-five). With a dozen-plus Catholic governors added to these and several more in the Cabinet and Supreme Court, not to mention the thousands spread out throughout the [Black Pope's] FBI, CIA, BATF and Pentagon, is it any wonder that Independent Baptist churches continue to experience persecution at every level of government [in accordance with the satanic Council of Trent]?" {7} [Emphasis added]

How Satan Turned America Against God

"If we turn to the Black races of mankind, it will be perfectly reasonable to assert that they have effected, in the countries to which they were distributed, no perceptible changes in the conditions of their environment. The Negro races inhabiting the great central belt of Africa have never shown a disposition to struggle with the forces of the natural world and to subordinate them to the purposes of life. . . . Though the country is peopled and occupied, it is in no sense possessed to the extent of mastery and dominion. . . .

On the whole, we see that the great modifying influence of man on his physical environment has been exerted most largely by the Ruddy [White] races, in their progress to the West. . . . The Black races, as we have seen, have in a still less degree influenced the physical surroundings where they have held their career. They have simply yielded to the blind elements of the natural world, and have resisted the swirl of the forces to which they were exposed only so far as to cling to the surface of the earth and maintain thereon a precarious existence. . . . This subjective difference, as will readily be seen, has led to the scientific ascendancy of the Aryan races and to their domination over the earth [particularly in historic Bible-believing White Protestant nations]. That is, the Aryan peoples have mastered the laws of phenomena and subordinated the forces of nature so successfully as to turn them upon their environment, and to compel nature to operate against herself for the benefit of her most intelligent creature. . . .

The law is: small brain, little achievement; great brain, great achievement. It is not necessary to refer the progress of civilization to the mere physical fact of cranial growth. A more rational view is that the larger display of mental power is correlated with the size and activity of the organ by which that mental power is expressed. . . . From the foregoing schedule [of racial-cranial measurements] it will be seen that the native Australians are the lowest type of men in cranial capacity, being inferior in this respect to the Negroes by an average of eighty-four cubic centimeters. The table does not include the Hottentots as a separate study. These people, as a matter of fact, have a cranial development intermediate between the Australians and the Negroes. Again, it will be noted that the Mongoloids have an average capacity of eighty-two cubic centimeters in excess of the Negroes, while the average capacity of the Aryans is forty-four cubic centimeters above the measure of the Mongoloids." {8}[Emphasis added] thee an high place in every street.

Thou hast built thy high place at every head of the way, and hast made thy beauty to be abhorred, and hast opened thy feet to every one that passed by, and multiplied thy whoredoms.
Thou hast also committed fornication with the [Black] Egyptians thy neighbors, great of flesh; and hast increased thy whoredoms, to provoke me to anger."
Behold, therefore I have stretched out my hand over thee, and have diminished thine ordinary food, and delivered thee unto the will of them that hate thee, the daughters of the Philistines, which are ashamed of thy lewd way."

"I will say then that I am not, nor have ever been in favor of bringing about in any way the social and political equality of the white and black races . . . that I am not nor ever have been in favor of making voters or jurors of Negroes, nor of qualifying them to hold office, nor to intermarry with white people; and I will say in addition to this that there is a physical difference between the white and black races which I believe will forever forbid the two races living together on terms of social and political equality. And inasmuch as they cannot so live, while they do remain together there must be the position of superior and inferior, and I as much as any man am in favor or having the superior position to the white race." {9} [Emphasis added]

The Negro In American Civilization

"The reconstruction acts gave the Black the absolute right of suffrage, and disfranchised the Whites. The Negro was invested with absolute power, and turned loose. He selected his rulers. The entire weight of the government—an immense force—was under the misapprehension, born of the passion which then reigned [abolitionism, founded upon the Romish doctrine of universal equality of all races], thrown blindly in the Negroes' favor; whatever they asserted was believed; whatever they demanded was done; the ballot was given them, and all the forms established by generations of [Protestant and Baptist] Caucasian patriots and jurists, and consecrated by centuries of [Protestant and Baptist] Caucasian blood, were solemnly set up and solemnly followed. The Negro at least then selected his own rulers. The Negro had thus his opportunity then, if ever.

The North had put him up as a citizen against the protest of the South, and stood obliged to sustain him. What was the result? Such a riot of folly and extravagance, such a travesty of justice, such a mummery of government as was never before witnessed, save in those countries in which he had himself furnished the illustration [as in the Order's pro-Black Fourteenth Amendment America and Black-ruled South Africa today in 2007].

In Virginia, where the Negroes were in a numerical minority and where the prowess of the Whites had been but now displayed before their eyes in an impressive manner which they could not forget [the War Between the States waged by the Virginians for Protestant Constitutional Southern freedom] we escaped the inconveniences of carpet-baggism, and the Hunnycuts, Underwoods, and such vultures kept the carcass for their own picking, and were soon gorged and put to flight. But it was not so where the Negroes were in a large majority. In South Carolina, in Louisiana, in Mississippi, and in other Southern States there was a very carnival of riot and rapine [again, as in Fourteenth Amendment America and South Africa today!]. . . .

These statements [proving the economic, political, judicial and moral rape of the South by the freed Blacks backed by the Jesuits ruling the Red Republican Federal Government of the North via high-level Scottish Rite Freemasonry] are but fragments taken form the papers by Mr. Hemphill, Governor Hampton, and others, who cite the public records, and are simply bare statistics. No account has been taken of the imposition practised throughout the South during the period of Negro domination [truthfully portrayed in Freemason D. W. Griffith's silent film, The Birth Of A Nation (1915), which historical accuracy was sustained by prosegregationist, Virginian-born, President Woodrow Wilson]; of the vast, incredible, and wanton degradation of the Southern people by the malefactors, who, with hoards of ignorant Negroes just freed from the bonds of slavery as their instruments, trod down the once stately [Protestant and Baptist-Calvinist] South at their will. No wonder that Governor Chamberlain, Republican and carpet-bagger as he was, should have declared, as he did in writing to the New England Society:

'The civilization of the [Presbyterian Calvinist] Puritan and [Protestant Anglican] Cavalier, of the [the Protector's Baptist-Calvinist] Roundhead [which Royalist term was forbidden to be used by Oliver Cromwell designating his illustrious, highly disciplined and Pslam-singing troops] and [French Calvinist] Huguenot [whose fathers had escaped Jesuit Pere La Chaise's Revocation of the Edict of Nantes issued by King Louis XIV in 1685], is in peril [exactly as intended by Militia of the Black Pope in obedience to its Jesuit Extreme Oath of Induction and Council of Trent].'

A survey of the field and a careful consideration of the facts have convinced me that I am within the bounds of truth, when I say that the Southern States, with the exception, perhaps, of one or two of the border States, were better off in 1868, when reconstruction went into force, than they were in 1876, when the carpetbag governments were finally over-thrown, and that the eight years of Negro domination in the South cost the South directly and indirectly more than the entire cost of the war, inclusive of the loss of values in slave property [for which colossal grand theft of slave property, no Southern slaveholder, White or Black, received one penny in remuneration or any form of justifiable reparations]. I think if Mr. Cable, and those who accept his theorem, will study the history of the Southern States, even as written only in the statistics, taking no account, if they please, of the suffering and the humiliation of the White race of the South during the period in which the South was under the domination of the rulers selected by the Negroes, they will find that there is not so much difference between the proposition which he formulates and that which the South states, when it declares that the pending question is one of race domination, on which depends the future salvation of the American people [i.e., Black Supremacy of an amalgamated culture equals the destruction of the nation; White Supremacy of a segregated culture equals the preservation of the nation. Though racially true, the author utterly fails to take into account the moral and cultural differences between White, Biblereading, Protestant Calvinist nations governed by written Constitutions, over and against White, Bible-rejecting, Roman Catholic nations ruled by divine right, socialist absolutism (including fascism and communism) of the Pope and his Roman Hierarchy controlled by the Society of Jesus]." {11}

Thomas Nelson Page, 1904

The Negro: The Southerner's Problem

"What will be the effect upon our civilization and social status, when Negro priests have become numerous, blind tools of this 'domineering power' and this 'system of intolerance,' whose priests are not allowed to marry, but are given the un-resisted and irresistible freedom of [sexually] using the imprisoned women of the cloistered convent?

Those who know the Black man, as a sensualist, must feel horrified at the very thought of what popery would mean to the White people, if the Romanist propaganda among the Blacks continues to be pushed [as today in Fourteenth Amendment America and South Africa]. . . . What will be the consequences to our social and religious system, when young Negro men, who have no wives, sit in the privacy of the confessional and listen to the avowals of sexual weakness made by passionate young [White] women?

What may we naturally expect to be the results, when lustful Black priests inquire of women about the details of marital intercourse in the nuptial bed? And when the bachelor buck of a Negro, because he is a priest, knows more about the wife than her husband knows? When such an embodiment of lust as the typical African, can learn at the confessional which ones among the women have been unfaithful to their husbands, who is to curb him, when he lusts after those frail wives?

It is awful to think of what popery may do against the Whites of the United States, in their furiously sordid ambition to 'make America Catholic.' In some States, the Blacks are in the majority. Give them as many priests as the Portuguese of Lisbon had, and, in less than 100 years it would take an expert to tell a Portugee from a Niggergee. Don't flatter yourself that these Black priests will confine their functions to Black people. No, indeed!

Gods are Gods; and if the White frocks are divine, the Black frocks are: and the natural inclination of Sambo is to assert his 'rights.' Teach him that he is a God, and he'll act the part, just as he sees the White God do it. He will be like the colored brother at a Republican convention: his voice will be heard to say, with raucous vehemence—'I'm a Catholic, but they must treat me right, or I'll raise h__ll.'

All of us know what the politicians did for the country, when they lifted Sambo into the electorate, and put the ballot in his hand. All of us know what the Days of Reconstruction were. But infinitely more threatening to Caucasian civilization, is the aggressive movement of the Latin Church to capture the Black hosts of this Union. Wherever popery has been carried by the Italians, Spaniards, and Portuguese—into contact with Negroes, and Indians, the people have been mongrelized, debased, pillaged, and enslaved [as in America today replete with majority savage Blacks and twenty million illegal Mexican Roman Catholic aliens].

It was so in South America, in Central America, in Mexico, in Cuba, and in Portugal [and France, all of them mongrelized, poverty-stricken, priestridden, Roman Catholic nations].

The Latins have not the racial aversion to amalgamation that we Caucasians have always had. Therefore, the Italian secret societies which rule Roman Catholicism with a rod of iron [the Jesuit Order in particular], have no conception of the abhorrence with which we regard the social equality of the Blacks, political equality with them, and intermarriage with them. In the eyes of the Italian cardinals who domineer over the Roman Catholics of the whole world [intending to destroy the Protestant West], the Negro is as good as you. In the eyes of the Negro, he is as good as you.

Now when these Black men are taught by White priests that they are your equals: and that, in being received into the priesthood, they are better than you, what are to be the ultimate consequences? I do not address this vital question to non-Catholics only: I most earnestly implore the Catholics themselves to consider it.

When you realize that everybody, in the Dark Ages, had to believe as Rome commanded, or be burnt alive, and that millions of the pope's slaves believe in the same stuff, even now, you may feel, as I do, the profoundly depressing fear of another cycle of Dark Ages [intended to be implemented here in North America by the Counter-Reformation Society of Jesus]. This Roman Church is the same at heart that it ever was. It is craftily growing in power, and is gradually compelling the acceptance of the Catholic censorship of news, books, plays, newspapers, magazines, and every other medium of publicity [via the Order's Rockefeller-financed Council on Foreign Relations]. If it can dictate what the people may read, it will in time mould opinion, destroy independent and dissenting propaganda, crib the mind within the rigid limits of a priest-ruled orthodoxy, close all the schools but its own, burn all books but its own, proclaim again that, 'Ignorance is the mother of devotion;' and build the scaffold, dig the dungeon, and pile the faggot for the fearless souls that will not bow to Rome. What has been done, once, can be done, again." {12} [Emphasis added]

"Allow no preeminence among your subjects. Let no man live who is wiser or better or more famous or even handsomer than the mass. Cut them all down to a level: all slaves, all ciphers [popish Social Security numbers], all nobodies, all equals. Thus Tyrants could practice, in a sense, 'democracy.' . . . An English politician remarked not long ago, 'A democracy does not want great men.' . . . And what we must realize is that 'democracy' in the diabolical sense (I'm as good as you, Being like [just] Folks, Togetherness) is the finest instrument we could possibly have for extirpating political democracies from the face of the earth [as this Cambridge University Professor, from which came the Order's "Cambridge Spy Ring," was familiar with the Jesuit Oath]. For 'democracy' or the 'democratic spirit' (diabolical sense) leads to a nation without great men, a nation mainly of subliterates, full of cocksureness which flattery breeds on ignorance, and quick to snarl or whimper at the first hint of criticism. And that is what Hell wishes every democratic people to be." {14} [Emphasis added]

Screwtape Proposes a Toast

The Jesuits had successfully waged a war between two sovereign nations, the United States of America and the Confederate States of America. The despots of the Jesuits' Holy Alliance had sided with the North, and thus, the Southern people fought the world. The deceived patriots of the North fought to "save the Union" but they in fact destroyed it, and on its ruins the Jesuits, with their Freemasons, would erect a new Union—a new United Socialist States of America. This new nation would be a Jesuit "democratic" socialist republic with the President, as Commander-in-Chief, exercising powers of an absolute Monarch. The old Calvinistic Federal Republic of Washington would be converted into a huge centralized Empire with the ten planks of the Masonic Communist Manifesto replacing The Ten Commandments of Moses. In order to accomplish this, the Constitution had to be amended—"by hook or by crook." It would be amended in accordance with the Masonic cry of both French Revolutions. "Liberty" would be the Thirteenth Amendment. "Equality" would be the Fourteenth Amendment. "Fraternity" would be the Fifteenth Amendment. We now will examine the forced ratification of the Fourteenth Amendment with all its tyranny and usurpation, as it was the coup d'etat.

On July 28, 1868 the Fourteenth Amendment was declared to be "ratified" by the Radicals in Washington. Since 1866 the Southern States had been under martial law and divided into five military districts. The districts were governed by five Union Generals beholden to the Jesuits, including General Benjamin F. Butler known as "Butler the Beast." The wicked, bigoted Thaddeus Stevens with his "Reconstruction Act" of 1866 had implemented martial law. And why? Because the Southern State governments, having ratified the Thirteenth Amendment, refused to ratify the Fourteenth Amendment. So the solution of the Radicals, to the disgrace of the Protestant ministers and people of the North, was to suspend the lawful State governments and impose martial law (absolutism). The only way the Southern States could be re-admitted into this new "Union of North American Socialist Republics," thereby ending martial law, was to "ratify" this new amendment. That is called "consent at the point of a bayonet" or rather, "forced conversion of heretics."

Why was the Fourteenth Amendment, forced on the South by the Radical, Communist, Red Republican Jacobins of the North, so important to the Jesuits and their despots of Europe, including apostate Protestant Queen Victoria of England whose policies were dictated by her Jesuit-controlled Prime Ministers, Lord John Russell and Viscount Palmerston? Section 1 of the Amendment reads:
"All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States [which "privileges and immunities" do not include ancient common law rights or the U.S. Constitution's Bill of Rights]; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws." {15}

The coup d'etat is in the first sentence. It made all persons born in the United States (excluding the Indian nations) citizens of the United States first and citizens of a State secondly. This reversed the original American citizenship. Senator James G. Blaine, one of the Order's Temporal Coadjutors (according to 1883 author Edwin A. Sherman) and Radical Red Republicans of the day, explained:

> "In the first place, we ask that they will agree to certain changes in the Constitution of the United States; and, to begin with, we want them to unite with us in broadening the citizenship of the Republic. The slaves recently emancipated by proclamation, and subsequently by Constitutional Amendment, have no civil status. They should be made citizens, and in making this extension of citizenship, we are not confining the breadth and scope of our efforts to the negro. It is for the white man as well. We intend to make citizenship National. Heretofore, a man has been a citizen of the United States because he was a citizen of some one of the States: Now, we propose to reverse that, and make him a citizen of any State where he chooses to reside, by defining in advance his National citizenship—and our Amendment declares that 'all persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States [first] and [secondly] of the States [State] wherein they reside.' " {16} [Emphasis added]

Years later our Jesuit-controlled Supreme Court, in describing the effect of the Fourteenth Amendment, would say the same as its radical authors.

> " 'In reviewing the subject,' ["Jesuitical"] Chief Justice White [according to our hero Jeremiah Crowley] said in the Selective Draft Law Cases, 245 US 366, 377, 388-389, ' . . . it broadened the national scope of the Government under the Constitution by causing citizenship of the United States to be paramount and dominant instead of being subordinate and derivative, and therefore, operating as it does upon all the powers conferred by the Constitution.' " {17} [Emphasis added]

Simply put, by reversing American citizenship and making it "National," all the powers of the government, specifically granted by the Constitution, were greatly increased. A new citizenship created a new government. All the executive, legislative and judicial powers in Washington were "broadened." So the radicals, pretending to do good to the Black freedman, used these freedmen to centralize and increase Rome's power in Washington with the Fourteenth Amendment.

(This is exactly what happened as a result of the Civil Rights movement during the 1960s. In seeking to concentrate more power in Washington under the guise of ending segregation in the South, the Jesuits using Freemasonry fomented the Civil Rights Agitation with their Black communist, Martin Luther (Lucifer) King. Once again, the using of deliberately agitated American Negroes conferred more power in Washington with the 1964 Civil Rights Act, enacted through a perversion of "The Commerce Clause" and written by one of Rome's most powerful priests in America with over one hundred earned and honorary degrees, CFR member Theodore M. Hesburgh. Race-mixing in the South would gradually become a reality accelerating the destruction of another White Protestant and Baptist "heretic" nation!)

Many Southern statesmen knew the true purpose of the Fourteenth Amendment. The former Vice-President of the Confederacy, Freemason Alexander Stephens, was one of them. He wrote:

> "These monstrous Reconstruction Measures, with all their enormities and fatal tendencies towards ultimate complete Centralism and Empire, are still based upon the assumption that the States, as separate integral parts, constitute members of what is still, in words, at least, acknowledged to be a Federal Union! All these bold usurpations of power are, upon their face, nothing but resorts to induce, or to compel, under duress, the Peoples of the several Southern States to go through the forms of adopting the Fourteenth Amendment . . ." {18} [Emphasis added]

Honest Freemason Alexander H. Stephens knew that the forced ratification of the Fourteenth Amendment would create a centralized Empire out of a federation of sovereign States. The President would exercise powers of a Monarch, the Congress would exercise powers of a Parliament and the Supreme Court would exercise powers of a King's Bench, having its jurisdiction extended to include anything and everything under the guise of the new "Federal Question Jurisdiction."

Federal Question Jurisdiction is an alien and foreign jurisdiction to the original Constitution. It created "judicial supremacy" in the Supreme Court, broadening its power of review to overturn laws and decisions of the several States. There are virtually no judicial decisions, state or federal, that cannot be appealed to the Supreme Court with a "Writ of Certiorari." With this all-encompassing jurisdiction and the thousands of appeals filed annually, the Jesuits at Georgetown University influence the Supreme Court as to which cases to hear. The ensuing decisions further the purpose of the Order in destroying White, Protestant American culture along with its popular self-government or "liberalism," as the Jesuits call it.

Remembering previous chapters, the Jesuits have avowed to destroy both Protestantism and Liberalism pursuant to their Jesuit Oath and Council of Trent.

In looking back, we Americans can see the evil decisions made possible by the Jesuits' "Federal Question Jurisdiction." Among others, it enabled the Supreme Court to force the religion of evolution down our throats, to force the integration of public schools when neither the Whites nor the Blacks wanted it; to legalize abortion and prohibit capital punishment overthrowing laws of the States to the contrary, and to outlaw Bible-reading and prayer in the "accursed public schools." For in prohibiting Bible-reading and prayer in the public schools, Protestant civilization is destroyed, and with it, popular self-government—to the delight of the Jesuit Order!!!

The Jesuits are absolutists. Therefore, the pagan governments they control must exercise absolute powers. Since rights limit powers, the rights of the citizens can be no more than privileges granted from absolute governments of nations past such as Babylon, Egypt, Greece and Rome. Ancient English liberties and common-law rights cannot be included. Such is the case with every socialist-communist government of today, be it the monarchy of Queen Elizabeth II, the military dictatorship of Castro or the democracy of Presidents William J. Clinton or George W. Bush, alias "King George II," a descendant of England's Stuart Dynasty.

Therefore, one more nail had to be driven into America's coffin. The Jesuits would not allow the powers newly given to Washington to be absolutely limited by the rights of its newly created national citizens, both White and Black. The "privileges and immunities" of this new Fourteenth Amendment citizenship had to be defined by the Supreme Court so as not to include fundamental or common-law rights. This happened on April 14, 1873 (the anniversary of the assassination of President Lincoln in the Ford's Theater "Slaughterhouse") with the decision given in the Slaughterhouse Cases, 83 US 36, 80 (1873). The decision truly slaughtered our rights. The court held:

> "We are of the opinion that the rights claimed by these plaintiffs in error [fundamental, common-law rights] if they have any existence [What arrogance!!!] are not privileges and immunities of citizens of the United States within the meaning of the clause of the fourteenth amendment under consideration." {19}

The Freemason, Justice Stephen J. Field, another hero and nearly assassinated by one of his California judicial brethren, strongly dissented. He declared:

> "The fundamental rights, privileges, and immunities which belong to him as a free man and a free citizen, now belong to him as a citizen of the United States, and are not dependent upon his citizenship of any State. . . . The Amendment does not attempt to confer any new privileges or immunities upon citizens, or to enumerate or define those already existing. It assumes that there are such privileges and immunities, which belong of right to citizens as such, and ordains that they shall not be abridged by state legislation. If this inhibition has no reference to privileges and immunities of this character, but only refers, as held by the majority of the court in their opinion, to such privileges and immunities as were, before its adoption, specially designated in the Constitution, or necessarily implied as belonging to citizens of the United States, it was a vain and idle enactment, which accomplished nothing, and most unnecessarily excited Congress and the people on its passage. . . . But, if the Amendment refers to the natural and inalienable rights which belong to all citizens, the inhibition has a profound significance and consequence." {20} [Emphasis added]

Field was correct but the radical Black Republicans prevailed. Slaughterhouse would be the precedent with which every following decision must agree. The Bill of Rights would not be considered as "privileges and immunities" of Fourteenth Amendment U.S. citizenship. But the two great dissenters through the years (both being Freemasons according to House Undivided by Allen Roberts (1961)) would be our heroes, Justice Stephen Field and Justice John Marshall Harlan from Kentucky. Harlan's great dissent in Maxwell v. Dow, 176 US 597, 607, 610, 611 (1899), given just before the turn of the Black Pope's "American Century" reads:

"It seems to me that the privileges and immunities enumerated in these [ten] amendments [Bill of Rights] belong to every citizen of the United States. They were universally so regarded prior to the adoption of the Fourteenth Amendment. . . . I take it no one doubts that the great men who laid the foundations of our government regarded the preservation of the privileges and immunities specified in the first ten Amendments as vital to the personal security of American citizens . . . But, if I do not wholly misapprehend the scope and legal effect of the present decision, the Constitution of the United States does not stand in the way of any state [or the new National Government in Washington, D.C.] striking down guaranties of life and liberty that English-speaking people have for centuries regarded as vital to personal security, and which the men of the revolutionary period universally claimed as the birthright of [American] freemen." {21} [Emphasis added]

This same question was again before the Court in 1908. In Twining v. New Jersey, 211 US 97, 105, 106 (1908), the majority opinion sealed forever the holding of the Slaughterhouse Cases. Proceeding as if it were England's King's Bench or the Pope's Sacred Rota, it arrogantly declared:

"This view is based upon the contention which must now be examined, that the safeguards of personal rights which are enumerated in the first eight articles of amendment to the Federal Constitution, sometimes called the Federal Bill of Rights though they were by those Amendments originally secured only against national action, are among the privileges and immunities of citizens of the United States, which this clause of the 14th Amendment protects against state action. This view has been, at different times, expressed by justices of this court . . . (Mr. Justice Field . . . and Mr. Justice Harlan . . .), and was undoubtedly that entertained by some of those who framed the Amendment.

[The Court then gives its Jesuitical, absolutist, tyrannical decree, opening the door for the Empire's future fascist Roman Catholic, military dictatorship.]

It is, however, not profitable to examine the weighty arguments in its favor, for the question is no longer open in the court. The right of trial by jury in civil cases, guaranteed by the 7th Amendment . . . and the right to bear arms, guaranteed by the 2nd Amendment, have been distinctly held not to be privileges and immunities of citizens of the United States, guaranteed by the 14th Amendment . . . the same decision was made in respect of the guaranty against prosecution, except by indictment of a grand jury, contained in the 5th Amendment . . . and in respect of the right to be confronted with witnesses, contained in the 6th Amendment . . . In Maxwell v. Dow, supra, where the plaintiff in error had been convicted in a state court of a felony upon an information, and by a jury of eight persons, it was held that the indictment, made indispensable by the 5th Amendment, and the trial by jury, guaranteed by the 6th Amendment, were not privileges and immunities of citizens of the United States, as those words were used in the 14th Amendment. The discussion in that case ought not to be repeated. All the arguments for the other view were considered and answered . . . the decision rested upon the ground that this clause of the 14th Amendment did not forbid the states to abridge the personal rights enumerated in the first eight Amendments, because those rights were not within the meaning of the clause 'privileges and immunities of citizens of the United States.' " [And if the states are not forbidden to abridge the personal rights enumerated in the first eight Amendments, then, logically, neither is the National government forbidden to do likewise! What a sly accomplishment was this deceptive coup d'etat of the Black Pope!] {22} [Emphasis added]

Dear truth-seeker, the rights of the people limit the powers of the government. If the people have no absolute rights of citizenship, the rulers have absolute powers of government. This is precisely what the Radical Red Republican Supreme Court accomplished for the Jesuit Order when it overthrew the absolute rights of American citizens, secured by the pen and sword of Protestant Calvinist freemen.

The Slaughterhouse Cases reduced each one of us to the status of a feudal, Roman Catholic serf to whom, upon birth and baptism, is granted privileges and immunities of citizenship from the all-powerful National Government and Church of Rome. The government is ruled by its Commander-in-Chief (now overseen by a Papal Nuncio) and the Church is ruled by its "infallible" Papal Caesar of Rome, both of which are mere puppets of the General of the Jesuits, the Black Pope.

Summing it up, by 1868 the Jesuits, with their radical Republicans Thaddeus Stevens and Charles Sumner, had forced the Fourteenth Amendment on the peoples of the States, North and South. According to Federal Colonel Edwin Allen Sherman, author The Engineer Corps of Hell (1883), the Jesuits had worked through another Republican, James G. Blaine ("the liar from the State of Maine"), for the "ruination of the Republic." They had created a new nation as a result of creating a new citizenship. By 1873 the Jesuits, with their radicals on the Supreme Court, had made the powers of both the Federal (now National) and State governments absolute, limited only by decisions of their respective King's Benches—the Federal (now National) and State Supreme Courts. The transition from a Presbyterian form of government to a Roman Catholic form of government had been accomplished. And how did they do that? By declaring that the Bill of Rights were not privileges and immunities of Fourteenth Amendment citizenship, thereby overthrowing the ancient liberties of White, English-speaking, Protestant and Baptist-Calvinist freemen.

Indeed, the words of Jesuit-trained Pope Leo XIII have come to pass. The Constitution of the United States has been modeled to the principles of the Roman Catholic Church. This is the foundation of the American Empire's coming fascist military dictator, martial law, Concordat with Rome and mass-execution of a mixed people having corrupted themselves and whose iniquity has come to the full.

The injustice of an absolutist, robbing people of their liberties and giving to them privileges in their stead, is not new. Nimrod, the Black antichrist of the Old Testament, had done this to the people of Babylon. We read:

> "Though by setting up as king, Nimrod [now the Pope] invaded the patriarchal system, and abridged the liberties of mankind, yet he was held by many to have conferred benefits upon them, that amply indemnified them for the loss of their liberties, and covered him with glory and renown . . . he was the first that abridged the liberties of mankind as the grand 'Emancipator!' " [Rome used President Andrew Johnson to this end!] {23}

The "New Republic" in a "New Era" deserves a "New Name." From now on the United States will be called "Fourteenth Amendment America," "the American Empire" or "the Holy Roman American Empire" composed of "the Union of American/Soviet Socialist Republics" or rather, "the United Socialist States of North America" which apparently now include predominantly Roman Catholic Canada and Roman Catholic Mexico through the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA), heavily promoted by Cardinal O'Connor's Knight of Malta and secret Kennedy assassin, Roman Catholic Lee Iacocca! For as the Jesuits in 1852 overthrew the Second Republic of France and imposed an Empire fully intended to fight the Papal Caesar's crusades led by Napoleon III, so they agitated and overthrew the blessed, White Anglo-Saxon Protestant Republic in America with the "American Civil War." On its ruins, the Sons of Loyola erected an Evil Socialist-Communist Empire (via the Fourteenth Amendment in 1868) and perfected it in 1933 with their 33rd Degree Freemason, FDR, using his socialist-communist New (dirty) Deal endorsed by Jesuit-controlled Charles E. Coughlin along with Priests John Ryan and Monsignor Francis J. Haas of Catholic University of America. The Society of Jesus, with their vile, "Holy Alliance" of White tyrants serving the Pope, had won. As unbelievable as the world's headlines read in 1960, "Eichmann in Jerusalem," even so the world moved ever closer to the same kind of shock and surprise when the Pope, "whose deadly wound was healed" and thus adored by the International Press, will also suddenly appear in Jerusalem!

From this time forward, we, the American people, both White and Black, as well as Oriental, would never go to war with England again. But rather, we would be brainwashed and incited to fight alongside of our royalist English foe in World War I and World War II—the Jesuit General's Second Thirty Years' War.

Freemason Alexander H. Stephens (1812 – 1883), 1860s #173

Vice President of the Confederate States of America, 1861 – 1865

An invalid from infancy and orphaned at the age of fourteen, this native low-level Freemason of the Sovereign State of Georgia defended the biblical concept of White Supremacy and Negro Subordination when both races must share the same soil. (Today, as a result of the Order's continual socialist-communist "Negro Agitation," the solution to America's race problem would be the creation of a sovereign Black Nation within North America in which Blacks alone would comprise the population and administer their government.) Therefore he, like James Buchanan, opposed the "Anti-slavery Agitation" in Congress as a usurpation of the Right of Georgia to regulate its own domestic institution of slavery. He consented to the Compromise of 1850 premised upon the terrible Missouri Compromise of 1820, authored by the centralist and Freemason Henry Clay, which ignored the warning of George Washington's Farewell Address, the Jesuits effectively dividing the Union in half preparing it for war. Stephens defended the right of any State to secede citing the Ratifications of New York, Rhode Island and Virginia. In his masterpiece, A Constitutional View of the Late War Between the States published in 1867 while Georgia was yet under martial law, he warned that if the Fourteenth Amendment was ratified it would create a centralized Empire composed of mere consolidated provinces out of what had been a Federated Republic of Sovereign Nation States, further preparing the way for the Universal Monarchial Rule of One Man—the risen Papal Caesar.

Jesuit Coadjutor Charles Sumner (1811 – 1874), 1860s #174

U.S. Senator from Massachusetts, 1851 – 1856; 1860 – 1874

This heartless criminal was an uncompromising absolutist and the most radical of the Order's Radical Red Republicans and Reconstructionists of the North.

The leading voice in the Senate, he advocated the wholesale theft of the Calvinist South during the Black Popes War of Northern Aggression. Previously, he had toured Europe and personally visited with that monster and continental tyrant of Austria, Knight of Malta Prince von Metternich.

Controlled by the Jesuits teaching the Canon law doctrine of Pope Gregory VII (1073-1085), that "it is no murder to kill a heretic," Sumner was sent to the US Senate by the Jesuits controlling Boston to advocate a "higher law" than the Bible of our Protestant Republic, The Authorized King James Version of 1611, and the Constitution of the United States, as these sacred documents both regulated and protected the master/slave relationship defended by Christ Himself. In leveling the Maledominant, White Protestant Middle Class, the Jesuits would reduce all Whites, Blacks, Men and Women to medieval political equality by wickedly imposing Satan's Marxian communism, the economic system of the Pope's Dark Ages, resulting in more centralized fascist power in "Rome on the Potomac."

This evil man holds the distinction of being one of the founders of the Black Pope's "Holy Roman" Fourteenth Amendment American Empire, it having been used to restore the Temporal Power of the Pope around the world by means of deceptive, Jesuit/CFR diplomacy and universal war throughout the Twentieth Century.

Jesuit Coadjutor Thaddeus Stevens (1792 – 1868), 1860s

U.S. Congressman from Lancaster, Pennsylvania, 1858 – 1868

We are at a loss for words in describing the dismal, diabolical and demoralizing depravity of this singular man. While living with his Roman Catholic mulatto concubine during his dictatorship in Congress and having obtained a Congressional appropriation of 32,000 dollars for the Order's "Sisters of Charity," he was the great tool of the Jesuits in creating their socialist-communist monster of the Twentieth Century, Fourteenth Amendment America.

He was called a "traitor" by President Andrew Johnson while he "destroyed the government of the Old Union, changed its form and spirit, and made a new Union with new theories and new powers." Illuminist Horace Greeley, one of Stevens' masters, adds, "We have brought all laborers to a common level . . . by reducing the whole working population, white and black, to a condition of serfdom." On his deathbed this old communist "commoner" was baptized into the Roman Catholic Institution for a job well done in obedience to the Papal Caesar's tyrannical Holy Alliance and the Black Pope's evil Council of Trent. In accordance with his wishes, Stevens was buried in a "Negro cemetery," his last socialist-communist declaration being "the equality of man before his Maker."

"The Grave of the Union"

Democratic Cartoon Depicting the Order's Radical Republicans, 1864 #176

The Communist overthrow of the Republic created the fascist American Empire.

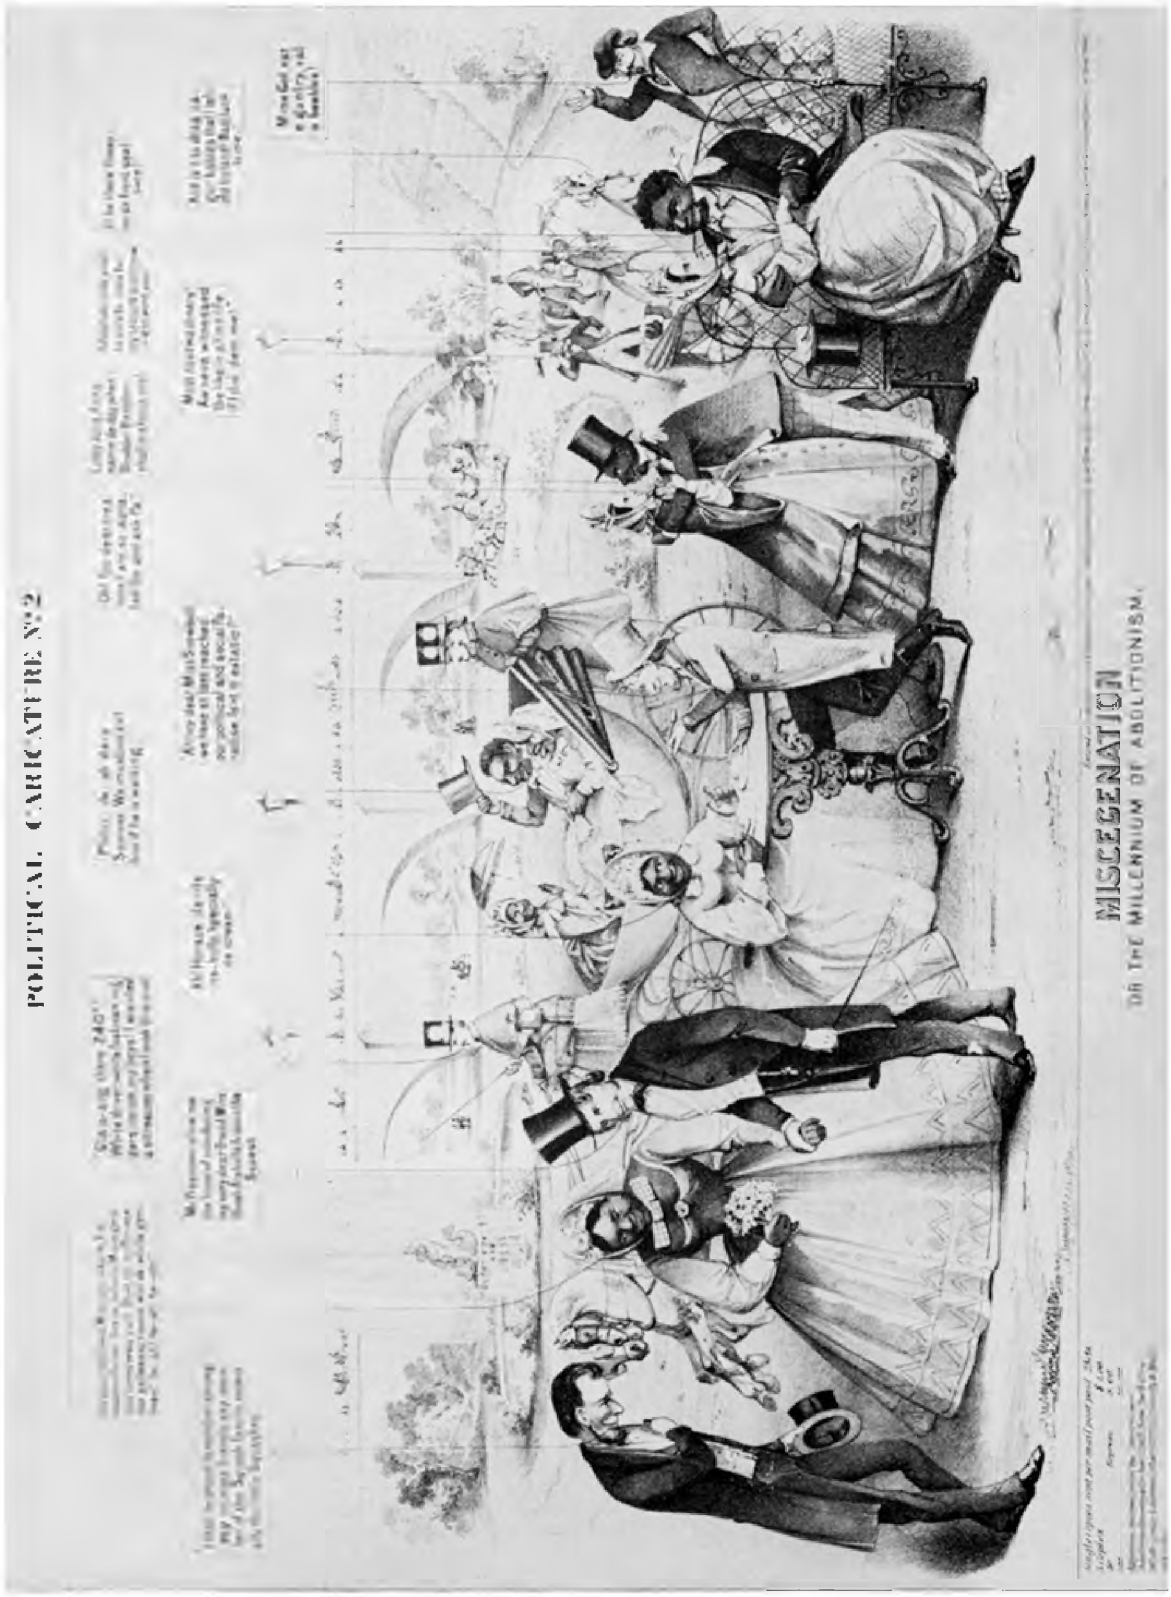
"The Grave of the Union"

Democratic Cartoon Depicting the Order's Radical Republicans, 1864

To the left we have a pro-State Rights, anti-Centralist, anti-Consolidation Democratic political cartoon illustrating the most rabid, Radical Red/Black Republicans responsible for destroying the Reformation-based, Protestant Republican "Union as it was." These American Jacobins, or rather Marxian Socialist-Communists having conducted the Jesuit Order's Federal "war of annihilation" against the essentially Old Protestant South, were led by the caped Henry Ward Beecher (1813-1887), a radical abolitionist and a Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor. Beecher, whose sister, Harriet Beecher Stowe, affixed her name to the Jesuit-promoted Uncle Tom's Cabin, was an apostate Presbyterian turned Congregationalist minister who rejected the Bible of the English Protestant Reformation, the King James Bible of 1611, as the "final authority of faith and practice." Being one of the most influential "Protestant" orators of his day and condemning the Biblically sanctioned and circumscribed institution of slavery, Beecher advocated radical emancipation of all Black Southern slaves (which emancipation was intended to destroy the South and justify socialism) rather than Virginia's Jeffersonian-Monrovian policy of gradual emancipation and resettlement back to Africa, Monrovia having been built by White Biblebelieving Calvinist Protestants for that purpose. Later, Beecher backed apostate Baptist Thaddeus Stevens' Communist Reconstruction of the Protestant South, which ensuing martial law, rape, murder and plunder of both Whites and Blacks further destroyed the high, moral, well-ordered Southern culture. Beecher, united with another firebrand agitator and "Jesuit of the short robe," mulatto freedman Frederick Douglass, campaigned for women's suffrage, beginning the destruction of Biblical, male-dominant culture of both the North and the South.

Beecher also denied Biblical Creation in contending for the pseudo-science of Darwinian evolution, and insidiously advanced the Company's Counter-Reformation by defending the wicked, rationalistic and revolutionary theory of "Higher Textual Criticism" of the Majority Greek Text underlying the blessed Authorized Version of 1611. In exhorting these scornful and depraved men—Lincoln's Radical Red/Black Republicans under the influence of Prince Metternich's European Holy Alliance—Henry Ward Beecher buried President George Washington's White Calvinist, anti-divine right, anti-absolutist, anti-Council of Trent, Presbyterian-modeled, Federal/Confederate Constitution.

Upon the smoking and bloody ruins of the Republic riddled with the graves of nearly 700,000 Federal and Confederate soldiers, the Black Pope's Fourteenth Amendment American Empire was founded, for which primary reason the Society of Jesus, in control of the leaders on both sides, ignited the War Between the States. With the "Old Union" buried, a "New Union" born in 1868 and a "New Era" begun in 1876, Washington, D. C. was now "in the lap of Rome."



"MISCEGENATION; Or, The Millennium of Abolitionism," 1864 #177

Destroying America's White race as part of the Order's Counter-Reformation

The Civil War and Reconstruction, J. G. Randall and David Donald, (Boston: D. C. Heath and Co., 1961).

"MISCEGENATION: Or, The Millennium of Abolitionism," 1864

Perceiving that the socialist-communist policies of the Order's Radical Red Republicans would lead to ultimate "universal equality" between Whites and Blacks, which legal equality would lead to forced integration, Black physical supremacy and thus the cursed, racial miscegenation having destroyed the Spanish Empire, the Democrats of the North and South fought against compulsory race-mixing. Preferring repatriation back to Africa, they knew that no amalgamated people of color could ever successfully resist the brilliant and relentless empirical machinations of the Black Pope's White Gentile, pro-Roman Catholic Blue-bloods of the Holy Alliance, which nobles secretly included the British monarchs. Thus, while the Company flooded the Northern cities with its most devoted Irish Roman Catholic immigrants who in turn were given control of both the political and economic might of the Pope's new "Holy Roman" Fourteenth American Empire (via the Knights of Columbus established in 1882), the Blacks of the Roman Catholic-controlled Northern cities were deliberately prevented from returning to Africa and were confined to slums, where illiterate, unbearable and hopeless conditions gave way to prostitution, alcoholism, drug addiction and cheap labor. This Popish exploitation of non-Roman Catholic "heretic" Blacks so condemned by the Order's Council of Trent, inured to the benefit of gigantic, amoral, Jesuit-controlled, Fourteenth Amendment-protected corporations, the Pope's Italian Mafia and his Irish liquor lords—including the Kennedys—overseen by America's Roman Hierarchy. These conditions were then deceitfully blamed on "White Anglo Saxon Protestants" by the Order's Masonically-controlled and FBI-protected Black Nation of Islam, it to be used as a future spearhead in a race war intended to unite all Whites against a common Muslim enemy of color in the midst of absolutist martial law. At the other extreme, the Jesuits began their Second Reconstruction with the twelve-year dictatorship of FDR, they controlling both the Commander-in-Chief and the Supreme Court, and thus the Civil Rights Movement via both Freemasonry and the Archbishop of New York's Council on Foreign Relations. Advancing forced amalgamation and thus resultant miscegenation cunningly calculated to destroy the Reformation's high, White Protestant American race and culture, the Sons of Loyola, via federal bayonets, brutally integrated the public schools (so accursed and forever condemned by Rome) in 1954; they militarily enforced commercial integration via President Johnson's 1964 Civil Rights Act cleverly enacted via the Commerce Clause, which Act further lowered the quality of goods and services by legally enabling Blacks to cry "racial discrimination" when corrected for a lack of specific job performance (thereby creating a myriad of lawsuits further destroying private, small, White businesses); and they overturned the laws of fifteen States thereby legalizing interracial marriage in 1967. Thanks to the bewitching Jesuit Theater and its CFR-controlled Press, "The Millennium of Abolitionism" has now arrived for every White Protestant nation on Earth.

Chapter 28
The Jesuits — 1865

Assassination of President Abraham Lincoln
Supreme Jesuitism and Subordinate Freemasonry Work Together
Assassins: Jesuit Bernadine F. Wiget; Masonic President Andrew Johnson; Masonic Secretary of War Edwin M. Stanton

"Jesuits are good haters. Those who are not for them are against them, and are treated correspondingly. It makes no difference whether a man is a Catholic, priest, bishop, or even Pope [evidenced by the hundreds of "liberal" Roman Catholic priests murdered by the Jesuits in their Nazi/SS-controlled concentration camps, not to mention the public trial and killing one of their own professed brethren, the anti-Middle Class Communist, Jesuit Priest Alfred Delp, in maintaining the international illusion that the Society was against Pope Pius XII's Jesuit-led Third Reich]. Indeed the more influential and orthodox the opponent, the greater the obligation to be on the Jesuit side, and if he is not [as was Kaiser Wilhelm II], so much the greater justification for hating him." {1} [Emphasis added]

Count Paul von Hoensbroech, 1911
German Noble and Ex-Jesuit Fourteen Years a Jesuit

" 'I am so glad to meet you again,' he said: 'you see that your friends, the Jesuits have not yet killed me. But they would have surely done it when I passed through their most devoted city, Baltimore, had I not defeated their plans, by passing incognito a few hours before they expected me . . . '

'New projects of assassination are detected almost every day, accompanied with such savage circumstances, that they bring to my memory the Massacre of St. Bartholomew and the Gunpowder Plot. We feel, at their investigation, that they come from the same masters in the art of murder, the Jesuits . . . So many plots have already been made against my life, that it is a real miracle that they have all failed, when we consider that the great majority of them were in the hands of skillful Roman Catholic murderers, evidently trained by the Jesuits.' " {2} [Emphasis added]

Abraham Lincoln, 1864
16th President of the United States
Speaking with Protestant American
Ex-Priest Charles Chiniquy

"Twenty men had been hired in Baltimore to assassinate the President elect on his way to Washington. The leader of this band was an Italian [Roman Catholic] refugee, a barber well known in Baltimore. Their plan was as follows: when Mr.

Lincoln arrived in that city, the assassins were to mix with the crowd and get as near his person as possible, and shoot at him with their pistols. If he was in a carriage, hand grenades had been prepared, filled with detonating powder, such as [later guillotined, Felice] Orsini used in attempting to assassinate [the Order's most obedient] Louis Napoleon [and as the Order's "anarchists" would use in the assassination of Tzar Alexander II]. These were to be thrown into the carriage, and to make the work of death doubly sure, pistols were to be discharged into the vehicle at the same moment. The assassins had a vessel lying ready to receive them in the harbour. From thence they would be carried to Mobile, in the seceded state of Alabama." {3} [Emphasis added]

John Smith Dye, 1866
American Historian
History of the Plots and Crimes of the Great Conspiracy to Overthrow Liberty in America

"Let us strive to combine the calmness of reason with the fire of enthusiasm. . . . Let us, therefore, become perfect in the art of loading the proud and the powerful with chains. Let us lay to heart this maxim as the rule of all our efforts:—one sole authority—that of Rome; one sole Order—that of the Jesuits. And since our age does not boast of a single mind capable of aspiring to universal empire, . . . let it be ours to aim thus high, whilst empty heads are dreaming. . . . Let not any opportunity escape us of observing what are men's tendencies; the better we know them the more useful they will be as instruments in our hands. Let us, at all events, so conduct ourselves that our future glory may compensate for our present abasement; for whether our name be destined to perish, or finally to prevail over kings and nations, let it, at least, be synonymous with the loftiest reach of greatness and daring which the world has ever seen or ever will see. Yes! When future generations read our story, and learn what we have been, let them be forced to assimilate us, not with mankind, but with those cosmogonic agencies which God [Satan] only puts in motion when it is his pleasure to change the laws of the universe." {4} [Emphasis added]

Jesuit General Aloysius Fortis, 1825
Spoken in Secret Council
The Jesuit Conspiracy: The Secret Plan of the Order

"It would be an error to suppose that the decrees of the Council of 1869-70 [Vatican I] stood by themselves in the history of the Papacy, as a sudden manifestation of Jesuit supremacy. On the contrary, in the Encyclical [Quanta Cura], which contains the Syllabus of propositions condemned by the Papacy [the Syllabus of Errors, 1864, one year prior to Lincoln's assassination], the Pope declares, that the condemnation of these [eighty] propositions forms a summary of the policy of his Pontificate; and this is true, as respects the conduct he has pursued since his flight to Gaeta from republican Rome in 1848, and his final subordination to Jesuit direction, which appears to have been consummated at that period. . . .

Perhaps our readers may wish to know at a glance what the Syllabus is. The Syllabus consists of some eighty propositions on Religion, Politics, and Morality; every one of which is now to be held by devout Roman Catholics, as condemned by an infallible authority, which is as binding on their consciences, as are the doctrines of the Bible on the consciences of others. The Syllabus treats the Papal authority as supreme. . . . That no country may be deceived, that no sovereign be left ignorant, here, given in full detail, is the declared judgment of him who is the sovereign ruler of millions of minds.

1st. To his rule and laws all the nations of the world must bow.
2nd. All sovereigns hold their thrones, all people pay their allegiance, on condition that they believe the Creed of Rome, and practise its worship.
3rd. There is no religion but that of Rome, and no other faith is to be held or allowed. Liberty of conscience is prohibited. Toleration of other religions is a crime against society.
4th. All sovereigns, who are Protestants, are heretics; and heresy is a crime for which they ought to be deposed.
5th. All free thought and free speech on religion are criminal. Liberty of the press and of worship are to be put down.

This is the Creed, and, where it has the power, the practice of Rome. It is impossible to conceive of a document more deeply fraught with the essence of despotism." {5} [Emphasis added]

"The Encyclical and Syllabus of 1864"
A Glimpse of the Great Secret Society

"The organization of the Hierarchy is a complete military despotism, of which the Pope is the ostensible head; but of which, the Black Pope, is the real head. The Black Pope is the head of the Order of the Jesuits, and is called a General. He not only has the absolute command of his own Order, but directs and controls the general policy of the Church. He is the power behind the throne, and is the real potential head of the Hierarchy.

The whole machine is under the strictest rules of military discipline. The whole thought and will of this machine, to plan, propose and execute, is found in its head. There is no independence of thought, or of action, in its subordinate parts. Implicit and unquestioning obedience to the orders of superiors in authority, is the sworn duty of the priesthood of every grade; just as it is the duty of officers in the army; and as much the duty of the laity to their priests, as it is of the rank and file in an army to their immediate commanders.

There is a complete chain of responsibility, extending from the head all the way down to the membership. Thus the whole vast organization can be wielded, as a unit, to accomplish the plans and purposes of its head. The priest is virtually an intellectual slave to his bishop, the bishop to his archbishop, and these again to the cardinals, and all, finally, to the Popes, white and black [the Jesuit Superior General ruling not only the Company, but the Pope, the Hierarchy and the entire Papal System]. . . .

The Jesuit plans with the utmost art and cunning, unhampered by any moral restraints, and always with the utmost secrecy; and carries out his plans in the dark. We think; however, that in this case, we have succeeded in tracing him through all the devious wanderings of his dark and slimy path, and, in fixing upon him the responsibility for the assassination of President Lincoln. . . .

Our inquiry then, thus far, has established the fact that five of the conspirators were members of the Roman Catholic Church and that these five were its leaders, to whom the execution of the plot had been confided.

We have also seen that their meeting place, or council chamber, in Washington, whilst engaged in perfecting their arrangements for the assassinations that had been determined upon, was the dwelling place and under the control of Mrs. Mary Surratt and John H. Surratt, her son; both of whom were zealous slaves of the Pope, and clearly proven, by the evidence given before the [Military] Commission and by that given two years later, on the trial of John H. Surratt in a civil court, to have been leading and active members of the conspiracy. . . .

One of these [priests having testified as to the "Christian character" of Mary Surratt], Father Wiget [Jesuit Bernardine F. Wiget], was Mary Surratt's pastor during all this time, and testified that he knew her well; but did not know whether she was loyal [to the Northern Union] or disloyal.

This would seem to be very doubtful testimony, as Father Wiget was noted for his disloyalty [the Jesuits working within both factions of the war, while the Black Pope's Roman Hierarchy, led by Pope Pius IX, was ordered to openly ally itself with the leaders of the Southern Confederacy, with which treasonous Confederate leaders the Hierarchy had secretly collaborated in purposing to lose the war and thereby use the Republican armies to destroy White Protestant Southern civilization. This same policy would be followed during the Order's Second Thirty Years' War (1914-1945) in the destruction of Protestant Prussia and Old Catholic Bavaria, the Roman Hierarchy, led by Pope Pius XII, openly allying—via a Concordat—with the leaders of the Nazi Third Reich, with which treasonous Nazi leaders the Hierarchy had secretly collaborated in purposing to lose the war and thereby use the Allied armies to destroy Protestant Prussian and anti-Vatican I, anti-Papal Infallibility, Old Catholic German civilization.]; . . .

He said he had become acquainted with her through having had the care of two of her sons as his pupils; one of these was serving in the rebel army, and the other, John H. Surratt, had been a rebel emissary and spy for three years, passing back and forth between Washington and Richmond, and from Richmond to Canada and back, as a bearer of dispatches, and yet, this Jesuitical priest, endeavored to shape his testimony as to leave the impression that the topics of conversation between himself and Mrs. Surratt, whilst all this was going on, and much more, was confined to such topics as the state of her health, the weather, etc. . . .

We cannot help thinking that all of these holy or unholy Fathers testified under the well understood mental reservations of the Jesuits. Father Wiget was, as we have said, her pastor, and so, we take it, was her confessor. We cannot think it at all probable that she would have engaged in a conspiracy fraught with so much danger to her, and such grave consequences hereafter, without having confided to him her terrible secret; nor without his approval.

It certainly is rather strange that she should have broken her relations with him after her conviction, and taken [non-Jesuit] Father [Jacob A.] Walter for her confessor and spiritual guide in her preparation for death.

There must have been a grave reason for this change; and it was made for her, by these Jesuit priests, for some important reason. It is not at all likely that at such a time, and under such solemn circumstances, she would have made this change from her pastor to another priest with whom she had not had any previous acquaintance, of her own volition. Had she been innocent, her trusted pastor would have been the one to whom she naturally would have looked for consolation. But Wiget had no doubt told her that she would incur no guilt in aiding the conspiracy, and so to Walter she could declare her innocence, having the faith of a Catholic in Wiget's power to grant her a dispensation. . . . There was to be a great effort made to get a commutation, or reversal of her sentence; and the strong plea of the Father was to be based on this assertion of her innocence. Failing in this, Father Walter, for thirty years, persisted in his efforts to fix upon the government the stigma of having murdered an innocent woman. . . .

We now come to the trial of John H. Surratt before a civil court. . . . The hand of the Jesuit is everywhere traceable throughout the history of this trial; and by that hand, one of the most important trials that the history of American jurisprudence records, was well nigh turned into a farce by the skill and cunning of the defense. The cunning of the Jesuit was exercised in the preparations made in advance, to make sure of acquittal of the accused.

The law of Congress, specifying particularly how juries to try cases in the criminal court, in the District of Columbia, should be secured, was entirely ignored, in some of its most important essential particulars. Counsel for the defense had been selected with special care. There were three of these: Mr. Merrick and the two Bradleys, Sr. and Jr. Of these, only one, Mr. Merrick, was a member of the Roman Catholic Church. . . . A jury was finally obtained, through a two-days effort and as the prosecution desired to remove, as far as possible, all religious and political considerations, and influences, from the trial, a considerable number of Roman Catholics were accepted on this jury. The trial then proceeded. . . .

The result was a hung jury. The author was informed by a very intelligent man, who took a prominent part in this trial, that, meeting one of the jurors, who appeared to be a very frank and intelligent man, on the day after the trial, he asked him if he felt free to tell how the jury stood. He replied that they were very nearly equally divided for conviction and acquittal. He then asked him if they did not think that he was proven guilty. 'Oh, yes,' he replied, 'we thought he was proven guilty, but we thought his conviction would be a triumph for the [Republican] Radicals, and we thought that the hanging of his mother [Mary Surratt] was about enough.' . . ." {6} [Emphasis added]

Rome's Responsibility for the Assassination of Abraham Lincoln

"TALLEYRAND, one of the most celebrated Roman Catholic bishops of France, once said, 'Language is the art of concealing one's thoughts.' Never was there a truer expression, if it had reference to the awful deceptions practiced by the Church of Rome under the pompous name of 'Theological studies.' . . . The principal theologians which we had in our hands were 'Les Conferences d'Anger,' Bailly, [Peter] Dens, St. Thomas [Aquinas], but above all [Alfonso] Liguori, who has since been canonized. Never did I open one without offering up a fervent prayer to God and to the Virgin Mary for the light and grace of which I would be in need for myself and for the people whose pastor I was to become.

But how shall I relate my surprise when I discovered that, in order to accept the principles of the theologians which my Church gave me for guides I had to put away all principles of truth, of justice, of honour and holiness! What long and painful efforts it cost me to extinguish, one by one, the lights of truth and of reason kindled by the hand of my merciful God in my intelligence. For to study theology in the Church of Rome signifies to learn to speak falsely, to deceive, to commit robbery, to perjure one's self! It means how to commit sins without shame; it means to plunge the soul into every kind of iniquity and turpitude without remorse! . . . These very men who corrupted my heart, perverted my intelligence and poisoned my soul, as they have done with each and every priest of their Church, will be my witnesses. I will just now forcibly bring them before the world to testify against themselves.

Liguori, in his treatise on oaths . . . asks himself, 'Whether the accused legitimately interrogated, can deny a crime, even with an oath, if the confession of the crime would be attended with great disadvantage.' The saint replies: ' . . . that the accused, if in danger of death, or of prison, or of perpetual exile, the loss of all property, the danger of the galleys, and such like, can deny the crime even with an oath [as did Mary Surratt on the advice of her pastor, Jesuit priest Bernadine F. Wiget] . . . '

Liguori asks whether a woman, accused of the crime of adultery [or, by logical extension, of the crime of murder], which she has really committed, may deny it under oath? He answers: 'She is able to assert equivocally that she did not break the bond of matrimony, which truly remains. And if sacramentally she confessed adultery [or murder], she can answer, 'I am innocent of this crime,' because by confession [to a priest, supposedly possessing the Pope's power to forgive sins] it was taken away. So Card, who, however, here remarks that she cannot affirm it with an oath, because in asserting anything the probability of a deed suffices, but in swearing certainty is required. To this it is replied that in swearing moral certainty suffices, as we said above [the term "moral certainty" having been used by Dallas District Attorney Henry Wade in describing the "guilt" of Lee Harvey Oswald as being the lone assassin of President John F. Kennedy]. Which moral certainty of the remission of sin can indeed be had, when any [Roman Catholic], morally well disposed, receives the sacrament of penance.' . . .

The Roman Catholics have not only the right, but it is their duty to kill heretics. . . . Every heretic and Protestant is condemned to death, and every oath of allegiance to a government which is Protestant or heretic is abrogated by the Council of Lateran, held in 1215. . . .

'Catholics [including SS Reichsfuhrer Heinrich Himmler] who shall assume the cross [the Masonic swastika] for the extermination of heretics [Protestant Germans, Orthodox Slavs and European Jews] shall enjoy the same indulgences and be protected by the same privileges [escaping Allied justice through the Pope's Vatican Ratlines overseen by the Jesuit Order] as are granted to those who go to the help of the Holy Land.' . . .

'I wish I had never opened a book of theology. Our theologians are without heart, soul or logic. Many of them approve of theft, lies and perjury; others drag us [candidates for the priesthood] without a blush, into the most filthy pits of iniquity. Every one of them would like to make an assassin of every Catholic. According to their doctrine, Christ is nothing but a Corsican brigand, whose bloodthirsty disciples are bound to destroy all the heretics with fire and sword. Were we acting according to the principles of those theologians, we would slaughter all Protestants [and Jews] with the same coolness of blood as we would shoot down the wolf which crosses our path. With their hand still reddened with the blood of St. Bartholomew, they speak to us of charity, religion and God, as if there were neither of them in the world [the priesthood being in fact practical atheism].' . . .

But why let my memory and my thoughts linger any longer in these frightful paths, here murderers, liars, perjurers and thieves are assured by the theologians of the Church of Rome that they can lie, steal, murder and perjure themselves as much as they like, without offending God, provided they commit those crimes according to certain rules approved by the Pope for the good of the Church!" {7}[Emphasis added]

Fifty Years In the Church of Rome

"John Harrison Surratt, [Jr.] the nineteen-year-old son of Mrs. Mary E. Surratt, who was chosen by the Jesuits as the arch conspirator in the assassination of Abraham Lincoln, had studied three years in preparation for the Roman priesthood at the Sulpician Fathers monastery, at Charles County, Maryland, previous to the breaking out of the Civil war. The Sulpician Fathers is a branch of the Jesuit Order. . . .

That John Harrison Surratt was cool, clever, calculating and crafty, far in advance of his years, is shown by the fact that at the very beginning of the rebellion he was selected to do important work in the Southern secret service, bearing the most important dispatches from Jefferson Davis [educated in Kentucky by Dominicans at St. Thomas College, Father Wallace in particular, who later became the Bishop of Nashville] at Richmond to his agents at Washington [including Freemason Edwin M. Stanton's War Department in control of Federal Generals in the field] and to the members of his 'kitchen cabinet' in Montreal, Canada [Montreal being the Jesuit nursery and powerhouse for all of North America]. . . .

When Mr. Davis had been arrested after the close of the Civil War and was to be tried for treason, it was the distinguished Catholic attorney, Charles O'Connor, of New York City, who offered his services, which were accepted in

Mr. Davis' defense [which defense resulted in the case being dropped, Davis dying in the Order's New Orleans in 1889!]. . . .

This boy, (for we must remember that he was but in his teens, at his entrance into this plot) was never free from the espionage and evil influence of the Romish church from his baptism in infancy to the day of his death at the age of seventy-two years. When he was but twelve years old he was placed in Gonzaga College, Washington, D.C., a Catholic preparatory school, under the tutorage of [Jesuit] Priest [Bernardine F.] Wiget, who was the confessor for years of both himself and his mother.

After leaving Gonzaga College he spent two years at Georgetown in the Jesuit College before leaving for the Sulpician Fathers monastery. I am calling the attention of the reader to this fact when you come to pass judgment on this young man, that you may place the blame for his conduct where it belongs—on the Jesuit psychology inculcated by the priests of the Roman Church. . . . During Surratt's theological training he had studied St. Thomas Aquinas, who justifies the assassination of heretics, or any one who apostacises from the Romish church. . . .

[From the time John Harrison Surratt, Jr., met John Wilkes Booth in Washington a few days before Christmas, 1864] . . . John Booth was a constant visitor at the Surratt home on H Street, which was the rendezvous of the conspirators up to the very day of the assassination. It was also the Mecca of various Roman Catholic priests, among whom were the Reverends Walter and Wiget of St. Patrick's Church, 10th and G Streets, of which the Surratts were members. . . . Edwin A. Sherman, Past Grand Registrar of the Grand Consistory of the Thirty-third Degree of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry of the State of California, in his book, entitled The Engineer Corps of Hell, on page 213, has this to say:

'It has been told to us, coming from what we believe to be true authority, that Booth, about three weeks before he committed the crime, was admitted to the Roman Catholic Church, and privately received the sacraments from no less a personage than Archbishop [Martin J.] Spaulding himself, which he did to silence any conscientious scruples that he might have in taking Abraham Lincoln's life, and that he might have the whole influence and sympathy of persons in that faith in protecting and concealing himself when the act was done, to aid him in it [including the Jesuits and their foot cavalry, "the Invisible Empire" of Freemasonry, Mason President Andrew Johnson (who sent his son to a Jesuit College and was a friend of Jesuit B. F. Wiget) aiding Surratt's escape by removing the reward for his capture].

He certainly had that aid and influence in planning and accomplishing his hellish work and in making his escape, and it could not have been more cheerfully and faithfully rendered than it was, even if he had been a Jesuit priest himself. We believe the statement to be true; and it was that but a short time after that Archbishop Spaulding received a donation of funds for the specific purpose which was to uniform and equip a military body in the same manner and style as the Papal Guard at Rome.

The uniforms, muskets, cartridge boxes and belts all bearing the Papal coat of arms and consecrated by the Pope [Jesuit-controlled Pius IX*] himself, were sent to* Archbishop Spaulding at Baltimore; and when he died he was buried with military honors and his remains escorted by the same military bodyguard. The entire diocese of Archbishop Spaulding was rebel to the core and fierce in its hatred of Lincoln.' " [Therefore, as Jesuit-trained Archbishop Spaulding was the mastermind behind the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln*, even so Jesuit-trained* Archbishop Spellman was the secret power behind the assassination of one of his own Knights of Columbus, President John F. Kennedy*.] {8} [Emphasis added]*

The Suppressed Truth About the Assassination of Abraham Lincoln

"Why did General Grant suddenly alter his plans and decide not to go to Ford's Theater on the evening of Lincoln's assassination? Who, during that same night, tampered with the telegraph wires leading out of Washington [said loss of communication being repeated in the JFK murder]? Why was the President's bodyguard at the playhouse [John F. Parker], guilty of the grossest negligence, not punished nor even questioned? Perhaps the most serious reproach against historical writers is not that they have left such questions unanswered, but that they have failed to ask them. . . .

The police archives [of Washington's Metropolitan Police Force] afford no proof that Parker was really tried [though charges of neglect of duty were preferred against him]. If any transcripts of the case existed, they have been removed, and even the eventual findings of the Board are available only through subsequent records. These show that, although Parker was tried on May 3, the complaint was dismissed on June 2, 1865. The minutes of this trial before the Board would make one of the most interesting chapters in the story of Lincoln's assassination. . . .

And so, with a sly dig at the delinquency of his colleague in the War Department, the Attorney General of the United States [James Speed] placed the responsibility for guarding Lincoln—and, by inference, the failure to protect him adequately—squarely on the shoulders of [Masonic Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor] Secretary of War Edwin M. Stanton. . . .

A bizarre incident on the night of April 14 was an interruption of all telegraphic communication between Washington and the outside world, lasting about two hours. 'Within fifteen minutes after the murder,' wrote Townsend in the New York World on May 2, 'the wires were severed [grounded] entirely around the city, excepting only a secret wire for government uses, which leads to Old Point. . . . This information comes to me from so many creditable channels that I must concede it.' . . .

Was it Colonel Conger who killed [John Wilkes Booth] the crippled visitor of the Garrett household? Lieutenant Baker thought so at one time, for, when on the witness stand before a congressional investigating committee, he testified as follows: 'I supposed, at the time, that Conger shot him, and I said, 'What on earth did you shoot him for?' Said he, 'I did not shoot him.' Then the idea flashed on my mind that if he did, it had better not be known [as Boston Corbett was later committed to an insane asylum for admitting he may not have shot the fugitive].' . . . If the cripple in the barn had been taken alive, his pursuers would have escaped all criticism, and one of the riddles of history would have been answered: Who was shot at Garrett's farm on the night of April 26, 1865? . . .

Now that Lincoln's incumbency seemed assured for another four years, grave misgivings must have arisen in the minds of the Radicals as to whether he was really the man they wanted in the White House. . . . In 1862 he had written to Horace Greeley of the New York Tribune: 'If I could save the Union without freeing any slave, I would do it; and if I could save it by freeing all the slaves, I would do it; and if I could save it by freeing some and leaving others alone, I would also do that [the power of regulating the State institution of slavery having never been expressly delegated to any branch of the federal government by its creator, the U.S. Constitution].' . . . The Radicals could not regard these sentiments of the Chief Executive as anything but treason to his party. . . . But Lincoln soon put a new fear into the hearts of the Radicals, and one that made them almost forget the problem of slavery. . . . The Wade-Davis manifesto had made it clear that Congress meant to deal with the problem of Reconstruction without interference from the White House. The President, on the other hand, still anxious to abide by the half-forgotten resolution of 1861, was determined to restore all civil and political rights to the Confederate States immediately upon their return into the [non-Fourteenth Amendment] Union. He therefore decided on a shrewd move. He arranged matters so that the generals in the field should conclude an armistice that practically amounted to a peace without penalties; . . .

> And so, on March 27, 1865, Lincoln went to meet Grant, Sherman and Admiral Porter in the cabin of the River Queen. There he gave secret orders to his military leaders . . . These orders were, in short, to grant to the opponents at the proper time a truce that embraced a formula for peace on the basis of the situation as it had existed before the outbreak of the war [thus avoiding the Order's wicked Reconstruction and the resultant creation of the Order's Masonic Ku Klux Klan, while foiling the imposition of the Fourteenth Amendment and thus ultimate miscegenation of both races in the North and the South]. . . . By this time the Radicals must have been fully aware that Lincoln was determined to thwart their desires and to restore to the South its former rights, even if it meant the eclipse of his own party. . . . Lincoln did indeed enter the vortex leading to destruction by making his gesture of peace; for the day after he had done son, death eliminated him forever from the political arena. . . .
> So far as motives go, the Radicals had a greater stake in Lincoln's death, and expected more benefit from it, than all the Southern leaders could have hoped for by any stretch of the imagination; . . ." {9}[Emphasis added]

> Why Was Lincoln Murdered?

The American bloodbath, begun in 1861 and ending in 1865, had been spawned in Rome and carried out by the Jesuits using Scottish Rite Freemasonry. The Jesuits, with their Archbishop John Hughes of New York, sat atop of the ruins of America's Protestant Calvinist republic ready to create their new Empire with the Fourteenth Amendment. New York would become "the Empire State" from which the Cardinal would be "the Archbishop of the capital of the world." Additionally, the Jesuits were ready to amalgamate the races with the purpose of making America a nation of color, reducing it to a priest-ridden Mexico, Cuba and South America.

The Radical Red Republican party had served the Jesuits well. In destroying the South it had nearly decimated Jefferson's Democratic States-Rights party. Thaddeus Stevens, with his Roman Catholic mulatto concubine, Mrs. Lydia Smith, hated the Constitution and further overthrew it with his Reconstruction Act of 1866.

He also led the impeachment proceedings against the disobedient Freemason President Andrew Johnson. Rome, however, rewarded him for his villainy by baptizing him into the Catholic Church on his deathbed—just like Francis Cardinal Spellman's obedient Freemason President Lyndon Johnson (who had been initiated into the Johnson City Lodge in Johnson City, Texas, on October 30, 1937). Charles Sumner accomplished in the Senate what Stevens accomplished in the House. And no wonder, for he had been a personal friend of the Holy Alliance's Prince Metternich and had the highest praise for Rome's Thomas Aquinas (even as the present Black Supreme Court Justice, Clarence Thomas), the author of the massive Summa Theologica. Since, according to Thomas Aquinas, Pope Gregory VII and Canon Law, "it is no murder to kill a heretic," Sumner had no problem with the rape, murder and theft committed by Grant and Sherman's "Grande Armee of the Republic" riddled with foreign-born, bigoted, Irish Roman Catholic banditti.

But Abraham Lincoln did. Even though he acted the tyrant in wrongly declaring martial law as later determined by the Supreme Court, in keeping Maryland from seceding and in raising the Army of the Potomac "to put down the rebellion," there is evidence that he had had a change of heart. According to many, Lincoln was converted to Christ after viewing the battlefield at Gettysburg in 1863. He later joined the Presbyterian Church in Washington and had several spiritual conversations with his close friend and converted priest, our hero, Charles Chiniquy. We read:

> " 'I will repeat to you what I said at Urbana, when for the first time you told me your fears lest I would be assassinated by the Jesuits: Man must not care where and when he will die, provided he dies at the post of honour and duty. But I may add, to-day, that I have a presentiment that God will call me to Him through the hand of an assassin. Let His will, and, not mine be done! The Pope and the Jesuits, with their infernal Inquisition, are the only organized powers in the world which have recourse to the dagger of the assassin to murder those whom they cannot convince with their arguments or conquer with the sword. . . . It seems to me that the Lord wants to-day, as He wanted in the days of Moses, another victim . . . I cannot conceal from you that my impression is that I am that victim. So many plots have already been made against my life, that it is a real miracle that they have all failed, when we consider that the great majority of them were in the hands of skillful Roman Catholic murderers, evidently trained by Jesuits. But can we expect that God will make a perpetual miracle to save my life? I believe not. The Jesuits are so expert in those deeds of blood, that Henry IV said that it was impossible to escape them, and he became their victim, though he did all that could be done to protect himself. My escape from their hands, since the letter of the Pope to Jeff Davis [who, as Vice President under President Franklin Pierce in 1856, began the work of erecting a Masonically designed bronze idol of the Virgin Mary, later hoisted upon the White House Dome in 1863] has sharpened a million daggers to pierce my breast, would be more than a miracle.' " {10}[Emphasis added]

Chiniquy then concluded his meeting with the President with these words:

> "I knew the hour to leave had come, I asked from the President permission to fall on my knees, and pray with him that his life might be spared: and he knelt with me. But I prayed more with my tears and sobs, than with my words. Then I pressed his hand on my lips and bathed it with my tears, and with a heart filled with an unspeakable desolation, I bade him Adieu! It was for the last time! For the hour was fast approaching when he was to fall by the hands of a Jesuit assassin, for his nation's sake." {11} [Emphasis added]

Indeed it was! But why? President Lincoln resisted the policy of the Jesuits and the Radicals. For, they sought to create a new government with a new citizenship via the Fourteenth Amendment. Lincoln wanted the Southern States to re-enter the Union with the same status with which they had left the Union. Clearly, he, like Andrew Johnson, would never have promoted the Fourteenth Amendment. (It was this open refusal to promote the Fourteenth Amendment for which Lincoln was assassinated and Johnson was impeached although never expelled from office by the Senate. Being a Southerner, Johnson was openly against the Order's "anti-Mason" Thaddeus Stevens' Fourteenth Amendment. But secretly, Andrew Johnson, the open friend of Jesuit B. F. Wiget, served the Company by working with his Masonic brethren who protected Lincoln's assassin in obedience to their master, Shriner and 33rd Degree Freemason Albert Pike!) Lincoln's plan would have frustrated the purposes of the Jesuits in creating a new government with absolute powers.

Further, the Jesuits and the Radicals sought to intermix the Whites and Blacks of both the North and the South. This would make Fourteenth Amendment America a nation of color, thereby greatly benefiting the Jesuits. For the Jesuits knew that nations of color, Negro or Oriental, can only be governed by absolutists, be they kings, emperors, shoguns, military dictators or tribal chiefs. The history of the governments of South American, African and Far Eastern nations confirms this truth.

And if America becomes a nation of color riddled with Bible-rejecting Whites, Blacks, mulattoes, Mexicans and Easterners, as it apparently will be within fifty years, an absolutist under Jesuit control—like Fidel Castro—most assuredly will govern it.

To the contrary, Lincoln advocated the separation of the races and attempted to repatriate the freed Negroes to Liberia, as Monrovia, named after President James Monroe, had been built for that purpose. The Negro policy of Jefferson, Monroe and Lincoln was the same and it would have thwarted the Jesuits' plan of amalgamation of both races. It also would have disabled the Jesuits from using the Negro to foment continual agitations resulting in the conferring of more executive power in Washington, ultimately justifying martial law as a result of a contrived race war. Huge, lawless, Black populations would never have grown to such monstrous proportions—financed by the Jesuit New Dealers' socialist-communist welfare system as well as President Lyndon Johnson's supposed "War on Poverty." Black women would never have been paid to commit bastardies through fornication or adultery; the more illegitimate, fatherless and lawless children they would bear and raise, the more welfare money they could receive in creating their undisciplined, criminal offspring.

The explosion of Black socialism and rampant Black crime would never have taken place, costing the American taxpayers over two trillion dollars during the last fifty years, further destroying the White Middle Class, while fueling the growth of the Pope's wicked Social Security Numbering System—the forerunner of ". . . the number of his name." – Revelation 13:17

These hateful, hostile, violent and vulgar Black American populations, who (in the words of Ken Hamlin, a West Coast, Black radio broadcaster known as "the Black Avenger") ought to get down on their hands and knees and thank God they live in a White nation (enjoying blood-bought Protestant liberties, including the right to bear arms), would never have destroyed the country's industrious inner cities, turning them into vice and war zones (encouraged by the Pope's partners in crime further promoting Black gang wars—the White CIA and the Mafia), thereby creating the unheard of phenomenon known as "White flight," as well as justifying national gun confiscation at the mouths of Senators (Masonic) Charles Schumer and (Knight of Columbus) Ted Kennedy! (The Black cities of Baltimore and Philadelphia total over fifty thousand vacant buildings!) Further, there would never have been the birth of amalgamated professional sports glorifying Black athletes, many of which would set the example in marrying White women—the ultimate status symbol in their socialist-communist quest for "equality," or rather, in repudiating their God-given Blackness thereby outraging a multitude of unashamedly Black women, while refusing to perpetuate their race! The whole seething pot of Black racism and iniquity is giving rise to a massive and murderous, homosexual-led, vicious White supremacist, fascist Roman Catholic, Neo-Nazi movement, ultimately to be used against American Bible-believers and racial Jews when martial law is declared. This is why Marcus Garvey's "Back to Africa Movement" was crushed by the tools of the Jesuits in the 1930s. This is why when Black leaders cease to be agitators for the New York Cardinal's CFR, they lose their influence, like Dick Gregory once did, or are slain, like the brave Malcolm X. Martin Luther (Lucifer) King was also assassinated by the CIA, as he deviated from his original purpose and began to oppose Spellman's Vietnam War.

It was clear, Abraham Lincoln, newly re-elected in 1865, could not be allowed to stay in office four more years. So the Jesuits, with the help of the Secret Service (as in the Kennedy Assassination), shot him with their tool, a Roman Catholic, illegitimate son known as John Wilkes Booth, on April 14, 1865. Lincoln died the following day on April fifteenth. (Years later the Jesuits would make a memorial of that day; for by April fifteenth all "taxpayers" are required to have made their annual confessions by filing their income tax returns with the Jesuits' infernal Internal Revenue Service (IRS).) Of the Jesuit hand in Lincoln's murder we read:

> "I feel safe in stating that nowhere else can be found in one book the connected presentation of the story leading up to the death of Abraham Lincoln, which was instigated by the 'Black' Pope, the General of the Jesuit Order, camouflaged by the 'White' Pope, Pius IXth, aided, abetted and financed by other "Divine Righters" of Europe, and finally consummated by the Roman Hierarchy and their paid agents in this country and French Canada on 'Good Friday' night, April 14th, 1865, at Ford's Theatre, Washington, D.C." {12} [Emphasis added]

Again we read the words of our hero, Charles Chiniquy:

> "But who was that assassin? Booth was nothing but the tool of the Jesuits. It was Rome who directed his arm, after corrupting his heart and damning his soul. After I had mixed my tears with those of the grand country of my adoption, I fell on my knees and asked my God to grant me to show to the world what I knew to be the truth, viz., that the horrible crime was the work of Popery. And, after twenty years of constant and most difficult researches, I come fearlessly to-day before the American people, to say and prove that the President, Abraham Lincoln, was assassinated by the priests and the Jesuits of Rome. . . . Compare the last hours of the Jesuit Ravaillac, the assassin of [the "tyrant"] Henry IV, who absolutely refuses to repent, though suffering also the most horrible tortures on the rack, with Booth, who suffering also the most horrible tortures from his broken leg,writes in his daily memorandum, the very day before his death: I can never repent. . . . Yes! Compare the bloody deeds of those two assassins, and you will see that they had been trained in the same school; the same teachers had taught them. Evidently Ravaillac, calling all the saints of heaven to his help, at his last hour; and Booth pressing the Medal of the Virgin Mary on his breast, when falling mortally wounded, are both coming out from the same Jesuit mould . . . the Jesuits alone could select the assassins, train them, and show them a crown of glory in heaven, if they would kill the author of the bloodshed, the famous renegade and apostate—the enemy of the Pope and of the Church—Lincoln." {13} [Emphasis added]

But the key player in the assassination was a young Roman Catholic and former Secret Service agent for the Southern Confederacy. Having "called time" outside of Ford's Theatre during the President's murder, John Surratt escaped from the United States into Montreal, Canada with the aid of the priests. From Montreal to Londonderry, to Liverpool, to Rome, he enlisted in the Pope's Zouave army.

Having been recognized by a boyhood friend, Surratt confessed to the murder stating, "I have done the Yankees as much harm as I could. We have killed Lincoln, the niggers' friend." {14}

As a consequence of this confession, the old acquaintance reported Surratt's whereabouts to the American Minister in Rome. Having been arrested, he "leapt down a precipice," made his way to Naples, boarded a steamer and escaped to Alexandria, Egypt. But there, in 1867, he was arrested by U.S. authorities; bound hand and foot; returned to Washington, D.C., via the specially chartered U. S. warship, the Swatara; and was forced to stand trial for the murder of President Lincoln. Chiniquy narrates Surratt's escape quite clearly:

> "It is evident that a very elaborate plan of escape had been prepared by the priests of Rome to save the lives of the assassins and the conspirators. It would be too long to follow all the murderers when, Cain-like, they were fleeing in every direction, to escape the vengeance of God and man. Let us fix our eyes on John Surratt [whose confessor and advisor was the Jesuit Bernardine F. Wiget], who was in Washington the 14th of April, helping Booth in the perpetration of the assassination. Who will take care of him? Who will protect and conceal him? Who will press him on their bosom, put their mantles on his shoulders to conceal him from the just vengeance of the human and divine laws? The priest, Charles Boucher, swears that only a few days after the murder, John Surratt was sent to him by Father Lapierre, of Montreal; that he kept him concealed in his parsonage of St. Liboire from the end of April to the end of July, then he took him back, secretly, to Father Lapierre, who kept him secreted in his own father's house, under the very shadow of the Montreal bishop's palace. He swears that Father Lapierre visited him (Surratt) often, when secreted at St. Liboire, and that he (Father Boucher) visited him, at least, twice a week, from the end of July to September, when concealed in Father Lapierre's house in Montreal. That same father, Charles Boucher, swears that he accompanied John Surratt in a carriage in the company of Father Lapierre, to the steamer "Montreal", when starting for Quebec: that Father Lapierre kept him (John Surratt) under lock during the voyage from Montreal to Quebec, and that he accompanied him, disguised, from the Montreal steamer to the ocean steamer, "Peruvian." The doctor of the steamer "Peruvian", L. I. A. McMillan, swears that Father Lapierre introduced him to John Surratt under the false name of McCarthy, whom he was keeping locked in his state room, and whom he conducted disguised to the ocean steamer "Peruvian", and with whom he remained till she left Quebec for Europe, the 15th of September, 1865. But who is that Father Lapierre who takes such a tender, I dare say a paternal care of Surratt? It is not less a personage than the canon of Bishop Bourget, of Montreal. He is the confidential man of the bishop; he lives with the bishop, eats at his table, assists him with his counsel, and [the bishop] has to receive his [the canon's] advice in every step of life. According to the laws of Rome, the canons are to the bishop what the arms are to the body.

Now, I ask: Is it not evident that the bishops and the priests of Washington have trusted this murderer to the care of the bishops and priests of Montreal, that they might conceal, feed, and protect him for nearly six months, under the very shadow of the bishop's palace? Would they have done that if they were not his accomplices? Why did they so continually remain with him day and night, if they were not in fear that he might compromise them by an indiscreet word? Why do we see those priests (I ought to say, those two ambassadors and anointed representatives of the Pope), alone in the carriage, which takes that great culprit from his house of concealment to the steamer? Why do they keep him there, under lock, till they transfer him, under a disguised name, to the ocean steamer, the "Peruvian", on the 15th July, 1865? Why such tender sympathies for that stranger? Why going through such trouble and expense for that young American among the bishops and priests of Canada? There is only one answer. He was one of their tools, one of their selected men to strike the great Republic of Equality and Liberty to the heart. For more than six months before the murder, the priests had lodged, eaten, conversed, slept with him under the same roof in Washington. They had trained him to his deed of blood, by promising him protection, and a crown of glory in heaven [even as Moslem terrorists are promised seventy virgins in "paradise" if they sacrifice their lives for the purposes of "Allah," having been designated by their Masonic Muftis who are secretly subordinate to the Pope of Rome] if he would only be true to their designs to the end. And he had been true to the end . . . But do you see that man fleeing from Washington towards the north? He has the mark of Cain on his forehead, his hands are reddened with blood, he is pale and trembling, for he knows it; a whole outraged nation is after him for her just vengeance; he hears the thundering voice of God: "Where is thy brother?" Where will he find a refuge? Where, outside of hell, will he meet friends to shelter and save him from the just vengeance of God and men? Oh! He has sure refuge in the arms of that church who, for more than a thousand years, is crying "Death to all the heretics! Death to all the soldiers of Liberty!" He has devoted friends among the very men who, after having prepared the massacre of Admiral Coligny, and his 75,000 Protestant countrymen, rang the bells of Rome to express their joy when they heard that, at last, the King of France had slaughtered them all. But where will those bishops and priests of Canada send John Surratt when they find it impossible to conceal him any longer from the thousands of detectives of the United States, who are ransacking Canada to find out his retreat? Who will conceal, feed, lodge, and protect him after the priests of Canada pressed his hand for the last time on board of the "Peruvian," the 15th of September, 1865?

> Who can have any doubt about that? Who can suppose that any one but the Pope himself and his Jesuits will protect the murderer of Abraham Lincoln in Europe? If you want to see him after he has crossed the ocean, go to Vitry, at the door of Rome, and there you will find him enrolled under the banners of the Pope, in the 9th company of his Zouaves, under the false name of Watson. Of course, the Pope was forced to withdraw his protection over him, after the Government of the United States had found him there, and he was brought back to Washington to be tried. But on his arrival as a prisoner in the United States, his Jesuit father confessor whispered in his ear: 'Fear not, you will not be condemned! Through the influence of a high Roman Catholic lady, two or three of the jurymen will be Roman Catholics, and you will be safe.' Those who have read the two volumes of the trial of John Surratt know that never more evident proofs of guilt were brought against a murderer than in that case. But the Roman Catholic jurymen had read the theology of St. Thomas, a book which the Pope has ordered to be taught in every college, academy, and university of Rome; they had learned that it is the duty of the Roman Catholics to exterminate all the heretics [Summa Theologica, Thomas Aquinas, II-II, Q. 11, A. 3, 4]. They had read the decree of the Council of Constance, that no faith was to be kept with heretics. They had read in the Council of Lateran that the Catholics who arm themselves for the extermination of heretics, have all their sins forgiven, and receive the same blessings as those who go and fight for the rescue of the Holy Land. Those jurymen were told by their father confessors that the most Holy Father, the Pope, Gregory VII, had solemnly and infallibly declared that 'the killing of an heretic was no murder.'—[De] Jure Canonico. After such teachings, how could the Roman Catholic jurymen find John Surratt guilty of murder for killing the heretic Lincoln? The jury having disagreed, no verdict could be given. The Government was forced to let the murderer go unpunished." {15}[Emphasis added]

(Dear truth-seeker, eighty years later Rome's elaborate system of escape would be used again. On a grand scale it would enable an estimated sixty thousands Nazis, including high-ranking war criminals, to evade capture from Allied authorities. Many, including Adolf Eichmann, Martin Bormann, Josef Mengele and even the Fuhrer himself, would be secreted into the old Jesuit dominion of South America and enjoy the protection of a powerful Knight of Malta and absolute dictator, Argentina's Juan Peron. Heinrich Himmler would be aided in his escape via the Order's British SIS and Masonic King Gustav V of Sweden, while others would be spirited into the Middle East. Franciscan-led Croatian Ustashi leader, Ante Pavelic, would be protected by Francisco Franco, the Roman Catholic Freemason and Jesuit-protected dictator of Spain whose successor would be another Knight of Malta, Jesuit-trained King Juan Carlos of the old Bourbon Dynasty. (Carlos is now negotiating with Israel's Zionist leaders pursuant to his title as "King and Protector of Jerusalem" which includes the Temple Mount. The old Kingdom of Jerusalem appended to the Pope's old Holy Roman Empire composed nearly the same land mass as does Israel today!) The cream of the Nazi crop—the SS—would be brought into the Empire of Fourteenth Amendment America to enjoy the protection of Cardinal Spellman's CIA and FBI, overseen by his American Branch of the Knights of Malta.)

Upon Surratt's return to Washington, D.C., designed to be the Order's "Rome on the Potomac" and military headquarters for the Pope's new "Holy Roman" American Empire, we read of the Jesuit presence during the trial:

> "The appeals made by the eminent counsel for the prisoner to the political and religious prejudices of jurors was ably seconded all through the trial by the Jesuit priesthood of Washington City and the vicinity. It will be recalled by scores of people who attended the trial that not a day passed but that some of these [Jesuits] were in the courtroom as the most interested of spectators." {16}

This ever-present Jesuit influence gave John Surratt (a member of the Order's Knights of the Golden Circle, the present day Knights of Columbus characterized by the same Mary-worshipping oath of allegiance) the confidence of his ultimate acquittal, that he, like Jesuit-trained Bill Clinton, was untouchable. We read:

> "Surratt did not overestimate the protection of his church, for from the moment he had landed in this country, he was greeted and sustained by the priests of that church. When his trial began in Washington June 10th, 1867, the presence of Roman priests and the students from the Jesuit University at Georgetown and the Sulpician Monastery [being a branch of the Jesuit Order], where he had studied three years for the priesthood, were the most noticeable features of the sessions. Although he declared himself a bankrupt, he was furnished the services of the best [New York] lawyers.
> When it became necessary to furnish bail for his final release, it was immediately presented by an Irish woman he did not even know, to the amount of thirty thousand dollars. According to press reports this stood there until his death in 1916. That is some friendship, is it not?" {17}

Dear truth-seeker, the Jesuit Order gets away with murder today just as it did in 1867. One hundred years later CIA agent Clay L. Shaw would be tried for the murder of John F. Kennedy. Shaw, like Surratt, was Roman Catholic. He also would enjoy the protection of the Jesuit Order's powerful tools in Washington. Shaw, like Surratt, enjoyed the benefit of a hung jury and he, like Lincoln's murderer, would go free. Thirty years later, President Bill Clinton would be impeached. This Georgetown graduate and darling of the Jesuits would refuse to resign. He would be tried in the Senate knowing full well his protection from the Society of Jesus in control of the CFR, FBI, CIA, the Secret Service and the Mafia. The author predicted that he, like Shaw and Surratt, would never be convicted of his crimes. As it turned out, one of the Senators who voted to acquit Clinton was none other than "Spelly's evil Jew" of the Kennedy Assassination. Senator Arlen Specter, a Scottish Rite Shriner and 33rd Degree Freemason according to a most informative and vast website, www.freemasonwatch.freepress-freespeech.com, had been the Junior Counselor on the Warren Commission who concocted the magic, single-bullet theory upon which the Warren Report rested its case. These are irrefutable examples of the power—the absolute power in Fourteenth Amendment America—exercised by the Jesuits through the Archbishop of New York, presently Edward Cardinal Egan.

Lastly, certain high-level Freemasons were used to stifle the capture of John H. Surratt. They were President Andrew Johnson (whose son was educated by Jesuits, and whose daughter was educated by nuns and converted to Catholicism) and Secretary of War Edwin M. Stanton, who oversaw the project of placing a statue of Rome's "Virgin Mary" (Persephone) atop of the Capital Dome. With the knowledge that Surratt was in Liverpool, Stanton's War Department refused to make the least attempt to arrest him. A few weeks later President Johnson revoked the reward for the arrest of Surratt, greatly increasing the assassin's chances to escape. A similar story is true of Booth, the fellow conspirator of President Johnson. According to The Escape and Suicide of John Wilkes Booth by Finis L. Bates, Booth escaped Washington with a password—a Masonic password. He settled in Kansas and died there, having confessed to Lincoln's murder in the presence of his presiding doctor. A confessed conspirator, General Lafayette C. Baker, who was later poisoned with arsenic in 1868, fingered Freemason and Secretary of War Edwin M. Stanton who had hidden the key to Booth's "tomb" barring any examination of the body. But if "Booth's body" was identified, having been shot by Boston Corbett, while the real Booth escaped, who then identified the body? It was a 33rd Degree Freemason, Admiral George W. Baird, USN retired, having been introduced to Booth by Naval Officer Fitch, the brother-in-law to Jesuit Thomas E. Sherman! In 1921 he wrote:

> "I was called on board the Montauk [a Navy Gunboat] by Lieut. W. W. Crowninshield, to identify the body of John Wilkes Booth, which I did . . . Surgeon General Barnes arrived at that moment and probed the wound in Booth's neck." [The probing of the neck wound sounds like the Kennedy autopsy, does it not?] {18}

It is also incriminating to note that Protestant R. W. Thompson, who was another 33rd Degree Freemason and a contemporary of his Masonic brother, Admiral Baird, wrote The Footprints of the Jesuits extensively quoted in this volume and included on the enclosed CD. Thompson was the ex-Secretary of the Navy in 1894 when he published his historical masterpiece. Baird, as an Admiral, had been Thompson's subordinate prior to 1894. Nowhere in Thompson's five hundred-page volume does he implicate the Jesuits in Lincoln's assassination. He doesn't even mention Lincoln's assassination even though that murder was fresh on the minds of millions of Americans; Freemasons Edwin A. Sherman and Charles Chiniquy had exposed the Jesuit hand in 1883 and 1886. And why does Thompson silently pass by the Lincoln assassination? Because if the Jesuits were to be blamed, that guilt would also surely lead to the door of 33rd Degree Freemasonry. As a result, the Jesuits would have been expelled from the United States and thousands of patriotic Americans would have abandoned the Masonic Lodge in horror and disgust. But as in the Kennedy Assassination so the Sons of Loyola went unpunished for assassinating Lincoln, maintaining a successful cover-up through the years with their prostitute Press, manned by the Order's Council on Foreign Relations in New York.

> "Barring the martyrdoms of Jesus Christ and Joan D 'Arc [Joan of Arc], the methods used in Abraham Lincoln's assassination will stand pre-eminent in point of malice and cruelty, and, strange as it may seem, the same diabolical cunning which nerved the hand of the assassin has pursued Lincoln beyond the grave, and has been largely successful in hiding from the public all details of his physical destruction, a crime, in the eye of the writer, which almost outstrips the first, for by this conspiracy of silence on his death, the youth of America are being deprived of the knowledge of the details of the greatest tragedy in their country's history." {19}

Years later in 1916, the Jesuits honored John H. Surratt, Lincoln's real assassin, with a special funeral. Emmett McLoughlin, one of our heroes, tells us:

> "A student at Georgetown University, writing a biased whitewash [thus an outright lie] of the role of the Church in the entire Surratt case, described the funeral as being . . . 'A Solemn High Requiem Mass' . . . It was indeed a fitting end, a final and significant touch. For as every priest and many observant laymen know, a Solemn High Requiem Mass, with three priests officiating (that is what the word means) is usually reserved for the funerals of bishops, priests, or nuns. . . . When it is chanted at the funeral services of a layman, it is a token of recognition and appreciation for exceptional devotion or distinguished service to the Church. It was done for John Harrison Surratt. It must have been deserved." {20} [Emphasis added] Both Brotherhoods, the Jesuits and the Black Pope's masonic "Invisible Empire," overseen by select, high-level, 33rd Degree Freemasons, worked together as they had in the past and as they would in the future. They carried out the French Revolution, the Napoleonic Wars, the Second French Revolution of 1848, the Crimean War, the American War Between the States, the Assassination of Lincoln and Cover-up, and would carry out the Second Thirty Years' War (1914-1945), the Cold War (1945-1989) and the Assassination of Kennedy and Cover-up (1963). The Jesuits are now ready to use their Fourteenth Amendment American Empire, commanded by Shriner Freemasons and Knights of Malta, for their greatest feat yet.

With Executive Orders in place and a coming national crisis in the form of another "terrorist event," the Constitution with its Baptist-Calvinist Bill of Rights, will be suspended and martial law declared by a military dictator. The Black Pope's Anglo-American-led Crusade, will ultimately accomplish the destruction of the Dome of the Rock in Jerusalem. America's CFR-controlled government, "the Great Satan," will be blamed for the destruction of one of Islam's most holy places, third only to Mecca.

The leveling of Jerusalem's two Temple Mount Mosques will further incite the nation's hostile, White man-hating Black Muslims to murder "infidel Christians" and Jews in accordance with the teachings of the Koran. This anarchy will further justify fascist, mass-executions by the Order's Office of. Homeland Security. Then the Pope's dream will begin to unfold—the rebuilding of Solomon's Temple (designed by a Toronto Shriner, Jack Diamond) and the ultimate destruction of the American Empire with its "heretic Protestants, pagans and Jews" pursuant to Peter Dens' Theologia and the Order's Council of Trent! Dear truth-seeker, the next time you visit the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D.C., in gazing into that sublime face, remember the President's words as you do your duty in resisting the Devil's Jesuits:

> "I know that Jesuits never forget nor forsake. But man must not care how and where he dies, provided he dies at the post of honour and duty." {21} [Emphasis added]

Abraham Lincoln, 1809 – 1865 #178

16th President of the United States of America, 1861 – 1865

Assassinated by the Military Order of the Society of Jesus, April 15, 1865

Fourth "Heretic" President to be Murdered by the Jesuits Including:

- 1st President; George Washington, December 14, 1799
- 10th President; William Henry Harrison, April 4, 1841
- 12th President; Zachary Taylor, July 9, 1850

Joining the Republican Party in 1856, Abraham Lincoln had already proven himself to be a notorious enemy of the Jesuit Order. Having been the defense attorney for Roman Catholic Priest Charles Chiniquy (falsely accused by two priests sent by his cold-blooded, anti-Bible, anti-Protestant Bishop O'Regan), Lincoln thundered against the nefarious plot calculated to destroy an innocent man thereby incurring the wrath of no less than ten Jesuits in the courtroom. In 1858 Lincoln engaged in a series of anti-slavery debates with Freemason Stephen A. Douglas whose Roman Catholic wife was a member of Jesuit Bernardine F. Wiget's St. Aloysius Church in Washington, D.C. Using Senator Douglas to split the Democratic Party, the Order guaranteed a Republican victory, Southern secession and thus a Northern war on the Protestant South. Upon his reelection after the Company's "Yankee" War of Annihilation laying the Protestant city of Richmond in ruins, non-centralist Lincoln sought to continue "the Old State Rights Union" by readmitting the Southern States with the same legal status they enjoyed prior to secession. For refusing to back the ensuing Reconstruction Act and resultant Fourteenth Amendment, Lincoln was given "the leaden bullet."

Pope Pius IX, King and Papal Caesar of Rome #179; #180

The "Vicar of Christ" and "King of the World," 1846 – 1878
Promoter of the Black Pope's Syllabus of Errors, 1864

To whom every King, President and Dictator owed his Allegiance and with the Jesuits as his penholders, this tyrant put forth the doctrine of "The Immaculate Conception" in 1854, decreeing that Mary was born without the stain of original sin otherwise inherent in Adam's fallen race—except the Lord Jesus Christ. This heresy further exalts "the Virgin Mary" to the place of becoming "the Mother of God" and "Queen of Heaven" of the ancient, pagan trinity. Pius IX, having advocated the revival of the guillotine to fight Protestantism (1855), also condemned modern civilization, including freedom of conscience and freedom of speech, with his Syllabus of Errors (1864). He then called for the First Vatican Council at which the Pope was decreed to be "infallible," becoming God Almighty on earth. His real crime, however, was giving his American Roman hierarchy the order to assassinate President Abraham Lincoln who became a "usurper" and a "tyrant" for refusing to consent to the Order's Radical Red Republican-sponsored, corporate-fascist, socialist-communist 14th Amendment—Rome's coup d'etat—converting our Protestant and Baptist-Calvinist Republic into a Jesuit-ruled, Masonically-led, absolutist "Holy Roman" Empire.

Roman Catholic Jesuit-trained Assassin of President Abraham Lincoln

A member of the Knights of the Golden Circle and the weapon of murder in the hand of his evil Jesuit confessor, Bernadine F. Wiget, John Surratt escaped the bounty hunters of North America through Pope Pius IX's international Vatican Ratlines. Two years later he was arrested in Alexandria, Egypt, and returned to the United States to stand trial for the murder of the President. Aided and comforted by Jesuits from Georgetown University, the jury was hung and this obvious murderer went free. The Black Pope had won, thus assuring that more Presidential assassinations were to come if need be, including those of Mason James A. Garfield, Mason William McKinley, Shriner Warren G. Harding, 33rd Degree Freemason FDR and Knight of Columbus John F. Kennedy.

Papal Knight John H. Surratt at 72, Just Before his Death in 1916 #182

Like the Masonic Hunter McGuire, the Black Pope's murder men who, without conscience, obediently obey in the secret "dispatching" of condemned "liberals, heretics, tyrants and usurpers," live long, prosperous lives. The vast and unseen POWER the Jesuit General can command is truly unfathomable. Reaching into the politics, high finance, multi-national corporations and every religious creed of all nations, if the order is given to protect one of the Militia's faithful soldiers, most assuredly that command will be obeyed immediately and without question.

His "Kingdom of Solipsen," seemingly omnipresent, reaches into every hovel of culture without the average man knowing of its mighty existence. Those who KNOW say nothing, lest they should pay with their lives. Only those whom the Son of God has made free indeed, dare to expose what they know to be the truth.

According to the brave Mrs. McCarty, "the above is the last picture taken of John H. Surratt, who died in Baltimore, Maryland, April 23, 1916, surrounded by his wife and grown family. At his request he was buried in the Surratt lot at Mount Olivet, Washington, D.C., on the left side of his mother's grave. He was auditor of a large corporation until his death." Hark, he shall awake someday!

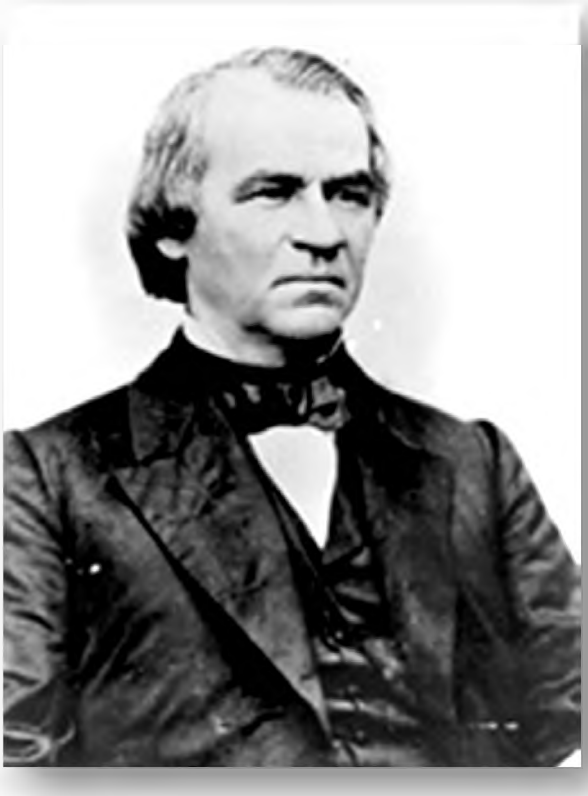
Lincoln's Secretary of War, Freemason Edwin M. Stanton, 1865 #183



32nd Degree Freemason President Andrew Johnson, 1865 – 1869 #184

Both of the above high-level Freemasons worked together in the assassination of President Lincoln. Subject to Jesuit Bernadine F. Wiget, Radical Red Stanton (having deliberately prolonged the war via General Halleck), ordered General Grant not to accompany the President to Ford's Theater, thus saving his life; arranged for John Booth's easy access in order to shoot Lincoln from behind, presidential guard John F. Parker having quietly vacated his post; secured the designated escape route on which Booth would flee from Washington, D.C.; and appointed the cover-up Military Commission for the trial of eight conspirators. Johnson later revoked the reward for the capture of John Surratt and pardoned imprisoned conspirators Samuel Arnold, Samuel Mudd and Edward Spangler.

Jesuit Priest Bernadine Francis Wiget, 1821 – 1883 #185

This is the human devil who, as pastor of the Order's St. Aloysius Church in Washington, D.C., oversaw the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln.

The master of Masonic President James Buchanan (nearly fatally poisoned in 1857 on the order of then Maryland Jesuit Provincial Charles Stonestreet) and Masonic anti-slavery agitator Stephen A. Douglas (whose Roman Catholic wife, Adele, was a devoted member of Wiget's church), he was the confessor of both Mary Surratt and her son, John Surratt, prior to the crime. Upon Mary Surratt's conviction of conspiring to murder Lincoln, she was accompanied to the gallows by Priest Walter and executed. Masonic President Andrew Johnson, having committed his son's education to Jesuits, may well have granted Mary Surratt a petition for mercy, had her daughter been allowed to approach the President the day of her mother's execution. The two men who denied that access were later "extirpated from the face of the whole earth;" Preston King was "drowned," found laden with weights, and Senator James Henry Lane "shot himself," like Lincoln, another victim of the Black Pope's leaden bullet. Between the Order's Holy Trinity Church in Georgetown and its St. Aloysius Church in Washington, D.C., the capital was now completely "in the lap of Rome."

Priest Jacob A. Walter, 1828 – 1894 #186

Pastor of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church Washington, D.C., 1860 – 1894

Although not a Jesuit, Walter was the obedient priest of Jesuit-controlled, "Right Reverend" Martin J. Spaulding, Archbishop of Baltimore, defender of the Temporal Power and Infallibility of the Pope; organizer of the Jesuit-led St. Vincent de Paul Society in America; vicious attacker of America's Bible-reading, Protestant Common School System; and an a historical revisionist of Protestant Merle D'Aubigne's objective and honest History of the Reformation (1840).

Spaulding also privately brought John Wilkes Booth into the Roman Catholic Institution three weeks before Booth murdered the President. Walter, the pastor of St. Patrick's, was a co-conspirator in the Lincoln assassination along with his immediate superior, Jesuit Bernadine F. Wiget. A frequent visitor to the Surratt House, he well knew the guilt of Mary Surratt along with her traitorous son, John Surratt. Upon her conviction Walter escorted Mary Surratt to the gallows, and, before she was hung, witnessed her lying, last words: "I am innocent."

Upon the nation's first execution of a woman, Walter declared, "there was not enough evidence to hang a cat." Until his "sudden death" in 1894, this wicked, deceiving, Jesuit-trained, Jacob Walter (in the words of General Thomas Harris) "attempted to fix upon the government the stigma of having murdered an innocent woman." In 1877 Walter's sinister new master would become the first "American Pope," the Jesuit-trained Archbishop, James Cardinal Gibbons!

Thomas M. Harris (1817 – 1906), 1865; 1892 #189; #190

Brigadier General U.S.V. and Major General by Brevet
Member, Military Commission in the Trial of the Conspirators, 1865

This Bible-believing, Christ-honoring, White Calvinist witnessed the proceedings against the top eight conspirators (4 hung; 4 imprisoned; 2 escaped—Booth and Surratt) involved in the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln. Having authored two epic works on the subject, Assassination of Lincoln: A History of the Great Conspiracy; Trial of the Conspirators by a Military Commission and a Review of the Trial of John H. Surratt (1892), and Rome's Responsibility for the Assassination of Abraham Lincoln (1897), Harris proved that sinister Jesuits and priests of Rome were responsible for the murder, and therefore should have been prosecuted as accomplices to the crime. As a friend of Charles Chiniquy, Harris declared: "The organization of the Hierarchy is a complete military despotism, of which the Pope is the ostensible head; but of which, the Black Pope is the real head. . . . the favorite policy of the Jesuits, [is] that of assassination." But the Commission was chosen by a secret co-conspirator, Freemason Edwin M. Stanton, at the command of another pro-Pope, Masonic conspirator, President Andrew Johnson. Like the Masonic Warren Commission, the Tribunal was not permitted to place the blame on Archbishop Spaulding and certain priests of Washington, it supposedly fearing that a bloody, "holy war" would ensue. http://www.lindapages.com/cwar/gen-tmharris.htm

Masonic Illuminatus Horace Greeley (1811 – 1872), 1860s #191

According to Alexander Stephens, a low-level Freemason and Vice President of the Southern Confederacy, Greeley was to President Lincoln, "the power behind the throne, greater than the throne itself." Having read the Bible by the age of six, this apostate monster of a man became one of the greatest forces behind the Order's British-incited, "Abolitionist Anti-slavery Agitation." A member of the Jesuit-controlled "Columbia Lodge of the Illuminati" in New York City, Greeley founded the Order's Jacobin/Radical Red Republican New York Tribune in 1841, dubbed the "political Bible" throughout the North. In 1855 he spent six weeks in Paris under the tutelage of Masonic Emperor Napoleon III's Jesuit masters after organizing the centralizing, new Federalist, Republican Party; he then promoted the Lincoln-Douglas debates further inciting the Order's Anti-slavery Agitation. Leading the battle cry, "On to Richmond," he championed early and massive emancipation (through no concern for the Black slaves) calculated to destroy the industry of the Protestant South, and he opposed Biblical capital punishment as mandated in Genesis 9:6. True to the Black Pope's new creed as perfected on his Paraguayan Reductions, Greeley was a socialist, promoted the French Charles Fourier, and his overseas correspondent was none other than a brother Masonic Illuminatus, Karl Marx. In obedience to his Jesuit masters, Greeley opposed Lincoln's re-nomination for the presidency in 1864 and signed the bail bond for that slave of Pope Pius IX, Jefferson Davis, who in turn was never prosecuted.

Upon his death in 1872, Greeley's funeral was conducted by another wicked Jesuit Coadjutor, the apostate Congregationalist minister, Henry Ward Beecher.

Adolf Hitler with Hjalmar "Horace Greeley" Schacht, 1934 #193

Present with Hitler at the laying of the foundation stone for the new Reichstag building, Schacht became the head of the Reichsbank after his predecessor "died suddenly." As the Order used Illuminatus Horace Greeley, the editor of the New York Tribune to back the Republican Party, so would it use another high-level Freemason, Hjalmar Schacht (the friend of Masonic FDR), to financially back the Nazis. Schacht's son-in-law was the infamous SS Major Otto Skorzeny, a Hitler favorite. Socialist Yankeeism fathered Socialist Nazism and Communism.

"I say I am liberated from all civil subjection, that my Lord made me the subject of no one on earth, king, or otherwise, that in His [Christ's] right I am sovereign. I acknowledge no civil superior; I am the subject of no prince, and I claim more than this—I claim to be the supreme judge on earth, and the director of the consciences of men, of the peasant that tills the field, and the prince that sits on the throne;—of the household that lives in the shade of privacy, and the legislature that makes laws for kingdoms. I am the sole last supreme judge [on earth] of what is right and wrong." {1} [Emphasis added]

"The world has no greater enemies to political freedom and Bible truth than the rulers of the Catholic Church. There was not a breath of liberty in Rome, nor one Protestant Church, till the soldiers of Victor Emmanuel plucked the scepter and the sword from the hands of the crowned priest." {2}

The Papal System

"This Pope, this foreigner, this Italian, is more powerful in this country than any other one man, not excepting the King. He would use fire and sword against us if he had the power, and he would confiscate our property, and would not spare our lives [evidenced by WWI and WWII]." {3}

Prince Otto von Bismarck, 1876
Chancellor, German Empire

" 'Hate,' said Bismarck, '. . . as a spur in life, is no less important than love.' . . . At Versailles, one day [in 1871, after the Franco-Prussian War], the bishop of Mainz sat facing the chancellor, a cowled [Roman Catholic] Junker over against the Lutheran Junker in military uniform. The prelate wanted certain articles protecting the Roman Catholic Church to be introduced into the imperial constitution [for the furtherance of the Pope's Temporal Power in Germany]. Unable to get his way about this [Thank God!], he turned the conversation towards doctrinal matters.

'After death, as Your Excellency knows, the prospects for Catholics are brighter than for those of any other persuasion [the Pope's Canon Law decreeing there is no salvation outside of the Roman Catholic Institution]. Silence, and a smile.

'But perhaps, according to your way of thinking, a Catholic cannot be saved?'

Now the Protestant takes up his parable.

> 'A Catholic layman, certainly. I have my doubts about a cleric. He has committed the sin [of blasphemy] against the Holy Ghost [by claiming to have divine power to forgive sins vested by the Pope upon the priest's ordination]. The words of Holy Writ condemn him (I Timothy 2:5).' . . . When he [Bismarck] fought the Church, it was as a [political] power, . . . he was its enemy only where it threatened to weaken his [constitutional, sovereign, Protestant Lutheran] State. He had recognized the coming of this struggle twenty years before, in the Frankfort days, declaring a fight 'against the [Jesuit] lust of conquest in the Catholic camp' to be inevitable. Since Austria's concordat [entered into by the government of Emperor Franz Joseph in 1852], he had held that some of Prussia's enemies were always to be found in that camp. After he had risen to power [1850], he had (as he knew) actually been characterized by the Vatican [ruled by his enemies, the Jesuits, through their pawn and future Lincoln assassin, Pope Pius IX] as 'the incarnation of the devil.' . . .

But the crisis did not come until the Vatican Council met in Rome, concentrating there anew all the powers of Catholic Europe [the Order seeking to restore the Pope's Holy Roman Empire]. In the middle of 1870, when the [Franco-Prussian] war was beginning, the dogma of papal infallibility was proclaimed, affecting Bismarck's sentiments as much as his calculations. It was intolerable to him that any one should call himself infallible [papal infallibility being merely a pretext for establishing the Pope's universal Spiritual and Temporal Power, the Papacy usurping the final authority of the Reformation Bible and thus usurping the political power of all human governments, to be enforced upon all nations through a myriad of occult secret societies via the Company of Jesus]. . . .

The militant mood of the conqueror and the anxiety of the architect [of the Protestant Second Reich] . . . explain his dread of a Catholic league against his young Empire [which second "Catholic league" against Protestant Germany would be realized via Austrian and Bavarian Jesuits through Hitler's Reich]. . . . He considers that by carrying on this campaign, he may be able to fortify the anti-clerical [anti-Jesuit] tendencies of the new Italy [King Victor Emmanuel II having overthrown Pope Pius IX's wicked Temporal Power], and sunder Italy from France [accomplishing both with the Triple Alliance in 1882]; he may be able to strengthen the ties between Germany and Russia, since Russia is in general hostile to Rome [having expelled the Jesuits], and is especially antagonistic to Roman Catholic priests as promoters of rebellion in Poland [yet Bismarck is foiled in his plan by King Edward VII's creation of the Triple Entente in 1907]. . . . Bismarck . . . wants . . . a 'strongly defensive attitude against the aggressions of the Catholic Church.' To carry out this [biblical] policy, he begins, in the empire, by issuing the 'pulpit paragraphs,' which make every reference to State matters from the pulpit an offence punishable with imprisonment. . . . within a year or two [1873] he issues, in Prussia, the 'May laws,' which have important consequences. He abolishes the Catholic department of the ministry of public worship and instruction, and expunges from the constitution the paragraphs protecting the Church [Praise God!]. He interferes in the administration of the bishoprics and the religious instruction in the schools; banishes the Jesuits [1872] and kindred orders from the empire [for which the Order's "Nihilists" would attempt his assassination in 1874]; makes civil marriage compulsory; threatens religious zealots [secretly controlled by the Jesuits] with exile, fine, imprisonment, or detention in a fortress; confiscates their incomes [used to foment rebellion]; deprives many parishes of [revolutionary] priests; . . .

> [Bismarck declares:] 'We are not concerned with the fight . . . of a Protestant dynasty against the Catholic Church; we are not concerned with a struggle between belief and unbelief. What is at stake is a struggle for power, . . . the struggle for power between monarchy and priesthood. . . . the struggle for power which has filled the whole of German history, . . . If the French war of conquest, whose outbreak coincided with the publication of the Vatican decrees, had been successful, who can say what history would have had to tell with regard to our ecclesiastical domains in Germany, as concerns the Gestis Dei per Francos?' " {4}[Emphasis added]

Bismarck: The Story of a Fighter

"Consider the tremendous words of an eminent Roman Catholic representative of a Roman Catholic power, spoken directly to the Honorable Andrew D. White, former Ambassador to Germany, and the head of the American Delegation to the first Peace Congress [due to the Spanish-American War of 1898] at The Hague. The following is an extract from Ambassador White's diary, August 5, 1899, . . . 'The Vatican has always been, and is to-day, a storm-center. The pope and his advisers have never hesitated to urge on war, no matter how bloody, when the slightest of their ordinary worldly purposes could be served by it. The great religious wars of Europe were entirely stirred up and egged on by them; and, as everybody knows, the pope did everything to prevent the signing the Treaty of Munster, which put an end to the dreadful Thirty Years' War [1618-1648], even going so far as to declare the oaths taken by the plenipotentiaries at that congress of no effect.

All through the Middle Ages [the Pope's Dark Ages] and at the Renaissance period the popes kept Italy in turmoil and bloodshed for their own family and territorial advantages, and they kept all Europe in turmoil, for two centuries after the Reformation,—in fact, just as long as they could,—in the wars of religion. They did everything they could to stir up a war between Austria and Prussia in 1866, thinking that Austria, a Catholic power, was sure to win; and then everything possible to stir up the war of France against Prussia in 1870 in order to accomplish the same purpose of checking German Protestantism; and now they are doing all they can to arouse hatred, even to deluge Italy in blood, in the vain attempt to recover the temporal power, though they must know they could not hold it for any length of time, even if they should obtain it.

They pretend to be anxious to "save souls," and especially to love [Roman Catholic] Poland and Ireland; but they have for years used those countries as mere pawns in their game with Russia and Great Britain, and would sell every Catholic soul they contain to the Greek and English Churches if they should thereby secure the active aid of these two governments against Italy. They have obliged the Italian youth to choose between patriotism and Christianity [Roman Catholicism], and the result is that the best of these have become atheists. Their whole policy is based on stirring up hatred and promoting conflicts from which they hope to draw worldly advantage.' " {5} [Emphasis added]

Romanism: A Menace to the Nation

"We shall see later on that the Jesuits seek to produce the same hatred of a nation which they wish to destroy, in order to induce other nations to combine against it [as was done to Bismarck's Protestant Second Reich in WWI]. Slander, falsehood, and vituperation are the weapons they use for this purpose, and it may be assumed as certain that wherever these weapons are used to excite the hatred of the masses against the upper classes, or hatred of any person or persons who stand in the way of their ambition, those who use them are Jesuits, or in close alliance with them [as were the Pope's Masonic Jewish Bolsheviks]." {6} [Emphasis added]

Rome and the War: And Coming Events In Britain

"Cardinal Manning [Archbishop of Westminster; a Cardinal from 1875-1892] speaking of the means to be used for the restoration of the Papal Power [the Pope's Temporal Power lost to the King of Italy in 1870], said, 'There is only one solution of the difficulty, a solution I fear impending, and this is, the terrible scourge of Continental war, a war which will exceed the horrors of any of the wars of the first Empire. And it is my firm conviction that, in spite of all obstacles, the vicar of Jesus Christ will be put again in his own rightful place [accomplished by Mussolini in 1929]. But that day will not be until his adversaries will have crushed each other with mutual destruction [i.e., World War I].'

Now the principal 'adversaries' of the Papal retentions were, at that time, the Protestant Powers, Britain, Germany, and the United States, and we gather, therefore, that the plan of Rome, as indicated by Cardinal Manning, was to take measures to stir up these Powers against each other, and, without scruple or remorse, plunge them into the bloodiest of wars in order that they should 'crush each other with mutual destruction.'

Upon this subject, the Reverend Hugh Price Hughes, in writing his reminiscences of the later Cardinal Manning, said, 'I was simply horrified at the calmness with which he declared he would be willing to deluge the whole of Europe with blood in order to destroy the unity of Italy and recover the temporal power of the Pope.' Jesuits and Jesuitism

"From Gaeta he [Pope Pius IX] poured forth his curses on his subjects. And while he was giving these manifestations of his paternal heart, the Jesuits and Cardinal [Giacomo] Antonelli were laying the plan of that infernal compact between the Court of Rome and almost all the despots of Europe, for crushing and annihilating all seeds of civil and religious liberty, and for murdering, with merciless ferocity, all those who shouted for reform [in Italy], in the name and under the auspices of Pius IX; a just retribution, it should seem, for having trusted in a priest, and thought him capable of being an honest and liberal man. Monsignor de Falloux, a Jesuit, brother of the then all-powerful minister

From 1815 to that fateful year of 1871, the Jesuits, with their Holy Alliance of despots, had suppressed every attempt in Europe to create a popular government with limited powers. The Roman Catholic peoples of Spain and Italy were crushed. France's "Citizen-King" Louis Philippe, having expelled the Company in 1831 for which he was nearly assassinated by a thief, Giuseppe Fieschi, and later driven into exile. The Jesuits promptly created an Empire for themselves with Napoleon III.

The great Protestant Republic of America had been destroyed with a horrible war and on its ruins the Jesuits had created their "Holy Roman" American Empire. But the risen Son of God raised up a great Protestant leader whose country would be used to destroy the Jesuits' political power in France, Italy and Germany. He was "the Iron Chancellor," ironically, Masonic Bible-believer Prince Otto von Bismarck.

With the Jesuits creating the French Empire in 1852 bringing Napoleon III to power, they now could wage wars for their purposes. Although officially prohibited, the Society of Jesus was the master of France for nineteen years until 1871.

And what did the Jesuits do during that time? They waged war! The first was the Crimean War of 1853-56. The Vatican's Jesuits fought against the Orthodox Church. On the side of the Vatican were France, England and Turkey. On the side of the Orthodox Church was Russia. And why was that war waged? It was fought over which "Church" would "protect" the "holy places" in "Palestine!" One hundred thousand French soldiers were called "martyrs of the faith" by the priests, as that war was a Crusade. The Archbishop of Paris made the following incriminating admission on behalf of the Jesuits and their forever-warring Roman Papacy:

"The Crimean War, between France and Russia, is not a political war, but a holy war; it is not a State fighting another State, people fighting other people, but singularly a war of religion, a Crusade . . ." {10} [Emphasis added]

(Years later the Jesuits, with their "Holy Roman" American Empire, would launch a massive Crusade in Europe, President Eisenhower later promoting his ghost-written book of that title. Subsequently, the Order would conduct another Crusade in the Far East. Archbishop Spellman of New York would call the American soldiers "the soldiers of Christ;" that Crusade would be the infamous Vietnam War.)

By the 1860s the Jesuits began to experience some serious setbacks particularly at the hand of Protestant Prussia. In 1866 the Germans trounced Austria, the heart of the Holy Alliance, with the Prussian and Austrian War. This infuriated the Jesuits!

So four years later, the Jesuits used Napoleon III to start a war with Germany. France was shamefully beaten, further enraging the Jesuits! Of the Jesuit influence causing the Franco-Prussian War of 1870 we read:

> "While the French army was spilling its blood in the four corners of the world, and getting weaker defending interests which were not hers, Prussia, under the heavy hand of the future 'iron chancellor', was busy expanding its military might in order to unite the German states in a single block. Austria was the first victim of its will and power. In agreement with Prussia which was to seize the Danish duchies of Schleswig and Holstein, Austria was cheated by her accomplice. The war which followed, was soon won by Prussia at Sadowa on the 3rd of July, 1866. It was a terrible blow for the ancient Hapsburg monarchy that was declining; the blow was just as hard for the Vatican, as Austria had been for so long its most faithful stronghold within the Germanic lands. From now on, Protestant Prussia will exercise her hegemony over them. Unless . . . the Roman Church finds a 'secular arm' capable of stopping completely the expansion of the 'heretic' power [later to be the American Empire in 1917]. But who can play this part in Europe apart from the French Empire? Napoleon III, 'the man sent by Providence', will have the honor of avenging Sadowa . . . France herself declared war: this war of 1870 was proved by history to be the work of the Jesuits." {11} [Emphasis added]

Again we read the Jesuits are guilty of:

> ". . . their complicity in the plots against the life of Queen Elizabeth . . . their responsibility for kindling the Thirty Years' War . . . their decisive influence in causing the revocation of the Edict of Nantes . . . and their accountability for precipitating the Franco-German War of 1870." {12} [Emphasis added]

(Dear truth-seeker, the Jesuit hand in causing the Franco-Prussian War of 1870 must be obvious to you if the catastrophe called "the Twentieth Century" is to be understood. For if the Jesuits caused the War of 1870, they surely caused World War I. And if their armies were victorious in World War I, they controlled the plunder of Germany called "the Treaty of Versailles." And if they were behind that most infamous treaty, they caused World War II. And if their Allied Armies were victorious in World War II, they controlled the agreements at Yalta, Potsdam, Cairo and Tehran. And if they controlled those conferences, they authored the Cold War —the Jesuits' Communist Inquisition behind the "Iron and Bamboo Curtains."

International socialist-communism was then aided and abetted by the Jesuits' financial and military colossus, the American Empire, as the Jesuit-controlled John Birch Society—named after a Baptist martyr in China!!—has so ably proven. And if the Jesuits began the Cold War in 1945, they, with the stroke of a pen in the hands of George H. W. Bush (CIA) and Mikhail Gorbachev (KGB), ended it at Malta in 1989, only to continue to "make relentless war on all heretics and liberals."

Therefore, since the Jesuits have supposedly ended the Cold War, are they ready to strike their next great blow upon the American Empire? That blow will tend to further consolidate Europe into a revived "Holy Roman Empire." What national crisis will result in the rise of an absolutist, right wing military dictatorship? Would that military dictatorship attempt the annihilation of the American Jewish "heretics" ultimately resulting in a massive Sino-Soviet-Moslem-Latino-Cuban invasion and occupation, thereby destroying American Protestant and Baptist "heretics"? This is the same agenda the Jesuits used to destroy the Protestant German Empire (its unification having been financed by a Jew, Bleichroder) and the Jews of Europe during World Wars I and II. Whatever the attack may be, it will surely be pursuant to the Council of Trent! And if President Kennedy had prematurely ended the Cold War and destroyed the CIA, the long range agenda of the Devil ruling the world through his risen Papal Caesar from Jerusalem, would never have been fulfilled within his time frame established through his Jesuit Superior General and High Command of Assistants, advised by their eighty-five, worldwide Provincials.)

As a result of German victories during the war of 1870, Napoleon III had to withdraw his French troops from Rome. They had protected the Temporal Power of the Pope since 1849. When the French withdrew, the Italians took Rome, creating the sovereign Kingdom of Italy. The loss of the Pope's Temporal Power further enraged the Jesuits as they blamed Germany's Kaiser Wilhelm I and Prince Bismarck. Both Italy and Germany would pay dearly for this, as the Protestant Kaiser, upon resigning, would be driven into exile (thanks to Grand Orient German Freemasonry) in preparing for World War II—the apex of the "extirpation of heretics and liberals" during the Jesuit General's Second Thirty Years' War.

When the jubilant Italians liberated Rome, Victor Emmanuel II became the King of Italy. Pius IX fled Rome and declared himself a prisoner in the castle of St. Angelo. He then excommunicated Victor Emmanuel II with the following words:

> "By the Authority of Almighty God, the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost; and of the Holy Canons, and of the undefiled Virgin Mary, mother and nurse of our Saviour; and of the celestial virtues, angels, archangels, thrones, dominions, powers, cherubims, and seraphims; and of all the holy patriarchs and prophets; and of the apostles and evangelists; and of the holy innocents, who, in the sight of the Holy Lamb, are found worthy to sing the new song; and of the holy martyrs and holy confessors, and of the holy virgins, and of the saints, together with all the holy and elect of God: we excommunicate and anathematize him, and from the threshold of the holy church of God Almighty we sequester him, that he may be tormented in eternal excruciating sufferings, together with Dathan and Abiram, and those who say to the Lord God, 'Depart from us; we desire none of thy ways.' And as fire is quenched by water, so let the light of him be put out forever more. May the Son who suffered for us, curse him. May the Father who created man, curse him. May the Holy Ghost which was given to us in our baptism, curse him. May the Holy Cross which Christ, for our salvation, triumphing over his enemies, ascended, curse him. May the Holy and eternal Virgin Mary, mother of God, curse him. May St. Michael the advocate of holy souls, curse him. May all the angels and archangels, principalities and powers, and all the heavenly armies, curse him. May St. John the precursor, and St. Peter, and St. Paul, and St. John the Baptist, and St. Andrew, and all other Christ's apostles, together curse him, and may the rest of his disciples and four Evangelists, who by their preaching converted the universal world,— and may the holy and wonderful company of martyrs and confessors, who by their holy work are found pleasing to God Almighty,— curse him. May the Choir of the Holy Virgins, who for the honor of Christ have despised the things of this world, damn him. May all the saints who from the beginning of the world, and everlasting ages are found to be beloved of God, damn him. May the heavens and the earth, and all things remaining therein, damn him. May he be damned wherever he may be; whether in the house or in the field, whether in the highway or in the byway, whether in the wood or water, or whether in the church. May he be cursed in living and dying, in eating and drinking, in fasting and thirsting, in slumbering and sleeping, in watching or walking, in standing or sitting, in lying down or walking mingendo cancando, and in all blood-letting. May he be cursed in all the faculties of his body. May he be cursed inwardly and outwardly. May he be cursed in his hair. May he be cursed in his brain.
> May he be cursed in the crown of his head and in his temples. In his forehead and in his ears. In his eyebrows and in his cheeks. In his jawbones and his nostrils. In his foreteeth and in his grinders. In his lips and in his throat. In his shoulders and in his wrists. In his arms, his hands, and in his fingers. May he be damned in his mouth, in his breast, in his heart, and in all the viscera of his body. May he be damned in his veins and in his groin; in his thighs; in his hips and in his knees; in his legs, feet, and toenails.

May he be cursed in all the joints and articulations of his body. From the top of his head to the sole of his foot may there be no soundness in him. May the Son of the living God, with all the glory of His Majesty, curse him; and may heaven, with all the powers that move therein, rise up against him—curse him and damn him! Amen. So let it be! Amen." {13}

(Dear truth-seeker, why did not Papal Caesar Pius XII excommunicate Adolf Hitler as Papal Caesar Pius IX excommunicated Victor Emmanuel II? Simple. Hitler upheld the Pope's evil Temporal Power, but Emmanuel destroyed it. Further, like Surratt, Hitler was given the honor of "A Solemn High Requiem Mass" upon his "death." And yet further, upon hearing of Hitler's faked death, Adolf Cardinal Bertram, Archbishop of Berlin, ordered all the parish priests of his archdiocese ". . . 'to hold a solemn Requiem in memory of the Fuehrer and all those members of the Wehrmacht who have fallen in the struggle for our German Fatherland . . . and for the Catholic Church in Germany.' " [Wow!!] {14} [Emphasis added])

Pius IX in 1864 had condemned "progress, liberalism (popular government) and civilization" with his Syllabus of Errors. Since "the penholders of the Pope are Jesuits," those demon-possessed "sons of Satan" wrote the Syllabus. The eighty "errors of civilization" were made part of the teaching of the First Vatican Council of 1870, known as "Vatican I." Some of those "errors" were and are as follows:

"Reprobated, forbidden, and condemned is the proposition (No. 15 of the Syllabus): 'Every man, guided by the light of reason, is free to adopt and to recognize whatever religion he considers to be the true one.'

Reprobated, forbidden and condemned is the proposition (No. 16 of the Syllabus): 'By the exercise of any religion whatsoever men may find the way to eternal salvation and attain eternal happiness.'

Reprobated, forbidden and condemned is the proposition (No. 18 of the Syllabus): 'Protestantism is nothing more than another form of the same true Christian religion, and one may be in it as acceptable to God as in the Catholic Church.'

Reprobated, forbidden and condemned is the proposition (No. 55 of the Syllabus): 'The Church shall be separate from the State, and the State from the Church [the First Amendment to America's Bill of Rights].'

Finally, there is still the proposition (No. 80 of the Syllabus): 'The Pope of Rome must conform and accommodate himself to progress, to liberalism, and to modern civilization,' which is reprobated, forbidden and condemned, and therewith is a crown put upon the whole Syllabus." {15} [Emphasis added]

By 1878, at the time of Pius IX's death, the freedom loving, liberal Roman Catholic Italians so hated the Pope—this tyrannical puppet of the Black Pope—that they sought to throw the Pontiff's body into the Tiber the night his remains were being transported to San Lorenzo Fuori le Mura.

Dear truth-seeker, as you can see, the "errors" that the Pope with his Jesuits condemn are freedom of conscience, freedom of worship, Protestantism, salvation outside of the Catholic Church and "liberalism," "liberalism" meaning the separation of the Pope's monarchial Roman Catholic Church government from the established civil government of any State. "Liberalism" encompasses all Constitutional limited governments—Protestant or Roman Catholic—born out of the Protestant-Calvinist Modern Era beginning in 1648. The Syllabus is nothing more than a modern restatement of the Jesuits' wicked and evil Council of Trent. During that Vatican Council of 1869-1870 the Syllabus was not only incorporated into its teachings, but the Papal Caesar was declared to be "infallible"—and no wonder; for, one day when he is risen from the dead, he will sit in Solomon's rebuilt Temple in Jerusalem,

"...so that he as God sitteth in the temple of God,
shewing himself that he is God."

Throne of the Papal Caesar, King of Rome, 2000 #194

Kept hidden from view of the world, the Throne of the King of Rome signifies the Pope's assumed Temporal Power by which usurpation he rules not only Italy but all nations of the world. Claiming to possess the same universal, geopolitical power rightfully belonging to the risen Son of God to be wielded upon His return to rule all nations from Jerusalem, the Jesuits ceaselessly labor night and day to lay all nations at the Pope's feet, their kings, presidents and dictators paying homage to this self-styled "King of kings and Lord of lords." Any ruler who refuses to obey the absolutist dictates of this Roman Caesar disguised in religious garb will be adjudged to be a "usurper" and a "tyrant." Such was President Kennedy: he in fact repudiated the Temporal Power of the King of Rome by refusing to allow Rome's Sunday Mass to be said at the White House, and by severing all relationship with "the American Pope," Francis Cardinal Spellman. The "Moral Theology" of the Jesuits brought JFK "the leaden bullet" in 1963.

First Vatican Council (1869 – 1870), Rome, Italy, 1870 #195

This most damnable of Rome's Councils was completely controlled by the evil Sons of Loyola, as the "Infallibility of the Pope" was decreed. The choice was now clear: one's final authority for faith and practice was either the Pope of Rome or the Word of God—the Bible of the Protestant Reformation! This bold attack against all Protestant nations of Europe resulted in the expulsion of the Order from the German Empire (1872) and Bismarck's "Culture Struggle" with Pius IX's Papacy (1871-1878). Several Roman Catholic nations revolted against the Vatican including Italy, whose King Victor Emmanuel II deprived Pius IX of his Temporal Power (1870) to be restored by Mussolini (1929). But the Company, in full control of the British Empire (1800), the American Empire (1868) and the Japanese Empire (1868), was plotting a huge Crusade—the Second Thirty Years' War—against Imperial China, the Protestant Prussian Empire, "liberal" France, the Orthodox Russian Empire and the Islamic Ottoman Empire. Key to the Order's determined worldwide Crusade would be its doctrinal battle-plan called the Syllabus of Errors—incorporated into pro-Council of Trent Vatican I.

"Reprobated, forbidden and condemned" would be freedom of conscience (XV), Protestantism, Bible Societies and Liberal Societies (XVIII). Beginning this "Modern Infallible Papacy," would be the condemnation of "communism" thus beginning the Pope's Crusade against "godless Jew Communism," all the while being its secret master. WWII "Fascism" would be the embodiment of Rome's Syllabus, corresponding "most closely to the concepts of the Church of Rome."

Freemason Prince Otto von Bismarck (1815 – 1898), 1871

- "Iron Chancellor" of the Second German Reich, 1871 – 1890
- Emancipated 550,000 Jews Bringing Blessing to the Reich, 1871
- Expelled the Society of Jesus from Germany, 1872 – 1917

A contemporary of the great German noble and ex-Jesuit, Count Paul von Hoensbroech who authored Fourteen Years A Jesuit (1911), Bismarck was the instrument through whom the risen Son of God established the Protestant German Empire born out of the Biblical preaching of a converted Roman Catholic priest, John Ronge, Germany's second Martin Luther and pastor of the German Catholic Church of Breslau. Bismarck, aided by Bavarian King Ludwig II, defeated the Jesuits' Napoleon III in the Franco-Prussian War of 1870-71; enabled the Italian patriots to take the Temporal Power from the Pope in 1870; and conducted his "Cultural Struggle" with Rome arresting certain priests in the pulpit while preaching their high treason against Wilhelm I, Germany's Lutheran Kaiser, and the Protestant Second Reich. While rightly refusing to persecute the Semitic Hebrew/Jewish Race in the midst of those adhering to Judaism, his greatest accomplishment was in leading the German Parliament to banish the Jesuit Order from all of the Empire in 1872, France following suit eight years later. But the "heretic and liberal" Protestant and Roman Catholic Germans would pay dearly for this, as the Order would use Protestant America and England (with France and Russia) to encircle, attack and destroy the Second Empire, with all of Prussian Lutheran Protestantism, during the Black Pope's Second Thirty Years' War waged from 1914 to 1945.

The Jesuits were furious! The Second German Empire or "Reich" had just been established. Its Protestant armies had smashed the Roman Catholic Empire of Austria-Hungary in 1866 along with the Roman Catholic French Empire in 1871. Catholic Hapsburg and Bonaparte, both abject tools of the Jesuit General's Holy Alliance, were greatly humbled. As a result, and in conjunction with the Prussian Lutheran anti-popish policy of "Kulturkampf," the Jesuits attempted to assassinate Protestant Prince Bismarck, once in 1866 and again in 1874. The Jesuits were all the more enraged as the necessity of withdrawing the French soldiers from Rome enabled King Victor Emmanuel II to take the Temporal Power from the Pope. Three years later, in 1873 the King expelled the Company from Rome, the expulsion lasting for twenty years. But the final straw was the official banishment of the Jesuit Order from Prussia. The Jesuits using the Ultramontane political party (which later culminated in Nazism) sought to control the Empire. So on the 4th of July (Oh glorious day!), 1872, the German Parliament expelled them with the following words:

> "The Order of Jesus and the societies allied to it, as well as congregations similar thereto [especially the Redemptorists who are, in fact, Jesuits under the name of another Order], are excluded from the territories of the German Empire. The establishment of settlements of the same is interdicted. The settlements at the present time existing are to be dissolved within a period to be fixed by Diet, which shall not exceed six months." {3}

And what was the German response?

"Thus the whole of the thinking world, among Catholics as well as among Protestants, repeated the words 'God be praised that they have gone;' and abroad it was thought that we Germans were indeed fortunate in having such a Government." {4}[Emphasis added]

"This act remained in force after the end of Kulturkampf [Bismarck's "struggle between cultures" or rather, his struggle with the usurping political jurisdiction of Rome], and it was not definitely repealed until 1917 [after the beginning of the Jesuits' Second Thirty Years' War enabling the Order to impose the deceit of Woodrow Wilson's "Fourteen Points," the theft and murder imposed by the Order's Masonic Treaty of Versailles and the destruction of the Protestant German Empire]." {5}[Emphasis added]

But the German Parliament or "Reichstag" (destroyed in 1933 by Roehm's homosexual arson squad) would never have expelled the Jesuits had it not been for the condemnation of the Order by the German Protestant Assembly. Written in 1871 from Darmstadt (later to be deliberately destroyed by Allied bombers as Jesuit payback) and agreed with by many German Roman Catholics, we read:

"II. As regards the Jesuit Order. In consideration:

(1) that the Jesuit Order consists entirely of members who are estranged from their families, from civil Society, from their native country, and implicitly obey the orders of their Roman superiors;

(2) that the Jesuit Order is no union of free individuals, but a strictly disciplined spiritual army corps, under officers and a supreme General;

(3) that the Society, since its re-establishment by Pius VII (Bull of 7th August 1814), as before its abolition by Pope Clement XIV (Brief [Bull] of 21st July 1773), worked with the sole object of renewing and accentuating the medieval supremacy of the Roman Hierarchy over the human mind, and setting up again the supreme power of the Pope of Rome over princes and peoples;

(4) that the Jesuit Order has declared war against the entire cultivation of mind in the world, no less than against modern law, and civil as well as political liberty (see Encyclical of the Pope [Pius IX] of 8th December 1864—Syllabus of Errors) to hinder the religious moral development of mankind;

(5) that it disturbs and undermines the peace of families in a way which threatens the continuance and development of the German Empire, and on every occasion shows enmity to the rights of German Protestantism;

(6) that it destroys the education of youth by priestly training, by mortification of the love of truth, by the annihilation of conscientious spontaneity, by slavish submission to the authority of the hierarchy, and thereby deeply injures the development of the formation of the character and mind of the nation and of individuals;

(7) that it promotes superstition and the weakness of men for the increase of riches, and wickedly contributes to the extension of its dominion;

(8) that the freedom of union and of religious associations are only rightly constituted in so far as they conform to the ordinances of the State and of law, and are subordinate to the same:—in consideration of all these things, the German Protestant Union expresses its conviction that the security of legal order, and the authority of the laws and the power of the State, the well-being of civil society, the preservation of confessional peace, and the protection of spiritual freedom and spiritual culture, demand the State prohibition of the Jesuit Order in Germany. The Union also looks upon it as an earnest duty of the German Protestants, and of the whole German nation, to act in regard thereto with energy, that all interference in school and church matters, should be put a stop to as regards to those belonging and affiliated to the Jesuit Order." {6} [Emphasis added]

In addition to Protestants calling for the Order's expulsion from Germany, influential Roman Catholic priests were openly refusing to submit to the infallibility of the Pope as decreed in 1870. Johann Joseph Ignaz von Dollinger (using the pen name of "Janus," was one such priest, from the Order's stronghold of Bavaria. The leader of the "Old Catholics" and considered to be the greatest Roman Catholic historian in Germany, von Dollinger eloquently opposed the doctrine of the Temporal Power in his 1857 lecture delivered in Rome titled, The Church and the Churches; or, The Papacy and the Temporal Power. But his letter to the Archbishop of Munich dated March 28, 1871, became world renowned, a portion of which is as follows:

"The Fathers of the Church have all, without exception, . . . found anything but an infallibility given to the Pope. Therefore, were I to accept this explanation with the decrees, without which every Biblical basis is wanting to them, I should commit a perjury. . . . the new decrees are simply incompatible with the constitutions of the States of Europe, and especially with that of [King Ludwig II's] Bavaria; and that I, who am bound by oath to this constitution, which I have lately sworn on my admission to the Chamber of the Councilors of State, > find it impossible to accept the new decrees, and as their necessary consequence, the Bulls 'Unam Sanctam' and 'Cum ex Apostolatus officio,' the Syllabus of Pius IX, with so many other Papal declarations and laws, . . . are now to be accepted as infallible decisions although they are in irreconcilable antagonism to the laws of the country. . . . For it is not I alone who am concerned; but thousands of the clergy [whose "liberal" successors would find themselves in Jesuit Pontiff Pius XII's concentration camps], hundreds of thousands of the laity, who think as I do, and find it impossible to accept the new articles of faith. . . .

> The new Vatican doctrine confers upon the Pope the whole plenitude of power . . . over the entire Church, as well as over every individual layman, priest and bishop; . . . Against him there can be maintained no right, no personal or corporate freedom . . . the tribunal of God and that of the Pope are one and the same. This system bears its Romish origin on its forehead, and will never be able to penetrate in Germanic countries [apart from a Jesuit "extirpation" caused by two world wars]. As a [Roman Catholic] Christian, . . . I cannot accept this doctrine. . . . it purposes just that establishment of the kingdom of this world which Christ rejected; . . . the persistent endeavour to realize this theory of a kingdom of the world had cost Europe rivers of blood, . . . and degraded whole countries, . . . I must put this dogma away from me, . . . For . . . this doctrine, . . . would, if governing the Catholic part of the German nation, at once lay the seed of incurable decay in the new kingdom which has just been built up [for which unanswered objections Von Dollinger was defrocked and excommunicated, while he received condolence from his "liberal" King Ludwig II and was elected as Rector of the University of Munich]." {7} [Emphasis added]

(Dear truth-seeker, this is the true, honest, just, pure, lovely, virtuous and patriotic response to Jesuitism! What, in Christ's name, are you Protestants and Baptists of Great Britain and the United States doing? What are you Pastors thinking, as you apparently are ignorant of this history or are too gutless to resist these "sons of Satan"? Are Rome's amusements of professional sports and entertainment more important than warning your precious sheep of Christ of their impending doom at the hands of Jesuit-controlled executioners? (Remember, the "movie star" Bing Crosby was raised by Jesuits; Knight of Malta Bowie Kuhn was a former Commissioner of Baseball; Knight of Columbus and Baseball idol Babe Ruth was raised by Jesuit priests at St. Joseph's School for Boys; Knights of Malta Lawrence Welk and Danny Thomas were renowned entertainers; fascist Knight of Malta Frank Capra was a successful Hollywood film director; and fascist Knight of Malta Joseph P. Kennedy was a Hollywood movie mogul! Dear truth-seeker, is it any wonder why the priests of Rome are usually presented in a good light, like the priest in The Bells of St. Mary's, or like the priest in The Old Man and the Sea, or like the Jesuit who saves the Protestant English sea captain from being burnt alive in Shogun, or like the nuns who save the von Trapps from the Nazis in The Sound Of Music (starring Roman Catholic Julie Andrews), or like the benevolent nuns towards the wayward Sidney Poitier (another Black, race-mixing, communist, civil rights agitator) in The Lilies of the Field, or like the priest reciting scripture in the language of the people (Oh, what hypocrisy!) while comforting Roman Catholics as the ship is sinking (due to Jesuit intrigue) in Titanic, or like the repentant homosexual ex-priest in JFK, or like the priest breaking the law of the king by secretly marrying William Wallace in Braveheart, or like the righteous priest killing the evil Bishop in Robin Hood? Are not Hollywood's leading actors predominantly Roman Catholics portraying a pro-Pope history rewritten by Jesuit-controlled screenwriters? Is it any wonder why White Protestants or Bible-believers are portrayed as being heartless liars and criminal murderers like the English missionary in Hawaii, or Lieutenant Kendrick in A Few Good Men, or the scripture-quoting sea captain as he fornicates with one of the captive Black women on his slave ship in Roots, just to name a few? Apparently, we criminal Bible-believers are the plague of the world and should be exterminated, being the "obstinate heretics" that we are!) Does it matter that your children or grandchildren will be the unhappy slaves of a merciless, absolutist, fascist American dictator guided by the Jesuits of Fordham and Georgetown Universities? In the name of Christ Jesus, sound the alarm, blow the shofar, lift up your voices and cry out,

> "Beware of the Sons of Loyola! Expel them from our nation before they torture and exterminate us all in the name of 'Peace' and 'National Security' just like they did to the Protestants and Jews of fascist Nazi Germany at the hand of their White Roman Catholic 'Grand Inquisitor,' during the bloody Second Thirty Years' War (1914-1945) under the second Emperor Ferdinand II, Adolf Hitler!!!")

The Jesuits were temporarily gone. Little did the German people know that they would pay dearly for this! The Jesuits would cause Prince Bismarck to weaken, as he must have feared for his life after the second assassination attempt in 1874. He reversed his policy called "the struggle with Rome" and repealed his own Falk Laws having rightly acted upon the Catholics in Prussia. He then entered into an alliance with the Jesuit-trained Pope Leo XIII creating "The Center Party" in 1877—the very year the great Tzar Alexander II broke diplomatic relations with Rome. This alliance with the Papacy opened the door for Papal supremacy in German politics.

A few years after the death of Bismarck, during the reign of pro-Pope Kaiser Wilhelm II, the Jesuits lawfully re-entered the Empire in 1917. In time, the Order successfully used their "Center Party," led by its Jesuit priest in the Reichstag, Ludwig Kaas, who later became the Pope's Finance Minister, and Knight of Malta Franz von Papen—the personal advisor to Pope Pius XII—to bring Roman Catholic Nazi Hitler to power creating that homosexual-led hammer of the Devil, the Black Pope's Third Reich. The Jesuits would then ignite another Thirty Years' War from 1914 to 1945. The Protestant German Empire would be destroyed and the Protestant Lutheran Kaiser, Wilhelm II, would be driven into exile after World War I. The Jesuits would raise up the sodomite Nazi party from their old Catholic stronghold of Bavaria and erect the Third Empire or "Third Reich" on the ruins of the Weimar Republic. The Jesuits would bring Hitler to power and their formal suppression would be avenged by the burning of the German Parliament known as "the Reichstag fire." The Jesuits' SS would persecute the Jews from Spain to Russia, from Italy to Denmark and thereby bring the curses of God and Satan upon the manipulated and disgraced German people to this day. During World War II, Germany would be firebombed by the Jesuit-controlled British and American Air Forces, destroying Protestant populations and non-military targets like Protestant Dresden and the town of the Protestant Union of 1871, Darmstadt. Hitler would be used to betray, defeat, and destroy the German army in Russia, under the command of Protestant Prussian Generals, just like Napoleon! And from a bunker in Berlin every decision the Fuhrer made would further destroy the Lutheran East German people, like the flooding of the underground sewers where thousands sought refuge from Allied bombing.

After the war, the Jesuits would take further vengeance. Germany, as was done to Protestant Virginia during the War Between the States, would be divided —the East being mostly Protestant and the West being mostly Roman Catholic. The surviving Protestants of the East, gang raped and plundered by the brutal, atheistic, Soviet Red Army, would be placed under the Jesuit-trained Grand Inquisitor, Josef Stalin, and shipped off to the Black Pope's Siberian concentration camps. Catholic West Germany, occupied by the more benevolent Americans, would be brought under the military protection and financial backing of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) headed by the Jesuits' Council on Foreign Relations in control of the American Empire. But Protestant East Germany, under the oppression of the Jesuits' Russian Empire (called the "USSR"), would be kept poverty-stricken and undeveloped until the end of the Cold War with the fall of the Berlin Wall. All this was done with the help of those bloody American 33rd Degree Freemasons, Presidents Roosevelt and "Dirty" Harry Truman. They both were members of the Jesuits' Council on Foreign Relations controlled by Archbishop Spellman and his Knights of Malta, Joseph P. Kennedy, J. Peter Grace, Jr., Myron C. Taylor and Henry R. Luce. The origin of all this tragedy was the expulsion of the Jesuits from the German Empire by a united German people, Protestant and Catholic alike.

With the defeat of Napoleon III and the end of the French Empire under the command of the Jesuits, France's Third Republic was born in 1877. With Deputy Leon Gambetta—a Freemason who righteously warned that universal suffrage (having been conferred upon all "Fourteenth Amendment U.S. citizens" in 1870 via the Fifteenth Amendment) would put any nation "under the yoke of the clergy"—it expelled the Jesuits from France. We read:

> "In the spring of 1880 . . . A decree was brought forth by the Ministry dissolving, first of all, the Society of Jesus within the borders of France, and closing within three months from the date of the act, all Jesuitical establishments in the Republic. The declaration of Gambetta, 'Our enemy is clericism,' was accepted by the Republicans as a truism which they must regard and act upon under the common-law of self-defense." {8}

The Jesuits would have their vengeance even as with Coligny, Henry IV, Louis XVI, Louis Philippe, Eugene Sue and now upon the greatest orator and most fearless leader of modern France. Two years later, on the last day of 1882, Prime Minister Leon Gambetta was shot. The Jesuits nerved the hand of his mistress-assassin as Gambetta, during his last hours, suffered terribly from blood poisoning. Pursuant to the Jesuit-authored The Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion, the Order kills its own Freemasons if necessary as it did with both Napoleon Bonaparte I and Leon Gambetta. Within Protocol No. 15 we read:

> "9. Death is the inevitable end for all. It is better to bring that end nearer to those who hinder our affairs than to ourselves, to the founders of this affair. We execute masons in such wise that none save the brotherhood can ever have a suspicion of it, not even the victims themselves of our death sentence, they all die when required as if from a normal kind of illness [as millions perish via the Order's Medical Inquisition] . . ." {9}

(Dear truth-seeker, as we have proven, the Jesuits have revived and control the secret society of Freemasonry, its religious and political agenda being in accord with the Council of Trent. It is their greatest tool, appearing to be anti-Pope! But if individual Masons interfere with the plans of the Sons of Loyola they are ignored, silenced or murdered. One American Freemason was President Garfield who had been assassinated one year before our fearless French Freemason, Leon Gambetta.)

Little did the French know they too would pay dearly for their expulsion of the Jesuits, having never been enlightened as to the true authors of the French Revolution and Napoleonic Wars. The descendants of the brave Blaise Pascal, Admiral Coligny, Henry IV, General Lafayette, "the Citizen King" Louis Philippe, Eugene Sue, Jules Michelet, Edgar Quinet, Alexandre Dumas, Victor Hugo and Leon Gambetta—all anti-Jesuit—would be disgraced with the anti-Semitic/Jewish "Dreyfus Affair," as Captain Alfred Dreyfus, that innocent Jewish French officer whose WWI Chief of the General Staff had a Jesuit confessor, would be unjustly convicted of "treason" (just like the Rosenbergs in America) and spend several years of torturous imprisonment at Devil's Island. Further, the flower of French manhood would fall on the battlefields and would be gassed or buried alive in the trenches during World War I—the beginning of the Jesuits' Second Thirty Years' War. But all did not fare well with the Order in France. The King of the Jews, at the right hand of His Father in Heaven, moved His invisible, nail-scarred hand against the Blackrobes (and their Edouard Drumont) who were creating massive French anti-Jewish fury. We read:

> "In 1901 there began a parliamentary crusade against the Jesuits . . . which had established themselves in France and had become hostile to the Republic. The Associations Bill . . . was no half-hearted measure . . . This was no doubt aimed at those Orders who had entered the commercial sphere and were rolling in wealth. Some of the Orders did large business as . . . patent medicine makers . . . The new Act was administered with severity, largely due to the damaging revelations of the part played by [the Jesuits] in the Dreyfus case [which led to the instigation of the Order's anti-Torah, Labor Zionist Movement led by its Masonic Jew, Theodor Herzl, who, after an audience with Pope Pius X in 1904, pledged protection of Roman Catholic "sanctuaries" in "Palestine" by his Zionists who later, under the leadership of Chaim Weizmann and with the secret blessing of Pope Pius XII, established their anti-Torah, Labor Zionist government of Israel]. Of course there was the usual cry of religious persecution. To that the best reply was made in the Times as follows. . . . 'They [the Jesuits] are a political organization working to extend the influence of the Church of Rome over the French Army and the French Legislature . . . [The] French Government . . . is dealing simply with political agents aiming at the subversion of society, employing the most scandalous and immoral methods, and using their ecclesiastical status simply as a cloak to disguise their real character, and a means of envenoming the dagger they seek to plunge into the side of the body politic.' " {10}[Emphasis added]

(Dear truth-seeker, the Jesuits plunged in the dagger in 1914 beginning World War I, twisted it in 1940 with Hitler's successful invasion, and were given formal reentry by Pétain's "Vichy Government" in 1942, manned by Nazis like Klaus Barbie, an SS Captain of the Black Pope's high-level SD and surnamed "the Butcher of Lyons.")

At this point we must ask a most difficult question, a question that rests upon the reality of France's utter inability to successfully resist the religious and therefore the temporal/political POWER of the Pope. For his Militia continually returned to torment the nation with frightful revolutions, wars and assassinations, after her best-loved kings had expelled the Order in disgrace. Her most respected Archbishops were murdered in broad daylight, as were three successive anti-Jesuit, pro-Gallican Archbishops of Paris—Monsignor Sibour, Monsignor Affre and Monsignor Darboy. Her people were reduced to penury via continual agitations, many socialist revolutionaries serving as unconscious tools of the Order. Our answer lies in the national rejection of the Word of God evidenced by the mass-murder of those who both lived and preached the Biblical doctrines of Sovereign Grace—the Calvinistic Huguenots! Thus the nation never abandoned the Spiritual Power of the Pope. In so doing, France, in contrast to Protestant England, could never put away the Pope's Temporal Power, a resistance incumbent upon every patriot if his nation is to experience the blessings of liberty and true national sovereignty. We read from a Nineteenth Century essay titled, "A Glimpse of the Great Secret Society Up to 1868:"

> "Many noble efforts have been made by the French people to shake off the grasp of the Jesuitism, which holds them so tenaciously. Even now they bear this incubus uneasily. The question naturally arises, Why have they never succeeded in getting rid of what they have felt to be so galling and so disastrous? Why have all their efforts been in vain? Why have their partial successes against their baleful secret foe always been turned into defeats?
>
> The answer is, that they have never nationally attacked their enemy by the only means that can be fatal to his power. They have never shaken off the yoke of the See of Rome; have never had in their own language a scriptural liturgy for their churches. They have aimed only at relieving violent symptoms of the disease, by which they are infected; and had they been successful in this, the symptoms would have disappeared. Papal supremacy is the strength of Jesuitism, because France has always acknowledged the one, she has been, and is, the prey of the other. . . . There was hope of escape from the secret enemy, while Henry IV remained in some measure a Protestant. . . . In this respect, France still had a great element of success in her struggle against Jesuitism. The records of this and similar national struggles, illustrate cardinal principles, which, as they are strongly or weakly upheld, decide the course and fortunes of nations. The critical period is often reached and passed, before men are alive to the importance of the epoch [that critical period in America having been the Kennedy Assassination in 1963].
>
> The turning point of English history occurred at about the same period as that of the French: but, in England, right principles prevailed, while in France there was hesitation and relapse into error. Henry IV of France possessed the many high and noble qualities which M. de la Chalotais justly ascribes to him. As a Protestant he was a great national leader, and contended successfully against the Ultramontane spirit of despotism, and against the anarchical aggressions of the Jesuits. Yet, the life of this great Sovereign was marked by that laxity of morals, . . .
> But this laxity of morals undermines the real greatness, invalidates the sterling power of the man, corrupts those about him, and weakens the respect of the nation for their Sovereign. Henry IV, great and beloved as he was, hesitated in renewing the contest, in which his early success had raised him in the estimation of the nation which he governed; he, ostensibly at all events, changed his religion, and was reconciled to Rome. This compliance did not save him; he died by the hand of a Jesuit assassin, so soon as his plans again interfered with the schemes of the Society [as did JFK]. . . .

In comparing the conduct of Henry IV of France with that of his contemporary, Elizabeth, it must be admitted, that the difficulties of Henry IV were in some respects greater than those of the Queen of England; for the religion and Church of France, though Gallican [denying the Pope's absolute Temporal/Political Power over the governments of all nations], and therefore national in their organization, as M. de la Chalotais describes them, were only Augustinian in their spirit and doctrine (Jansenist, as they were called at the time), not Protestant in the sense of the reformed religion and Church of England. They always acknowledged the spiritual primacy of the Pope. Neither the religion of the majority of the French people, nor their Church, ever possessed the fundamental element of national independence which an uninterrupted dependence upon God and His revealed will, as written [in the Bible], can alone establish. . . .

The national character, the objects, the tastes of the French people may be, and are, different from those of the English. But, when we remember the convulsive history of modern France—when we see her now [under the dictatorship of the Order's warlord, Napoleon III], not withstanding a certain degree of commercial activity [as in America today though greatly depleted thanks to the economic policies of Washington as dictated by the Order's Council on Foreign Relations], made the willing tool of ambitious and designing men [Georgetown and Fordham University Jesuits], weighed down by heavy taxation [as in America today via the Pope's IRS] with a dwindling population [as is America's White population], and her Church ruled by an Ultramontane and therefore anti-national Hierarchy [as the Pope's American Hierarchy is secretly and entirely Ultramontane and thus anti-National]— . . . [it is the Jesuits who are] the secret foes, who have made such repeated wrecks of the French people." {11} [Emphasis added]

In 1882, the same year Gambetta was assassinated, "the Triple Alliance" was formed in Europe. The nations composing the Alliance would be called "the Central Powers." And who were the heads of the three nations composing the Triple Alliance? The Lutheran "heretics and liberals" controlling Germany's "Second Reich" were Kaiser Wilhelm I and his "Iron Chancellor," Otto von Bismarck, they having expelled the Order from the Empire in 1872. The "liberal" controlling Austria-Hungary was Emperor Franz Joseph—the Hapsburg who had revoked Austria's Concordat with the Pope in 1874 and whose Chancellor was a Protestant, Baron Beust! (The Jesuits' Holy Alliance was now under "heretic" or "liberal" control to the horror of the Jesuit General!) The son of the excommunicated and "liberal" King Victor Emmanuel II, having rightfully taken the Temporal Power over Italy from the Pope, was Umberto I, King of Italy. All three governments—one Lutheran and two Roman Catholic—were anti-Pope and hated the Jesuits! I repeat dear truth-seeker, "the Triple Alliance," the supposed villain of the Great War, was anti-Jesuit in 1882! Oh, that the German Empire had not been corrupted by Rome's Central Party! Oh, that the Russian government, having expelled the Jesuits in 1820 and broken off its Concordat with the Pope in 1877, had sided with the Triple Alliance! Oh, that the French government, having expelled the Jesuits in 1880, had sided with the Triple Alliance! Oh, that the government of the Protestant British Empire, having legally forbidden a Roman Catholic to sit on her throne in 1689 and legally expelled the Order in 1829, had sided with the Triple Alliance! Oh, that the Serbian government, whose Orthodox people are forever the enemies of the Pope and his Jesuits, had never signed a Concordat with the Papal Caesar on June 24, 1914, but rather sided with the Triple Alliance! Oh, had the Protestants and Baptists of the American Empire sided with the Triple Alliance! There would have been no "Triple Entente" financed by the Jesuits' J. P. Morgan in 1910 and thus no World War I! The four hundred year celebration of the Protestant Reformation would have proceeded as planned. We read and weep:

> "The seeds of hate between Germany and England were planted in those two glorious Protestant countries by the Jesuits so that they might develop in time to block the celebration of the Protestant Reformation on its four hundredth Anniversary—an event which was planned to surpass anything of the kind the world has ever seen, a celebration which would have set Protestantism fifty years ahead. The Jesuits, anticipating this, staged the World War which completely sidetracked it." {12}

The peoples and governments of Europe had revolted against the Temporal Power of the Pope and the Society of Jesus. World War I would serve to destroy an entire generation of anti-Jesuit, European manhood. By 1939, Germany (dominated by Catholic Bavaria's Nazi party), Catholic Austria, Catholic Italy and Catholic Spain would be so corrupted by Rome that each would have a Concordat with the Papal Caesar. And by the end of the Second Thirty Years' War in 1945, the "heretics and liberals" of Europe, especially the Protestant peoples of Prussia, Czechoslovakia, Holland, Denmark, Finland, Norway and England, would be raped, plundered and murdered, while the Pope and his Jesuit General, sitting atop of a heap of rubble having been prosperous "heretic and liberal" civilizations, and upon a mountain of stolen Jewish and Protestant gold, would be the undisputed masters of all!

Freemason Victor Emmanuel II (1820 – 1878), 1860s #198

First King of Italy, 1861 – 1878

In 1870 Rome's Papal Caesar was declared to be "infallible" at the First Vatican Council, it being under the total control of the Black Pope. That same year, after nearly fifty years of struggle, a united Italy gained its national sovereignty and a place among the nations of the earth. Victor Emmanuel II became King, righteously taking the Temporal Power from the Pope residing in Caesar's Palace, the Vatican. Submitting to Pius IX's Spiritual Power, Emmanuel declared he would wield Italy's political or rather "Temporal Power" over the Italian people. This loss infuriated the Pope; he declared himself a prisoner and viciously excommunicated the King, cursing every part of his body. The Papal Caesar would be deprived of his Temporal Power for nearly sixty years when, in 1929, the Jesuits would raise up their "man of destiny" and "Defender of Islam" (aiding Saudi Arabia's King Ibn Saud), fascist Benito Mussolini. The Duce would formally restore the Pope's right to be "the infallible Vicar of Christ, the Supreme Governor of the World on Earth, and the Father of Nations and Kings" so stated in Latin on his Papal Triple Crown, in creating the sovereign nation-state of Vatican City with a treaty called a "Concordat." Meanwhile, Victor Emmanuel II would die of "a fever," another victim of the Order's "poison cup."

Jesuits Expelled From Rome for 21 Years, 1872 – 1893 #199

Suppressed "forever" by Pope Clement XIV in 1773, the Society functioned under other names such as "the Fathers of the Faith," "the Illuminati," and the French "Community of Zion," from which came the Jew-hating Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion. Revived in 1814, the Order was again expelled from Rome by Pope Pius IX in 1848, yet re-admitted the following year after Rossi, the Pope's Prime Minister, was stabbed to death and Pius IX was forced to flee in disguise to Gaeta. As King Victor Emmanuel II rightly assumed the Pope's Political/Temporal Power in 1870, the Order became his vicious enemy, calling him "a usurper and the assassin of the Church." But in 1872, the Black Pope and his murder-men were expelled from Rome for twenty years. The Order, after poisoning the king in 1878 and attempting the assassination of his son—King Umberto I—that same year, was allowed to return in 1893. In 1900 the King was given three "leaden bullets" by one of the Company's Roman Catholic Anarchist assassins, Gaetano Bresci, the Society never failing to punish its enemies.

Umberto IV or Humbert IV of Savoy, 1844 – 1900

Umberto I or Humbert I, Second King of Italy, 1878 – 1900

With the Jesuit murder of his father, King Victor Emmanuel II, Umberto I ascended the throne in 1878. Upon his coronation, Umberto pursued a policy that was in all points adverse to the quest of the Sons of Loyola. Having fought alongside the Protestant Prussians against the Order's Austrians in the war of 1866, the future king distinguished himself as a man of courage receiving the gold medal for valor. Known as "Umberto the Good," the king was loved by his people: he was generous with the destitute during a flood in 1882; risked his life to save his countrymen during an earthquake in 1883; and proved valiant during a cholera epidemic in 1884, raising the spirits of his people. But Umberto was "marked for death" as he entered the anti-Pope, Triple Alliance and boldly affirmed Rome to be the permanent possession of his kingdom despite the claims of Jesuit-trained Pope Leo XIII. Thus the Order called upon their fanatical Italian Roman Catholic assassins, the Anarchists, to murder our hero. Acciarito failing in 1897, Gaetano Bresci succeeded with "the leaden bullet" in 1900, two years after the Order's Anarchist murder of "Sisi," the Empress of Austria.

Umberto's son, Freemason Victor Emmanuel III, became king and brought the Order's Benito Mussolini to power, Il Duce then restoring the Pope's wicked Temporal Power in 1929. In 1947, after the Black Pope had punished the Italian people with his Second Thirty Years' War for their accursed "liberalism," the Order, via "the law of exile," banned all male descendants of the Savoy dynasty from Italy—to this day! Now THAT is a Jesuit vendetta with a vengeance!

Freemason Leon Michael Gambetta, 1838 – 1882 #201

Orator, Statesman, Deputy and Prime Minister Third Republic of France, 1877 – 1882

On the ruins of the Franco-Prussian War, France's Third Republic was born.

The Jesuits' Paul de Cassagnac was its most rampant foe and our hero, Leon Gambetta, was its greatest defender. A stranger to fear, the popular idol and first man of France, he was truly a condemned and accursed "liberal" according to the Papal Caesar's Council of Trent. As the greatest orator of the French, he hated the Jesuits' Holy Alliance in suppressing freedom of conscience enforced by Napoleon III. Therefore he decentralized power in Paris and spread national friendship amidst a spirit of toleration and good will. Boldly declaring the Jesuits to be the enemy of France, in 1880 he brought forth the Dis-establishment Act abolishing the Society of Jesus, approved of by his fellow republicans under the common law of self-defense. Two years later, on November 27, 1882, during the height of his power and about to become the next President of the French Republic, he received "the leaden bullet" from the hand of his mistress-assassin "by accident." The Order was again completely expelled in 1901. But true to form, the Sons of Loyola were re-admitted by Henri Pétain's pro-Nazi, Vichy government in 1942, during the Black Pope's Second Thirty Years' War.

On that glorious day, March 29, 1880, Prime Minister Leon Gambetta expelled the Company from France governed by her "anti-clerical" Third Republic.

But France would pay dearly for her bravery; Gambetta would be murdered, and the Republic would be destroyed with the Black Pope's invasion of his Nazis and SS/SD in 1940. Two years later, Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Henri Pétain would readmit the Society overseeing French Nazis ruling the Vichy Government.

Kaiser Wilhelm I of Hohenzollern, 1797 – 1888 #203

Seventh King of Prussia, 1861 – 1888

First German Emperor of the Protestant Second Reich, 1871 – 1888

Lutheran Wilhelm I of the hated Protestant Hohenzollern Dynasty was used by the risen Son of God to be one of the greatest foes the Order encountered during the last 200 years. His military career began at 17 with the Prussian and English defeat of Napoleon at Waterloo (1815). At the advice of his brilliant and bold Lutheran counselor, Prince Otto von Bismarck, Wilhelm vanquished Roman Catholic Austria and Bavaria during the Seven Weeks' War of 1866. Submitting the premier Jesuit strongholds of Vienna and Munich to Prussia's Lutheran Berlin infuriated the Society of Jesus for which it later started the Franco-Prussian War of 1870-1871. With Jesuit-advised Napoleon III surrendering at Sedan, Wilhelm was declared the German Emperor at Versailles thereby beginning the Protestant Second Reich (1871-1919). After both German Old Catholics and Lutherans demanded the expulsion of the Sons of Loyola following the First Vatican Council (1870), the Jesuit Law was passed in 1872 banning the Order from the Empire—the very same year King Victor Emmanuel II expelled the Society from Rome. Biding his time, in 1878 the Black Pope twice attempted the Kaiser's assassination using his socialist/communist agitators: the first was on May 11 by Max Hodel and the second on June 2 by Karl E. Nobling seriously wounding the "heretic" Wilhelm. The Emperor survived unlike his nephew, the "liberal tyrant" Tzar Alexander II—murdered in 1881 by Jesuit-led Nihilists.

Ludwig II Otto Friedrick Wilhelm von Wittelsbach, 1845 – 1886 #207

Ludwig II Otto Friedrick Wilhelm von Wittelsbach, 1845 – 1886

"Liberal" Roman Catholic King of Bavaria, 1864 – 1886

Ludwig (Louis) II was born into the most powerful Roman Catholic Dynasty in all of Germany. For centuries the infamous Wittelsbach monarchs of Bavaria had wielded the Papacy's "Sword of Temporal Power" at the direction of Jesuit priests in accordance with that most blasphemous Bull of Pope Boniface VIII, Unam Sanctam. The Black Pope had used Wittelsbach Duke Maximilian I (1597- 1651) to head the Catholic League against the Protestant Union in attempting to destroy the LORD's Reformation in Germany during the genocidal Thirty Years' War. Bavaria was the heart of the Order's Counter-Reformation; thus, the continued preservation of an Ultramontane, Jesuit-controlled, Wittelsbach dynasty was of crucial importance to the Order. Ludwig ascended the throne in 1864 at the age of merely eighteen, his father, King Maximilian II, having died "suddenly and unexpectedly" after a short illness at the middle age of fifty-two—another victim of "the poison cup." Ludwig's grandfather, King Ludwig I, had expelled the Order on February 17, 1848, for which he was forced to abdicate one month later. Though Grand Master of the Knights of the Order of St. George, Ludwig's 1866 alliance with Catholic Austria against Protestant Prussia resulted in a crushing defeat. He therefore opposed the Order's third attempted annihilation of Protestant Prussia in 1870; the Company had plotted to use a new Catholic League composed of France, Bavaria and Austria. Ludwig aided Bismarck in the defeat of the Order's beloved Napoleon III, and he consented to Bavaria's 1871 entrance into Protestant Prussia's Second Reich. In comforting Germany's most learned Roman Catholic priest—Johann Joseph Ignaz Von Dollinger—after he had been defrocked and excommunicated for refusing to accept the new Jesuit dogma of papal infallibility, Roman Catholic King Ludwig II was clearly adjudged to be an "accursed liberal." The king, like President John F. Kennedy, had sought to thwart the plans of his family's Jesuit masters, rejecting Pope Pius IX's fascist, pro-Council of Trent Syllabus of Errors (1864).

In 1885 Ludwig's uncle, Prince Regent Luitpold (1886-1912), sought to have the king declared mentally insane thereby enabling his legal ascent to the throne. The isolated monarch, realizing his plight, sought to abolish his Cabinet headed by Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Prime Minister Lutz. But the following year Ludwig was confined to his Neuschwanstein castle. Informed of his coming fate, Ludwig sought the aide of his favorite cousin, "Sisi," the Empress of Austria.Escorted by his personal physician, Dr. Gudden, Ludwig attempted an escape but was shot in the back with two "leaden bullets" according to the deathbed confession a Munich coroner, Dr. Magg, made to his daughter; Dr. Gudden was found dead with a massive wound across his forehead. The king was then entombed in the Company's St. Michael's Church in Munich, Bavaria. The Black Pope's cover-up ensued, and 117 years later a hole was drilled into the coffin by a local group of Bavarian researchers. To their surprise the body was gone!

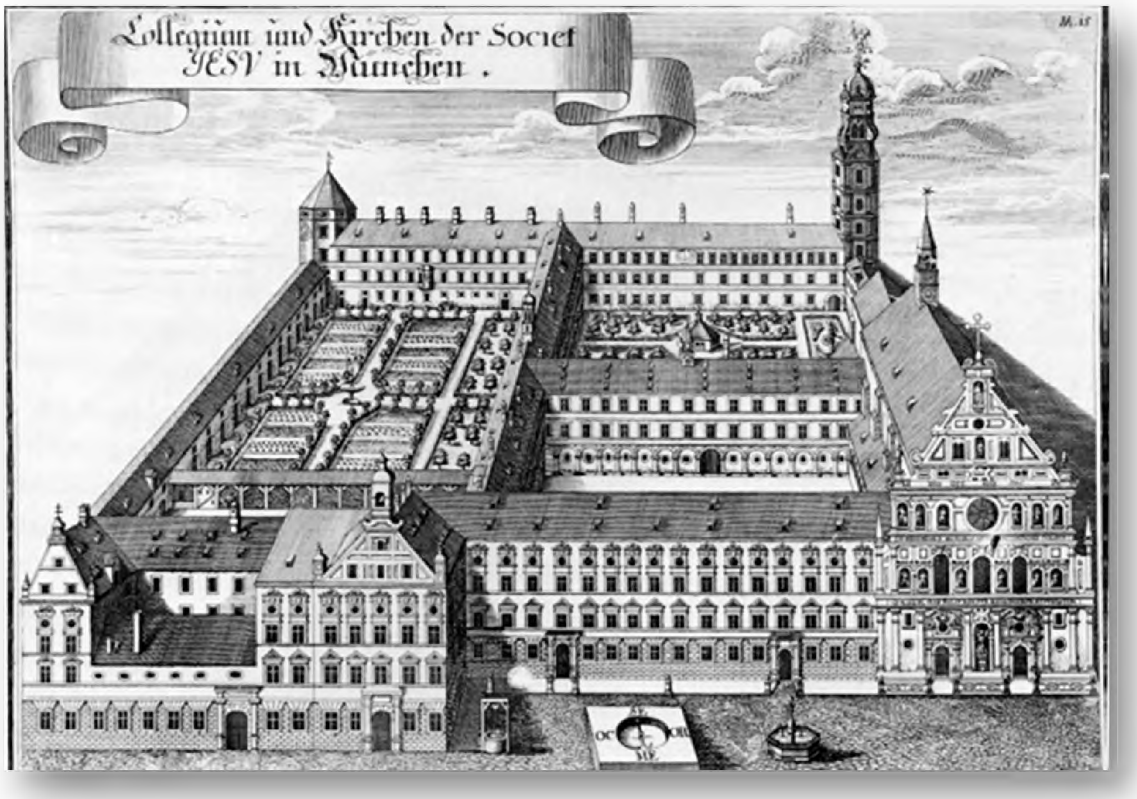
Elisabeth Amalie Eugenie von Wittelsbach, 1837 – 1898

Empress of Austria, 1854 – 1898; Queen of Hungary, 1867 – 1898

In straining every nerve and breaking every divine law to restore the loathsome Dark Ages, the Counter-Reformation Company of Jesus would refrain from no intrigue or the use of any instrument, however despicable, in accomplishing its Satanic ends; for "the ends always justify the means." Intending to restore the "blessed despotism" of the bloodthirsty and demon-possessed Pope Innocent III (1198-1216) who ruled all of Europe during the first few years of the dismal Thirteenth Century—surnamed by the Great Secret Society as "the Greatest of Centuries"—it was imperative that the Company keep a death grip of regicidal control over both the Wittelsbach and Hapsburg ruling dynasties. The Jesuits, in punishing the Papacy for the Order's Suppression and Extinction in 1773, used Napoleon Bonaparte, their Great, Grand Orient, Masonic Avenger, to abolish the Pope's Holy Roman Empire in 1806. At that time, Holy Roman Emperor Francis II was routed at Austerlitz and thereby reduced to the title of Francis I Emperor of Austria (1806-1835), only later to become the Black Pope's chief architect of the tyrannical and absolutist Holy Alliance (1814-1815). Upon his death in 1835, his "liberal" son Ferdinand took the throne. On April 16, 1848 he expelled the Jesuits from Vienna and on May 8th from all of the Empire. The Order's revolutionists forced the Emperor to flea Vienna and in December he was forced to abdicate in favor of his nephew, Franz Joseph. Thus, the Order had driven both the Austrian and Bavarian kings from their thrones in 1848, the monarchs having recklessly challenged the POWER of Satan's Black Pope!

Married at sixteen to the twenty-four year old Emperor Franz Joseph of Austria (1848-1916), "Sisi" was the favorite of her cousin, King Ludwig II. Considered the most beautiful royal in Europe during the 1860s, while the finest and most famous female equestrian in the world during the 1870s, Sisi brought about the Hungarian Compromise in 1867, reestablishing the "liberal" Hungarian Constitution. This resulted in dividing the Empire into the Dual Monarchy of "Austria-Hungary"—to the utmost disapproval of the Jesuit Order! Sisi, aware of the power of the Order over former Wittelsbach sovereigns, knew that her favorite cousin, King Ludwig II, had been covertly assassinated and buried in the Order's Munich Church of St. Michael's. Calling for a republic while contemptibly declaring the Hapsburg monarchy to be a "ruin;" abhorring the growing anti-Jewish fury arising in Austria; and having dined with Baroness Rothschild the day before being fatally attacked; Elisabeth the "liberal" was cleverly assassinated in Geneva with a finely ground, three-sided file—given the "steel of the poniard" through the heart—by one of the Black Pope's Italian Roman Catholic oath-bound Anarchists, Luigi Lucheni. With all of Europe in mourning, the Empress of Austria and Hungary's beloved Queen was interred in Vienna's Capuchin Church, another victim of the Company's Jesuit Oath.



Jesuit Church and College of St. Michael's, Munich, Bavaria, 1696 #210

With the completion of the Church (1585-1597) and later the College (1644), this religio-military fortress became the largest Jesuit Church north of the Alps and the center for the Black Pope's Satanic Counter-Reformation. It would serve as the Order's base of operation in using Duke Maximilian I of the Wittelsbach dynasty to launch the murderous Thirty Years' War (1618-1648) waged against the LORD's beloved Lutheran Germans pursuant to the Jesuit Oath and the wicked Council of Trent, it declaring, "accursed be all heretics." With the Order's formal Suppression and Extinction by Pope Clement XIV in 1773, the Jesuit General sought royal protection for the Order's many landed properties throughout Europe. Therefore, while the Company waged the French Revolution and ensuing Napoleonic Wars, St. Michael's became the Church of the Wittelsbach court! How cunningly convenient! After the Jesuits murdered King Ludwig II with "the leaden bullet," it was here that he lay in State and was then put in one of its crypts in 1886. At that time the Company of Jesus was planning to launch their Second Thirty Years' War (1914-1945), again using European royalty and the Pope's Roman Hierarchy. In Bavaria the chief players would be "ex-priest" Adolf Josef Lanz ("Father Joerg" Lanz von Liebenfels), Rudolf von Sebottendorff, Crown Prince Rupprecht of Wittelsbach and the Archbishop of Munich, Michael Cardinal von Faulhaber, the hidden master of the Masonic Thule Society from which arose the Nazi Party, Hitler, Himmler and the SS/SD.

The Jesuit Order's St. Michael's Church in Munich, Bavaria, 1990

This photo demonstrates the proximity of Munich's Jesuit headquarters to the Archbishop's palace, evidenced by the Cathedral's "twin domes" in the adjacent background. This is the case of every capital city or major commercial center in the West, including London, Washington, D.C., and New York City. From its military fortresses called "churches, colleges and universities," the Company oversees the Archbishops ruling from their Cathedrals, while superintending the workings of governments at their capitals. Involved in that governance are the Masonic secret societies covertly ruled by Masonic Jesuit Coadjutors under a secret oath to the Pope. One example is the Order's American "Skull and Bones Society," which, as did the Masonic "Germanenorden" Thule Society, employs the insignia of a "skull and crossbones."

Here in the post-Reformation West, no man can ascend to any position of power without being initiated into this web of control, which abides invisible to the uninitiated. Such was the case in Germany in 1919. The Munich Jesuits fomented a communist revolution resulting in the establishment of the "Bavarian Soviet Republic" ruled by notable Jews. With King Ludwig III forced from his throne and Papal Nuncio Eugenio Pacelli openly threatened by communists so condemned by Pius IX's Syllabus of Errors, the Jesuits then used their Masonic Thule Society to create the Free Corps and therewith overthrow that "straw dog" of a communist republic with the blessing of Munich's Archbishop. The Order, in wisely using its terrorizing "Masonic Jewish-Communist threat," would galvanize Germany into a united, socialist Nazi force against "Bolshevism." By the end of 1945, all of Europe's manly resistance to communism would be annihilated and Germany would be ruined.

Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Heinrich Himmler, 1929 #212

A Bavarian Roman Catholic and the godson of Prince Heinrich of Wittelsbach, Himmler was appointed by Hitler as Reichsfuhrer-SS at the age of 28. Acting as Hitler's "Ignatius of Loyola," Himmler's SS was to serve as the bodyguard for Hitler and the police of the Nazi party even as the Black Pope's Society of Jesus serves as the bodyguard for the Roman Pope, while policing the entire Roman Hierarchy. Himmler, the Grand Inquisitor, was selected for the office by Michael Cardinal von Faulhaber at the direction of Munich Jesuits residing at their nearby Church of St. Michael's. At the time of Himmler's appointment the SS consisted of only 280 men. But with the help of his cousin, Wilhelm August Patin—a Dominican priest and Canon to the Archbishop of Munich—, and with the oversight of his beloved "Patenonkel"—the Archbishop of Bamberg, Jacobus von Hauck (according to Rolf Hochhuth's The Deputy)—, the Reichsfuhrer and Masonic "Grand Master" would be meticulously instructed as he fashioned his Germanic Order of Teutonic Knights, "the Order of the Death's Head," in accordance with the rule of the Company of Jesus. With absolute police power, Himmler would not permit the arrest of any priest without his approval. As the Jesuit Superior General has absolute control over his military Company, even so Himmler would exercise absolute control over the SS/SD. As the Jesuits swear unquestioning obedience to the Pope, even so the SS would swear unquestioning obedience to the Fuhrer. As the Jesuits murder the enemies of their Order and the Black Pope's Papacy, even so the SS would murder the enemies of its Order and of the Black Pope's Nazi Roman Catholic, Jesuit-led Third Reich!

Archbishop of Munich, 1917 – 1952; Cardinal of Munich, 1921 – 1952

In the very year the Order was re-admitted into Germany, this Jesuit-trained Bavarian Bishop was made the Archbishop of Munich, Europe's most powerful Jesuit stronghold outside of Rome. At the same time Archbishop and Papal Nuncio Eugenio Pacelli—that darling of the Jesuit General—was dispatched to Munich, visiting both Faulhaber and Bavaria's King Ludwig III in beginning his creation of the Nazi Party. The Cardinal would: order his Dominican Canon, Himmler's cousin, to join the SS; back Pacelli's 1924 Concordat with Bavaria; justify the rise of Nazi-Jesuit Fascism in opposition to the Order's controlled enemy of "Judeo-Communist elements;" openly endorse Hitler's new Nazi government after the Reich Concordat in 1933; secretly meet with Hitler for three hours at the Fuhrer's Obersalzberg mountain retreat in 1936; secretly back the Order's Nazi-led, anti-Jewish terror of "Crystal Night" in 1938; support Hitler's annexation of Austria and the invasion of Czechoslovakia in 1938; order "Te Deums" to be sung in the Munich Cathedral, giving thanks for Hitler escaping his near assassinations in 1939 and 1944; lead the Vatican Conclave in electing Pacelli as Pope Pius XII in 1939; secretly control the nearby, priest-filled Dachau Concentration Camp established in 1933; and maintain ties with the Pope's German Jesuit confessor and Nazi SS/SD lord, Robert Leiber.

Imperial Cathedral of Bamberg, Bavaria, 2000 #216

Believed to be under a curse of the devil, this four-towered Cathedral and only Papal burial place north of the Alps was never bombed by the Allies during World War II; for it contained the tombs of Holy Roman Emperor Heinrich II and Pope Clement II whose brief reign ended do to arsenic poisoning. Hosting the mysterious statue of "the Bamberg Rider," symbolizing the "Ideal King" ruling the Papacy's Holy Roman Empire—thus a favorite of Hitler's Nazi (Holy Roman) Third Reich propaganda chief, Jesuit-trained Joseph Goebbels—, it was here that Archbishop Jacobus von Hauck guided fellow Bavarian, Heinrich Himmler, in the creation and organization of the Black Pope's occult SS.

In 1919 Munich Jesuits, aided by Cardinal von Faulhaber, used their Masonic "Court Jews" to incite a Communist revolution. From April to August the "Soviet Republic" overthrew King Ludwig III, threatened Papal Nuncio Eugenio Pacelli and terrorized Munich, further instilling a calculated hatred for all Jews.

Claiming that "Israel Ruled Bavaria," the Constitutional government fled to Bamberg, out of which came a fascist army called the Free Corps. One of those soldiers would be Heinrich Himmler, the future Reichsfuhrer of the SS. Thus Bamberg was the font of the Third Reich and Hitler was "the Bamberg Rider."

The Jesuit Order's St. Martin's Church, Bamberg, Bavaria #219

Aided by Jesuits from their nearby Church of St. Martin's in organizing the SS, Hitler's "Ignatius of Loyola" was directed by his "Father-uncle" and aided by his "Canon Law-cousin" in copying the Society of Jesus in all its aspects.

Its first command being unquestioning obedience, the Masonic Thule Society's, blackrobed, Germanic, Teutonic SS would fulfill the directives of Hitler's childhood instructor, "Father Georg," of Vienna's swastika-laden Lambach Abbey. Priest Adolf Josef Lanz ("Father Georg"), later feigning to leave the priesthood to openly become a Lutheran, wrote several anti-Jesuit books, including one on the Order's Papal Suppression Das Breve 'Dominus ac Redemptor Noster' (1904).

In 1900 he founded the Order of the New Templars and, as Grand Master, chose the "sauvastika" as his emblem. A Jew-hater, Masonic Jesuit Coadjutor Adolf Josef Lanz (alias Joerg Lanz von Liebenfels), espoused the pagan "Aryan" mythology. He further preached the Order's crusade of ghettoization, deportation, enslavement, and incineration of Europe's Jews as "a sacrifice to God." This secret Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor, yet openly a Masonic Lutheran, further enabled the Papacy to blame German "heretics" for the Holocaust.

Meanwhile, Pope Pius XII and his Jesuit Order would escape the light of day.

SS General and Gestapo Chief, Heinrich Mueller, 1940s

Gestapo Headquarters, Munich, Bavaria, 1930s #222

In 1917, when the Jesuit Law was repealed and the Order re-entered Germany, a Jesuit-trained Papal Nuncio, Archbishop Eugenio Pacelli, arrived at King Ludwig III's Wittelsbach mansion pictured above. As per the evident agreement between Knight of Malta Wittelsbach Crown Prince Rupprecht and Munich's Archbishop Michael von Faulhaber, the mansion was converted into Gestapo Headquarters after Masonic Hitler's assumption of power in 1933. Heading the Order's Nazi Inquisition was the Archbishop's faithful church member and bullnecked Police Inspector, Heinrich Mueller. The mansion became a chamber of horrors amidst the cries of the tortured, as the Company fulfilled is bloody Jesuit Oath once again. In 1945 the mansion was bombed and Mueller escaped Europe, entering the United States through Cardinal Spellman's "Ratlines."

Gate to Munich's Dachau Concentration Camp, 1933 – 1945 #223

Emblazed on the gate of the Nazi Reich's first slave labor camp was the phrase, "Arbeit Macht Frei," meaning, "Work makes you [spiritually] free." The same phrase would be placed on the gates of Auschwitz, the Order's greatest Death Camp in the East overseen by two notorious Roman Catholics, Rudolf Hoess and Josef Mengele. What is missed by most is that these three words summarize the Jesuit doctrine of salvation by "good works," which includes "the sacrament of penance" and "temporal punishment to be endured," as stated in the Order's Sixth Session of its wicked Counter-Reformation Council of Trent. Just as the Pope's "First Reich" (962-1806) punished enemies of "the Church" with its Dominican and later Jesuit Inquisitions, even so the Third Reich (1933-1945) punished its "enemies of the State" with inquisitional Concentration Camps.

Dachau's most brutal Camp Commandant, the murderer of homosexual SA leader Ernst Roehm, was the Jew-hating Roman Catholic Theodor Eicke. As Himmler's "Inspector of Concentration Camps and Commander of SS Guard Formations," Eicke answered to the Reichsfuhrer alone until his death on the Eastern Front in 1943. Eicke's uneducated, anti-military, SS thugs wore brown uniforms instead of regulation SS black, bore the Order's "Death Head" title of "Totenkopfverbande," and carried out the Black Pope's Nazi-SS Inquisition. A favorite of Michael Cardinal von Faulhaber's Heinrich Himmler, Dachau's "camp instructor" Eicke was also another Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor. Like the Order, he detested Jews; led "a crusade;" repressed any "revolt of conscience;" spied on those in "the SS Order;" and believed "the ends justified the means."

SS Himmler Inspecting Dachau Concentration Camp, 1930s #224

Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Heinrich Himmler and his Chief-of-Staff, Coadjutor Karl Wolff (on Himmler's right) inspect Dachau, followed by Hitler's Jesuit-trained, anti-Jew propaganda chief, Joseph Goebbels. From 1936 on, Himmler would order his SS subordinate, Baron Frederick Karl von Eberstein, to give official tours of the camp for foreign leaders, including "high American police officials"—of the Jesuit-controlled FBI! Knowing that the Society of Jesus is a military Order composed of a community of soldiers commanded by a General advised by a staff of Assistants, Jesuits may be sacrificed "for the greater glory of God." According to Jesuit priest Richard VandeVelde, ten Jesuit priests died at Dachau, they being "Fathers" Bednarski, Czudek, Dembowski, Felczak, Kaluza, Malinowski, Podolenski, Przystas, Sejbuk and Szopinski, most of whom were Polish and in open resistance to the Black Pope's Nazi Crusade into Poland.

Under perpetual vows of obedience to their Jesuit superiors, these Jesuit martyrs enabled the Order's Gestapo to identify and arrest their anti-Nazi Polish followers, thereby eliminating righteous opposition to Himmler's inquisitional Death Camps. Days before Dachau was liberated, a Jesuit priest, Otto Pies, was allowed to "escape." The following day he returned wearing an SS officer's uniform driving a truck loaded with food. He went into the priests' compound, fed them and then drove off with thirty priests—mostly Jesuits—in the back. Two days later he returned in the same uniform with the same truck loaded with food and "rescued" more priests with no arrests made by the SS! Many of the priests were later used to save key SS officers via the Order's "Vatican Ratlines."

Roman Catholic Knight of Malta Friedrich "Fritz" Thyssen #225

The Nazi Brown House, Formerly the Barlow Palace, 1931 #226

Baron Fritz Thyssen, author of I Paid Hitler, controlled the largest industrial conglomerate in German history, the United Steel Works. Encouraged by German World War I General Erich Ludendorff, Thyssen financed Hitler purchasing the Barlow Palace for the Nazi Party in 1928. The price, including remodeling costs, totaled nearly 2,000,000 marks. Thyssen, in business interlock with another German steel magnate (Knight of Malta Frederick Flick), financed Hitler throughout the war in conjunction with his American partners, Wall Street Bankers George Herbert Walker and son-in-law, Knight of Malta Prescott Bush, Sr.,—the grandfather of Bonesman, President George W. Bush. After the war Thyssen was pardoned by U.S. High Commissioner, (CFR) John J. McCloy. www.calvin.edu/academic/cas/gpa/bauten.htm

Assassination of Freemason President James A. Garfield
Anarchist Assassination of Freemason President William McKinley

"Our ancient enemies have small belief in our common sense if they imagine that we shall ever be able to trust them, after having so often beheld the depths of Jesuitical cunning and duplicity. The sooner we let certain Archbishops and Cardinals know that we are aware of their designs, and will in nothing cooperate with them the better for us and our country. Of course, we shall be howled at as bigots, but we can afford to smile at that cry, when it comes from the church which invented the Inquisition, 'No peace with Rome' is the motto of reason as well as of religion." {1}

"If ever there was a land in which work was to be done, and perhaps much to suffer, it is here [England]; were it [Bible-based Protestant heresy] conquered in England, it would be conquered throughout the world. All its lines meet here; and, therefore in England, the Church of God [Rome] must be gathered in all its strength [the Pope having accomplished the subjugation of British Protestants through the Order's 1919 creation of the Royal Institute of International Affairs overseen by the Archbishop]." {2}

Henry Cardinal Manning, 1880

"To-day the Jesuit [in England] is to all intents and purposes master of the situation. His favourite pupils decide Protestant causes, and with calm effrontery honour the head of their Church as a temporal prince before the Queen, and place him in the position which he claims to be his by divine right, as king of kings and lord of lords." {3}

"We would almost be bold to assert that every obstacle which has come in the way to impede the progressive march of a free and powerful nation, is, to a certain extent, due to the hidden hand of a Jesuit. It must be borne in mind that Rome, of all things, desiderates the ruin of heretic England, and endeavours, to the utmost of her power, to create troubles and difficulties to that free country; . . . 'the Jesuits were the right arm of the bishops,' . . .

And this renders the Jesuits more dangerous than any other religious community. Indeed, I would rather see all the various species of those parasite animals called monks transplanted into the English soil than let one Jesuit live in it a single day; and it is not without good reason that we speak so in this Protestant country. The order of the Jesuits was purposely instituted to combat, to extinguish Protestantism; . . . The extirpation of heresy is their principal occupation, the work which renders them meritorious in the eyes of Rome. . . . Plots and machinations against Protestants, and against all civil and religious freedom, are the characteristics of the Jesuits. . . . and if Protestant England does not soon awake to a sense of her danger, we fear she will repent, too late, of having fostered in her breast these poisonous vipers. Behold what is going on! . . . Behold the utmost uninterrupted state of rebellion in which the priests keep the fanatic Papists of Ireland, and be sure that such would not be the case if you had not Jesuits among them. . . . I trust to be believed. I have been born and brought up among monks and Jesuits; and it is because I thoroughly know them, that, grateful for the hospitality afforded me, I warn England to beware of all monks, but especially of Jesuits. They are inauspicious birds, which cannot but infect with their venomous breath the pure and free air of Great Britain . . ." {4}[Emphasis added]

"The facts to which we have alluded relate to the methods resorted to, by the [Jesuit-controlled] oligarchy which governs Great Britain [since 1800], in order to render London the commercial and financial center of the world, and to render all other nations tributaries to the British. . . . In order to blind foreign nations to the nature of the imposture, by which she cheats and robs foreign nations, she calls her policy free trade. [The American branch of the Knights of Malta, including Lee Iacocca, supported the ratification of Jesuit-trained Bill Clinton's NAFTA and GATT treaties (which, by the end of 2006 have eliminated over eight million manufacturing jobs), the American versions of British free trade, further destroying America's industrial base rendering her unable to wage war.] . . . she hires writers and buys up newspapers to cry down the opposite policy of PROTECTION TO NATIONAL INDUSTRY as a narrow-minded and illiberal system, opposed to freedom." {6}

"The life of Elizabeth was repeatedly attempted by the Jesuits; she was beset by the same agency as was Henry IV up to the last and too successful attack of Ravaillac. The murder of both these sovereigns was continually and craftily planned. Such was the treatment, that sovereigns, who in those days not only reigned but ruled, always received at the hands of the Jesuits, when opposed to their ambition. Nor is their spirit and purpose changed—as the attempt upon the lives of the Emperors of France [the pro-Jesuit Napoleon III] and Russia [the anti-Jesuit Alexander II, later assassinated in 1881 by the Order's Nihilists] in Paris, by a miscreant, who had been studying the works of Jesuit [Juan] Mariana, has recently proved. . . . There can be no doubt, that the rising greatness of England dates from the turning point of her history in the reign of Elizabeth. England has suffered in her subsequent contests with the grand [Jesuit] conspiracy; she has needed and has had to submit to the intervention of Cromwell, and was compelled to effect for herself the Revolution of 1688, owing to the weakness, the hesitation, the vices, the bigotry, and the tyranny of the halfhearted Stuarts. But the English nation has not suffered in vain; by the power of the [AV1611 Bible-based] Reformation they have hitherto been victorious in their protracted and still continuing contest. While the French nation, among whom the Reformation never was complete or successful, has suffered much more from persecution, through revolutions and by war, than the English; and without attaining the prosperity, either moral or material, which Providence has allotted to England. . . . The vast majority of the British nation, are, we believe, as yet, true at heart; . . . In times past they have not spared any sacrifice to preserve their religion and their freedom; they have not, for centuries, allowed any, even the highest, to stand between them and the light of truth, which comes from heaven. Hence they have hitherto made themselves and kept themselves free; they have defied and defeated the secret foes, who have made such repeated wrecks of the freedom of the French people. Our fellowcountrymen must, nevertheless, beware; for they are beset by the intrigues of Jesuits, who are now making this kingdom their headquarters. . . . Danger will come, if we are careless; . . . While England continues faithfully to protest against Romish error, the power that has preserved her hitherto will be hers still. While her people have an open [Reformation AV1611 King James] Bible they have a shield against all Jesuitism." {9} [Emphasis added]

"[Jesuit priest Pedro de] Ribadeneria [1526-1611] states that in the first years of Elizabeth the Catholics in great numbers frequented the [Anglican] parish churches, thinking it sufficient if they did not enter or leave there in company of Protestants! But this was stopped as soon as the matter was referred to a committee of theologians (one of whom was [Jesuit Diego] Laynez) at the Council of Trent [1545-1563], whose unanimous decision was that such attendance at Protestant worship was sinful. . . .

[Two hundred years later:]

During the long Continental war [waged by the Order's Great Avenger, Roman Catholic Freemason Napoleon Bonaparte], the Catholic body strenuously supported, with whatever social and political influence was left to it, the king [England's apostate Protestant King George III] and the aristocracy [secretly protecting the Jesuits in Great Britain], in their struggle against the crowned anarchy of France. At the same time, the presence in England of some 8,000

émigré French priests helped break down much of the old prejudice against the Church [in spite of Rome's bloody, anti-Protestant past on English soil]. The government even voted large sums of public money for their support [in open violation of English law], since voluntary effort proved inadequate [further providing the financial means for the conversion of Britain to Rome during the Nineteenth Century amidst John Newman's Tractarian Movement and the ensuing rejection of the Reformation Bible—the AV1611]." {10} [Emphasis added]

"Your [re-] election means not only protection to our industries but the maintenance of a sound currency and of the gold standard, the very cornerstone of our economic and financial welfare. Should these be shaken, as they would be by the success of our [Democratic] opponents, the whole fabric of our business confidence and prosperity would fall to ruin. Your defeat would be the signal of the advance of the [British] free trade, for the anarchy of a debased and unstable currency, for business panic, depression and hard times and for the wreck of our [Protestant and isolationist] foreign policy [as championed by President George Washington]." {11}

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, 1900
Spoken to President McKinley Illustrious Life of William McKinley:
Our Martyred President

"America is the promised land, the land of the Jesuit's operations to obtain the ascendancy; they have no need of a mercenary Swiss guard, or the assistance of the mighty bayonets of the Holy Alliance, but a majority of votes, which can easily be obtained by an importation of Roman Catholic voters from Ireland, Bavaria, and Austria. Rome, viewed at a distance, is a colossus; near at hand its grandeur diminishes, its charm is lost. But the Jesuits are everywhere the same, cunning, immoral, and sneaking intriguers until they have obtained the ascendancy. Rome feels her weakness at home, she knows herself to be a mere political institution, dressed in the garment of Christianity, she takes good care to uphold that holy militia, the Jesuits, in order to appear what she is not. It is strife for existence. I am not a politician, but knowing the active spirit of Jesuitism, and the indifference of the generality of Protestants, I have no doubt whatsoever, that in TEN YEARS [1853] the Jesuits will, have a mighty influence over the ballot-box, and in TWENTY [1863], they will direct it according to their own pleasure [as they have throughout the 20th Century]. Now they fawn, in ten years they will menace, and in twenty, command. . . .

Religion has nothing to do with the political institutions of America. The exaltation, or depression, the triumph or defeat of religious denominations, is of no importance in the political order of the United States. It is not so with Rome; everything in popery tends to Rome. She exercises an immense power over her ministers, and through them over her faithful adherents; consequently the CHIEF of these [this] militia, everywhere to be found, is the pope. . . . the pope has his faithful militia, the Jesuits in all their dominions. . . .

What an immense power, what an inconceivable influence! If the whole world were Roman Catholics, the pope would command the world, and all the millions of ministers would be under his authority, directed by his will, and all would be obliged to promote the interest of Rome. If the whole world, (I repeat), would be Roman Catholic, it would shake, subjugate and corrupt the world, as it did for ages, and is now actually doing in Europe.

Americans! Protestants! not to know how to foresee, is not to know how to govern, or how to profit by the past, or to judge the world. Have you not APOSTOLICAL VICARS in the United States, who have no other mission than to promote the private interest of Rome? Have you a right to choose bishops for your country, as is the case in Europe? No! In France, Prussia, Bavaria, Saxony, and even in Austria, the kings and the emperor choose their own bishops; no government, or power would accept a bishop in its dominion, who was not elected by them. The pope MUST sanction it; I say, the pope must sanction their choice, and if he refuses to give his consent they compel His Holiness to do so, as it was in Prussia with the Archbishop of Cologne, and in Hungaria with the Primate of that country. But for the wants of America the pope graciously provides; he sends his minions, who serve under His Holiness' banner, and not under the starred flag of the Union. In Austria no priest can regularly officiate without being a native Austrian, or having obtained the imperial permission to do so. In Prussia, no Roman Catholic priest can take charge of a parish without being a native Prussian, or obtaining a special royal permission, which is not so easily obtained. The same cautious state policy is adopted in France, and in every other kingdom and principality of Europe, to prevent the fatal influence of Jesuitism, which convulsed the peace of Europe; which was the cause of so many wars, and blood-shed, of which the history of Europe is so unhappily full. America is the only land where Rome can work without impediment. America is the stage of papal action, where her hired servants, a swarm of Irish priests, German monks, Italian friars, and Roman Jesuits overflow the country, in order to promote pope Gregory's [Gregory XVI's] interest, and oppress religious and political liberty.

Protestants! the political regime of the United States pleases Rome; it gives her means of hoping soon to become the MISTRESS of the North, as she is of South America. The Roman clergy of the United States, like that of Ireland, is very devoted to the pope; very rigorous and submissive to Rome's orders [as the Irish Francis Cardinal Spellman would be in killing JFK]; soon she will (may the Lord prevent it) occasion embarrassment to the United States, as that of Ireland does to the British Government. . . .

Columbia [America]! Thou land of freedom, asylum of the oppressed; the tyrant's scourge and freeman's joy; pattern of all nations and the people's country. Shall Yucatan's [Mexico and Central America's] doom be thine? Wilt thou allow thy cherished sons to become slaves of Jesuits, and thy lovely daughters [to be] demoralized by priests and monks as those in Italy? Wilt thou permit that thy political institutions, which have been dearly bought with the blood of thy first-born heroes, to be effaced by the coward hand of a priest, who sways his bloody scepter in Rome? No. That cannot be. Thou art young, it is true, but wise enough. Thou are inexperienced in the stratagems of Jesuits, intrigues of monks, and finesse of popery, but thou art strong enough to strike the blow in time." {12} [Emphasis added] during the past [Nineteenth] century. The attempt against the life of [the "heretic" Methodist, protectionist, and pro-Constitutional "tyrant"] President McKinley at Buffalo [in which there was and is now a powerful Jesuit Community] follows by a little more than a year the assassination of [the "liberal," the "tyrant," anti-Temporal Power of Jesuit-trained Pope Leo XIII] King Humbert [Umberto I] of Italy. A few months before the death of Humbert an effort was made in [Jesuit-controlled] Belgium to kill the [Protestant "heretic"] Prince of Wales, now King Edward of England.

In the Autumn of 1898 [the "liberal"] Empress Elisabeth ["Sisi"] of Austria-Hungary was assassinated in Switzerland. In the Summer of 1897 the Prime Minister of Spain, Canovas del Castillo [whose government had expelled the Jesuits in 1868], was slain. In June, 1894, President [Marie Francois Sadi] Carnot of France [whose government had expelled the Jesuits in 1880] was murdered [like King Henry IV, stabbed through the heart while in his carriage, after which the French government found the Anarchists had been in correspondence with and financed by the Rothschilds, the Duchess d'Uzes and high Roman Catholic Church dignitaries according to Comrade Jean Jaures, one of the fifty Socialist Deputies in the Chamber in March of 1894]. . . . The nineteenth century ran red with the blood of rulers, beginning in 1801 with the killing of the Czar Paul [I] of Russia by some of his nobles. There were over fifty assassinations or attempts at assassinations of ruling statesmen and crowned heads, beginning with Czar Paul and ending with President McKinley. . . .

The slaying of Marshall Prim, in 1870, when he was at the head of the Spanish provisional government after the deposition of Queen Isabella, was an act inspired by local political conditions [as the Jesuit Order had also been expelled in 1868], and so was the assassination of Czar Alexander [II] of Russia in 1881 [the Order having been expelled from Russia since 1820]. . . . Every assassination and attempt at assassination since then [1894] has been their work. . . . Within seven years they slew the Presidents of the two greatest republics in the world [France and America], besides killing the Monarch of a great power [Italy], the Empress of another great power [Austria-Hungary], the Prime Minister of still another European kingdom [Spain], and attempting the life of the heir of Britain's throne [Prince of Wales, crowned King Edward VII]. Their success in their murderous attack upon the President of the United States, completed a record of five persons of high estate slain within seven years, for no other reason than that those persons stood for ["heretic and liberal"] government in whatsoever form." {14} [Emphasis added]

He was often in his company with Sir Ernest Cassel, according to the Press. The first important surrender during the 20th century of our safeguards set up at the Revolution in 1689 was in 1903, when King Edward [who, as the Prince of Wales was nearly assassinated in Belgium by an Anarchist controlled by the Black Pope] broke through the Act of Settlement drawn up on June 6th, 1701 A.D., and visited Pope Leo XIII at the Vatican. The fight in Ireland against England means Popery against religion. Romanism in England and in America must be crippled, and held in check. . . .

Is the United States a Protestant or a Catholic nation? This is the question that confronts the American people to-day. Kennedy, but now approved by President George W. Bush, the U.S. Constitution expressly granting no such powers to our now socialist-communist, Roman Catholic and Masonically-controlled Congress]?

Why should the President of the United States hold secret conferences with a representative of the Vatican and treat with Popish power the same as he would with a minister of some foreign power [without a formal recognition of the Pope's Sovereign State of Vatican City until 1984 by the popish archtraitor, crypto-Catholic President Ronald Reagan, all such previous meetings being therefore illegal]? Democrats and Republicans [both parties now controlled by the Order's Council on Foreign Relations since 1921] lay aside their own conscience and cater to Catholicism in order to strengthen their political fences, not caring a whit for the interests of their constituents just so they are permitted to pluck the political job that promises a remuneration for their services, not thinking or caring whether the interests of taxpayers are properly guarded or not. . . .

Shame! Yea, eternal shame to any political party for so far forgetting themselves as to wallow in the mire of Catholic pollution in order to catch their votes [further illustrating the evil, socialist-communist doctrine of "universal equality" in forcing upon the nation the injustice of the Marxian maxim, "one man, one vote."]

Were I to undertake to describe the rottenness of both parties, I would be at a loss to know how to find language to do so, as Republicanism is at all times ready to embrace the pontifical degenerates at any and all times that they may tenaciously hang on to the public teat [as it was the Jesuit-controlled, Radical Red Republican Speaker of the House, James G. Blaine, that converted our Calvinist Republic into a Jesuit Empire with the socialist-communist Fourteenth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution] and Democracy stands with a watering mouth eager to offer the powers of the Vatican the earth and the fullness thereof if they will aid them in fastening themselves upon the public purse of the Government [as it was the Jesuits who brought millions of Irish and Italian Roman Catholic immigrants to Ellis Island into New York City, only to register these poor, common workers into the Democratic Party, which the Order, through its control of Tammany Hall, could then bankrupt the Middle Class, White

Anglo-Saxon Protestant peoples with a mountain of socialist legislation; further, after using the White Roman Catholics, the Order would then use the Blacks via Michael "Lucifer" King, Jr.—who never legally changed his name to "Martin"—and the Second Reconstruction to justify more socialist-centralist legislation; and the Spanish-speaking, alien invading, Mexican and Latino Roman Catholics are being used to justify even more outrageous socialism (free education and medical care), finally destroying the White Middle Class including a host of patriotic, liberty-loving,* Protestants, Baptists, Roman Catholics and Jews]. . . .

That the reader may know what element controls municipal governments, we desire to call attention to the fact that over one-half of the officials of all of our large American cities are representatives of the Vatican, and that two thirds of all policemen of these cities [many being Knights of Columbus] are of the same stripe [for which reason the Order's American Intelligence Community would be aided by local police in its assassination of John F. Kennedy in Dallas, of Malcolm X in New York City, of Martin Luther King, Jr. in Memphis and of Robert F. Kennedy in Los Angeles]. . . .

The writer is human, and of course has a preference of political parties, but wish to say that I am not a [apostate Presbyterian, Grover] Cleveland Democrat [who was under the domination of the Order being previously Mayor of Buffalo and Governor of New York], for while President he made a specialty of recommending legislation that would vote money for the use of Catholic schools which educated every day in the year against all that is Protestant and American [specifically, Bible-based Common Schools begun by Puritans in 1695]. I am not a [apostate Methodist, William] McKinley Republican, because he was tied too completely to the cords of Bishop [John] Ireland's gown during the Spanish-American War. . . .

In the stillness of a tropical night, the battleship Maine rocked calmly in the harbor of Havana; . . . A crash! And the air is rent with the screams and groans of the dying; the Maine is blown up; the civilized world is astounded; America, from shore to shore weeps [as America wept over the Pope's sinking of the munitions-loaded Lusitania in 1915; his calculated Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941 with the aid of the American Office of Naval Intelligence; and his demolition of the World Trade Center in 2001 with the aid of the FBI]. But hark! Is it possible that we hear shouts of satisfaction and joy in the midst of this awful carnage? . . .

Who is this heartless rabble? Follow the crooked and meandering paths of their existence and you will find yourself looking down upon the polluted walls of the Vatican. You will find nothing but the cohorts of Catholicism; you will find Priest and Parishioner, like both demon and vulture, hovering over these torn and lacerated sailors [even as the demon Archbishop of New York, John Cardinal Egan, destroyed the WTC and attacked the Pentagon with his

Georgetown University Jesuit-trained, Knight of Malta and CFR member, Roman Catholic George J. Tenet, Director of the CIA]. . . . Could we expect more at her hands? Does not Catholicism lead to barbarity? . . . what was the message [to America] from Pope Leo [XIII] of Rome? The sad ocean waves are still asking, 'What was it?' 'Rome never changes,' is the everlasting boast of Catholics, so we are lead to believe that instead of the head of the Catholic Church at Rome being sorry for the dastardly, diabolical deeds of her misguided, illiterate, degenerate followers, that secretly there was a delight and pleasure in her every branch of Papal government . . . You see the cunning hand of the Pope in every branch of government; you see his slimy emissaries hurrying to and from the White House, and the Catholic dignitaries from ocean to ocean and from Maine to the Gulf trying [to mightily move] . . . the hand at Washington that has the power to assemble Congress and recommend a declaration of war, . . . [inciting the Pope's Press in America to call for a war with Spain despite the reluctance of President McKinley, who after his reelection in 1901, was assassinated in the Jesuit stronghold of Buffalo, New York, by another Roman Catholic murderer, Leon Czolgosz]." {20} [Emphasis added]

"Dr. Harvey R. Gaylord, of Buffalo, who was next called, testified that he performed the autopsy on the body of President McKinley. . . . [Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor] Dr. Herman Mynter was the next witness. . . . [Jesuit-controlled District Attorney and co-conspirator in the cover-up]

Mr. Penny—What was the cause of death?

A. The cause was blood poisoning from the absorption of poisonous matter caused by the gangrene. Primarily it was the gunshot wound.

Q. You were present at the consultation [autopsy]?

A. Yes. Dr. Gaylord performed it. They tried for four hours to locate the bullet [which of course was never found].

Q. Why did you stop them? [Good question!]

A. The family of the President would not allow them to continue any longer or to injure the corpse any more [which was a bold-faced lie]. They would not permit anything to be removed from the body for bacteriological examination [which fabricated reason ended the search for the poisoned bullet that probably caused the internal gangrene.]

Mr. Matthew D. Mann, another of the physicians who attended President McKinley . . . was then called for cross-examination.

'Was the condition which you found at the autopsy to be expected from the nature of the wounds which the President received?' asked Mr. Lewis.

'It was not expected and very unusual. I never saw anything just exactly like it,' replied Dr. Mann [the presence of a gangrenous spot "as large as a silver dollar" back of the President's stomach being unheard of after a successful surgery, further indicating the bullet was poisoned as in the case of the Order's assassination of William I of Orange, the father of the Protestant Dutch Republic and Biblical religious liberty].

'To what, then, do you attribute the symptoms or indications which you discovered, the gangrenous condition of the wound?'

'It is very difficult to explain it. It may be due to one of several things. I think it would be necessary for further examinations to be made before any definite explanations could be made. That would be the duty of the pathologists [which would never be done; the autopsy had been deliberately botched as in the case if the Kennedy Assassination].' . . . [District Attorney Penny to his friend and accomplice in the Order's coverup, Mr. Quackenbush] 'What became of the pistol? Do you know?'

'I have it here,' interposed the [assistant] district attorney [and coconspirator, Mr. Haller], as he showed a pasteboard box [the judge never confirming its contents], but it was not offered as evidence [as there may have been traces of poison on the weapon—Unbelievable!!!!].

[Dear truth-seeker, clearly we have a high-level conspiracy to cover-up the true cause of death for the Order's sacrificial lamb, President McKinley. Czolgosz is kept informed as to the location of the President's every appearance in Buffalo. After the shooting, McKinley's attending surgeons at the Exposition, unable to find the bullet, honestly repair the stomach and expect a normal recovery. Instead of a hospital, he is immediately taken to the nearby mansion of Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Exposition President John Milburn and begins his recovery for six days. McKinley receives the first poison cup on September 12: two days later he lay dead, privately attended by his White House physician, Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Dr. Presley Rixey. The small, 32. caliber, poisoned bullet cannot be found during the autopsy, as its discovery would provide evidence that the assassin had not acted alone. At the ensuing trial of Czolgosz, during which neither the handgun nor the bullet were entered into evidence, it becomes evident through Czolgosz's repeated assertions that he was indeed an actor for another whom we know to be the Black Pope. We continue to read:]

'There was no one else but me. No one else told me to do it, and no one paid me to do it.' [Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor] Judge Titus repeated it as follows owing to the prisoner's feeble voice:

'He says no one had anything to do with the commission of his crime but himself; that his father and [dead] mother and no one else had anything to do with and knew nothing about it. . . . Czolgosz, in taking the life of our beloved President you committed a crime which shocked and outraged the moral sense of the civilized world. You have confessed to that guilt [with the help of the judge], and after learning all that at this time can be learned from the facts and circumstances of the case. . . . You have said, according to the testimony of credible witnesses and yourself, that no other person aided or abetted you in the commission of this terrible act.' . . .

It was while on the way to Auburn, under the soothing influence of a cigar [for a job well done] and while surrounded by a chatty company of officers and correspondents, that Czolgosz threw off his reserve and talked of his crime. . . . 'I wouldn't do it again and I would not have done it if I had known what I was doing. . . . I was all stirred up and felt I had to kill him. . . . I did not tell nobody and nobody set me on. I did it all myself. . . . I knew Emma Goldman and some others [Anarchists] in [Jesuit-controlled Roman Catholic] Chicago. I heard Emma Goldman speak in [Jesuit-controlled Roman Catholic] Cleveland. None of these people ever told me to kill anybody. Nobody told me that. I done it all myself.' . . .

'Would you like to have a priest before you die, or a minister?' . . . It seemed to those studying his countenance that he was thinking of childhood days when, with innocent untainted [Roman Catholic] faith [learned in a private Roman Catholic Church school], he sought and obtained comfort from the father confessor.

Finally he broke the spell. 'Maybe a priest,' he faltered. That was all. . . . Still he had sympathizers, and there are some unsolved mysteries. Reasons are noticeable to support the suggestion that we have not found out all about Czolgosz the assassin. He was examined by scientists and found not to be insane, but he has shown surprising weakness. He has not shown a symptom of moral sense [in accordance with the regicide doctrine of the Jesuit Order]. The testimony taken on his trial is curiously instructive but not conclusive. Was he morbid with malignancy and the folly of a fool—or was he an artist [i.e., a skillful actor]? Did he have no accomplices? Was he simply a wild convert of a woman [Emma Goldman] whose occupation has been the utterance of harangues? Was it with his own mind and money that he made journeys, ascertained the location of the President and what his movements were to be? His knowledge of the President's time-table was minute. Did he in a lonesome way pick these things up on his own account and with absolute secrecy?" [Of course not!] . . .

In the court there was stupidity in his face and incoherency in his words [indicating he had not the capacity to act on his own]. He stuck to the one assertion that he alone planned and performed 'this crime,' as he called it. So obstinate was this persistency that it made the impression of a lesson taught by a stronger person who fancied he might be used as a tool to commit a murder that would be famous." {21}[Emphasis added]

The Illustrious Life of William McKinley: Our Martyred President

"In my career as a [British Roman Catholic] professional intelligence officer, I had many occasions to access highly classified documents, but during service as a political science officer in Angola, West Africa, I had the opportunity to view a series of top secret classified documents which were unusually explicit. What I saw filled me with anger and resentment and launched me on a course from which I have not deviated, namely to uncover what power it is that controls and manages the British and United States governments.

I was thoroughly familiar with all of the well known secret societies such as the Royal Institute of International Affairs (RIIA), the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR), the Bilderbergers, Trilaterals, the Zionists, Freemasonry, Bolshevism, Rosicrucianism and all of the spin-offs of these secret societies. As an intelligence officer, and even before that as a young student in the course of my studies at the British Museum in London, I had cut my eye teeth on all of them, plus a good number of others with whom I imagined Americans were familiar. But when I came to the United States in 1969, I found that names like the [British "Protestant"] Order of St. John of Jerusalem [created by Jesuit-controlled Queen Victoria in 1885], Club of Rome, the German Marshall Fund, the Cini Foundation, the Round Table, the Fabianists, the Venetian Black Nobility, the Mont Pelerin Society, Hellfire Clubs, and many others were either totally unknown here, or else their true functions were at best but poorly understood, if at all. . . .

How can the conspirators maintain their grip upon the world, and more especially, their chokehold over the U.S. and Britain? . . . The only way we can come to grips with the reality of the conspirator's success is by mentioning and discussing the secret societies, . . . and the hundreds of thousands of entities and foundations whose guiding lights make up the membership of the Committee of 300—the ULTIMATE controlling body that runs the world . . .

also known as the Olympians [who, in 1912, defeated the "Protestant" Titans, in sinking the Deathship Titanic]." {22} [Emphasis added]

Conspirators' Hierarchy: The Story of The Committee of 300

The Jesuits in advancing their plans—their Great World Conspiracy of One World Government under their "infallible" and risen Papal Caesar ruling all the nations of the earth from Jerusalem pursuant to the devilish teachings of St. Augustine's City of God,—encountered serious resistance throughout the glorious Nineteenth Century. This resistance resulted in many expulsions from a host of nations around the world. Jesuit Thomas J. Campbell, President of the Order's Fordham University from 1885 to 1888 and again from 1896 to 1900, notes in his highly detailed history, The Jesuits, 1534 to 1921, that, between 1555 and 1921, the Order was expelled at least eighty-three times from countries, states and cities for engaging in political intrigue, subversive plots and treason against the state!

By 1900, nearly all of Europe, Asia and South America had had enough of the Jesuit Order. Pope Clement XIV had suppressed the Company with a decree, first prepared as a Brief but then promulgated as Bull, in 1773; England had expelled it in 1579, 1581, 1586, 1602 and 1604; Venice in 1606, 1612 and 1768; Denmark in 1606; Japan in 1587 and finally in 1614 (beginning the Edo Era, having executed 111 Jesuits by 1651; re-admitted in 1913); China in 1623 "for leading the ignorant people towards rebellion," 1716, 1753, 1775 and 1783; India in 1623; Holland in 1596 and 1816; Malta in 1634 and 1768; Belgium in 1818 and 1826; Russia in 1723 (for which the Order poisoned Tzar Peter the Great), 1776 and "forever" in 1820; Spain in 1767, 1820, 1835, 1854, 1868 and 1932; Britain and Ireland in 1829, Portugal in 1598, 1759, 1834 and 1910; Switzerland in 1847; Bavaria in 1848; Italy in 1848 and 1873; Austria in 1769, 1770, 1772 and 1848; Paraguay in 1733 and 1852; Germany in 1872; France in 1594, 1606, 1764, 1804, 1806, 1831, 1845, 1880 and 1901; Guatemala in 1872; Mexico in 1859; Brazil in 1874; Argentina in 1841; Ecuador in 1875; Colombia in 1850 and 1875; Rome in 1872; Costa Rica in 1884; and Cuba and the Philippines in 1898 (resulting in the Order's Spanish-American War). And to where did the Jesuits go? To the disgrace of English and American Protestants we tearfully read:

"The only countries where the Jesuits lived in peace were the States where Protestantism was in the majority: England, Sweden, Denmark, the United States of America." {23} [Emphasis added]

Hector Macpherson tells us in The Jesuits in History:

"So hurtful was the Jesuit Order found to be that, up to 1860, it was expelled no fewer than seventy times from countries which had suffered from its machinations . . . In spite of Continental warnings, England [under Queen Victoria (1837-1901) who opened up communication with the Vatican in 1877 and enabled the Order co carry out its Second Irish Massacre (1845-1850] has become a Jesuit dumping-ground. Those whom other countries have found from sad experience to be enemies, Britain allows to land on her shores, and to carry on unmolested their work of iniquity. We are carrying toleration to excess, and unless there is a change of policy, this nation will one day pay a heavy penalty." {24} Of Fourteenth Amendment America, David Mitchell declares:

"America . . . was a Mecca for fugitive Jesuits throughout the nineteenth century." {25} [Justin D. Fulton is in full agreement with this statement, as he declared the same in his Washington In the Lap of Rome (1888).]

Yes, dear truth-seeker, the Jesuits fled to their new "Holy Roman" Empire of Fourteenth Amendment America. We read in 1890:

"But where did the banished Jesuit go? Whither, when under the suspicion, and flying from the hatred of the rising spirit of freedom in Europe, does he betake himself, and where is he now? I answer, In America, in the United States [Americans now comprising twenty-five percent of the Order]. Our country is the paradise of Jesuits. Unwarned by the experience of other lands, regardless of the bands they weave about the limbs of liberty, we have permitted their presence in this country, until, almost ready to throw off the disguise, they now threaten our institutions with ruin . . . It is the Jesuit who is decrying free speech and liberty of conscience and a free press; who is doing his utmost in conformity with the Constitutions of the society of which he is a sworn adherent, and of the Papacy of which he is at once the dictator and the slave, to reduce free America to the subjection of an absolute monarch [a fascist military dictator]. What will be the result?

Strange and wonderful to say, misfortune and disaster to themselves seems to follow their designs against government. In 1870, it was their influence which assembled and directed the Vatican Council, which should exalt still higher dogmas of the church, and overthrow the growing spirit of freedom.

It was their plan, at the same time, to declare the Pope infallible, and to subjugate Italy and Europe to his power. Napoleon III of France, the favorite son of the church, whose bayonets were the guard and support of the Papal throne, was led, through Jesuit influence, to declare war upon Protestant Prussia. But behold while they debated the infallibility of the Pope, the monarch on whom Pius IX had shed the blight of his blessing surrendered himself, his army and his empire at Sedan, and free Italy began to march on Rome. Many prelates fled the Imperial City, and the thunder of the guns of > Prussia at Sedan was answered by the cannon of free Italy, turned against the gates of Rome. Into their long degraded capital swept the hosts of freedom; the Quirinal became the palace of the King of United Italy, Victor Emmanuel, and when the few hundred Ecclesiastics of the Papacy, only a fraction of the Council, passed the decree which made the Pope an infallible prince, it was answered by the huzzahs of liberty throughout France and Italy. Since then, the Infallible has whined and protested, begged and threatened, but he is an Italian subject against his will, and must be, while he stays in Rome. God grant that the machinations of the Roman hierarchy may result in the emancipation of their followers from Papal tyranny in America, as in France and Italy! Let Jesuitism which has fled to America, to found an Empire on the ruins of the Republic, having been swept by edict from the Old world, here find a grave; while American Catholic Christians, Romanist and Protestant, open the Word of God, and by it the gates of progress, here, in the free Republic of the west." {26}[Emphasis added]

Yes indeed! The Jesuits, having fled Europe to Fourteenth Amendment America, would build a huge commercial Empire with its powers consolidated in Washington. The Indian Nations, being a barrier to the Empire's development, would be betrayed and destroyed during the last half of the Nineteenth Century, while millions of Bible-rejecting Roman Catholic and Jewish immigrants would be brought from Europe to repopulate the Eastern Seaboard, becoming "the Liberal Eastern Establishment." Nearly fifty percent of all the Roman Catholic institutions of higher learning would be in the Pope's Fourteenth Amendment American Empire.

The power of the Jesuit Order was now absolute in Washington. Charles Chiniquy, one of our heroes, the friend of Abraham Lincoln and converted Roman Catholic priest turned Presbyterian, wrote in 1886:

> "The great, the fatal mistake of the American Government in the prosecution of the assassins of Abraham Lincoln was to constantly keep out of sight the religious element of that terrible drama. Nothing would have been more easy, then, to find out the complicity of the priests, who were not only coming every week and every day, but who were even living in that den of murderers. But this was carefully avoided from the beginning to the end of the [cover-up] trial. When not long after the execution of the murderers, I went, incognito, to Washington to begin my investigation about its true and real authors, I was not a little surprised to see that not a single one of the Government men to whom I addressed myself, would consent to have any talk with me on that matter, except after I had given my word of honor that I would never mention their names in connection with the result of my investigation. I saw with a profound distress, that the influence of Rome was almost supreme in Washington. I > could not find a single statesman who would dare to face that nefarious influence and fight it down." {27} [Emphasis added]

In 1901 the Jesuits assassinated the Freemason, President William McKinley, while Theodore "Rex" Roosevelt, their most obedient Freemason and friend of Knight of Malta William R. Grace (whose son, Joseph P. Grace, financed the Bolshevik Revolution, whose son, J. Peter Grace, Jr., participated in the Kennedy Assassination), became President and the Empire's first real Papal Emperor. We see:

> "Theodore Roosevelt was the first of the modern Imperialists—American version—blatantly advocating economic expansionism by the use of violent economic and financial aggression supported by brute force, and diverting the government of the United States into the first instrument of the big American [Vatican-controlled] corporations' grandiose schemes of world exploitation . . . As usual, the American people knew very little or nothing of what was going on. Not so the little hired hand in the pay of Big Business [controlled by the Jesuits' J. P. Morgan who, in 1913, died in Rome]—namely Theodore Roosevelt." {28} [Emphasis added]

Further, we must remember that the Jesuits, in control of President Franklin Pierce, had forcibly opened up Japan to foreigners in 1853-54, using the American gunboats commanded by Commodore Matthew Perry. The Jesuits proceeded to reenter Japan in 1865 (according to Andrew C. Ross's A Vision Betrayed {29}) and then assassinated Emperor Komei. The young Emperor Meiji then lifted the "Christian ban" in 1873, the Order having been expelled for over two hundred and fifty years.

Payback time was now in the making for "the Land of the Rising Sun," as well as China including its Manchu Dynasty having also expelled the Jesuit Order. From the moment Freemason Theodore Roosevelt became the American Emperor (who then erected the statue of the devil-worshipping, 33rd Degree Freemason Albert Pike in Washington, D.C.), the Jesuits would have absolute control of the White House through Georgetown University fully intending to restore—by military force—the Pope's Temporal Power over every nation on earth! Indeed, the arrogant and bombastic words of Redemptorist priest and secret Jesuit Coadjutor, Isaac Hecker, were fulfilled when he declared in the late Nineteenth Century:

> "In 1900 Rome will take this country and keep it." {30}

By 1912 it was said of the Jesuits:

> "To-day they are stronger in the United States than they ever were in any of the countries of Europe which expelled them as a menace to the government." {31} [Emphasis added]

The Jesuits would mold the ruined Federal Republic of Confederated Sovereign States, composed of primarily White Protestant American freemen, into a functioning, centralized Roman Catholic Empire of Fourteenth Amendment enfranchised slaves—both White and Black—for the purpose of using American military might to restore and maintain the Papal-Caesar's Temporal Power, not only in Italy, but throughout the world. Our hero, Jeremiah Crowley warned:

> "Strange as it may seem to the casual observer, it is true . . . that . . . the papal policy of power and pelf . . . is embraced . . . by the credulous non-Catholic people; and this is especially true in the English-speaking countries—England, Canada and the United States. These unscrupulous politicians, high and low, are only too willing to serve the Pope in his ungodly efforts to regain Temporal Power." {32}[Emphasis added]

Meanwhile, the Jesuits would overthrow the governments of those nations having expelled the Order from their borders. Absolute "republican" communist dictatorships would be imposed, which then would submit to the Temporal Power of the Pope as a matter of "foreign policy." A classic example is the Jesuit-trained, Roman Catholic communist and bastard son of a Nazi, Fidel Castro, the dictator of Cuba for the last forty-seven years. The American Empire would continue the policies of "the Holy Alliance" preventing the establishment of popular governments around the world. In 1908 the Empire would be given a secret inquisitional police, the Bureau of Investigation (BI), known today as the FBI. Its Director would protect the Papal-Caesar's Mafia from prosecution, denying its existence for years. In 1913 the Jesuits, in preparing to finance the coming Second Thirty Years' War, would saddle the Empire with a privately owned national bank—the Federal Reserve System. Those wealthy Jews, who would not consent to the Jesuits' "King's Bank," would find themselves on the Deathship Titanic. In the 1930s the Jesuits, via Boeing Aircraft, would build thousands of long-range bombers, B-17s and B-29s, financed by their national bank in whose hands all credit had been centralized during the Great Depression. With these aircraft they would bomb the civilian populations of Germany and Japan into submission to the dictates of Washington, controlled by the Jesuit General in Rome. By 1941 the Order would be ready to punish those nations that had driven its soldiers out of their lands. With the planned destruction of Pearl Harbor, Congress would declare war for the last time and the Jesuits would be ready for their ultimate vengeance—pursuant to the evil Council of Trent—World War II!

Apostate Protestant Victoria of England, 1819 – 1901 #227

Queen of the Protestant British Empire, 1837 – 1901

Again, we are at a loss in describing this most careless of European Monarchs.

Deceptively portrayed as an enemy of Rome by the English Cardinal Wiseman, Queen Victoria, like George III, was completely in the hands of the Militia of the Black Pope. During "the British Century" (1815-1915) her Prime Ministers, Freemason Viscount Palmerston and Freemason Benjamin Disraeli, used the diplomatic and military might of Protestant England to restore and maintain the Temporal Power of the Papal Caesar around the world. Being a secret party of the Order's "Holy Alliance," London never came to the aid of struggling peoples as they resisted the continental tyrants enforcing Prince Metternich's "Holy Alliance;" but rather, she secretly opposed their efforts. England refused to give asylum to the Italian patriots when they fled to British Malta (1849); conducted the opium wars against the Order's hated Chinese Manchu Dynasty; approved of the Jesuits' coup d'etat creating Napoleon III's French Empire (1852); sided with the Company's Crimean War against Orthodox Russia (1854); fired the American "anti-slavery agitation" causing the merciless annihilation of our White Southern Protestant culture with the War Between the States and pro-Negro Reconstruction from 1861 to 1876; invaded the "liberal" Mexican republic of Benito Juarez in 1864; opened dialogue with the Vatican on her own initiative in 1877; and permitted Freemasons Cecil J. Rhodes' and Alfred Milner's war against the Dutch Reformed Boars, stealing the Transvaal which contained the largest gold-mining complex in the world (1899). This depraved and selfish woman was the epitome of treason against the Church of the risen Son of God!

Jesuit Priest Being Arrested In Victorian England, 1877 #228

During the reign of Masonic King George IV (1820-1830), a secret deal was made whereby if the Catholic Emancipation Act was allowed to pass, the Jesuits would submit to an expulsion from the Kingdom (1829). Through the influence of the Masonic Duke of Wellington, Prime Minister and hero of the Battle of Waterloo, Roman Catholics (secretly loyal to the Papacy) were re-admitted to Parliament and the "banished" Jesuits remained unmolested in the realm. The Company then carried out its Oxford and Tractarian Movements purposed to restore the "heretic nation" to the Spiritual Power of the Papal Caesar. Simultaneously, the Order used its Masonically-controlled British Empire (via secret Temporal Coadjutors) to restore and maintain the Pope's Temporal Power around the world. With the death of Victoria in 1901, the sun began to set on the once Protestant British Empire. Her Masonic eldest son, King Edward VII (1901-1910), restored the Society of Jesus in 1902 in preparation for the Black Pope's planned destruction of the formerly Protestant Empires of Germany and Britain.

That payback for the Order's expulsion from Britain (1829), Germany (1872), and France (1880 and 1901) would be Second Thirty Years' War (1914-1945).

"Heretic" and Freemason James A. Garfield, 1831 – 1881

Descended from English Puritans and French Huguenots having fled France due to the Order's Revocation of the Edict of Nantes in 1685, Garfield was the last of American Presidents to be born in a log cabin. With his father dying in 1883 leaving the family in poverty, his mother, Eliza, ran the small farm and saw to the education her children erecting a small schoolhouse on a corner of her land.

During the 1850s, Bible-based religious activities and education were his preoccupation. James attended a seminary, taught in district schools and, from 1851 to 1854, studied and taught at Western Reserve Eclectic Institute zealously preaching the doctrines of the Baptist-styled Disciples of Christ. From Eclectic, a Disciple school, he entered Williams College graduating in 1856 with highest honors, able to simultaneously write Latin with one hand and Greek with the other. Garfield returned to the Institute and became its principal, officiating at marriages and funerals while a vibrant preacher for the Disciples of Christ. His Arminian universalism however led to a rejection of Biblically sanctioned slavery resulting in his support of Illuminatus Horace Greeley's newly organized Radical Republican Party. During the War of Northern Aggression, Garfield exhibited superb leadership becoming a Major General by the time of his resignation in 1863. A member of the House of Representatives during Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Thaddeus Stevens' infamous Reconstruction, Garfield endorsed the Order's Red Republican policies of universal emancipation, universal equality, universal suffrage and universal education. In 1880 he was elected to the U.S. Senate but never took his seat. In May, after 36 ballots at Chicago's Republican Presidential Convention, he was chosen to be the compromise candidate over former President Ulysses S. Grant and "Half-Breed" centralists Senator James G. Blaine and John Sherman. Winning the election by a mere 9,464 votes out of 9,000,000, the Black Pope knew Garfield was a conservative expert in fiscal matters who, from 1871-1875, had been the Chairman of the House Committee on Appropriations. Proven to be a staunch promoter of a high protective tariff and defender of bimetallism, Garfield rightly asserted in his Inaugural Address, ". . . gold and silver afford the only safe foundation for a monetary system." Our brave Man of God also resisted and defeated the Order's New York "Stalwart" Republican chieftain and intimate friend of Vice President Chester A. Arthur, Senator Roscoe Conkling, the agitation as to the appointment of Tax Collector of the Order's Port of New York having been ignited by Coadjutor James Blaine.

As if these honest, Protestant fiscal "heresies" were not enough, Garfield sealed his doom when he proclaimed that no "ecclesiastical organization" (including the Order's Roman Papacy) would be "permitted to usurp in the smallest degree the functions and powers of the National Government." A supposed Protestant, Charles J. Guiteau—known personally to Secretary of State Blaine—was chosen to shoot the "liberal heretic" in the back. Once wounded, Dr. D. Willard Bliss, with his team of assassins, finished off the President on September 19, 1881.

Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Charles J. Guiteau, 1841 – 1882

Born in Freeport, Illinois, Charles Guiteau later joined New York's sexually immoral Oneida Community led by Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor and absolute dictator, John Humphrey Noyes. Practicing a "millennial communism" very similar to the socialism as perfected on the Company's Paraguayan Reductions, Guiteau left the commune after his secret "formation" of nearly five years (1861-1865), during which time he was able to avoid the draft and military duty. A "lawyer, theologian and politician," an admirer of New York City Illuminatus and Radical Red Republican Horace Greeley, and thus an avid reader of Greeley's New York Tribune, he operated as a "con man" between the Company strongholds of New York City and Chicago (even attending Dwight L. Moody's revival meetings) for fifteen years until the 1880 election. With a deadlock between Jesuit Temporal Coadjutors Ulysses S. Grant and James G. Blaine, the Order permitted the nomination of James A. Garfield so long as Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Chester A. Arthur was his running mate.

In decreeing the removal of President Garfield, key Fordham and Georgetown University Jesuits decided to use a theatrical regicide, intending to create the impression that their "Stalwart" assassin was an insane "lone nut." Frequenting New York's Republican Party headquarters on Fifth Avenue (ruled by Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Senator Roscoe Conkling), and later the White House and State Department, Guiteau became familiar with Secretary of State Blaine (his handler) and Vice President Arthur (the beneficiary of the murder), meeting several times under the guise of promoting Garfield and seeking a political appointment. But secretly, the details of the assassination were being planned.

After stalking the President for weeks, four times missing the opportunity to kill, on July 2, at the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad Station in Washington, Guiteau shot at Garfield twice with a silver-handled, British "Bulldog" 44. caliber revolver, one shot grazing his right arm and the other entering the lower back. He readily gave himself up, was arrested with no fight or resistance and, upon arrival at the city jail, was only then disarmed—clearly demonstrating he was no lunatic! Claiming that he intended to "unite the Republican Party and save the Republic," Guiteau's theatrical show-trial was from November 14, to May 22, 1882. Feigning insanity in order to save his life (as admitted in his poem referenced below), he plead not guilty with a clever defense based on the Order's regicide doctrine that Garfield was a "traitor," thus a tyrant, and that the shooting was not murder but "a political necessity;" that the act was not his, but "an act of God." Guiteau also claimed for his defense that "the doctors had killed Garfield" and, since the President had died in New Jersey, "the court had no jurisdiction." Meanwhile, District Attorney associate Edmond Bailey held lengthy conversations with Guiteau making detailed notes as to his life, ideas and motives—which copious notes Bailey later destroyed! On the gallows Guiteau recited his own boastful poem, I Am Going to the Lordy, his last words being "Glory, Glory, Glory!"

Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor James G. Blaine, 1830 – 1893 #232

Words cannot express the sinful iniquity, the wretched infamy, the diabolical cunning, the secret dealing and calculating murder of this Jesuit-controlled, Radical Red Republican, turned "Half-breed" within the party and traitor to his country, as well as a secret assassin to his anti-Papal Temporal Power, Bible-believing Commander-in-Chief, James A. Garfield.

Known as "the continental liar from the state of Maine," Blaine was a prime mover in the forced ratification of the Order's wicked Fourteenth Amendment, a promoter of the bloody and vicious Reconstruction of the South and now the keynote player in a cruel and torturous murder of his President. On that fateful Saturday of July 2, 1881, Blaine and his assassins knew their hour had come. As planned, the President was to take the train to New England, to begin a summer-long vacation with his wife and family. Arriving at Washington's Baltimore and Potomac Railroad Station at 9:20am, both Garfield and Blaine alighted from their carriage and entered the depot through the quiet, lesser-occupied, ladies waiting room, Blaine leading the way. With the assassin emerging from a recess hidden between a door and a window, the good President was shot in the back—given "the leaden bullet;" yet, Blaine was never shot at, as it was he who supposedly warned Guiteau (when both met at the State Department) to "never speak to me again."

Blaine became President Arthur's Secretary of State, again ran for the U.S. Presidency and later became the first president of the Order's Pan-American Congress at whose subsequent Pan-American Exposition McKinley was shot! In 1893, Blaine died, went to hell, and someday, after giving an account of his life to the risen Son of God, will be cast alive into the lake of fire forever (Rev. 20:15)!

Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Dr. D. Willard Bliss, 1825 – 1899

Upon Guiteau's first shot grazing the President's right arm, Garfield cried out, "My God! What is this!" The second round felled the victim to the floor. Upon being lifted onto a mattress taken from one of the rail cars, almost immediately (and as planned) the real assassin appeared. Dr. D. Willard Bliss, a Washington physician and personal friend of Blaine, examined the bullet hole only to thrust his filthy, unsanitary, index finger into the three-inch-deep wound of entry intending to damage a vital organ as well as igniting an infection that would lead to blood poisoning. He then inserted a non-sterile probing instrument and, with further violent digging, created a false passage confusing later physicians as to the bullet's true path. His lying words revealed the intent of his probing to the crowd: "There is no hope for President Garfield. He will probably not live three hours and may die in half an hour. The bullet has pierced his liver and it is a fatal wound." But alas, the liver was not pierced and our Man of God would live for another 80 days in spite of calculated medical tortures beyond belief. After nearly an hour and a half, marked with repeated requests by the President to be moved, Garfield was finally conveyed to the Executive Mansion. By that evening Bliss had taken full charge of Garfield's case without any interference from Blaine, or permission from the President. Further, Bliss assembled his team of allopathic assassins while consigning Garfield's cousin, homeopath Silas Boynton, and Mrs. Garfield's personal doctor, Susan Edson, to nursing roles.

After a fistfight, allopathic Bliss drove away the President's personal homeopath, J. H. Baxter, who never saw Garfield again. The torture continued by: further lengthening the wound from 3 to 20 inches; inducing vomiting via strong food and drink; toxic rectal feeding; and feeding the infection causing a steady stream of pus from the ears, nose and mouth, and a weight loss of 80 pounds! At the autopsy, no other physicians were permitted to supervise the exam. Bliss had given the accursed heretic "the steel of the poniard" and "the poison cup."

William McKinley, Our Twenty-Fifth President, Cynthia A. Klingel and Robert B. Noyed, (Chanhassen, Minnesota: The Child's World, 2002) p. 30.

Freemason William McKinley, 1843 – 1901

One of eight presidents originating from Ohio, McKinley was the seventh of nine children, was very poor and, like most youngsters of his day, was educated in a one-room schoolhouse until the age of nine. Reared on the LORD's AV1611 English Reformation Bible, he was a most devoted Methodist whose mother had hoped he would become a minister. In 1852 he attended the Poland Academy excelling in reading, debating and public speaking. In 1861 he joined Lincoln's Federal Union Grand Army, proved his bravery and leadership in battle, later becoming "the Idol of Ohio."

Leaving the army with the rank of Brevet Major, he entered law school without the least suspicion that the Society of Jesus was in complete control of the Republican Party. As Sunday school head of Canton's First Methodist Church and president of the YMCA, McKinley began his public career in 1869 and was married two years later to Ida, the woman who adored him for thirty years. A low-level Freemason, William was moral and upright, exhorting his martial nephew, James, to "keep your life and your speech both clean, and be brave."

Bringing the Biblical maxim of honesty into political office, McKinley was a marvelous promoter of domestic manufacturers and thus was a master of the high protective tariff—without added profit! As Chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, he was the impetus behind the passage of the high McKinley Tariff of 1890 so hated by the minions of the Order but loved by the people. Striking back in 1894, the Sons of Loyola (via President Grover Cleveland) passed the Wilson-Gorman Tariff Act lowering McKinley's tariff and beginning a personal income tax later declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court in Pollock v. Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, 157 US 428 (1895). This setback would be remedied with the ratification of the 16th Amendment in 1913. Striking back and supported by McKinley, the flattering 1897 Dingley Act again raised the tariff to a new high—further outraging the Order!

The tariff would be lowered in 1909 via the Payne-Aldrich Tariff Act and again in 1913 via the Underwood Tariff Act without opposition from Presidents William Howard Taft or Woodrow Wilson, the abject slaves of James Cardinal Gibbons! Elected in 1897, President McKinley sought to avoid war with Spain, so the agents of Rome blew up the U.S. Battleship Maine in Cuba's Havana Harbor, igniting the Pope's Spanish-American War of 1898. The resultant treaty protected every piece of Roman Catholic Church property within the US and its holdings, while setting the stage of for the Black Pope's future WWII conquest of Japan through the evil acquisition of Hawaii, Guam and the Philippines. McKinley purposed to break up the Pope's huge Masonic Rockefeller and Morgan trusts, thereby threatening the cartel-capitalist powers of the Empire. He also favored bimetallism, but was intimidated by foreign powers into abandoning silver, signing the Gold Standard Act in 1900. Re-elected in 1901 with New York's Masonic Theodore Roosevelt as vice presidential running mate, the Order called upon its evil International Anarchist Network to "extirpate this heretic from the face of the whole earth."

Roman Catholic Assassin of President William McKinley

Papal Anarchist Emma Goldman, 1869 – 1940 #236

Born in Russia to a wealthy Jewish family, Goldman immigrated to the Order's American Empire in 1885, becoming its most famous US anarchist. Moving to Jesuit-ruled New York City in 1889, she preached anarchy, socialism, birth control, women's suffrage, universal equality and unionism, further destroying the virtuous White Protestant and Baptist peoples whose individual, Common Law liberties arose from their AV1611 Bible-based culture. Claiming to be inspired by the preaching of Goldman, Czolgosz shot the President for which reason the Order could then "blame the Jews," begin its anti-Jewish fury in the tolerant US, and justify the creation of its Bureau of Investigation in 1908.

Resisting the Company by opposing its 1917 WWI draft, Goldman was deported back to Russia in 1919 by the Black Pope's BI agent, Masonic J. Edgar Hoover!

Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Leon F. Czolgosz 1873 – 1901

By 1900 both political parties were clearly in the hands of the Society of Jesus. The words of Priest Isaac Hecker were now fulfilled; Rome had taken this country and was determined to keep it. In addition to creating the exclusively Roman Catholic, fascist-styled, Order of the Knights of Columbus in New Haven, Connecticut (the same town in which were the Order's Skull and Bones and Book and Snake secret societies of apostate Protestant Yale University), a series of military fortresses had been erected in, or near, key cities throughout the Empire. Those fortresses, dubbed Universities, would serve as staging bases for calculated agitations launched by Masonically-controlled Terrorist Networks against the naïve American people and government. Those Terrorist Networks would include first the Anarchist, then the Communist and finally the Moslem Terrorist Network, including the Black cult of the Nation of Islam. With Jesuit universities in Washington, Detroit, Cleveland, Buffalo and New York City, the Anarchists would again be used to eliminate another "tyrant" resisting the Temporal Power of the Papacy. Chosen for the task to murder our "heretic and liberal" William McKinley was a Detroit-born Roman Catholic, Leon Czolgosz.

Directing the Anarchists of Cleveland through the Order's military fortress of John Carroll University, the assassin received instruction on several topics—including regicide—from a leading Anarchist, Emil Shilling, during a series of meetings. After the assassination, the Anarchists would be able to prove there was no cooperative connection between them and Czolgosz, alleging (via an Anarchist newspaper article cleverly published before the murder) that he was a "spy" for the government. When in Buffalo, the killer would be kept minutely advised as to the President's every move at the Pan-American Exhibition through Temporal Coadjutors connected with the Company's nearby Canisius College. Seeking to kill "the tyrant" on the Exhibition's "President's Day" (after McKinley gave the finest speech of his life) and again on the following morning at Niagara Falls, Czolgosz finally shot the President that hot afternoon within the Temple of Music. Firing a .32 caliber revolver, the first round glanced off a button lodging slightly in the chest. But the second shot tore through the stomach and later could not be found. Pounced upon and hurled to the floor by two Secret Service agents, Czolgosz was arrested, he declaring, "I killed the President because I done my duty." A student of anarchism for several years, he had advocated the death of "Kings, Emperors and Presidents."

During his trial the assassin was slow to admit that he was a Roman Catholic and that he had been trained in (anti-Republican, anti-Protestant) Catholic schools. Further, he declared several times that he acted alone, that the plan to kill the President was his idea—further concealing his secret masters. On the day of his electrocution, he confessed to a Polish priest and showed no remorse. After the autopsy, his remains were placed in an unmarked prison grave, drenched with acid, covered with quicklime and consigned to the dust—until his coming Day of Judgment!

Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Dr. Presley M. Rixey, 1852 – 1928 #239

Upon the Order's Anarchist assassin shooting McKinley in the presence of coconspirators Milburn and Root in the Temple of Music on September 6, 1901, the President was moved to the emergency medical hospital at the Order's Buffalo-based Pan-American Exposition. Being immediately operated upon, the surgeons led by Dr. Mann were unable to find the bullet, yet they repaired his stomach. Within two hours the President was moved to the Milburn mansion, rather than to a hospital in Buffalo!

Like President Garfield, whose wound was not evidently mortal, McKinley, like Garfield, would also be at the mercy of another select medical assassin, Dr. Presley Rixey. Like Dr. Hunter McGuire, Stonewall Jackson's Masonic medical murderer, Coadjutor Rixey had been trained in Philadelphia's Jefferson Medical College and was now, as McKinley's official White House physician, in position to "dispatch" another key enemy of the Black Pope. Steadily recovering for six days, after a substantial breakfast on Thursday, September 12, the President felt so good that he asked for a cigar. Though his request was refused, Dr. McBurney and his team of physicians were so thoroughly satisfied with McKinley's condition that they went to New York City—along with Elihu Root.

Later that day the President was poisoned, he complaining of being tired while suffering a rising pulse. By that evening his condition was worsening and on Friday he was poisoned again, possibly with strychnine or arsenic. Suffering from a fever, extreme prostration and a rapid heartbeat, President McKinley died at 2:15am on Saturday morning, September 14, assassin Rixey being the only person at his bedside! For a job well done, President Roosevelt promoted Rixey to Surgeon General in 1902 with a rank of Rear Admiral, remaining his White House physician until 1909. The successful combination of "the leaden bullet" and "the poison cup" was proven once again!

Archbishop John Ireland of St. Paul, Minnesota, 1888 – 1918

Outwardly a close personal friend of Masonic Presidents McKinley and Roosevelt, while a Champion of the Order's liberal ploy of "Americanism," John Ireland was known as "the Protestant Archbishop." Being fully apprised of Rome's assassinations of Presidents Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley, he was a power in the Republican Party, a prime mover in the 1898 declaration of war on Spain, and a strong influence in Washington concerning the church properties in Cuba, Puerto Rico and the Philippines. This "Machiavelli" of American politics feigning to be the friend of blood-bought Protestant liberties, Ireland declared in the presence of Cardinal Gibbons at Baltimore: "The Catholic Church is the sole living and enduring Christian authority. She has the power to speak; she has an organization by which her laws may be enforced. . . . Our work is to make America Catholic. Our cry shall be, 'God wills it,' and our hearts shall leap with crusader enthusiasm."* One of the ends in "winning" America would be, in the words of Pope Leo XIII (1878-1903), "that the Church would receive the favor of the laws and the patronage of the government," as is now the case under Skull and Bones President George W. Bush. Ireland openly criticized the Jesuit Order, blaming it for the loses of Reformation England and Samurai Japan, knowing full well the Order was now ruling England through the Court of Queen Victoria and was in full command of Japan via the Court of its young Emperor Meiji. The Jesuits openly resisted Ireland's "Americanism" in the person of Jesuit Cardinal Camillo Mazzella (1886-1900), yet were the secret impetus behind the movement as they would later be with Masonic Modernism, Masonic Communism, Masonic Fascism and Masonic Labor Zionism.

President McKinley, Cardinal Gibbons and Admiral Dewey, 1899 #242

In the name of "Americanism," Cardinal Gibbons was leading the charge in putting forth the image that his American Roman Catholic Church was in fact "tolerant" and thus at odds with the Order's Council of Trent, Pope Pius IX's Syllabus of Errors (1864) and Papal Infallibility as decreed by the First Vatican Council (1870). This ruse of war was necessary in the plot to unite "heretic" American Protestants and "liberal" Roman Catholic natives and immigrants in building the Black Pope's "Holy Roman," Fourteenth Amendment, Corporate- Fascist, American Empire to be used in restoring the Pope's Temporal Power around the world. Rome's plot in igniting the Spanish-American War of 1898 was successful through the blowing up of the USS Maine in Havana Harbor.

McKinley then ceased in his peaceful diplomacy, calling for a congressional declaration of war against Spain. At the war's conclusion the Roman Catholic nations of Cuba, Puerto Rico, Guam and the Philippines were brought under the control of Cardinal Gibbons' American Hierarchy now ruling both political parties and thus the Executive Branch of government. Above, we have President McKinley bowing his head in a closing prayer led by his assassin, Cardinal Gibbons, after Admiral George Dewey (the hero of the battle of Manila Bay) had been presented with a sword having been voted to him by Congress. Two years later the President would die for opposing his master, James Cardinal Gibbons, just as JKF would also die for opposing his master, Francis Cardinal Spellman!

33rd Degree Freemason King Edward VII, 1841 – 1910
King of Great Britain and Ireland, 1901 – 1910

While titled the Prince of Wales, later to be the first monarch of the house of Sax-Coburg-Gotha, Albert Edward, the oldest of Queen Victoria's nine children, became the Grand Master of the Grand "Mother" Lodge of London and the Protector of the Craft. Blamed by his mother for the death of his father Albert over an adulterous affair gone public, he degenerated into a careless glutton, addicted to cigars and immoral women. Marked by no personal righteousness in his private life, he became King in 1901 after the death of the Queen. As putty in the hands of his "Father-advisor/confessor"—Jesuit Bernard Vaughan—, King Edward, affectionately known as "the Uncle of Europe " and "Bertie," laid the foundation for the Order's coming Second Thirty Years' War to begin in 1914 with WWI.

In 1902 he formally re-admitted the Order into the Kingdom after over 70 years of banishment; in 1903 he was given a private audience with Pope Leo XIII; that same year he traveled to Paris and began negotiations for what became the Entente Cordiale—the Allied Powers of WWI; in 1907 he was the first British monarch to visit Russia, solidifying the secret pact between Britain, France and Russia for the calculated annihilation of Protestant Prussia via a twofront war and the removal of his hated nephew, Kaiser Wilhelm II; he modernized the British Home Fleet and reformed the Army Medical Services in preparing the Empire for the World War; and finally, he was an intimate friend with Masonic J. P. Morgan, the Order's prime mover in creating America's Federal Reserve Bank which, in turn, would finance WWI. Masonic Winston Churchill, the son of Edward's mistress, Jennie Jerome, would lead the nation in WWII! Dying in 1910, on his tombstone would be engraved Hitler's sauvastika!

Freemason Theodore "Rex" Roosevelt, 1858 – 1919 #245

26th President of the United States of America

9th Commander-in-Chief of the Pope's "Holy Roman"

Fourteenth Amendment Corporate-Fascist American Empire, 1901 – 1909

A member of the Jesuits' Roosevelt-Delano-Rockefeller Dynasty, "Teddy" Roosevelt was the Black Pope's first real Emperor and Commander-in-Chief of the Papal Caesar's "Holy Roman" Fourteenth Amendment American Empire, intended to restore the Temporal Power of the Pope worldwide and to enforce the absolutist policies of the Holy Alliance. A personal friend of New York Knight of Malta William R. Grace (after whose Order he named his Maltese Cross Cabin in North Dakota), Jesuit Thomas Sherman, James Cardinal Gibbons (Archbishop of Baltimore), and Cardinal Satolli (the Vatican's secret diplomatic agent in the White House), the Jesuits used their Shriner Freemason to begin building their corporate-fascist-masonic Empire throughout the western hemisphere. Under this wicked apostate Protestant, having erected the statue of President Andrew Johnson's occult Masonic master and White House advisor, Albert Pike, in Washington, D.C., Rome's huge corporate monopolies, managed by J. P. Morgan, another Shriner Freemason, and Nicholas F. Brady, a Knight of Malta, began to be built and to work in unison preparing the Order's massive Military Industrial Complex for the Jesuit General's Second Thirty Years' War.

The approaching First World War was the major purpose for the construction of the Panama Canal, now in the hands of the Order's Communist Red Chinese.

Meanwhile, Jesuit-controlled Protestant America would be deceived into abandoning President George Washington's wise policy of isolation, and begin to enforce the enslaving, political Temporal Power of Satan's Papacy upon every nation on earth pursuant to the Black Pope's wicked and evil Council of Trent.

President Theodore Roosevelt and James Cardinal Gibbons, 1904 #246

Masonic Theodore Roosevelt, working in close conjunction with New Haven's Skull and Bonesmen and their neighboring Knights of Columbus, was clearly the willing servant of his Jesuit-controlled master in Baltimore. Siding with Rome in calling American Protestants "bigots" who were voicing their concern over the Pope's encroaching "Temporal Power" wielded at the national capital, Roosevelt is standing, delivering his address at the week-long dedication of St. Patrick's Cathedral in Washington, D.C. Seated at his left is Cardinal Gibbons with the balcony and entrance of the new rectory filled with statesmen, priests, Jesuits and bishops (including Archbishop Ireland) amidst a throng of nearly 15,000 people. In 1905 Roosevelt would be the Cardinal's mediator between Russia and Japan, the Order having used Emperor Meiji's navy via a sneak attack, to destroy the navy of Tzar Nicholas II's Orthodox Russia. For this the President would be given the Order's Nobel Peace Price in furthering "world peace"—under Vatican hegemony! Gibbons later controlled Presidents Taft and Wilson, staunchly backing the nation's entry into World War I, uniting Protestants and Roman Catholics in the calculated destruction of historic Protestant Prussia.

High Freemasons Theodore Roosevelt and William H. Taft, 1905 #247

Upon Roosevelt's reelection in 1904, he chose Skull and Bonesman William Howard Taft to be his Secretary of War, replacing the Order's Elihu Root.

Now, this dynamic Masonic duo could continue to extend the Temporal Power of the Pope while building Satan's "Holy Roman," Fourteenth Amendment American Empire. In 1901 Roosevelt would create the American Medical Association (AMA) and, in 1906, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) to serve as the Grand Inquisitor of the allopathic, drug-based, symptom-treating, Rockefellerfinanced, monopolistic AMA—the Pope's North American Holy Office of the Inquisition. Taft would oversee the building of the extraordinary, 50-mile long Panama Canal in preparation for the Black Pope's coming Second Thirty Years' War (1914-1945). Backed by "Rex" Roosevelt during his victorious Presidential election, Taft would remain the obedient servant of James Cardinal Gibbons!

By 2006, great-grandsons Theodore Roosevelt IV and William H. Taft IV would be members of the Council on Foreign Relations subject to Archbishop Egan!

During Taft's Presidency much was accomplished for the Jesuit Order. In 1909 he signed the wicked Payne-Aldrich Tariff Act, which lowered the protective tariff on farm products from the Protestant Midwest, but raised the tariff on goods manufactured in the Roman Catholic Northeast; in 1913 the same former Senator and Freemason Nelson Aldrich, grandfather of Freemason Nelson A. Rockefeller, would witness the Senate's passage of the Order's Federal Reserve Act, he being one of its creators at Jekyll Island, Georgia. Bonesman and Freemason Taft would admit New Mexico and Arizona into the Empire, further Romanizing our southwestern border. He would also act as a secret party with Masons King George V and J. P. Morgan in the sinking of the Titanic, sacrificing a most notable Protestant gentleman, Major Archibald Butt, along with over 1500 men, women and children. Jesuit Bernard Vaughan was an advisor to King George and had cleverly converted Taft's sister to Popery. Today, one of Taft's descendants, William H. Taft, IV, is a member of the Black Pope's New York City-based Council on Foreign Relations now ruling the American Empire.

Coadjutors Cardinal Gibbons and Theodore Roosevelt, 1918 #250

Having worked together for over twenty years, Jesuit-trained "American Pope" James Cardinal Gibbons, rejoices with his most obedient Masonic slave, "Holy Roman Emperor, Theodore "Rex" Roosevelt. Succeeding in "Making America Dominantly Catholic," they had also conspired to put President Wilson in office, create the Order's Federal Reserve Bank, pass the Income Tax Amendment, and bring the US into World War I—the Second Thirty Years' War (1914-1945).

THE PAPAL BURDEN.

This monstrous burden is being Jesuitically shifted to the more willing shoulders of non-Catholics.

Burdensome Jesuit Rule Over Roman Catholic Nations, 1912 #251

Openly ruling the impoverished, priest-ridden, Roman Catholic peoples of Ireland, Quebec, Spain, Central and South America throughout the Nineteenth Century, the Jesuit Order had secretly been the religious, political and financial ruler of the once Protestant British Empire.

With the assassination of President McKinley, the Company was now in complete control of both the Republican and Democratic parties—Presidents Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson doing the bidding of the Order. As warned by ex-priest Jeremiah Crowley in his above captioned cartoon, the Sons of Loyola had now saddled the Protestant peoples of the Pope's "Holy Roman," Fourteenth Amendment, Corporate-Fascist, Masonically-led American Empire with the monstrous political and economic burden of serving the Papacy in its quest to establish World Government from Jerusalem.

Cardinal Gibbons and the American Hierarchy, February 20, 1919 #252

Here sit the bold victors, Pope Benedict XV's American Hierarchy (and guests), having conquered Protestant America via the Black Pope's ubiquitous, occult Freemasonry. Leading the pack of this religious murder-Mafia, each member being under oath to implicitly obey and serve Rome's "King of kings and Lord of lords," is the Archbishop of Baltimore, James Cardinal Gibbons. The photo was taken on the steps of Gibbons Hall, Catholic University of America, Washington, D.C., in celebration of the Cardinal's golden jubilee as a bishop. The University, closely allied with the White House and Capitol, was founded by two Caldwell sisters of nobility—Baroness von Zedtwitz and the Marquise des Monstiers-Meronville of Kentucky—who renounced Romanism during Father Jeremiah Crowley's crusade against the moral and political corruption of this Hierarchy.

Working in conjunction with the nation's most powerful Sons of Loyola fortressed at nearby Georgetown University, the Hierarchy had begun its quest of implementing socialist-communism on the common, unsuspecting people and corporate-monopolistic fascism on the rich—to the utter destruction of the Reformation's White Protestant Middle Class! The Second Thirty Years' War was now raging in both Germany and Russia, and Gibbons was a key player in bringing Masons Hitler and Stalin to prominence using the Federal Reserve Bank, Masonic Gentile and Jewish bankers, and the White House. Seated in the front row are (L-R), Archbishop Cerretti, special envoy of Pope Benedict XV (1912-1922); Cardinal O'Connell of Boston; Cardinal Gibbons; Cardinal Begin of Quebec; and Archbishop Bonzano, Apostolic Delegate to the United States. Standing in the front row, second from the left, is Archbishop Patrick Hayes.

Outside the Archbishop's Palace in Baltimore on December 3, 1920, less than four months before his death on March 24, 1921, this "Prince of the Church" is pictured with two of his most important East Coast, port-city subordinates. On the Cardinal's right stands the Archbishop of Philadelphia, Dennis Dougherty; on his left stands the Archbishop of New York City, Patrick Hayes. Though Irish Gibbons was Secretary to the Archbishop of Baltimore when he, Martin J. Spaulding, masterminded the assassination of President Lincoln in 1865; though Gibbons attended the First Vatican Council in 1870 during which the Pope was declared to be "Infallible," and freedom of conscience was utterly "reprobated and condemned;" yet he was praised by ex-President Theodore Roosevelt as "being the most respected and venerated and useful citizen of our country," and by President William H. Taft for his "single-minded patriotism and love of country."

Gibbons would be succeeded in his political power by Hayes who, in turn, would quietly rule the White House via both political parties from Masonic President Warren G. Harding to Masonic President Franklin D. Roosevelt through the National Catholic Welfare Conference (1919), and the Council on Foreign Relations (1921). Standing behind the three afore named Archbishops are (L-R): Father Eugene J. Connelly, chancellor of the Archdiocese of Baltimore, Father Louis R. Stickney, rector of the Cathedral, Father Edward R. Dyer, S.S., secretary of the board, Monsignor William H. Ketcham, secretary of the commission, and Father William J. Hafey of the Cathedral staff.

Cardinal Bonzano, Governor Al Smith and Cardinal Hayes, 1926 #254

At this time all political power of New York, City and State, was now in the iron vice-grip of the Jesuit Order. The Black Pope's Militia garrisoned at Fordham University and St. Ignatius Loyola Church on Park Avenue unofficially rules the Archbishop; the Archbishop rules both the Governor and the Mayor from the palatial St. Patrick's Cathedral, his political and financial "Powerhouse" now situated across the street from Rockefeller Center. Cardinal Gibbons' WWI, unifying Catholics and Protestants in destroying the Protestant German Empire, had now ended; the immoral, Africanizing "Roaring Twenties" were upon us.

The Archbishop's Stock Market was being deliberately inflated via an extreme extension of credit through the Company's Federal Reserve Bank, creating the illusion of wealth in preparation for the Great Depression; to control the coming financial debacle and thus the transfer of billions of dollars in Protestant and Jewish assets and infrastructure into Vatican hands, in 1927 the Archbishop would establish the American "Tongue" of the Sovereign Military Order of Malta composing the wealthiest Roman Catholic businessmen in the Empire, including Joseph P. Kennedy—the man who caused the Stock Market Crash of 1929!

Hayes would use Shriner FDR to give clear title of the nation's gold to the Pope's Federal Reserve Bank and to formally recognize the Order's communist, inquisitional government of Josef Stalin in building the Destroyer of apostate Protestant Prussia and later, the Destroyer of apostate Protestant America.

The Black Pope's Jesuit Georgetown University, 1926 #255

Suppressed by Pope Clement XIV in 1773 during the First Great Schism of Freemasonry (1753-1813), the Company sought refuge in the Protestant British Empire of King George III (slow-poisoned with arsenic) and in the new Protestant and Baptist-Calvinist United States Federal Republic of George Washington (poisoned with anthrax and possibly arsenic). Stonyhurst College would be the headquarters through which the Order would rule London; Georgetown University would rule Washington, D.C. "Ex-Jesuit" Priest John Carroll returned from Europe to his native America and founded Georgetown College in 1789, now Georgetown University. Functioning under the name of "The Corporation of the Roman Catholic Clergy of Maryland," the Society was formally restored in the United States by Pope Pius VII in 1805, during the Presidency of Illuminatus Thomas Jefferson! Under the protection of our Baptist-Calvinist First Amendment, the Order was completely unrestrained in its quest to "Make (Corporate) America (pro) Catholic," and to fulfill its dream of establishing a world government under a Jesuit-appointed Pontiff ruling from Jerusalem. In 1841 the Order would establish Fordham University from which it would rule New York City—"the political capital of the world." Georgetown University would serve in training future American diplomats at its School of Foreign Service, one of them being Knight of Malta and Director of the CIA, CFR member George J. Tenet. Georgetown would also serve as a recruiter for Masonic Jesuit Coadjutor J. Edgar Hoover in filling the ranks of his FBI with Jesuit-trained Irish/Italian Roman Catholics. A key base for the Black Pope's International Intelligence Community, Georgetown serves as thee forum for the Order's most critical propaganda issuing from its Council on Foreign Relations.

Papal Knight John H. Patterson (1844 – 1922), 1900s #256

NCR's Ruthless and Cruel "Father of Modern Salesmanship"

Cardinal Gibbons (2FR) with John. H. Patterson (3FR), Ohio, 1903 #257

Escorted by Priest Martin Neville (4FR), pastor of Dayton's Holy Angels Roman Catholic Church, Archbishop Gibbons secured a strong Vatican connection with John Patterson, the owner of National Cash Register. Patterson's second-in-command, Thomas J. Watson, Sr., would later build the Computing-Tabulation-Recording Company into the Order's International Business Machines (IBM). The NCR fortune would be enjoyed by OSS/CIA boss SMOM James J. Angleton.

#258

Patterson's connection with Cardinal Gibbons and thus the Jesuit-controlled East Coast Roman Hierarchy would pay off for his second-in-command, Thomas J. Watson. Resigning from NCR in 1913, Watson was recruited by Charles R. Flint, Wall Street's "Trust King," arms dealer and financier, to manage Flint's debt-ridden Computing - Tabulating - Recording Company.

Ignorantly pursuing his destiny, Watson was attracted to the company by a tabulation machine used in the 1890 U.S. Census and designed by an engineer named Herman Hollerith. With the passage of FDR's Social Security Act in 1935, Uncle Sam became IBM's biggest customer, brother Masons Watson and FDR becoming intimate friends. Dehomag, IBM's German affiliate, would later lease its Hollerith Machines to the Nazis, enabling the Order's SS to conduct its European-wide Jewish census.

Proving essential in the Black Pope's "Final Solution," Watson was given a medal by Hitler via the Reichsbank President, Masonic Hjalmar Schacht. Watson was also a key player in Patrick Cardinal Hayes' Council on Foreign Relations, and ultimately, an intimate friend of both Knight of Malta Henry Luce and Francis Cardinal Spellman—the POWER behind the assassination of John F. Kennedy!

> "You see, my action takes place in the sixteenth century [at which time the Devil's Society of Jesus was established]. . . . He [the Son of God] comes on the scene in my poem, but He says nothing, only appears and passes on. Fifteen centuries have passed since He promised to come in His glory, fifteen centuries since His prophet wrote, 'Behold I come quickly;' . . . for it is fifteen centuries since man has ceased to see signs from Heaven. . . . But the devil did not slumber, and doubts were already arising among men of the truth of these [deceptive Popish] miracles. And just then there appeared in the north of Germany a terrible new [Bible-based Lutheran] heresy. . . . These heretics began blasphemously denying miracles. . . .
> My story is laid in Spain, in Seville, in the most terrible time of the Inquisition, when fires were lighted every day to the [greater] glory of God, and 'in the splendid auto da fé the wicked heretics were burnt.' . . . He [Jesus Christ] visited His children only for a moment, and there, where the flames were crackling round the heretics. In His infinite mercy He came once more among men in that human shape in which He walked among men for three years fifteen centuries ago. He came down to the 'hot pavement' of the southern town in which on the day before almost a hundred heretics had, ad majorem Dei gloriam [the Latin motto and battle cry of the Black Pope's Jesuit Order], been burnt by the cardinal, the [Jesuit] Grand Inquisitor, in a magnificent auto da fé in the presence of the king, the court, the knights, the cardinals, the most charming ladies of the court, and the whole population of Seville. . . .
>
> There are cries, sobs, confusion among the people [after He raises a little girl from the dead], and at that moment the cardinal himself, the Grand Inquisitor, passes by the cathedral. He is an old man, almost ninety, tall and erect, with a withered face and sunken eyes, in which there is still a gleam of light. He is not dressed in his gorgeous cardinal's robes, as he was the day before, when he was burning the enemies of the Roman Church—at that moment he was wearing his coarse, old monk's cassock. At a distance behind him come his gloomy assistants and slaves and the 'holy guard.' . . . He holds out his finger and bids the guards take Him. . . . The guards lead their prisoner to the close, gloomy vaulted prison in the ancient palace of the Holy Inquisition and shut Him in it. . . .

In pitch darkness the iron door of the prison is suddenly opened and the Grand Inquisitor himself comes in with a light in his hand. He is alone; the door is closed at once behind him. He stands in the doorway and for a moment or two gazes into His face. At last he goes up slowly, sets the light on the table and speaks. 'Is it Thou?' . . . 'Why, then art Thou come to hider us? . . . Thou hast given to us the right to bind and unbind, and now, of course Thou canst not think of taking it away. Why, then, hast Thou come to hinder us? . . . The wise and dread spirit [Satan], the spirit of selfdestruction and non-existence, the great spirit talked with Thee in the wilderness, and we are told that he 'tempted' Thee. Is that so? . . . Judge Thyself who was right—Thou or he who questioned Thee then? . . . But doest Thou know that for the sake of that earthly bread the spirit of the earth will rise up against Thee and will strive with Thee and overcome Thee, and all will follow him, crying, 'Who can compare with this beast? He has given us fire from heaven!' [Rev. 13] . . . Where Thy temple stood will rise a new building; the terrible tower of Babel will be built again [the Hebrew Third Temple in Jerusalem desecrated by "the abomination of desolation"], . . . But we shall tell them that we are Thy servants and rule them in Thy name. We shall deceive them again, for we will not let Thee come to us again. . . . we shall be forced to lie. . . . For these pitiful creatures are concerned not only to find what one or the other can worship but to find something that all would believe in and worship; what is essential is that all may be together in it. . . . Nothing is more seductive for man than his freedom of conscience, but nothing is a greater cause of suffering. . . . But didst Thou not know he would at last reject even Thy image and Thy truth, if he is weighed down with the fearful burden of free choice? . . .

There are three powers, three powers alone, able to conquer and to hold captive for ever the conscience of these impotent rebels for their happiness—those forces are miracle, mystery and authority. Thou hast rejected all three and hast set the example for doing so. When the wise and dread spirit [Satan] set Thee on the pinnacle of the temple . . . Thou didst refuse and wouldst not cast Thyself down. . . . I swear, man is weaker and baser by nature than Thou hast believed him! . . . He is weak and vile. What though he is everywhere now rebelling against our [Jesuit] power [Tzars Alexander I and Alexander II for expelling the Order from Russia and for severing diplomatic relations with the Vatican], and proud of his rebellion? It is the pride of a child and a schoolboy. They are little children rioting and barring out the teacher at school. Their childish delight will end; it will cost them dear [the end of the Romanov Dynasty and the Order's Bolshevik Revolution]. . . . And is it for me to conceal from Thee our mystery? Perhaps it is Thy will to hear it from my lips. Listen, then. We are not working with Thee, but with him—that is our mystery. . . . We took from him Rome and the sword of Caesar, and proclaimed ourselves sole rulers of the earth, though hitherto we have not been able to complete our work. . . . It has long to await completion and the earth has yet much to suffer, but we shall triumph and shall be Caesars, and then we shall plan the universal happiness of man. . . . I shall burn Thee for coming to hinder us. For if any one has ever deserved our fires, it is Thou.' . . .

The Jesuits . . . are simply the Roman army for the earthly sovereignty of the world in the future, with the Pontiff of Rome for Emperor . . . that's their ideal . . . It's simple lust of power, of filthy earthly gain, of domination—something like a universal serfdom with them as masters—that's all they stand for. They [the coming Jesuit Bolsheviks] don't even believe in God perhaps." {1} [Emphasis added]

"The members of the Society are divided into four classes—the Professed, Coadjutors, Scholars, and Novices. There is also a secret fifth class, known only to the General and a few faithful Jesuits, which, perhaps more than any other, contributes to the dreaded and mysterious power of the order. It is composed of laymen of all ranks, from the minister to the humble shoe-boy . . . These are affiliated to the Society, but not bound by any vows . . . they are persons who will make themselves useful . . . they act as the spies of the order . . . and serve, often unwittingly, as the tools and accomplices in dark and mysterious crimes [as did the majority of Jews in the Order's Bolshevik Revolution]. History of the Jesuits

"In this work I shall have occasion to speak of every description of Jesuit. Meanwhile, I have a few remarks to offer with respect to these sons of Ignatius. What part do they take in the Inquisition? The most active and the most influential. They are its right hand. Without their aid the twelve cardinal inquisitors would sit in vain; their long and secret meetings every Wednesday throughout the year in the great hall of the Minerva would tend to no effect. Of what service would be the weekly congregation of about seventy members of the Inquisition, held in the great hall of the Holy Office at the Vatican every Monday, without the zeal and unwearied activity of the Jesuits? Apparently they are nothing; in reality, every thing [even as it has been in the USSR, ruled by its Jesuit-controlled, Inquisitional Secret Police]. Among the servants of the Holy Office a Jesuit is never to be [openly] found [as in the case with the Cheka]—rarely among their coadjutors. A Jesuit is never seen entering the palace of the Holy Office [the Lubyanka in Moscow], or in conversation with an inquisitor [the NKVD]. It might even be imagined that the reverend fathers were opposed to the institution [the American Jesuits' crusade against Soviet communism via Senator Joseph McCarthy], or, at least, that they shunned all relation and intercourse with it [meticulously accomplished throughout the Order's Cold War]. And so studiously do they keep up this appearance, that many persons actually believe that the Jesuits have nothing whatsoever to do with the Inquisition [as many today believe the Jesuit Order had nothing to do with Soviet communism and the KGB]. Indeed, I was at one time of the same opinion myself, till I was fully enlightened on the subject by a Jesuit himself, a worthy Jesuit [as was Georgetown University Jesuit Edmund A. Walsh, the Black Pope's 1922-1924 intermediary between the Vatican and the Bolsheviks]! . . .

'Oh, I had neither inclination nor ability for the office: treachery, deceit, and malice are the necessary qualifications for its agents. An inquisitor must be suspicious, prone to judge amiss, to convert shadows into substance, and to see every thing in the darkest colors. In the eyes of an inquisitor, every individual is evil and deserving of punishment. . . . An inquisitor, besides, is one who is lost to all sentiments of humanity, without heart or feeling, and more indifferent than a stoic. . . .

'How! do the Jesuits meddle with the Inquisition [the Soviet KGB]?' 'My dear friend, is it new to you? What would the Inquisition [KGB] be without the Jesuits? The Dominicans [Masonic Jewish Bolsheviks] may call themselves inquisitors, but they could not even decline the noun Inquisition unless the Jesuits taught them. . . . Ignatius Loyola; cautious and wary in all his operations, and, although a soldier, averse to exposing himself to danger, he cautioned his followers to use the utmost prudence in carrying out their measures, and by no means to expose themselves foolishly to public odium or indignation [Jesuits never being allowed to openly identify with the Josef Stalin's OGPU/NKVD/NKGB/MGB/KGB as they were with Roman Catholic Benito Mussolini's Black Shirts, Roman Catholic Heinrich Himmler's SS and Roman Catholic Ante Pavelic's Croatian Nazi/Ustashi].' " {3}[Emphasis added]

Dealings With the Inquisition

"On the day of the roundup, 20 trucks and 50 uniformed NKVD men with specially trained dogs surrounded each building. Men and women were taken as they were—some dressed, some half naked. The soldiers shoved and roared 'faster, faster,' the women screamed and the children cried.

The people arrested were herded into special vehicles—'Black Marias [named after Ignatius Loyola's dedication to and his worship of the Black Virgin Mary within the Church of Montserrat, Spain];' a van designed for this particular use. Metal lockers lined the inside walls with a narrow aisle separating the facing grilles. A prison on wheels, but even more so. For the lockers (they resembled school lockers) were intended for human storage. Each person arrested was thrust inside where there was room only to sit. . . . There were no windows, and the sun burning down on the metal van turned the inside into a furnace. The prisoners were not permitted to make a sound, but there were identifiable sounds nonetheless. . . . Once in a locker there was a rapid disintegration. Moans, groans and soft weeping were the musical background for thoughts of . . . of what? . . . The prisoners had arrived at the jail. Like common criminals, they were ordered to strip and then searched thoroughly; mouth, eyes, nose, rectum. Pictures were taken, scars noted, vital statistics recorded.

The building itself with its thick brick walls and heavy iron doors was silent. It was a tomb with peepholes for the living to peer at those who had been denied their right to live [as were the Inquisitional dungeons having forever disgraced Europe during the Pope's Dark Ages]. How much was denied became clearer in the detention cell. Each of those iron doors opened on a cell, but one which did not hold just one prisoner. Inside were fifteen living skeletons! . . . One was kept in these cells—it seemed forever. Lack of food, lack of privacy, lack of human dignity took its toll. Men were reduced to skeletons—skeletons to blobs. Any infraction of the rules meant punishment and the punishment was frequently fatal. The iron key that unlocked the cell door was one instrument of torture. Any man who shared his bench or moved his hand felt the weight of that key. But this was a mere nothing compared to what took place at the 'Vorobyevka' N.K.V.D. Doors slamming after the 10:00 evening bell signaled the beginning of interrogation. Men were taken from their cells, shoved into the locker of a 'Black Maria' and taken to the N.K.V.D. The building rings with noise—swears, screams and heavy sounds of bodies falling. Into a room where sits a big and ugly brute comfortably attired for strenuous work in an open collared shirt with sleeves rolled up. The file resting on the desk before him has your name. 'This contains all the facts and materials of your counter-revolutionary activities,' he declares with satisfaction. . . . There were no facts. There was no evidence. There was only this man screaming and this man beating and torturing and killing. . . .

The Zimmermans had come from Germany, seeking to escape the Fascists. Peter . . . and Elza [were] busy preparing for their first child. The child was born in prison. Both Peter and Elza were arrested in 1938 and charged as Fascist agents. Both were severely tortured. Elza, however, was given some consideration when she gave birth but that didn't last long. Not with [Jesuit inquisitor] Belov, their interrogator. . . . When two months had passed they were taken to Belov's office. Peter had a chance to see his child, to play with it, hug it, love it. Belov told the Zimmermans that papers were being prepared that would free them. What happiness! What joy! What a torture of hope. Another month passed and the three were again reunited in Belov's office. Peter and Elza talked happily waiting until two other men came in. Belov took out some typed papers and placed them on the table. Then he said: 'Please, put the baby on this table while you sign these papers.' Elza put the baby down and Belov gave them the papers to read. They read and couldn't believe what they were reading. The papers stated that they had both been members of a spy ring and that they admitted their anti-Soviet crimes. They read and they denied what they read. But the two guards grabbed Peter and Elza from behind, pinning their arms to the backs of the chairs they were sitting on. Then Belov unwrapped the baby and began pinching it hard in its most tender spots. The child screamed and screamed. The parents begged Belov not to touch the child. But Belov continued pinching and twisting. When Belov began using his cigarette butt to burn the child, the parents broke down and signed the papers. The Zimmermans were returned to their cells and taken out again that very night never to be seen again. . . .

The women's subcamp near the 'Vyatlag,' where I was situated, housed about 3,000 young girls . . . between the ages of 14 and 30 . . . The political focus of the camp was sex and sex took many different shapes. . . . The real power in the camp lay in the 'Kobely'—women who acted like males. These were former prostitutes and criminals who became the leaders of the politicals. It was these Kobely who organized the camp, distributing punishments and rewards according to their whim. . . .

The real terror of the camp was the isolator. Here were sent all the unwilling virgins or anyone who needed some putting in place. The guards in the isolator were hardened convicts with well-developed proclivities for sadism. And their guard dogs, huge German Shepherds, were trained to service the prisoners as well as guard them. The dogs never even knew the female of their species, believing their bitches were convict girls. If the men were subject to bodily punishment, the women were subject to humiliation and sexual violation. It was the rule that each virgin be sent to the isolator for [sexual] initiation. . . . Three to five guards awaited each candidate. . . . The guards would laugh and jeer, calling her 'Suka' (bitch or traitor) and forcing her to call herself a bitch who betrayed her fatherland and Stalin. Then the fun really started. The unmarried virgins were given a wedding and 'Husband.' Husband was a German Shepherd. The girl was ordered to kneel before the [Jesuit] Commandant and the guards brought the dog in. Then the girl bent down. The dog was released and made a beeline to her. He would sniff and lick, prior to mounting and penetration. The dog could perform repeatedly with little urging, and the girl would beg and scream and finally pass out. After the ordeal, the girl was proclaimed a true bitch. . . . If a woman was married, the dog 'Lover' was used. This one shoved his penis into the girl's anus. . . . For the religious girls there was 'God.' . . . his 'cross' . . . was fitted into the 'holy' parts of the girl's body. 'Secretary' was reserved for former party and government officials. The guards would first force their captive to perform [anally] oral sex on them, not for satisfaction but to demonstrate power and domination. . . . Then Secretary was brought in and the girl was forced to bend down facing the dog. The dog would smell the woman's face and lick it. Then he would mount her in front. . . . The dogs 'Hitler' and 'Stalin' were kept for those women who have been in the military or militia. The dogs would mount the woman from the front and the rear simultaneously while the guards would jeer: 'Now you really represent the Russian people, being f_____ from both sides. Protect the side you love best.' [This admission by the Jesuit Commandant, further proves the Order ruled both Hitler and Stalin who secretly worked together in destroying the Eurasian Orthodox, Protestant and Jewish peoples].' "We have seen that Radicalism, as distinct from Liberalism [liberty-loving "accursed liberals" condemned by the Order's wicked Council of Trent], especially Radicalism in its extreme form, is wholly in accordance with the revolutionary policy of the Jesuits, and that there can be little doubt that its origin and development has been largely due to their influence, and that it is still, to a great extent, under their secret direction [via Freemasonry]. There is little difference between the extreme Radical and the Socialist, and the two parties in the State give each other mutual support. It is also manifest that Socialism offered the Jesuits a still more effective means for fomenting the Great Revolution which they aim at bringing about, and, as we shall see, modern Socialism and Jesuitism are intimately allied. . . .

Socialism is, in fact, openly supported by the Vatican, and is preached by many of the Catholic priesthood under the name of 'Catholic Socialism' which will be referred to later. . . . The Vatican and all the Orders of the Roman Catholic Church being now under the complete control of the Jesuit Society, we may conclude that Socialism, which left to itself would have in all probability attained little influence, has been supported and utilized by the Society for fomenting the Great Revolution which it is their object to bring about. This is proved by the revelations of the German ex-Jesuit, Von Hoensbroeck, who left the Society [in 1892] because he found that the Jesuits in Germany were the chief leaders and fomenters of Socialism in that country. Bismarck, who was an uncompromising enemy both of the Jesuits and Socialists, was well aware of the close alliance of the Jesuits with a large portion of the German Socialists, and he consequently classed the latter under two heads, which he called 'the Red Socialists' [i.e., Communists] and 'the Black' or clerical 'Socialists' [i.e., Fascists]. . . .

The Socialist leaders hold out the promise of a workman's Paradise, with ample wages for all, when they have attained supreme power in the State and the wealth of the country and the means of production [both the cartel-capitalists and the nation's labor force] are in their hands. This is, no doubt, 'the golden age' [of Roman Catholic Sir Thomas More's socialist-communist Utopia] with which the Jesuits delude the ignorant. But the gold is tinsel, covering rottenness and misery. . . . The wealth and prosperity of a country, and the character of its people, their courage, enterprise, fortitude, talent, and mental capacity, depend entirely upon the encouragement given to the free exercise of individual energy and effort [national wealth and prosperity being the highest among historically White Anglo-Saxon, Reformation Bible-reading, Middle Class peoples]. These are what the leaders of Jesuit Socialism seek to crush, in order to obtain despotic power themselves, and reduce the mass of the nation to the condition of slaves entirely dependent upon them. . . .

The testimony of so many writers, as well as the past history of the Jesuits, shows them to be the authors of sedition and revolution in every country where they exist, and as the avowed feature of their present policy is to foment revolution, it was only to be expected that they would make use of Socialism for that purpose. In fact, Socialism would never have attained its present development in this [Great Britain] and other countries but for the powerful aid, subtle influence, and specious sophistries of its Jesuit leaders. Socialism, as it exists at the present day, is, in the main, a Jesuit organization for fomenting the Great Revolution which it is their object to bring about in every country. . . .

The working classes were also led to believe that when the chief Industries and sources of wealth have been acquired by their representatives in the State they will obtain the chief profits, and that this will be 'the golden age' they are promised. But the people who will then constitute the State will be the revolutionary leaders, that is to say, the Jesuits. Is it likely that they will hand over the profits of these Industries to people whom they only regard as tools? The [Jesuit-led] Jacobins in the French Revolution made similar promises to the people whom they used as tools to obtain supreme power for themselves, but the Revolution destroys the chief sources of wealth, and the working classes in France were reduced to a greater state of poverty than they were in before [as were the working classes in Russia after the Bolshevik Revolution], and the only people who profited were the Jacobin [Bolshevik] leaders. So it would be when the Jesuit leaders of Socialism have obtained supreme power and the complete control of the executive. Whatever profits are to be obtained by controlling the industries and resources of the country they will keep for themselves and their agents. This is what they did in Paraguay when they ruled that country. They made the people work for them, and by this means attained enormous wealth, and ever since have regarded their role in Paraguay as a perfect pattern of their future policy whenever they can obtain the power to carry it out [as they now have in Russia, Britain and the United States]. . . .

Finally, because these and other Socialist aims are incompatible with [New Testament Bible-believing] Christianity, the Socialist agitator preaches Atheism. 'Atheism,' they assert, 'is the keynote of the social revolution.' It is the leading characteristic of Socialism." {5} [Emphasis added]

Coming Events In Britain

" 'Christ does not forbid heretics [the Orthodox peoples of Russia], to be taken away and put to death.' [This is a comment on Matt. 13:29, quoting the Order's Douay Bible; Class Book at Ireland's Maynooth College.]

'[Russian Orthodox] Heretics may, and by public authority, either spiritual or temporal, to be chastised or executed.' [Douay Bible, Dublin, 1856] . . .

The teaching of the Jesuits is that 'the Catholic Church has the indisputable right to kill heretics, and every civil Government must kill heretics when ordered by the Catholic Church.' [The Ruin of Education in Ireland, Frank Hugh O'Donnell, no date] . . .

With Jesuits falsehood and deceit are virtues. It is laid down by them that 'promises confirmed by oath are not binding;' that 'false swearing is not perjury;' that 'lying is truth;' that 'dishonesty is lawful;' that lying and perjury are very right when they are convenient.' That 'the end,' in short, 'justifies the means,' and they are therefore utterly unscrupulous with regard to the means they employ to attain their sinister ends.

On the same principle, they advocate and defend murder, teaching that secret assassination is lawful; that 'regicide is not murder;' that 'Jesuits are obliged by the law of charity to kill their opponents;' that crimes may now be expiated with far greater alacrity and ease than they were before, and that sins are now blotted out almost as soon as they are perpetrated; that at the day of judgment God will say to many, 'Come ye blessed, who have killed, blasphemed, etc., since you thought you were right in so doing.' It is clear that the effect of such teaching on the ignorant and fanatical whom they select as tools to carry out their purposes [Rasputin], must be to destroy all restraint of conscience and fear of God, and to make them perfect weapons in their hands. . . .

For the success of Atheistic revolution, which the Jesuits are striving to bring about, would, as already pointed out, probably place them in supreme power as the priesthood of the religion of the future [Satanic, Illuminized, Freemasonic Luciferianism], which is to be based on the rejection of the Bible and Christianity. Such a result would not only bring terrible distress to the whole nation, but would subject Protestant [and Orthodox] Christians to an Atheistic tyranny [via Coadjutors Lenin and Stalin] far more bitter and sweeping than that of the Romish Inquisition." {6} [Emphasis added]

Rome and Germany: The Plot
For the Downfall of Britain

". . . Fedor Makhailovich Dostoievsky was the greatest enemy of the Society of Jesus that had arisen since [Blaise] Pascal. All the cherished ideas of the Jesuits, the universal dominion of Rome, the power of the human reason to confirm faith, the adaptation of the strict doctrines of the Church [the wicked Council of Trent] to the limited faculties of man, and the expiation of the sins of the world by means of a moral theology [replete with the most monstrous of crimes to be committed for "the greater glory of God"] devised with the skill of an Aristotle [the Order's favorite Greco-Roman pagan philosopher], all these things, to which the disciples of Loyola had for three hundred years devoted all their energy and the most self-sacrificing efforts [including political assassinations], had been designated by Dostoievsky, in the 'Legend of the Grand Inquisitor' in The Brothers Karamazov, as the most terrible apostasy from the true teaching of Christ [evidenced by the New Testament doctrines of grace]. . . .

Dostoievsky's 'Legend of the Grand Inquisitor' was more dangerous than all previous anti-Jesuit writings put together, for its author had at his command the visionary creative power which alone could give weight and permanence to his indictment. . . . The 'Grand Inquisitor" is, moreover, distinguished from all other polemical writings by its sublime impartiality.

In the complete apologetics of Catholicism, it would be difficult to find another work which describes the underlying idea of Jesuitism with such profound understanding as the arguments which Dostoievsky puts into the mouth of his Grand Inquisitor. His powerful, convincing and eloquent defense of the Catholic [Pope's] idea of world power is nowhere interrupted by a single word, a single objection." {7} [Emphasis added]

The Power and Secret of the Jesuits

"The Jesuits [in the 1920s] looked after the Russian youths [in Paris] in gratitude to the Empress Catherine II who, when Pope Clement XIV dissolved the Society of Jesus in 1775 [1773] and every country in Europe, even Spain, expelled its members, gave the Jesuits asylum in Russia. Many of the Russian boys became Roman Catholics and even priests to form a band of missionaries to accompany the armies which some day, they fervently believed, would lead them back to Mother Russia to convert the Slavs from Pravoslavnaya to Roman Catholicism." {8} [Emphasis added]

To Number Our Days

> "I urge upon you the absolute necessity of studying the action of that ubiquitous and restless race, the Jesuits. Perhaps you do not know that the war of secession in the United States [deceptively called "the Civil War"] was brought about by Jesuit intrigue. I knew that at the time; and yet I was surprised to find that Pastor Chiniquy knew the fact, and asserted also that President Lincoln was murdered by a Jesuit emissary.
>
> I knew, also, the [Jesuit-controlled] committee of the Polish Revolution [directed against the anti-Jesuit "Liberating Tzar" Alexander II of Russia] in 1863, which sat in a street in St. James', London [that hotbed of Jesuit intrigue], and thence sent orders to [Marian] Langievicz. The futile attempt to set up an empire in Mexico [defeated by anti-Jesuit Benito Juarez and Abraham Lincoln [both of whom were assassinated pursuant to Canon Law and the Jesuit Oath] was also a Jesuit intrigue.
> You know that the late war between France and Germany [Franco-Prussian War (1870-1871) which served as the foundation for the Order's Triple Entente of World War I] was caused by the Jesuits, and the Empress Eugenie [Queen of Napoleon III] called it her war. The short war of 1866 [between Protestant Prussia and Roman Catholic Austria] was the result of a Jesuit intrigue to put down Protestant Prussia, and center the empire of Germany in Catholic Austria, but Prince Bismarck, with a wonderful energy and ability, anticipated and defeated the Jesuit conspiracy. [That Jesuit conspiracy would later succeed with the Pan-German Anschluss of Austrian-born Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Adolf Hitler.] The [Lutheran] Danish war of 1864 had exactly the same object, and Bismarck was again too quick for them and the [Roman Catholic] Austrians retired. The Hanoverian court was at the time entirely under the influence of the Jesuits [and had been since the days of the Hanoverian English King George III when he sent his Hessians against our beloved Washington], and in favour of Austria. The [Lutheran Danish] people invited Bismarck to save them; and when the Prussians arrived the Hanoverian troops refused to fight.

I have alluded to those Jesuit intrigues so that you may open your eyes to the fact that a similar conspiracy has for some years been flourishing in Great Britain [in the very Court of Queen Victoria], and has been using the [fanatical Roman Catholic] Irish peasantry as a means of humiliating and weakening this Protestant country [as the Order has used the continuing Socialist-Communist Black Agitation via White Freemasons, Earl Warren and Lyndon Johnson, and Black Freemasons, Jesse Jackson and Louis Farrakhan, to weaken the White Protestant peoples of America, neutralize our Constitution and to centralize absolute power in Washington, D.C., overseen by the Order's CFR and Georgetown University].

The agitations, which have been fomented in Ireland, have weakened England, at a time when all her energies are required to resist the warlike machinations and enormous intrigues of the Jesuits on the continent of Europe [in preparation for the Pope's Second Thirty Years' War (1914-1945)]. . . . Nor is it only Protestant countries which suffer under the incubus of Jesuitism. Even the Pope [Leo XIII having been trained by Jesuits at the Jesuit College of Viterbo and the Order's Collegio Romano in Rome] himself knows well that their system is 'Obedience tempered by assassination,' as was well said by an eminent French writer. . . .

Last summer [in illustrating the above point] there appeared in the daily journals a telegram from Rome announcing that the Pope [Leo XIII] had been taken suddenly and seriously ill. The next day there was a telegram saying that the doctors did not understand the Pope's complaint. Then, in a few days, there was a telegram saying that the Pope was quite well. Those facts you probably remember.

Now for the eminent ecclesiastic's narration [who himself participated in the First Vatican Council]. When the Pope's life was despaired of, a Jesuit appeared at his bedside and said: "Holy Father, you have taken a poison with which your doctors are unacquainted, and you will certainly die unless you receive an antidote which only our society knows of.' 'What do you require of me?' asked the dying Pope. 'That you should sign and promulgate this bull.' The Pope signed, received the antidote, and recovered. That was the bull 'Dolemus inter alia,' which gives to the Jesuit Society all the privileges which the Jesuits ever possessed [prior to their formal suppression and extinction by Pope Clement XIV whom they later fatally poisoned]. A bull is promulgated by affixing it to the door of St. Peter's, but yet no outsiders have seen this bull, and I have found it impossible to obtain a copy, even in Rome. If that antidote is true—and I do not doubt it—it shows you two things: first, the way in which infallible bulls are manufactured; and secondly, the enormous and unscrupulous power of the Jesuits [the Company having been in total control of the Papacy since its formal restoration by Pope Pius VII in 1814]. . . .

The teachings of the order clearly sanction equivocation and perjury, theft, bribery, even the bribery of judges, the grossest immorality, the deposition of kings and rulers, the release of subjects of their allegiance, and even the commission of murder and regicide." {9}[Emphasis added]

When Clement XIII was about to make inquiry into the accusations lodged against the Order, he, too, died suddenly. Clement XIV, who suppressed the Order, paid the same penalty, and in a most fearful form. In 1885 the present Pope, Leo XIII, had a narrow escape from a similar fate." {10}[Emphasis added]

"In [President Woodrow] Wilson's War Message in 1917, he included an incredible tribute to the Communists in Russia who were busily slaughtering the middle class in that unfortunately country.

'Assurance has been added to our hope for the future peace of the world by the wonderful and heartening things that have been happening in the last few weeks in Russia. Here is a fit partner for a League of Honor.'

Wilson's paean to a bloodthirsty regime, which has since murdered sixty-six million of its inhabitants in the most barbarous manner, exposes his true sympathies and his true backers, the bankers who had financed the blood purge in Russia. When the Communist Revolution seemed in doubt, Wilson [controlled by Archbishop of Baltimore James Cardinal Gibbons] sent his personal emissary, [Shriner Freemason and future Council on Foreign Relations founder] Elihu Root, to Russia with one hundred million dollars [$100,000,000.00 dear truth-seeker!!!] from his Special Emergency War Fund to save the toppling Bolshevik regime. . . . In his book, Czarism and the Revolution, General Arsene de Goulevitch writes, 'Mr. Bakmetiev, the late Russian Imperial Ambassador to the United States, tells us that the Bolsheviks, after victory, transferred 600 million rubles in gold between the years 1918-1922 to Kuhn, Loeb Company [the Jesuits secretly in command of the revolution maintaining the illusion that "the Jews" were responsible for the bloodbath, Jacob H. Shiff, of New York City-based Kuhn, Loeb Company being merely a Masonic Jewish Labor Zionist agent for the Black Pope's House of Rothschild].'

Wilson continued to be deeply involved in the Bolshevik Revolution, as were [the Pope's Masonic Jews] House and Wiseman. . . . a cable from Sir William Wiseman [the Colonel House of Downing Street] to House from London, May 1, 1918, [suggested] allied intervention at the invitation of the Bolsheviki to help organize Bolshevik forces [evidencing both London and Washington were actively involved in achieving the military and political success of the Black Pope's inquisitional Bolshevik Revolution] . . . .

"Bridge-building to the Soviets began in 1918 under President Woodrow Wilson [controlled by Baltimore Archbishop James Cardinal Gibbons through Wilson's secretary, Knight of Columbus Joseph P. Tumulty], before the Bolsheviks had physically gained control of more than a fraction of Russia. As a result of this trade, the Bolsheviks were able to consolidate their totalitarian regime. Edwin Gay, then a member of the U.S. War Trade Board, later dean of the [Fabian-socialist] Harvard Business School and a longtime member of the Council on Foreign Relations, is the most likely originator of "bridge-building" [remembering that one of the official names of the Pope is "pontifex" meaning "builder of bridges"]. He is on record as follows in the State Department files for 1918:

'Mr. Gay stated the opinion that it was doubtful whether the policy of blockade and economic isolation of these portions of Russia which were under Bolshevik control was the best policy for bringing about the establishment of a stable and proper government in Russia. Mr. Gay suggested to the Board that if the people in the Bolshevik sections of Russia were given the opportunity to enjoy improved economic conditions, they would themselves bring about the establishment of a moderate and stable social order [the US backing Lenin's Bolshevik Revolution (1917) as it would also back Castro's Cuban Revolution (1959), while feigning to be the implacable enemy of communism—directed by the Black Pope].' . . .

On November 28, 1917, Colonel House, who had no official position in the U.S. government and had never been elected to office [the same being true for FDR's White House advisor and "alter ego," Harry Hopkins], cabled President Wilson [through Secretary Tumulty] just two weeks after the start of the Russian Revolution to suppress newspaper criticism of the emerging Bolsheviks: '. . . it is [cabled House] exceeding important that each criticism should be suppressed.' This comment was placed in the 'confidential file' and was not declassified until the 1960s. [Wow!!!]

Open public discussion in 1917 of Colonel House's instructions and intentions might well have changed the history of the world. . . .

In brief, all presidential administrations, from that of Woodrow Wilson to that of Richard Nixon, have followed a bipartisan [CFR-Republican and CFR-Democratic] foreign policy of building up the Soviet Union. This policy is censored. It is a policy of national suicide. The reasons for it are not known [until now, the secret rule of the Vatican's Jesuits over the USSR being perfectly understandable in light of the history of the Society of Jesus, its Council of Trent and secret rule over New York's CFR filled with hundreds of pro-Rome, Jewish Labor Zionists]." {14} [Emphasis added]

This necessitated an extensive and penetrating study. . . . In this brief, which was submitted to the Attorney General, I concluded:

'These doctrines threaten the happiness of the community, the safety of every individual, and the continuance of every home and fireside. They would destroy the peace of the country and thrust it into a condition of anarchy and lawlessness and immorality that passes imagination.'

Masters of Deceit: The Story of Communism in America and How to Fight It

"On September 5, 1917, BI [Bureau of Investigation] agents, assisted by APL [American Protective League] members, conducted simultaneous raids on IWW [International Workers of the World] headquarters in twenty-four cities, seizing the organization's books, minutes, financial records, correspondence, and membership lists [beginning the Order's BIled, anti-communist crusade in America two months before the outbreak of the Order's Bolshevik Revolution]. . .

A year after the IWW raids, the Bureau of Investigation and the American Protective League staged their biggest combined operation; in just two days, in just four cities, they arrested fifty thousand suspects. These were, however, neither Wobblies [Communist "International Workers of the World" members], radicals, nor aliens but ordinary American citizens.

The May 1917 Selective Service Act [signed into law by Woodrow Wilson controlled by James Cardinal Gibbons thereby forcing American men to fight WWI beginning the Pope's Second Thirty Years' War] required that all males between the ages of twenty-one and thirty register for the draft.

Convinced that many young men had failed to sign up, and aware that a number of others had deserted once they were inducted, Secretary of War Newton D. Baker and Attorney General Gregory gave BI Chief A. Bruce Bielaski permission to conduct a number of small experimental 'roundups' in [the predominantly Roman Catholic immigrant cities of] Pittsburgh, Chicago, and Boston. Pleased with the results, Bielaski decided to try something more ambitious. On September 3, 1918, thirty-five BI agents, two thousand APL operatives, an equal number of military personnel, and several hundred policemen fanned out over [the Roman Catholic immigrant cities of] New York City, Brooklyn, Jersey City, and Newark. At bayonet point, they confronted men on the street corners and streetcars and yanked them from barber chairs, theaters, pool halls, hotel lobbies, and offices, demanding that each produce either a draft registration card or a birth certificate proving him too young or too old for the draft. Those who didn't happen to be carrying such documentation, the majority, were herded into hastily constructed 'corrals' and held until their status was determined. . . .

The two most responsible for the slacker roundups were Attorney General Thomas Gregory and Secretary of War Newton D. Baker. Each had an especially bright subordinate who would in time rise to a position of immense power. Gregory's was his special assistant in the enemy alien registration section, John Edgar Hoover. Baker's was his confidential secretary, Clyde Anderson Tolson. . . . What is known with certainty is that, even if not directly involved in them, Hoover studied both the IWW and the slacker roundups closely, becoming one of the department's strongest proponents of the dragnet-type raid—knowledge which he, in a far from minor capacity, soon put to use in the even more infamous 'Red raids' of 1919-1920 [during the Wilson presidency]. . . .

At about eleven-fifteen on the night of June 2, 1919, the new attorney general, A. Mitchell Palmer, turned out the lights of his Washington residence and was walking upstairs to join his wife in bed when he heard something heavy thump against the front door. The blast that almost instantaneously followed shattered windows all over the neighborhood. . . .

The following day the New York Times [controlled by New York City's Archbishop Patrick Hayes through media moguls of the soon-to-be formed Council on Foreign Relations], without any evidence whatsoever, authoritatively stated, 'The crimes are plainly of Bolshevik or IWW origin.' The Red Scare was on. Actually it had been building since the Russian Revolution of November 1917 [more correctly, the Revolution of October as calculated by the Eastern Calendar, since the Order had not yet converted its new Soviet Empire to Jesuit Christopher Clavius' Gregorian Calendar, which change transpired in 1923], . . . Immediately after the bombing, Palmer made several changes in the Department of Justice. . . .

He revealed that the recent bombings were part of a conspiracy to overthrow the government of the United States [the bombing having been calculated to justify more inquisitional BI police powers]. Not only that, but the danger was imminent [as in 2007]. . . . Privately Palmer leaked the information that the date of the attempted revolution would be July 4. . . .

As in any war, up-to-date intelligence on the enemy was essential. It was decided that the additional funds Congress had appropriated would be used to set up a General Intelligence Division (GID) in the Justice Department, its function to collect and correlate information on radicals supplied by the Bureau of Investigation, other governmental agencies , the military, local police, and the private sector [turning the US into a Gestapo/Cheka police state under the dictates of Rome]. . . . The General Intelligence Division was officially organized on August 1, 1919. Acting on [second generation Irish Roman Catholic Francis P.] Garvan's recommendation, Palmer appointed John Edgar Hoover, special assistant to the attorney general, chief of the GID. . . . [With the birth of America's two Communist parties in Jesuit-ruled Chicago in late August, 1919] Hoover used it to launch his career as an anti-Communist crusader. . . . Communism was, Hoover finally decided, 'the most evil, monstrous conspiracy against man since time began'[while he was under the guidance of Georgetown University Jesuit Edmund A. Walsh who would be sent to Russia in 1922 to negotiate with the Order's Masonic Jewish Bolsheviks on behalf of the Pope]. . . .

Late that summer key BI agents and selected immigration officials were brought to Washington for secret briefings. They were told that there would be two mass-roundups . . . The chosen date, November 7, 1919, was the second anniversary of the Russian Revolution [while the second date for warrant-less, mass-roundups would be January 2, 1920, the Jesuits using their American-financed Russian Revolution to justify the creation of Masonic Hoover's fascist American Gestapo/Cheka exercising inquisitional powers by creating "the Communist Red Scare"]." {16}[Emphasis added]

J. Edgar Hoover:
The Man and the Secrets

"Since the destruction of European Jewry by the Nazis, it is no longer fashionable to publicly hate Jews in certain circles, especially if you want to raise money from Jews. The Marxist practitioners [the openly pro-communist Jesuits, especially after Vatican II], therefore, try to conduct their crimes in secret, while presenting a public image of being friends of the Jews [evidenced by the open friendship between Jesuit Edmund A. Walsh and Soviet Bolshevik Gregori Zinoviev (Apfelbaum)]. . . . Chapter 14 illustrates how born Jews such as Trotsky could cooperate with Lenin in executing Jews, and how Lenin's Jewish Section [manned by Jesuits] was even more severe than Lenin in closing synagogues and religious schools, and persecuting and murdering rabbis and religious Jews. . . .

My late father, Harry Antelman (1899-1992) was the first to tell me that, from his life experience of living through the Soviet Revolution in Bessarabia and witnessing first hand how Trotsky slaughtered Jews with impunity, that he knew the psyche of these self-identity-hating Jews, . . . Hitler . . . the product of an adulterous relationship between his mother, Klara Polzl, and a Sabbatian Frankist (1861-September 21, 1928), who was Hitler's real father . . . did not hide his hostility for Jews. Stalin . . . the murderer of thirty million people, of which about one million were Jews . . . however, was more circumspect. He longed for the final solution, and knew how to use Jews and Jewish money for his own purposes. As explained in this volume, Stalin supported the extermination of the Jews by Hitler through his own Gestapo agents who defected to Russia after World War II. [In 1948, upon requesting and receiving a list from Golda Meir comprised of Soviet Jews seeking to fight in Israel's War of Independence, Stalin deported them all to Siberia for execution.] However, when we contemplate Professor Antony Sutton's books, Wall Street and the Bolshevik Revolution and Wall Street and the Rise of Hitler, we realize that the extermination of the Jews was orchestrated and planned by the CFR—Council on Foreign Relations—whose acronym also stands for Carnegie, Ford, and Rockefeller. Chapters 13 and 14 of this volume trace the line from [Masonic] Marx to the [Masonic] CFR [ruled by the Archbishop of New York City overseen by key Jesuits at Fordham University]. The CFR has [hundreds of] members of Jewish extraction who also occupy high positions, such as the notorious [KGB agent and NSA asset] Henry Kissinger who was formally excommunicated from the Jewish nation." {17} [Emphasis added]

American Historian

Remembering the Jesuits were the authors of the French Revolution directing Jesuit-trained Francois Robespierre and its resultant military dictatorship of Gentile Napoleon Bonaparte I, we must now examine the Order's Russian Revolution directing Jesuit-led Vladimir Lenin and its resultant military dictatorship of Gentile Josef Stalin. In doing so we shall examine key events before, during and after.

The Tzars, although the protectors of the Knights of Malta, had become a problem for "the Company." Alexander I expelled the Jesuits from Moscow and St. Petersburg in 1816; and, with a ukase in 1820, like Peter the Great, expelled them from Russia declaring that all their efforts:

". . . were directed merely to secure advantages for themselves and the extension of their power . . ." {19}

Five years later, Tzar Alexander I, in good health, died suddenly. He, like Napoleon, had been poisoned, his sudden demise attributed to "apoplexy." Upon the death of Alexander I's successor—Tzar Nicholas I—Tzar Alexander II ascended the throne. He greatly outraged the Jesuits! Remembering that he was one of the key Monarchs obligated to enforce the policies of the Jesuits' "Holy Alliance," Alexander II enacted many liberal reforms. He abolished espionage and emancipated the Serfs. As a result, the Jesuits incited the Polish rebellion for which the Tzar revoked his predecessor's 1847 Concordat with Rome. The Tzar also broke diplomatic relations with Satan's Papacy in 1866, and again in 1877, further outraging the Jesuits while fueling their conspiracy to ultimately overthrow Russia's Romanov Dynasty. Finally in 1882—the very year the anti-Jesuit Triple Alliance was formed—Tzar Alexander II, in laying the capstone of his reforms, had attached his signature to the proposed Constitution of Russia. This the Jesuits would not tolerate! It violated the absolutism of the Holy Alliance and infringed on the Temporal Power of the Papal Caesar. If the Tzar's absolute monarchy became a Constitutional monarchy with express limitations upon its powers, how could the Jesuits' "infallible" Pope eventually rule Russia in accordance with the Council of Trent? Those limitations would restrain the Pope's Temporal Power, disabling him from ruling the Russian people through the Romanovs. With a free Russia, the Jesuit General's grand design of submitting the Orthodox Church to the Vicar of Christ would never come to pass.

The Jesuits had to act quickly. As they had used Masonic Mazzini to punish Pope Pius IX for proposing a Constitution for Italy in 1846, so they would use the Masonic nihilists to punish the Tzar for nearly succeeding in establishing "liberal" government in Russia. Pius IX was forced to flee from the Vatican to Gaeta but Alexander II, who maintained liberty of conscience, would be assassinated. We read:

> "Alexander II had progressed well with his great reforms and had attached his signature to a Constitution to be adopted by Russia. The next day [later that same day] a bomb was thrown at his carriage, which killed and wounded a number of Cossacks, who accompanied the carriage. The Emperor in deep sympathy left the carriage to look at the dying men, when a second bomb blew him to pieces." {20}[Emphasis added]

Alexander III, in coming to power became a fierce absolutist. Though formally suppressed, the Jesuits used this tyrant to persecute the Jews with the Order's several pogroms. Of one we read from the great Pierre van Paassen:

"But more frequently the conversation turned to the persecutions that the Jews were undergoing in Russia. The Great War lay still in the future . . . I vividly recall that Sunday evening when a Russian Jew with a long white beard, who kept his hat on, ascended the pulpit and in broken German, told us the whole harrowing story of his people's persecution. His own wife and children had perished in the bloody attack. Before her death, the woman had seen the mob throw her two children into a burning oven . . . he went on to say that thousands of young Jews all over Russia had begun to arm themselves with revolvers, determined to defend themselves if the attacks should be repeated." {21} [Emphasis added]

The pogroms produced the desired effect. The deceived Jews developed a great hatred for the Tzar—just like the Jesuits! And when the time arrived for the overthrow of Nicholas II and the purging persecutions of the Russian Orthodox Church, the Jews would rally to the cause in overthrowing Rome's old enemies. (Remember Fiddler on the Roof ?) Little did they know they had been "framed" by the Sons of Loyola and would be blamed for the atrocities of Russia's "Soviet Communism." Part of the set-up was the 1905 publication of the Order's Parisian-authored The Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion by Jesuit Coadjutor and agent of the Tzarist Okhrana, Orthodox priest Sergyei Nilus. Laying the blueprint for a world socialist-communist state, it was very much like the Order's secret meetings at Chieri, Italy, exposed by Abate Leone's The Jesuit Conspiracy: The Secret Plan of the Order in 1848. Its authorship was attributed to the Jews but the true source was the Society of Jesus. We read the words of our ex-priest, Bible-believer and evangelist to the Roman Catholic people of New York City, Leo Lehmann:

> "Although first published in Russia in 1903, the Protocols of Zion had their origin in France and date from the Dreyfus Affair, of which the Jesuits were the chief instigators. . . . These Protocols of supposedly Jewish leaders are not the first documents of their kind fabricated by the Jesuits. For over a hundred years before these Protocols appeared, the Jesuits had continued to make use of a similar fraud called The Secrets of the Elders of Bourg-Fontaine against Jansenism—an anti-Jesuit French Catholic movement among the secular clergy [later outlawed by a papal Bull, Unigenitus]." {22}

The late Alberto Rivera, a fearless preacher and a converted ex-Jesuit, agrees:

> "We were instructed that the Jesuits directed certain [Masonic] Jews who were loyal to the Pope, to write a document called The Protocols of Zion. When it was published the Europeans went wild." {23}

Additionally, in the little town of Fatima, Portugal three children, ages seven to fourteen, supposedly saw "Mary" appear six times between the spring and fall of 1917. This unbiblical, Jesuit-contrived, "Lady of Fatima" Hoax, calling for the "conversion" of Tzarist Russia to Catholicism, was the religious propaganda used to incite and then unite the superstitious masses of Europe to attack Rome's ancient Orthodox foe with fire and sword! As a result, from 1917 to 1989 Russia would be conquered and then reduced to obedience to the Jesuit General's

"infallible" Pope, using the Russian branch of the Sovereign Military Order of Malta! The Society of Jesus would launch the Bolshevik Revolution and brutal Civil War (1917-1920); it would then negotiate a secret Concordat (a treaty between Lenin and the Pope) and establish the Inquisition through its "Grand Inquisitor"—the thug—Josef Stalin, using his Jesuit-admiring hatchet man and head of the Cheka, Felix Admundovich Dzerzhinsky, whose father, Admund Dzerzhinsky was a Jesuit-controlled, Polish Roman Catholic priest. Stalin would purge the nation of its Protestant and Baptist churches and, near the end of his life in 1953, attempt to kill every Russian Jew. The Company, using the Lady of Fatima Hoax and Hitler, would also ignite a huge anti-Russian Orthodox/anti-"Russian Jewish Communist" Crusade called "Operation Barbarossa" (1941-1945; named after Germany's Holy Roman Emperor, Frederick I Barbarossa (1152-1190), having led his armies through Orthodox Asia Minor during Rome's Third Crusade against the Moslems in control of Jerusalem); and then, the Black Pope would create "the Cold War" (using CFR/CIA Knights of Malta) enabling his KGB to continue his Order's Communist Inquisition in its new papal dominion, the "USSR" (1945-1989), won for its Roman Priest-King.

Dear truth-seeker, all this heartbreak, desolation and mass-murder—imposed by the evil Council of Trent and Jesuit Oath—would be financed by the Jesuit General's Federal Reserve Bank in New York City, the financial "altar boy" of "the American Pope," Baltimore Archbishop James Cardinal Gibbons! And God help any American President who would dare to be a Daniel and put a stop to it! His life had better be pure while making his plan—bathed in prayer with strong crying and tears—guided by the Spirit of God through the Word of God. Constrained by a love for his endangered people and admonished by loyal advisors, he must be surrounded with fearless bodyguards, all these men being serious seekers of the risen Son of God!

For on Jesus the Messiah they must fully trust, knowing that:

He holds all political power, over all the kingdoms of men,
And will invisibly intervene, for our Daniel and his friends.
Yet in the fire none shall burn, yes, they have met Him on His terms.
Their earnest prayers He has heard, for they have rested on His Words.
Then known to all they shall be, as those who sought Him on their knees.
Cromwell's words will be their story,
Indeed, "For thus I came to glory!"

With no man "valiant for the truth in the earth," the time for Jesuit payback had arrived for Russia. The Romanov Dynasty would end while Rome's old enemy, the Orthodox Church, would be purged of its anti-Pope leadership. The October Revolution would accomplish this, heavily financed by the Knights of Malta and Jewish Freemasons on Wall Street, one being Jacob H. Schiff of Kuhn and Loeb.

Stanford University professor Antony C. Sutton writes in his no-nonsense style:

> "We find there was a link between some New York International bankers and many revolutionaries, including Bolsheviks. These banking gentlemen—who are here identified—had a financial stake in, and were rooting for the success of the Bolshevik Revolution." {24} [Emphasis added]

Two of those men were Knight of Malta, Joseph P. Grace (Director of National City Bank) and the Jewish Freemason, Otto H. Kahn (CFR and Partner in Kuhn & Loeb).

The parallels between the Jesuits' French and Russian Revolutions are striking and must not be overlooked when seriously questioning the identity of that secret POWER behind the scenes. Those parallels are as follows:

1. Both revolutions were based on communist writings of Freemasons—Voltaire and Marx. Did not the Jesuits, the authors of Scottish Rite Freemasonry, perfect communism on their reductions in Paraguay?

2. Both revolutions plundered the state churches. Were not the Jesuits the enemies of the Roman Catholic Church in France and the Orthodox Church in Russia when the revolutions broke out?

3. Both revolutions ended the monarchies. Were not the Jesuits enemies of both the Bourbon and the Romanov dynasties? Had not both monarchies expelled the Jesuits from their countries?

4. Both revolutions produced Jesuit Republics—republics in form, but absolute monarchies in power. Are not the Jesuits absolutists?

5. Both revolutions declared socialist atheism as the religion of the state. Evidenced by their deeds, are not the Jesuits truly socialist atheists?

6. Both revolutions carried out a reign of terror by an inquisitional secret police. Are not the Jesuits the greatest of Inquisitors?

7. Both revolutions resulted in military dictators who punished the enemies of the Jesuits. Did not the Jesuits benefit even though Napoleon and Stalin, in deceiving the nations, openly banned the Order from France and Russia?

The Jesuits began the Bolshevik Revolution in 1917 after their Russo-Japanese War of 1905. Having recruited Russian Jews aided by American Jews from New York, the Jesuits made the revolution to appear to be of Jewish origin. We read:

> "A short time after the U.S. Consul in Moscow had given his report, our Government instituted an investigation through the Overman Committee in 1919 . . . Dr. George A. Simons, former superintendent of the Methodist > Mission in Russia, was one of the chief witnesses before this committee . . . Dr. Simons gave some interesting information:

>
> 'We were told that hundreds of agitators had followed in the trail of [Freemason] Trotzsky [Trotsky]-Bronstein, these men having come over from the lower east side of New York . . . and it soon became evident that more than half of the agitators in the so-called Bolshevik movement were Jews . . . I am not in sympathy with the anti-Semitic movement . . . I am against it. But I have a firm conviction that this thing is Yiddish, and that one of its bases is found in the east side of New York . . . I was impressed with this, Senator, that shortly after the great revolution of the winter of 1917 there were scores of Jews standing on the benches and soap boxes, talking until their mouths frothed, and often remarked to my sister 'well what are we coming to, anyway? This all looks so Yiddish.' Up to that time we had very few Jews, because there was, as you may know, a restriction against having Jews in Petrograd; but after the revolution they swarmed in there and most of the agitators were Jews.
> I might mention this, that when the Bolsheviki came into power, all over Petrograd we at once had a predominance of Yiddish proclamations, big posters and everything in Yiddish." {25} [Emphasis added]

The Jesuits succeeded in making the Bolshevik Revolution appear to be of Jewish origin by using Jewish Freemasons whose masters (like Shriners Jacob H. Schiff, Otto H. Kahn—whose mansion was given to the Jesuits' Order of the Sacred Heart—and Armand Hammer, the bosom friend of Hollywood actor Cary Grant and whose Occidental Petroleum, aided by the Pope's Roman Hierarchy, owns the American coal industry) were loyal to the Jesuits through the House of Rothschild.

This deception was so successful that most of the Europeans aided Hitler, the Friend of Islam, in the destruction of European Jewry. But the truth is in the details and often overlooked. The following details evidence the Jesuit "black hand" during the October Revolution, the Civil War, Stalin's "Reign of Terror" and World War II.

1. The Jesuits secretly participated in the Bolshevik Revolution. According to the Jesuit-trained, Irish Roman Catholic, John Loftus in his Unholy Trinity, a Hungarian Catholic priest was a player in the revolution.

> "Between 1932 and 1937 the top NKVD 'illegal' in England was Father Theodore Maly . . . 'when the revolution broke out I joined the Bolsheviks' Maly once told a friend, explaining how service with the Cheka and Red Army > during the brutal civil war against the [Orthodox] Whites [White Russians] had hardened him." {26} [Emphasis added]

Dear truth-seeker, Maly fought against the Orthodox Whites; for he was a Professed Jesuit under Oath who perished by the very dictator he had helped to set up. Further, as a Jesuit with the Cheka and then the Russian Civilian Intelligence (NKVD), the Soviet Secret Police was in fact an arm of the Jesuits' Holy Office of the Inquisition.

The great Messianic Jewish believer on Messiah Jesus, Arno Gaebelein, tells us:

> "A police system was inaugurated, the Cheka, with the commission to torture, to kill without mercy . . . The bloody work of the Cheka was carried on in a certain large building. There the victims, men, women, and children, were cruelly tortured before a shot ended their misery. In order to drown the despairing cries of the unfortunates, the building was surrounded with a number of powerful motor trucks; their motors were started and for hours they were kept a going. Then night after night, week after week, for months, the almost countless hundreds of corpses were thrown into the trucks and carried away." {27}

2. The Bolsheviks deceptively expelled the Knights of Malta from Russia in 1917. Since this faked "revolution" was an open ruse of war secretly intended to be a Jesuit Inquisition as foretold by Dostoyevsky, the wealthy Knights in New York City and London covertly financed and built the USSR! Business continued as usual between American, German, English and Russian Knights. Of the interlock between the American and Russian joint venture known as "The Grace Russian Company," Antony C. Sutton, in his Wall Street and the Bolshevik Revolution, writes:

> "The American International Corp. (AIC) [now the American International Group (AIG) formerly headed by CFR Vice Chairman Maurice Greenberg] was organized in New York on November 22, 1915, by the J. P. Morgan interests, with major participation by Stillman's National City Bank and the Rockefeller interests . . .

Everybody coveted the AIC stock, [Knight of Malta] Joe Grace (of W. R. Grace & Co.) wanted $600,000 in addition to his interest in National City Bank . . . In January 1917 the Grace Russian Company was formed, the joint owners being W. R. Grace & Co. [of New York City] and the San Galli Trading Co. of Petrograd. American International Corp. had a substantial investment in the Grace Russian Company [with] an interlocking directorship . . . As the Bolshevik Revolution took hold in central Russia, Secretary of State Robert Lansing requested the views of American International Corp. on the policy to be pursued towards the Soviet regime.

On January 16, 1918—barely two months after the takeover in Petrograd and Moscow, and before a fraction of Russia had come under Bolshevik control—William Franklin Sands, executive secretary of American International Corp., submitted the requested memorandum on the Russian political situation to Secretary Lansing . . .

In brief, Sands, as executive secretary of a corporation whose directors were the most prestigious on Wall Street, provided an emphatic endorsement of the Bolsheviks and the Bolshevik Revolution, and within a matter of weeks after the revolution started. And as a director of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, Sands had just contributed $1 million to the Bolsheviks [Wow!!!]." {28} [Emphasis added]

Of the Irish Catholic Grace family more needs to be said between its connection to Rome's Jesuits, the Knights of Malta in Russia and the Bolshevik Revolution. We read from the Executive Intelligence Review Special Report of 1987:

> "The Irish Catholic Grace family was overlord of the British royal house, driven out successively by Cromwell, then William [III] of Orange [Praise God!], joining the Stuart cause in exile. In 1850 William R. Grace arrived in Peru at age 18, where he acquired a British guano-trading firm as the lynchpin for future major acquisitions in shipping, rail, banking, minerals, sugar plantations, and so forth. Perhaps the greatest increase in Grace family holdings in Peru occurred after the War of the Pacific, where the Grace family had supplied material to both Chile and Peru. Then the Earl of Donoughmore, heading the Committee of Peruvian Bondholders, tapped William Grace to make a debt-for-equity settlement that led to foreign acquisition of most Peruvian agro-industry and infrastructure. Leaving a brother in Peru, [Jesuit Coadjutor] William R. Grace (1832-1904) relocated to New York, where he was mayor from 1880-1888 [and one of the powers behind Presidents Grover Cleveland and Theodore Roosevelt].
> In 1907, Joseph P. Grace joined the board of the First National City Bank [along with Cardinal Spellman's benefactor Nicholas F. Brady]—then owned by Rockefeller-Stillman interests—and set up Grace National Bank in 1915. Joseph Grace became a member of the American International Corp., founded principally by Frank Vanderlip of City Bank, which traded extensively with Russia before and after the Bolshevik Revolution. It was located at 120 Broadway, the office of a complex of firms representing every major Wall Street financial group involved in similar dealings." {29} [Emphasis added]

Joe P. Grace and Nicholas F. Brady were both multimillionaires and Papal Knights of Malta. (In 1930 Brady financed the building of a costly Jesuit Novitiate in Wernersville, Pennsylvania. Childless upon his death, his wife Genevieve—America's foremost Dame of Malta and Jesuit matron called "the Duchess"—donated their fabulous Long Island estate and mansion, Inisfada, to the Sons of Loyola.) Both continued to trade with companies owned by the Russian Branch of the Knights of Malta before and after the Bolshevik Revolution. Were the Masonic Jews responsible for that Inquisition or were they merely "attention-getting" foot soldiers for the Jesuits, the true culprits behind the plot? The Jesuits, as masters of New York, used Rome's Knights of Malta, "the great merchants of the earth," to finance the Bolshevik Revolution. To shroud this all-important secret with a "bodyguard of lies," the Russian "Tongue" of the Knights of Malta was openly expelled by its Masonic "Jewish Bolsheviks;" Vladimir Lenin laid the foundation for the Pope's Cold War!

3. After the two-year Civil War (1918-1920) and Lenin's induced famine, the Jesuits were given permission by the Bolsheviks to re-enter Russia after having been expelled for over a century. Catholic priest James J. Zatko, with grants from the Ford Foundation and the University of Notre Dame (both Roman Catholic institutions being affiliated with the Jesuits' New York City-based Council on Foreign Relations) wrote in 1965 in his Descent Into Darkness, pages 111 and following:

> "An atmosphere of apparent good feeling having been established, Monsignor Pizzardo met Vladimir Vorovskii [in mid-1922] to define points of an accord between the Holy See and Russia for a papal mission in Russia . . . Still this informal meeting did not have any effect on the conference, and the only result was the accord for the papal relief mission. This accord provided for the work of three Catholic "orders" in Russia, the Redemptorists [secret Jesuits] to work in northern Russia, the Society of Jesus to work in central Russia, and the Society of the Divine Word [secret Jesuits] to work in southern Russia." {30} [Emphasis added]

(Dear truth-seeker, is it not a strange coincidence that the Society of Jesus was secretly permitted by Jesuit-trained Josef Stalin and his Bolsheviks to reside openly in central Russia which included Moscow and Petrograd? Did not the revolution originate in these cities from which proceeded the Cheka's merciless inquisition? Indeed, all of Russia was now to be openly invaded by Professed Jesuits under Extreme Oath "to wage relentless war, against all heretics . . . to extirpate and exterminate them from the face of the whole earth . . . in order to annihilate forever their execrable race." The Jesuits with their Bolsheviks, many of whom were Masonic Jewish Labor Zionists, must have truly had a "bloody good" ball! A few years later the Black Pope would again be aided by his Labor Zionists, such as Chaim Weizmann and America's Reformed Rabbi Stephen S.

Wise, in carrying out the "Final Solution to the Jewish Question" thus establishing Labor Zionist Israel!

This is why Israel's leaders of today, including Shimon Peres, NEVER EXPOSE the Vatican's Jewish Holocaust but rather use it as an industry to support the Pope's Zionists who in turn will use it as the ultimate agitation in creating worldwide anti-Jewish fury, driving millions of Jews to Israel!) Priest James J. Zatko continues:

> "In the communist strategy Catholic propaganda was to cause the whole Orthodox structure to crumble . . . The instruments of this new alliance between the Soviets and the Vatican were to be the Jesuits, described as the hereditary enemies of the Orthodox Church. Reportedly, there were, and had been for a considerable time, large numbers of representatives of the Jesuit Order in Moscow [during the revolution] including Bishop [Edward] Ropp. The Pope, [Pius XI] who is said to have left the Jesuit Order before being elected Pope, acted entirely on the instructions of [not] Count [but Wladimir] Ledochowski, the superior general of the Jesuit Order! According to the same report [in maintaining the illusion that the Order was not in full control of the Bolsheviks], the Vatican felt it could bring the Russian [Orthodox] Church under papal domination only if Tikhon [Patriarch of the Russian Orthodox Church] were eliminated, a condition which the Bolsheviks thought had been fulfilled. The Jesuits and the Vatican, on their part, promised that after a conclusion of a concordat [a Concordat!!!], they would do all in their power to put pressure on the governments of Italy, France, and Belgium to hasten their recognition of the Soviet government [which was done]." {31} [Emphasis added]

Edmond Paris, one of France's greatest authorities on the Jesuits, rightly concludes:

> "The Russian Revolution, by eliminating the Czar, protector of the Orthodox Church, had it not decapitated the great rival and helped the penetration of the Roman Church? We must strike while the iron is hot! The famous 'Russicum' [Russian College in Rome] is created [in 1929] and its clandestine missionaries will take the Good News to this schismatic country. One century after their expulsion by Czar Alexander the First, the Jesuits will again undertake the conquest of the Slav world [in seeking to fulfill the Lady of Fatima Hoax]." {32} [Emphasis added]

Dear truth-seeker, the Jesuits were the secret masters of the Bolsheviks! They brought the Russian Orthodox Church under Papal domination, concluded a secret Concordat between the Papal Caesar and the Bolsheviks in the person of Jesuit-trained Josef Stalin—just like Napoleon! Then the Sons of Loyola conducted a massive Inquisition, partially financed by Armand Hammer, that Masonic Jewish Zionist and billionaire Director of Occidental Petroleum, speaking fluent Russian and having access to enter and exit the Soviet Empire whenever he wished. And thus, from 1917 to 1989 Satan's Black Pope, in the name of "Communism," used his "Holy Roman" American Empire in the West and his "Holy Roman" Soviet Empire in the East, "to liquidate" eighty-five to one hundred million "heretics and liberals" pursuant to the Jesuits' evil Council of Trent!

4. The Bolsheviks with the Cheka put two and one-half million "heretics" to death pursuant to the Jesuit Oath and Council of Trent. Of this mass-genocide our Messianic Bible-believing Jew, Arno Gaebelein, continues:

> "Among the 1,766,188 victims up to the beginning of 1922, figures obtained from the Soviet documents, nearly five thousand were priests, teachers, nuns, etc. of the Greek [Orthodox] Church . . . But soon the persecution extended to the millions of Lutheran, Reformed, Baptist, Methodist and especially Mennonite Christians . . . Nearly 100,000 Lutherans live banished; in semi-starvation in Siberia . . . Perhaps the greatest sufferers as Christians have been the Mennonites. For many years they had in southern Russia prosperous settlements, they were law abiding and earnest believers . . .
> What horrible sufferings, torture and death, these good people have passed through! Whole villages were wiped out. And today [1933] hundreds of them are confined in miserable prison camps, suffering untold agonies. And in the wilds of Siberia, in the far north, hundreds of other banished ones are still living enslaved, deprived of all the needed simple comforts of life, degraded and half starved. The suffering of the thousands of women is simply indescribable [massive gang rape]. Thousands of churches of the different branches have been demolished and the work of destruction goes on, so that as stated before by 1937 not a single church building or meeting house is to be left . . . Needless to say, the printing of religious periodicals, the advertisement of religious books, the circulation of the Bible . . . is not only strictly forbidden, but punishable with exile." [The Jesuits further benefited by using their Bolsheviks to execute Monsignor Budkiewicz against the wishes of President Warren G. Harding and the evil Federal Council of (Protestant) Churches ruled by Jesuit Coadjutors. This murder eliminated a serious enemy while uniting Catholics and Protestants against the Jews pursuant to the Order's secret design.] {33} [Emphasis added]

Dear truth-seeker, is this not exactly the same religious oppression that occurred in Spain during the Dark Ages and all throughout Europe with the dawn of the Reformation? Is this not the same persecution the French Huguenots suffered under King Louis XIV, guided by his Jesuit confessor, Pere La Chaise? In fact, this is the same scenario enacted by the Jesuits in the 1600s that caused the Thirty Years' War in Germany of which Griesinger, in his greatest of Jesuit histories, describes:

> ". . . the Jesuits proceeded for five long years, and during that space of time they consigned to the flames more than forty thousand Lutheran Bibles, while they also occasionally, to make short work of it, converted a number of Protestant churches into ruins by means of cannon or by blowing them up into the air with gunpowder." {34}[Emphasis added]

The Jesuits, with their Masonic Jewish Bolsheviks financed by the Knights of Malta on Wall Street, restored the Temporal Power of the Pope in their "USSR" by means of a secret Concordat, enforced by the Russian arm of the Jesuits' Holy Office of the Inquisition—the merciless Cheka. With it came the Dark Ages and a vast system of concentration camps called "the Gulag." The Jesuits, with their infernal Inquisition under the name of "Communism," were delightfully, in the loving spirit of "Saint" Ignatius Loyola, grinding their victims to dust.

(Dear truth-seeker, out of this terrifying crucible of Jesuit inquisition, the Son of God brought forth one of the greatest musicians ever to bless Bunyan's "Eargate" of the human race's "City of Mansoul." The magnanimous and compassionate heart of Sergei Vasilievich Rachmaninoff spawned his mesmerizing masterpieces as he was the greatest pianist-composer of his day. A faithful husband and father, this well-born, Orthodox Russian was driven from his homeland at the age of forty-four, as a result of Rome's Bolshevik Revolution. He died in 1943 while an exile in the United States, having enjoyed Protestant liberties for the remainder of his life. Indeed, his great Symphony No. 2, Adagio enables the author to envision the triumph of good over evil with a preview of the coming millennial reign of Jesus the Messiah as the greatest Son of David sits on the Throne of His Glory. He will rule the world from His spectacular Temple, to be erected in Jerusalem as a House of Prayer for all the Gentile Nations, out of which will flow a supernatural river of water giving life to the Dead Sea, as foretold by the prophets Isaiah and Ezekiel and the Apostle John.)

In 1933, with the backing of Knight of Malta Joe Kennedy and Cardinal Hayes of New York, FDR, the Shriner Freemason, was "elected" President of the Pope's American Empire. He sent Knight of Malta and CFR member Myron C. Taylor to Rome as the American ambassador to the Vatican without the approval of Congress. Another act of high treason was to formally recognize the bloody, Jesuit-controlled "USSR." This in turn unleashed the huge American corporate monopolies under Vatican control (like Ford Motor Company and General Motors) to finance and build Stalin's Red Army, which in turn would be used to totally destroy Bible-rejecting, Protestant East Prussia and East Germany during and after World War II.

By 1939 the Jesuits, with their tools Hitler and Stalin acting in concert under Papal Concordats, would be ready to purge Poland and western Russia of her most hated population—the supposed culprits of international communism—the Jews. It was for this reason that in 1941 the Red Army, purged of its finest Generals and officers by Stalin in the mid-thirties, had been deliberately weakened, forcing its retreat at the advancement of the German Army during "Operation Barbarossa." This enabled the Jesuits' Order of the Death's Head—the SS—to round up hundreds of thousands of Russian Jews, only to be gassed and then buried in mass-graves, like Babi Yar in Kiev. This not only pleased Coadjutor Hitler but brother Coadjutor Stalin was also delighted; for "Koba" fiercely hated all Jews. (Is it not poetic justice that Stalin's daughter, Svetlana, would marry a Jew?) And among the SS, which according to Walter Schellenberg (head of Jesuit Robert Leiber's SD over the SS) ". . . had been organized by Himmler [whose father, Professor Gebhart Himmler, was a Jesuit coadjutor who tutored Bavaria's* Prince Heinrich Wittelsbach] according to the principles of the Jesuit Order . . . ," {35} were the Jesuit "missionaries" from the Russian College in Rome erected in 1929 ". . . with the special object of organizing Catholic missions among the Russian Orthodox population of the Soviet Union." {36}

After the war, the Jesuits' Russian NKVD "head hunters" became the KGB. The Jesuits' American OSS became the CIA. The Jesuits' German SS and Nazi Intelligence were merged into them both. Working together at the top, as they had during their Crusade in Europe (as Eisenhower titled his book), both agencies were controlled by the Knights of Malta destroying popular governments (liberalism) around the world while erecting dictators (absolutists) loyal to Rome. The Jesuits, with their unified international intelligence agencies, were restoring the Pope's Temporal Power as "Master of the World" via revolution and assassination. This is why we should not be surprised to see the high command of the KGB and CIA working together. For during World War II it was the Jesuit General's head of the OSS, Knight of Malta "Wild" Bill Donovan, working with the American Empire's Ambassador to the Papal Caesar in the Vatican, Knight of Malta Myron C. Taylor (whose "diplomacy prevented Europe's Jews from escaping Himmler's SS/SD), who initiated the formal relationship. Anthony Cave Brown, the world's foremost authority on covert Intelligence Operations, tells us in his great work, "C":

> "Donovan had flown to Moscow at Christmas 1943 to meet with [Jesuit Coadjutors] General [Pavel] N. Fitin, head of the Soviet external military intelligence service, and General [Alexander] P. Ossipov, who was responsible for Soviet guerrilla, sabotage, and subversion operations in German-occupied territory. At that meeting, Donovan . . . proposed a full alliance between the OSS and the NKVD (the Soviet secret service), in which they would establish missions in each other's capitals [which they secretly have established today]. This exchange of missions did not take place . . . Yet until long after FDR > reluctantly directed that the exchange not take place 'for the time being,' Donovan sent the NKVD large quantities of U.S. intelligence about Germany along with technical devices such as microfilm, cameras, readers and printers." {37} [Emphasis added]

This Papal Knight, the man who murdered General George Patton, the man who gave high technology to the KGB further enslaving the Russian people, the man who betrayed us Americans in constantly plotting with the dastardly, Papalized Irish American Jesuit of mind and heart—Francis Cardinal Spellman—was rewarded for his loyalty to the Jew-hating, Antichrist in Caesar's Vatican Palace—Pius XII:

> "Donovan toward the end of his life, covered with honors already, visited Pope Pius XII to receive the Medal of St. Sylvester, the Vatican's highest award for a lifetime of public and secret services to the [hierarchical] Catholic Church." {38} [Emphasis added]

Dear truth-seeker, could the "lifetime of secret services to the [hierarchical] Catholic Church," overseen and controlled by the Society of Jesus, include the founding of the American OSS and merging it with the Soviet NKVD, thereby aiding in the creation of Rome's International Intelligence Community—the International Holy Office of the Inquisition? If "Communist Russia" is truly an enemy of the Vatican's Jesuits, why was Irish Roman Catholic Donovan given the Pope's highest honor? The policy of cooperation between these two agencies continued throughout the Cold War. For it was the traitor, "the mole," the Chief of Counterintelligence, Knight of Malta and "Cold Warrior" who manned the CIA's "Vatican Desk" and "Israeli Desk"—James Jesus Angleton—who betrayed America's loyal, patriotic CIA agents into the hands of the KGB. Again, Anthony Cave Brown writes:

> "Angleton . . . demonstrated his confidence in [Knight of Malta] Golitsin by making available to him the CIA files on the personnel of the main operating section of the CIA in the Cold War with Russia, the thousand-odd men and women of the Soviet Division. He settled in an apartment in New York City, where he was permitted to receive and read the files. During this period—perhaps three years—many of the personal and operational files were delivered to him . . . We're talking about careers ruined, about mass resignations of counterintelligence people convinced that the CIA has been irrevocably penetrated by KGB pawns, about men we thought were our moles in Moscow—arrested and shot . . . [American patriot, is your blood boiling yet? In the name of Jesus Christ don't ever give up your Swords of Just Defense! We are going to need every gun and every round when fighting the forces of our coming fascist dictator as well as our savage and merciless foreign invaders! In the words of our great and gallant Southern noble and Protestant American hero,

General George Patton, recorded by his fellow battlefield commander, Harry H. Semmes, in his Portrait of Patton on pages 153 and 157: "I pray daily to do my duty, retain my self-confidence and accomplish my destiny. No one can live under the awful responsibility I have without Divine help . . . Any man who still has a weapon in his hand and who surrenders it is a coward. But he is worse than a coward; he is foolish. It is far better to fight it out and probably win than it is to surrender and surely starve [in North American concentration camps, especially the Pope's secret one million-acre Death Camp in Alaska]."] Golitsin was evacuated suddenly to a farm in upstate New York. The files were sent to him there but he never returned them. . . .

When this was discovered, an operation was undertaken to retrieve them and, according to a CIA officer involved, 'two vans were required to return them to the Agency—two van loads of our most secret files in the possession of a Russian in the boonies somewhere north of Albany! You can imagine what the FBI thought when they were told about what had happened to some of the most secret files!'

" [SMOM Golitsin was a Russian noble whose fathers had converted to Romanism through Jesuit instructors in St. Petersburg. For this, Prince Alexander Golitsyn backed the Tzar's expulsion of the Order from Russia. {39}] {40}[Emphasis added]

Later, top CIA officials who dared to resist Angleton's power were murdered. According to Anthony Cave Brown three of them were Eric Timm, Desmond Fitzgerald and Opus Dei member of the Knights of Malta, William Colby.

An identical treason occurred within the Order's Freemasonic British Counter-intelligence Directorate known as MI5. This same false KGB defector, Anatoli M. Golitsin, was given access to Britain's most secret files by MI5 Director-General Sir Roger Hollis. Retired MI5 Assistant Director Peter Wright states in his Spycatcher: The Candid Autobiography of a Senior Intelligence Officer:

"Right from his first visit to Britain in 1963, we opened up to Golitsin, and I was responsible for that as much as anyone. . . . He knew form the start that we were hunting a high-level spy, and inevitably that must have colored the intelligence he gave us. In the tense and almost hysterical months of 1963, as the scent of treachery lingered in every corridor, it is easy to see how our fears fed on his theories. . . . Golitsin came over in spring 1968. I initially pressed him to come over straightaway, but it was winter in London, and he told me darkly that he had already seen too much snow in his life. He was set up in a safe house in Brighton, . . . Every week I came down from Leconfield House with a briefcase of files for him to study. . . . For four months Golitsin roamed across the most secret files in MI5, and every month Michael McCaul went to Glyn

> Bank and drew out 10,000 pounds in cash, placed it in a small suitcase and brought it down for Golitsin. But for the money, there was little Golitsin had to give. . . . But in the crucial area—whether or not he could shed any light on the [MI5] penetration problem [via the KGB]—he was a complete loss. . . . One day he announced he had an answer.
>
> 'Your spies are here. My methodology has uncovered them,' he intoned darkly, pointing his finger like the witch-finger at two files on the table in from of him. I knew the files well. They belonged to Victor and Tess Rothschild. 'Don't be totally absurd, Anatole,' I said. 'Victor is one of the best friends this Service has ever had . . . how on earth did you jump to that conclusion?'
> 'They are Jewish. David and Rosa are Jewish names . . .' It sounded like KGB anti-Semitism to me, and I could not help thinking that if this had been the CIA and I had been Angleton, Victor and Tess would almost certainly have been listed as spies on Golitsin's groundless interpretation [remembering Stalin's anti-Jewish 'Doctor's Plot of 1953]. The principal problem with Golitsin's methodology was that he interpreted the files as if he were still in the KGB. [Indeed!] . . . By the end of his stay my sessions with Golitsin had degenerated into tedious diatribes about . . . recycled information which already existed in our Registry [indicating that Knight of Malta Anatoli M. Golitsin remained the Black Pope's KGB liaison between the Order's CIA and MI5/MI6]." {41} [Emphasis added]

In conclusion, the Jesuit General controls both the CIA and the KGB through the American and Russian branches of the Knights of Malta. The American Knights, in control of Wall Street, financed the Bolshevik Revolution. Both the OSS and NKVD worked together during World War II and later, as the CIA and KGB, secretly continued to collaborate while destroying the world's "heretics and liberals" during that hoax called "the Cold War." This is why we should not be surprised to see the CIA agent, Lee Harvey Oswald, having been trained in the Russian language by the Office of Naval Intelligence while a U.S. Marine, pose as a communist defector to Russia when in fact he was under orders, unknowingly being set-up to be a "patsy" for the assassination of President Kennedy. We now understand why Lee Harvey Oswald, the Pope's future, human, Lutheran sacrifice, could enter the Black Pope's "Holy Roman" Soviet Empire, have an enjoyable time, and easily depart (being unheard of in those days) with his Russian wife, Marina Oswald, who was the niece of KGB Colonel Vasili Khritinin, who in turn was overseen by the British SIS/KGB Knight of Malta, Kim Philby, the bosom friend of the American CIA/KGB/Mossad Knight of Malta, James Jesus Angleton (the bosom friend of Nazi collaborator, David Ben-Gurion), who in turn was the most devoted slave to his master in St. Patrick's Cathedral, the "Archbishop of the Capital of the World" and "Prince of the Church," Knight of Columbus Francis Cardinal Spellman, who, in controlling FDR's State Department and America's

New York Masonic Jewish leadership, prohibited the rescue of European Jewry from the Black Pope's Nazi SS! Knowing the history of the Order's control of America's CIA, the USSR's KGB and Castro's Cuba will enable us to understand the endgame of the Company's present "War on Terror' and our coming Sino-Soviet-Moslem Invasion and Occupation.

Peter I "the Great" Romanov, 1672 – 1725

Co-Tzar, 1682 – 1694; Tzar of all the Russias, 1694 – 1725

Considered to be Orthodox Russia's greatest reformer, Peter I brought the cultural advancements of the LORD's grand and glorious Reformation into his vast Empire. The Emperor founded and built St. Petersburg, "the Venice of the North" later to become his capital city; he established high protective tariffs in defense of domestic manufacturers and founded the Academy of Science in 1724.

Though a proven advocate of religious toleration, he eliminated all religious challengers to his absolute power, including the Orthodox Patriarchate—and the Jesuits! Knowing that behind its mask of religious zeal lay a conspiracy for universal political power, he expelled the Company in 1723 decreeing, "all Jesuits are earnestly commanded by virtue of these Letters Patent to quit the Russian dominions within four days after notice having given them, the world being sufficiently apprised of their dangerous machinations, and how common it is for them to meddle with politic affairs." Two years later, on January 26, 1725, the Emperor was given "the poison cup" via an oatmeal gruel, dying two days later.

In 1917 the Order's Bolsheviks renamed St. Petersburg to be "Leningrad;" restored the Patriarchate as their puppet; moved the capital back to Moscow in 1918; and re-admitted the Society of Jesus in 1922. The Empire of the "heretic and liberal" Peter I the Great was converted into the Black Pope's USSR!

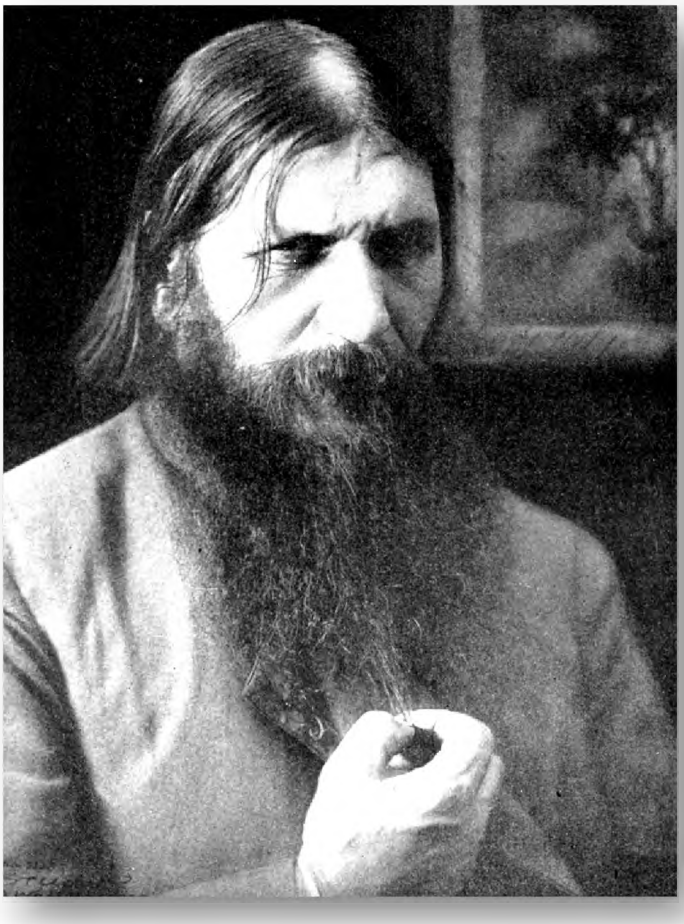
Tzar Alexander II Romanov, 1818 – 1881

Grand Duke of Finland; Tzar of all the Russias, 1855 – 1881

The eldest son of Tzar Nicholas I, Alexander II was more like his grandfather, Tzar Alexander I, who expelled the Company from the Empire in 1820 and the Masonic Lodge in 1822 for which he was assassinated in 1825. Noted for a kind disposition and tenderheartedness, this Emperor proved to be not only a "tyrant" (for refusing to uphold the Pope's Temporal Power), an Orthodox "heretic" in defending the rights of the Russia's Orthodox Church, but also an accursed "liberal" for which he was relentlessly pursued. Losing the Order's British-led Crimean War (1853-1856), the Tzar initiated a series of wonderful reforms including the emancipation of forty million serfs called "the greatest single legislative act in history" (1861). He established local self government (1864); overhauled the judiciary (1864); improved the army instituting a draft equally binding upon all Russians (1874); broke with the Vatican over the Polish Insurrection (incited by the Jesuits in 1863) and the duplicity of Jesuit-ruled Pope Pius IX (1877); bettered the condition of the Jews by abolishing forced conscription of 12-year-olds into the army; opened urban Russia to Jewish resettlement and permitted Jewish students to enroll in government schools; and signed the Loris-Melikov Constitution limiting the powers of the monarch—only a few hours before his assassination (1881)! His life attempted in 1866 (as was Prince Bismarck's) shortly after he unilaterally revoked Russia's Concordat with the Vatican, twice in 1879 and again in 1880, he was finally blown up in his coach by Ignacy Hryniewiecki, a Polish Roman Catholic and member of the Order's anarchist group, "Narodnaya Volya," sent from the Jesuit stronghold of Belarus.

According to Rabbi Marvin S. Antelman's epic two-volume work, To Eliminate the Opiate, these Narodvoltsi socialist-communist terrorists had been openly led by the Jewish Sabbatian-Frankist Mikhail Bakunin (1814-1876); were descendants of the Jacobins; and were students of Adam Weishaupt thus tied to the Black Pope's Masonic Bavarian Illuminati. Upon son Alexander III's accession (a secret slave of the Order), his father's liberal reforms were reversed or minimized, and because the Jewess Jessie Helfman was a party to the assassination, a series of pogroms were carried out by extreme nationalists against "the Jewish Peril"—wonderfully illustrating Jesuit perfidy—, the Order directing both sides of every conflict by using its consensual "papalized Hebrews" to carry out criminal policies of the Company against the peace and welfare of a nation for which crimes its government (secretly ruled by the Order via a "trusted third party") would then persecute all Jews in general!

As calculated, Russian Jews grew to hate both the Romanovs and the Orthodox Church and therefore were duped into the forefront of the Order's Bolshevik Revolution of 1917. The assassination of Alexander II, delighting Pope Leo XIII, contributed to the final overthrow of Orthodox Russia along with its "heretics and liberals" as well as its "perfidious," anti-Communist Orthodox Jews.



Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Gregory Rasputin, 1915 #261

As the Black Pope's Masonic Comte de Cagliostro (Joseph Balsamo) incited the French Revolution against King Louis XVI via the "Diamond Necklace Affair," even so the Order's Masonic Rasputin (Gregory Yefimovich) incited the Russian Revolution against Tzar Nicholas II through his control of the beautiful Empress Alexandra leading to infamous court debaucheries and oppressive policies of state. According to Jesuit Edmund A. Walsh, "At a Masonic Congress held in [Jesuit-ruled] Brussels at this time [1911], Rasputin was discussed as a possible instrument for spreading the tenets of the order in Russia; it was thought that under his destructive influence the dynasty could be destroyed in two years."*

Further, ex-Jesuit Alberto Rivera was informed in Rome by Jesuit Augustin Cardinal Bea that Rasputin discovered the secret location of the Tzar's gold through the Empress. The mad monk then informed Tikhon, the Orthodox Patriarch, who later turned that treasure over to the Order's Bolsheviks.

Jesuit Coadjutors Rasputin, Bishop Hermogen and Iliodor, 1905 #262

Grigory Yefimovich Rasputin, the demon-possessed, glassy-eyed, licentious, mad monk, came to the Order's Bishop Sergius, rector of the Theological Seminary of St. Petersburg in 1903, with a powerful letter of introduction from Chrysanthos, Archminandrite of the Orthodox Kazan eparchy within the Order's stronghold of Siberia. Immediately well received, this "Caesar Borgia of Russia" was introduced into the court of Tzar Nicholas II and his German Empress, Alexandra—the darling of the Jesuits. Years later and for a job well done, the Order's Masonic Josef Stalin would restore the "Orthodox Papacy" in 1942 by appointing Sergius the first Patriarch of All Russia. All of Rasputin's political enemies, including Prime Minister P. S. Stolypin, were removed or assassinated and by 1916, while the Tzar was away at the war front, Rasputin, in controlling the Empress, became the virtual ruler of Russia, abolishing the Russian Parliament (the Duma) and, in the name of the Tzar, promoting anti-Jewish laws and pogroms thereby igniting the Order's Zionist Bolshevik Revolution. Both Rasputin and Stalin had a common mentor—Bishop Hermogen—the rector of Tiflis Theological Seminary at which several Jesuits were instructors. Iliodor, a typical Jesuit agitator of states, was the great promoter of this "man of God," preaching to huge crowds about the mad monk's life and powers while secretly playing the spy for his master, Bishop Hermogen. In 1916 Rasputin was rightly assassinated; later his emasculated body was exhumed and publicly burned.

"Soso," Tiflis Seminary, 1896 #263 Stalin's Police Registration, 1910 #264

Born in Gori, Georgia, Joseph was the youngest of four Djugashvili children, he alone surviving infancy. Beloved by his mother and his father dying at age 11, Joseph was given the Georgian nickname of "Soso," and was dedicated to the Orthodox priesthood. He attended Gori's Roman Catholic Church school built by "Capuchin missionaries," they in fact being occult Jesuits: the Order had been legally banned from all the Russias since 1820. The favorite of his teacher, Joseph was given a scholarship to attend Tiflis Seminary at Tiflis, the capital of Georgia. Nearly 14, he began his "Jesuitic" education in 1894, lasting until May, 1899, all the while being groomed to be the "Ignatius Loyola" of the Black Pope's Marxist Revolution dedicated to overthrowing the Romanov dynasty and neutralizing Rome's priestly enemies within the Orthodox Church. Openly expelled by "Father Demetrius" (who later became Shema-Archbishop Anthony "miraculously surviving" the Bolshevik murder of over 5,000 Orthodox priests and nuns, as well as Stalin's "Great Terror" of the Thirties, finally dying in 1943 at the age of 76), "Koba" (the Cobra) set out to fulfill his Jesuit destiny. Aware of his masters' genocide of 1.5 million Orthodox Armenians via the Moslem Turks, Stalin would perfect Lenin's Communist Party, "forging this order into an army of steel." Upon being named the Secretary of the Communist Party in 1922 by Georgetown University Jesuit Edmund Walsh under cover of providing American grain to starving Bolsheviks, Stalin would purge every Hebrew having participated in the Revolution except one token Jew—Lazar M. Kaganovitch.

Masonic Stalin's "right hand and head" would not be this notorious villain, but a secretive Jesuit and Lubyanka General, Alexander N. Poskrebyshev. Sharing Stalin's apartment (as did Coadjutor Harry Hopkins in FDR's White House), this "vile" private secretary composed Stalin's 383 purge lists of 1937-1938 and, upon the dictator receiving his "poison cup," disappeared, dying in 1965!

Knight of Malta Nicholas II Romanov, 1868 – 1918?; 1894 #265

Protector of the Russian Priory; Tzar of All the Russias, 1894 – 1917

The Tzar, in old Russian Court Dress, displays the same double-headed Phoenix used by occult Freemasonry and the Sovereign Military Order of Malta. This stands to reason: Nicholas was a secret Freemason as was his English cousin, George V. The Tzar was also the Protector of the Pope's Russian Branch of the Knights of Malta even as the King was the Protector of the English Branch, both Branches secretly working together for the success of the Bolshevik Revolution—thus necessitating the ultimate abdication of the Tzar and the creation of the English-sounding "House of Windsor" in 1917, preparing for Rome's WWII!

Obeying his Jesuit masters, the Tzar, in secret treaty with England and France, broke his word with Kaiser Wilhelm II by ordering his ministers to mobilize over one million troops on Prussia's border igniting World War I; he agreed to the betrayal and defeat of his army at Tannenberg; he abandoned his court to the Order's Rasputin; and he ordered his secret police, the Okhrana, to covertly work with the Order's Bolsheviks ensuring a successful October Revolution.

According to Summers and Mangold's 1976 masterpiece, The File on The Tzar, the royal family was secretly brought out of Russia and its death was faked while the world was led to believe an "International Jewish Conspiracy" was behind the murder of the Tzar furthering anti-Jewish fury in Masonic Stalin's USSR.

The Kremlin's Vacated Throne of the Romanovs, 1922 #266

Both absolutists, Alexander III and son Nicholas II, had been obedient servants of the Black Pope. Neither had enforced Alexander I's expulsion of the Jesuits in 1820; both backed the Order's bloody pogroms against the Jews; both plotted the destruction of their "heretic" Orthodox countrymen; and both were occult Freemasons, the Satanic All-Seeing Eye of the Craft towering above the throne!

The Order obtained possession of the Kremlin, its Romanov throne, treasure of gold and the Tzar's crown jewels then valued at $250,000,000. The throne now awaits the arrival of "Gog of Magog," the wicked Russian prince of Moscow and Tobolsk, who will attack Israel during a false peace made possible by the Pope's international treaty beginning the seven-year Tribulation (Ezekiel 38 & 39).

Masonic Lenin's Jewish Lieutenants; Agents for the Jesuits, 1918 #267

Bolsheviks Gregori Zinoviev, Lev Kamenev, Anatoli Lunacharsky and Nikolai Bukharin were a few of Lenin's top lieutenants in agitating what Jesuit Edmund Walsh declared to be "the most significant single political event in the history of Western civilization since the decline and disappearance of the Roman Empire." The Black Pope was the POWER behind that upheaval as he used German General Erick Ludendorff to bring Soviet Jews to power in permitting Lenin's sealed train to pass through Germany. With Lenin given "the poison cup" in 1924, Stalin "liquidated" every Jew involved in the revolution during the Purges of the Thirties except Lazar Kaganovich—the Order's token Jew! These traitors gave credence to the Nazi cry of an "International Masonic Jewish Conspiracy." The Fall of the Russian Empire: The Story of the Last of the Romanovs and the Coming of the Bolsheviki, Edmund A. Walsh, S.J., (Boston: Little, Brown, and Co., 1928).

Jesuit Edmund Walsh and Bolshevik Gregori Zinoviev, Moscow, 1922

Founding Georgetown's School of Foreign Service in 1919, Walsh was ordered to the Vatican in 1922 and appointed by Jesuit General Ledochowski to negotiate with the "Bolsheviks" in creating the USSR. Walsh, secretly commanding his Masonic Jewish Bolsheviks including Gregori Zinoviev, oversaw the wicked murder of select Roman Catholic priests while securing the release of his brother Jesuit, Archbishop Edward Ropp. At that time, Russia was in shambles having been bloodied by WWI (1914-1918), civil war with the Whites (1918-1920), civil war with the Poles (1919-1920), the mass-murder of the Orthodox clergy and Lenin's induced famine.

Moscow's Comintern Chairman (1919-1926), Gregori Zinoviev (Apfelbaum), along with Vladimir Lenin and Lev Kamenev formed the Soviet "leadership nucleus"—secretly guided by Walsh. The socialist World Revolution as described at the Black Pope's secret meeting at Chieri had now been unleashed on Orthodox Russia: the stage was now set for the birth of Jesuit Nazism. Masonic Temporal Coadjutor Josef Stalin later "liquidated" Zinoviev at the first Great Purge trial in 1935.

Successfully portraying to the world the Bolshevik Revolution as an anti-Catholic, atheist, Marxist-Leninist, Masonic Jewish conspiracy, Walsh led the Order's SMOM-backed Cold War and "Anti-Communist Crusade" in America with Fordham University President Jesuit Robert I. Gannon, Walsh advising Jesuit-trained Senator Joseph McCarthy.

Nazi-Communist Labor Day Emblem, 1934 #269

Although Hitler's Mein Kampf was ghost-written by Jesuits in accordance with the Company's anti-Masonic, anti-Jew and anti-Communist propaganda espoused by Pope Leo XIII, we see the secret collusion between Nazism and Communism in the use of both the Hammer and Sickle and the evil, left-handed Sauvastika within the Masonic Nazi emblem above. Depicting a young Karl Marx—the Jesuit-controlled, Jew-hating, Masonic Sabbatian Jew tutored by Jesuits in London—, this symbol imparts to the viewer the secret understanding that Ultramontane, radical right-wing, Nazi Fascism (the Order's OPEN but losing socialist policy) and radical left-wing, Soviet Communism (the Order's SECRET but winning socialist policy)—during the Cold War only—, work together within the Black Pope's political Hegelian dialectic illustrating that "extremes meet." It is for this reason after WWI, Stalin aided Hitler in rearming Germany in preparation for WWII—the consummation of the Pope's Second Thirty Years' War. Masonic Hitler (tutored by Jesuits in Vienna, Austria) and Masonic Stalin (tutored by Jesuits in Tiflis, Georgia) worked together, via the SS/SD and NKVD, in executing Pope Pius XII's Counter-Reformation Crusade in Eurasia. The collusion between extremes sheds light on the Pope's present "War on Terror."

Armand Hammer in the Jesuit Order's USSR, 1925 #270

Masonic Jewish Labor Zionist and member of the Council on Foreign Relations, Armand Hammer, a traitor to his own Jewish Race (along with Jacob Schiff Bernard Baruch and other papalized Masonic "court Jews"), built major industries within Communist Russia. For a time all trade between the United States and Soviet Russia passed through his hands. Working with the Jesuits' Irish "Episcopalian," crypto-Roman Catholic Henry Ford (who circulated the Jew-hating Protocols of Zion and whose son, Henry Ford II, formally converted to Catholicism upon his marriage into the McDonnell family), Fordson tractors were brought into Russia as early as 1923. As the head of Occidental Petroleum, he freely entered and exited the Black Pope's Russian police state whenever he wished. He greatly contributed to the Jesuit-authored illusion that the religion of International Communism was Jewish, making Jesuit-controlled Fr. Bernhardt Stempfle's Mein Kampf believable, justifying Hitler's "Final Solution to the Jewish Question" first introduced in 1880 by Coadjutor Professor Heinrich von Treitschke. Speaking fluent Russian, Hammer was up close and personal with every Soviet leader from Lenin to Gorbachev, greatly building the Empire's commerce evidenced by his "Hammer House," the international trade center and hotel, financed by the Jesuit Order's Chase Manhattan and Bank of America, built in the heart of Moscow. He also helped to finance the creation of the anti-Torah, Socialist/Communist, pro-Papacy, CFR-controlled Zionist government of Israel, its Masonic leaders secretly aiding the Jesuit Order as it continually strains every nerve to bring the world to its knees in worship of the risen Papal Antichrist to sit in Solomon's rebuilt Temple in the LORD's beloved Jerusalem.

Freemason Henry Ford with Bolsheviks, Dearborn, Michigan, 1929 #271

Words cannot express the villainy, the utterly Machiavellian designs of the Jesuit Order evidenced by the political and commercial policies of its most obedient American servant, 33rd Degree Freemason Henry Ford. Pictured with Masonic Jewish Bolsheviks Valery I. Mezhlauk, Vice-President of the Soviet Supreme Economic Council, and Saul G. Bron, President of the Soviet Amtorg Company, Ford agreed to build and operate a huge truck and auto plant in the USSR. At this time, his Dearborn Independent had been running a series of anti-Jewish articles (blaming the Pope's Masonic Jewish Bolsheviks for the "International Jewish Conspiracy") later to be incorporated into Ford's ghostwritten epic work, The International Jew. Ford went on to openly finance and support Masonic Adolf Hitler while secretly financing Masonic Josef Stalin—following the same identical policy of the Company of Jesus! Ford was privately affiliated with the Jesuit Community of Detroit, its University of Detroit Mercy and FDR's Jesuitruled advisor, radio priest Charles Coughlin. Thus American Jesuits were in secret alliance with the Order's Soviet OGPU/NKVD based in Detroit through a division of Amtorg located at gate No. 2 at the Ford River Rouge plant! With the 1933 recognition of Stalin's USSR by Masonic FDR with Jesuit Edmund Walsh then present in the White House Oval Office, Amtorg opened offices in CFR-ruled New York City working ever more closely with Morgan and Rockefeller banks manned by Knights of Malta (i.e., Joseph J. Larkin), who in turn served their immediate master, Archbishop of New York City Patrick Cardinal Hayes.

Henry Ford's Doomed American Families Headed for the USSR, 1931 #272

In 1929 an agreement was made between the Ford Motor Company and the Order's Soviet Amtorg Company to last through 1938. The deal involved the building of a huge truck and auto plant in Gorki, USSR. With many auto workers out of work (due to the Order's Great Depression brought about by Wall Street short-seller Knight of Malta Joseph P. Kennedy), 73 Detroit families, totaling 300 people, including American Jew Victor Herman (3rd from left, back row), set sail for the USSR (above) on the Leviathan. How appropriately named!

Hired by the Ford Motor Company in conjunction with the Amtorg-based OGPU, and believing in the false rhetoric of Roman Catholic Sir Thomas More's utopian socialism in the form of Soviet Communism, every one of these betrayed, working Americans would be systematically arrested, tortured and murdered by the Black Pope's Soviet Secret Police—that is, all but one, Jewish Victor Herman.

In 1936, prior to the beginning "the Great Terror" overseen by Stalin's Jesuit NKVD officers Nicolai S. Vlasik and Alexander N. Poskrebyshev, the agreement was terminated. Instead of insisting on the return of these productive American workers, 33rd Degree Freemasons Henry Ford and FDR abandoned them to the Soviet Gulag system—the Order's Holy Office of the Inquisition! No American eyewitness of communist horror could be allowed to return alive at that crucial time when the Jesuits needed American power to build their militaristic USSR!

"Molotov Auto Works" Manned by American Workers, Gorki, 1934 #274
The Order's USSR needed modern transportation immediately. Masons Henry Ford and Armand Hammer backed the Ford/Amtorg auto deal; a Jew, Albert Kahn, designed the plant; Austin Construction Co. built the plant and Ford Motor Co. provided the equipment and experienced labor. With notorious Jews in the forefront and the Jesuits in the shadows, the USSR would be built into the military colossus necessary for the destruction of the apostate Protestant West. The Gray People, Victor Herman, (No City: Independent Publishing House, 1980).

Victor Herman With Jesuit Coadjutor Victor G. Reuther, 1976 #275

The unseen tragedy pictured above depicts "the tortured with his torturer." Our "perfidious" Jew shakes hands with one of the Order's evil, socialist-communist Reuther brothers.

From 1933 to 1935 both Walter and Victor Reuther lived in the "American Village" with the rest of Henry Ford's American Auto Workers laboring at Gorki. Both were the Black Pope's Fabian Socialist Jesuit Temporal Coadjutors calling for the creation of "a Soviet America." Secretly informed by the NKVD, the Reuthers departed Stalin's USSR before Victor Herman, the internationally known "Lindbergh of America," was arrested in 1938; tortured for 55 straight days; sentenced to death; later given a ten-year sentence in the gulag after which he was sent to Siberia to be worked to death; compelled to consume 180 drowned raw rats to supplement his 700 calorie daily diet; forced to live in an ice "chop-out" with his wife and daughter; and after 45 years in Russia (1931-1976), permitted to return to his native land—only to be befriended by yet another enemy, Knight of Malta and co-conspirator in Cardinal Spellman's Kennedy assassination, William F. Buckley. CIA asset Walter Reuther was one of the masters of the Order's Democratic Party and organized labor.

He served as President of the United Automobile Workers (brother Victor serving as his Administrative Assistant) and Vice President of the United World Federalists. Walter also received honorary degrees from the Order's St. Mary's College, Boston College, Xavier University and Jesuit Georgetown University* only to die in a plane crash in 1970, descend into hell and spend eternity in the lake of fire.

Rector and Students at the Order's Russian College, Rome, 1979 #276

We are deeply sorrowful and at a loss for words in comprehending this Great Russian Tragedy of the Twentieth Century. Always an enemy of the Papacy, Orthodox Russia, both its Patriarch and Romanov Tzar, refused to recognize the supremacy of the Pope of Rome as the "Universal Bishop, Supreme Pontiff of the Universal Church, Servant of the Servants of God, Rector of the World upon Earth and Father of Princes and Kings." Expelled by Tzars Peter I the Great in 1723 (later poisoned) and Alexander I in 1820 (also poisoned), the Black Pope's relentless Militia of Jesus continually agitated the people against its rulers while having infiltrated the Orthodox hierarchy and the Court of each succeeding Monarch. This ceaseless war, including the agitation in nearby Roman Catholic Poland, finally culminated in the Order's violent and bloody overthrow of the Romanov Dynasty with the success of its Bolshevik Revolution. In full control of both sides during the Russian Civil War ending in 1920, the Bolshevik Red Army emerged victorious over the betrayed, anti-Jew, White Russian Army. Upon that defeat, due to Masonic President Harding's food relief to the Bolsheviks, the Company of Jesus was formally re-admitted into Russia after over 100 years of suppression. In 1929 the Jesuits erected their Russian College in Rome for the training of Jesuit priests to rule the Black Pope's USSR. Above, the Jesuit Superior General, Pedro Arrupe, is third from the right in the second row.

After the Jesuits had launched the Bolshevik Revolution and concluded their bloody Civil War in 1920, two years later President Warren G. Harding ordered his Secretary of Commerce, Herbert Hoover, to provide 60 million dollars in foodstuffs to the starving Russian peasants and revolutionaries! The "Relief Mission," utilizing the American Relief Association and led by American Jesuits, was sent into the "USSR"—by order of Jesuit General Ledochowski. Walsh, the Jesuit who founded the School of Foreign Service at Georgetown University and later a secret member of the Knights of Malta, led the mission as "an expert" on the internal affairs of the Soviet Union, appointed Jesuit-trained Josef Stalin as the Secretary of the Communist Party.

During the 1930s, while Freemason Stalin was outraging the world with his Purges murdering millions of his own countrymen, the Order pretended to be the foe of the very communism it had created and perfected on its Reductions in Paraguay. The Society of Jesus launched the illusion of its "worldwide systematic warfare against the common enemy of Christianity and civilization," all the while financing it through its Papal Knights on Wall Street manning the Federal Reserve Bank and Chase Manhattan Bank.

After the Second Thirty Years' War (1914-1945), in following the footsteps of Priest Charles Coughlin—the ex-Basilian (secret Jesuit) priest christened "the father of hate radio" who presided over a church near the Jesuit Order's University of Detroit—, Jesuit Spiritual Coadjutor Francis Cardinal Spellman would continue to campaign against openly Masonic "godless Jew communism" throughout the Black Pope's Cold War Hoax. During this time the Holy Office of the Inquisition's secret International Intelligence Community was financed, perfected and subordinated to the Papal Caesar in Rome.

A contemporary of Wall Street's J. P. Morgan, Joseph P. Grace, Edward L. Doheny, and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., while being the close friend of New York Jesuits, Thomas J. Delihant, S.J. and future key Knight of Columbus Francis Cardinal Spellman ("a Jesuit of the short robe" and of the heart), Irish Catholic Nicholas F. Brady was one of the five most powerful men of the early Twentieth Century. One of the original twelve founding members of the American SMOM, Brady rose to become owner, director, or chairman of over one hundred corporations, including Chrysler Corporation, Brooklyn Subway, National City Bank and Anaconda Copper. Privy to the sinking of J. P. Morgan's Titanic; the Jesuits' Bolshevik Revolution of 1917-1920; the Teapot Dome Scandal of 1922-23; and the Order's Stock Market Crash of 1929; here he is receiving a Knights of Columbus award from the "Military Vicar" and Archbishop of New York City (with the Irish Knight of Columbus Al Smith standing alongside) as a most faithful Knight of St. Gregory. As the director of National City Bank, he helped create Adolf Hitler's I. G. Farben. Nicholas and his wife, Genevieve, called "the Duchess," were also both members of the Sovereign Military Order of Malta and gave millions to the Jesuit Order, including their three million dollar Long Island mansion, "Inisfada," and over one million dollars for the completion of an elaborate Jesuit Novitiate (now a retreat) in Wernersville, Pennsylvania in 1930.

William Joseph "Wild Bill" Donovan, 1883 – 1959 #283
Knight of Malta, Founder of the OSS, Father of the CIA

This devoted Irish Roman Catholic and Knight of Malta was completely loyal to the Black Pope, the Papal Caesar and the Archbishop of New York, Francis Cardinal Spellman. He provided high technology to Stalin's NKVD and was the link between "Dirty" Harry Truman's Central Intelligence Agency overseen by Archbishop Spellman, and "Uncle" Joe Stalin's KGB overseen by Patriarch Agagianian. Donovan's formal link to the high command of the KGB was through his arch-fiend and Chief of Counterintelligence, Knight of Malta James Jesus Angleton.

Here, in the words of Anthony Cave Brown, "Donovan," previously given the Pope's Lateran Medal, "is visiting Pope Pius XII to receive the Medal of St. Sylvester, the Vatican's highest award, for a lifetime of public and secret services to the [hierarchical] Catholic Church." This notorious Irish Roman Catholic traitor, being the spokesman for the US affiliate of Hitler's I. G. Farben in North America, aided the Jesuit Order in perfecting its Holy Office of the Inquisition's International Intelligence Community in command of the world's armies, East and West, through which the Society of Jesus murdered nearly two hundred million people during "the American Twentieth Century," including General Patton, pursuant to the Black Pope's evil Council of Trent.

"To write the history of Jesuitism is to give in detail the record of sanctified scoundrelism, as with the face of the saint and the heart of a devil it has lived and wrought in this world, to do its worst against [Biblical] Christianity, brotherly love, manhood and righteousness. . . . Washington [D.C.] is in the lap of Rome, . . . the Jesuits ruling Washington may dispense with all laws, human and divine, dissolve all oaths and vows, and free men in the Cabinet of the President from the obligations which bind other men. . . . The Jesuit University [Catholic University of America] is built in Washington as Conspiracy Hall, in hopes that liberty may be throttled in its stronghold. . . . 'There in Washington is that Jesuit organization which has set out to control this country, which has been repudiated by every free country, Catholic and Protestant, in the Old World. They have come to our borders; they are among us today, and to stay; and they understand that they are to secure the control of this continent, by destroying the public school system of America.' Senatorial speech, February 15, 1888
Washington In the Lap of Rome

"IN Pagan times the great opposition to [Biblical] Christianity was carried on by the secret societies of the initiated, who at first tried to stamp out the new religion by persecution, and then, more successfully, to corrupt it by foisting themselves among its teachers and counselors. A striking parallel is found in the secret society of the Jesuits—that indefatigable Order which undoubtedly saved the Romish Church from destruction at the period of the Reformation, and has ever since proved the chief stay and strength of the system of disguised Paganism which we have been endeavouring to expose. But energetic as its members showed themselves to be in times that are past, it is probable that they were never more so than in the last few years. To their exertions we may refer the fact that the tide of Popery is again setting in upon the Protestant countries of England, America, and Germany. . . .

With that patient persistence which would be likely to characterize highly educated men, trained to regard their individual efforts as a mere contribution to the action of a vast and skillfully-directed organization engaged in carrying out a plan [a global conspiracy] which will avowedly require many years for its accomplishment, the Jesuits have worked on. The have gradually secured a great influence over the Press [via the CFR in America and the RIIA in Britain]; they have become clergymen and ministers of various denominations, and whenever, in such positions, it did not seem advisable to infuse their own tenets into their teaching, they have been content to be orthodox for the sole purpose of spreading that doctrine of tolerance and Christian charity which is ever upon their lips [as was done in Prince Bismarck's Protestant Second Reich], until they have accumulated sufficient power to enforce obedience to their own iron tyranny [as was done in Hitler's pro-Roman Catholic Nazi Third Reich]. For they ever recognize the fact that it is as important for their object to attenuate Protestant feeling, and to enfeeble Protestant organization, as it is to propagate their own views. Nor, it is to be feared, are they unmindful of that rule of their Order which directs them to spread revolutionary sentiments, and to encourage sedition and anarchy, in those countries in which the supremacy of the Pope is not recognized. Hitherto the British empire has been their great obstacle, but the result of their labours may now be seen in every part of it, both at home and in the colonies and dependencies." {4} [Emphasis added]

'Modern Jesuitism'
Rome: Pagan and Papal

"Yes! San Francisco the rich, the great queen of the Pacific, is in the hands of the Jesuits! From the very first days of the discovery of the gold mines of California, the Jesuits had the hopes of becoming masters of those inexhaustible treasures, and they secretly laid their plans, with the most profound ability and success. They saw, at once, that the great majority of the lucky miners, of every creed and nation, were going home as soon as they had enough to secure an honourable competence to their families. It became evident, that of those multitudes which the thirst of gold had brought from every corner of the world, not one out of fifty would fix their homes in San Francisco. The Jesuits saw at a glance that if they could persuade the Irish Catholics [George Hearst, father of the baptized Roman Catholic and media mogul William Randolph Hearst] to settle and remain there, they would soon be the masters and rulers of that golden city whose future is so bright and so great! And that scheme, worked day and night, with the utmost perseverance, has been crowned with perfect success [the "Irish Big Four," known as the "Silver Kings of the Comstock Lode," being William S. O'Brien, James G. Fair, John W. Mackay and James C. Flood who willed his gorgeous mansion in Menlo Park, California to the Jesuits' Order of the Sacred Heart of Jesus].

The consequence is that while you find only a few Americans, Germans, Scotch, and English millionaires in San Francisco, you find more than fifty Catholic Irish millionaires in that city. Its richest bank (Nevada Bank) is in their hands, and so are all the street railways. The principle offices of the city are filled with Irish Roman Catholics. Almost all of the police are composed of the same class, as well as the volunteer military associations. Their compact unity, in the hands of the Jesuits, with their enormous wealth, make them almost supreme masters of the mines of California and Nevada [the largest bank now servicing California and Nevada being the Jesuit Order's pro-Latin alien invasion CFR affiliate, Bank of America].

When one knows the absolute, abject submission of the Irish Roman Catholics, rich or poor, to their priests, how the mind, the soul, the will, the conscience, are firmly and irrevocably tied to the feet of their priests, he can easily understand that the Jesuits of the United States form one of the richest and most powerful corporations the world ever saw. It is well known that those fifty Catholic millionaires, with their myriads of employees are, through their wives, and by themselves, continually at the feet of the Jesuits, who swim in a golden sea. No one, if he be not a Roman Catholic, or one of those so-called Protestants who give their daughters to the nuns [as did the Masonic President Andrew Johnson], and their sons to the Jesuits to be educated [as did the cold-blooded killer Federal General William T. Sherman], has much hope, where the Jesuits rule, of having a lucrative office in the United States today." {5} [Emphasis added]

Charles Chiniquy, 1886
American Protestant Ex-Priest
Fifty Years In the Church of Rome

"In the encyclical letter of [Jesuit-trained] Pope Leo XIII, written [by Jesuits] to American Catholics, November 1, 1885, he says:

'We exhort all Catholics who would devote careful attention to public matters to take an active part in all municipal affairs and elections, and to favor the principles of the church in all public services, meetings and gatherings. All Catholics must make themselves felt as active elements in daily political life in the countries where they live. They must penetrate, wherever possible, in the administration of civil affairs; must constantly exert the utmost vigilance and energy to prevent the usage of [Protestant, Constitutional] liberty from going beyond the limits of God's [the Pope's] fixed laws [as made known by Canon Law and Papal decrees]. All Catholics should do all in their power to cause the constitutions of States and legislation to be modeled in the principles of the true church [the Fourteenth Amendment serving that purpose]. All Catholic writers and journalists [now controlled by the Order's New York Council on Foreign Relations] should never lose for an instant from view the above prescriptions. It is not lawful to follow one rule in private conduct and another in the government of state, to wit: that the authority of the church should be observed in private life, but rejected in state matters. The Roman Church has a right to exercise its authority without any limit set to it by the civil powers. The Pope and the priests ought to have dominion over temporal affairs; the Roman Church and her ecclesiastics have a right to immunity from civil law; in case of conflict between ecclesiastical and civil powers the ecclesiastical powers ought to prevail.' . . .

'The Pope can dispense with any law [including the Constitution of the United States]. The constitutions and decrees of the popes are explanations of the divine law, and are therefore binding as soon as known. The church does not recognize the right in the government to say whether or not the Pontifical decree shall be enforced [President George W. Bush admittedly seeking to implement the policies of Pope John Paul II]. She is supreme and independent, and therefore can admit of no intermeddling [namely, Constitutional limitations] with her authority [Temporal power].' . . . — Peter Dens' Theology.

Shortly after the decree of infallibility was announced, and this profession of primary fidelity to the Pope was made in New York, The New York Herald, which has always been controlled by a moderate Roman Catholic, said:

'There are thousands of [accursed "liberal"] Roman Catholics in this land who do not place Rome above the United States, and whose patriotism cannot be subverted by fealty to religious dogmas and creeds.'

To this patriotic utterance, which we would fain believe to be true, The New York Tablet, Roman Catholic, of November 1872, replied:

'The Herald is behind the times, and appears not yet to have learned that the thousands of Catholics it speaks of are simply no Catholics at all, if it does not misrepresent them [Wow!]. Gallicanism, which denies the temporal power of the Pope, is a heresy; and he who denies the Papal supremacy in the government of the universal church [as did President John F. Kennedy] is as far from being a Catholic as he who denies the Incarnation, or the Real Presence [which doctrinal position condemns to death about ninety percent of American Roman Catholics who, after being forcefully amalgamated with Blacks for over fifty years, will be sacrificed during the Pope's present Anglo-American-led Crusade against Islam; butchered during the coming inner city race war; and annihilated with the Order's coming Sino-Soviet-Moslem invasion, the most devoted Roman Catholic Northeast and Quebec quite possibly being spared much of the bloodbath]. The Church is more [important] than country, and loyalty to the creed that God teaches and enjoins through her, is more [important] than patriotism. We must obey God [the Pope] rather than man. Our Church is God's Church, and not accountable either to State or to country.' . . .

Thus you see how the organ of the hierarchy denounces the doctrine of moderate Romanism, which had only insisted on loyalty to the country [as did Italy's King Victor Emmanuel II who, for enforcing such a heresy, was assassinated, as was our patriotic President John F. Kennedy].

'Nationality must be subordinate to religion, and we must learn that we are Catholics first, and citizens next. God is above man and the Church is above the State.'—Bishop Gilmour.

'The Catholics of the United States are as strongly devoted to the sustenance and maintenance of the temporal power of the Holy Father as Catholics in any part of the world, and if it should be necessary to prove it by their acts, they are ready to do so.'—Cardinal McCloskey. . . .

'If the American Republic is to be sustained and preserved at all, it must be by the rejection of the principles of the Reformation [banning the Reformation AV1611 Bible from the Public Schools via the Masonic Supreme Court; destroying the Middle Class and ending true elections; elimination of individual apportioned taxes and hard money, elimination of national patriotism; abandoning military isolationism; fighting foreign Crusades for the Papacy; eliminating the White race, etc.], and the acceptance of the Catholic principles [socialism, communism, fascism, socialist democracy, anti-Torah Zionism, Jesuit supremacy of the state over the individual, free trade, fiat money, progressive income tax, central banking, property tax, inheritance tax, driver's license, hunting license, marriage license, Common Law rights reduced to privileges, etc.].

If allegiance to the Church demand of us opposition to political principles adopted by our civil government, we should not hesitate to obey the Church.

> While the state has rights, she has them only in virtue and by permission of the supreme authority, and that authority can only be expressed through the Church. We are purely and simply Catholic and profess unreserved allegiance to the Church, which takes precedence of, and gives the rule to our allegiance to the state [which gives rise to the question as to why European and Latin Roman Catholics immigrated to our White Protestant country in the first place: there is only one answer—to subtly destroy it "for the greater glory of God." This agitation is "the Roman Question," not "the Jewish Question."].'—Catholic World. . . .
> 'How can this independence of civil authority (of the Pope) be secured? Only in one way. The Pope must be a sovereign himself; no temporal prince, whether emperor, or king, or president, or any legislative body, can have any lawful jurisdiction over the Pope. What right has the Pope to be independent of every civil ruler? He has it in virtue, of his dignity, as the Vicar of Christ. Christ himself is king of kings; but the Pope governs the church in the name of Christ and as His representative. His divine office, therefore, makes him superior to every political temporal and human government.'—Pope's Temporal Power; Number 46. . . .

One of the most capable and learned writers in the Roman Catholic Church is [Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor] Dr. O. A. Brownson, of The Catholic Review. Among his writings we extract the following:

'All the rights the sects have, or can have, are derived from the State and rest on expediency [which maxim is the foundation of Roman Civil Law implemented in the United States via the Order's Fourteenth Amendment and the Supreme Court's Stare decisis]. As they have, in their character of sects [the various Reformed Churches], hostile to the true religion [Romanism], no rights under the law of nature or the law of God; they are neither wronged nor deprived of liberty if the State refuses to grant them any rights at all [as we now understand why Rome could murder tens of millions of "heretics and liberals" without it be considered a crime in the law of those nations in which the Pope's massacres transpired].

Protestantism has not and never can have any rights where Catholicity (Romanism) has triumphed [now, over every major city in America, and for which reason every federal judge tells us we have no Constitutional rights, only government-granted privileges]; therefore, we lose the breath we expend in declaiming against bigotry and intolerance and in favor of religious liberty, or the right of any man to be of any religion as best pleases him. This is our country; as it is to become thoroughly Catholic, we have deeper interests in its public affairs than any other citizens.' . . .

What then, can the American [White Anglo-Saxon, AV1611 Bible-believing, Protestant and Baptist, male-dominant, hard-working, Middle Class] people expect the future of this government to be with their Congress and legislative bodies made up largely of a class of foreigners whose first and most binding oath of allegiance is to the Pope of Rome? . . .

What then, is our security, with [James] Cardinal Gibbons [1834-1921] leading the Democratic Catholic hosts, with [Knight of Columbus, William F.] Harrity, a member of the Baltimore Catholic congress, as Chairman of the Democratic National Committee [1892], and a Catholic for its secretary? Or as if to make assurance doubly sure, Archbishop [John] Ireland [1838-1918] leading the republican Catholic hosts, with [Thomas H.] Carter, a devout Catholic [and later a two-term U.S. Senator], as Chairman of the Republican National Committee [1892-1896], and a Catholic its secretary [indicating that by the turn of the century Rome had indeed taken this country, controlling both the Democratic and Republican political parties thanks to the Order's Radical Red Republicans destroying the Jeffersonian Democratic Peoples of the South]. Let the reader remember the words of the New York Tablet, a Catholic paper, which says:

> 'The Roman Catholic citizen of the United States owes no allegiance to the principles of the government which are condemned by the Church or Pope.'
>
> Let him also remember the words of the Romish Bishop O'Connor, who says:
>
> 'Religious liberty is merely endured until the opposite can be carried into effect without peril to the Catholic Church.'
>
> The truth of this purely Romish utterance by Bishop O'Connor has been re-echoed by the wails of fifty million martyrs; illuminated by the fires of Smithfield, groaned from the dungeons of the Inquisition, gurgled in the flowing blood of St. Bartholomew's day, and wailed in the everlasting anguish of the damned as the echoed mockeries of the horrible death march of the Popish Inquisition mingle their shrieks in the awful uproar of hell's avenging flames." {6} [Emphasis added]

"From 1928 through the middle 1930s, [Papal Knight William Randolph] Hearst [the Episcopalian Jesuit coadjutor who championed the Order's causes of socialism, fascism, Irish Catholic Home rule, the Federal Reserve System and Nazism] bought, syndicated, and featured in his Sunday papers essays by Benito Mussolini, the former journalist who was now the Italian premier > [whose confessor was a Jesuit] . . . and [Nazi] German political leaders, among them . . . Herman Goering, [Knight of Malta] Franz von Papen, and [the Jesuit-controlled] Adolf Hitler." {7} [Emphasis added]

The Jesuits were now supreme in Washington, D.C. They had assassinated Lincoln on "Good Friday" with the help of their Freemasons, Andrew Johnson and Edwin Stanton while "brother" Booth escaped the city with a password. They employed the finest attorneys for the defense of the arch-villain, John H. Surratt, the obedient son of Jesuit Bernardin F. Wiget. Through Jesuit influence the jury was hung, thus unable to convict Surratt and ultimately the murderer went free. The same Jesuit machine that aided Surratt, assassinated Garfield and McKinley. We read:

> ". . . the aid that this young traitor received from the priests in Washington, Canada, England and Italy was sufficient to have held them as actual conspirators and to have brought them to justice by hanging them on the same scaffold with their dupes. Had this been done, it might have saved the assassination of the other ["heretic and liberal"] Presidents of this Republic, [Masons James A.] Garfield and [William] McKinley!" {8}

The plan of the Jesuits for their new American Empire was to make it the instrument of vengeance on the European and Asian nations that had expelled them while subordinating every country to the Temporal Power (earthly rule) of their "infallible" Papal Caesar in Rome. At the same time, the Jesuits would destroy the historic Protestantism of Washington's Republic pursuant to the Council of Trent. And how would the Jesuits do this in a country that was still predominantly Protestant and Baptist, whose inhabitants were of the White Celtic-Anglo-Saxon Race enjoying the Bill of Rights and well-armed with an Authorized King James Version of the Bible in one hand and a gun in the other? The Jesuits would gain control of every State government as well as the National Government, and then pass legislation to further their nefarious ends. To do this the foreign and naturalized Roman Catholic populations, enjoying the communist maxim of universal suffrage since the ratification of the Fifteenth Amendment in 1870, must be increased through immigration and then manipulated to vote "en masse" for the candidates whom the Hierarchy endorsed. This would be done for the benefit of the Pope, his Hierarchy and his Jesuit Order, not the lowly, "liberal" Catholic priests or people.

While in the process of this great scheme they would use the U.S. Constitution to protect every piece of Roman Catholic Church property in America as a result of the treaty settling the Spanish-American War of 1898. We read from Black's Law Dictionary, Fifth Edition:

> "Roman Catholic Church. The juristic personality of the Roman Catholic Church, with the right to sue and to take and hold property . . . It was formally recognized between Spain and the Papacy and by Spanish laws from the beginning of the settlements in the Indies, also by our Treaty with Spain in 1898, whereby its property rights were solemnly safeguarded." {9} [Emphasis added]

Concerning immigration, this is precisely what the Jesuits did. We read:

> "Big Catholic population gains were made between 1881 and 1890, when 1,250,000 Catholic immigrants reached American shores. In 1890 there were nearly 9 million Catholics in the United States. From 1891 to the close of the century another 1,225,000 arrived and the total Catholic population grew to 12,041,000. From 1901 through 1910 the number of Catholic new comers was almost 2,320,000 and the total Catholic population leaped to 16,336,000. In a brief two-decade period the Roman Catholic numbers had been increased by more than 7.3 million [to the extent that now, in 2007, Roman Catholics compose over forty percent of the nation's population (including 20 million Mexican alien invaders)—enough to enforce the Order's suspension of the Constitution and the creation of a fascist military dictatorship]." {10} [Emphasis added]

Upon arriving in the Pope's "Holy Roman" Corporate-Fascist American Empire, the Roman Catholics were used by the priests to control the elections. One of our heroes, Jeremiah Crowley, quotes "The Catholic World" in 1912:

> "The Roman Catholic is to wield his vote for the purpose of securing Catholic ascendancy in this country. All legislation must be governed by the will of God unerringly indicated by the Pope. Education must be controlled . . . and the utterances of the press are included [via the Council on Foreign Relations created in 1921] . . ." {11} [Emphasis added]

This means that within thirty years, from 1880 to 1910, the Catholic population had doubled, thereby enabling the Jesuits to further control the powerful political machines of both parties using their junior Jesuits, the Knights of Columbus, along with the Mafia and their dupes—the fleeced, manipulated and controlled Roman Catholic people. The Hierarchical rule of Tammany Hall in New York City is but one example. In the works of Col. L. Fletcher Prouty portrayed in Oliver Stone's fantastic and most accurate movie, JFK, Director's Cut,

> "Politics is power, nothing more!" {12}

About this time during the years of 1900 to 1910, the American Protestants and Baptists became alerted to this great Jesuit Conspiracy and warned both Catholics and Protestants of past and present Jesuit intrigues. The Protestant minister, B. C. Oggel, declared in a series of Middle West Meetings:

> "I would remind you of Webster's definition of a Jesuit: a designer, an intriguer. If the Church of Rome prevailed, the Pope would be the Universal King . . . The Jesuits are here to plot and scheme and, if possible, take from us the noble heritage of our civil and religious freedom. The rules of the Jesuit Order justify theft, licentiousness, lying, false-witness bearing, suicide and the murder of parents and other relatives. The greatest crimes in history committed against individuals and nations have been committed by the Jesuits . . . Wherever Jesuits are they have the torch to burn, the sword to slay, the inquisition to torture [as in all Communist and Fascist nations]. They are the enemies of [Bible-believing] Christianity. They live for conquest, fortune and glory." {13}[Emphasis added]

To oppose the spreading of the truth about the Jesuit Order and Rome's quest to destroy America's Protestant liberties, the Jesuits used Thomas Sherman, the son of that disgrace to the art of arms, General William T. Sherman, whose wife was a most devoted Roman Catholic. Thomas Sherman, the Jesuit, defined the purpose of the Society with one breath and then defended it with the next, while condemning the ex-priests who were exposing Rome's true colors. We read:

> "It was Ignatius who conceived the daring plan of forging the weapon to beat back the Reformation . . . He organized an Order expressly to fight and down Protestantism. He considered all outside the Church as doctrinally his enemies and so do we now . . . I have been for thirty years under the influence of the Jesuits . . . and that to condemn the Order of Jesus is not only to condemn progress and thought and culture and virtue, and all that is sweet and beautiful [???], but to condemn Jesus Christ Himself [the Pope], with whom and for whom the Jesuit is crucified . . . These ex-priests are anarchists of the worst stamp [knowing full well his Order controlled the International Anarchist Assassins Network]. They appeal to free speech.
> If free speech means the right to debauch the minds of women and children at pleasure [by telling the truth about the confessional and private lives of the priests], then I, for one, say better free bullets than free speech." {14}[Emphasis added]

Priest Thomas Sherman, the Jesuit deceiver, was the contemporary of two of our heroes, ex-priests Charles Chiniquy and Jeremiah Crowley. He never faced them! Ultimately, his lies and bad conscience drove him to an attempted suicide.

Confined in the Milwaukee sanatorium near the Order's Marquette University, he wrote these most pitiful words to his Jesuit Provincial master:

> "I have not the faintest gleam of any hope of [works] salvation since July 30, 1911 . . . Repeated confessions but no peace. Have said the Mass the last few weeks, an agony to drag myself to the altar. No hope whatever of eternal salvation—continual effort to choke back blasphemies against God. Blind obedience has brought no amelioration. I will have no instant of peace in time as in eternity. Of this I am most positive. Still my vows press on me and I will continue to obey blindly [the blind obedience mandated by the Order's Four Perpetual Vows] . . .
>
> In utter despair,
> T. Sherman
> P.S. In 1910 no general confession. Afraid to face my conscience [for Sherman knew his father's role in the destruction of the Protestant South, the Order's involvement in the assassinations of Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley, the Order's use and liberation of Jefferson Davis and the Society's legal defense of John H. Surratt.]." {15}[Emphasis added]

Meanwhile, with the immigrants came the Italian Mafia, subordinate of course to the Jesuit Order. The Mafia would first be used to oppress the Catholic populations of the large Northern cities, forbidding the people to settle in Protestant communities or allowing their children to attend the Bible-reading public schools and Protestant Churches. The Mafia would control crime in an organized fashion, establishing monopolies in the traffic of liquor, prostitution, gambling, pornography and drugs, further enriching the coffers of Rome! Later, in accumulating wealth and power, it would be used politically for controlling both the Republican and Democratic parties to the extreme of high-level assassination. Amazingly, the Jesuits would be so bold as to use their Mafia in conjunction with the Office of Naval Intelligence (ONI) during World War II. We read from The Luciano Project:

> "Not only did Lucky Luciano and his Mafia associates help the Navy protect New York Harbor from espionage, sabotage, and labor strife; their influence reached across the Atlantic Ocean to the port cities of Sicily and Italy during the critical invasions of Hitler's Mediterranean frontier . . . [The story] was kept secret for twenty-three years, with a cast of hundreds of naval officers, Mafia grandees, and racketeers, judges, district attorneys, corrections officers and parole personnel, not to mention secret agents of all services, working from Great Meadow Prison to the front lines of the Italian campaign." {16}[Emphasis added]

The Jesuits would also use their Mafia soldiers alongside the agents of the OSS in World War II, remembering that the head of the OSS was an Irish Roman Catholic whose brother, Vincent Donovan, was a Dominican priest. We read:

> "During World War II, William Donovan, chief of U.S. Intelligence (OSS), decided that a "corps of skilled safecrackers, housebreakers and assassins" could further the war effort. Donovan secured the best—Mafia boss: Charles "Lucky" Luciano—who used his influence to protect Mafia infested American docks from Axis sabotage. In return, Luciano was granted a commutation of a long prison sentence [convicted of compulsory prostitution], and was deported to Italy in 1946." {17} [Emphasis added]

(Dear truth-seeker, the collaboration between the Mafia and OSS is important to grasp, enabling us to understand the Mafia/CIA assassination of President Kennedy.) In returning to the 1880s, the Jesuits, with the plan of "making America dominantly Catholic," through immigration and control of politics, needed more than the Mafia, Shriner Freemasonry (including the "Royal Order of Jesters" to which the Roman Catholic actor John Wayne belonged) and Rothschild's Illuminati. They needed a new domestic order to further control Fourteenth Amendment America's political power and financial might. This new order would also pretend to be the enemy of the Jesuits' old war-horse, Shriner and 33rd Degree Freemasonry, creating further agitations between unsuspecting Catholics and Protestants. Most importantly, this new Order would be used to drive Protestants into the arms of the Jesuit General's Scottish Rite Freemasonry, thereby destroying the purity of the LORD's Protestant and Baptist Churches. So in 1882, one year after the Garfield assassination, an organization was born, having derived its name from a Spanish Jew who had been a notorious slaver and pirate. Of the Knights of Columbus we read:

> "The Knights of Columbus, founded at New Haven, Connecticut [the exact same city in which Yale University's Masonic "Skull and Bones," and Masonic "Book and Snake" secret societies are based, further evidencing a secret collusion between both Roman Catholic and Protestant Orders] February 2, 1882, by [Jesuit-controlled] Rev. Michael J. McGivney, curate of St. Mary's Church . . . had on January 1, 1905 [during the Roosevelt Administration] a total membership of 127,206 persons . . . they are now (1912) said to be over 300,000 strong . . . an adroit feature of this organization, to which Roman Catholics only are eligible, is the initiative service of four degrees . . . they work in collusion with the Hierarchy, and are heart and soul in politics. This fact is well known to political machines and non-Catholic politicians, whose candidates must receive the approval of Rome and the Knights before they dare nominate them for either dog pound or presidency. The Knights of Columbus' . . . principal business is politics, aye, Jesuitical politics." {18} [Emphasis added]

And to what end are the Knights of Columbus and their Jesuitical politics bringing us? Remembering that both President Kennedy and his killer, Francis Cardinal Spellman, were both members of the Order, could it be the erecting of a fascist tyranny? Is not one of the symbols used within the emblem of the Knights of Columbus a fascis, it being a bundle of rods bound together about an axe with the blade projecting? Is not that most sinister symbol (like the Company's Masonic sauvastika—its four tips pointing in the opposite direction of the historic swastika—of Bavaria's upper crust Thule Society (the original swastika having been adopted by a Jesuit "missionary" to India, Robert di' Nobili, in 1605, while attempting to win to the Order the ruling-class Brahmans) its chief architect having been Baron Rudolf von Sebottendorff who had been born in the Order's Polish Silesia and raised by a Roman Catholic Austrian noble while in Turkey) promoting the raw, unrestrained and centralized power of the Black Pope's Roman Papal Caesar*, prominently displayed at the front of the chamber of the Senate of the Order's "Holy Roman" Fourteenth Amendment American Empire?* The end to which these oath-bound soldiers of a foreign power are working can only be the destruction of popular liberty, so condemned by the Jesuits' Council of Trent, while submitting the American Empire to the absolute Temporal Power of the Pope. Written in 1924, we read:

> "The process of destruction has gone on steadily from the assassination of the five presidents in the United States, (Harrison, Taylor, Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley), which began in 1841 and has continued at intervals, and which finds us without a semblance of a free press. After sixty years of activity by these foreign enemies within our borders what do we find? We find subversion of free speech; a subversion of a free press; we find a denial of the right of the American people to peaceable assemblage. . . . And by whom is this concerted plan of destruction being carried on, principally? By the priests and lay members of the Roman Catholic Church. . . . During the Wilson administration, the Army, the Navy, the Treasury, the Secret Service, the Post Office, the Emergency Fleet, Transports, Printing, Aircraft and dozens of others were presided over by the Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus! The PLUNDERS of Hog Island and the Emergency Fleet under E. N. Hurley are matters of Congressional Record, which mounted up into the millions. Mr. Hurley is a Roman Catholic and Knight of Columbus. The "Aircraft Scandal" under the supervision of John M. Ryan, an ardent Roman Catholic and Fourth Degree Knight of Columbus, ran into the billions and was also subject to investigation . . . One of the aims of the Knights of Columbus is to restore the Temporal Power of the Pope." {19}[Emphases added]

(We may also add that the apostate Protestants and Freemasons, FDR and J. Edgar Hoover, held public offices during the administration of another notorious American traitor and apostate Presbyterian, President Woodrow Wilson (1913-1921) who was later poisoned, having died of so-called "apoplexy," for a job well done.) The allegiance to the Spiritual and Temporal powers of the Pope as sworn to by the high Knights of Columbus is sealed with an oath. That final Fourth Oath, creating the "Knight of the Fourth Degree," is nearly identical with the Extreme Oath of Induction taken by the Jesuits of the Fourth Vow. The Oath also contains Masonic language leading the reader to the conclusion that the Order of the Knights of Columbus is merely a type of Freemasonry for traditionalist, Tridentine Roman Catholic men: it is much like Opus Dei, utterly controlled by the Black Pope.

Holding a Master's degree in History from the Order's Marquette University, Jesuit Temporal Coadjutor Dr. Justin Walsh, believes that the oath, though "a forgery" was written by a Mason. He then proceeds to document the obvious collusion between the Knights, the Roman Hierarchy (ruled by the Jesuits) and Freemasonry. He writes:

> "The election of 1912 witnessed an upsurge of [American, Masonicallycontrolled] nativist hostility, much of it directed against the 300,000 members of the Knights of Columbus. Knights were depicted as the vanguard for the Roman conquest of America, men who took a bogus oath actually authored by a Mason named William C. Black: . . .
>
> Christopher Kauffman suggested one reason for the resurgence of anti-Catholicism during 1912 was the respectableness accorded Knights by governmental officials. Columbus Day, October 12, was a holiday in 30 states due to Knights of Columbus lobbying. In 1907 Congress established a Columbus Memorial Commission and appropriated $100,000 to construct a suitable monument. Secretaries of State Elihu Root (1907-1909) and [backer of the wicked 16th Amendment] Philander Knox (1909-1913), both of whom were Masons, served in the Commission along with Supreme Knights [Edward L.] Hearn (1907-1909) and James A. Flaherty (1909-1927) [Freemasons and Knights of Columbus working together]. . . .
>
> The Memorial, conveniently located right across from Union Station in Washington, D.C., was dedicated on June 8, 1912. Past Supreme Knight Hearn presided in the presence of President William Howard Taft, most of the cabinet, and several senators, representatives, and Supreme Court justices. The rector of the Catholic University of America offered the invocation, after which President Taft, a Mason, lauded 'the courage of Columbus.' . . .
>
> Twelve hundred dignitaries attended the banquet that evening. Guests included [American Pope] James Cardinal Gibbons and Speaker of the House Champ Clark, a Missouri Democrat and a Mason. . . . [Catholic] Americanists, led by [secretly anti-Americanist] James Cardinal Gibbons and Archbishop John Ireland, were unflinching in their support of Masonic French republicanism

[later to be overthrown by Hitler's invasion of France] and clerical liberalism [those accursed "liberal" priests later to be destroyed by the Nazis SS in accordance with the Jesuit Oath]. . . .

In 1920 [President Wilson's] Secretary of War Newton Baker, a Mason, awarded the Distinguished Service Cross to Supreme Knight [of Columbus] James Flaherty in recognition of contributions to the [WWI] war effort [which united Protestant Masons and Catholic Knights against a common enemy—the accursed Protestant German Empire] by the Order. . . .

Following the Scottish Rite in establishing a DeMolay-like youth group was not the only area where the Knights of Columbus seemed to emulate Masonry. As a quasi-secret society, the Order had been ambivalent toward Freemasonry from the beginning. Like the Craft, it thrived on secrecy, arcane symbols, esoteric signs, passwords, and outlandish regalia. As early as 1892 German-American Catholics said the Order was 'a pernicious secret society.' And as Christopher Kauffman points out, the suspicions were not limited to German Catholics: 'The ceremonial character . . . was particularly offensive to conservative Catholics . . . striking them as pseudo-Masonry in Catholic garb.' . .

The question of affinity with freemasonry came to a head after the Order's national convention in 1919. The Supreme Council decided to commemorate 'the glorious deeds of the American and French armies' in the recent war and voted unanimously to present a statute of the Marquis de Lafayette—'the French defender of American liberty [and a Roman Catholic Freemason]'—to Lafayette's hometown of Metz. . . .

On August 5, 1920, Supreme Knight James Flaherty and 235 Knights embarked for France. They were headed for the most pompous demonstration of Columbianism yet, accompanied by a bronze equestrian statue more than seventeen feet in length and height. The statue was described by the Supreme Master of the Fourth Degree:

'The whole image appears to [be] a life-like, living breathing object. Lafayette's face sharp featured, intelligent, aristocratic. The bas-reliefs are finished in Tennessee marble and the front of the pedestal pictures General Pershing [a Mason] at the tomb, uttering the famous words, 'Lafayette, we are here.' The back depicts Columbus discovering America [Englishman John Cabot being the true discoverer of the New World]. One side shows [Protestant] President Wilson [backed by Masons Edward M. House and Bernard Baruch] delivering his . . . war speech to Congress, the other [Jesuit-trained Roman Catholic] Marshal Foch, whose . . . genius made possible the victory over [Protestant Lutheran] Prussianism.'

> Thousands welcomed the Knights on the day of presentation, August 21. The American ambassador opened the festivities, the statue was unveiled, and Flaherty presented Foch with a marshal's baton from Tiffany's that cost $15,000. Then Foch, a Freemason, embraced a fully-costumed Supreme Knight while stammering emotionally, 'I welcome you, Knights of Columbus, as the representatives of America. I know your merits because of what you have done in the war.' " {20} [Emphasis added]

Now let us read the complete Fourth Degree Oath of the Knights of Columbus. We must remember that it quite possibly was written by a Mason under Jesuit oversight, the Oath intended to openly and publicly create a common Roman Catholic enemy for Protestants, Baptists and low-level Freemasons, diverting all pensive attention away from the Black Pope's high-level, "Masonic Invisible Empire" then ruling the Pope's "Holy Roman" Fourteenth Amendment American Empire on behalf of James Cardinal Gibbons. Yes, dear truth-seeker, the American Roman Catholic Hierarchy, subject to the Sons of Loyola, used millions of their own loyal Roman Catholic people as a ruse—a diversionary scapegoat—all the while waging total and relentless war on our historic Protestant liberties, so enjoyed by Protestants and Roman Catholics alike, via the invisible sword of "the Craft." We begin:

> "I, _____, now in the presence of Almighty God, and the Blessed Virgin Mary, the Blessed Michael the Archangel, the Blessed St. John the Baptist, the Holy Apostles, St. Peter and St. Paul, and all the Saints, sacred hosts of Heaven and to you, my Ghostly Father, the Superior General of the Society of Jesus founded by St. Ignatius Loyola, in the Pontification of Paul the Third, and continued to the present, do by the womb of the Virgin, the Matrix of God, and the Rod [penis] of Jesus Christ, declare and swear that his Holiness, the Pope, is Christ's Vice-regent and is the true and only head of the Catholic or Universal Church throughout the earth; and that by virtue of the keys of binding and loosing given his Holiness by my Savior, Jesus Christ, he hath power to depose heretical kings, princes, states, commonwealths and governments, all being illegal without his sacred confirmation, and that they may be safely destroyed.
> Therefore, to the utmost of my power, I shall and will defend this doctrine and his Holiness' right and custom against all usurpers of the heretical or Protestant authority whatever, especially the Lutheran Church of Germany, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, and Norway and the now pretended authority of the Churches of England and Scotland, of the Calvinists, and branches of the same now established in Ireland and on the Continent of America and elsewhere, and all adherents in regard that they may be usurped and heretical, opposing the sacred Mother Church of Rome.

I do now denounce and disown any allegiance as due to any heretical king, prince or state, named Protestant, or [Roman Catholic] liberals, or obedient to any of their laws, magistrates or officers.

I do further declare that the doctrines of the Churches of England and Scotland, of the Calvinists, Huguenots, and others of the name of Protestants or Masons to be damnable [thus intending to unite Jehovah's Protestantism with Satan's Freemasonry in violation of the Word of God, thereby destroying true, Bible-based Protestantism], and they themselves to be damned who will not forsake the same.

I do further declare that I will help, assist and advise all or any of his Holiness' agents, in any place were I should be, in Switzerland, Germany, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, England, Ireland, or America, or in any other kingdom or territory I shall come to, and do my utmost to extirpate the heretical Protestant or Masonic [liberal] doctrines and to destroy all their pretended powers, legal or otherwise.

I do further promise and declare that, notwithstanding I am dispensed with to assume any religion heretical [including Buddhism, Taoism, Shintoism, Judaism and Islam] for the propagation of the Mother Church's interests, to keep secret and private all her agent's counsels from time to time, as they entrust me, and not divulge, directly or indirectly, by word, writing or circumstances whatever, but to execute all that should be proposed, given in charge, or discovered unto me by you, my Ghostly Father, or any of the sacred Order [or "convent"].

I do further promise and declare that I will have no opinion or will of my own or any mental reservation whatsoever, even as a corpse or cadaver (perinde ac cadaver), but will unhesitatingly obey each and every command that I may receive from my superiors in the Militia of the Pope and of Jesus Christ.

That I will go to any part of the world withersoever I may be sent, to the frozen regions north, jungles of India, to the centers of civilization of Europe, or to the wild haunts of the barbarous savages of America without murmuring or repining, and will be submissive in all things whatsoever communicated to me.

I do further promise and declare that I will, when opportunity presents, make and wag relentless war, secretly and openly, against all heretics, Protestants and Masons [Liberals], as I am directed to do, to extirpate them from the face of the earth; and that I will spare neither age, sex or condition, and that I will hang, burn, waste, boil, flay, strangle and bury alive these infamous heretics; rip up their stomachs and wombs of their women, and crush their infants' heads against the walls in order to annihilate their execrable race. That when the same cannot be done openly, I will secretly use the poisonous cup, the strangulation cord, the steel of the poniard, or the leaden bullet, regardless of the honor, rank, dignity, or authority of the persons whatever may be their condition in life, either public or private, as I at any time may be directed so to do by any agent of the Pope or Superior of the Brotherhood of the Holy Father of the Society of Jesus.

In confirmation of which I hereby dedicate my life, soul, and all corporal powers, And with the dagger which I now receive I will subscribe my name, written in my blood, in testimony thereof; and should I prove false or weaken in my determination, may my brethren and fellow soldiers of the militia of the Pope cut off my hands and feet and my throat from ear to ear, my belly opened and sulfur burned therein with all the punishment that can be inflicted upon me on earth and my soul shall be tortured by demons in eternal hell forever [which penalties are first found in Masonic oaths]. That I will in voting always vote for a Knight of Columbus in preference to a Protestant, especially a Mason, and that I will leave my party to do so; that if two Catholics are on the ticket I will satisfy myself which is the better supporter of the Mother Church. That I will place Catholic girls in Protestant families that a weekly report may be made of the heretics. That I will provide myself with arms and ammunition that I may be in readiness when the word is passed, or I am commanded to defend the Church either as an individual or with the Militia of the Pope.

All of which I, _____, do swear by the blessed Trinity and Blessed Sacrament which I am now to receive, to perform, and on my part to keep [this] my oath. In testimony hereof, I take this most holy and blessed sacrament of the Eucharist and witness the same further, with my name written with the point of this dagger, dipped in my own blood, and seal in the face of this holy sacrament." {21} [Emphasis added]

As we can see from the openly anti-Masonic—yet secretly Masonic—Jesuit Oath above, the Company, with its Roman Hierarchy and Order of the Knights of Columbus, owes its allegiance only to the White Pope as he obeys the Jesuit General.

The Black Pope intends to submit every human government to the earthly rule or Temporal Power of the White Pope, that final White Pope, risen from the dead, to be "the beast" of Revelation 13. David S. Phelan, a priest in St. Louis, wrote in 1913:

"Tell us we are Catholics first and Americans or Englishmen afterwards; of course we are. Tell us, in the conflict between the church and the civil government we take the side of the church; of course we do. Why if the Government of the United States were at war with the church, we would say tomorrow, To Hell with the government of the United States; and if the Church > and all the governments of the world were at war, we would say: —To Hell with all the governments of the world. Why is it, that in this country, where we have only seven per cent of the population, the Catholic Church is so much feared? She is loved by all her children and feared by everybody [due to the history of the Jesuit Order]. Why is it the Pope has such tremendous power? Why the Pope is the ruler of the World. All the emperors, all the kings, all the princes, all the presidents of the world are as these altar boys of mine." {22} [Emphasis added]

Our benevolent "Father" Phelan's opinion is in complete agreement with the settled doctrines of Rome espoused by their "Angelic Doctor," Thomas Aquinas:

> "The Pope, by Divine Right, hath spiritual and Temporal Power, as supreme King of the World . . ." {23} [for] ". . . the Pope of Rome, as the Head of the Papal Government, claims absolute sovereignty and supremacy over all the governments of the earth." {24} [Emphasis added]

And in subordinating the United States to the Temporal Power of Rome's Papal Caesar, the Jesuits fully intend to destroy Protestantism. The ex-priest and one of our heroes, Jeremiah J. Crowley, quotes the same priest, David S. Phelan:

> "Protestantism—We would draw and quarter it. We would impale it and hang it up for crow's meat. We would tear it with pincers, and fire it with molten lead, and sink it in a hundred fathoms of hell-fire." {25} [Emphasis added]

When Jeremiah Crowley was a priest in 1902 he asked Cardinal Martinelli if the Catholics in this country numbered about seventy million and if the Protestants numbered about ten million, what would he do to the Protestants? He replied:

> "Oh, Christ, I'd crush 'em!" {26} [Emphasis added]

Rome's attitude towards "heretics" has never changed even as the Jesuits, from their Council of Trent to their Second Vatican Council have never changed! Indeed, the great Roman battle cry is, "Semper eadem!"—Always the same! It is for this reason that the great Protestant preacher Isaac Lansing declared in 1890:

> "I do not hesitate to say that, in all candor and reason, every Roman Catholic who confesses this allegiance to the Papacy, ought to be disfranchised in the United States, and forbidden the right to participate, as a citizen, in either holding an office or casting a ballot." {27}

Having doubled the Catholic population of the American Empire from 1881 to 1910, having brought the Italian Mafia into our major cities to control the Catholic populations and organized crime, and having established the Knights of Columbus to implement "Jesuitical politics," the Society of Jesus, in control of the Pope and his Hierarchy, had now subordinated the civil power of the American Congress to the Papal power—the secret will of the Black Pope. We read in 1894:

> "Jesuits At Washington
> The Romanism at Washington is of the Jesuit type. Jesuit Colleges, Jesuit Clubs, Jesuit Churches, Jesuits prominent in the judicial, legislative and departmental branches of the government, with Jesuit principles and methods protruding everywhere! It is more than likely that there is no other capital city in the world having so many Jesuits. And yet the number doesnot run up into the hundreds for the order is not a large one in the world.
> The European capitals will not tolerate them. The German Parliament has just said that the Jesuits must stay out. Our own government extends to them a bid to strangle our national life and overthrow our hard earned and popular institutions . . . Several years ago when an important piece of legislation was before the House; which had been before the Country and generally approved, the press of all sections and the religious press as well (except the Roman Catholic papers) sustaining it; and which had in Congress the support of members of all parties, suddenly and unexpectedly, met, in vote a most disastrous defeat. 'How is this to be accounted for?' asked a member. His friend replied 'I will show you,' and taking his friend by the arm he led him on a tour of the lobby rooms of the House, and pointed out nine Jesuit Priests. Will this condition be continued indefinitely, and to the great detriment of the country, and the independence of National Legislation?" {28} [Emphasis added]

(Dear truth-seeker, as the Jesuits in control of Nazi Germany were behind the legislation requiring gun registration in 1935, even so their agents in Washington are busy attempting to destroy the Second Amendment in 2007. Senator Edward "Ted" Kennedy, a Knight of Columbus under the oath of the Fourth Degree and a trustee of the Order's Boston College in Massachusetts, is one of their key tools.)

By 1912 Jeremiah Crowley writes:

> "I know and assert without fear of successful contradiction that the Vatican system—the Roman Catholic Hierarchy—has a grip upon all the departments of our Government, from the President to Department Clerks, including Legislative, Judiciary and Executive Departments, both Federal and State—and the accommodating politicians, Catholic and non-

> Catholic, particularly the latter are to blame for it all." {29} [Emphasis added]

The Jesuits in Crowley's day controlled Presidents Theodore Roosevelt (1901-1909), William Howard Taft (1909-1913) and Woodrow Wilson (1913-1921). And being in control of the Presidency, the Order could rule the Supreme Court as the President has the power of appointment. The Supreme Court with its new, evil "federal question jurisdiction" could then on appeal reverse or uphold decisions of the fifty State Supreme Courts as well as the decisions of the ten federal Circuit Courts. The Court's many revolutionary, anti-Constitutional decisions would be pursuant to Rome's plans for Fourteenth Amendment America which included the denial that the Bill of Rights were privileges or immunities of Fourteenth Amendment Citizenship; approving the replacement of the English Common Law procedure with the Roman Civil Law procedure in both State and Federal Courts; the abolition of segregation; the destruction of the Public School System through the forced integration of Whites and Blacks while abolishing Bible-reading and prayer; the forbidding of capital punishment; the legalization of abortion and voiding possible legislation targeted against the Jesuits—just to name a few! Of this control of the Presidency, the Senate and Supreme Court, Crowley writes:

> "In case of an adverse decision in the lower Courts, through the influence of Rome, the case should be appealed, and, if needs be carried to the Supreme Court of the United States, over which Chief Justice White, a Jesuitical Roman Catholic, presides by the favor of [Masonic] President Taft [a Skull and Bones member since 1878]." {30}[Emphasis added]

Further, it was obvious to all that the nation's most powerful Freemason, President William Taft, was intimate with the Hierarchy in America and sent his personal aide Major Archibald Butt—who, thanks to the Jesuits, went down on the Titanic made of substandard steel—to confer with the Pope in Rome. Taft was also the bosom friend of Federal General Sherman's son, the Jesuit, Thomas Sherman. Additionally, an English Jesuit and foremost advisor to King George V, the Rasputin of England, "Father" Bernard Vaughan, converted Taft's sister to Romanism.

And it was President Theodore "Rex" Roosevelt, with his "Maltese Cross Ranch" in the Badlands of North Dakota, who branded American Protestants as "bigots" over their concern of Rome's ascending power in Washington. Tied to the Pope's American lords of finance and industry, including shipping tycoon William R. Grace (whose grandson, Knight of Malta J. Peter Grace, Jr., would serve as Cardinal Spellman's chief agent in the 1963 murder of President Kennedy) and J. P. Morgan, he also began the continuing centralization of power in the presidency. One of his acts was the creation of the Bureau of Investigation:

> "From the time of Theodore Roosevelt's accession to the presidency, American presidents of the twentieth century had begun to assert unprecedented claims to centralize power in the executive office. As part of this new federalism, President Roosevelt's Attorney General, Charles Bonaparte, by executive order had created the Bureau of Investigation in 1908 as a full-time investigative division of the Justice Department [America's Holy Office of the Inquisition]." {31} [Emphasis added]

And by which Order and to what end is the control of the Legislative, Executive and Judicial branches of the federal government? Crowley tells us:

> "Rome's Jesuitical emissaries, agents and missionaries are everywhere. They have no conscience but the Pope's dictation. They are allowed to assume whatever dress they please; for their better disguise, any occupations in church or state; they are in the highest and lowest conditions, and have been known to appear as active and zealous members in non-Catholic associations and churches—sometimes filling prominent Protestant pulpits . . . Their object is to engender strife, to influence party spirit [hated by George Washington], to produce faction, to counsel rebellion, to plot and plan assassinations." {32} [Emphasis added]

Understanding both the control and plans of the Jesuit Order in Washington is imperative if we are to understand the Kennedy Assassination. For the Jesuits produced their Chief Justice Earl Warren to cover-up the assassination with his Warren Commission as well as defend Knight of Malta, Clay L. Shaw during his trial in New Orleans, initiated by Jim Garrison. The Jesuits used President Lyndon B. Johnson to appoint the Warren Commission and, with the Justice Department, used J. Edgar Hoover and his FBI to suppress evidence of a conspiracy. The Jesuits, with their Irish Catholic agents in Congress, such as the late Thomas "Tip" O'Neill and Daniel Patrick Moynihan, did all they could to thwart the proceedings of the Assassinations Committee in 1976, which concluded there was a conspiracy to assassinate President Kennedy thanks to Robert Groden, the author of High Treason.

The words of our hero, Charles Chiniquy, were now fulfilled. Jeremiah Crowley, America's Martin Luther of the Twentieth Century, proved, without refutation, Rome's control of both federal and state governments. But the warnings went unheeded. The Protestants, with their Jesuit-infested Federal Council of Churches, did nothing. The liberty-loving Americans—Protestants, Baptists, Jews and "liberal" Catholics—for the most part had forgotten they were truly in a holy war initiated by those ever-present warlords, the Sons of Loyola. Priest Isaac Hecker was right. Rome, controlled by the Jesuits, took the American government away from the American people in the early 1900s, and have kept it! Since that time the Jesuits have used the military and financial might of their "Holy Roman" Fourteenth Amendment American Empire as "the Sword of the Church," to subordinate the nations of the world to the Temporal Power of the cannibalistic, transubstantiating Papal Caesar. May God help us to repent that He may forgive us!!!

Of the year 1913 we ask in retrospect, "What would the Jesuits do now that they were in control of every President from Theodore Roosevelt to Woodrow Wilson?" They would further develop their American Empire patterned after their Reductions in Paraguay. In preparing for the Second Thirty Years' War (1914-1945) they would create a national, inquisitional police force and implement two pillars of The Communist Manifesto. In 1908, the very year Rome declared the American Empire no longer to be a missionary country (it was now conquered), they founded the Bureau of Investigation, later renamed the FBI. In 1913 they created their privately owned national bank, called "The Federal Reserve System," established a "heavy progressive income tax" with the Sixteenth Amendment and created the Pope's Internal Revenue Service to collect it. Rome would now have a police state with its corporate monopolies while destroying the White Protestant Middle Class. Rome's seeds of absolutist, Jesuit corporate fascism had been successfully planted and would come into full bloom during the Black Pope's Twenty-first Century, Anglo-American-led Crusade against Islam. All we Americans need now is another one of the Order's terrorist events, suspension of the Constitution and resultant martial law. Then we shall finally have our American Josef Stalin!

In 1917, the Jesuits, contrary to Washington's Farewell Address, brought Fourteenth Amendment America out of isolation—to be used like the nations of the Holy Alliance—to intervene in the affairs of foreign countries via military invasion in restoring and maintaining the Pope's Temporal Power. This would be the true purpose of the American Empire during World War I. President Woodrow Wilson, the apostate Presbyterian Protestant and self-confessed traitor, would be used to punish the Protestant German Empire and then greatly curtail Jewish immigration in preparation for the Order's Eurasian Jewish Holocaust. For Kaiser Wilhelm I and Prince Otto von Bismarck's government of the Protestant Second Reich had banished the Jesuits in 1872 and, in 1907, threatened to immediately expel every Catholic priest from the Empire in retaliation for Pope Pius X's "infallible" Decree, "Ne temere." (That Decree, simply put, declared that any Catholic not married by a Roman Catholic priest was living in adultery and their children were bastards. Humiliated, the Pope modified the Decree so as to not apply to Germany!)

President Wilson would also be the tool in commencing Rome's vengeance on Orthodox Russia. In aiding the Bolshevik Revolution, he would be used to punish

Russia's Romanov Dynasty and Orthodox Church. The Jesuits' new Russian Empire, called the "USSR," would be greatly expanded under the Order's Grand Inquisitor— Josef Stalin. For in 1866 Tzar Alexander II, who maintained religious toleration for all creeds professed in his dominions, abolished Russia's 1847 Concordat with Rome's High Priest and King, the Papal Caesar (who practices cannibalism through the Bible-rejecting, Baal-worshipping doctrine of "Transubstantiation," drinking the blood and eating the flesh of his false, dead and unbiblical "Christ" still hanging on the cross of his occultic Crucifix), and the leaders of the Orthodox Church had refused to attend the Vatican Council of 1870. In 1880 Dostoyevsky's prophetic words warned of the power of the Jesuits in Russia. Again, we repeat his war cry:

> ". . . those are the worst of the Catholics, the Inquisitors, the Jesuits! . . . They are simply the Romish army for the earthly sovereignty of the world in the future, with the Pontiff of Rome for Emperor . . . that's their ideal, but there's no sort of mystery or lofty melancholy about it . . . its simple lust of power, of filthy earthly gain, of domination—something like a universal serfdom with them as masters—that's all they stand for. They don't even believe in God perhaps." {33} [Emphasis added]
> "Jesuits sue for the favor of the great and powerful. To obtain this, they decry faith in God, join in attacks on Rome, play the atheist or the infidel [as they would do in the Bolshevik Revolution]." {34} [Emphasis added]

The Jesuits were further enraged with the response of Tzar Nicholas II (who was influenced by the Patriarch of the Orthodox Church) to the Pope's Decree, "Ne temere," of 1907. Like Germany, Russia utterly condemned it. Crowley writes:

> "Why do not the rulers and governments of all non-Catholic countries step in to protect the rights of the people from such a dangerous and infamous invasion by the Pope of Rome, as did the government of Russia which recently prosecuted Bishop Casimir Ruszkiewiez, suffragan bishop to the Archbishop of Warsaw [noting that SS General Heinrich Himmler's guide, who "stood godfather" to the Reichsfuhrer, was also the Archbishop of Bamburg], and Father Cisplinski on the charge of declaring a legal marriage null, and thus infringing civil authority? The result was a sentence of sixteen months' imprisonment for both priest and bishop. The term is to be passed in a fortress and the bishop is to be deposed from his diocese. Russia knows Rome and therefore nips her in the bud in order to prevent her gaining supremacy over civil authority." {35} [Emphasis added]

Jeremiah J. Crowley then asked this very penetrating question:

> "Why do not the Governments of the British Empire and the United States prosecute and punish according to law priests and prelates guilty of similar, and far worse, crimes?" {36}

The answer, Brother Crowley, is that in 1912, like today in 2007, the Jesuits controlled both Protestant Empires, Fourteenth Amendment America and the United Kingdom of Great Britain. The Jesuits, in turn, used these two Protestant Empires to punish Rome's two greatest enemies, the Protestant German Empire and the Orthodox Russian Empire beginning with "the Great War"—World War I—that would begin the Order's 20th Century genocide of the Eurasian White races!
